TARIFF REVISION IS SENT BY HOUSE ON FINAL JOURNEY

Report of Conferees Adopted by Vote of 254 to 103—Senate to Act on the Report Today.

COTTON FUTURES TAX AMENDED BY HOUSE

Underwood Puts Smith-Lever Plan Through by a Close Vote—Senate Will Probably Reject.

Washington, September 30.—The democratic tariff revision bill left the house tonight on what the party leaders hoped would be its last journey to the senate. After many hours of debate the house adopted the main conference agreement on the bill, 254 to 103, almost a strict party vote, and by this action gave its endorsement to everything in the measure except the cotton futures tax.

At the end of a short but bitter fight that followed the adoption of the report, Representative Underwood, the democratic leader, succeeded in carrying through the Smith-Lever cotton futures tax amendment by a vote of 171 to 161. Democrats and republicans alike voted on this without regard to party and a large portion of the democratic membership from southern states joined in the vigorous demand that the whole subject be carried over to another session of congress.

Cotton Futures Tax Up to Senate.

The cotton futures tax question now rests entirely with the senate. The house concurred in the Clarke amendment put into the tariff bill by the senate, but added the Smith-Lever-Underwood plan as another amendment.

Unless the senate will accept this change, which has the endorsement of the president, the whole cotton futures plan again will have to be considered in the joint conference committee and again reported to both houses for action.

It is believed the house amendment will be rejected by the senate and the whole subject will probably be dropped and the tariff bill finally passed.

The Georgia delegation divided in support of the cotton futures measure. Representative Hardwick, Lee and Crisp, voted for the Underwood substitute, while Representative Bartlett, Bell, Hughes, Tribble and Walker voted against.

The avowed purpose of the Clarke amendment was to abolish the exchanges entirely.

The Underwood substitute would have permitted them to live, if they reformed their method of doing business. Almost one-half of the house took the position, however, that the exchanges should be abolished entirely because of gambling in farm products.

The Position of Hughes.

"I am absolutely opposed to gambling in cotton," said Representative Hughes, the farmer member of the delegation.

"I consider that both of these amendments would be in regulation of the exchanges, and to that extent, a recognition of them. The farmers furnish the gamblers stakes, and in this instance would not only have furnished the stakes but would have paid the tax on the game."

"I stand here to fight in the ranks with the friends of the farmer to destroy forever the cotton exchange or the gambling on the cotton of the farmer.

"I am unalterably opposed to gambling in any form. I am also opposed to legalizing gambling or assessing a tax on gambling. No one can deny the proposition that this amendment legalizes gambling to cotton futures by imposing a tax on future sales and thereby legalizes the transactions. If men are allowed to gather in a room and there play with cards, to that the Georgia law this is an illegal transaction and the men would be liable to prosecution, but if the state of Georgia should charge $50 per game and this tax go into the treasury, the state would legalize the game.

"I stand here to fight shoulder to shoulder with the friends of the farmer to destroy forever the cotton exchanges or the gambling on the cotton of the farmer.

Won't Legalize Gambling.

"I voted last session for the Scott bill that would destroy the cotton ex-

JUNIOR CHAMBER PLANNED FOR CITY

Pupils of Grammar and High Schools of Atlanta Will Be Eligible to Membership in This Organization.

Wilmer L. Moore, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, tendered a luncheon on Tuesday at 1 o'clock, at the Capital City club, in the interest of organizing a junior order of the chamber of commerce, to be composed of the male pupils of the grammar and high schools of the city.

A large number of the younger business men of the city were present and the scheme of Mr. Moore appealed to them instantly. Every man was willing and enthusiastic to do what he could to make the new enterprise of the chamber of commerce a success. The matter was merely discussed at Mr. Moore's luncheon and no definite plans were made, but at another meeting which will be called soon the plans will be fully formulated and set on foot.

Will Outline Plans.

Harrison Jones, chairman of the chamber of commerce committee, having the matter of the junior order in charge, will appoint an executive committee to outline these plans before the next meeting.

The following gentlemen were present: Harrison Jones, Ivan E. Allen, Colonel Walter R. Paley, Paul P. Reese, Kendall Weisiger, E. T. Dorsett, Dr. Theodore Topel, Robert L. Foreman, Sell R. Williamson, Scott Candler, J. S. Fleet, George M. Bonnell, Bayne Gibson, Lyman J. Amsden, Philip H. Weltner, V. H. Kreighaber, Henry Robinson, John P. Stewart.

Mr. Moore stated that it had been the object of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce for some time to establish a junior order which would be formed of the boys of the Atlanta public schools. It would be the purpose of this organization to instill in the minds of the members the study of civic problems so that when they grew up to take their fathers' places in work for the good of Atlanta the subject would not be altogether new to them.

Reads Copy of By-Laws.

Mr. Harrison Jones, the chairman of the junior order committee, who had given the matter considerable thought and attention, was called upon and read a copy of the by-laws which he had prepared. These by-laws outlined that the membership of this order should include all male pupils of both grammar and high schools of Atlanta. They should have their own officers, own standing committees and regular meetings.

The following gentlemen also spoke and were highly in favor of establishing the junior order:

Dr. Theodore Topel, physical director in the public schools; E. G. Everett, boy scout master; John P. Stewart, president of the Literary and Debating society of the Boys' High school, and Philip H. Weltner, president of the board of education.

MAN FATALLY CUT FOUND ON STREET

Injured Man Unable to Tell Story, but Police Believe a Woman Figures in Mysterious Case.

Police headquarters is deeply concerned over a mysterious cutting affray which is liable to result in the death of S. W. Roberts, a 30-year-old merchant, who was cut to bits by hostigal a short while before midnight, severely slashed about the abdomen and lower limbs.

He was discovered by policemen on Poplar street, near Bedford street, where he was crawling along the sidewalk, leaving a crimson trail behind. A gash that extended from the knee cap to the groin had been inflicted on his right leg, and a deep stab was in the abdomen.

He was almost unconscious, and mumbled incoherently. Policeman Evans, who investigated the case, says a few words were heard, which indicated that the wounded man was a victim of a family scandal.

Evans reported to his captain at headquarters that Roberts mumbled incessantly of being cut by some man about the other man's wife. He was too delirious to give names or addresses. He was put on the operating table, and a valiant effort made to save his life. He will die, however, it is believed.

Meanwhile, detectives and plain-clothes policemen are investigating residents in the neighborhood in which he was discovered.

FOR THE PROTECTION OF MIGRATORY BIRDS

Washington, September 30.—Federal regulations for the protection of migratory birds under the bill passed at the last session of congress will go into effect tomorrow as originally planned. In their efforts to co-operate with the various states, officials of the department of agriculture charged with drafting the regulations have met with considerable delay, and Secretary Houston does not see anyone the work. In the meantime, state laws governing migratory birds remain in effect. It is understood that hunters in all sections of the country have been awaiting the new regulations with keen interest.

UNITED STATES RUSHES TROOPS TO RIO GRANDE

Cavalry and Artillery Hurrying From San Antonio to Prevent the Destruction of International Bridge.

TERROR IS REIGNING IN THE BORDER TOWNS

Rebels Are Being Driven and Are Destroying All Property—Hundreds of Refugees Cross River at Eagle Pass.

Piedras Negras, Mexico, September 30.—Terror has gripped this city, the provisional capital of the constitutionalists, with the victorious northward march of the federals and the arrival of hundreds of refugees from the surrounding fronted country.

Obeying the instruction of United States Consul Blocker, American residents of Piedras Negras joined the exodus and hundreds of persons crossed the international bridge into Eagle Pass this afternoon, many carrying such of their possessions as they could hurriedly gather on their backs.

Rioting is Feared.

Consul Blocker's warning to foreigners to quit Piedras Negras immediately was in anticipation of rioting should the constitutionalists be forced to abandon their provisional capital. As the rebel army is being driven northward by the government troops under General Maas the insurgents are setting fire to the villages from retreat and reports from the front tonight indicate that the federals are closing in on the town of Saltillo, from which the constitutionalists will fall back on Monclova, or across the Rio Grande from Brownsville, or to Piedras Negras.

United States troops are hurrying to Eagle Pass from San Antonio to reinforce the garrison there, and it is understood that with the first attempt to molest the property of foreigners here, and ultimatum will be issued. What form its enforcement will take has not been made known.

Seventy-three Americans crossed the international bridge late today. W. W. Vaughan, a well-known engineer, and Alfred Williams, druggist, were preemptorily ordered to vacate their homes with their families on account of the [illegible] notification that the property would be destroyed despite any protest to the American government on the ground that it was owned by federal sympathizers.

Some Refugees Barred.

Many Mexican refugees and a large number of Japanese were refused admission to the United States. It was said that the Mexicans were likely to become public charges, and the Japanese had not made proper application. An appeal to Washington for exception in the latter case will allege that the Japanese are in danger of death from the federals for having aided the constitutionalists.

Whether the wounded constitutionalists here will be barred has not been decided. Freight cars have been placed in readiness at the hospital to remove them to safety should the federals get in striking distance of the city.

It is reported that many prisoners confined in the jail on sedition charges have been shot, among them Felipe Sanchez, wanted in Carrizo Springs, Texas, as a member of the smuggling band charged with the murder of a deputy.

Rumors of internal dissatisfaction were reported in the [illegible] that on demand of the army, Gabriel Calzada, governor of Coahuila, had been succeeded by Lieutenant Colonel Herrera.

AMERICAN SOLDIERS RUSHING TO BORDER

San Antonio, Texas, September 30.—Two squadrons of the third cavalry, one machine gun platoon of the third cavalry and battery C. of the third field artillery, under command of Lieutenant Colonel Guy Carlton, are being rushed in three special trains over the Southern Pacific lines to Eagle Pass this afternoon. The first special departed at 1 o'clock and the other will follow as soon after as possible. No definite reason is given out here at department headquarters for the movement.

Washington, September 30.—Officials of the state and war departments tonight had received only meagre reports of the developments at Piedras Negras, and it was said that no new orders had been sent either to Consular army officers. At both departments confidence was expressable, even if the American soldiers that there would be no serious trouble if troops are ordered to the international bridge or deal with refugees from the constitutionalist army.

Brigadier General Bliss, commanding the border forces, is using his own discretion in dealing with the situation and the troops are at Fort Sam Houston, to reinforce the little garrison there, moved without orders from Washington. Consul Blocker also is said to have acted only on general instructions in the protection of Americans out of Piedras Negras today.

AMERICANS WARNED TO QUIT MEXIC TOWN

Eagle Pass, Texas, September 30.—All Americans in Piedras Negras have been instructed by Consul Blocker to leave for the American side before 7 o'clock tonight. The reason for the order has not been made public but it is believed the American authorities intend to take a decided stand against the destruction of property including the international bridge.

As a result of conference between Consul Blocker and the constitutionalist authorities, the American representative is believed to have failed to secure a promise that destruction of property would cease. Consul Blocker then conferred with army officers stationed

SULZER GAMBLED IN STOCK MARKET FOR MRS. SULZER

SULZER'S STOCK DEALS RAN INTO THOUSANDS

The Stocks He Bought Generally Went Down, and the Brokers Were Continually Calling on Him for Margins.

Albany, N. Y., September 30.—Evidence that Governor Sulzer's stock transactions with the New York brokerage firm of Harris & Fuller were for the account of Mrs. Sulzer was today disclosed at the trial of his impeachment. The articles of impeachment charge that the governor made use of some of the unreported campaign contributions in these transactions.

Melville B. Fuller, head of the firm, said that the governor had told him that Mrs. Sulzer had a loan with the now defunct Carnegie Trust company, of New York, and that in order to take up the loan, for which he had given his note, he had deposited securities belonging to Mrs. Sulzer with Harris & Fuller and borrowed money thereon to pay the note.

Mrs. Sulzer Brought In.

Fuller said the governor had told him this in the executive mansion in Albany on July 29 last, when he called there at Mr. Sulzer's request, after receiving a subpoena to appear before the Frawley investigating committee.

"Mr. Fuller, you know that these securities were Mrs. Sulzer's, don't you?" the governor asked him, according to the witness.

The broker replied in the negative.

"Well," said the governor, "these securities belonged to Mrs. Sulzer when I brought them to you." Fuller testified.

"She had a loan with the Carnegie Trust company. They required me to give a note every three months, and it was very annoying, so I took the securities down to you and borrowed the money from you."

"I said to Governor Sulzer, 'That may all be true. There is no evidence of anything of that kind on my books and cannot be proved by me.' If it is true the loan for which he had given the

The other candidates unopposed were C. H. Kelley, alderman from the second ward now filling the unexpired term of Alderman John E. McClelland, resigned; Alderman Armistead Stewart, ward, alderman; C. D. Knight, second ward, councilman; Jesse M. Wood, sixth ward; S. L. Haislea, seventh ward; Frank Hoyt-olde, sixth ward, Charles W. Smith, ward, and Thomas Skinner, ward.

Mayor Woodward expressed himself as being disappointed at the result of the election. He attributed the defeat of a majority of his candidates to the injection of irrelevant issues in the campaign.

The voters were led to believe that the liberal policy candidates were planning to turn the city over to crooks and criminals, Mayor Woodward said. "By liberal policy was meant a liberal and loose interpretation of the laws of the city.

"My fight was to get candidates elected to serve the people and not the little ring that has been at work in the charter election and in this contest. I extend to them that the vote would be something like 8,000, and I am sure it would have been had it not been for the fact that the executive committee saw fit to cut out some of the polling places. There were over 4,000 voters cut off from registration by the closing of the lists. The only way I can figure it is that the people were disgusted with the fight and took no interest in the election.

Can Stand It Another Year.

"As to the result, all that I can say is that if the people want to continue to suffer from the neglect of their interests for their own political gain, it is all right, and I have done my best to rock along for nearly a year without the support of council, and I guess I can stand it for another year."

Advocates of Sunday moving pictures were planning to open their campaign in the event Mayor Woodward was successful with his candidates. They claim that the result condemned the movement. While leaders of the movement would not discuss the situation, last night, their claims indicated that they will do nothing for at least another year.

The successful candidates are:

Aldermen—Third Ward—C. McDonald, 2,916 votes.

Fourth Ward—Albert Thomson, 2,619 votes.

ALLEGED BLACKMAILER HELD BY U. S. OFFICERS

Pittsgerald, Ga., September 30.—Norman McSwain, the man who, it is alleged, undertook to Blackmail J. J. Dorminy, of Brockton, at that place and was arrested by the sheriff of Coffee county yesterday, was turned over to the United States officers who took him to Valdosta, charged with using the mails with intent to defraud.

McSwain, it is said, mailed Mr. Dorminy a letter demanding that $1,900 be left at a certain place under threat of death. Mr. Dorminy, after notifying the sheriff, apparently complied with the demand and when Swain secured the letter he was arrested by the sheriff.

McSwain vigorously denied being the author of the letter to Mr. Dorminy and declared he just happened to come across the package and placed it up out of curiosity. The matter will be presented to the grand jury. Mr. Dorminy is a brother of Dr. K. J. Dorminy, of Fitzgerald. He is a wealthy planter.

Douglas, Ga., September 30.—(Special.)—A daring though unsuccessful attempt at blackmail was made on J. Dorminy, a wealthy sawmill man of Brockton, by Norman McSwain, a farmer, who had been residing near there for a number of years.

McSwain, it is reported, received a letter Thursday threatening that if he did not go on the following day to a spot named in the letter about one and a half miles from Brockton, where three bricks on a package, he would be killed. The letter was signed with three black hands and stated that the note would be left there for him and others would be sure to get him later. Dorminy went to Sheriff Hickstom, counsel or ex-Sheriff Hickstom, who, with a posse, went to the place and caught the spot.

Dorminy and a friend, B. R. Leavitt, then proceeded to obey instructions in the letter and carried a package by automobile to the place, which was a lonely spot near Rose creek. Immediately after the machine left McSwain came out of the hiding place and picked up the package. He was instantly set upon by the men and the ex-sheriff and companion and carried to the sheriff. He was given a preliminary trial saturday and bound over to superior court.

TWO AUTOMOBILES HELD UP BY BANDITS

Hackensack, N. J., September 30.—Two highwaymen in broad daylight today held up two automobiles at a point on the Palisades drive, each getting nothing from one and $50 and some jewelry from the second.

Mrs. Dan Pollows Platt, wife of a prominent lawyer and member of the New Jersey democratic state committee, and Miss Emelene Lee, were in the first hold-up. When Mrs. Platt insisted that her diamond rings be allowed to proceed, John S. Mahon, a lawyer, and his wife and daughter, made the second. The robbers snatched the rings, some of the jewelry and stripping the fingers of Mrs. Mahon of valuable rings. The highwaymen fired several shots into the tires of the car, disabling them before taking to the nearby woods.

MOTHER IS ARRESTED FOR KILLING CHILDREN

Minneapolis, Minn., September 30.—Mrs. Ida Lockwood was arrested today charged with murdering two of her children. According to the police the woman has told only confusing stories of the two of which she is accused, but four others as well.

Mrs. Husband, Ole Lockwood, also was arrested, later released. The police say he acknowledged administering the fatal dose of morphine. The first victim died in 1903 and the last in May, 1912.

The family physician, who treated the last case children, testified that he believed when he found them dead, but arrested Mrs. Lockwood on a charge of cholera morbus in each instance. Mrs. Lockwood is 32 years old.

MILWAUKEE REJECTS RULE BY COMMISSION

Milwaukee, Wis., September 30.—The proposition for a charter for commission form of government for Minneapolis was defeated at a special election here today by a majority of 12,149. Official figures from the missing precincts in the 115 precincts gives the following vote:

For the new charter 9,850, against 22,999.

City officials expect that the majority will be reduced somewhat when the 115 precincts give the missing returns.

A hard campaign has been fought for and against the proposed charter and three weeks to perfect which a committee has been working for more than two years.

WYLIE WEST ATTENDS GOOD ROADS CONGRESS

Stars of Stage Will Lecture Before Atlanta Drama League In the Interest of Better Plays

Mrs. William C. Spiker, president of the Atlanta branch of the Drama League of America, recently returned from a three months' stay in New York and other eastern cities, where she studied the methods employed by the leagues in the larger dramatic centers with a view to conducting the Atlanta branch along similar lines.

Mrs. Spiker is very enthusiastic over the league's plans, and declares that, when asked what the outlook for the Atlanta league would be this season, gave out the following optimistic forecast:

"I have had an interview with Mr. Homer George, manager of the Atlanta theater, and more drama leagues are still presented, and he is not only interested in the work of Atlanta's Drama league but he will co-operate with us. I have seen a partial list of the plays his theater will present and many of them are excellent.

Many Stars Coming.

"I especially note on his program William Faversham, Miss Annie Russell in a revival of English comedy, Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske, Mr. Bennett, of England, in repertoire, Mr. Otis Skinner, Miss Maxine Elliott, Pavlowa and many others of meritorious plays. These dramas interpreted by these artists are indorsed and supported by the Drama league of America. The Atlanta branch will accordingly call their members as to the time of these plays, urge their attendance and be with co-operation with us. I have seen a partial list of the plays his theater will present and many of them are excellent.

FLOOD CONDITIONS

Many of Low Lying Sections of Lake Charles Inundated. Skiffs Ply Streets.

Lake Charles, La., September 30.—With the Calcasieu river rising an inch an hour, flood conditions in Lake Charles and vicinity today continued to grow worse. Unconfirmed reports of life loss have been received here, but verification is impossible owing to lack of communication. Many of the low-lying sections of the city have been inundated, forcing inhabitants to take to the upper stories of their homes. The flood invaded the business district today. Ryan, the principal business street, is flooded at many places and stocks of business houses are being removed from the lower floors.

The city was in darkness last night, the electric plant having closed down when its engine room was flooded. It will probably be a week before it can resume operation. Street car service is suspended and the waterworks system is out of commission.

Only the Iron Mountain and Lacassine branch of the Southern Pacific railroads are operating trains. The main line of the latter road is flooded for a distance of three miles. Passengers are being transferred by boat. Skiffs and motorboats are plying the streets and the entire town is in darkness. All the cemeteries along the levee were under water this morning. Thousands of logs have been torn loose, burning of log rooms. Many cattle buildings have been washed away and much live stock drowned.

Reports from the surrounding country tell of flooded conditions everywhere and serious damage to the rice crop.

The crest of the flood is expected to reach here within forty-eight hours.

BUILD OWN SCHOOL, NOT LIKING COUNTY'S

Rome, Ga., September 30.—(Special.) Residents of the Shannonia neighborhood west of the city, dissatisfied with the school building furnished them by the county board of education, raised a fund of $1,500 for the erection of a new building which was completed and turned over to the county today. The school is a modern and sanitary one, built after the most approved ideas of school construction, and is in charge of Miss Lily Hardin, graduate of Shorter college.

In accepting the school the county superintendent, J. C. King, asserted that his feelings were not hurt at all by the action of the people, but that he hoped others would do likewise. The school has been named "Glenwood," in honor of the late Judge Augustus R. Wright, whose home bore this name.

POSTMASTER SOUGHT

Alleged That Official of Pocahontas, Va., Took Registered Packages and Fled.

Pocahontas, Va., September 30.—Two registered packages containing $11,000 are missing from the postoffice here and detectives armed with federal warrants are searching for Edwin M. Silberger, assistant postmaster. The missing official went east this morning on an early train. He boarded the cars at Bluestone Junction, near here, and paid a cash fare to Roanoke, according to the conductor.

Silberger was excited and appeared to have been running, the conductor said.

The registered packages were locked in a pouch and left in Silberger's care to be sent east to depositories. One contained $10,000 and was mailed by a Pocahontas bank. The other contained the postmaster's remittances.

Silberger is a Hungarian. He had been employed in the postoffice three years.

He has back pay and pay in advance coming. Postoffice inspectors declare. He is married and has two children.

MORE SPEED WANTED ON CURRENCY MEASURE

Washington, September 30.—The senate banking and currency committee today labored through another day of discussion of currency bills, while the white house began to consider means of hastening the progress of the measure toward the statute books. For seven hours the committee heard a discussion of the bills by Charles A. Conant, financial agent of New York, whose testimony will be continued tomorrow.

Conference at the white house and the capitol among the administration leaders took up the problem of hurrying consideration of the measure in the committee, which a majority of the members appear to be willing to do, as all the testimony available in relation to the measure.

Senators Owen and Shafroth, champions of the bills linked with Prest-dent Wilson and then conferred with them demonstrate that the committee who have shown a decided aversion to certain provisions of the bill, latterly it became known that an attempt would be made by the administration on Saturday to secure an agreement in the committee to set a date for closing the hearings.

During today's hearings Mr. Conant indorsed the general purposes of the bill, "to secure an elastic currency and to centralize the country's reserves."

He recommended a number of amendments, several of them following those suggested by the recent conference of bankers at Chicago.

FOR FEDERAL CONTROL OF BRIDGE BUILDING

Washington, September 30.—Immediate legislation to place under federal control the construction of all bridges and their approaches and to prevent encroachments on channels in tributaries of navigable rivers, was recommended in a report submitted to Secretary Garrison today by the board of army engineers appointed to investigate the floods which devastated the Ohio Valley last spring. Artificial construction of river channels and their adjacent flood plains, was caused the disaster, the board declared can be prevented only by systematic, comprehensive control by the central government without interference from the state authorities.

The report, written by Lieutenant Colonel Francis R. Shunk and transmitted through Brigadier General Rossell, chief of the army engineers, was given general approval by both Secretary Garrison and General Rossell.

BOY WILL BE TRIED FOR SLAYING FARMER

Rome, Ga., September 30.—(Special.) An adjourned term of Floyd superior court has been called by Judge Moses Wright for the first Monday in October. The principal case on the docket is that of Nick Carver, a 19-year-old white boy, charged with the murder of J. M. Stewart, a farmer, who he killed, it is charged, with a blow on the head with an oak stick.

Carver has been confined in the county jail since the killing. He will make a hard fight for life, and will claim, it is said, that he killed Stewart in order to save his father, and that when he struck, the farmer was attempting to kill the elder Carver with an open knife.

THREE BIG PROBLEMS FACED BY THE CHURCH

Southampton, England, September 30. "The church today has three subjects of absorbing interest to consider and solve—the sexes, the races and social order." This was the announce made today at the opening of the annual Church of England congress by its president, the Rt. Rev. Edward Stuart Talbot, bishop of Winchester. His subject was "The Need for Unflinching Application of Christian Principles to Social Injustices and Economic Problems." He continued:

"There is a clamorous need for more strenuous thinking and more insistent action in connection with the problems of the avoidance of marriage, the abuse of marriage, the revolt against its responsibilities and duties and the relations between men and women.

"On the question of color a stronger stand is required against racial contempt and the greed of the exploiter. Disclosures like those of the Congo, Putumayo and the Portuguese Islands show what European action can be and can do.

"The disclosures of the white slave traffic has startled the British nation into recognition of the intensity and cold bloodedness of evil at home.

"In the principles of the Kingdom of God there must be abundant guidance toward the ways in which social order may be made fairer and more even-handed and opportunities and faculties more widely and rapidly shared.

In conclusion Bishop Talbot denounced "the lure of armaments with its outlawry and intolerable burdens, its naked international selfishness and its contempt for those heavenly principles which should draw Christian nations into the common service of world-wide liberty."

RACES AT COLUMBUS WON BY FAVORITES

Columbus Ohio, September 30.—Pronounced favorites in the three pacing races on the Columbus grand circuit program today were the winners, but Columbus stake for 2.12 trotters did not go to the favorite. Robert Mirol. Cheasty, the Texas mare, won it after the first heat had been won by the four-year-old mare, Rythmell. Each heat was under 2.07, Rythmell was beaten down the stretch in the second heat and was disabled in the third one.

Directum I and Frank Bogash, Jr., did not start, though they were both eligible to the Board of Trade stake, which the East View pacer won handily in straight heats. His best time, 2.07 1-4, was within a quarter of a second of his record.

Frank Bogash, Jr., was raced in the Arch City stake, the feature of which was the contest for the place between Del Roy and Forte Pose. In the final heat Driver Murphy did not allow Frank Bogash, Jr. down nearing the finish and his pacer took a new mark, 2.07 1-4.

Great Scott won the 2:16 pace in straight heats. Driver George Kyger, after placing Polly Ann twice, was unseated and the driving assigned to Charles Valentine.

DASHES FOR LIBERTY MADE BY TWO CONVICTS

Moundsville, W. Va., September 30.—Two dashes for liberty from the state penitentiary were made this morning, one by a twenty-year term man and the other by a life prisoner. The former is still at large, but the latter was captured within twenty minutes after he broke. Alexander Childs, of Fayette county, missing from his cell since Saturday night, ran away in the early hours of the morning and is still at large.

Shortly after noon Harry Howard, a life prisoner, who tried to burn the village of Smithfield, W. Va., a few years ago, broke from the line of prisoners on the way to the midday meal. He succeeded in reaching the roof of one of the buildings at a point where he had secreted a rope with a large hook attached. Howard caught the hoop on the bars of one of the window and slid to the ground. Guards gave chase and he was later captured beneath a kitchen in the residence section of the town.

Rioting about the state prison here since Saturday night and sought by a hundred guards, Childs, serving twenty-year sentence, escaped by sliding down a rope from a roof eighty feet high. Childs was known as one of the most desperate prisoners in the institution. Several times yesterday the guards caught glimpses of him as he made from one hiding place to another and every known avenue of escape is thought to have been shut off. Despite all precautions he got outside the prison walls and at daybreak he was seen about ten miles from the prison still wearing his stripes and armed with a revolver.

ONE-ARMED MAN WHIPS THREE COPS IN ROME

Rome, Ga., September 30.—(Special.) After whipping three Rome policemen, Knoch Croft, a one-armed white man, was overpowered by the arrival of the reserves in the automobile "Black Maria" and carried to the city jail, where he was this morning given sixty days on the city chaingang by Recorder Kelly.

Despite the fact that he has but one arm, Croft is an unusually powerful man, and is a terror to the police men since it requires at least three to overpower him without the use of gun or club. Croft was arrested near the Rome Hosiery mill, under a charge of drunk and disorderly conduct.

DISORDER IS RAMPANT

Tracks Barricaded and Trains Shot Up in the Copper Region.

Calumet, Mich., September 30.—Shots fired in two attacks upon strike-breakers adn numerous fights between union and non-union miners marked the copper mine strike today.

A special car with thirty men (comprising a New York detective agency brought here by the Ahmeek Mining company, to assist in breaking the strike, was attacked presumably by strikers when it arrived at Ahmeek before dawn. A number of shots were fired at the car and the fire was returned. The car windows were broken, but no one was hurt. When a barricade across the tracks prevented the car from reaching the mine, it was brought back to Calumet.

A few hours later when the men returned to Ahmeek in automobiles, many shots again were exchanged. Only one of the automobiles was hit, and as far as known no one on either side was wounded.

Disorder was rampant in the Calumet and Kearsarge districts this morning. Shots were fired into the residence of [illegible] and several arrests were made by deputy and state police officers.

The strikers were wildly demonstrative, and women sympathizers were much in evidence. Two women were among those arrested.

Dinner pails were snatched from workmen and smashed and the officers were hooted. General P. L. Abbey, in charge of the 200 state troops, considers the situation serious.

Not a man reported for work at the Mohawk mine this morning, due to threats by strikers last night. The president, the Rt. Rev. Edward Stuart Talbot, bishop of Winchester. His subject was "The Need for Unflinching Application of Christian Principles to Social Injustices and Economic Problems." He continued:

Mexico Is Shown Atlanta By Exhibit in City Today

Mexico, with its wonderful mineral- ogical specimens, its pottery work, woven baskets, strange animals and curious, but without its ever-present revolutions, is on exhibit in Atlanta today. "Seeing Mexico" is a car on the tracks in front of the Kimball house and near the old depot, offers a wondrous insight into the peculiarities and customs of the citizens of the republic across the Rio Grande.

The car, which is on a five-year tour of the United States was fitted out under Madero's administration, and just before the president was forced to give up his post. It is being conducted under the auspices of the Mexican National Educational society, and the Mexican National railways, and is intended to show to Americans some of the products and wonders of the neighboring country.

Archeological specimens, dug from under Mexico City by William Nevin, a famous mineralogist, and going back to Aztec days, make part of the exhibition. Specimens of the handwork of modern day Mexicans and Mexican Indians are included, and some of the pottery and head work is decidedly pretty and interesting. There are also a number of souvenirs of war time in the troubled republic.

A small charge is required as entrance fee, and the car is open from 10 o'clock each day until that hour at night. It is due to remain here until next Wednesday.

Arrangements are being made so that the school children can be taken through by classes and shown the exhibit.

Los Angeles, September 30.—Responding to the ring of his door bell today, Frank Ury, a real estate dealer, was shot and probably fatally wounded by his first wife, in the presence of his second wife and their two babies. After wounding her divorced husband with two bullets Mrs. Ury dropped the revolver. Ivy picked up the gun and fired at the woman as she ran down the street, the bullet striking her in the leg. She was arrested.

125 NEW PUPILS ENROLLED AND OTHERS ON THEIR WAY TO THE SOUTHERN BUSINESS COLLEGE

The Great School of Business Training Becomes More Popular Every Day—Business Firms Calling for Help. Many Pupils Are Securing Positions — New Arrivals Daily.

FRANK D. WESLEY,
Who Has Just Completed the Business Course at the Southern Shorthand and Business University, and Now Is Connected With Davies Paxon-Stokes Company.

One hundred and twenty-five new pupils have enrolled for the fall session and others are on their way to the Southern Shorthand and Business University, this city.

This influx of new pupils increases the present enrollment to about 225, although it will very likely reach 275 or 300 within a few days.

Pupils have enrolled from North and South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, Kentucky, Alabama, Florida, Texas and Georgia.

While great activity is shown in the matriculation of pupils, the managers are also kept busy sending out the prepared students with shorthand and bookkeeping positions. Almost every day some of the students are offered good positions, no less than a dozen having gone to work during the past week.

Mr. Frank Wesley, of this city, is among those former students who worked faithfully while attending the Southern Business College, and as is always the case where faithfulness characterizes the effort, he had no trouble in finding a ready demand for his services.

In a letter just received by the Southern Business College from Mr. Wesley, he writes:

"It gives me pleasure to inform you that I have secured a position with Davies-Paxon-Stokes company, one of the largest department stores in Atlanta. I secured this position within three days after putting in my application, giving you as reference.

I want to thank you for the thorough business course obtained in your college, which enabled me to secure this position. I take pleasure in recommending your college to those desiring a practical, up-to-date business education.

The Southern's Popularity.

There must be a cause for popular favor. Southern's attendance in Atlanta is always more than double that of any other business college in this section.

The Graham-Pitmanic system of shorthand, which the Southern teaches, has been pronounced the best system in the world by a committee appointed by the National Shorthand Reporters' Association meeting, said committee being composed of nine of the finest shorthand reporters in the world, all writing different systems. Never before in the history of shorthand has a system received such splendid indorsement.

Attend the school with a reputation. Ask Atlanta's business men about the Southern and you'll then know where to obtain your business education.

COTTON MILL OWNERS MEET IN CONVENTION

Atlantic City, N. J., September 30.—More than 700 members, representing cotton interests of the New England and southern states and their guests from many parts of the world, applauded the stand taken by Edwin Farnham Greene, president of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, in his address relative to the tariff at the opening session of the semi-annual convention of the association here tonight.

Operation Under New Conditions.

The textile industry has for years been facing a very serious crisis in the way of tariff revision, Mr. Greene declared. The change in administration would be certain and we must now enter a period of operation under the new conditions.

He said that while the best informed cotton manufacturers were not inclined to look with alarm "on any such radical change as is being made in the tariff bill, the high efficiency of our members and the comparative proximity of the markets may enable us to compete successfully with foreign mills.

"We are an optimistic people and we should enter on the new era as cheerfully as can be, having full confidence that if in spite of our efforts the new tariff proves an undue burden, our government in Washington will see its mistake and make the necessary changes.

Going Forward With Courage.

"Much as we may feel discouraged at the present moment, we have passed over the high tariff before and possibly the effect may not be as difficult as we fear. In any event, we are going forward with courage, believing that the energy, ability and efficiency of the American manufacturer and his skill in the fairness of the American people in the long run.

The sessions tonight, aside from the president's address, were chiefly devoted to addresses of welcome and preparation for the program of tomorrow and Thursday. A reception ended the evening's gathering.

Ditch-Digger at Work On Cornelia Municipal Water and Sewer System

Cornelia, Ga., September 30.—(Special.)—Seven-foot trenches are at present being dug through Cornelia by the municipal authorities, preparatory to laying the pipe for the new water and sewer system installed. The $140,000 water and sewer bonds of Cornelia have been issued and contractors have on the ground five miles of sewer and five miles of steel water pipe.

The 75-foot water tank is being erected on the highest point around Cornelia, at "Parkview Heights," and soon water will be delivered at any point in the city. There are 4½ miles of cement sidewalks are now laid down, connecting every part of the city with the new $23,000 Southern railway depot soon to be erected.

SOUTHERN CORN BOYS TO VISIT WASHINGTON

Washington, September 30.—The department of agriculture today announced that winners of state prizes in the boys' corn club contests in the southern states will visit Washington and be welcomed by the secretary and bureau chiefs. It is probable that winners of state prizes in the tomato clubs and canning clubs will visit here at the same time.

There are now about 70,000 boys in the corn clubs in the southern states, and about 14,000 girls in the tomato clubs. The northern states have just started organizing this year, but it is thought that altogether there are fully 100,000 children in the club work.

Prevent indications are that there will be something over 200 boys in the southern states whose crops will average more than 100 bushels to the acre, although this was a bad year for corn in the south. Twenty-five bushels an acre has been the average of the United States for several years.

The department is working out a plan for crop rotation and hog raising, by which, with two acres, it is believed, a boy will be able permanently to improve the fertility of an acre of ground and make enough to keep a family of five. Officials are not yet ready to give out the details of the new club plan.

Charles Gilbert was sentenced in 1865 to life imprisonment for the killing of Henry Cadwell, a United States civil war veteran, a fellow officer. Gilbert's father some years ago he asserted that the latter had done the killing and that he had gone to prison because he did not wish to testify against him.

HE SEES BANKRUPTCY FOR THE RAILROADS

Elliott, of the New Haven, Says It Is Inevitable Unless Rates Are Advanced.

Boston, Mass., September 30.—A short route to the restoration of public confidence in the railroads of the country would be furnished by a positive declaration by federal and state commissions that rates may be advanced, in the opinion of Howard Elliott, the new president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad. Mr. Elliott made this statement tonight in an address before the Boston chamber of commerce in which he discussed the future of the New Haven system. The needs of railroads generally, however, was dealt with at length by Mr. Elliott, who said, in part:

"If we are to continue to have privately-owned railroads, supervised and regulated by governmental authority, and if we are to avoid ownership by the government, the owners and users of railroads must all work together. Personally, I do not believe in government ownership in a country like the United States, where our political methods are still in need of improvement.

Policy of Government.

"The policy of the government—national and state—during the last twenty-five years seems to have been to decide rate questions in the great majority of cases in such a way that rates nearly were advanced and generally were reduced and to introduce rules, regulations and methods that increased expense.

"The commissions naturally feel the great pressure of the millions of users of the railroads for reduced rates and increased facilities. But if the rates continue to decline, or even remain on the present level, and if expenses are increased by higher wages and cost of materials and by the introduction of different appliances and facilities, more rapidly than the roads can obtain money, then there is but one result for some of the railroads of the United States—and that is bankruptcy.

Rate Advances Wanted.

"I believe the commissioners who have such great powers realize their responsibility to the owners of the properties as well as to the users and I hope earnestly that they will give practical evidence of their realization by permitting some advance in rates.

"Should the commissions—federal and state—make a positive declaration that rates may be advanced so as to permit the properties to meet all of their obligations, pay a fair return to stockholders and leave a balance for improvements, they will do much for the entire country. Such a declaration will at once restore confidence and give to existing securities a better standing which they now have, both here and in Europe, and will help to market new securities upon as low interest basis more favorable than is now possible, because of the uncertainty in the minds of investor about the future net earnings of the railroads."

SULZER GAMBLED IN STOCK MARKET

Sulzer had requested that the account should be transferred to a loan.

"The cross entry" which Fuller said was made by his cashier "showed upon its face," attorney Kresel said, that it was made on the date upon which it purported to be.

Fuller also brought out that in June, 1913, after former Governor A. T. Stirings, of Alabama, an old-time friend of Mr. Sulzer, had contributed $5,000 to the campaign fund, there was another "cross entry" transaction in which it appeared that the firm loaned the governor $35,000.

"It was all simply a bookkeeping entry, wasn't it?" asked Attorney Kresel.

"It was a cross entry paying off one and making another," explained the witness.

Lured Position to Affect Stocks.

The governor's counsel then called for the assembly managers also began to lay the foundation for proof of the charges in the eighth article of impeachment, that the governor used his official position to affect the current prices of securities listed on the New York stock exchange "in which he was interested." Attorney Marshall Sarecky first urged the passage of certain legislation and then withdrew or attempted to withdraw it.

Did you appear before Governor Sulzer early in this year with reference to legislation which was pending affecting the New York stock exchange?" asked Attorney Kresel.

"I did," was the broker's reply.

"At that time Governor Sulzer's account was still in your office?"

"It was."

Fuller was not cross-examined on this point.

Concerning state police bills Fuller said he had been certain of two years. Death was due to heart disease.

Charles Gilbert was sentenced in 1865 to life imprisonment for the killing of Henry Cadwell, a United States civil war veteran, a fellow officer. Gilbert's father some years ago he asserted that the latter had done the killing and that he had gone to prison because he did not wish to testify against him.

Why Bill Was Withdrawn.

The managers' counsel stated they would show that the reason the bill was not reported was because the governor had withdrawn his advocacy of it. They announced that in this connection they would inquire closely into the public statement made by the executive on March 10 in announcing that he had "withdrawn the stock transfer tax bill." At that time the governor said:

"It has aroused considerable opposition from sagacious business people throughout the state, and I think much of this opposition is well founded, and that the bill goes too far in placing too great a burden of taxation on a single industry."

Attorney Stanchfield made an unsuccessful attempt to introduce testimony regarding the installation of Louis A. Sarecky into the immigration service after his resignation as campaign secretary to the governor. Judge Cullen held that the testimony was not competent at this time, but might be introduced later.

How Sarecky Was Elevated.

In outlining what he expected to prove, Mr. Stanchfield said the governor had induced the civil service commission to give Sarecky, without examination, a position as an examiner of the alien insane at $4,000 a year, whereas Sarecky received between $1,500 and $2,500 as secretary.

All of this was preliminary, however, an attempt to prove the charge that the governor induced Sarecky to refuse to testify before the Frawley committee. It will be asserted that Sarecky assumed this attitude only after he had been given the position.

More unreported campaign contributions were placed in evidence during the day. Cornelius S. Pinkney, a New York lawyer, testified to having countersigned a check for $200; Frank M. Patterson, also a New York lawyer, said he gave $100 in cash, and former Congressman Harry C. Garber, of Ohio, declared he sent a check for $100. Pinkney said that the governor had told him that he intended to make no account "for this kind of gifts," and had asked him to treat the check as a "personal matter between himself and myself." Patterson said he had placed no restriction on the use of his contribution. Garber said that he had sent his check "within ten minutes after I had read that the governor was nominated."

REPUBLICANS WARRING ON ROTTEN BOROUGHS

Determined Effort to Cut Southern Representation in National Convention.

Washington, September 30.—Comprehensive plans to reduce southern representation in republican national conventions will be submitted to the republican congressional committee by an advisory committee of five members of the house tomorrow. The committee will offer three propositions. Each will be based upon the idea that delegates to national conventions shall reapportion in republican national conventions and not be chosen merely on the basis of population, as at present. An attempt will be made to perfect one of these plans in the hope that it may be forwarded to the republican national committee with the idea of an extraordinary national convention next winter to act upon it.

The plan which has many friends in the advisory committee, provides for one delegate from each congressional district, where the republican vote is 40 per cent or less of the total; two delegates where it is from 40 per cent to 60 per cent, and three delegates where it is over 60 per cent. There would be four delegates-at-large from each state. Under the old method of choosing delegates, the south had 228 from united in the last national convention. Under the plan outlined it would have 148.

Two other plans give one delegate for each 2,000 votes, with four delegates from each state. Under one the southern representation would be 78, and under the other 148.

ELECTIONS IN ITALY FIXED FOR OCTOBER 26

Rome September 30.—A royal decree fixing the date of the Italian general elections for October 26 and ordering lists for November 11 was published throughout Italy today.

The electoral campaign has officially begun with a long cabinet statement which enumerates the leading features of the government's program. The statement points out that the government already has given practically universal suffrage and arranged for paying salaries to the deputies, thus enabling the electors to choose whom they please.

The prosperity of the country has been increased through the occupation of Libya, and the government has been enabled to spend $23,000,000 more than had been estimated, of which $7,900,000 was in elementary institutions. The population is increasing at the rate of 500,000 yearly.

With the help of the new chamber, the government expects to substitute co-operation between labor and capital for the struggle between the classes and to pass bills for the protection of children and the correction of their delinquency.

Regarding Italy's foreign policy the statement declares that the triple alliance was renewed after the Libyan war to insure equilibrium and peace among the powers.

MOTHER! THE CHILD IS COSTIVE, BILIOUS

If Tongue Is Coated, Breath Bad, Stomach Sour, Don't Hesitate!

Give "California Syrup of Figs" at once and tonight you'll have a well baby. A sick child tomorrow.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—good, Mother! See if the tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomachache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because they know it soon sweetens the child's liver and bowels and sweetens the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups are plainly printed on the bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look and be sure it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!

HABEAS CORPUS WINS FREEDOM FOR WILLIS

Crippled Groceryman Shot and Badly Wounded J. P. Gaddy in August.

J. J. Willis, aged 40, a crippled groceryman of College Park, who, on August 18, was bound over to the grand jury for shooting J. P. Gaddy, aged 55, a justice of the peace bailiff, was released on a $250 bond yesterday by Judge George L. Bell, of superior court, after a hearing on habeas corpus proceedings.

Gaddy was shot four times by Willis, the evidence showed, when the bailiff entered Willis' store near the Gate City Cotton mills to levy on some property in the store. It is claimed that Willis jerked a pistol from the cash drawer and fired four shots. Gaddy fell with bullet wounds in his stomach, arm, shoulder and breast. For a time it was feared that he would not live, but with the past few days he has showed such improvement that it is believed by his physicians that he would recover.

Willis was tried before Mayor Byron S. Hule, of College Park, and was bound over to the grand jury without bail for assault with intent to murder, pending the condition in which Gaddy should prove to be.

On learning that Gaddy was getting better and would probably recover, Mayor Hule was preparing to grant Willis a bond before the latter, through his attorneys, Algert Kemper and J. S. James, entered habeas corpus proceedings and secured the right to be free on bond. Willis gave himself up to the officers directly after the shooting.

Fearing That He Will Die, Aged Negro Tells Where Life's Savings Are Hidden

Ocilla, Ga., September 30.—Fear that he was about to die today drove Nero Adams, an aged negro, to tell where he had buried the savings of a lifetime. He was injured in a lumber train wreck near here, in which two other negroes were killed.

SELLS PART INTEREST IN CORDELE RAMBLER

Cordele, Ga., September 30.—(Special.)—Charles Jackson Shipp, for eight years owner and editor of The Cordele Rambler, has sold part interest in that paper to A. D. Mathews, recently editor of The Forest Blade, published at Swainsboro. Mr. Mathews will take over the business end of the paper and Mr. Shipp will still be connected with the editorial department. For five years The Rambler has been a daily paper, and for three years prior it was published as a tri-weekly.

VEREEN BEING URGED TO SUCCEED RODDENBERY

Moultrie, Ga., September 30.—(Special.)—The death of Congressman Roddenbery, of the second district, while greatly deplored by the people of this county, was not unexpected as he was reported to be in a dangerous condition for several weeks prior to his death. The dead statesman had hundreds of warm friends and supporters in this county, to all of whom he was personally known. Since his death rumors are thick as to probable candidates as his successor. The name of Hon. W. C. Vereen, of Moultrie, is most frequently mentioned, dozens of telegrams from all over the district having poured in requesting that he allow the use of his name in either the primary or general election, whichever may be held, as the successor of Mr. Roddenbery, many of these telegrams being signed by personal friends of the dead congressman. It is quite probable that Mr. Vereen will announce his candidacy in a few days, his reluctance being based on his extensive business connections, he feeling that it would not be just to them for him to sever his connection at this time to become a candidate for office.

HON. W. C. VEREEN,
Whose friends are urging him to run for congress from the second district.

Mr. Vereen is president of the Moultrie Cotton mills, Moultrie Banking company, Poulan Cotton mills and one or two smaller corporations, and in addition is a stockholder in various companies throughout southwest Georgia, his wealth being estimated at over two million dollars. He has never been a seeker after office, although his friends have repeatedly urged him to stand for various offices. He was a delegate to the last national convention from this district, has served on the city council several times and at present is mayor of the city. His administration as mayor has been a marked success. Taking charge while the city was many thousands of dollars in debt, in the course of one year's time he worked it out and allowed a surplus of several thousand dollars. His executive ability, coupled with his broad-minded, just policy, would make of him an able representative of the people in the halls of the national legislature.

STOCK SOLD FOR BARGES ON SAVANNAH RIVER

Augusta, Ga., September 30.—(Special.)—Ninety-eight thousand, one hundred dollars of the $100,000 capital stock of the Augusta-Savannah Navigation company, which will operate a barge line on the Savannah river between Augusta and Savannah, has been subscribed by the citizens, banks and business houses of Augusta, and city council has appropriated an additional $50,000 for municipally-owned wharves and terminals.

This work has been done by the Savannah River Traffic committee, appointed by the Merchants and Manufacturers' association, and has been accomplished within the past ten days.

Thursday night of this week committee will make its report at a "dollar dinner" to be given by directors of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association, at which time a date will be set for the meeting, at which organization of the barge line company will be formed. The $100,000 is made up of small subscriptions, principally $100 each, though some of them are as high as $5,000, the idea being to interest financially as many citizens and business concerns as possible.

To Represent Barnesville.

Barnesville, Ga., September 30.—(Special.)—Mayor T. M. FRANK CASE PAPERS TO BE SERVED TODAY

Hearing for New Trial Set for Saturday—Dorsey May Ask for More Time.

Announcement was made Tuesday by Attorney L. S. Roan, for Leo M. Frank, sentenced to hang October 10, for the murder of Mary Phagan, that the papers in the case for a new trial would be served today upon Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey. The hearing is set for Saturday, and it is not known until the solicitor sees the plea whether he will be in a position to answer it on the date set.

The defense has worked for this case and those who know something of the preparation declare that much has been done in the case for a new trial should be granted the condemned man. The case is due to be heard before Judge L. S. Roan, who presided at the trial, and if no postponement it is probable that Judge Roan, who is now in charge of the court of appeals bench, will stay long enough to grant at the hearing, as he is well acquainted with all details, and the other superior court judges believe he is the logical man to hear the case.

NABBED FOR KIDNAPING AMERICUS MANICURIST

J. J. Crosby Is Released, However, After His Hearing on Sensational Charge.

Americus, Ga., Septemerr 30.—(Special.)—The unusual and sensational arrest here of J. J. Crosby, negro, on a charge of having kidnaped a young married woman, probably twenty-five years old, resulted in the immediate release of Crosby this afternoon, when his case was heard before Judge William Harper.

Crosby and the young matron, Mrs. Ollie ——, pretty and prepossessing woman, are alleged to have left Americus aboard the same train Sunday afternoon for Fort Valley. Warrants were issued upon a statutory charge growing out of the affair, but was released upon bond, it is said, and returned here. When Crosby returned to Americus this morning new as arrested and jailed upon the kidnaping charge but released within a few hours.

The young woman has recently been employed in Americus as manicurist. She is exceedingly pretty and vivacious. It is supposed that she has gone to relatives in Atlanta as she has not since been seen in her former manicuring establishment.

Her husband is a resident here. Crosby, who, it is said, has been married, represents an installment establishment with headquarters in Americus and Albany.

W. F. DENNARD IS STILL IN SEARCH OF WIFE

W. F. Dennard's third day of wife-hunting resulted Tuesday in no score, with several up and the bases filled.

Dennard, who declared Saturday to a Constitution reporter that he was in the matrimonial market, for the fifth time in his 46 years of life, has already had some thirty applicants from women, all of whom have asked to share his income and home in return for their services as cook and housekeeper.

"I met one of them last night," said Dennard, referring to his first selection among the many applicants, "and we talked things over. I saw her at the postoffice, and she came over and asked her name. She told me that she recognized my picture in The Constitution. I didn't decide on her, though she is sort of on the waiting list, as I have a good many of them to see yet and, anyhow, I've got until cold weather before I make up my mind which one I will marry."

Dennard's wife hunt has received the sanction of his superiors in the sanitary department of the city. Today many of his associates wished him well in his career quest. Dennard is the oldest city employee on the books of Atlanta at the present time.

CITY'S EARLY HISTORY WILL BE TOLD CHILDREN

Miss Amelia Whitaker, in charge of the children's department of the Carnegie library, has announced that the history of Atlanta will be taught in the institution this year will be the history of Atlanta and the state of Georgia from early to modern times. Several Atlanta poems will be asked to tell their experiences to the children gathered at the library story days.

Uncle Remus stories will also be a feature of the pleasant hours planned for the coming winter by Miss Whitaker, who says that she will interpolate grand opera and spring stories when the Metropolitan singers return to Atlanta early next year and the spring flowers begin to make their appearance.

Friday has been designated as story day this year at the main library, while Wednesday has been appointed at the Anne Wallace branch for the same purpose.

CONYERS WATER SYSTEM STOPS DISASTROUS FIRE

Conyers, Ga., September 30.—(Special.)—One of the big cotton warehouses here, owned by the Farmers' Union company, was destroyed by fire last night. When first discovered the flames were sweeping through the center of the building. W. O. Mann, manager, can give no cause for the origin.

Between four and five hundred bales of cotton was badly damaged and had it not been for the good work done by the local fire department, every bale would have been a total loss. This is the first fire Conyers has had since a system of waterworks was installed, and it is estimated that from twelve to fourteen thousand dollars was saved on account of having water. A greater portion of damage was covered by insurance.

M'LENDON ADDRESSES UNIVERSITY STUDENTS

Athens, Ga., September 30.—(Special.) Hon. S. Guyton McLendon, former member of the railroad commission of the state, who is visiting here for several days, delivered an excellent lecture before the law classes of the university at noon on the "Initiative and Referendum and the Recall." He did not express an opinion though he has decided ones on the subject of the initiative and referendum, but confined himself to a thorough, comprehensive analysis of the system as in effect in Switzerland and other European countries and the plan proposed for this country. He did not discuss the recall for lack of time, but dismissed it with: "I believe that the recall of judicial decisions would be a most dangerous thing."

Prof. A. P. Staples Dead.

Roanoke, Va., September 30.—Abram Penn Staples, 65 years old, professor of law at Washington and Lee university, died here this morning after a brief illness. He was born in Nansemond county, and was a member of a family of noted Virginia lawyers.

Miss Fannie Sterne Weds Mr. Montefiore Selig

The wedding of Miss Fannie Sterne and Mr. Montefiore Selig was a beautiful event of yesterday morning which took place at the Standard club at 11 o'clock in the presence of a large company of friends. There were handsome decorations of smilax, palms and ferns, with white roses in the reception rooms, where the wedding party was assembled for the ceremony.

Miss Catherine Wallerstein, of Richmond, Va., was maid of honor and Mr. Herbert Kaiser was best man. Miss Helen Montag and Miss Janet Selig were the bridesmaids and the groomsmen were Mr. Maurice Jacobus and Mr. L. F. Sterne. The ushers were Mr. Nat Ullman, Mr. Albert Mayer, Mr. Roy Kaiser, Mr. Nathan Copeland, Mr. Herbert Schiff and Mr. Jacks Spitz.

The impressive ceremony was performed by Dr. David Marx.

The bride was lovely in a French gown of brown velvet, the coat opening over a lace blouse. Her hat was of brown velvet with a touch of orange and she carried bride roses showered with valley lilies.

The maid of honor and the bridesmaids were dainty gowns of white crepe de chine with black velvet hats and they carried bouquets of tea roses.

A wedding breakfast was served after the ceremony in the ballroom hall, where smilax and foliage plants were massed in artistic arrangement with yellow chrysanthemums. The centerpiece of the bride's table was a large plateau of white roses and yellow chrysanthemums and all other decorative details of the pretty table were in white and yellow. The smaller tables were decorated with yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Marcus L. Sterne, wore a handsome gown of white lace and black satin hat.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Jacob Selig, was gowned in black lace. Her hat was black velvet.

Mrs. Samuel Sterne, of Vicksburg, Miss., wore gray brocade combined with white and silver, and her black hat was trimmed with white plumes.

Mrs. Joseph J. Sterne, of San Antonio, Texas, wore apricot brocade with black velvet hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Selig left for a wedding trip of several weeks east. On their return they will be at home at 303 Washington street.

The bride, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus L. Sterne, is one of the most beautiful young women in the city and since her debut two years ago has been a great social favorite.

Mr. Selig is one of the best known of the younger men in the business world and is very popular.

Among the out-of-town guests who were here for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Sterne, of San Antonio, Texas; Mr. Samuel Sterne, of Vicksburg, Miss.; Mr. Marcus Sterne, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Mrs. Alvin Mayer, of Louisville, Ky.; Miss Catherine Wallerstein, of Richmond, Va.; Mr. Adolph Schaar, of Chattanooga; Mr. Jake Haas, of Memphis, and Mrs. D. Ast, of St. Louis.

ASKS FOR NEW TRIAL OVER SMALL VERDICT

Dissatisfaction with a verdict returned against him in a justice of the peace court caused John Thomason, recently sued in Judge F. E. Powers' court, to seek and gain yesterday a certiorari which will carry the case to the superior court.

Thomason was sued by A. Rabkin for $12.50, alleged to be due on a set of furs, which he claims to have bought from H. Mendel Thomason declares that he bought the goods for $12.50 and paid for them shortly afterwards. He says that while he was in the store that Mendel and Rabkin carried on a conversation in Yiddish, the outcome of which was that he was told that Rabkin would collect for the goods. He says he thought that Rabkin was a collector for the store, and that he paid the $12.50 and now Rabkin has sued him for another $12.50. The jury in the justice court decided with Rabkin.

LAW STUDENTS SEEK JOBS ON COMING TO ATTEND LAW SCHOOL

Wanted—Jobs for several dozen aspiring young law students! What can they do? Why, anything from collecting bills or fingering a typewriter till 4 o'clock in the afternoon, to sitting in the manager's chair and telling him how to run the business for nothing.

This expresses in a nutshell the problem that has within the past two days been facing a number of Atlanta business men and attorneys who have been besieged with applications from the young men coming to the city to enter the Atlanta law school. In fact, it's an annual occurrence, for the large majority of the students find employment of some kind to occupy them during the day up till 4 o'clock, when the law school begins.

Three-fourths of the 80 students in the school last year were young men from the smaller cities of Georgia, or other points in the south, who decided to take advantage of the opportunities presented by a metropolitan state capital like Atlanta in the study of law. Only 22 out of the 80 students were Atlanta boys. It is expected that the enrollment this year will be at least a hundred, and from the rate they are coming from other Georgia points the same proportion of out-of-town students will hold at least true.

Examinations for entrance to the junior and senior classes begin Wednesday, in the law school rooms at the corner of Peachtree and Marietta, and the first lecture of the term will be delivered Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock by Judge Arthur G. Powell on "The Study of Law."

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York city by 2 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had at Hotaling's Newsstands, Broadway and Forty-second street (Times building corner), Thirty-eighth street and Broadway and Twenty-ninth street and Broadway.

The Constitution is not responsible for advance payments to out-of-town local carriers, dealers or agents.

SUNDAY MAIL FACILITIES.

In requesting the postoffice department to authorize him to restore Atlanta's general delivery and box service on Sunday, Postmaster Boiling Jones has taken a position which will meet with the emphatic indorsement of the overwhelming majority of the people of this city.

The ban upon Sunday deliveries was inaugurated during the administration of Hitchcock. Pursuing the line of parsimony and inefficiency which had characterized his entire administration, he abrogated a rule of years' standing and inconvenienced the entire country. Under subsequent interpretations of the Hitchcock regulation, postmasters are allowed to suspend the rule contingent upon local sentiment and the consent of the postoffice department. There is no doubt about the local sentiment in the case of Atlanta and the consent from Washington should be forthcoming without delay.

The Atlanta public and the Atlanta business element are composed of law-abiding and God-fearing people. But there is no incompatibility between their religious devotion and the receipt of one mail on Sundays, if they are energetic enough to go in person or send for it. Before Hitchcock tampered with the established custom, Atlantans enjoyed a delivery on Sunday, the service was suspended before church hours and everyone went soberly about his worship as he saw fit. There has been no great accession of church attendance following he abrogation of the rule and the little labor that was saved the clerks is more than offset by the overwork placed on those who have to catch up with the glut in accumulated mails. The movement now initiated by Postmaster Jones contemplates that the general delivery window shall bee pened during the old hours Sunday morning, and that mail received up to 10 o'clock shall be served in boxes. The provision is a reasonable one. Business processes have become so complicated that it places a penalty upon enterprises and individuals to be denied access to emergency letters often coming in Sunday morning.

It is common knowledge that many towns, in Georgia, too, far less than Atlanta's importance, have disregarded the rule of Sunday closing. The longer it is retained here, the longer will Atlanta be plagued by just one more reminder of the inefficiency of Hitchcockism. The more quickly the postoffice department accedes to Postmaster Jones' request, the better for Atlanta and for the department's reputation for liberal policy.

AN ARABIAN NIGHTS INN.

Up in Napanoch, which is in rural New York, you will find a hotel, or to be more precise an inn, which will bring you up gasping for the simple reason that it combines the strange magic of Hans Christian Anderson and Peter Grimm with the witchery of the Arabian Nights. And the man behind the inn, Frank Seaman, a wealthy New Yorker, will remind you of the trail-blazers of the old days, for he has had the nerve to undertake something that is absolutely new in the management of hostelries.

Here is the inn where champagne costs the same as buttermilk, where you are asked to depart if you tip anyone of the staff, where you have but to clap your hands to have a saddle horse brought without charge to the inn door, where you may have your meals served in bed without extra cost, where you can get the chef on your bedroom phone and order the sort of meal that would make a gourmet stagger and a millionaire describe frenzied circles. Tennis courts, golf links, masseurs, manicure, seamstresses, barbers, quoitback, kindergartener, trained nurse, postage stamps, magazines, newspapers—all and singular are at your disposal.

"Yes," will come the answer, "you can get these at any well-regulated resort, but when you leave you expect to be handed a prodigious bill of extras. At the Yama Farms Inn, which is the name of Mr. Seaman's venture, you don't receive a bill of extras. That's just the trick in it. You pay $8, $10 or $15 a day for your room—flat! And that covers everything. If you want to drink expensive vintages every hour, it's all right with the management—and the bookkeeper. If you want to fatten on buttermilk, ditto—nothing extra, nothing less.

Hotel men the country over are aghast at the experiment. They say it will not pay and that it cannot last. It has lasted several weeks already, and it is running to capacity all the time. Guests are accepted only on invitation, and the waiting list is said to be a lengthy one. If the plan being tried at Napanoch is successful it may revolutionize the hotel business.

THE DEMOCRACY OF CLOTHES.

We all admit the democracy of music, but how many of us are conscious of the democracy of clothes? Witness the description printed recently by The Constitution of a style exhibition staged by one of the well-known establishments carrying gowns for women.

The spectacle had, of course, been duly advertised in advance. Realizing the uniqueness of the event and the wealth of human interest material to be found in it, The Constitution assigned its police reporter, well versed in the vivid and emotional side of life, and its society editor, with an abundance of experience on the social side and a keen comprehension of the psychology of men and women.

Both of these specialists in human nature agree that this little play in real life was one of the most absorbing they ever witnessed. The actors were interesting. The audience was fascinating. It was the old story of sensitive women responding electrically to environment, this time the environment of pleasing line and color and delicacy in shade that has lured femininity ever since Eve discovered eternally new methods of adjusting the solitary fig leaf.

In the hypnotism of the moment, the women forgot the boundaries of caste and class as men boisterously sweep them aside at political rallies, when the blood is heated and the lust for battle boils forth like lava from Pelee. The wife of the capitalist sat elbowwise with the wife of the day laborer, each gripped by a common charm, both oblivious to the barriers built by the busy influences of the twentieth century civilization. The little woman over on the left might be taking notes for a faint replica of the gown she couldn't afford, while the "grande dame" with a bottomless bank account smiled indulgently.

And if there is a democracy of clothes, there is also a therapeutic side to clothes. If you watched the wan cheek flush and the dull eye kindle, you had proof beyond cavil. The woman who would have shrieked helplessly and risked death in a burning house was enchained and able bodied, for the moment leash, before the opening spectacle.

A good thing, this, the democracy of clothes, and a harmless thing, in the long run. You may hear an occasional story about the wife whose extravagance has driven "milord" into bankruptcy or embezzlement. For every one of her kind there are fifty or seventy-five who have kept out of the sanitarium by the kindly ministrations of "Old Doc Styles."

MR. CANDLER'S LIBERALITY.

It is doubtful if the history of practical philanthropy in the south has heretofore witnessed generosity so broad in scope and remarkable in terms as that which Asa G. Candler is exhibiting toward the Wesley Memorial hospital. Expanding phenomenally, the institution has far outgrown its facilities and is reaching the point where it will be compelled to turn away patients. It is proposed to rebuild upon a radically broader scale, a scale commensurate with the absolutely non-sectarian and non-denominational appeal and patronage of the hospital. Mr. Candler thus far has offered underwritten the new institution. He has put no limitation to the exact amount he will contribute. His offer is for every dollar contributed from general outside sources he will contribute three dollars. Since the committee on campaign has charged itself at the start with raising $50,000, that means Mr. Candler will contribute $150,000. But the enthusiasm of those back of the movement, and the general civic spirit of Georgia and the south, coupled with Mr. Candler's liberality, make it probable that in the long run the money spent upon the new plant will radically dwarf these tentative figures.

One of the most liberal provisions of the gift is that Mr. Candler will not wait until the $50,000 from general sources is raised before beginning his response. As contributions come in he will meet them. To illustrate, if $100 should be deposited from general sources, Mr. Candler will at once deposit $300 to match it. There is, therefore, no string tied to the donation, and no onerous terms such as lay so heavy a burden upon the recipients of many donations of this character.

Mr. Candler could have found no more worthy or useful institution to serve as the vehicle for his practical philanthropy. From humble beginnings, Wesley Memorial hospital has developed into one of the best-known institutions in the state and the south. Its doors, from the beginning, have been open to patients of all denominations. Strangers at its gates have drawn patients from all over Georgia and the surrounding states. These facts alone are guarantee that in the accumulation of the $50,000 now asked for the demands of growth, all Georgia will participate.

Atlanta has become the medical Mecca for that vast territory between Baltimore and New Orleans, speaking in the expansion of her medical training schools no less than in patronage of her sanitarium facilities. Outsiders flock to Atlanta for treatment as they do to Baltimore, drawn by the superior professional equipment here and the city's superb climate. The amplification of Wesley, now assured, means the further enhancement of the city's reputation.

"Get the back-log ready, brother.
Chop the pine and let it dry;
Bring the rocking-chair for mother,
Stew the pumpkin for the pie.
Let the sunshine through the window,
Take the fiddle from the door,

'Look out for the pitfalls
When you're runnin' of the race!
Little time for restin'
By the pleasure-givin' springs,
Folks that do the flyin'
Have the makin' of the wings."

And we listened to that sayin',
And the runnin' proved it true;
The prize is mighty winnin'
Where the Future beckons you.
Rest is for the weary
And the race the restin' brings,
And the folks that do the flyin'
Are the ones that make the wings.

How the "Still" Helped.

The Pleasant Valley correspondent tells this new fish tale, and The Kansas City Star believes it:

"About all that kept our creek running during the recent dry spell was the drain from the distillery. As they have been taking it straight for so long, having it diluted by the recent rains is going rather hard with the fish, the minnows are claiming. They say it is no uncommon sight to see hundreds of them gathered at the foot-log at evening waiting for Tobe Teppleton to go home, and hoping he will fall in."

A Story of the Moment

By WALT MASON,
The Famous Prose Poet

HIS HELPFUL WIFE.

"Mrs. Dusenberry was here a while ago," said Mrs. Jamesworthy, "and we had quite a pleasant chat. She says her husband built a summer house in the garden last spring, and it has been a delight to the whole family ever since. She says that if we once had a summer house, we would wonder how we ever got along without it."

"I have no doubt we'd sit up wondering when we ought to be in bed," replied Jamesworthy. "I think myself that a summer house is a noble institution, and I intend to build one at once. I'm also planning to put up a leaning tower like the one that's in Pisa. People who have leaning towers in their gardens say they are a great comfort and convenience, especially to the husbands of extravagant wives, who wish to hang themselves and get out of their misery. I'm sure you'll realize, Mrs. Jamesworthy, that a distracted husband intent upon suicide couldn't ask for anything better than a leaning tower."

"I have also sent to one of the leading architects of Babylon for the blue prints and specifications of a hanging gardens for which that burg is famous. I have long felt that our lives won't be properly rounded out until we have a hanging garden in conjunction with a leaning tower and a summer house. I'm sure that hanging gardens would fill your cup of bliss to the brim, and make existence one grand sweet song. You don't know how much I appreciate your helpful suggestions."

"I come home, Mrs. Jamesworthy, lopsided beneath my load of grief and care. I have been wondering for days how I am going to pay for the ten tons of slate we need for the furnace this winter. At the hour of going to press I haven't enough money to buy a half tone portrait of a load of coal. The north wind blew and we shall have snow, and what will the Jamesworthys do then, poor things, if there is no fire in the basement? I have been worrying over this matter until I can feel my whiskers turning gray, and I have an ingrowing pain in my back that is a hard hold. you solve the problem with one twist of the wrist, and never turn a hair. The thing to do is to build a summer house in the garden. Why, of course, Mrs. Jamesworthy. It seems strange that I never thought of this simple solution. Blow, blow, thou wintry wind! With a summer house in the garden the boreal blasts may howl themselves hoarse, and we'll be serene and comfortable.

"I paid my taxes not long ago, Mrs. Jamesworthy, and when that was done I had so few kopecks left that I didn't feel able to buy myself a new suit of clothes, and you see me going around looking like the morning following a stag banquet. I'm even wearing the straw hat I bought in the spring, and the straw hat season expired long ago. Every time I venture on the street I expect to have that hat shot from my head by some indignant sportsman. The fact that I am compelled to wear back numbers fills me with humiliation to me. The warrior bows his crested head and tames his heart of fire, Mrs. Jamesworthy, when circumstances force him to appear in public in a regalia which should have been sent to the heathen long ago.

"I come home weighed beneath my burden, fightings within and fears without, wondering if I ever could scrape myself presentable rags, and you convince me at once that the question of raiment is of no consequence. Man cannot live by suit of clothes or a hat with modern improvements in order to be happy and respected. What he needs is a summer house in the garden. Mrs. Dusenberry surely was inspired when she came over here and put that idea into your head.

"It simply shows that woman's intuition beats man's reasoning faculties all to thunder. Without a word before you solve all our problems and shoo our difficulties into the thinnest kind of air. You are a balm to me and comfort to me, Mrs. Jamesworthy, and I couldn't keep house without you."

MOODS.

By George Matthew Adams

A great deal of Accomplishment and Usefulness within the power of a large number of people in every community goes to waste and is totally lost because of the bugaboo trap—Moods. These people must be "in the Moods," or else they can't work.

The Idlers and Failures of the world are largely those who somehow could never get into the Mood.

Moods is a matter of control. A man makes his own Moods. The formula is simple. Desire to be somebody or to do something and a Mood will come to your service so quickly that you will wonder where you came from. Don't bother your head as to what sort of Mood you should be in in order to push through some task. Will to do the task and the Mood will be bound to fit the task.

So cultivate your whole Attitude toward life that you will be "in the Mood" at all times to attempt and carry to completion some useful work.

Be not a "creature of Moods," but a maker of Moods—at Will! Your work-day begins. Very well, be in the Mood to make it the Best that you have ever lived. Something unpleasant is assigned to you to do. Mind not. Your cue is to master a Mood to master it and finish it with credit to yourself. Always be in the Mood to do what you know has to be done.

Be glad to join the Great of the Earth who never wasted a minute waiting for some get-me-in-the-Mood-but made them on the spot to fit big Deeds!

Cattle in South Georgia.

Editor Constitution: I am pleased with your editorial of the 27th of Georgia." I note what you say with reference to slaughtering young calves. I understand that in Venezuela they do not think of killing heifers until they are 7 years old.

The farmers and business men of this country have just subscribed for the capital stock of a packing plant to be located at this place. The charter will be obtained next week. An expert has been retained and has been employed to take charge of the plant. We sent to Minnesota and surrounding states three or four men to make careful, business men to look into the packing plant industry. Their unanimous report is to the effect that cattle and hogs can be raised cheaper in southwest Georgia than in Minnesota. The farm lands in Minnesota are readily selling at from $125 to $200 per acre. If our packing plan here is the success that all parties who have investigated the matter think it will be, then our lands here ought in five years from now to be selling at $200 per acre.

We are now confronted somewhat in this section with hog cholera. If our legislature or the national government would take the hog cholera situation into hand it could be stamped out in this country just as it has been in the old country, from which it originally came to this country.

I think you are doing a good work in agitating this question.

The World's Mysteries

DID INDIAN GIRL LEAD LEWIS AND CLARK?

The most hazardous and the most significant journey ever made on the western continent—a journey that rivals in daring and exceeds in importance the expeditions of Stanley and Livingstone in the wilds of Africa—a journey that resulted in the greatest real estate transaction ever recorded in history and gave to the world riches beyond computation, was the Lewis and Clark expedition in 1804.

This journey was naturally full of hardships, and Lewis and Clark were engaged for more than a year and a half encompassing the wilderness before they finally saw the blue line in the western horizon which told them that the end of their journey was at hand, that they had crossed the continent from Missouri to the Pacific.

The stories of the adventures of Lewis and Clark have filled volumes, but the romance of the march has been heightened by the tale that an Indian girl piloted the party and that without her assistance they could hardly have succeeded. The name of this Indian girl, it has been discovered of recent years, was Sacajawea, but in the journals kept by the explorers little attention is paid to the part she played in the success of the expedition. Only recently, in fact, have the west have started movements to honor this woman by the erection of monuments.

In her this Indian girl did not receive any personal recognition of the services she rendered these explorers, but the century that has passed since then has brought a keener appreciation of her assistance from those who have taken the interest to examine and unravel records of her deeds.

Recent investigations have determined that Sacajawea was not Shoshone woman, the wife of a French interpreter, Toulssant Charboneau, and the story as now told is as fascinating as a piece of knightHood fiction. The statement of identification of this woman has met with ridicule, doubt, suspicion and denial, but it would appear to be corroborated by those of unquestioned integrity.

Sacajawea's life has two periods—that about which partly we know, and that about which nothing can be learned. It has been in this later period that has been the stumbling block. We see her in the vigor of her splendid young womanhood; she disappeared as mysteriously as she appeared, and when she again is visible it is as the aged Sacajawea, white-haired and well preserved.

The story, as now told, in which Sacajawea is brought forward as the heroine, is as follows: When Lewis and Clark, in the fall of 1804, reached the Mandan Indian villages not far from the present site of Bismarck, N. D., they engaged an Indian interpreter, Charboneau, who had two wives, Sacajawea, the younger, having been sold to him as a slave when she was a child of five years.

When Sacajawea was only fifteen years of age, she gave birth to a son, and the Indian woman strapped her little papoose not yet two months old, on her back and practically carried him in this cuddled position all the way from Bismarck to the coast and return, a distance of over 1,600 miles.

Sacajawea brought her exploring party back safely in March, 1806, her husband, who was the interpreter, receiving the sum of $300, but there is no record to show that the Indian maiden, who had guided them, received any compensation by gift or word.

No other attention was paid to this woman, not even in the accounts that have been published by those who made the journey, until the time of the St. Louis fair, when Mrs. Eva Emery Dye called attention to this pilot in her book, "The Conquest," in which she extols the devotion of the little woman to the cause of Lewis and Clark on their marvelous trip.

As recent as 1906 was discovered what is supposed to be the grave of Sacajawea, in the burial ground of the Shoshone agency, the grave being only marked by a slight slab. Regarding this grave the Shoshone tale relates that the Indian maiden lived to a good old age, being able to retain her mind and keep bright to the last. She had no sickness but was found dead one morning, April 9, 1884, on her "shaking down" of blankets made up in her tepee, in Portland, Ore., there is finely carved statue to Sacajawea, and Baptiste, the baby she carried on her shoulder, which was erected by the women of that city. How much of the story of the Indian girl is true, and how much romance, it is difficult to say, but in the past ten years the name of Sacajawea has been taken a place beside of that of Pocahontas for the assistance she gave to the paleface race.

Representative Ault Writes Of Price's Department

Editor Constitution: In an interview in Sunday's Constitution upon the subject of collecting and distributing information by the agricultural department, the enforcement of the pure food law, and the necessity of additional funds for these purposes, Commissioner James D. Price uses this expression:

"Funds accessible once to the department were radically cut into after the investigation into the department of a little over a year ago. The legislature believed then the department had been unwisely administered. It sought to check any possibility for abuse in the future, and has surely succeeded. And as is always the case when the pendulum swings in the other direction, the reaction went to the extreme."

I regret to differ with my good friend, the commissioner, but the above statement is not justified by the facts, and, if allowed to stand unchallenged, would create in the mind of the reader the impression that the present cramped condition referred to resulted from changes in the law made as a result of the recent investigation.

The committee making this investigation did not recommend the reduction of a single appropriation for the maintenance of the department, but, on the contrary, recommended and secured the passage of a bill increasing the appropriation for the maintenance of the chemical department $7,500, in addition to the amount already appropriated.

No Change.

The committee did not recommend nor did the general assembly make any change whatever in the law by which the agricultural department was deprived of any fund that this department was legally entitled to use at the time the committee began the law as it existed before the probe was made.

The committee recommended the adoption of certain changes in methods in the administration of the department for the purpose of securing greater efficiency, and in this connection recommended that no position should be regarded as a political sinecure, but that employees of the state should be required to render valuable services to the same extent as employees in other lines of business.

In carrying out the suggestion for a business-like administration of the department's affairs, the legislature did amend the law by requiring that all fees received from the sale of fertilizer tags should be deposited in the state treasury and drawn out, by warrants for such expenses as when needed, and the passage of this bill gave notice that the financial operations of the department to some extent, inasmuch as it resulted in the construction of the laws governing the use of these funds by the official general rather than by the officials of the department.

No misappropriation was charged, and no reflection intended, the commissioner of agriculture agreeing heartily with the suggestion at the time.

Favors Broad Policy.

No change whatever was made in the law relative to the purposes for which these funds could be used, but the only change being to require the money to be deposited and paid out through the treasury. However, after this change was made it was found that the use of the money for such purposes was not authorized by the law. This trouble was remedied to some extent by a bill prepared by Commissioner Price and myself, and passed at the last session of the general assembly. At the same time a bill was passed appropriating the necessary funds for the food and drug department out of the money realized from the sale of food stamps, in this connection I want to say that no change was made as to the method of withdrawing any funds from the pure food department, and if this department is cramped it is certainly not a result of the law.

I agree with Commissioner Price in his effort to secure a more efficient and progressive administration of the department, and merely call attention to these facts in order that the public may understand that the limits of the appropriations have not resulted in the reduction of the appropriations for the general work in this department or in changing the law in regard thereto. If the funds referred to by the commissioner were available under a misconstruction of the law by the department, it is well that the error has been discovered, so that the needed authority for all needed expenditures mentioned in the statement may be given by the general assembly.

I do not believe that there is any sentiment in favor of a narrow policy in regard to the administration of the department, but the people generally do want it administered in a business-like manner. It should never be necessary to make expenditures illegally, even for a good purpose. I feel sure that the legislature will give legal authority for all needed expenditures mentioned in Mr. Price's interview when the matter has been duly considered.

TEARS.

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

A tear is a drop of liquid woe spilling over.

Babies are composed of tears to the extent of about 86 per cent and shed them with the utmost industry. A baby can cry as easily as it can rain in Portland, Oregon. Babies cry because they are hot or cold or hungry or bored or sleepy or wakeful, or sad or angry or meditative. They also cry because their fathers are republicans or because they are going to grow up and work sometime and because what is going down and for reasons which they have forgotten but do not need.

However, after babies grow up they change materially. If a baby is going to become a man it stops crying about the age of nine, unless it is going to become an infidel or a criminal lawyer. If the baby becomes a woman it saves up its tears and applies them where they will do the most good.

This is a great lesson on the value of conservation. When a baby is shedding a gallon of tears every twenty-four hours nobody minds them much. But when a beautiful young woman saves up her tears and allows one of them to trickle down her nose at 11 p. m. after a heated discussion, the young man who caused said tears hoists the white flag and begs her to use him for a boulevard.

Women's tears are more effective than babies' because they do not waste them. When a woman cries too much her nose becomes red and her complexion peels off in such a way as to cause a great difference among the opposite sex. But when she smiles most of the time and only heaves in a tear at a critical point in the argument it is more effective than a dynamite bomb.

Many a man who could swim the Mississippi river with his shoes on and who is not afraid of water in any form except when it is in a glass has been washed entirely off of his feet by two tears, one on each side of a perfect nose.

Some women have to earn money by soaking their hands in water in a washtub. But more women don't have to earn handsome allowances and to have the same increased regularly by merely dampening their cheeks with a tear or two occasionally. Tears have worried Monarchs, rocked nations and have reduced captains of industry to subjection. And now that the bonnet ballot is becoming general tears may yet win more votes than dollar bills or jobs with the city administration.

Tears are mighty and should be regulated by the Interstate Commerce commission.

The Day of Peace.

A day will come when a cannon ball will be exhibited in public museums, just as an instrument of torture is now, and people will wonder that such a thing could ever have been. A day will come when those two immense groups, the United States of America and the United States of Europe, will be seen placed in the presence of each other, extending the hand of fellowship across the ocean, exchanging their produce, their industries, their arts, their genius, clearing the earth, peopling the desert now, and covering creation under the eye of the Creator, and uniting, for the good of all, these two irresistible and infinite forces, the fraternity of men and the power of God.

M. F. Thomas, 68, Charged With Attempted Criminal Assault, Is Adjudged Insane.

Griffin, Ga., September 30.—(Special.)—After a few weeks' stay in the Atlanta prison, M. F. Thomas, charged with attempted assault upon a 12-year-old white girl, was brought back to this place and yesterday adjudged insane by the ordinary's court, and last night carried to Macon for safekeeping till he can be accommodated at Milledgeville. The verdict of insanity was not reached until considerable time had been spent in deliberating over the matter. The verdict of the court is not in perfect harmony with popular sentiment in the matter.

Thomas, who is one of Griffin's oldest citizens, is 68 years of age, and a man of family. The girl whom he is charged with attempting assault, lives across the street from his home. At the time of the offense, six weeks ago, the girl claims he called her to his home late one evening in the absence of his family, pretending to want to read some domestic papers. The girl claims he carried her into the house and locked the doors.

In the absence of the girl's father, who was in Monroe county guarding convicts, a brother-in-law of the family was aware out a warrant charging assault and battery. When arrested he pleaded his guilt, but was carried to Atlanta for safe-keeping, owing over the incident was strong. The Spalding grand jury returned a true bill against him. In his trial before the ordinary Thomas showed every indication of insanity, not recognizing closest friends, and appearing crushed in mind and body.

His confinement at Milledgeville carries with it the charge that he be returned here for trial should he sufficiently recover.

HEAVY IMPORTS WAIT FOR NEW TARIFF LAW

New York, September 30.—A practical demonstration of one result of the new tariff law will be given almost as soon as the bill is signed by President Wilson. Huge quantities of foreign-made merchandise, already imported, will be thrown on the markets in New York and other large centers through the country.

For the last two months importers have been storing goods in bonded warehouses, to be held here until they may be admitted under the lower rates to be provided in the new law. The merchandise has accumulated to an extent which has tested the capacity of bonded warehouses everywhere.

Figures compiled by The Journal of Commerce show that goods in bond in New York alone August 1 were valued at $67,201,900.

Keen competition exists among importers to be first on the market with goods brought in under the new law. While it was said that in some cases decided changes would be made in wholesale prices no estimates were obtainable as to the probable extent of effect.

Statistics of the goods on hand in New York bonded warehouses show that the largest amounts of goods are represented in linens, hats, silk dress goods, tobacco, wool, champagne and sugar.

HE FOUND IT EXPENSIVE TO "CUSS OUT" GEORGIA

Macon, Ga., September 30.—(Special.)—It is rather expensive business to cast aspersions on the fair name of the state of Georgia, especially when Judge Augustin Daly, of the New York police court hears about it. It cost J. J. Connor, a New-comer in the city just $20 to do it.

Connor had a fight with C. C. Davis and during the mix-up he cursed the name of Georgia generally and Davis with whom he was fighting. Davis told the recorder that he merely defended the good name of the state and his own character when he struck Connor in the face. The recorder took his word for it and slapped the fine on Connor.

GEORGIA'S GOVERNOR HONORS REQUISITION OF GOVERNOR BLEASE

Savannah, Ga., September 26.—(Special.)—That Governor John M. Medlrin today received from the executive office in Atlanta papers ordering the delivery to the South Carolina authorities of Calvin Byrum, who is wanted in Columbia as an escaped convict. Jewish New Year Ushered In With Setting of Sun Tonight

Tonight at sundown the Jewish people of Atlanta will gather at their various synagogues, in most solemn prayer service. Jewish New Year is the occasion, the date being 5674, according to the Jewish calendar.

For the next ten days the Jewish people will celebrate the advent of another calendar year by feasting, prayer and social activity.

When the sun goes down tonight, the faithful will be found in their places of worship listening to the sacred prayers of the deep-voiced rabbis and the sweet-strained singing of the sacred verse by specially engaged cantous.

The liturgy of the services with the many fine phrased passages and charming poetry lend a solemnity to the occasion, making it truly the "Day of Remembrance" for the people of the nation of the entire world, the united brotherhood of man, together with the restoration of Israel.

The prayers are sung and chanted tonight have the theme of universal justice woven into their stanzas, the thought permeating them being that "wickedness and oppression shall be no more, the rule of the presumption cease and all mankind be made into a brotherhood in the performance of God's will."

Ten Days of Atonement.

With the ending of the service tonight comes the beginning of atonement devoted to rest, prayer and feasting. The first of these days, Thursday, is called Rosh Hashanah.

At the end of this period occurs Yom Kippur, really the most solemn days of the Jewish calendar. This begins with sundown on Friday, October 10, and lasts until sundown the next day, in which fasting and silence prevail. On the day no one of the Jewish race works, but spends his hours in deep contemplation of his inner self, confessing his sins to God in prayer.

On Thursday in Atlanta the homes of the Jewish people will be scenes of special gayety. Presents are exchanged then, while feasts mark the middle on this day between friends and relatives. A very home of the Jewish in Atlanta synagogues will conduct special services on Thursday, several out-of-town rabbis having been invited here to attend the solemn services.

Rabbi Julius Loeb, of Birmingham, will have charge of the services at the Beth Israel synagogue, corner of Washington and Clarke streets, during the holidays.

Rabbi J. M. Levine will hold new year's services at Red Men's Hall, 86 Brotherhood of Man, tonight at 6:30 and 6:30. He will address his new congregation at the Beth Hashonah Hasidic Anshe Sephard, and the public has been invited to attend.

Rabbi Marx, head of the Hebrew Benevolent congregation, will deliver special lectures on Thursday at his synagogue in South Pryor street.

"It is urged that you attend this meeting and bring as many friends as possible. This is a subject of vital importance to Atlanta, Fulton county and the state of Georgia."

GETS $465 VERDICT FOR AUTO DAMAGES

A damage suit against Morris Scrochi brought by the late L. B. Folsom, who died yesterday, in superior court, by which Henry Folsom, executor for the latter, was awarded a verdict for $465.25 for damage to L. B. Folsom's automobile on March 21, 1913.

Scrochi, so his petition stated, had been fined by the courts to pay C. F. Ventress $2,000 for personal injuries, and he also had to pay out $200 for damage to his own auto. Scrochi in turn sued Ventress for the repair bill. The suit to recover for personal damages paid to Ventress was tried before Judge W. D. Ellis. Folsom asked $75 for repairs to his car, and he declared that Scrochi was driving his car on the left side of the car when the accident occurred.

The Folsom car was hired out at the time of the collision and Ventress was a passenger in it.

DR. HOLDERBY DID NOT REFER TO MR. SLATON

Some friends of Superintendent William M. Slaton, of the Atlanta public schools, have been inclined to believe that Dr. A. R. Holderby, pastor of Moore Memorial Presbyterian church, included the superintendents in his remarks last Sunday evening when he stated that the city politics needed cleaning up and that he would like to see the appointment of the city government recalled.

Dr. Holderby stated Tuesday night that he did not refer to the public schools or to Mr. Slaton, as he did not consider them in politics and did not consider the superintendent's position a political one.

"Further, I consider Superintendent Slaton the right and logical man for the place," added Dr. Holderby, "and I warmly commend his work since he has held the present position."

RUMOR OF KIDNAPING STARTED BY A MEDIUM

The sensational kidnaping rumor which spread over Atlanta yesterday is said by Chief Lanford to have been inspired by an anonymous letter from a fanatic mind-reader of Nashville, Tenn., who has been deluging the Atlanta police department with mystery-ous letters ever since the beginning of the Mary Phagin investigation.

The rumor pertained to a child from Nashville who was believed to have been kidnaped, brought to Atlanta and held for ransom from his wealthy parents who lived in the country near Nashville. These statements were made in an anonymous letter to Chief Lanford. Upon investigation, the chief traced the letter's source to the medium in Tennessee, a woman who is said to be insane.

SOCIETY

Beautiful Ball to Open Season at Driving Club

At a recent meeting of the management of the Piedmont Driving club it was decided to open the fall season with a beautiful reception and ball, after which the formal dinner dances will be given.

The club has undergone many improvements. The ball room and loggia being redecorated. The dining room has been enlarged and decorated. The entrance has been changed to warrant the assembling of guests with comfort at large entertainments, and the living room will be used exclusively now for the reception of guests. Nothing in the way of refreshments will be served hereafter, as private dining rooms and the loggia will be used for the smaller parties formerly served in the living or general reception room.

The stairway has been changed and improved and the second floor has been adapted to dressing room space for ladies. Already the club program shows a series of brilliant entertainments, there being a number of private dinner dances booked to follow the reception as well as the series of subscription dinner dances, which have been a popular feature of the club's regime for many years.

Although the club has made a record for the splendid service in large entertainments, the improvements being made in the club house will give more space in the matter of pantry, kitchen and ante-rooms, a part of the kitchen. The equipment for refrigeration is excellent, and the staff of the chef now includes a group of noted culinary artists. The club is prepared to fill orders on short notice for entertainments, large or small, and the season at hand promises to be an active and brilliant one. The last of the informal dinner dances will probably take place the coming Saturday evening, as after that the more formal full dress dinner dances will follow the opening ball of the season.

As evidence of the interest in the opening ball, a well-known Atlanta modiste has orders for as many as thirty ball gowns for the particular occasion. The decorations are being planned by a well-known florist, and several features unique and spectacular are being planned by the club management.

Atlanta Singers.

For theatergoers of twenty years ago and more the coming of "Robin Hood" for a week-end engagement will hold much more than the usual interest attached to the appearance of a good company in a delightful comic opera.

For one thing "Robin Hood" was the first opera sung in the Grand theater. It will be for on this time at the Atlanta.) and "entrances" and "exists were somewhat hampered in their easy naturalness by the fact that Maid Marion, Will Scarlet, Friar Tuck, Allan-a-Dale, Little John and the rest had to clamber over loose-laid planks and piles of timber to go from dressing room to stage.

And a prettier reminiscence is that two of the leading roles were taken by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pearson, who have been ever since prominent in Atlanta's musical life.

Mrs. Pearson was a beautiful "Annabel" and Mr. Pearson, a dashing "Will Scarlet," in this first company sent out from New York by the original "Bostonians." They were a toast, both dramatically and socially in Atlanta, and a number of Atlanta people met them when they were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Burtonk, Mr. W. H. Venable and the late Mrs. Venable and others.

So favorably impressed with Atlanta were the two young singers, both assured successes in their profession if they chose to remain in it, that they decided instead, when the company's tour was over, to leave the stage and make Atlanta their home. And since that time they have been valued and popular members of Atlanta's clubs and local musical activities.

It is an interesting coincidence that Miss Sallinger and Phil Branson, who take the "character" parts in the present de Koven production, sang in the same company with Mr. Pearson in San Francisco, before the days of "Robin Hood." Miss Sallinger, then known as the "celebrated Australian prima donna," was the leading woman, appearing in repertoire at the Tivoli theater, while Mr. Branson was the tenor and Mr. Pearson the bass in the same organization.

Mlle. Enrica Dilli, Otis Harlan and other stars arrive today and will be at the Georgian Terrace.

Deihl-Brady.

The marriage of Miss Katherine Deihl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Deihl, and Mr. Peter A. Brady was a beautiful event of yesterday morning, solemnized at nuptial mass.

The ceremony took place at 10 o'clock at the Church of the Immaculate Conception. Music appropriate to the happy solemnity of the occasion was rendered, and ferns and flowers within the sanctuary were details of an impressive scene.

Father Kiely celebrated mass, and the attendants were Miss Mary Brady, maid of honor, Mr. Leonard Deihl, best man, and Messrs. James Campbell, James Sneed, Edward Vignaux, Gregory Murphy, ushers.

The bride was lovely in her traveling gown of blue cloth, her hat in shades of blue, and her flowers were bride's roses. Miss Brady wore a wisteria crepe gown and hat was trimmed with velvet flowers. Her bouquet was of American Beauties.

Mr. and Mrs. Brady left immediately for a trip north.

Buffet Supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Rainwater entertained very delightfully at a buffet supper last night at their home in Kirkwood, complimenting a few attractive visitors, Misses Martha Edmondson and Miss Augusta Cobb, of Anniston, Ala.

The handsome home was decorated with golden rod and autumn leaves.

An elegant supper was served buffet in the dining room and between each courses an orchestra played for dancing. Punch was served during the evening in the sun parlor.

Mr. and Mrs. Rainwater were assisted in entertaining by their mother, Mrs. W. T. Edmondson, of Anniston, and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Adair, Sr.

Miss Cobb wore an accordion-pleated white chiffon gown, with sash of Dresden silk and Mrs. Edmondson wore black crepe de chine. The guests were Misses Louise Riley, Janet Lowndes, Jessie McKee, Margaret McCarty, Lucy Hoke Smith, Callie Hoke Smith, Adgate Ellis, Lorrie Kyle, Nell Walker, Mamie Ansley, Helen McCullough, Messrs. EXCLUSIVE PICTURES ON WAY TO ATLANTA

After vast planning which began in the early summer the General Film company, who market the output of the Kalem, Biograph, Lubin, Essanay and other members of the regular Association of Licensed Manufacturers, have completed arrangements to show to the public within a fortnight their exclusive program which in its every offering will typify the last word in the manufacture of motion pictures; these playlets will always be a first presentation of their subjects in each city, supreme in their superiority as to the selection of the story, its manufacture and production; once having made their local appearance they will never be shown as a program in the city again.

The General Film company and the theater where they will be shown, are under severe contract that the observance of this arrangement be carried out without the slightest breach; freighted with that responsibility, and under strict instructions from the head office that these subjects shall not be permitted even a personal review before October 13th when country wide they will be exhibited simultaneously.

CONSERVATION MEET TO BE BIG SUCCESS

A great deal of interest is being taken in the conservation congress which is to be held in Washington, D. C., November 18 to 20 of this year.

Stephen Mangum, E. Lee Worsham, who is chairman of the executive committee, has recently been in receipt of letters from all parts of the country from people who have indicated their willingness to be present.

President Wilson has signified his intention of being present and is to part in the work of the convention unless other engagements prevent.

It is expected that the attendance this year will be larger than ever before in the history of the conference.

Your Attic Furniture May Be Treasures

Have you ever read the story of Grandma's Attic Treasures?

The old furniture of grandmother's girlhood stood long years in disuse, covered with dust and cobwebs.

Buyers of antiques drove through the country and heard of the old homestead. They visited grandmother and asked to see the furniture stored in the garret. Grandmother said the pieces were of no value. But they looked over the lot and paid grandmother enough to lift the mortgage from the old home and give her and grandfather peace and quiet the remainder of their lives.

You may not have priceless antiques in your attic; but probably you have some extra pieces of furniture that are useless to you. They may be sturdy and of a style suitable to the needs of some other family.

The only trouble is to find the family that needs them and that trouble disappears with the use of a Constitution Want Ad.

Constitution Want Ads, sold at a fair price, will dispose of your old furniture for you. Telephone Main 5000 today. Ask for a Want Ad Taker, tell what you have for sale and an expert will write your ad.

DR. CHARLES MICHEL DIES AT ST. LOUIS HOME

Dr. Charles E. Michel, aged 80 years, famous surgeon and ophthalmologist, died Monday morning at his residence in St. Louis. Dr. Michel was a surgeon and major in the confederate army under General Albert Sidney Johnston, whom he attended at Shiloh. He later had charge of the hospitals at Atlanta and Marietta, having been transferred to the army of General Joseph E. Johnston.

After the war he returned to St. Louis, where he served for many years as a professor of ophthalmology at the Missouri Medical college. At the same time enoying a large private practice. Dr. Michel invented the method of treating certain ophthalmic diseases by passing a current of electricity through a gold needle inserted into the affected part.

Dr. Michel is survived by his wife, two children and four sisters, one of whom is Mrs. J. Colton Lynes, of Atlanta.

S. V. D. BOYS WILL GATHER IN ATLANTA

Samuel S. Swilling, president of the Atlanta lodge of the well known boys' organization, called the S. V. D.'s, has returned to this city from the national convention of the order, held recently in Lynn, Mass. Mr. Swilling, through his efforts, succeeded in bringing to this city in 1914 the world-wide gathering of the order, which embraces many thousands.

This band of boy workers was first inaugurated in Atlanta nine years ago, since that time its activities have spread throughout the entire country.

For Sallow, Blotchy, Rough or Greasy Skins

(From Woman's Tribune.)

Some skins require constant groaming to keep them from becoming oily, muddy, blotchy or rough, or if such condition has developed, to overcome it. In such chronic cases it is particularly inadvisable to keep pilling on cosmetics which clog the pores, collect dust and dirt, making the complexion worse than ever. It's a lot more sensible to use ordinary mercolized wax, which literally absorbs a bad complexion. Apply the wax like cold cream, before retiring; next morning, in washing it off, you'll wash away fine, flour-like particles of the unsightly cuticle. Repeat it for a week or more and you'll have an entirely new skin—soft, satiny, spotless and beautiful as a child's. One ounce of mercolized wax, procurable at any druggist's, is all you'll need.

If the skin be wrinkled or flabby, here's the best possible remedy: Mix ½ pint witch hazel and 1 ounce powdered saxolite and use as a face bath. It works like a miracle, yet is entirely harmless.—(Adv.)

"I THOUGHT I WOULD DIE"

Says Lady From Yale, in Speaking of Her Terrible Suffering, Which Lasted for Years.

Yale, Ky.—Mrs. Effie Maxey, of this place, who has fully regained her health after years of suffering, authorizes the following statement: "I suffered for years, with womanly troubles, and I thought, every month, that I would die.

I could hardly stand on my feet; my back would almost kill me, I was nervous, had heart palpitation and fainting spells.

Nothing gave me any relief, whatever, until I began taking Cardui, the woman's tonic. Since taking Cardui I am feeling fine and have gained 20 pounds in weight.

I think Cardui is the best medicine in the world for women's ailments, and would not be without it in my house. I am so pleased with what it has done for me.

I will always praise Cardui to suffering women, for it has saved my life."

You, too, can depend upon Cardui, the woman's tonic, to help you, if you suffer from any of the numerous ailments so common to women, or if you feel the need of a good strengthening tonic, for that tired, worn out, overworked feeling.

Cardui is composed of purely vegetable ingredients which act in a natural, strengthening, curative way on the womanly constitution, and help to build the weakened organs up to health and strength.

Begin taking Cardui today.

DEFEATED CANDIDATE MAY PICK CITY HEADS

Predicted That Miller, Defeated for Macon's Mayor, Will Name Department Heads.

Macon, Ga., September 30.—(Special.)—Though Wallace Miller was not elected mayor of Macon, it is stated by those who are up with the inside dope on politics, that all of the heads of the city departments are to be passed on by him before they are named by city council. Ten of Mr. Miller's aldermanic board were elected to council and they will have the majority voice in the naming of such city officials as are not appointed by the mayor.

It is reported that Cliff Vigal, at present deputy internal revenue collector, is to be named chief of police; David Jones, city clerk; L. A. Miller, chief of the fire department; Will Gunn, city attorney, and Walter Defore, city recorder.

Walter B. Chapman is the present chief of police; Bridges Smith is now city clerk; M. L. Jones holds the job of fire chief; A. W. Lane, city attorney, and Augustin Daly, city recorder. Judge Daly was recently elected judge of the municipal court, so it will not be necessary for him to hunt a new job when the new city officials step in.

MISTRIAL DECLARED.

Damage Suit Postponed on Defendant's Admissions.

The case of W. M. Camp v. L. C. Fischer for $10,000 damage alleged to have been inflicted upon the plaintiff as a result of injuries received by being run over by defendant's automobile on Peachtree street in 1912, came to an abrupt and unexpected conclusion in the city court of Atlanta on yesterday, when a mistrial was declared during the plaintiff's testimony.

In detailing the circumstances relating to the jury, the plaintiff testified that immediately after he was run over by defendant's automobile, the defendant apologized for the occurrence, and stated that he had failed to see the plaintiff in the street until he was struck and run over, and advised the plaintiff to claim any damages resulting from the injury, as the automobile was protected by indemnity insurance, and that the insurance company would have to pay the bill.

Defendant's counsel immediately moved a mistrial on the ground that the relation of the indemnity insurance company represented by them, and for whom they were defending the action, played no legal part in making the issues in the suit, and that whatever the court might charge the jury in the premises would not obliterate fro mthe minds of the jurors the naked fact that the real party at interest was the insurance company, and that any verdict rendered against the defendant would have to be paid by the insurance company.

After hearing argument upon the motion, the court ruled that although the interest of the insurance company in the controversy was brought out by the defendant at the time of the injury, the liability of the defendant should not be affected by the fact that he was protected by indemnity insurance, and that as any effect that might follow the evidence as to insurance indemnity could not be entirely obviated by a charge to the jury, the motion should be granted and a mistrial declared.

The effect of the decision will be to postpone the hearing of the case, subject to re-assignment for trial at a later date during the present term of the court.

The plaintiff was represented by Dorsey, Brewster, Howell & Heyman, and the defendant by Van Aator Bachelor and Daniel McDougal.

HOTEL ANSLEY TO GIVE WORLD SERIES RETURNS

The management of the Hotel Ansley has made special arrangements with the Western Union Telegraph company for a special wire and operator to receive the continuous reports of each game of the world's championship series between the New York Giants and the Philadelphia Athletics, which games are to be played on October 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11. The wires will be run to the stage of the convention hall on the eleventh floor, when the operator will receive and call out the continuous reports from the beginning to the end of each game, describing the movements of each player and giving the decisions of umpires. Scores will be chalked upon a blackboard upon the stage within sight of all. The reports will be received daily during the entire series of the world's championship games.

The patrons and guests of the hotel will be admitted to the hall free and can enjoy the games, and at the same time be served with refreshments, as tables will be arranged in the room, and a full corps of waiters will be on hand to serve the guests during the entire afternoon. The famous Hotel Ansley orchestra will furnish music between the innings.

Major League Recruits Are Winning Laurels

Edited By DICK JEMISON

WHIFFS

The Great Tyrus.

TY COBB, the world's greatest ball player, keeps that title by doing something that no one else ever does. Every time some one makes a record, Tyrus comes along and knocks it to smithereens. At present Ty is tied with Jesse Burkett for a record of hitting .409, both hitting it two consecutive seasons. Cobb is about to break this record by rinding up at that consecutive .400 year mark. At the rate he has been going the past few days, there will be no question about his doing it, if he keeps it up until the end of the season.

Another Record.

BY WINNING the batting honors in the American league this season, Cobb will set a record that will stand for some time to come, even if he breaks it himself next season. This will make the seventh consecutive season that he has led the batters of the Ban Johnson organization. That's a wonderful performance. Think of a batter who can read as many kinds of hitters as Lajoie, Jackson, Speaker, Baker, Collins, etc., for seven years, never conquering seasons. Is he the greatest ball player in the world? Answer echoes—he is.

Another Chance.

COBB may establish another record before he is through with baseball. He is good for several years yet, and at the rate he has been hitting for the past four seasons, he will establish a mark for the highest batting average for a certain number of years that has ever been established by a player.

Are Lining Up.

MANAGERS and players in the two big leagues are lining up on one side or the other in betting on the world's series winner. In practically every case, with few exceptions the players and managers are sticking to their respective leagues in picking the winners.

Is Good News.

GIANT supporters are cheered by the announcement that Captain Larry Doyle and Outfielder Fred Snodgrass are not going to be out of the world's series. And even the Mackmen, true sportsmen that they are, are glad. The Athletics want to beat the strongest team that the Giants possess and with Snodgrass and Doyle in the lineup there will be no chance for an alibi boiler.

The Latest Play.

THE DOUBLE SQUEEZE is the latest play in the Mackinaw. Connie Mack it is worked with Jack Barry at the bat. In this play the runner on second also scores on the hunt. The man on third holds that base until the pitcher winds up. He takes no lead, but the man on second takes a big one. With the pitch the latter takes a flying start and crosses the plate right on the heels of the man from third. The Athletics worked this play recently to the amusement of all the baseball critics of the east.

Four Georgia Schools.

IF HOLLAND and Thompson return to the Cracker's roster in the spring, the king of Key Perryman will give the Crackers a representative from the four Georgia colleges, Emory, Mercer, Georgia and Tech. Manager Smith is pulling the Mack stuff in the Southern league and to date he has been successful in getting a big a success as Mack with his collegians, only on a smaller scale.

Has Gone Stale.

FRANCIS OUIMET, the marvelous boy golfer, must lay off his game for a few days. Ouimet is stricken with a case of staleness, such as strikes all golfers at times. He has played too regularly and too much practice has just as bad an effect on a man's golf game as not enough and sometimes more so. With a week's rest, Ouimet ought to recover his stride.

Is Honored.

OUIMET has been honored by the Woodland Golf club at Brookline, of which he has been a member for a number. He has been given a life membership in the club. Other golf clubs in Massachusetts have given the open champion honorary memberships for indefinite time.

INTRODUCING PLAYERS FOR WORLD SERIES.

EDITOR'S NOTE—Under this head The Constitution will give daily a brief sketch of the career of the players of the rival teams in the approaching world's series.

J. FRANKLIN BAKER.

J. Frank Baker was born in Trappe, Md., on March 11, 1886. He is 5 feet tall and weighs 175 pounds. His first professional engagement was with the Reading, Pa., Tri-State league team, in 1908, and his work there caught the eye of Connie Mack's eye. Mack decided that Baker would be an invaluable man for his team, and secured him in the fall of 1908. He made good with the Athletics from the jump in 1909, and was the first player to knock a ball over the wall of the new White park in the spring of that opening. His batting average in 1910 was .340 and he fielded .925. Baker has improved steadily and now is ranked with the best third basemen in the league. Baker is a right-handed batter and right-handed thrower. He will attract the most attention in the coming series by his work at the bat. His hitting in the last world's series with the Cubs, when he was the slugging wallop of the team.

Analysis of Playing Strength Of the World's Series Rivals On Their Work This Season

EDITOR'S NOTE—Under this head, The Constitution will run a series of articles written by the official statistician of the American league, comparing the work of the rivals in the world's series.

THE ATHLETICS' PITCHERS.

By Irwin M. Howe.

The Philadelphia pitcher for the first games with the Giants has already been chosen. In contests of this kind the managers lead their trump card and that makes the selection easy for Connie Mack. There may be better pitchers in the league, but there is no one better than Bender, but we cannot recall many. There may be a better one in the past, but they have been few and far apart.

For ten years the famous Redskin has been on the Mack roll, and most of that time he has been the one best bet. Nevertheless, this season he is better than this season and all of them have been good ones.

Bender has appeared this year, at the time of this writing, in 47 games and has been credited with 21 victories and 4 defeats unofficially.

In addition to terrific speed, a sharp curve and good control, Bender has a faculty of divining the weakness of a batter and driving trials of his opponents that is uncanny.

Bender's Record.

Bender and Ames are record against New York in 1911 is as follows:

Players.	G.	A.B.	H.	P.C.
Bender	5	34	6	.176
Plank	4	31	10	.322

Plank has been stated with increasing emphasis recently that Old Man Plank was all in. That he was through at this stage of decrepitude where he totters around feebly and as soon as he takes with New York are over he will be laid away to sleep peacefully on Gettysburg with the rest of the old soldiers. No doubt this is true, indeed it is, but some cases the wish is father to the thought.

Certain it is though, that the veteran is not working with the form that he once did. Nor can he put loose with that old curving and fadeaway stuff that stage of decrepitude where he totters around feebly and as soon as he takes with New York are over he will be laid away to sleep peacefully on Gettysburg with the rest of the old soldiers. No doubt this is true, indeed it is, but some cases the wish is father to the thought.

Certain it is though, that the veteran is not working with the form that he once did. Nor can he put loose with that old curving and fadeaway stuff that

There may be a question about his doing it, if he keeps it up until the end of the season.

Another Record.

BY WINNING the batting honors in the American league this season, Cobb will set a record that will stand for some time to come, even if he breaks it himself next season. This will make the seventh consecutive season that he has led the batters of the Ban Johnson organization. That's a wonderful performance. Think of a batter who can read as many kinds of hitters as Lajoie, Jackson, Speaker, Baker, Collins, etc., for seven years, never conquering seasons. Is he the greatest ball player in the world? Answer echoes—he is.

Another Chance.

COBB may establish another record before he is through with baseball. He is good for several years yet, and at the rate he has been hitting for the past four seasons, he will establish a mark for the highest batting average for a certain number of years that has ever been established by a player.

DANNY RIDGE BESTED BY "KNOCKOUT" BROWN

New York, September 30.—"Knockout" Brown, the east side lightweight, made his first appearance as a local star since his return from the Pacific coast, and had the better of Danny Ridge in a ten-round bout at the Fairmont A. C. tonight. Brown went to the floor from a hard right to the jaw in the fourth, but was up immediately. After the third round Brown's experience told and he outfought Ridge in the next six rounds. Brown's left hook to the jaw was a hard, for a knock-out. Both weighed in at the ringside at 133 pounds.

Cincinnati, Ohio, September 30.—The National Baseball commission today refused the Gal Hof Richard L. Guy against the Washington club for $500. The first two games of the series will be played in Cleveland, on Monday, October 6, and Tuesday, October 7. The third and fourth games will be played in Pittsburg on October 8 and 9, while the fifth and sixth games are scheduled to be played in Cleveland on the two days following.

Savage's "Little Boy Blue" is great. Don't miss it tonight.

BILL SMITH OFF FOR BIG SERIES

Cracker Mogul Leaves Today. Will Stop Off in Washington for a Conference With Clark Griffith.

Manager Billy Smith will leave at noon today for Washington, en route to the world's series games between the Giants and Athletics.

The local manager will spend a few days in Washington in conference with Manager Clark Griffith, of the Washington club, about some young players that Griff may let him have for next spring.

From Washington he will go to New York to witness the opening game of the big series. At the close of the series he will go to Springfield, Ohio, for a visit to his mother before returning to Atlanta for the winter.

AT THE THEATERS.

"Robin Hood."

(At the Atlanta.)

"Robin Hood," the celebrated comic opera by Messrs. De Koven and Smith, will be the offering at the Atlanta Friday and Saturday nights, matinee Saturday. The opera will be presented by the De Koven Opera company, an organization composed of grand opera singers, in the notable cast of which artists first mention should be given to Miss Grace Gill, who made such success with the Chicago Grand Opera company last season and who has also sung at the famous La Scala, in Milan, Italy. Miss Gill possesses a remarkable soprano voice of dramatic quality and sings the role of Maid Marian with rare charm and power. Miss Gill will be remembered by Atlanta theatergoers who heard her sing in Miss Fanning's production of "The Imperial Slipper," which was also by her voice is admirably suited to the part. George Frothingham, who originated the part of Friar Tuck, will again play that character this season. Others are well known.

"Little Boy Blue."

(At the Atlanta.)

The Atlanta tonight, Thursday matinee and night will have as its attraction "Little Boy Blue," the joyous operetta produced last season by Henry W. Savage. The scenes of the first act of the operetta take place in the famous Parisian cafe, and those of the second in the highlands of Scotland. In perfect keeping with the scenic localities and is so bright and sparkling that it seems to radiate the very atmosphere of both countries. The scenes are a work of a girl who masquerades as a boy, in order to be near her brother in order to save certain ancestral estates. She has another motive, but it is the property of Miss Grover Bellew, who is serving a life sentence as one of the conspirators. So much for so far as she was connected with the crime.

Besides Bellew, Guy McKenzie, an oil operator, and Joe Baker are serving penitentiary sentences in connection with the killing. It is the conviction of the prosecution that the proper relations between McKenzie and Miss Reuter prompted the murder of Reuter.

It is not a fact that you paid Joe Baker $200 blood money for murdering your husband?" he was asked.

"I did not," Mrs. Reuter replied, and Prosecutor Hall's unusually severe cross-examination did not alter her original denial in any material particular.

At times Mrs. Reuter smiled in relating incidents of her life, but for the greater part of the time she was on the stand was in tears.

here and the order to Americans to leave Mexico followed.

Additional troops from this afternoon stated that General Maass, with the garrison at Juarez, will advance to the march against the constitutionalists at Sabinas and it is now believed that a battle will be fought in which the entire insurgent forces will retreat to Piedras Negras.

About 2,000 of the refugees who crossed the international bridge here today were unable to obtain lodging in Eagle Pass tonight, and it was necessary to open public buildings and hotels empty bodegas to afford them shelter.

FIVE MEXICAN STATES RESOLVE TO SECEDE

El Paso, Texas, September 30.—At a conference held this afternoon in the northern states of Mexico, decided to form a federal government to form the confederate states of Mexico, according to Americans arriving today from Hermosillo.

The states whose representatives met and decided upon the plan are Sonora, Durango, Cohuila, Sinaloa and Chihuahua. Only the latter government in Chihuahua joined in the secession movement. Governor Maytorena is to be president of the new confederacy. Jesus Flores Magon will be minister of foreign relations. Eduardo Hay is said to be given a cabinet place. Lower California is not included in the new government, and its promoters say the revolution has not spread to it.

ASSAULTS ON GIRLS PROBED BY WASHINGTON

Vera Cruz, September 30.—The funeral of one of the judges at Tampico and the investigation into the assault on two daughters of Matthew Arnold, an Englishman, several weeks ago, while the father was tied to a chair, will be given a cabinet place. Lower California is not included in the new government, and its promoters say the revolution has not spread to it.

YOUNG CAREY SEEMS RED AND BLACK FIND

Georgia Warriors Are Put Thro' Strenuous Practice by Cunningham.

By Dick Jemison.

Athens, Ga., September 30.—(Special.) Coach Cunningham put his Red and Black warriors through their second scrimmage of the season this afternoon and Georgia fans got a better line on the prospects by reason of all of the varsity men, with the exception of Conklin, being out on the field.

Georgia seems to have uncovered a fast backfield in young Carey, who has not played any football for the past few years, and who four years ago was at Gordon Institute and played on the same team with Captain Ike McWhorter. It is a coincidence that they are both playing now.

Carey's work was the feature of the scrimmage. He and Powell alternated most of the territory that the varsity registered. Powell is faster than last season.

The personnel of the backfield seems to be settled to the casual observer, with the line in the same fix, with the exception of one of the guard positions. Here there is a merry battle going on.

Goldsack and Massey were in the scrimmage for a few minutes but lack of condition kept them out of it for a long period. Neal is also on the shelf. They will be able to play in the game against Citadel on Saturday.

DENIES SHE PLOTTED TO MURDER HUSBAND

Bartlesville, Okla., September 30.—Branding as false allegations that she had plotted to kill her first husband, Mrs. Laura M. Reuter, on the first day of the trial of the conversation today of the killing of Charles F. Reuter, an attorney, of Tulsa, Mrs. Reuter is on trial charged with complicity in the murder of her husband. Who was shot to death at his home May 29, 1913.

Mrs. Reuter declared that when an unknown man appeared at their home on the night Reuter was shot she believed he was the "fat man" that she had seen from the room and when she gained access to the parlor, found her husband dead and the assassin had fled.

She declared that the confession of Grover Bellew, who is serving a life sentence as one of the conspirators, was untrue so far as she was connected with the crime.

Besides Bellew, Guy McKenzie, an oil operator, and Joe Baker are serving penitentiary sentences in connection with the killing. It is the conviction of the prosecution that the proper relations between McKenzie and Mrs. Reuter prompted the murder of Reuter.

At times Mrs. Reuter smiled in relating incidents of her life, but for the greater part of the time she was on the stand was in tears.

PLAYER-WRITERS WILL GET SUPPORT

Baseball Players' Fraternity Announces Position on Much Discussed Question.

New York, September 30.—Baseball players who write articles for newspapers on the coming world's series will have the support of the Baseball Players' fraternity, it was announced today by David L. Fultz, president of the organization. Fultz made a statement regarding the rule laid down by the national commission prohibiting players of the competing teams from writing on the championship games or allowing their names to be signed to articles where written by others.

"We do not pass upon the status of the player-author, as in our opinion that matter rests entirely with the club," said the paper itself," said Fivefident Ban Johnson's attitude toward the fraternity is such that if the support should become necessary to enable one of our members to secure a contract which he has had a perfect right to enter into, which another has entered into with him in good faith, we would back him up to the limit.

Fultz characterized as "absurd" all talk that the series would be called off if players refused to heed the ban against their efforts as writers. The attitude of the players toward the rule will be taken up Monday when the national commission meets here to complete arrangements for the world's series.

Officials of the New York club announced that they have returned $5,000 to persons who sent in their buy tickets to the championship games. Included in the mail order tickets are to be honored and would-be purchasers are requested to call at the gate. The applications come from all parts of the country. John B. Foster, secretary of the New York club, said yesterday that he anticipated a crowd of 40,000 at the opening game here next Tuesday if the weather is fair.

HE BELIEVES SUSPECTS ROBBED THE TRAIN

Tuscaloosa, Ala., September 30.—James Bell, special agent for the Alabama Great Southern railroad, decided in the belief that the three men now under arrest, John Jackson, Harry H. Poll and Robert Vaughan, the last named being a 16-year-old boy were implicated in the hold-up of the fast train on that road last Thursday night. When the express car safe was dynamited and loot estimated at between $20,000 and $50,000 was secured. Bell is one of the officers working on the case secret Bail's opinion.

Bail believes that the loot was turned over to confederates, who hastened to Birmingham and that the three men returned to Tuscaloosa on top of the looted car directly as it passed through here. John Pruitt of Birmingham, where it is claimed he told other inmates of the jail that he knew all about the robbery, is accepted by Bail as corroborating his theory.

Leander Poole, the mail clerk on the train during the robbery, and Deputy Sheriff Palmer to keep Robert Vaughan, the boy of the trio, in jail here until he gets an opportunity to question him for purposes of identification. The description of the boy, it is stated, tallies with that of the robber, he may have been the nervous individual who did so much unnecessary shooting and cursing while the robbery was being committed.

RAIN AGAIN, AND RACES HAVE TO BE POSTPONED

Riders on the local motordrome planned to celebrate their return from the Chattanooga, where they entertained the Grand Army men, by a splendid race meet Tuesday night, but the rain interfered and a whopping big one. A. Weatherman, who hates Jack Prince and all his like, battled in vain. Races are now scheduled for Friday night, weather willing.

Noon Hudson, local manager, came back from Nooga having a bug in his head, and that was that, while the 1-to-1 shot speeders were on their little jaunt. Mr. von Herrmann would forget his name and the manager would have kept secret as long as he could the date of the meet. He found that the fans still had their eyes on him, and that just as soon as he announced a race again they announced rain. Rain and racing 90 miles an hour around a saucer track don't go well together, and there's no way of stopping the rain.

Japanese Win.

PRISONER USES SPOON TO GAIN HIS LIBERTY

Fort Smith, Ark., September 30.—William Cody, sought by the police of Chattanooga, Tenn., on charges of highway robbery, escaped from jail here today by digging through a two foot brick wall with a spoon and sliding to the ground on a rope of blankets.

Cody escaped from the same jail a year ago after being dangerously wounded. Cody was arrested yesterday in a hospital while he had been taken after being wounded in a fight with negro highwayman.

SECOND EXTRA SESSION CALLED FOR TENNESSEE

Gov. Hooper Is Resolved to Get Prohibition Law Enforcement Measure Through.

Nashville, Tenn., September 30.—In a proclamation issued today by Governor B. W. Hooper, the announcement is made that the legislature will be convened on October 13 in second extra session to consider the prohibition law enforcement bills killed by the filibuster in the house last week.

The proclamation says:

"The fight for the enforcement of the laws in this state I desire to appeal directly to the great masses of our citizenship for support and co-operation. The developments of the last few weeks have demonstrated to my mind that an overwhelming majority of the people, regardless of political affiliations, are determined to put an end to the open, flagrant and disgraceful nullification of the law in the cities of the state. Knowing the existence of this wholesome sentiment I call upon the people for its public expression throughout the length and breadth of Tennessee.

"The question which now confronts the people is, shall the laws of the state be enforced in the city as well as in the country, or shall the outlawed saloons corruptly dominate not only the cities, but the legislature and the entire state.

"I, therefore, appeal to the people of every county in the state to rise above the narrow confines of partisan limitations, to assemble at the county seats and elsewhere and to instruct, encourage and support both the governor and the general assembly in the restoration of the majesty of the law."

$95,000 DIVIDENDS PAID WEDNESDAY BY SIX LAGRANGE MILLS

LaGrange, Ga., September 30.—(Special.)—Five of the LaGrange cotton mills paid this morning their semi-annual dividend, which will amount in total to $89,987, and an additional $6,000 having just been paid by an affiliated cotton warehouse, makes the total $95,987. The concerns making payment of the dividends are as follows:

Dunson mills, $20,000; Manchester mills, $20,000; Elm City mills, $18,926; Unity mills, $17,849; Milstead mills, $12,000; Security warehouse, $6,000. Total, $95,987.

This leaves three mills yet to declare dividends, namely, Dixie mills, LaGrange mills and the Park mill. All of these will declare dividends a little later.

This dividend, coming just at the time, when cotton is opening and bringing a high price, has put a jubilant spirit in the hearts of every citizen and business man.

This is the second annual dividend of the mills this year, the first having been paid in April, and of about the same amount.

RACE SEGREGATION WANTED IN MARYLAND

Baltimore, Md., September 30.—In accordance with a resolution adopted at a mass meeting last night of residents of Baltimore county to protest against the location in the suburb of Mount Washington of Morgan college, a negro institution, the next session of the Maryland legislature will be asked to pass a race segregation law for the metropolitan belt of Baltimore county, identical in principal with the segregation ordinance of Baltimore city.

According to the plan decided on, the county is to be divided into plats, corresponding to city blocks, for segregation purposes, and the same rules of occupancy applied to them as are now applied to city blocks, that an entire plat will be occupied by members of only one race.

The report of a committee appointed to confer with the trustees of Morgan college stated the trustees had been given to understand that the residents of Mount Washington and vicinity were incensed at the threatened negro invasion, and that no matter how praiseworthy the work of the college might be, the agitation of the selection of a site at Mount Washington would arouse indignation and resentment.

The trustees, it is said, have given assurance that no purchase of a site had been made, or a gift of such a site accepted.

RIGHT OF PRESIDENT QUESTIONED BY COURT

Denver, Colo., September 30.—The United States circuit court of appeals for the eighth district will ask the United States supreme court for a "ruling on the question of the right of a president of the United States to withdraw public lands from entry. The announcement was made today by Presiding Judge William C. Hook.

This request is made in the Mid-West Oil company case before the court of appeals for argument at the present session. It involves the ownership of oil lands in Wyoming.

In making his announcement Judge Hook stated that the court had determined on this course "because of the important issues involved."

Upon the final determination of a president's right to withdraw public lands is said to hinge the ownership of extensive tracts of oil lands. The outcome of the present case is expected also to have an important bearing of litigation involving public lands in other states.

Washington, September 30.—The question to be submitted to the supreme court involves in principle thousands of acres of oil lands in Wyoming and California, valued at hundreds of millions of dollars, and is one of the most important land problems with which Attorney General McReynolds is dealing. The proposed action of the circuit court of appeals is expected to afford an expeditious solution of the question.

BEEF CATTLE HERDS FOR INDIAN TRIBES

Washington, September 30.—The latest effort of the government to check the present scarcity of beef consists in enlisting the aid of the cattleman to raise cattle for the market.

Not only is Commissioner of Indian Affairs Sells stocking the big Indian reservations with large herds of fine breeds of beef cattle, but he is mapping out plans for improving and developing all of the live stock of the Indians. In many instances the Indian has shown considerable aptitude for handling live stock, and in order to encourage him the commissioner has authorized the purchase out of Indian funds of beef cattle herds for a number of reservations.

Commissioner Sells has issued advertisements calling for bids on 9,000 head of cattle for the Crow Indian reservation in Montana. He is increasing the stock of sheep on the reservations in Arizona and New Mexico.

HIGHER ATLANTA RATES BARRED BY COMMISSION

Washington, September 30.—Advances ranging from 4 to 7 cents per 100 pounds in class and commodity freight rates from Richmond, Norfolk, Lynchburg, Roanoke and other points taking "Virginia cities' rates" to Vicksburg, Miss.; Montgomery, Ala.; Macon, West Point and Atlanta, Ga., and other destinations in the south, today were suspended by the interstate commerce commission until January 29 next. The commission will institute an inquiry into the proposed rates.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY.

All the News of Real Estate and Building.

The announcement that the northeast corner of Broad and Alabama streets has been sold for an aggregate consideration of $170,000, which, reckoned on the Broad street frontage, is at a rate of $1,460 per lineal foot, lends a exceedingly enlivening tone to the realty market.

On the heels of this announcement came the definite announcement that Dr. E. L. Connally will erect a 15 or 20-story office building at the corner. Grand Alabama street landed certain loans which he is now negotiating to finance the proposition through. The estimated cost of the building is over $1,000,000.

These announcements, together with the continued good re sales of property, has the realty men feeling in a very hopeful frame of mind for the fall business.

The Broad Street Sale.

The Broad and Alabama street corner was sold by Forrest Adair, Jr., of Forrest & Georgia Adair & Realty investments to A. W. Calhoun and Dr. Phinizy Calhoun.

The property has a frontage of 59 feet on Broad street with a depth of 60 feet along Alabama street.

On the corner is a three-story and basement brick building, which will be torn away at once to make room for a more modern structure of the same dimensions at a cost of about $15,000.

The purchasers of the property own 20 feet of frontage on Broad street adjoining their purchase, and it is understood that in the course of several years they contemplate placing a handsome structure covering this entire property, which will have a frontage of 79 feet on Broad with a depth of 60 feet.

Third Sale of Same Corner.

The sale of this corner announced on Tuesday constitutes the third sale that Forrest Adair, Jr., has made of this property within as many years. Three years ago he sold it for Mrs. Hook Duke, formerly Mrs. Will Inman, to Oscar and Charles Davis. For these purchasers he sold it for Real Investments, the present sellers. Each sale showed a very substantial enhancement in the value of the property.

Dr. Connally's Plans.

Dr. E. L. Connally is planning for the erection of a sky-scraper on his property at the corner of Broad and Alabama, better known as "the Brown & Allen corner."

Dr. Connally owns the store occupied by the firm of Brown & Allen as well as the two adjoining store buildings and the building occupied by the Alamo Moving picture theatre. When completed he will have an aggregate frontage of approximately 100 feet on Broad with a depth of about the same number of feet.

The tenants of these buildings have been notified to vacate on the expiration of their leases, all of which expire in the fall of 1914.

The notice is given, it is understood, for the purpose of having the property unhindered so that a 15 or 20-story building may be erected upon it.

Dr. Connally is now negotiating for a loan to finance the future erection of the building. If this loan goes through at reasonable annual rate of interest, the building will be erected.

Preliminary sketches of the building have already been made, although it is understood that Dr. Connally has not definitely enough decided upon the style of the structure to have the final plans made.

Parris & Tyson, New Firm.

Robert W. Parris and H. H. Tyson have offices at 1111 Fourth National Bank building under the firm name of Parris & Tyson. They are both well known in the real estate field." Mr. Parris has been in the real estate business several years, made a fine record and handled quite a large volume. He makes a specialty of farms, acreage and subdivision property.

Mr. Tyson has had a shorter experience, but has had the distinction of making several sales during the summer months of this year. He reports that business is always good if you hustle.

These associates have formed an alliance for the good will of the real estate people, a good line of customers and our best wishes.

AMAZONS OF ALBANIA ARE FIGHTING SERVIANS

Armed With Hatchets, Women Battle Shoulder to Shoulder With Men.

Vienna, September 30.—Women are taking an active part in the fighting in Albania, according to dispatches received here from Aviona, the Albanian capital.

Many Albanian Amazons, armed with hatchets, fought shoulder to shoulder with their husbands, sons and brothers during the street fighting at Dibrano, September 23, when 1,200 Servians were killed and 300 taken prisoners. The town fell into the hands of the Albanians and the prisoners were sent under escort to Tirana.

The women of the Greek race in southern Albania are also displaying a very warlike spirit. At Koritza, which is held by the Servians, girls have organized a company which is drilled by Greek non-commissioned officers. The women declare they would rather die fighting than permit Koritza to be incorporated in the state of Albania.

Outbreak Is Formidable.

London, September 30.—The London correspondent of The Daily Mail cables send the following dispatch:

"While advices reports from Belgrade now seek to minimize the trouble in Albania, news from Aviona indicates that the outbreak is formidable and that it will need all of Servia's powers to overcome it. The Albanians are reported to have won a succession of victories from Dibra to Debreje, and Albanian operations against Krushevo are progressing successfully.

"Forty thousand revolutionary Macedonian Bulgars are mobilizing with 20,000 Albanians against the Serbs in Macedonia. The Servian troops have been forced to leave Monastir, where the authorities are forming volunteer corps for the defense of the city and for the protection of Albanian and Turkish residence. Reactionary movements mark the fighting around Prizrend, where the situation is critical."

Watching the Swallow's First Flight.

(John Burroughs, in the October Atlantic.)

I think the great event, the first flight of the young, is somewhat hard to dine, and when I return and am about to enter the barn, on mellow autumn afternoons, I look up and call "pleet, pleet," which I take to be my version of saying "pejit, pejit," and I know something has happened. Looking up I am sure to see one of the young perched upon the low ridge pole that runs from side to side. He looks scared and ill at ease. I see a pebble about to be cast away he goes into the free air, his parents swooping about him and calling to him in excellent state of excitement. Then will be made a few wings on that first flight, say-sawing and flapping, but little appearance of awkwardness or hesitancy. After a few moments he comes back to the barn roof and lights on the other side from sight. During the afternoon the other three venture out, and I literally see flow about the interior of the barn for some time before venturing outside, their parents flying with them and cheering encouragingly.

There Are Lies and Lies.

(Katherine F. Gleason, in The October Atlantic.)

Very few people, I fancy, would say, after deliberation, that no lie was ever justified. There will be several sections young man protest that Shakespeare's Othello, for example, was by allowing her, at her last sad, to exculpate Othello. I have also known people who objected vehemently to the late Mark Twain, for the reason that many things that were not so. But there are occasions when lies are likely for granted, even by the law. A man on trial for his life is supposed to tell the truth, but not if it will terminate that life. A wife is not drawn to the witness-stand against her husband, and we would legitimately expect nothing but perjury from her. I do not think the difference between legally permitting a man to say "Not guilty" when he is guilty, and legally permitting him to lie, is there any question that the man who would not willingly give the mudwitch murdered is understood that her husband was just coming down the stairs, armed to the teeth, as he had not supposed, except by an extinct type of Puritan, to act. And the lady who has made sacrifices for him, and from the earliest age of Puritan would hardly expect you to tell your hostess that her dinner party was a frost. From this heterogeneous group of examples, one thing is clear: that there are lies and lies, and while it is quite impossible to say so, it is sometimes quite impermissible to say anything else.

Fresh Air in Schools.

(From The Boston Post.)

A medical inspector of the Philadelphia public schools, with the co-operation of teachers and parents, recently made an experiment to determine the value of cold fresh air in school rooms. He opened the windows at the top and bottom and kept them open throughout the winter.

The room was shut off from the heating plant of the building, except on the occasional days when the temperature fell below 45 degrees; but the children, of course, wore extra wraps and had frequent drill exercises.

Week by week during the fall and winter and spring this physician weighed and examined the pupils, watched their study and their play, and compared their progress in health and scholarship with that of pupils in another room of the same building.

In that other room the pupils were of the same grade and of about the same number, but the room was heated and ventilated according to the usual methods. The pupils in both rooms were normal, healthy children from the same kind of homes, so that the test was as fair, accurate and searching as possible.

At the end the inspector found that the pupils in the open-window room had gained in weight on an average more than twice as much as those in the warm-air room. The pupils in the open room kept wholly free from colds, and were much more regular in attendance that the others.

They were also more alert, free from day-dreaming, quicker to learn, needed to review work and were better behaved.

In health, in happiness, in body, the children of the room with open windows had a clear advantage of the others.

In these days the gospel of sunshine and pure air ought to need little preaching. Most of us accept it, but we do not always practice the doctrine that we believe in and preach.

This Philadelphia experiment lay not in giving the open-air treatment to sick children—which everyone approves; it lay in giving to well children some of the good things that nature intended them to enjoy, and in demonstrating to the school officials and parents the advantages of lower school room temperatures.

Railroad Loses Its One Engine.

(From The Des Moines Capital.)

The Tabor and Northern railroad has been out of commission since Saturday. Its engine blew a cylinder head on that day. No trains have been running for three days, but it is expected to resume service as soon as a locomotive can be secured from the Burlington road. Mail and express have been transferred on a gas motor car, and passengers have been trusted to hired livery rigs.

A Five-Passenger Biplane.

A biplane which will carry five passengers, apparently tried at Hendon recently. It has a span of nearly seventy-five feet and was built at the Grahame-White Aviation company's works. It is to be used for passenger flights, which have become a feature at the aerodrome.

The body of the machine is not unlike that of a small motor car, the pilot's seat being immediately in front of the comfortable wicker work seats of his four-passengers. Accommodation for luggage has been provided for on it.

BUY LAND

YOUNG MEN of Georgia and Fulton County: Why not buy land? Why not own land? Many a clerk who buys a small tract of land now, and pays for it in a few years, will find himself possessed of something worth many times the price he paid. There is money in land. Northern and Eastern capitalists are rapidly buying the pick of Georgia and southern farms. Buy your land before it is too late, and after you have purchased land, "HOLD ON TO IT"—Do not sell.
