could be done by the United States, at 8 least, until Mr Lind actually con-cluded his parleys with Huerta and his "cabinet with whom the American envoy page established pleasant unofficial re-lations. One thing which confused the situa-tion today was the fact that only the first part of the Huerta note reject-ing the American proposal had been received. This was couched in cor-dial terms, setting forth the reasons why mediation or cutside interforence is impossible of acceptance by the Huerta administration. It cited par-ticularly that the pride of the Mex-lean people could not brook the settle-ment of an international controversy at foreign hands but the principal ar-gument was not reached in this (natal-ment of the document). DR. SAMUEL BENEDICT COMES TO THE DEFENSE OF DR. ROY F. HARRIS

State Makes Strong Effort to Show That Minola Mc-Knight Was Not Coerced Into Signing the Statement Which She Afterward Repudiated-Boy Says He Saw Frank With Mary Phagan.

The state was given a big setback Tuesday when Judge Roan ruled out all specific acts of immorality charged to Frank which Solicitor, Dorsev was seeking to get before the Jury.

When the defense placed Frank's character in evidence, no one was more gratified than Solicitor Dorsey. He stated that this was the thing he had hoped for all slong and that he would have no difficulty in tearing it to tatters. With this in view the littic Hewell girl, who has been in the Home of the Good Shepherd at Cin-cinnati, was sent for and is now in-the city. The jury was sent out and Solicitor Dorsey stated that he wanted to prove by the with ness that on the second day she was employed at the pencil factory Frank had made her an indecent proposal and that she had quit. The point was argued at length. Solicitor Dorsey urged that the de-fense had asked many witnesses if at any time or place they had been guilty of any immoral conduct with Frank, and that the state had a right to rebut this oridence. THE PERMANENT EXHIBIT.

The permanent exhibit of Atlanta's industries is about to materialize.

With the exhibits already signed up and those in sight it is expected that the movement will culminate at today's meeting and that definite announcement can be made at once of the success of the undertaking to bring together under one roof a permanent exhibit of the products of the manufacturing industries of Atlants.

Several manufacturers who ought to be represented in this exhibit have not as yet responded. If they withhold their co-operation the whole movement may fall. The Constitution does not for an instant believe that any manufacturing establishment in Atlanta whose participation is expected will refuse to join the movement, thus jeopardizing the success of a public enterprise which means so much for the city.

Immediate action is necessary and it

THE WAYWARD GIRLS' HOME. Governor Slaton yesterday approved the measure carrying an appropriation of $10,000 for the establishment of the state reformatory for wayward girls, with $10.000 additional for maintenance.

The establishment of this institution has been made possible by the brighter outlook for the state finances incident to the enactment of the state equalization tax measure.

At first it appeared that it would be impossible to get this appropriation through the general assembly, notwithstanding the tremendous pressure brought to bear from every part of the state and especially from the women of Georgia.

When the fact is taken into consideration that an appropriation for $20,000 represents a tax valuation of $4,000,000 it will be seen that the step taken by the general assembly, and now approved by the governor, in authorizing the establishment of this institution is a very important one.

Of course, as the institution grows and demonstrates its usefulness it will cost the state more and more, but the initial appropriation will no doubt stand at least until the meeting of the new general assembly, which assembles two years hence. In the present status of its finances the state has taken an exceedingly commendatory step in committing itself to the policy of establishing any new institution, but the worthiness of this appeal has been such as to fully justify the exception made by the general assembly.

The state has operated a reformatory for boys for several years. This year there are two hundred boys, seventy of them white, in the Milledgeville institution. These youthful offenders against law and society instead of being merely imprisoned and punished are being subjected to influences intended to cure their evil tendencies. They are being educated and trained for moral self-support and useful citizenship.

The state cannot afford to do less for its wayward girls than it does for its offending boys; Indeed, the influence of an evil woman is worse than the influence of an unreformed man.

There never has been any doubt as to Governor Slaton's very cordial support of the principle underlying this measure. Had the state's finances warranted it he would have been glad to have approved a bill containing an appropriation two or three times as large as that carried by the bill signed by him. But manifestly such an appropriation would have been unwarranted at this time.

Not only the good women, but the good men of Georgia, are back of this measure and it may be confidently predicted that within the next two years this institution will be established on such a firm basis as to abundantly justify its creation and the comparatively small appropriation allowed, though when the fact is taken into consideration that even this appropriation represents a tax valuation of $4,000,000 it will be seen, after all, that the taxpayers are not lightly represented in the contribution made by the state to this very worthy end.

WESTERN INTERVIEW ON SOUTHERN CONDITIONS

Rev. E. A. Basett-Jones, rector emeritua of the Church, of the Advent, Nashville, Tann. on a recent visit to a daughter in Evanaton, Ill. was interviewed by The Index. of Evanston, concerning conditions and possibilities in the "new" south. Mr. Bazett-Jones is an Englishman, who has lived many years in the United States, and is familiar with all sections of "Father Bazett," as his friends call country. him, says:

"Since the civil war the south is working out its own salvation. The new south is made by southerners, comparatively few coming in from other portions of the United States and not many immigrants from abroad. Capital has been invested there so extensively that it has made a new country of it and at that they haven't really begun to develop the vast fields of coal, iron and mineral wealth, there still being mountains of it to which no railroads have yet been run.

"The south has awakaned with a new spirit. It was a good thing that slavery was abolished, but the prevalent northern idea concerning slavery is all wrong. Uncle Tom's cabin was ridiculous. Slave owners did not beat or ill-treat their slaves, if for no other reason than that they were much too valuable property to be misused, but a man who did whip his slaves was looked upon with the same contempt that would be given a teamster here beating his horses. "We have no active race problem there; in fact, we have more of it here, from what I can learn. The old slaves knew their masters thoroughly and loved them. They were kept in comfort, many of them educated and the descendants of that class conduct themselves in a way which has the approval of their white neighbors. We have the 'Jim Crow' cars where they are separated from the white people and we do not permit them to attend school with the white children. There are lazy, worthless, impudent blacks in the south, but they seem just as plentiful in the north. Fisk university in Nashville and their idea of educating the colored people, is in my opinion, commencing too near the top. The negroes are taught Hebrew and the 'isms.' I think Booker Washington has the right idea in teaching them farming and the trades and the girls to cook and to sew and to enable them to make their own way in life and become good citizens. "Politics and the tariff cut some figure with us, but like other communities the country over, graft is being eliminated, and we are getting nearer to a representative sovernment.

"Under the plantation system that was universal before the war almost all the old estates were héavily mortgaged. The planters were too proud to work. They got eady money by marketing cotton and tobacco, which was always as good as cash, and if they needed more money slapped on another mortgage. When the war devastated that country those who rented had to adapt themselves to entirely changed condi-They did no. dotions and to go to work. veloping the country until now our southern cities are full of active, energetic, up-todate business men, making a living and gaining wealth from the development of the natural resources of the country. It is true that this has all been done with the aid of northern capital, but it has not been a work of philanthropy or a gift enterprise. Idle money sought profitable investment and found it here. The new south is a new, wonderful reality and the southerners who are making it are great, big, warm-hearted, brainy men, the finest type of Americans."

South Pole Relics. (From The Indianapolis News.)

There are now on view in London, at the Earl's court exhibition, a number of relics of the South pole which were brought back to civilization by the Terra Nova-the antarctic exploring ship. Among the articles are a big plain cooking pot, whose interior has been scraped clean and bare by men at the point of death by starvation; an ampty provision bag, a sledging shovel, the inner lining of the tent in which the bodies of Captain Scott and his companions were found by the search party and a shabby novel. The book is a much-thumbed "6-penny The World's Mysteries WAS THERE & PLOT TO ASSASSIN ATE LINCOLN?

For more than fifty years countless storles have appeared of an attempt to assassinate President-elect Lincoln in Baltimore while he was en route from his home in Springfield, IlL, to Washington to become the head of the nation. These stories have been quite conflicting and perhaps were founded upon real evidence or perhaps were merely worked out of an imagination that such a thing might happen. That it was well to take the precaution that was taken in order that no risks were run in getting Lincoln to the Capital City there is no doubt, and that Baltimore, like many other border cities, and indeed cities in the north, contained an element that might have wished for his destruction is also true, but was there really conspiracy that was of such a character that it would have been possible to succeed in Baltimore?

Many articles have been printed on this subject, and many chapters in history and the biography have related graphically plans that had been formulated by the conspirators, but even those of the most recent date or from the pen of persons who should be thoroughly conversant with how much of a conspiracy existed, if any at all, has left the subject to grave doubt because of the very meager details that they have been able to give.

In a recent long article, a prominent assazine published Allan Pinkerton's hitherto unpublished tale of what had been occurting in Baltimore from the time it beknown that Lincoln was to pass came through that city. Pinkerton hints at a great conspiracy. He accuses the Baltimore police as being entirely in the hands of the Secession element, whose leader was George P. Kaue. He says the plan of the conspirators was skillfully laid, and that "one of the leading spirits in the plot was a burber, whose name I do not recall." From his statements you would be led to infor that a band of cutthroats controlled Ealtimore.

All this was hardly proved by later events, even though a mob of rufflans did fire upon a body of Massachusetts troops as they passed through the Baltimore streets a short time thereafter. Mr. Pinkerton claimed to have mingled with the would-be assassins and added that no one's life was safe | acy of any kind.

in their hands. If such conditions actually existed, why, when Lincoln had been smuggled through Baltimore and gotten safely to Washington, did not the detective force or the Secret Service Department return to Baltimore with the evidence they had and bring the conspirators to justice? Thousands of union officers and eminent statesmen in sympathy with the north passed through Baltimore during the rebellion and were never molested. What became of the big conspiracy that had been hatched, if it actually existed?

All these questions are asked by those who take a broad view of the supposed attempt that was to be made upon the life of L'acola. And why was such an attempt to be made in the station at Baltimore? As the president was passing through the station, the story goes, and was about to enter his carriage, the conspirators were to start a free-for-all fight, and in the midst of the excitement the assassin was to shoot Lincoln.

This would seem like a bungling plot and one that was not likely to be successfully carried into effect for the reason that in every city, in those excited times, the president was so carefully guarded that it was not likely that anyone could have got near enough to his carriage to fulfill the design. from the mere fact everyone was watching with the closest suspicion.

Lossing, the historian, states "It was alleged that statesmen, bankers, merchants and others were engaged in the conspiracy, and they were meeting secretly in a private room in Taylor's building, on Fayette street near Calvert." Who were these "statesmen, bankers, merchants?" No names were ever mentioned. If the detective force of the United States knew of such meetings and knew who the men were, why ware they allowed to go on with their plans, unmolested?

There may have been threats, there may have been a plot in Baltimore. Lincoln might have met with foul play. But all these things are problematical, for there has never been any evidence produced to show that the threats were more than idle gossip, the plot of any great importance, surely not involving "statesmen, bankers, merchants, etc." nor any real connected conspir-

Railroads can be operated without presidents or private cars or union stations, but they would have a hard time getting along without section hands.

A section hand is a tired man in blue overails who manicures the railroad right of way. His duty is to give engineers heart disease by toiling diligently upon a track until the cowcatcher of the on-coming train brushes his jacket as he steps aside.

Nothing can exceed the diligence of the section hand when a train is approaching. A conscientious section hand will save up work all morning in order to have shough on hand to keep him busy in the middle of the track when the Cannon Ball Express is trying to get by.

Section hands works for $1.40 a day and travel to and from their job on private cars. The section hand's private car has four wheels and a double action hand motor. When the section hand takes of his coat and works hard he can travel 13 miles an hour on his fiery steed.

When times are hard and the owner of a railroad finds that he can't afford to keep his private yacht in commission he cuts the pay of the section hand to $1.10 a day and the latter says nothing, not having learned

The Famous Proze Fort A PLEASURE TRIP.

A Story of the Moment

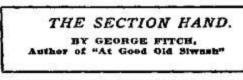

By WALT MASON.

"Mr. Pigeon keeps automobiles for hire," said Mrs. Jamesworthy, "and I think it would be so nice if you rented one for next Sunday afternoon and took us for a drive in the country. Mr. Pigeon says he has good careful chauffeurs and fine autos. I'm just as anxious to save money as you are, but I think we should have an outing once in a while."

"So do I. Mrs. Jamesworthy," replied her husband. "All work and no play made Jack a dull boy, as Solomon remarked. This thing of taking an outing has been on my mind for a long time, and only this morning I cabled Count Zeppelin asking him what he'd take for the use of one of his dirigible airships for the next three weeks. Until I have heard from the count I don't like to make any positive arrangements with this Mr. Pigeon, who has the reputation of being a robber in disgular.

"I know duite wall how anxious you are to save money, and your frantic efforts in that direction would move any man to tears; and I agree with you that we should have an outing. Therefore, let us go and sit on the lawn and eat peanuts. That is amusing and inexpensive, and far more satisfactory in the long run than bumping over the roads in a hired automobile, with the knowledge that when you get back home you'll have to dig up every nickel you have laid away for winter use. "I am astonished at your suggestion, Mrs. Jamesworthy. Here you stand, a woman of mature years, supposed to have your faculties on straight, and yet you calmly make a preposterous proposition that would cause ridicule in an institution for the feeble minded. "There is some satisfaction in riding in an auto that you own. If I had as many kinds of money as I have bunions I'd own the finest car in this neighborhood. Then we could go touring around over the countryside, the admiration of the sturdy peasantry. We could and would feel that we were cutting a wide swath in social as well as sporting circles, and we could cultivate an atmosphere of hauteur that would cause plebeland to take their hats off when addressing us. I like to be envied by other people as much as any man. "But what satisfaction is there in riding in a hired car? In the first place, it's always out of whack, and after you travel three versts something breaks, and the chauffeur has to crawl underneath with a crowbar and a monkey wrench, and the ladies in the party have to walk a quarter of a mile up the road to avoid hearing his comments. And when the machinery is fixed, and the car is in motion, it makes more noise than three freight engines on a trestle, and farmers whose horses are scared begin using their shotgung, and there is unpleasantness all round. "In the second place, Mrs. Jamesworthy, your careful drivers never are careful. These livery chauffeurs are the most reckless desperadoes on earth, and they take a fiendish delight in running over hogs and dogs and cattle, knowing that the man who chartered the car will have to foot the hill. My friend Ezekici Playfair had occasion to hire an auto some time ago, and by the time he got done paying for the live stock killed on that excursion he was a broken man, and he never smiled again. "But the chief objection to your plan is the fast that everybody knows a livery auto as far off as it can be seen or heard. There's something about such a machine that gives it away everywhere. You can't fool the projetariat into thinking that you're riding in your own car. You may look as majestic as you please, but the innocent bystanders will size you up. If we went touring in a borrowed car everyhody would say: 'There' goes Jamesworthy and his infatuated family riding around in an old tin auto, and thinking they are making a great hit!" And when I appeared again in the clanging mart every. body would be joshing me until I resorted to violence. "Put that foolish notion out of your head Mrs. Jamesworthy, and if you must have an outing, take your umbrells and welk ground the block."

The movement is one which means so much from the standpoint of civic pride. It does not promise immediate personal return, but the ultimate benefit to the city as a whole guarantees a splendid return to each participant.

It is not Atlanta's way to undertake, and then abandon, a movement of this sort and if today does not bring about the definite success of this enterprise The Constitution will be very much disappointed.

"BILL SMITH DAY."

This is "Bill Smith Day" at the ball park. They say it's the birthday of William Andrew Smith, formerly of Springfield, Ohio. but now of Atlanta, Georgia, and manager of Atlanta's baseball team.

As an advertiser of the city of Atlanta, Bill Smith deserves appropriate recognition. He has put the city on the baseball map by winning two pennants, and he is working hard to keep it there by winning a third.

The Atlanta fans and their friends should turn out in full force today, and let Bill Smith and the Crackers know they are there. Whatever may be the outcome of the game,---and Atlanta can help to make it ours .- the Birmingham Barons should feel, on departing, that they have been somewhere.

A PITIABLE CASE.

No man in public life has made a greater parade of his virtue than Governor Sulzer. As a member of congress, representing a district in New York's populous east side, and as a candidate for chief axecutive, he often made profession of his irreproachable integrity.

In assuming the duties of his elevated office, Mr. Sulzer said:

"I am free: without entanglements, and will remain free. No influence controls me, but the dictates of my conscience and my determination to do my daty, day in and day put, as I see the right, and regardless of consequences. In the future i will walk in the street called straight. Whatever I do as will be open and above board. 1 thall confide in the people.

And now Sulzer is out, pending trial on impeachment, and Lleutenant Governor flynn is acting governor. Even if Sulzer rets through with an acquittal, he is ruined for life.

It is a pitiable case at best

Washington dealers, who have customers from all sections of the country, state that the feet of southern women are smaller than those of northern and western women; the southerners have short, wide feet, and the northerners have long narrow feet. Nothing very definite is said as to the general dimensions of the western feminine foot. Washington probably does not mean to imply, by this omission, that the western foct is both long and wide.

The question, "Why is the southern foot smaller than the northern or western foot?" periodically bobs up for discussion, as in this instance.

If heredity has much to do with feet, the evolutionist might explain by the argument that in years gone by the northern and western women were more accustomed to do their own work, while colored servants saved "Young Mis'" many of the steps that make the feet larger.

After all, what's the difference? Small feet-if not too small-are indeed attractive, but every man with good judgment will solemnly swear that he likes best the size of shoe worn by wife or sweetheart.

AS TO "SOUTHERN CHIVALRY."

The Kansas City Star, discussing "Where Humanity Begins," declares that one might suppose, from much that is said and done. that a large part of humanity is not considered as being human at all.

The Star, no doubt in ignorance of the real facts, has slandered a large number of human men while attempting to find an iljustration to sult its theme.

"When, for example," says The Star, "some southern statesman talks of 'the chivalry of the South,' he is thinking of the attitude of the southern gentleman to the 'fair daughters of the South;' not at all of the southern gentleman's attitude toward charwomen and factory workers. His very expression, 'fair daughters' and the like, ignore the humanity of a great mass of women.

It is a safe venture that The Star performer never visited the south, or that if he did, he did not study conditions here.

Here in the south any gentleman is as deferential to a working woman as to any other woman. No matter how poorly she may be dressed, a woman will always find the southern man ready to give her a seat in a car, and with his hat off the minute she enters an elevator. And here any woman is a "fair daughter" whose life and character is above reproach-this whether she is working her own way or is the petted daughter of a millionaire.

edition" of Mary Johnston's story of old Virginia, "By Order of the Company." Curiously enough, says The London Tit-Bits, the book, when picked up in Captain Scott's tent, was open at the chapter headed, "We Go Out Into the Night"-a sad recollection of the sacrifice of one of the men who "walked out into the night," sacrificing himself, a dying man, in order to give others a chance. It is a pathetic and impressive collection. and not the least interesting feature is an exact model in section of the igloo, or cave, dug in the snow by the members of the northern party of the expedition, who were forced to winter in .Terra Nova hay owing to the ship being unable to pick them up For seven months the party lived in the cave of snow and ice, on rations sufficient for only one month. There were six men altogether, under Lieutenant Campbell, and they used blubber for everything-food, light and fuel. When found, their ice cave was as black as a coal mine with carbon, and so were the men. When Lieutenant Campbell visited the exhibition, he remarked to Lord Cheylesmor that he "shivered" when he looked upon the realistic reproduction of the iglog which brought back to his mind so vividly those terrible seven months.

Among other relics might be mentioned the theodolite which fixed the position of the South pole, the camera with which photographs of the pole were taken, sledging thermometer and compass, a repair bag, a lamp made from an empty tin to burn a mixture of vaseline and spirits, a typewriter several sleeping bags, skis of Captain Scott Lieutenant Bowers and Dr. Wilson, and an instrument box which Captain Scott and his party used on the return journey from the pole. The tent of death is perhaps the most striking of the relics. It is the inner lining only, the outer covering having been used as a pall for the bodies-a tiny structure hardly, to all appearances, fit shelter against the antarctic blizzard.

(From Answers, London.)

Every frequenter of the motion picture theaters must have been struck, at some time or another, by the luxurlousness of the stage setting of most of the society dramas-the magnificence of the decorations, the richness of the furnishing, and the costliness of the dresses worn by the performers.

Few, however, have any real conception of the huge cost of these things, or appreclate the pains taken by the big film producing companies to get the best of everything.

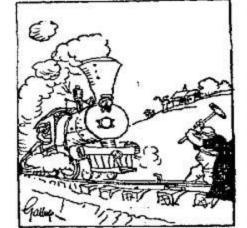

Take, for instance, the costumes of the principal actresses. The capitals of Europe are ransacked for the latest "creations" in millinery and modes. When Miss Miriam Neshit and Miss Mary Fuller were las, over here with the Edison company, they paid a visit to Paris for the purpose of purchasing a stock of such things for future Edison productions, and in two days' shopping they spent more than $15,000.

Miss Lottle Briscos, the Lubin star actress, recently played in a film which necessitated no fewer than fourteen changes of costumes. each costing on an average about $75, and she needs, when on tour, twenty trunks for Miss Gene Gauntier wears one set of furs

Section hands are so called because they work with their hands and let the roadmaster do the worrying. The section hand wears a shovel all day and takes it to bed with him at night. When he lays aside his shovel it s a sign that he is ill and unless something is done for him soon he will fade away. No one has ever seen a section hand in a hurry. If the section hand should hurry he would be so much work that the president of the

Some section hands become managers of ailroads when they grow old, but most of them become grandfathers and let it go at

has other sets almost equally as valuable. Mise Asta Neilson is credited with being the most expensively dressed actress in the pictures. Frequently her costumes in the society scenes in which she specializes will cost as much as $500 aplece.

It might be thought that as the actual iresses worn by the performers are not seen by the public, but only the photographic renresentations of them, that common material or imitation stuff would do as well as the real articles.

But, as a matter of fact, this is far from being the case. Indeed, the very reverse holds good. To get a really first-class photograph, first-class "properties" must be provided.

In the early days of the picture play business this was not properly realized, and a company that laid out $5,000 on a collection of properties, although expecting them to last for years, was considered extravagant.

Nowadays, on the other hand, it would be a very cheap affair that would start with less than $15,000 or $30,000 worth; while one of the best known of the really big film companies is reported to spend as much as $50,009 every year in dressing-or, sa it is technically termed, "robing" its shows.

Brenau College Gainesville,

Ga.

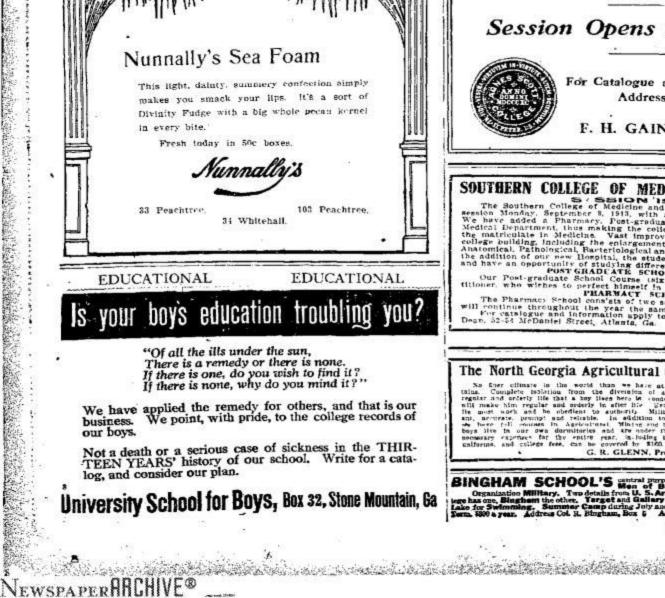

Brenau is THE WOM-AN'S COLLEGE of the South. Its reputation is not confined to one section, but is known throughout the east, west, north and abroad. The enrollment of its students, representing 28 states and 6 foreign countries, shows this to be true.

There are several reasons why Brenau

It is one of the best equipped colleges for woman in the South. Its 32 buildings meet every requirement from a material standpoint, and it has 45 competent teachers on its faculty.

The courses of study which entitle Brenau to "A-1" rank have been recently revised, raising the standards to accord with those of foremost American universities and colleges.

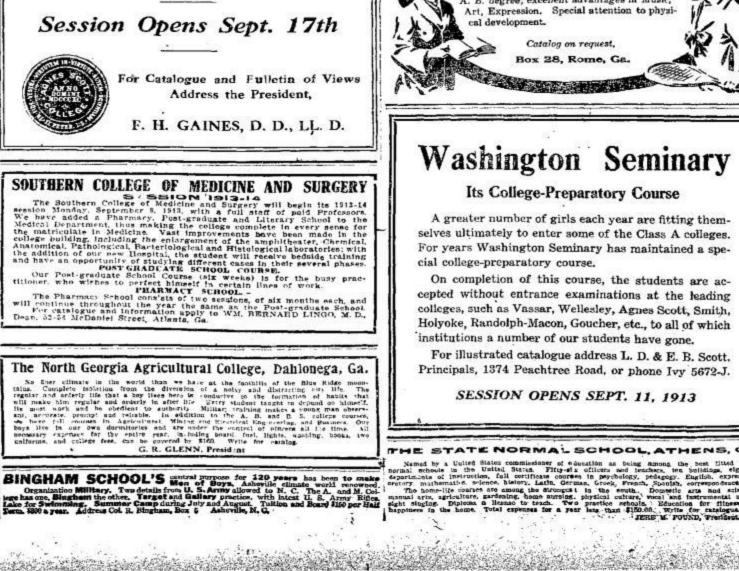

Brenau's Conservatory of Music is recognized as a leader among musical institutions. and its art courses are of the highest grade.

More Sugar Amendments.

Washington, August 19 .-- President Wilson's program for free sugar in 1916 carried the day in the senate today, when democrate rallied to the support of the tariff bill and defeated all amendments to the sugar schedule. With all bo tSenators Rangdell and Thornton, of Louisiana, standing firmly for the administration measure. the democrats defeated the Bristow amendment for a compromise duty; the Norris amendment against free sugar and the Gallinger amendment against free maple sugar.

An amendment to abolish immedistely the Dutch standard color test for sugar was adopted during the fight. It was proposed by Senator Bristow, republican, and accepted by Senators Simmons and Williams, demorratic managers of the bill. Under its provisions the Dutch standard, against which a consistent fight has been waged since 1909, will be abolished as soon as the tariff bill becomes law instead of next March, as the measure otherwise would have provided
