OFFICIAL PROGRAM FOR SHRINERS' WEEK MADE PUBLIC TODAY

All Scheduled Events Have Been Arranged for Busiest Week in Whole History of Atlanta.

RECEPTION AND BALL FEATURE FOR MONDAY

Parade Tuesday Morning Will Be Four and a Half Miles Long—Other Interesting Features.

The official program of the Shriners' meeting here next month is made public for the first time today. It is subject to change, but none is anticipated. It shows the bare details of the fixed program—the scheduled events around which the busiest week in Atlanta's whole history will be built.

On Monday, May 11, the reception of visiting temples and patrols will keep the city busy throughout the morning. This is when special trains will be arriving every two or three minutes. Atlanta will be full of visitors already, however, for the first of the Shriners and others will have arrived the preceding Saturday, with others following every hour throughout the rest of that day and Sunday.

At 2:30 p. m. Monday, May 11, the Will Irwin sweepstakes will be contested at the motordrome. This will be followed by the Yaarab free-for-all races at the motordrome at 5 o'clock that evening.

Grand Reception and Ball.

At 8:30 o'clock the grand reception and ball in honor of Imperial Potentate W. W. Irwin and Mrs. Irwin will be held in the Auditorium-Armory. Two bands will furnish the music, which will be continuous, dances following each other without intermission. More couples than ever before have danced at one time and place are expected to be on the floor that evening.

Tuesday morning, May 12, will see the great parade, with more bands in line than have played at the inauguration of any president or the coronation of any king. This will be the official escort four and a half miles long, of the imperial potentate from his headquarters in the Hotel Ansley to the imperial council meeting place in the Lyric theater. At 10 o'clock the imperial council will begin its sessions. At 11 the visiting ladies will be conducted on an automobile ride over the county's prettiest roads, with luncheon at Brookhaven in the Capital City Country club. At 1 o'clock that afternoon the imperial council will recess for luncheon in the Masonic temple. At 2:30 the California handicap races will be run at the motordrome.

Second Great Parade.

At 7:30 o'clock that evening the second great parade of the day will march through Atlanta's streets. In this will take part not only the patrols and bands which will have appeared in the morning procession, but also every other Shriner in town. At 8 o'clock the Seattle sweepstakes will start at the motordrome. And at 9 o'clock the music will strike up for the second grand ball in the Auditorium.

Following is the program for Wednesday, May 13:

Exhibition drills by visiting patrols at Ponce de Leon park, 9 a. m. to 1:30 p. m. This is expected to be one of the big spectacular events of the week, rivaling the two parades in that regard.

Imperial council sweepstakes races at the Motordrome, 2:30 o'clock.

Banquet to the newly elected imperial potentate and members of the imperial council at the Piedmont Driving club, 8 o'clock.

Motordrome races, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Grand reception and ball, the third of the week, by Yaarab patrol in honor of visiting patrols and nobles, in the Auditorium, at 9 o'clock.

Visiting Historic Spots.

Thursday's program is open for visits to all the points of historic, romantic and sentimental interest in and around Atlanta. This is the day when the visitors will be leaving by train loads for home. At 8 o'clock that evening the members of the imperial council and their ladies will leave for Savannah under escort of Yaarab Temple, to spend Friday there as the guests of Alee Temple. The Savannah program includes automobile rides, shore dinner and surf bathing at Tybee, and other features. At 11:30 o'clock Friday night the visitors will leave Savannah on their way to Atlanta and home. Saturday will find many Shriners and other visitors still in Atlanta. The last of them will not leave for several days, but the formal program does not extend beyond Friday, May 15.

There will be a ball game at Ponce de Leon park every day during Shrine week, beginning at 4:30 o'clock each afternoon. It is expected that another regiment will have been stationed at Fort McPherson before then, and that dress parades will be held each afternoon. The federal prison will be open to visitors each morning from 10 to 11 o'clock and each afternoon from 2 to 3 o'clock.

While this program is being carried out, Atlanta's visitors will be busy with their own plans. Bands will be playing every where downtown day and night. Patrols will be marching and drilling all around. Every phase of Atlanta's normal life will be intensified.

KILLED IN STRUGGLE WITH HIS ATTENDANTS

Washington, April 6.—John W. Foley, an inmate of the government insane hospital here, was killed today in a struggle with four attendants. A broken rib penetrated one of the man's lungs. According to the hospital officials, Foley was fighting with other inmates when the guards attempted to subdue him. An inquest has been ordered by the coroner. Foley was 26 years old and a native of Roanoke, Va. He was a coal passer in the navy when committed to the hospital last August.

Phantoms in Divorce Court

NOT ALWAYS SO BAD A LOT AS PAINTED

Tell Their Side of the Story

There were thirty-two phantoms in Judge Ellis' division of the superior court Monday. Of course, a courtroom is no place for a phantom—especially phantoms of such disorderly and lawless character as the thirty-two in question. T. A. Burdette, court deputy, would have ejected them, no doubt, except for one fact. They had a right there, having each and every one been summoned to show cause why Mr. Somebody or Mrs. Something-or-other should not be granted a decree of divorce from them.

They were a disreputable lot.

"It's always a disreputable lot on the day for undefended divorce suits," explained Deputy Burdette. "Just look at the charges against them in the divorce papers. Here's one that hit his wife with a poker when she was getting breakfast. Here's another that deserted a girl of 17. Here's a woman who never did anything but quarrel from the day she was married until the day her husband was compelled to leave her. Here's another woman who ran away with a former lover. A bad lot, these fellows—a bad lot. No wonder they don't dare to answer these suits."

Phantom Tells Story.

At this point the deputy was compelled to hand the judge a decree which the jury had just granted, and the visitor was left alone. But not for long. The deputy had scarcely turned away when the visitor felt the clap of a hand on his shoulder. He confronted a stout, jovial phantom of 35 or 40. The phantom pointed a thumb derisively in the direction of Deputy Burdette's back.

"Don't you believe anything that fellow tell you," he cautioned the visitor. "He's against us because he belongs to the sheriff's office and the sheriff wasn't ever able to serve us with papers. Spite! nothing else. Take that phantom whose wife just testified that he hit her with a poker. There he is, standing in the corner, with his chin on his hand. Do you see how dejected he looks? Does he look like a wife-beater? Let me tell you, now, the truth of the matter.

"But," interrupted the visitor, "why don't he come up and tell it himself?"

"Ah," exclaimed the phantom, "that's what they all say. I'll tell you why. It wouldn't be permitted by the rules of evidence. And, what's more, the jury wouldn't believe him. But you can believe me, all right, because I'm a phantom, and phantoms never lie. They don't need to. The truth, now, about that poor devil is that he never hit anyone with a poker in his life. You heard his wife testifying a few minutes ago—a narrow, high-strung, restless woman, with a bad temper. You think she might not have been that way when they were married? You're wrong, sir. She was exactly that way, but she never showed it to him, because she wanted a husband. She wanted a husband very badly. And do you know why? Because she was vain. Yes, sir, she was extremely vain, and, to be 28 years old and not married was more than she could stand. I assure you that's the truth. She didn't care particularly about what kind of a husband she had; as a matter of fact, she didn't want to get married at all. But she just couldn't stand being an old maid. So she married this poor duffer."

"He certainly looks like he'd had a hard time of it," agreed the visitor, contemplating the forlorn figure of the phantom under discussion.

She's Just Unfortunate.

"He has, sir. No man ever had a harder. As soon as this woman had him safely caught, she became dissatisfied. She's that kind of woman. I don't blame her; she's just unfortunate. But she shouldn't have led this poor fellow such a dog's life. Well, she kept thinking that she might have done a lot better, and the result was that her husband never had a moment's peace. She wanted him to get a better job. She wanted him to make more money. She wanted him to do all sorts of things. Now, that's all very well when you're dealing with a kid of 17 or 18, but this man was 35 or more, and he'd begun to form habits. He'd given up hopes for himself, and was sort of resigned to having children and letting them do the things he hadn't been able to do. He was a steady worker, though, and made a good enough living. Plenty of women would have been proud to have him for a husband. But this one wasn't. And, what was more, she didn't take to the idea of children. You'll notice that mighty few women in these undefended divorce suits ever do. She told him he didn't have grit enough to make a living for two, much less three or four; whereas, the truth of the matter was that one or two children was all the fellow needed to make him buckle down and be a success.

"Well, the upshot of it was that they got to quarreling. Then the man started drinking. Anybody would.

MORE AFFIDAVITS FOR FRANK MOTION

Reported That Large Number of New Documents Will Form Part of Extraordinary Petition.

Lawyers for Leo Frank have come into possession of a large number of new affidavits which are likely to be made public within a short while.

These new documents are said to be between twenty and forty in number. Many of them are reported to be from witnesses in the Frank trial who testified for the prosecution.

Some of them, it is said, repudiate testimony on the stand, while others charge unfair methods of the prosecution and detective department.

Although it was generally admitted that the new affidavits are in existence, members of Frank's counsel refused to discuss them with reporters Monday afternoon.

The new affidavits, it is stated, will be submitted to Solicitor Hugh M. Dorsey at an early date as of supplementary evidence to be contained in the re-trial plea before Judge Ben Hill.

Detective Burns spent most of his time Monday in conference with his associates, Guy Biddinger and Dan Lehon. The final report, which he is expected to make between now and Friday, is in process of formation.

Although he said that he had not decided definitely, it is probable that the noted detective will seek an interview with Jim Conley some time today. This will be arranged between Burns and the negro's counsel, William M. Smith.

Burns will also see Hugh Dorsey within the next day or so. He says that he is waiting for the solicitor to finish the press of court business so that he will have sufficient leisure to confer with the detective.

ONLY TEN FIREMEN OF OLD VOLUNTEERS NOW ON THE ROLL

Of the fifty stalwart young men who sixty years ago organized the first volunteer fire company of Atlanta, there are now but ten living, as was shown by the roll call at the annual meeting of the association of these veteran firefighters yesterday morning. Of this number but five were able to be present at the sixtieth anniversary meeting of the organization, the remaining five being detained by illness or absence from the city.

The officers elected by the five voters were John K. Weaver, president; Charles Klassett, vice president; John M. Heinz, secretary; R. E. Gardiner, treasurer. Henry P. Haney, Charles Heinz and Louis Bender were selected as the finance committee.

The living members of the organization are as follows:

John K. Weaver, John M. Heinz, Henry P. Haney, Charles Heinz, Louis Bender, A. Klassett, Charles Klassett, J. Mann, R. E. Gardiner and H. C. Dunlap.

The first president of the association was the late Major John Mecaslin.

HUERTA PUTS BAN ON CONSUL AGENT OF UNITED STATES

Exequatur Granted to Geo. C. Carothers Has Been Canceled by Dictator Because of Fall of Torreon.

ALLEGED THAT AMERICAN FAVORED THE REBELS

Huerta Charges That Carothers Sent Dispatches During the Battle for the Purpose of Aiding Villa.

Washington, April 6.—The cancellation by the Huerta government of the exequatur of American Consular Agent George C. Carothers because he sent to Washington dispatches saying the rebels had taken Torreon from the Huerta forces, failed to disturb state department officials today. The Huerta government still denies Torreon has fallen.

Roving Commission.

Mr. Carothers obtained his exequatur when he was accredited to the Madero government and stationed at Torreon. Since the outbreak of the Carranza revolution he has had a roving commission in northern Mexico and his exequatur from the Mexico City government has been of little value to him; all his dealings being with the constitutionalists. It is the intention of the American government to keep Carothers with General Villa and the constitutionalist leaders to make prompt representations for the safety of Americans and other foreigners and to look after their interests generally. Should Mr. Carothers find it necessary to go into territory controlled by the Huerta government he may now be unable to do business with its local authorities, but there is no prospect that he personally will be inconvenienced or prevented from making observations as an unofficial representative. Neither John Lind nor William Bayard Hale had any exequatur while in federal territory.

Expulsion of the Spaniards.

Official advices telling of the expulsion of the Spanish consul from Torreon by General Villa were expected during the day. Until the Spanish ambassador calls it to the attention of the state department here, there is little likelihood of any notice by the Washington government. The United States itself issued a warning to its own subjects to leave those parts of Mexico where military operations are being carried on and has more than once intimated that other governments might well take similar steps. The right of deportation is one provided for under the Mexican constitution and has been exercised alike by the Huerta government and the constitutionalists for alleged military or financial support of the enemy and for various other reasons.

Mr. Riano, the ambassador from Spain, received official notice today of Villa's expulsion of Spanish subjects from Torreon and prepared to make representations to Secretary of State Bryan. Spain not only objects to their expulsion, but also to the confiscation of their property, which is estimated to run into the millions.

No request for recognition of the constitutionalists has been made by General Carranza. President Wilson indicated today the United States would be guided by developments in determining such questions.

Charge Against Carothers.

Mexico City, April 6.—The Mexican foreign minister, Senor Portillo y Rojas, informed the Associated Press today that the Mexican government had received a telegram from George C. Carothers, the American consular agent at Torreon, to Secretary of State Bryan, declaring it advisable to persist in the statement that Torreon had fallen, though such was not the case, in order to prevent the government from getting reinforcements to the aid of Velasco."

This, said the foreign minister, was the reason for the withdrawal of Consul Carothers' exequatur.

In making this announcement, the minister appeared to be fully convinced that the federals still were holding Torreon. He said that President Huerta had so told him, which information he did not doubt.

The war department announced the receipt today of dispatches from the customs agent at Piedras Negras reporting that General Maure in Coahuila and Maas, at the head of their forces, had entered Torreon. Those generals recently were reported to be at San Pedro, after a severe meeting with strong opposition from the rebels.

ALL THE SPANIARDS ARE BEING EXPELLED

Juarez, Mexico, April 6.—Northern and central Mexico, it is said, are being thoroughly cleared of Spanish residents by the constitutionalists. The latest news of wholesale expulsion of Spaniards was brought here by General Eulalio Gutierrez, commander of the rebel forces in the state of San Luis Potosi.

"We have expelled every Spaniard from that part of the state which we control," said the general today, "and we control all of it except the capital and the city of Matehuala. In the state of Zacatecas, where General Panfilo Natera has possession of all territory north of the capital, the same course has been followed. I estimate that nearly 1,000 Spaniards have been deported from these two states in the last two months."

The opposition has been shown them, General Gutierrez said. They have been given plenty of time to carry away with them their household effects and other possessions but not one has been permitted to remain inside the rebel lines.

Justification for the wholesale deportation, it is said, is found by the insurgent chiefs in article 33 of the

UNDERWOOD FOR SENATE BY WHELMING MAJORITY OVER MERRIMAC HOBSON

Incomplete Returns Indicate That the Democratic House Leader Has Been Named for Higher Honors by His State.

COMER SEEMS TO LEAD IN RACE FOR GOVERNOR

Ticket Was Very Long and Count Slow—At 2 O'Clock This Morning No Definite Returns Had Been Received—Heavy Vote Cast in the State.

Birmingham, Ala., April 7.—Indications early today were that Oscar W. Underwood had triumphed over Richmond P. Hobson in the contest before democratic primaries throughout the state for the nomination to the United States senate. Owing to the complexity and length of the ballots complete returns probably will not be received until tonight.

The protracted struggle for the nomination between the two distinguished candidates terminated with a record-breaking vote by Alabama democrats. Interest in the contest for the short term in the United States senate, the nomination of ten congressmen, a governor and other state and county officers also brought thousands to the polls.

Statement by Underwood.

Both Mr. Underwood and Representative Hobson were in the city tonight watching returns from the entire state. Shortly after midnight Mr. Underwood made the following statement:

"I am thoroughly satisfied with the primary election, held yesterday. The splendid majority that the returns indicate will be given me in the state I attribute to the magnificent work that my friends have done for me in my absence. The result I feel is a personal vindication and a distinct approval of my remaining in Washington and attending to my official duties. But after all is said, the final conclusion must be that it is more of a victory for fundamental democratic principles than for myself."

Doone's Field.

Representative Hobson did not volunteer any statement. When asked if he conceded the nomination of Representative Underwood, he said: "I most positively do not."

Incomplete returns from more than forty of the sixty-seven counties in the state indicated a very close contest between Ray Rushton, of Montgomery, and Frank S. White, of Birmingham, for the nomination to the short United States senatorial term. Lister Hill, of Ragland, apparently was outdistanced.

The Race for Governor.

The gubernatorial contest appeared to be even closer than preliminary estimates intimated. While it seemed probable that former Governor B. B. Comer would receive a plurality, the hopes of his followers that he would receive a majority were considered doubtful. The contest between R. F. Kolb, of Montgomery, and Charles Henderson, of Troy, for the same nomination, fluctuated continually. It was thought that complete returns would be needed to determine which would receive the more votes.

From returns available at an early hour it did not seem probable that Walter D. Seed, of Tuscaloosa, would stand any chance of participating in a run-off primary which seemed inevitable.

Tarver Beaten by Gray.

A feature of the United States congressional contest was an indication of the defeat of Representative G. W.

HIDING BURGLARY BEHIND THE FLAG

That's What Advocates of Free Canal Tolls Are Doing, Charges Senator McCumber.

Washington, April 6.—Publicity for the deliberations on the Panama toll exemption repeal was determined upon today by the senate committee on interoceanic canals, which tomorrow will begin consideration of the controversy in all its aspects.

Senator O'Gorman, chairman of the committee, decided upon open sessions at the outset after a conference with his colleagues. Whether hearings are to be held has not been decided, but this will be determined when the house repeal bill and various compromise senate measures are taken up formally. How long the committee will deliberate on the issue before making a report to the senate no one would predict tonight, but administration leaders let it be known that any effort to prolong the preliminary consideration would be opposed even to the extreme of moving to discharge the committee from consideration of the subject.

No Effort to Delay.

Senator O'Gorman, leading democratic opponent of the repeal, and others who join with him in the fight, still insist, however, that there will be no effort to delay in committee. When the issue reaches the floor of the senate various forces at work to complicate the situation make it improbable that a vote can be reached for several weeks.

Senator McCumber, republican, of North Dakota, a member of the foreign relations committee, who steadfastly refused to join the party opposition to President Wilson's policy, addressed the senate at length today in support of the repeal bill. He flatly declared that toll exemption for American ships was a violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, and that it was against the spirit of the senate when the treaty was ratified. For the congress to insist upon toll exemption for American coastwise ships, he said, was to hide behind the American flag while burglarizing the treasury for the benefit of "a coastwise shipping trust."

The Galleries Cheered.

Senator McCumber's argument was one of the most extensive yet presented in the senate on either side of the controversy. He talked for three and a half hours, but without interruption, and at the conclusion of his speech, appealing to all "right-thinking men in the senate," to support the lofty stand the president has taken, "regardless of party or political expediency." The galleries broke into applause as Senator McCumber sat down, and half a dozen democratic senators crossed the chamber to congratulate him.

The senator said he had no concern with the provision of the democratic platform that the question at issue was the honor of the nation. He also voted his address to the two reasons given in the president's message urging repeal, that exemption constituted a violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, and that it was an economic mistake.

Reading from the Clayton-Bulwer and Hay-Pauncefote conventions, the senator also went deeply into the debate in the senate and the correspondence with Great Britain to show that the provisions of the latter treaty had been understood on both sides of the Atlantic to place American ships, coastwise or foreign, on the same footing in the canal as those of any other nation.

He Calls It Ridiculous.

He characterised as ridiculous the contention that exception of American coastwise shipping was a necessity in order to keep down the rail rates from ocean to ocean. The interstate commerce commission had full power to regulate rail rates, he insisted, and it was folly for the government to seek to "ransom itself from piracy, to hire a competitor."

Administration senators tonight seemed to be more confident than ever that the house repeal bill would carry in the senate unmodified, maintaining that several democrats who had been classed as doubtful, positively would support the president, and that the majority on the final roll call in favor of repeal would be at least ten votes. Eight or nine republican senators now are counted upon to support the repeal, despite the effort of their leaders to unite the minority against the measure.

Senator Brandegee, of Connecticut, at the conclusion of Senator McCumber's address today, introduced a resolution requesting the president, if not incompatible with the public interest, to give the senate all information, records and correspondence relating to negotiation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. Senator Brandegee favors the repeal bill.

Action Is Delayed.

Action on Representative Knowland's resolution calling on President Wilson and Secretary Bryan for diplomatic correspondence over the Panama tolls exemption repeal was delayed indefinitely today in the house foreign affairs committee. Democrats of the committee will consult Secretary Bryan. Mr. Knowland reintroduced the resolution to omit reference to the president and broadened it to call for all papers relating to the interpretation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

Representative Knowland became a storm center when he charged on the floor that the president asked for the repeal after conferences with Sir William Tyrrell, of the British foreign office, and made allusions to an Anglo-American agreement on a Mexican policy. President Wilson referred to that as one of the "crowning insults" of the Panama debate.

President Wilson today told visitors he considered that editorial expressions in the press and correspondence from disinterested observers all over the country revealed support of the administration's stand for the repeal of the Panama tolls exemption. The president said he did not expect the question to be a campaign issue and expressed confidence for an administration victory in the senate.

C. F. VON HERRMANN, Section Director.

Taylor by C. L. Gray, of Choctaw county, for the nomination in the first district.

In the ninth district contest George Huddleston, of Jefferson, was leading his three opponents, but complete returns were thought necessary to foretell the outcome. The fight in the eighth district was very close and it was impossible to predict the outcome.

Congressmen Named.

Apparently Representatives Henry D. Clayton, of the third; Hugh S. Dent, of the second; Frederick L. Blackmon, of the fourth, and John L. Burnett, of the seventh, were nominated for re-election. In the sixth indications were that William B. Bankhead had been nominated to succeed Representative Hobson.

Great Majority for Underwood.

Montgomery, Ala., April 6.—Incomplete returns from various boxes in nearly one-third of the state indicates an overwhelming majority for Underwood for United States senator over Hobson. The gubernatorial race has grown unexpectedly close between Henderson, Kolb and Comer, with indications of the first two leading, although the difference in the votes of each, so far reported, is slight.

The race between Ray Rushton and Frank S. White for the short term senatorship is very close.

At midnight tonight, out of a total of 2,703 votes in the city proper, not a single one of the seven boxes had been counted and managers declined to give out the partial count up to that hour. Ten out of the fifteen country precincts of Montgomery county reported at that hour give: Long term senator, Underwood 467, Hobson 195. Short term senator, Rushton, 448, White 62. For governor, Comer, 991, Henderson 175, Kolb 126. It was stated that the first city box to be completed may be reported about 2 o'clock in the morning.

Underwood Sweeps South Alabama.

Mobile, Ala., April 6.—Mobile and south Alabama polled the heaviest vote in years today. The total in Mobile county will reach 6,000. Underwood is sweeping south Alabama. Comer, for governor, is leading Kolb in the county precincts, but Kolb is expected to take a wide lead in the city. Henderson and Seed are not in the running here. Early reports from south Alabama indicate that Underwood and Comer are leading easily, particularly in the country districts. Oscar Gray is leading Taylor for congress, and Mabry is leading Kent in the Second district, so far.

Less than 1,000 of the 6,000 ballots cast in Mobile county had been counted at midnight, but it was conceded that Kolb had carried the county by a tremendous plurality. He will probably get 3,000 votes, Comer about 1,500. Underwood has carried the county five or six to one. Oscar Gray, for congress, wins in the county by 1,000 votes and has carried Monroe, Choctaw and Washington counties. He has defeated Hon. G. W. Taylor. White is leading Rushton. Escambia, Baldwin and Conecuh counties have heavy Comer pluralities.

Mrs. Underwood Watches Returns.

Orlando, Fla., April 6.—With her husband engaged in contest with Richmond Pearson Hobson, representative in congress, for the democratic nomination for United States senator from Alabama, Mrs. Oscar W. Underwood, wife of the house democratic leader, was here tonight at the beddide of her father, J. H. Woodward, who is seriously ill.

Physicians tonight reported the patient, who is a Birmingham, Ala., capitalist, to be slightly improved. His condition has been critical for several days. Mrs. Underwood said tonight that she would remain here at the winter home of her father for several days, at least.

Mrs. Underwood stayed up until after midnight receiving returns from the Alabama election. She was much pleased with the results indicated in brief messages from Birmingham.

STEAMER IS MISSING WITH HER CREW OF 173

St. Johns, N. F., April 6.—The sealing steamer Southern Cross, with 173 men on board, still is missing. The steamer Kyle, sent in search of her by the government, was lying to in a heavy gale tonight well out on the Grand Banks with all observation cut off by thick snow. She had been in communication during the day with the United States revenue cutter Seneca on the patrol. Neither had found any trace of the missing vessel.

Although the underwriters had said that they would post the Southern Cross as lost with all on board if she remained unreported at sundown today, the Kyle was ordered to continue search for two days more.

Hope for the missing men practically has been abandoned. The ship was last sighted on Tuesday loaded deep and laboring down the coast before the blizzard in which the sealer New Foundland lost seventy-seven of her men.

So thick was the storm tonight that the Furness liner Eagle Point was obliged to give up her trip to Halifax.

CAROTHERS RETURNS FROM TORREON FIGHT

Juarez, Mexico, April 6.—George C. Carothers, special representative of the state department, who has been through the Torreon engagement with General Villa, returned here tonight to assist in negotiations looking to the welfare of the 600 Spaniards ordered out of Torreon by the rebels. He brought with him the first non-partisan eye-witness account of the battle.

Mr. Carothers kept brief diary of events which he witnessed, but he was too greatly fatigued after his trip, which began at Torreon yesterday, to give more than a brief outline to reporters.

"The rebel loss," said Mr. Carothers, "was 600 killed and 1,400 wounded. We don't know the federal loss accurately except that Villa found in the hospitals 900 of their wounded."

Asked why Velasco, the federal commander, evacuated the city, Mr. Carothers said the federal leader's excuse was that he had run out of small arms ammunition.

"However," the state department agent smiled, "I think he was mistaken about that for when he started burning his ammunition we could hear the rifle cartridges popping and it seemed to me as if there must have been 2,000,000 of them, more or less.

"I am convinced that the real reason was that Villa's tireless hammering wore down his men until they could no longer fight. They had been on the scantiest of rations of both food and water and were all in, as the phrase has it."

ISTHMUS OF PANAMA STOREHOUSE FOR WORLD

Plan to Make Panama and Colon Free Ports of Entry for All Merchandise.

Panama, April 6.—The isthmus of Panama is not only to become a gateway for the world's shipping, but a great storehouse for the goods of all nations, according to the hopes of the Panama republic.

The plan is to make Panama City and Colon free ports of entry for the merchandise of the world is being drawn up for introduction to the next general assembly which meets in September, and the government anticipates no serious opposition.

The secretary of foreign affairs, Ernesto Le Fevre, declares that under the free ports Panama and Colon would become great wholesale markets, and merchants, especially from Central and South America, would come here to do their buying from the stocks and samples brought here by the merchants and manufacturers of the United States and Europe.

Duties now is collected by Panama an import duty of 15 per cent on all merchandise entering the country. An annual revenue of about $2,000,000 is thus obtained, which would make up the deficit other sources of revenue will have to be found, and this, the authorities declare, can be done.

In connection with the opening of the two great ports, the Panama authorities to erect large warehouses at both ends of the canal and they already have entered into negotiations with the Panama Railroad company for permission to locate one at Colon on the water front owned by the railroad. Opposition may be forthcoming for the reason that the company is planning to build and operate bonded warehouses on canal zone territory.

HER SMELL RESTORED BY AMERICAN SURGEON

London, April 6.—Countess Nada Torby, the pretty daughter of the Grand Duke Michael of Russia, never has had any sense of smell and had quite resigned herself to her condition until her father happened to meet at a dinner party an American surgeon over here on a brief holiday, and mentioned the defect to him in conversation. The yankee said:

"Do you mean to say you have never consulted a British physician on the subject?"

His imperial highness replied that he had, or at least the Countess Torby, his wife, had done so, and the doctors seemed to think nothing could be done and that the defect was not worth troubling about.

"Extraordinary, extraordinary," said the American. "Bring Countess Nada to my hotel tomorrow afternoon and I will see what I can do."

Countess Torby and the grand duke arrived with their daughter, the surgeon made an examination, and there and then it was arranged that he should come out to Ken Wood, the grand duke's place near Hampstead, and perform the operation. Now Countess Nada can smell as well as everyone else and she says she has more joy in life than ever before. She is a debutante of the present season, and she will be presented at one of the June courts, which are always the most popular. The grand duke and his wife were among the special pals of King Edward, but they are not on such close terms of intimacy with the present monarch, though, of course, they are included in all the important royal festivities and many private royal parties, too.

CAPTURE OF TORREON CONCEALED BY HUERTA

Mexico City, April 6.—Another day passed without a line of published news indicating the loss of Torreon, and the government enforces its edicts. It has even requested the banks to post copies of telegrams from Laredo and Ciudad Porfirio Diaz, asserting that Generals De Moure and Maas have arrived at Torreon and are completing the rout of the rebels, alleged to have been begun by General Velasco.

No evidence beyond these telegrams is offered in substantiation of the government's statements.

It is suggested that the government is endeavoring to keep the news of the fall of Torreon from the public until it can mobilize another army east of that town. There was been a heavy movement of troops from San Luis Potosi toward Saltillo and by the end of the week strong federal forces should be at Saltillo and west of that place, with the vanguard not far from Torreon.

NO HOPE FOR RECOVERY OF MRS. MEMMINGER

Reports late last night from the bedside of Mrs. Susan Memminger gave no hope for her recovery. Mrs. Memminger has been critically ill for several days at St. Joseph's infirmary. She is the mother of Rev. W. W. Memminger, pastor of All Saints' Episcopal church.

C. Tuggle; four daughters, Mrs. A. E. Houston, Mrs. J. H. Johnston, Mrs. E. A. Morgan and Miss Mamie Tuggle; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. J. A. Tuggle, and three sisters. Way Towards the Whip Hand.

(From The Washington Post.)

The report that China is in the market for two 30,000-ton dreadnoughts as an initial step toward taking her place among maritime nations as a first-class naval power, is another indication that the yellow race is awakening to the fact that its preponderance numerically can never give it the whip hand over the white race in the absence of a fleet powerful both in offense and defence.

The Asiatic makes a good sea fighter, as the Chinese and Japanese demonstrated in the battle of Pechili, which the islanders won by a narrow margin. Disheartened at the lost of their fleet and financially unable to build another, the Chinese dropped out of the running, while the Japanese proceeded to strengthen their battle line and pit it successfully against Russia. The destruction of the czar's squadron in eastern waters halted the Caucasian advance upon Korea and China, and put the dreaded yellow man on the crest of the wave in the broad Pacific.

That the Jap single-handed could maintain a fleet that would enable him to retain dominion over the western ocean is a matter of doubt, but if seconded by China to the full extent of her latent resources the balance would shift the other way.

The Asian coast once secure from Caucasian aggression, the Japanese could bide his time for the expulsion of Russian and British interests from central and western Asia.

Sea power is the one thing needful to make the yellow race a real menace, and if the two dreadnoughts are an earnest of Yuan Shi Kai's ambition to restore China to the glories of the Confucian age it would be well enough for the white brother to keep his weather eye open.

TRIALS OF DEBUTANTES AT KING GEORGE'S COURT

Ridicule Directed at Those Who Are Not Dressed Up to the Minute.

London, April 6.—One of the wealthy and fashionable widows who went to the last court has been giving me a description of what she called the "goings on" of some of the women and girls awaiting their call in the anteroom before entering the royal presence chamber and her account cannot be better put than in her own words. "There was a clique of them there that all appeared to know each other intimately, calling each other by their Christian names, and anyone who came in and whose dress was not the last cry from Paris they promptly laughed at in most deliberate manner with the undoubted intention of causing pain. Of charity, humanity, common decency they had not a vestige. They talked quite audibly. One poor woman entered wearing an unmistakable wig. If I had to wear a wig I'd buy a decent one, wouldn't you?' said one and they all shouted agreement. Provincial debutantes who wore commonplace frocks were made very nervous by the tittering that went on among this bevy of beauties.

"This kind of thing happened last year and got to the queen's ears; but though her majesty was very distressed she could do nothing. Last year it was with the greatest difficulty a lady from the Emerald Isle was restrained from taking such liberties when she thought of them. Indeed, she did manage to get out a sentence or two, and there was a little less jeering afterwards.

"After a court at Buckingham palace a rare lot of oddments are always found about the rooms. After the last several pieces of lace hair were picked up, a jeweled garter and stray precious stones which had dropped from their settings, as well as several charms. An American woman who lost one of the latter boldly drove up to the palace next day and inquired if here had been found. She evidently did not know that it is never etiquette to look for anything lost in a royal house. She was shown all the owners-less articles and selected her own. But the royal footman who attended to her had almost the proverbial fit after she had gone. Although for every article handed to the maids in attendance in the cloakroom a ticket is given some queer "accidents" have happened at the great gatherings. At the first court this year the wife of an ambassador was given a very poor substitute for her magnificent fur wrap. But though she worried her heart out over the loss she knew better than to complain.

A Landmark Blown Away.

(From The Fitchburg, Mass., Sentinel.)

The tower on High Rock, Pearl Hill, was blown down recently after having withstood the storms and gales for over a century and a quarter. The tower was erected in 1838, by the late George R. Putnam and had been climbed by thousands of Fitchburg people and visitors to the city, offering as it did a commanding view of the surrounding country. It was about eighty feet high and was located on the highest point of the cliff forming the eastern ridge of Pearl Hill, which at this point has a precipitous fall of 125 feet to the base. The top of the tower was somewhat in the vicinity of 1,500 feet above the level of the sea, and there was nothing to obstruct the view of the landscape.

The tower was strongly built, the structure being of wood. The base was bolted into the rock. This held firmly, but the high wind was too much for the superstructure, which had become weakened by long exposure, and at 7:15 o'clock there came a heavy blast, under the force of which the frame reeled and fell with a crash. The wind was from the east and blew the tower over toward the cottage situated a short distance below, parts of it striking the roof and walls facing the east. The windows on that side were completely demolished and the roof and piazza badly damaged.

A spur— not a whip.

Put in operation the right system of sales records and it will act as a spur—not a whip—on your sales force.

By the "right system" we mean the system we have devised. Changed to meet varying conditions, it is in operation in hundreds and hundreds of concerns, small as well as large. It shows among other things:

Which lines sell best; and which don't.
Which salesmen are making money for you; and which are not.
Which customers are increasing their purchases; and which are not.
When salesmen called last, and what transpired at that time.

The idea back of the system is to make the sales-manager master of his job. But the salesmen get just as much good out of it as the sales-manager.

SOPERTON WOMEN HELD FOR KILLING

Fanny Dun Charged With Slaying Fred Miller With Shotgun—Girl's Mother Is Also in Jail.

Dublin, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—News was received here today that Mrs. M. C. Dun and daughter, Fanny May, are in jail in Montgomery county for the killing of Fred Miller at their home in Soperton.

From accounts received here it seems that Miller and several other men had been frequenting the home of the women, the older woman being a widow, and Miller had been ordered to keep away from the house. Saturday night he went to the house again and became boisterous and the girl, it is said, shot at him through a door shutter with a shotgun, the load nearing coff the entire top of his head and killing him instantly.

A coroner's jury impaneled to inquire into the killing, held Fanny May Dun responsible for Miller's death and Mrs. Dun an accessory. Two other men, Jim Crawford and Archie Fowler, were held for connection with the killing, but were released on bond. Miller was a young man, son of Elijah Miller, a prominent farmer, while the two Dun women are connected with some prominent people of that section of the county.

Bankruptcy Petition.

After F. W. Durham, of Atlanta, engaged in the automobile service business, had filed with Deputy Clerk Fred Beers, of the federal court yesterday, a voluntary petition in bankruptcy the Oakland Motor company, a corporation formed under Michigan laws, asked for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of Durham's estate. In the papers of file the petitioner for discharge in bankruptcy, F. W. Durham, writes his liabilities at $2,893.50, with assets amounting to $500. So far Judge Newman has not named a receiver as requested.

FAIRBURN POSTOFFICE DYNAMITED BY YEGGMEN

Safe Blown for Second Time in Year—Robbers Get Nothing.

Fairburn, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—Although the safe was wrecked and the postoffice badly damaged when yeggmen blew up the safe early yesterday morning, an accounting has shown that the unknown robbers did not get so much as a cent for their trouble. This is the second time within a year that the Fairburn office has been dynamited with very negligible results for the looters.

A timepiece in the room was stopped at 2:24 o'clock, and it was at this time that citizens in the vicinity were aroused by the noise of the explosion. The yeggmen escaped.

CENTRAL PRESIDENT IN ATLANTA ON WAY TO SAVANNAH MEET

Charles H. Markham, president of the Central of Georgia railroad, spent Sunday and Monday in Atlanta en route to Savannah, where he will go Tuesday to attend the directors' meeting of his road.

Mr. Markham came to Atlanta from New Orleans. He is much pleased with the prosperous condition of the country along the lines of his road.

"As for having anything to say just now," he said on Monday, "there is nothing I can say. I am simply stopping over on my way to Savannah."

Many of the friends of Mr. Markham called upon him in his private car at the Terminal station, and he was the recipient of several social honors while in Atlanta.

He was the honor guest of a dinner tendered by Captain James W. English and John E. Murphy at the Capitol City club Monday night. A number of business men of Atlanta were guests at the dinner.

Officer Tried for Heroism; Chief Discusses the Charge

Lieutenant Walter H. Chesbire, of the county police, was on trial Monday for heroism. It was charged that on Sunday morning, April 5, 1914, on the paved Piedmont road, Lieutenant Chesbire had deliberately stopped a runaway horse.

"I don't know that I'd call it heroism," said Chief Matheson, appearing for the defense. Having watched, and even directed, the entire affair from the front porch of his home, Chief Mathieson was an excellent witness. "I don't believe in being too hard on any man. And, on the other hand, I wouldn't want to say that it wasn't heroism."

The prosecution begged at this point to introduce exhibit A, which A was in printed form and looked as though it might have been clipped from a newspaper.

"'New York's trained athletic policemen,'" read the prosecution. "haven't cornered the bravery and skill marked yet. Fulton county has at least one officer richly endowed with these commendable qualities, and he had a glorious opportunity to prove it beyond the shadow of a doubt Sunday morning, when he pulled down a wild runaway horse.'"

Horse Wasn't So Wild.

It was inquired whether the witness for the defense had any reply to this. "Well," said the witness, mildly, "I wouldn't say the horse was too wild. That is, it looked like it came of a pretty law-abiding family. As to its running away—well it was going away, all right. About its running I'm not so sure. You might have called it a test-away. You see, I was standing on my front porch, and I noticed the horse coming down the road. Exhibit A was again introduced. . . . As he sped along the smooth roadway, automobiles, buggies and pedestrians turned out into the gutter to let him pass."

"No doubt they did," agreed the witness. "Well, I'd just had breakfast myself and I don't care much for walking as an exercise, so I didn't go after him. Instead I hollered to the lieutenant, who was down the road a little way and told him to get off his motorcycle and stop it."

"That's the leaped from his motorcycle, isn't it?" inquired the prosecution, still reading from exhibit A.

"Yep," said the witness. "You see, the slowest speed on the department motorcycle is three miles an hour. Well, the lieutenant got around in front of the horse and waved his arms, but—"

"Just a minute," interrupted the prosecution. "Is that . . . and ran out in front of the horse. He missed the bridle by an inch when he grabbed at the animal's head, but as the wagon swept past he got—"

"Yes, that's it. As the wagon swept past he got around behind it and climbed up on the tail end."

"I beg pardon," interrupted the prosecution again. "To resume the reading: '. . . but as the wagon swept past he got a grip on the tail-end and sprang aboard the craft. It was a superb, athletic leap and fully fifty people who were watching the deed from the sunday vehicles on the road got a fine thrill out of it.' Is that true?"

"Oh, yes," said the witness, "that's true except for one or two details. I was the fifty people. I don't remember getting a fine thrill out of it, but I got laugh. You see, the lieutenant's sort of generously built, and he had to roll over the tailboard on his stomach. But otherwise it's all right. Well, he got hold of the lines and stopped the horse. I guess that's about all."

"Not quite all," said the prosecution. "In an instant the officer had the lines in his hands, and in another the frantic horse was jerked from his stride and fell sprawling in the road.' That ends exhibit A."

"It's all right," said the witness, "except that that horse had ever sprawled in the road it would be sprawling there yet. It was too stiff in the legs to ever get up. However," he finished, "I wouldn't say the story wasn't true, on the whole. About the lieutenant being a hero, though—well, that's a serious charge and unless a man can prove it—"

The lieutenant was acquitted.

LEE DECLARES NEGRO MURDERED HIS UNCLE

Black Arrested on Suspicion. Coroner's Jury Still Probing Hawkinsville Case.

Hawkinsville, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—The body of Paul Bonnell, who was murdered in his bed Saturday night, was carried to his former home at Live Oak, Fla., today for burial, accompanied by one of his brothers. Harry Lee, the boy nephew, who was arrested charged with the crime on a warrant sworn out by Acting Marshal Black, is still in jail and has not attempted to give bond.

Lee now says that a negro did the killing, and that he saw him at the back door just after the murder was committed.

John Hughs, a negro aoout 22 years old, was arrested today on suspicion, and is being held by the authorities. No direct evidence against any one has been given out as yet, and the coroner's jury has not finished its investigation, but will tomorrow, and in the meantime every report bearing on the case is being taken up and investigated for what it is worth.

The Bonnell brothers made a record-breaking automobile dash from Live Oak to Hawkinsville, a distance of 70 miles, in exactly 10 hours last night to reach the scene. The city council has offered $100 reward for the perpetrator, and the county of Pulaski will doubtless offer $100 tomorrow. The governor will be asked to go the limit in offering a state reward, and the relatives speak of putting up a big sum. New developments are expected to reach the public ear every minute, as no time is being lost in the work of running down the guilty party.

From Funeral of Father Mrs. Gregory Called Back By Her Husband's Death

From the funeral of her father, Mrs. W. J. Gregory was called back to Atlanta Monday by the news that her husband, W. J. Gregory, a prominent insurance man, had died suddenly in Birmingham.

Mr. Gregory was head of the firm of W. J. Gregory & Co., fire insurance. He had lived in Atlanta ten years. Two weeks ago Mrs. Gregory was called to Chicago, where her father was near death. He died last week. Monday afternoon word was received by Mr. Gregory's business partners that he had died of neuralgia of the heart in a Birmingham hotel. Mrs. Gregory is now on her way back to Atlanta.

Pending her arrival no funeral arrangements have been made. Besides his wife, Mr. Gregory is survived by one brother, Charles A. Gregory, and a sister, Mme. Elsa Chalion.

THAT SAHARA ORDER STIRRING THE NAVY

Officers Say the Anti-Liquor Rule by Secretary Daniels Is Absurd.

Washington, April 6.—Secretary Daniels' order barring the use of alcoholic liquors in the navy, effective after July 1, next, was generally discussed in naval and other circles here today. The order, one of the most sweeping ever promulgated by the navy department, not only abolishes the traditional "wine mess" of the officers, but will bar all alcoholic liquors from every ship and shore station of the navy.

Surgeon General Braisted recommended it after an exhaustive investigation.

While declining to discuss for publication the effect of the order, naval officers privately expressed the belief it may fail of its purpose—to prevent or decrease drunkenness within the navy. In effect, the order does no more than abolish the wine mess. No distilled spirits are sold in the wine mess—only wines and beer.

Officers contend it is absurd to suppose that men ever become drunkards on beer or champagne. They express the opinion that the order will curtail their personal liberty and prevent their affording visitors from foreign navies the wines which they are accustomed to on their own vessels.

The order was hailed with joy here today by the prohibition forces, who declare it will have a great influence in the furtherance of the temperance cause.

When asked today to comment on the order, President Wilson said it was strictly a department matter. It is understood that the president was not consulted by Mr. Daniels before he issued the order and no one professes to know whether it had the president's approval.

Gorgas Favors Order.

Washington, April 6.—Brigadier General William C. Gorgas took office today as surgeon general of the army, succeeding Brigadier General George H. Torney, who died last December. He paid his respects to President Wilson, and as he left the white house, told inquirers that he was in sympathy with the prohibition of liquor in the navy and thought such an order would do much good in the army. He added, however, that it was only a personal opinion and that he had not discussed it with other officials.

Methodists Back Daniels.

New York, April 6.—Secretary Daniels' action barring the use of intoxicating liquors in the navy was unanimously indorsed today in a resolution adopted by the New York conference of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Another resolution adopted today requested the home mission board to spend more money for mission work in the city of New York and less in the western states. The resolution stated that New York city is the greatest mission field in the world.

Tossed From Street Car, Man Is Struck by Auto, Now Sues for Damages

If hard luck had any property which could be levied upon, it is probable that it would be co-defendant with the Georgia Railway and Power company in a suit which Roscoe C. Irwin filed Monday in the superior court.

Mr. Irwin explains that on November 23, 1913, he was on his way home on an East Point car. His customary stop was The Oaks. He informed the conductor of this fact, but the conductor was interested in something else, it is alleged. The car went past The Oaks and Mr. Irwin decided to get off at Fort McPherson. He was standing on the steps awaiting the arrival of the car at that stop, when, he says, the conductor, doubtless with no other intention than accommodating him, gave the emergency stop signal. The car stopped so suddenly that, according to Irwin, he was thrown from the step. At this point, hard luck appeared in the shape of a speeding motor car. Before Mr. Irwin could adjust himself to the fact that he was no longer on the car step, but in the middle of the street, the speeding motor car ran over him. Wherefore, Mr. Irwin sues the Georgia Railway and Power company for $10,000.

EXTRA TIME DISPUTE RESULTS IN KILLING

A dispute over fifteen minutes of extra time resulted in the killing early Sunday morning of George Coleman, a negro foreman at the Morris Fertilizing works, by two negro laborers. The two negroes, Charles Lawrence and Charles Jenkins, claimed they had not been paid off properly Saturday night. Coleman ordered them out of the place. They came back together twenty-six hours later and cut Coleman into many pieces. Chief Matheson, of the county police, has telegrams out for the slayers.

Helping Kidneys By Clearing Blood

A Function Greatly Assisted By a Well-Known Remedy.

Most readers will be interested to more clearly understand why analysis of urine is so important. In the use of S. S. S. to purify the blood, its action is a stimulant to the myriad of fine blood vessels that make up the constructive tissues of the kidneys. All the blood from all over the body must pass through the kidneys. They act as testers and sifters. And according to what they allow to pass out in the urine, both as to quantity and materials, the health of the kidneys and the quality of the blood is determined. The catalytic energy forced by S. S. S. is shown in the urine. It is also demonstrated in the skin. And as the blood continues to sweep through the kidneys the dominating nature of S. S. S. acting as it does through all the avenues of elimination, shows a marked decrease of disease manifestations as demonstrated by urine analysis. This assistance is a great relief to the kidneys. The body wastes are more evenly distributed to the emunctories; their elimination is stimulated by the tonic action afforded the liver, lungs, skin and kidneys. Thus in cases of rheumatism, cystitis, chronic sore throat, hoarseness of voice, bronchitis, asthma and the myriad of other reflex indications of weak kidney action, first purify your blood with S. S. S., so it will enable the tissues to rebuild the cellular strength and regain the normal health.

S. S. S. is prepared by The Swift Specific Co., 827 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and if you have any deep-seated or obstinate blood trouble, write to their Medical Dept. for free advice.

HOME RULE MEASURE PUSHED IN COMMONS

Motion to Reject the Bill Was Defeated by a Majority of 80 Votes.

London, April 6.—By a majority of eighty an amendment for the rejection of the home rule bill was defeated in the house of commons tonight and without division the bill was given for the third time its second reading in the house.

The announcement of the figures evoked louder cheers from the opposition than from the ministerialists, the opposition interpreting them as gratifying proof of a dwindling government majority. But the diminution is accounted for to some extent by the abstention from voting of the Orthodox.

Speeches Conciliatory.

The speeches today were generally much more conciliatory in tone than those which marked the bill's earlier passages. John E. Redmond, the nationalist leader, who opened the debate, again held out the olive branch to Ulster in a speech of great eloquence, but insisted that it was impossible for him and his colleagues to agree to the permanent exclusion of Ulster and to abandon the principle of "Ireland a nation."

Andrew Bonar Law, the opposition leader, though professing is certain passages of his speech to see hardly any hope of a peaceful settlement, and predicting that civil war was certain if the government persisted in pushing the bill through, declared that he and his colleagues would gladly accept a proposal for the renewal of the conversations with the government leaders, but feared that nothing would come of it.

Augustine Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, was most optimistic. Despite all adverse criticism he was certain that great progress had been made towards a peaceful settlement, and civil war, he declared, was impossible.

The Votes on the Bill.

The second reading of the home rule bill was carried the first time by a majority of 101, and the second time by a majority of 98. Tonight eight O'Brienites abstained from voting and two liberals voted against the government. One nationalist was absent through illness. Three laborites also were absent, and Charles F. G. Masterman, who had previously voted as a member of the government, lost his seat in the election for Bethnal Green last February. Mr. Asquith took no part in the voting, as he recently resigned to stand for re-election on his taking the secretaryship of war, Sir Edward Grey's departure from London is said to have no political significance, as he is taking a holiday, which he arranged for some time ago.

A large gathering of Irishmen, all carrying green flags, assembled outside parliament tonight to celebrate the passage of the bill. They cheered wildly when the result of the vote was announced and gave ovations to the members of the government and the nationalist leaders as they left the house.

Redmond's Attitude.

"I think in the present circumstances there is nothing for the house of commons to do but proceed with the home rule for Ireland bill as it stands." This was the closing sentence of a speech delivered by John E. Redmond, leader of the Irish nationalists, who made the final speech on behalf of the nationalist party on the second reading of the home rule bill. The vote of the house on the measure was arranged to be taken tonight.

The closing proceedings in the house were opened by Mr. Redmond, who replied to the debate. "This is not a controversy which can be settled by voting a majority," he said. "It must be directed to the settlement of the realities. He continued:

"The country as a whole is sick and tired of the Irish question, and it must be settled here and now.

"The house of commons owes it as a duty to Ireland and to England to pass the home rule bill. I am profoundly confident that when the bill has once been passed it will be repealed."

Carson Talks for Ulster.

"The only solution," declared Sir Edward Carson, "is to leave Ulster out of the bill until her consent to inclusion has been won."

Sir John Simon, the attorney general, told the house that the government's offer to Ulster of temporary local option was still open, but that Ireland could not be permanently divided. "If the efforts to reach a compromise should fail, the government is going to carry the home rule bill as it stands," he said.

Cincinnati Sundae, Latest Sunday Drink, Popular Until Raid

Ever order a Cincinnati sundae? Lieutenants Oliver and Carroll, acting under the orders of Chief Mathieson, of the county police, ordered one at the soda fountain of James Allen, Brady avenue and Marietta street, Sunday, and about ten minutes later, were busily confiscating 200 half-pints of whisky. A "Cincinnati sundae," Chief Mathieson had been correctly informed, was the trade name at Allen's place for something that didn't have ice cream in it. Allen was held under $500 bond.

SODAS, THEN MARRIAGE.

Now Mertice Is Sorry, and Sam Departed.

When Mertice Bayles was 12 years old there was not far from her home a soda fountain. The owner of this soda fountain was named Sam Freeman. Now, when one is 12 years old, ice cream sodas have great powers of persuasion. In August, 1908, Sam and Mertice were married by a justice of the peace.

Mertice is 18 now, and ice cream sodas have lost their wnilom lure. As for Sam Freedman, if he ever had any place in her affections, over and above his importance as a source of sodas, it has now vanished into the same dim beyond which engulfed Sam about a year after his marriage.

"Nevertheless," said Judge Ellis, as he granted the girl wife a divorce during the run of undefended divorce suits in the superior court Monday, "I'd likes to have that fellow with the ice cream sodas in this courtroom for about ten minutes!" And there was that in his manner to indicate that Sam would not enjoy the encounter.

JUDGE VINSON SPEAKS.

Candidate for Congress Makes Address at Irwinton.

Irwinton, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—Judge Carl Vinson, candidate for congress in the tenth district to succed Hardwick, spoke here today, following closely the lines of his opening speech at Sparta two weeks ago. He will speak tomorrow at Warrenton.

After being introduced by forme. State senator John S. Davis, Judge Vinson advocated legislation to stop gambling in cotton, deplored extravagance in national appropriations and declared that all lawmakers should come directly from the masses in order to better represent public opinion. He paid his respects to "bosses and peanu politicians" as vultures that prey upon the vitals of the people.

COMBINE OF OPERATORS FAVORED BY MITCHEL.

Washington, April 6.—Organizatio of coal mine operators so they ma agree on prices was advocated by Jon Mitchell, former president of the United Mine Workers of America, today before the federal commission o industrial relations. He argued tha the government should have supervision over such an arrangement. Forty per cent of all coal mined in the United States was wasted, he said, because mine operators cannot dispose of it at a profit.

Mr. Mitchell thought a federal industrial council with power to investigate causes of threatened or pending industrial strikes would be of great value, provided it had no power of compulsory arbitration.

"The coal miner is so much better off today than he was in 1897 that thara is no basis of comparison," said Mr. Mitchell. "But I believe the miner should be among the best paid workers in America."

Mr. Mitchell was the first witness at a series of hearings begun today by the commission to investigate collective bargaining, collective and arbitration in different industries. Coal mining was taken up first because industries will be considered in order.

CIVIC IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE CONSIDERED

The question of a bond issue for the plans will also be discussed. The meeting will be held at the chamber's new headquarters on the second floor of the new Commerce building at the corner of North Pryor street and Auburn avenue.

MAYOR OF NASHVILLE SENDS CONGRATULATIONS

H. E. Howse, mayor of Nashville, Tenn., last night sent The Constitution the following telegram congratulating Atlanta on securing the regional bank:

"Nashville, Tenn.—Nashville was an applicant for regional bank, and, therefore, could not be expected to be enthusiastic over the failure of our statesmen at Washington to recognize our superior facilities. Since Nashville could not succeed, then we heartily congratulate Atlanta, certainly the next city of importance of the central south.

H. E. HOWSE,
Mayor.

SHOT WOMAN TO DEATH AND THEN KILLED SELF

Richmond Policeman Murders His Sweetheart and Puts Bullet in His Head.

Richmond, Va., April 6.—Police Sergeant Phil L. Neiss late tonight shot and instantly killed Mrs. Roberta Lester in her home, and then shot himself, dying as he was being lifted into a hospital.

Neiss, who was on duty, went to the woman's home, where he had frequently visited, and in a quarrel struck her a severe blow in the face. Miss Emma Miller, a neighbor, rushed in and restrained him from a further attack, and while Mrs. Lester was bathing the wound Neiss drew a bar through the head. He fired over the shoulder of Miss Miller, believed that the woman was dead, Neiss shot himself in the temple.

A bottle of chloroform was found in the officer's pocket. Mrs. Neiss stated to the police tonight that Neiss had informed her before leaving home that he expected to kill Mrs. Lester.

PRIMARY IN ELBERT TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Elberton, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—Elbert's primary will be held Wednesday, April 8. Every office is contested, but chief interest surrounds the race for county commissioner, which is being made by James McIntosh, present chairman of the board; T. M. Swift, ex-representative, and T. S. Crawford, ex-commissioner.

Owing to the warm weather a large vote is not expected. The race for treasurer is unique, the four candidates are mostly old confederate veterans. S. N. Haley and S. W. Vaughan are in a lively race for sheriff. A. A. Seymour has announced as a candidate for representative, making four in the field.

GALLON OF LIQUOR FIXED BY THE LAW FOR MISSISSIPPI

Jackson, Miss., April 6.—One gallon of whisky or one case of beer is the maximum quantity of intoxicants that can be legally ordered within any thirty-day period by a resident of the state of Mississippi, under the provisions of the Mott-Mex-Lewis' liquor law, which went into effect today. The statute applies to the entire state, and was enacted by the last legislature.

The law also prohibits the operation of locker clubs.

After Common Carriers.

Washington, April 6.—The Cummins bill to make common carriers liable for full value of shipments was favorably reported today from the senate interstate commerce committee, with amendments to require full damages for live stock and making certain exceptions where the nature of the shipments is concealed or the interstate commerce commission approves rates on certain values.

SHE WANTS CHILDREN KEPT IN THEIR HOMES

Philadelphia, April 6.—Miss Mary Bartelme, Chicago's woman judge, today occupied a seat on the bench with Judge Gorman while he heard the cases in the house of detention. Later she described some of her experiences while presiding in the Chicago juvenile court and protested against the growing tendency to commercialize the recreation of children.

"We should try to keep the children in their homes," said Miss Bartelme. "Recreation should be provided for them. In Chicago, I am sorry to say, the boys and girls covey the 5 and 10 cent theaters. Their recreation is commercialized. I hope this is not true of Philadelphia."

Miss Bartelme also made a plea for the care of the girl between the ages of 13 and 16 years.

"I sometimes think," she said, "that it would be better to allow a girl to work between the ages of 8 and 10 years and then look after her when she is between 13 and 16 years old."

INDICTED FOR MURDER IN THE FIRST DEGREE

New York, April 6.—The arrest today of Morris Strupnicker, secretary and treasurer of the cloak and shirtmakers' union, revealed that he and two other officers of the union had been indicted for murder in the first degree. Max Stigman, first vice president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union, was arrested yesterday under these indictments.

It is charged that Strupnicker and Stigman and a third man caused the death of Herman Lebowitz during the great cloakmakers' strike in New York city in 1910.

The police were unable to make any arrests until the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union, a new organization which sprang up at the time of the strike, took up the investigation and turned its investigation over to the district attorney.

Mrs. Wilson Goes Motoring.

Washington, April 6.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson went motoring today for the first time in several weeks. She has entirely recovered from an injury sustained by a fall over a rug in the white house.

LABOR CONTEMPT CASE IS ORDERED REARGUED

Washington, April 6.—The Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison contempt case today was restored to the docket of the supreme court for reargument April 28 before the entire bench.

The three labor leaders stand convicted of contempt of court in the Buck's stove and range case. Some observers drew the inference from the reassignment that the court was divided on the case and the return of Justice Lurton to the bench today led to the restoration of the cases for a second argument.

CITY WILL BUY PART OF MOSELEY ESTATE

Council Authorizes the Purchase of Ten Acres in the Seventh Ward to Be Used for Park Purposes.

Urged by citizens in the Seventh ward, council yesterday authorized the purchase of ten acres of the Moseley estate to be used for park purposes. The city will pay $10,000 for the tract and will secure an option in the name of some citizen for the purchase of the remainder of the tract.

The money with which the purchase will be made will be taken from the fund of $9,000 provided in the January finance sheet for an engine house in the Seventh ward, and $1,000 provided for street improvement. The purchase will be made immediately, and the representatives of the Seventh ward will be authorized to negotiate the buying of an option on the remainder of the tract.

Alderman Jesse Armistead, of the Seventh ward, offered the resolution in council Monday afternoon. He said that it was the unanimous decision of the Seventh Ward Improvement club that the city buy a part of the Moseley estate instead of the fire engine.

The Moseley tract is one of the finest properties for park purposes in Atlanta. It has an historic value by reason of the fact that a part of the battle of Atlanta was fought on it.

Council will have the final word in determining which ten acres shall be purchased first. It is understood that the owners are anxious that the property be acquired by the city for park purposes only, and for that reason has offered the tract at an exceedingly low price.

When the finance committee was making the finance sheet it could not find $9,000 to purchase the entire tract, but it did put $9,000 in the sheet for a fire engine house. Chief Cunningham made an appeal to the members of the committee for the fire house, and so did Alderman Armistead and Councilman Dallas. Councilman Colcord represented the ward on the finance sheet, and he also gave valuable aid.

JUDGE ANDREW CALHOUN NOW IN NEW QUARTERS

Judge Andrew Calhoun, of the criminal court of Atlanta, began sitting Monday in the courtroom at the Thrower building, which has been vacated temporarily through the adjournment of the criminal branch of the superior court, presided over by Judge Ben Hill. Another transfer was that of Luther Z. Rosser, Jr., whose period as judge of the criminal branch of the municipal court, ended last week. He is succeeded by Judge Hathcock, who, under the regulations of the municipal court, will now sit in the criminal branch for the next sixty days.

ST. PAUL PREPARING FOR COMING REVIVAL

St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church on Grant street is planning one of the most extensive Easter services next Sunday it has yet held, in anticipation of its old-time Methodist revival, which will last for ten days the latter part of this month, and bring here some of the most prominent ministers and platform speakers in the United States.

Rev. S. P. Fraser, the pastor, announced that he proposed to make Easter Sunday a great rally day, both in the Sunday school and the church, and to have the Sunday school children, as well as the congregation, fully informed as to the plans for this revival.

Following these special services Dr. Fraser will hold special preparatory services at 7:45 o'clock every night next week, commencing with Monday, lasting until Friday. On that day Bishop J. C. Kilgore, of Durham, N. C., and Dr. S. A. Steele, of Columbia, S. C., will arrive, and while Bishop Kilgore conducts the night service at St. Paul's, Dr. Steele will speak at Trinity. Dr. E. O. Excell, of Chicago, will be in charge of the music, arriving from Milledgeville, Ga., where he has a two days' engagement before coming to Atlanta.

Rally at Dawsonville.

Dawsonville, Ga., April 6.—(Special.) A great educational missionary rally was held at this place yesterday. The speakers were men, women and children from the different parts of this and Forsyth counties, who were aflame with the needs of the heathen and the neglected parts of our own country.

Rich Prize List Offered In Constitution's Contest Has Amazed the Public

The announcement in Sunday's issue of The Constitution of the most striking advertising campaign ever attempted by an Atlanta paper, through the medium of which $25,000 in prizes and cash are to be distributed, has aroused the public. Popular voting contests, such as this campaign will be, have heretofore been given on a smaller scale. Seldom in the whole country has the public been offered a share in such high-grade prizes as The Constitution will distribute in the latter part of June this year. The most cursory glance will reveal the value and usefulness of the awards, and it will also reveal the fact that the candidates all have a splendid chance to win. The territory has been so equally divided that each one will have an equal opportunity at any prize.

The most warmly commended feature of the contest is the provision that all of the energetic contestants who fail to obtain a listed award will be paid a cash prize. The Constitution has always dealt frankly with its readers in its news and editorial matter, and so it will deal in this subscription campaign. This means that The Constitution has pledged its honor, based upon years of financial dealing, to distribute fairly this splendid list of prizes as set forth in the rules and regulations governing same. It means that The Constitution is not making money, but simply exchanging $25,000 worth of prizes and cash for the purpose of adding new friends to its already large list of appreciated patrons.

Many Nominations Certain.

Nominees in this campaign should remember they will be backed by the south's greatest newspaper and such backing means success if the proper effort is put forth by the nominee. In view of the hearty appreciation of the exceptional opportunity expressed by the general public, it is reasonable to suppose that there will be many nominations made and many names will appear when the first list of candidates is published in a few days. It is a good plan for those intending to run for an award to see that their names get to The Constitution office as soon as possible, so that they can receive the necessary information, etc.

Every stumbling block for the candidate has been removed, and this campaign will develop and bring out to the best advantage to their every qualification of enterprise and energy. Not only may the candidate choose from among the many handsome gifts offered, but every candidate who fails to obtain a listed prize and sends to The Constitution $100 worth of new subscriptions will receive a cash prize of $10 for each $100 so turned in.

In short, The Constitution offers any white woman in the state of Georgia and contiguous territory an opportunity to compete for and obtain a prize of very great value without the expenditure of one cent upon his or her part. Every prize in this splendid list will be given away in the strictest sense of the word. Not a single penny is required of any one eligible to enter the contest. It will cost nothing to enter, and it will cost nothing to win. The Constitution has so framed the competition that no matter where you live or what your business may be, your opportunity to obtain one of the grand prizes is as good as that of any other candidate. For the purpose of this contest, the state of Georgia and contiguous territory has been divided into nine districts. These nine districts are divided into two grand divisions. Atlanta, Ga., and suburbs, consisting of four districts, comprise the first grand division. Outside of the city, consisting of five districts, comprise the second grand division. In each of the two divisions an Oakland seven-passenger touring car, fully equipped, of value $1,525 f. o. b. Atlanta, will be given regardless of districts. And, as a second prize, a Velie five-passenger touring car of $1,560 value f. o. b. Atlanta will be given.

Overland Prize Offered.

After the two grand division prize winners have been eliminated the contestant standing highest in each of the nine districts will be awarded an Overland touring car valued at $1,110 f. o. b. Atlanta. The contestant standing next highest in each district will be awarded a Ludden & Bates Self-Player piano valued at $750.

To all contestants failing to receive enough votes to obtain one of the listed votes will be paid 10 per cent on all new business turned in during the contest, provided the amount is $100 or more. So, every energetic contestant will be sure of winning something.

Candidates in one district will not be competing with those in another except in the instance of the two grand division prizes in each of the two divisions. Contestants are not restricted to their own district or division but may get subscriptions anywhere they are to be had.

About the Prizes.

Thirteen automobiles head the list of magnificent prizes. Four as grand division prizes and nine as district prizes.

These cars were selected with special regard to the greatest value of the money invested.

In the first grand prize to be awarded in each division to the candidate for the largest number of votes in each division, regardless of district, The Constitution offers an automobile conceded to be equal to any car in the world of its class. It is known as the Oakland 6-48 seven-passenger touring car, fully equipped, beautiful to the artistic eye. Beautiful to the eye that sees beyond the outward forms and notes the perfection of mechanical arrangement and adjustment, beautiful to those who desire luxury personified in style and comfort, and beautiful indeed to those who see in the graceful lines perfect and comfortable arrangements. A dependable motor car, and one that approaches the ideal in mechanical perfection.

The second prize in each of the grand divisions is the Velie 4-35 five-passenger touring car. The Velie is beautiful in design, and the body lines are developed along the most advanced ideas, and has long since been known as a car that will go day in and day out over all kinds of roads anywhere and free from mechanical difficulties. These cars, in addition to having the usual equipment, are also equipped with Gray & Davis electric starter and lighting of the most advanced type.

District Prizes.

In each of the nine districts an Overland will be selected, to be commensurate with the efforts of those who obtain the highest score in votes after the first of the second grand division prizes have been given out. After carefully considering the desirability of many and various things, the conclusion was reached that an automobile should head the district prize list. Then the question arose as to which of the numerous motor cars upon the market should be chosen. Many good cars could be had, but after considerable negotiation The Constitution was able to make satisfactory terms with the Overland Southern Automobile company for nine five-passenger Overland touring cars, Model 79 T, one for each district, as cars embodying all of the qualifications demanded by The Constitution.

The Overland five-passenger touring car is one of the very best automobiles on the market today at the price. Many higher-priced cars of no greater beauty or contour are giving no greater service. It is a roomy five-passenger model, richly upholstered, insuring perfection comfort. In addition to being fully equipped for all up-to-date cars are, it is also equipped with Gray & Davis electric starter and generator. Nothing left to be desired. With plenty of power and perfect action, this car answers the demand for a consistent and dependable automobile.

After the automobiles in each of the nine districts come the second prizes, which are $750 Ludden & Bates Self-player Pianos, which is the regular Ludden & Bates' cabinet grand upright piano, into which has been built the most perfect player mechanism. The player is therefore two instruments in one; a piano for the musician and a self-player for those who have never studied music. A handsome bench and scarf and fifteen rolls of music are included with each player.

For complete details of rules controlling this remarkable campaign write to Contest Department, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga., or call upon the manager of the same.

Detailed information will be furnished to any address with full practicalness of the contest. These regulations will be published from time to time, but in the meantime any one wishing to participate in this remarkable contest may get the full rules upon application as above mentioned.

ALDERMAN SEAWRIGHT HEADS FIRE COMMITTEE

Alderman J. R. Seawright, recently elected to fill the unexpired term of Alderman J. H. Harwell, made vacant by death, was made chairman of the fire committee by Mayor Woodward yesterday.

During the brief time he has been in council, Alderman Seawright has taken great interest in the affairs of the city. He has familiarized himself with committee work, and Mayor Woodward regards him as a valuable city father.

Mayor Woodward sent a communication to council stating that the Gordy monument, at Marietta and Forsyth streets, be cleaned.

Council accepted the invitation of Colonel R. J. Pomeroy, grand marshal of the Memorial day parade, to participate in the ceremonies. City Clerk Walter Taylor was authorized to provide for carriages.

EDGEWOOD PLANT TO BE SOLD FOR $4,500

Under a resolution approved by the tax committee, of which Councilman Charles W. Smith is chairman, council yesterday authorized the sale of the old Edgewood water plant for $4,500.

The property is located on South Mayson avenue, and is in that territory in the ninth ward which was formerly the municipality of Edgewood. When the territory was taken in by the city the old plant was abandoned, and has since been dismantled. It stood on a site 50 by 190 feet and is near the railroad tracks. The sale which the city has authorized is on a cash basis.

RESERVE BANKS SOON IN ACTION

Every Effort Will Be Made to Expedite New System. Several Steps Must Be Taken by the Banks.

Washington, April 6.—Every effort will be exerted by the federal reserve bank organization committee to have all banks expedite the formal steps necessary to put the new currency system in operation.

Members of the committee apparently have no expectation that there will be any financial crisis to face requiring the assistance to banks which the reserve system will provide, but they are particularly anxious to have the twelve reserve banks in the field when crop moving time comes around next fall. They want to be able at that time to demonstrate how easily and quickly the reserve system will take care of a situation which in previous years has caused financial worry, and which last fall led to direct loans from the United States treasury to national banks in the farming regions.

It's Up to the Banks.

Under the law the several steps to be taken by the banks might be delayed so that there would be little chance of setting the reserve banks up before autumn, but if the banks respond promptly there is little reason to believe that the organization will be deferred longer than a few months. The committee has worked at full speed on its part of the preliminary work, and tomorrow the formal notice will be sent to the 7,548 banks which ask entrance to the system, of the location of reserve banks and the limits of reserve districts. With the notices will go blanks on which banks must apply for subscriptions for stock in the respective reserve banks. Thirty days are allowed for banks to make the first payment of the required 6 per cent of their capital and surplus.

As soon as banks in any one district have subscribed the $4,000,000 capital necessary for a reserve bank, the succeeding steps of organization will be promptly taken. The reserve bank will be given a charter and the member banks will exercise their right to elect six of the nine directors of each reserve bank.

Federal Reserve Board.

President Wilson probably will name the five members of the federal reserve board he is entitled to appoint by the time the reserve bank charters have been granted. Then the administration is expected to do its utmost to push the organization of the system along. The reserve board will name three director sof each reserve banks and with this task performed the banks will be ready to open for business.

Officials here were interested today in what limitations may be placed upon clearing house associations through the new system. The reserve board will have much power over such associations, but no one in authority cared today to predict how far it might go toward curtailing their activities. The board, however, is not expected to interfere with the local functions of any such association, but its action may take the line of lessening their grip, particularly in the larger cities.

Loans to Move Crops.

Secretary McAdoo tonight announced the results of the direct loans to banks at crop moving time last fall. Treasury funds were deposited in 192 banks in 62 cities in 23 states, to the amount of $37,856,000. The last of the loans were repaid by April 1, the limit set by the treasury. The government received as interest at 2 per cent a total of $260,000, representing a clear profit. Mr. McAdoo said the amount required by banks had been much less than he expected, and attributed this fact to the restoration of confidence when it became known that the treasury was ready to render such assistance.

PHANTOMS IN COURT TELL THEIR STORY

Finally, he started coming home late. He came home one night and his wife had gone to her mother's. He went after her, and there was a quarrel. They made it up. They were more. There was one they didn't make up. The woman stayed at her mother's for a week. The men got drunk, and lost his job. Then he heard of another job in Birmingham, and went there. Pretty soon he was a tramp. That's what he is today: a tramp. Satisfied? Yes, for his wife, she's satisfied as she'll ever be. She got married and satisfied her vanity. What more do you want?"

Any Excuse Would Do.

"But about the poker?"

The phantom gave an unpleasant chuckle.

"Oh, about that! Why, the last time she wrote him she said if there's not any objection to her testifying that he'd quieten her. He wrote back, 'testify to anything.' And there you are."

"Decree granted!" came from the bench. Another case had gone through the mill. There was a suppressed sigh behind the visitor's back. It was another phantom—a woman this time.

"Her husband just got a divorce on grounds of desertion," explained the stout phantom.

"He drove me to it!" cried the woman. She burst into tears. "I stood it as long as I could! But he drove me to it."

"A particularly interesting case," said the stout phantom. "Let me explain briefly: She was married to a young fellow who was quite brilliant and extremely proud of himself. You noticed him on the witness stand—rather good looking, and so kind and honest looking that the jury believed every word he said. I suppose he believed it, too. Well, the truth of that case is that the young fellow found that a wife hampered him. Wives always do hamper one, of course. He never admitted to himself that she hampered him. No, not for a moment. Nor did he ever tell his wife that. Ah! he was clever. He knew what he did was to convince himself that she did not love him. He was clever ones all do it. Look at that woman—she loves him yet. Why, she worshiped the ground he walked on. But he didn't want to think so. And the way he proved to himself that she didn't love him was to fix his demands so high that no woman in the world could answer them. Then, when she didn't meet them, he told himself—silently, mind you—that she didn't love him. After awhile he began telling her. Then he became jealous."

The visitor looked at his watch.

Nagged Her Into Leaving.

"Well, I won't go into details. You've got the groundwork. He finally nagged her into leaving him. It's easy to do when you know how. And, sure enough, up she went, a minute ago, when he got off the witness stand, that young man was thoroughly convinced he was a martyr, and that his wife had always detested him."

The stout phantom shook his head.

"Decree granted!" came from the bench. Another case had gone through. Judge Ellis was speaking.

But at this moment Mr. Burdette's voice rang out:

"Court's adjourned." The phantoms instantly vanished, the stout one, with a last derisive chuckle.

"Thirty-two cases today," said the deputy. "Twenty-two of them were up for second hearing. That's twenty-two final decrees. Some day's work."

But, in the visitor's ear, there still rang the parting chuckle of the derisive phantom.

Council Gets Rude Shock When Nutting Leads Fight To Sustain Mayor's Veto

Evidence of hostility between Mayor James G. Woodward and Jesse B. Lee, fifth ward councilman, cropped out in the general council meeting yesterday afternoon when Lee led a forlorn fight to override the executive veto of the proposal to transfer the old Marietta school lot to the park department.

Friends of the mayor and a few who have consistently opposed him rallied to the support of the veto. It was sustained by a vote of 18 against 7.

Members of council were given a great surprise during the debate on the mayor's veto message when Alderman James R. Nutting, before considered as Woodward's bitterest foe, took the floor and argued eloquently in defense of the executive's action.

Nutting Explains Vote.

"I think this is the first time I have not voted to override the mayor," Alderman Nutting declared. "I have consistently voted against him; but in this instance I believe that he is right, and whenever I believe he is right I am going to support him."

When councilmen and aldermen recovered from this they whispered over their desks to each other, and in a spirit of jest Councilman Sam S. Shepard, of the third, who is also regarded as a foe of the mayor, offered a resolution urging the appointment of a committee of three to investigate the cause of the apparent friendly feelings between the mayor and Alderman Nutting. Mayor Pro Tem. Ragsdale appointed Alderman Maddox and Councilmen Lee and Hall to make the investigation, but subsequently, when the committee asked for an appropriation of $1,000 to be taken from the sixth ward's street improvement fund to defray the expenses of the investigation, the chair dismissed the committee.

The sixth ward, by the way, is Alderman Nutting's ward.

Mayor Woodward based his veto of the resolution authorizing the transfer of the Marietta school lot, which is valued at approximately $6,000, to the park department on the contention that the resolution was irregular, and he urged council to allow the property to remain within its control. To transfer the property to the park board would have meant that should council ever want to revert it to some other purpose it would be opposed by the park board.

Wants Lot for Warehouse.

Since the creation of the office of purchasing agent, the city council complains of buying large quantities of material when the markets are low. This will require a warehouse for storing material, and for the purpose of the mayor and Purchasing Agent Chambers to have the warehouse erected on the school lot which fronts on railroad property and which is regarded as not being ideal for park purposes.

Councilman Lee was aided in his fight by Alderman Maddox, who argued that the fifth ward did not want a warehouse building, but desired a park on the school site. Alderman Thomas also joined in the movement to override the mayor.

After the vote was counted, but before Clerk Taylor announced the result, Alderman Maddox asked the privilege of changing his vote and was recorded as sustaining the mayor's veto.

The line-up was as follows:

To sustain veto: Aldermen Seawright, Kelley, McDonald, Maddox, Nutting and Armistead; Councilmen Alverson, Knight, McCord, Hall, Ashley, Farlinger, Sisson, Colcord, Dallas, Humphrey, White and Smith—18.

To override: Aldermen Thomson and Owens; Councilmen Wardlaw, Lee, Boynton, Wood, Shepard—7.

Mayor Vetoes Resolution.

Mayor Woodward also returned, without his approval, the resolution authorizing Chief of Construction Clayton to advertise for bids for material for sewers and streets.

The mayor took the position that council's ordinance creating the office of purchasing agent takes from the various departments the power to make departmental purchases. In the interim between meetings of council the construction department proceeded under the resolution and last Friday opened bids for material. Monday afternoon the street committee proceeded to award the contracts to the lowest bidders.

Council was very nearly divided on the veto, and after considerable discussion the veto was referred to a committee composed of Alderman Kelley, chairman of streets; Councilman Lee, chairman of sewers, and Assistant Attorney Ellis. This committee returned a report urging that the bids accepted by the construction department be recommended to the purchasing agent for acceptance, thus obviating the necessity of putting the veto to a vote.

The committee's report was adopted.

Council then ordered the mayor's veto sustained. By this action council passed the bids up to the purchasing agent. The bids will no doubt be accepted on the recommendation.

Brickbats for Lee.

When Mayor Woodward was informed of Councilman Lee's attitude toward his veto he smiled.

"I knew when I appointed him no many committee appointments that it would turn his brain," the mayor remarked. "However, I am not worried about him. He is, in so far as his committee appointments are concerned, an accident. Had the other two members of the fifth ward shown a disposition to work in harmony with the administration, Councilman Lee would not have received a single appointment. I realized that the job I gave Lee was too heavy for his shoulders."

KISS IS A SMALL THING, BUT IT CAUSED TRAGEDY

So Woman Says in Telling About the Osculatory Habits of a Parson.

New York, April 6.—Three women testified today in the secret ecclesiastical trial of Dr. Jacob R. Price, the Methodist clergyman charged with improper conduct toward nine women members of his congregation. Mrs. Hilma Dohl testified that Dr. Price had made her an improper proposal; Mrs. Duke Moore said the clergyman had kissed her after a prayer for her husband's conversion, and Miss Prudence Dohl corroborated testimony of her mother, Mrs. Dohl, that efforts had been made to keep her from appearing again as a witness against Dr. Price.

The committee in charge of the trial announced tonight that the end of the inquiry was expected tomorrow, and that the report of the findings of the committee would come before the New York Methodist conference Wednesday.

Mrs. William Moore, a witness, told in a vivid way how a kiss from Dr. Price led to what she called a tragedy in her home.

"A kiss is a small thing—sometimes," she said, "but in my home it grew into a tragedy."

She related the incident caused the failure of an aim which she had long been trying to fulfill—the religious conversion of her husband.

"I had just managed to get him interested and a storm in the point of beginning regular attendance at the church when this awful episode happened," she said. "Dr. Price came to condole with me on the affliction which had visited my mother-in-law. As we arose from prayer he kissed me on the cheek, afterwards saying it would be not to tell my husband about it.

"As a matter of fact, he found out, of course, and a storm followed."

Here she asked the jury if they thought she was justified in keeping the fact from her husband. One juryman said her motives at least were honorable. Counsel for Dr. Price asked if she had made any movement that might have been interpreted as an invitation, but on the protest of Mrs. Moore the question was stricken out.

ESTABLISH A CHAPTER OF RED CROSS HERE

Charles Jenkinson, director of the Atlantic division of the American Red Cross society, is in the city for the purpose of organizing a Red Cross chapter in Atlanta and to institute courses of instruction in the schools of first aid to the injured for the local police and fire department.

The Atlanta chapter of the Red Cross will be organized Thursday night at the Piedmont hotel. Mr. Jenkinson will interview the police commissioners this afternoon and the commissioners tonight and explain the Red Cross courses for the care of the injured. He is endeavoring to have an ordinance passed providing for the instruction of the two departments in these courses. Mr. Jenkinson will also urge the schools and large corporations to use these courses.

Burton to Quit Senate.

Washington, April 6.—Senator Burton, of Ohio, in a formal statement tonight announced he would not be a candidate for re-election "unless circumstances arise which I do not anticipate will occur." The senator said that after more than twenty years in congress he was not anxious to return, and that someone who had been less involved in factional dissensions of the last two years might be more favorably regarded as the candidate of the republican party.

Purse Snatcher Busy.

At the front door of her home, Miss Helen Sallbs, of 11 Hill street, was robbed of her pocketbook at 9:30 o'clock Monday night by a negro purse-snatcher. Miss Sallbs was walking home with her sister, Mrs. J. E. George. The negro asked them a question in regard to an address. Before they could answer, he grabbed Miss Sallbs's pocketbook out of her hand and ran. The pocketbook contained $6. The negro is described as of medium height. He was wearing a blue suit.

AT THE THEATERS.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

After a conference with the sporting editor, the critic is authorized to announce the first act of the sets at the Forsyth to finish well up in front in the popularity contest this week:

Alexander's Kids, The Verigraph and Arthur Deagon.

The method by which this selection was reached is hereby explained in order that all may see there was no collusion, and that every act was given a fair and long "looking before the above-mentioned three were announced.

For Alexander's Kids, the sporting editor, who saw the night performance, is mainly responsible. He mentioned them first of all, and in so emphatic a tone that the critic was aware at once that any discussion would put an end to the conference. The Kids are clever at that look-mate, especially the "On the Way to Mexico" one, sing fairly well, and dance their way into the hearts of the folks front row who have children.

The critic who witnessed the afternoon performance wished the Verigraph into the running. This optical sensation shows that there is something new under the sun. The main difference between the Verigraph pictures and other pictures is that in those presented at the Forsyth this week every object is shown in its proper height. The view of the photographer taking a picture while sitting on a steel beam, about thirty stories above New York, is enough to make a man or woman want to see the Verigraph again.

As to Deagon, there was a unanimity of opinion. He is the funniest man on the local stage this week. The critic was of the opinion that he was great all the way from his jag song to the dance with the "Merry" lady. The sporting editor remarked that the applause was terrific at night, when Deagon began to tell about the card game and the fourth ace he needed, and about the jack he got anyway, the act is worth seeing two times in a row, and then if you can get a pass.

Now to pass on to some other acts that are billed as headliners and aid in drawing "O. O." crowds to the theater. Reference is made to Ray Cox and to Cora Corsen's "Girls of the Golden West."

Miss Cox and her pianist—he is a good one, too—were cordially received, but the audience did not go into raptures about them Monday afternoon. There is but little variety to the selection of songs which usually lands the coonsiana in clover, but Miss Cox has a most pleasing voice, and her characterization of the "girl who worked over the matches from morning to night for five a week" is excellent. As for the arrangement, finish to her act, it pleased some people.

"The Girls of the Golden West," who close the bill, present a varied and pleasing program. To lovers of music the number has more appeal. Mlle. LaCroix opens the bill. Her work is hard. "Piling the Furnace" gets many a laugh.

All in all, it's a good bill and will draw well all the week.

"Driven From Home."

(At the Bijou.)

Interspersed with clever specialties, "Driven From Home," a thrilling melodrama with its scenes laid in the lumber country of the northwest, was given before a crowded house last night at the Bijou by Eddie Black and his associate players. The play was a favorite from the start. Miss Marie Claires violin playing in the second act, and the singing of the Lumberjack quartet in the third, were features that were received with enthusiasm by the big audience.

This week Eddie Black is appearing in one of his favorite roles, that of a darky. He was a scream last night. Baby Hazel Johnson is also making a hit, not only as a player, but also as a singer. Edwin Vail was very effective in the part of Bert Johnson. Frank Dare, Newton Rose, H. Turner and Walter VanDyke gave a clever portrayal of themselves. Miss Alice Delano gave a clever portrayal of a difficult role, while Miss Anna Brandt, the little soubrette, appeared in blackface and made much of a somewhat small character part.

Miss Claire, the leading woman, was charming in the role of Kittie Wells. Miss Marguerite Bonsell and Tim Carter both appeared to advantage.

The Old "O—Fluck, my boy, pluck; first and last: that is the one essential to success in business.

The Young "Un—Oh, of course. I quite understand that. The trouble is finding some one to pluck.—Cuban Times.

"Stock Completely Sold Out"

That will express the condition of affairs as regards the new Encyclopaedia Britannica in a very few days. Meanwhile immediate delivery following receipt of order can be promised, but at the present rate at which the work is selling, the stock on hand will not last longer than the 21st of April.

IN the case of most things that you need and are thinking of buying, it is possible to assume the leisurely attitude and rest upon the comfortable assurance that "some day" will do just as well as to-day. Unfortunately, this does not apply to things for which the demand is greater than the supply.

Eight times it has been necessary to print the new Encyclopaedia Britannica, and some 16 presses have been constantly running for more than two years. Very soon there will be a shortage of stock, due to the announcement that the present extremely favorable prices can no longer be continued. The daily volume of business has doubled within a month, because many of those who have been promising themselves that they would buy the work "some day"—have decided to translate intention into action—and are registering their orders now, so as to be certain of immediate delivery of the books.

THE above four headings describe in bold outlines a situation that has a personal interest for every thoughtful reader of this newspaper; namely, the fulfillment of the published announcements that have appeared from time to time.

(1) That the present low prices of the new Encyclopaedia Britannica were "temporary;"

(2) That these low prices were designed to effect a large and rapid sale among all classes of book-buyers;

(3) That because of the large investment necessary to make this entirely new summary of all human knowledge, a legitimate financial return could not be earned unless future buyers were made to pay higher prices, and

(4) That a definite date would be announced after which the present low prices would be discontinued and a new schedule of higher prices would go into effect.

In England the prices were increased on December 20th last, and the work is now selling there at the advanced prices, but owing to the much larger territory to be covered in this country and in Canada an extension was granted by the Syndics of the Cambridge University Press until May 28th.

Until then, therefore, anybody can buy the new Encyclopaedia Britannica direct from the publishers and pay much less money for it than he would pay if it had been sold in the usual way through booksellers.

to take advantage of the present low prices. The Last Chance the public will have to get the most authoritative, as well as the most comprehensive work of universal reference ever published, before the advance in the prices as above, is now only a matter of a few weeks.

More than 58,000 sets have been sold. All classes have bought it. Scholars and business men, millionaires and wage-earners; farmers, intelligent mechanics and store-keepers have praised it as no other work of the kind was ever praised. It is a book of universal appeal and universal usefulness, and all you need pay now to get the complete set, with a bookcase, is $5.00.

A BOOK FOR EVERYBODY --- ON TERMS FOR EVERYBODY

THE new Encyclopaedia Britannica is not a rich man's book, but it is a book primarily for all ordinarily intelligent persons of moderate means. If it were published for the rich only a very few copies would be sold, the venture would not yield a profit, and the price for a set would run into thousands of dollars. At such a price its publication would serve no useful purpose. It would, in fact, defeat the very object for which the book was originally designed, namely, the dissemination of useful knowledge among all classes of the public. The contents of this new 11th edition, as of all previous editions since the first (Edinburgh, 1768), have to do with the vast body of essential knowledge upon which the activities of our busy world in every direction are based. The province of the book is world-wide, and its appeal is, therefore, to every class. No one need feel that he cannot buy it—the monthly payment system points the way; $5.00 in cash with the order will bring you the 29 beautifully printed volumes on India paper and bound in leather.

JUDGMENT!

The whole country is rightly demanding of the interstate commerce commission an early decision with regard to the railroad rate cases.

The early part of last week we were told the verdict was to be expedited.

Now comes the intimation that Mr. Brandeis and his theories are again on the job and that the verdict is likely to be delayed.

This sort of business is piddling, while the progress of business is halted.

Whether the commission decides for or against the petition for a nominal increase in freight tariffs is not the most pertinent point.

Decision as against indecision, certainty as against uncertainty, is the imperative requirement.

For about two years, and at intervals, the commission has had these cases under advisement. In that period, not only the railroads, but business also has been on the grill.

It is uncertainty that keeps business from swinging to normal. Underlying bases of prosperity never were better. But there is going to be no booming ahead at full speed until business leaders know whether the railroads are going to be allowed to enter the market for supplies and labor, or whether they must adjust themselves to existing conditions.

If the commission cannot reach an equitable decision, with the aid of two years' accumulation of facts, it will not be able to do so ten years hence.

It is extremely kind of Mr. Brandeis to volunteer to assume all the functions of the commission. He turns with equal facility from the regulation of trusts to the revolutionising of finance, from the dragooning of congress to the best way to "speed up" a pants factory. He may not know anything more about the operation of railroads than a tom-cat does about grand opera, but he doesn't hesitate to lay out a beautifully-embossed set of blue-print theories on "how to do it," guaranteed under the pure-food-and-Brandeis-law. Now, if Brother Brandeis and his theories are to control—if he is to be the Pooh Bah or the Lord High Executioner—even that will be better than continued uncertainty.

But every day the commission holds off decision, every day it protracts uncertainty, penalises every business interest in this country.

If Brandeis is to be the Boss, the sooner the country knows it the better!

If the commission is going to mercifully chloroform his theories, we ought to know that also.

Above all, end indecision! For or against, what the country wants from the commission is—

Judgment!

ONE OF THE BEST SIX.

Apropos a recent editorial in which "Life," the national weekly, classified The Constitution as one of the best six standard American newspapers, The Constitution is in receipt of the following letter:

"Editor Constitution: The estimate of "Life" touching The Constitution expresses my sentiments entirely, especially since I have been and am now a reader and subscriber of your paper since its first issue, in July, 1868.

"SAMUEL MEYER.
"59 West Eleventh St., Atlanta Ga."

Mr. Meyer, a pioneer citizen of Atlanta, is a conservative and successful business man who enjoys the respect of those who have long known him, as well as of the younger generation. He is a type of the man who helped make Atlanta.

To give the news succinctly, fairly, quickly, surely; to advocate sound public policies, in the teeth, sometimes of passing prejudice; to avoid narrowness or provincialism; to "plug" everlastingly for the permanent development of city, state and country; to shun filth and squalor in the news; to refuse to cater to vulgar or morbid or prurient instincts; to decline to invade privacy; to decline to capitalize the allurements of vice, the pitiful tragedy of misery; to avoid hysteria—that is and long has been the creed of The Constitution.

America is a nation of stupendous size and the whole scale of tastes. There is no doubt room for both the sane and the insane type of newspaper, but The Constitution would not feel that it was entitled to the distinction of being regarded as the "standard southern newspaper" if it did not merit classification with the sane type of modern journalism.

ADMIRAL AND "JACKIE."

Secretary of the Navy Daniels has put the admiral and the bluejacket on the same plane from the standpoint of sheer manhood.

Such is the effect of his order decreeing that liquor is not to be kept on board war vessels and at naval stations, for either officers or enlisted men.

The long-standing rule of the navy has been that while the enlisted man may be court-martialed if liquor is found in his quarters, the officers of the quarterdeck can join in a "wine mess," including all sorts of alcoholic beverages on board ship.

The spectacle of enlisted men court-martialed for a practice to which officers were invited constitutes a contradiction without justification in rhyme or reason.

The secretary bases his order on a recommendation of the surgeon general who declares that liquor on shipboard is antagonistic to efficiency.

This means that temperance wins its way in the navy not from sentimental, but from economic motives. The secretary does not say that officers or men shall sign the pledge, but he puts them both upon the same footing, where it comes to alcoholic indulgence on board or "in the reservation."

His order is democratically American, in that it places no fictitious values upon manhood.

WE STAND PAT!

The Augusta Chronicle, in very cordially commending the selection of Atlanta as the regional reserve bank center for this territory, says:

> But the three Atlanta papers are at wide variance as to where the bulk of the credit belongs. Here is the line-up:
>
> Constitution: The Atlanta Spirit won it.
>
> The Journal: "All credit for bringing the regional bank to Atlanta belongs solely to Senator Hoke Smith."
>
> The Georgian: William Randolph Hearst's magnificent and unselfish work brought the regional bank to Atlanta."
>
> The committee was composed of hard-headed business men, who let sentiment have no play.

The Constitution stands pat in holding that the real controlling factor in this fight for Atlanta was Atlanta itself and the fact that the state was back of the city in the contest.

Atlanta got the bank because Atlanta was entitled to it by the very logic of the situation and whenever the Atlanta Spirit gets back of any logical and reasonable proposition it always wins!

It won in the old days, when The Constitution was the only newspaper spokesman of the same old Atlanta Spirit, just as it now shares the honor with others.

And in the old days, as now, it was the Atlanta Spirit that did the work, just as it did it this time.

Condolences to New Orleans, with wishes for better luck next time, when she isn't up against Atlanta.

Prosperity awaits the magic word from the interstate commerce commission and the organization committee of the currency system.

Congressmen have refused to reduce their own mileage rate. The cost of living is also rising.

State politics is what Sherman said about war.

As a chronic kicker, La Follette quickly regains form.

Atlanta employers will make a good civic and business investment by allowing their employees to retain membership in the Fifth regiment.

We are now asked if the Monroe doctrine is "obsolete." Ask Huerta.

The Important Man.

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

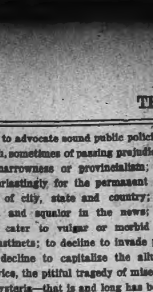
You are important if you put yourself in the way of important things to be done and do them.

The years, since History began, have produced Dreamers and Air Castle builders, whose imaginary achievements would have astounded the world had they actually put their mind pictures into reality. But all along, such have breathed out their span and died ordinary and unknown.

The Important Man is he who puts his Dreams and great Imaginations into Works.

The men who pave our streets and plough our soil, and run our machines, and write our books—and who do whatsoever useful things that come to hand—are Important Men. The task is not always indicative of the Importance of the Man. But the Man is always indicative of the importance of the task.

Your future Importance depends upon the Importance you place in the things you now do.



TRIAL OF JAMES STEWART.

One of the greatest political trials in the history of Scotland—political because it had to do with two great clans of that country, although murder was the charge—was that of James Stewart, of the Glen. It was the culmination of a feud that had existed between Duke Stewart and the Campbells of Glenure. Whether or not James Stewart was guilty has always remained a mystery, but at any rate he was compelled to pay the penalty on the scaffold. The gibbet was erected near the present Scottish town of Ballachulish Ferry, and Stewart died on November 8, 1752. Colin Campbell had been murdered on the afternoon of May 14 of the same year.

As before noted the clans Stewart and Campbell were at enmity, although the two clans had frequently intermarried. In fact James Stewart and the murdered man were blood relatives. They had been friends in past days in spite of the rivalries. Campbell was a wealthy land owner, and James was one of his tenants and looked after the paying of the rent of other tenants.

Finally, however, the relations became strained, because Campbell insisted on securing his delinquent rents and reproached Stewart as being too lenient with the tenants. Allan Breck, another relative of Stewart, and a sort of stormy petrel, was also held on suspicion as being implicated in the murder.

On May 7 Campbell set out from Edinburg for Fort William on business, and one week later he began the return journey with a party of friends intending to pass the night at the inn at Kintalling, near the scene of an intended eviction. Ballachulish Ferry had just changed hands, and view to the four riders, and the hills of Morven were becoming prominent, when suddenly at a point in the road at the wood of Lettermore, a shot rang out and Mungo Campbell heard Colin exclaim, "Oh, I am dead!"

The nephew turned to seek the assailant, but he had disappeared over a hill in the distance. He started in pursuit, but lost track of him. Another of the party was quickly sent on ahead to secure assistance, while one of them attended the dying man. Twelve persons were arrested on suspicion, including Campbell and Allan Breck. James Stewart and his son, Allan, were taken to Fort William on the 16th of May. Mrs. Stewart made every effort to secure an interview with her husband, but she only succeeded toward the end of June.

At last, on the 6th of July, about seven weeks after his arrest, the monotony of the prisoner's loneliness was broken by the rumble of wheels, and James Stewart was the occupant of three carriages, which were bearing the strenuous days that followed Culloden; James Erskine, sheriff of Perth; Robert Campbell of Asnich; John Campbell, and Sir Simon Fraser.

Many witnesses were examined. An attempt was made to find direct evidence that James had previously endeavored to arrange the murder of Campbell by deputy, but this attempt utterly failed. There was no absolute testimony that James Stewart was the murderer, nor in any way an accessory to it. With the evidence regarding Allan Breck it must be admitted that there was a strong presumption that if he was not the actual murderer, he was far from being blameless.

At length all the speeches were finished. All that the skill of the prisoner's counsel could do had been accomplished. No record of any summing up is in existence, and probably none took place. The jury brought in a verdict against which James Stewart was sent for to hear his doom pronounced. The verdict condemned the prisoner to be taken to Ballachulish, and there to be hanged, his body thereafter to be suspended by chains.

In a few manly words the prisoner protested his innocence, his readiness to die, and that the skill of the prisoner's counsel could do had been accomplished. All Along the Line With George Fitch

Submarine Boats.

A submarine boat is a boat which dives below the surface of the water and occasionally comes back.

Submarines were invented during the civil war by the confederates and proved to be one of the most damaging of weapons for the Union forces. As fast as enough superheroic rebels could be gathered together to man a submarine, they would take it down below the surface for a trial trip. Later it would be raised by a derrick and the coroner would kindly report a verdict of accidental death.

Since then submarines have been greatly improved and it is now possible to live in them for whole days, while they are lying on the bottom of the sea. However, in the end the result is usually the same. A great many very brave men have been killed by these awful war machines, but unfortunately they have all been inside the vessels.

The submarine is supposed to slip quietly beneath the surface and to come up later beneath a battleship and blow it several thousand miles past Jericho at one blast. Possibly it may do this some day when there is enough war in the world to allow a battleship and a submarine to meet in an unfriendly manner. In the meanwhile, however, the submarine continues to dive peacefully for the bottom and to be there as contentedly as a catfish feeding in the muddy bed of the Missouri river.

The United States owns a large number of submarines which have been far more humane than those of most countries. They travel long distances and do not sink except at the word of command. In the United States, the aeroplane has proven much more fatal to our brave defenders than the submarine, but in foreign nations the self-diving boat is the favorite method of producing quick promotions in the navy.

"A boat which dives below the surface of the water and occasionally comes back."

War is a horrible thing, but not much more terrible than the fear of war, which makes it necessary to stuff a few dozen nervy men into a submarine vessel every few months and lay them away to soak in the bottom of the ocean.

Peru.

Peru is a patch of land as large as Alaska, in the left hand side of South America, looking north. It is a republic of the high-speed rotary type and its present government should be ascertained by looking in the bulletins on the first page.

Peru consists of three parts—desert, mountains and forests. It begins at the Pacific ocean with a strip of desert so dry that Peruvians who go to the Sahara get rheumatism. Back of the desert the Andes rise to a height which almost makes the New York to look squatty. Peru is full of mountain peaks from 20,000 to 22,000 feet high, and whenever a Peruvian and a Chilean begin to dispute about the elevation of their leading mountain peaks the police move hastily in and disarm them.

Half of Peru is forests four or four miles above the rest, and the man who wishes to campaign for office begins his career with a long course in mountain climbing. Railroads in Peru climb higher than aeroplanes in France and mountain sickness is more common than scarlet fever.

Back of the mountains, Peru consists of dense tropical forests through which the anaconda roams unmolested, swallowing juicies of the peace and tax collectors with impunity. The celebrated Amazon river was invented in Peru and flows for its first thousand miles through this country, but Brazil has always gotten credit for it, because the mouth is always a better advertiser than the head.

Hundreds of years ago, Peru was a wonderful country with a stable government and vast garden-like fields. Unfortunately, it was then "discovered" by Spain. This was one of the worst misfortunes which could happen to an early country. After the eminent Mr. Pizarro and wheedled a roomful of gold from the Inca of Peru he burned him alive and then established a civilized government over the Indians. This worked so well that soon there were only about 500,000 of them instead of 8,000,000.

"A republic of the high-speed rotary type."

Peru has been free and independent for almost 100 years and now has a population of about 2,500,000, not counting defeated candidates for president and aspirants for the position, both of whom usually live elsewhere. It produces gold and silver, wool, rubber and the celebrated Peruvian bark, which has no bite to it at all. The national bird of Peru is the llama, which is a woolbearing beast of burden living best three miles high and which spits bile at its enemies like a politician who has been cursed with the goods.

Peru could be a more prosperous country if it could get Tariff Bill "from" Chili which whips it at every opportunity and grabs a little more territory.

He Knew Calmette.

Gaston Calmette, the editor of the Paris Figaro, shot down in his office by Mme. Caillaux, went to his death as the gentleman he was all his life.

When Mme. Caillaux sent in her visiting card and Paul Bourget asked Calmette:

"What are you going to do?"

"C'est une femme," answered Gaston Calmette, "Je dois la recevoir!" (She is a woman and I ought to receive her.)

And those words were his death sentence.

I had the pleasure of meeting the late Gaston Calmette and the impression remained with me that he was the most perfect type of the gentleman editor."

Lives Lost by Laughing.

An accident, said to be the most extraordinary on record, occurred at some oil fields in the Baku district of Russia, on the borders of the Caspian Sea. One of the big "gusher" oil wells became choked, and, with a view of blowing it clear, a number of iron drums full of nitroglycerin were brought down by rail from Derbend, and deposited over night in a large shed, which was used by the men as a sort of canteen.

The steward of this establishment, a Greek named Darlos, opened one of the drums for some reason best known to himself, and "decanted" a small quantity of the dangerous liquid into a long thin glass used for mixing vodka. This he placed on a shelf behind the bar. Shortly afterward there occurred a weather storm, during which, who was famous for the boisterous hilarity of his manner, and especially for his loud, resonant laughter.

The sight of nitroglycerin in a vodka tumbler so excited his risibility that he gave vent to a series of sternorian guffaws. This set the half-filled glass "rising," and the treacherous contents immediately exploded. The concussion sufficed, in its turn, to explode the rest of the stuff in the drums, entirely demolishing the shed and killing five persons, all who were in it at the time. The barman escaped through having gone down into the cellar just previously, whence he distinctly heard the laughter, followed by the musical "ringing" of the thin tumbler and the two explosions.

DAILY GRIST from the STATE'S POLITICAL GRIND

THE AKERMAN CASE MAKES DEMOCRATS AT CAPITAL TAKE NOTICES

Special to The Constitution.

Washington, April 6.—(Special.)—The Georgia delegation is sitting up and taking notice over The Constitution editorial, "The Case of Akerman," who seems to be settling down to a life tenure as district attorney for the southern district of Georgia. Comment is widespread that pressure will be brought to bear on the president to let Akerman out and substitute for him a democratic district attorney.

One representative said to me, today, discussing the editorial:

Hurts Party, Chances.

"I have been wondering how Mr. Wilson and other high officials could reconcile again their own consent to keep Akerman in office.

"If Akerman is retained in office it is likely to damage the interests of the democratic party in Georgia, and it certainly will be prejudicial to the esteem in which the administration is now universally held in Georgia.

Not Spoils, But Justice.

"I say this, not from the point of view of a spoilsman, but as a southern democrat. I know it to be a fact that Akerman is personally offensive to democrats in my district.

"They resent a man who has done so much to perpetuate the worst brand of republicanism in Georgia being continued in an office which, to them, is as a place of vantage to work further harm to the democrats and advance the cause of the black-and-tan G. O. P. element.

"The contention that Pratt Adams, of Savannah, should not succeed to the office unless he severs his legal connection with his father, is flimsy and inconsistent. Right now I could name a score of federal district attorneys who maintain lucrative private connections."

Scheduled for Retirement.

If the attitude of the Georgia delegation and of other senators with whom I have talked is indicative, Akerman is scheduled to early retirement.

At least, considerable pressure will be brought to bear in the right quarters to produce this effect.

It is significant, also, that even republican leaders are surprised and nonplussed at the reappointment of Akerman, while the republican appointee in the northern district was retired months ago.

HON. L. G. HARDMAN ENTERS RACE; SCRAMBLE FOR GOVERNORSHIP BEGINS

The next interesting thing on the political program, ladies and gentlemen—the word ladies is used advisedly, for women folks are taking quite an interest in politics these days—is the scramble for the governorship.

And the latest news in this connection is the announcement that the Hon. L. G. Hardman, of Commerce, has decided to make the race. Dr. Hardman is well known in Georgia politics and for some years was representative from Jackson county.

Dr. Hardman's announcement makes two positive entries. J. Randolph Anderson, of Chatham, is the race. He has not as yet given out a formal statement, but weeks ago he stated that he would make the race provided Hon. Hoke Smith ran for the senate.

The announcement of W. C. Vereen, of Moultrie, is also expected at any time. Later on still others will crop out.

The news of Dr. Hardman's announcement was contained in the following dispatch:

Commerce, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—Hon. L. G. Hardman, of Commerce, Ga., has decided to enter the race for governor and his platform will be furnished to the press tomorrow.

Dr. Hardman formerly represented Jackson county in the legislature for several terms. He also represented the thirty-third senatorial district in the state senate. Dr. Hardman was the father of the present prohibition bill, and has recently been urged by his friends throughout the ninth congressional district to enter the race for congress from this district, but greater pressure has been brought to bear upon him from all over the state to enter the race for governor and he has definitely decided to do so.

SLATON WILL NOT RESIGN UNTIL AFTER THE PRIMARY

Governor John M. Slaton announced Monday that he would not resign as governor until after the primary of August 19, and that if he is nominated for the position of senator his resignation would not be forthcoming until some time in October.

"I feel it my duty to remain in office and take part in legislation that will come up at the next session of the general assembly. By the time the legislature has adjourned I will have accomplished all I can accomplish, and there will be no more sessions of the legislature during my term of office."

Governor Slaton spent one of the busiest sort of days Monday. The entire state had been watching and waiting for his decision in the senatorial succession matter and just as soon as his decision became known messages began to flash over the wires from all parts of the state and scores of letters, pledging hearty support and assuring him of every possible effort on his behalf, were written on Sunday and received Monday. To answer all of these letters kept Secretaries Perry and Ulm and several stenographers busy during the entire day.

The tension of the past week or ten days was over, but there was plenty of hard work to take its place. As the campaign progresses this work is going to increase by leaps and bounds.

DECISION WAS NOT REACHED UNTIL THE VERY LAST MOMENT

Contrary to the general impression which prevailed throughout Saturday, Governor Slaton stated emphatically Monday that he did not fully make up his mind to make the race for senator until that night.

For the first time he spoke of the matter in detail Monday:

"Up to the very last moment I did not make up my mind. During Saturday I had no conference with Senator West and I had no idea of his intentions. I had stated publicly that I would not make the race if he cared to do so and that is all I did say.

"During Saturday I did not see Senator West and held no conversation with him. About 6 o'clock in the afternoon a number of my friends from all sections of the state—some thirty or forty of them who are prominent in their respective sections—gathered at my office and we went over the situation. It was the consensus of opinion that I should make the race, but even then I did not make up my mind. It was only when I received a telephone communication from Senator West in which he stated that he had decided not to make the race that I fully made up my mind. I had this talk with him about 6 o'clock that night, but I did not announce my decision formally until about 10 o'clock next morning.

Governor Slaton said he would issue his formal statement to the voters of Georgia within the next day or so.

FELDER GOES TO WASHINGTON TO GET AN INJUNCTION

While Governor Slaton is busy looking after his senatorial interests, Solicitor General Attorney General Thomas S. Felder has gone to Washington to secure a permanent injunction against the Ducktown Sulphur, Copper and Iron company (limited) to prevent the fumes of the plant from encroaching on Georgia lands. This is an original case and is not to be confused with the case of the Tennessee Copper company, which is under contract with the state to pay for damages done by fumes.

FRIENDS OF COL. CRUM WANT HIM NAMED AS DISTRICT ATTORNEY

Cordele, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—Senator W. S. West is being urged by friends among the local bar and other citizens to consider the appointment of Colonel D. A. R. Crum, of this city, as district attorney for the southern district of Georgia. On his way to his home at Valdosta from Washington Saturday, Senator West was met by a large delegation at the passenger depot on behalf of the candidacy of Colonel Crum.

However, expressing himself as being under obligations to consider the recommendation of the late Senator Bacon, naming Mr. Adams, of Savannah, for the place, Senator West also expressed the opinion that an appointment to the office should be made at once, discussing certain reasons why the recommendation of Senator Bacon could not be affirmed by the president at this time.

TWO PRIMARIES MAY BE HELD FOR WARE COUNTY OFFICES

Waycross, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—By fixing the state primary at August 19 the executive committee of Georgia named a date for Ware county's second primary, the county committee having decided some time ago agreed to hold the second primary, if one should be found necessary, on the same date as the state primary. The first primary is set for May 20.

It is understood that the rules for the county primary will be practically the same rules as used in the city primaries last fall. These rules, if adopted, will prohibit the use of whisky, carriages, automobiles or money in any way. Any candidate found guilty of violating any of the rules will be declared ineligible and the candidate next to him declared the nominee.

BALDWIN COUNTY PRIMARY DATE IS CHANGED TO MAY 1

Milledgeville, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—The date of the Baldwin county primary has been changed by the committee from May 6 to Friday, May 1. The former date conflicted with the democratic primary at Jacksonville, and many veterans, who always attend, petitioned for the change.

The office county commissioner is the most sought, as there are as many as eight or ten candidates announced for the three places. This contest is growing heated. All of the old board are asking re-election and new aspirants are making a stubborn fight.

There are other contests, but they are overshadowed by the commissioners' scrap.

SHORT CAMPAIGN DISCOURAGES CANDIDATES IN FLOYD COUNTY

Rome, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—The prospect of a short campaign has somewhat discouraged possible candidates for county office. The primary is to be held on April 28, and the books close on April 17.

The only new candidate to announce since the fixing of the date of the primary is C. H. Mull, who is a candidate for county commissioner. J. B. Sullivan is also expected to be a candidate.

For tax collector, John M. Vandiver, the incumbent, is opposed by Leonard G. Todd, a Rome business man. Tax receiver, J. Tom Jenkins, has as his opponents, T. B. Hendricks and Zack Salmon. Sheriff W. G. Dunahoo is opposed by Joseph R. Barnes, one of his deputies. J. Scott Davis, of Cave Spring, is making a second term, his opponent being W. O. Connor. Coroner John Miller will run again, and L. D. B. Acock is in the field for this place. Judge John H. Reece, of Floyd city court, will probably not seek another term. J. J. Dunnaway, representative from Floyd county in the legislature, is an aspirant for this place. To date no announcement has developed to D. W. Simmons, clerk of the superior court, and to T. B. Owens, county treasurer.

REAL ESTATE MARKET GETS HUNCH FROM THE SUNDAY CONSTITUTION

Yesterday was the briskest day the real estate market of Atlanta has had for a year. Realty experts attribute the effect to the stimulus of last Sunday's Constitution, full to the gunwales with real estate projects and news stories of real estate developments.

All Monday the phones were ringing in the offices of real estate men, callers were frequent and the mail was heavy with inquiries for particulars about the promising openings described in Sunday's Constitution.

The Needed Hunch.

"The Constitution last Sunday," said one of the progressive men in the local help "gave the real estate situation the needed hunch to put vitality into it.

"For several months things have more or less lagged. We have had nibbles, but no good, strong trend toward buying. Today reminds me of old times, and I look for the tendency to get stronger every day from now on."

Space at a Premium.

Space was at a premium in Sunday's Constitution.

The real estate men descended on the news and advertising columns with a vengeance.

They necessitated the adding of many additional pages to carry the story of their wares.

The result speaks in the customers they handled yesterday.

25,000 to a Bunch.

So valuable did one dealer regard the facts and arguments contained in the edition that he put in a personal order for 25,000 copies of The Constitution.

These copies will be used not only locally but in every part of the country where the fame of Atlanta and the possibilities of Atlanta dirt are known and are appreciated.

As a result of the presentation made in The Constitution real estate experts look for an early resumption of activity at full swing.

CHAMBER LEADERS ASK AID FOR FIFTH

Wilkinson and Moore Declare That Atlanta Cannot Afford to Lose This Organization.

President Mell R. Wilkinson, of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, and former President Wilmer L. Moore, now one of the directors of that body, made strong statements yesterday urging Atlanta employers to heed the appeals of the officers of the Fifth regiment infantry, Georgia national guard, and to stand by them to the full extent of their ability in aiding the regiment to retain its integrity and its high standing among the military organizations of the state and the south.

President Wilkinson points out that the United States government offers many advantages to young men to enlist in its military service and he feels that the national guard, which is the main source of protection to the city, county and state, should be afforded every possible encouragement.

"I have read the editorial in Sunday's Constitution urging employers to give their men every possible opportunity in connection with military service," said President Wilkinson said, "and I heartily agree with it. There is no question in my mind that Atlanta's splendid regiment can be recruited and maintained without imposing hardships upon the employers."

Mr. Moore said he could not understand the argument against young men joining the national guard, especially where they use their own time for drill and where their absence from duty as a result of military service is, at most, a brief one.

"Atlanta must not let the Fifth be broken," said Mr. Moore. "Just as strong as language can put it, I want to say that it is not only our duty, but it should be our pleasure, to maintain the Fifth at full strength. Our Atlanta employers are not unreasonable. They know the necessity for a strong national guard as the surest check upon mob law and disorder, and while many of them are already permitting their employees to enlist, I have no doubt that practically all the others will follow suit when the matter is properly presented to them."

PLEASANT AND FAIR, WEATHER FORECAST FOR CITY TUESDAY

Following is the Atlanta weather forecast for Tuesday:

In spite of generally cloudy weather in the west, a fair day is indicated for Atlanta and vicinity on Tuesday. The wind will shift to light southerly in the early morning with somewhat higher temperatures, the day opening with 47 a. m. reading about 38 degrees. The temperature will rise above 75 during the day. Toward evening clouds are likely to appear from the west. On the whole, the day will be pleasant and warm.

Three-Story Building For "Cafeteria Man" In Time for Shriners

By the time the Shriners' convention meets in Atlanta J. H. Falk, "the cafeteria man," will have completed the remodeling of the three-story building he has leased at the corner of Forsyth and Alabama streets, for the purpose of opening a combination lunch room, cafe, dance hall and bake shop.

The first floor will be used for an up-to-date lunch room, while the second floor will be occupied by a cafe, where there will be dancing nightly. The bake shop will be on the third floor, and the basement will be used for storerooms.

The success of Mr. Falk from a small beginning is known by thousands who take their meals down town. Besides the place which he has just leased, Mr. Falk is operating lunch rooms and cafes at 142 and 170 Peachtree street and on Washington street viaduct.

BANKERS OF NATCHEZ ARE PLACED IN JAIL

Natchez, Miss., April 6.—Andrew G. Campbell, president; S. H. Lowenberg, first vice president, and H. Lee Wood, second vice president of the suspended First Natchez bank, indicted recently for receiving deposits after the bank was insolvent, went to jail here today in order that a writ of habeas corpus might issue. They were under bond for their appearance tomorrow for trial in the Adams county circuit court. The trial is estopped.

The writ of habeas corpus was granted today by the state supreme court, and is returnable tomorrow before Chancellor Jones at Jackson. Attorneys for the banks contend that Judge Jackson, of the sixth circuit, is disqualified from sitting in the case on the ground that his appointment was not confirmed by the state senate. The question raised involves the legality of the appointment of a number of Mississippi judges.

BOY IS BADLY INJURED, BUT DRIVER SPEEDS ON

Police Are Looking for Negro Whose Wagon Ran Over Reuben Whatley.

A negro driver of a two-horse wagon ran into Reuben Whatley, 14 years old, of 256 Washington street, at the corner of Central avenue and East Mitchell street Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, breaking the boy's shoulder blade and right arm. The driver did not stop, but drove on, without getting out to help the boy, who was knocked to the ground unconscious.

Three white men ran into the street and picked the boy up. One of the three called a Grady hospital ambulance, where the boy was rushed. His brother, Mrs. Mary Whatley, was notified and she arrived at the hospital about the same time the ambulance did.

Mrs. Whatley is anxious to know the name of the negro driver. Her son had just started to work for the Western Union Monday morning as a messenger boy.

SUPREME COURT HOLDS WITH WAYCROSS MAYOR

Waycross, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—Advices reached Waycross today from Washington that the supreme court has upheld a decision rendered by police court here in 1910 by John M. Cox, then mayor, imposing a $100 fine on a traveling representative of a St. Louis lightning rod concern.

The lightning rod company took the position that the city had no right to impose a license. Two Georgia courts sustained the Waycross court. It is claimed that Waycross is the first city that has tackled the lightning rod companies in a license fight.

MILITIA IS ATTACKED BY THE COAL MINERS

Terre Haute, Ind., April 6.—Delegates representing 100,000 coal miners in southern Indiana in convention here today adopted a resolution calling upon President Wilson and congress to "uphold the constitution of the United States" in behalf of the striking miners of Colorado. The resolution declared that the mine operators in that state "have violated every law on the statute books pertaining to mines and mining," characterizes the governor of Colorado as "spineless" and "either powerless or disinclined" to furnish the miners with protection, and asserts that "the corrupt state militia, composed partly of baldwins, thugs and assassins, has trampled upon both constitutions of the United States and Colorado by the arrest of 'Mother' Jones and keeping her in solitary confinement and also by destroying the tent towns of the miners."

The convention, composed of delegates from district No. 11, of the United Mine Workers, met to receive the report of its scale committee on an agreement to be submitted to the operators Thursday for a new wage scale. This report was not reached owing to spirited debate over the question of remaining at work while the negotiations with the operators are in progress.

A motion to compel a shutdown was tabled.

DOMINICAN REVOLT FANNED INTO FLAME

Washington, April 6.—The latest Dominican uprising fanned into flame by General Arias' resentment of the attempt by President Bordas to make a change of governors in Santiago province has resulted in some sharp fighting in Santiago City, according to a belated report received today from Commander Bostwick, on the American gunboat Nashville at Puerto Plata. Under date of April 1, Commander Bostwick reported that fighting between government forces and insurrectionists was raging at Santiago and that the rebels held the castle and part of the town.

Commander Bieren, on the gunboat Wheeling, in southern Dominican waters, reported under date of April 3 that said that hostilities began March 30 at Laveca and Santiago.

ALLEGED FATHER-IN-LAW IDENTIFIES UMBERGER

Savannah, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—Joseph S. Umberger, theatrical man, whose marriage in Savannah some time ago to Miss Carlotta Wickenberg, resulted in his arrest on a charge of bigamy, was indicted by the grand jury today.

He was positively identified by William A. May, of New York, father of the alleged first wife of Umberger.

Umberger's second wife, the one with whom he lived in Atlanta, does not figure in the case, in the bill of indictment he is charged with having married Miss Wickenberg without having first been divorced from his first wife.

CONFERENCE ON RIVERS IN COLUMBUS TODAY

Columbus, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—An important conference is to be held in Columbus tomorrow morning relative to the improvement of the Chattahoochee river under the $20,000,000 project recently adopted by congress. It is expected that the various cities and towns interested will be represented. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Columbus Board of Trade.

In connection with the conference an address is to be made at the courthouse tomorrow morning by Major Earl L. Brown, of Montgomery, in charge of river improvement in this district. He will speak on the practicability of a system of locks and dams on the Chattahoochee between Columbus and Eufaula.

HEAD OF THE W. C. T. U. PASSES AT PORTLAND

Portland, Maine, April 6.—Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, president of the National Woman's Christian Temperance union, died here today. She had been ill for several weeks with kidney trouble.

Mrs. Stevens, who was born in Dover, Maine, 70 years ago, spent the last the temperance work to which she had devoted most of her life. Her mind remained clear and late last week she was able to dictate correspondence in connection with the duties of her office which she had held since 1898. With her when the end came were her husband, Michael Stevens, her daughter, Mrs. Gertrude S. Leavitt, of this city, and Miss Anna Gordon, of Evanston, Ill., vice president of the national W. C. T. U.

A statement dictated by Mrs. Stevens a week ago, with the request that it be made public after her death was read today. It said in part:

"The movement for national constitutional prohibition is meeting with greater favor than I dared to hope on that memorable evening, September 10, 1911, when, on behalf of the world and national W. C. T. U., I made the proclamation.

"I know we are to win. In whatever world I am my activities will be devoted to this end."

When Governor Haines learned of Mrs. Stevens' death, he said:

"Mrs. Stevens had rendered a greater service to mankind than any woman who ever lived in Maine, with the possible exception of Harriet Beecher Stowe."

Funeral services for Mrs. Stevens will be held Wednesday.

JOHN D. SUPREME IN STRIKE DISTRICT

Rockefeller Controls Stock in the Company That Has Caused Strife in Colorado. Son Tells of Holdings.

Washington, April 6.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., told the house mines committee today that his father, John D. Rockefeller, owns about 40 per cent of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, involved in the industrial strife in the Colorado coal fields, and declared the real responsibility for the conduct of corporations lay not only with the stockholders or directors, but with officers of the company.

"In these days, when business interests are so diversified and directors are members of so many boards it is best they can do is to appoint officers and hold them responsible," said Mr. Rockefeller. He said he had not taken any vigorous steps in the strike.

"Don't you think the fact that the governor was found it necessary to take action would warrant you in taking more than a passing interest in the situation?" asked Chairman Foster, of the committee.

Vast Sums Involved.

"I have taken more than a passing interest," said Mr. Rockefeller. "The vast sums of money involved and the great disorder in the field concerned me closely. But I have done all that I could have done. I felt sure the company have been held responsible, and if we are at any time convinced their policies are mistaken we will immediately remove them. I am one of my father's representatives in this, as in other of his personal investments," said Mr. Rockefeller.

Questioned by Representative Byrnes, Mr. Rockefeller outlined his father's holdings in the securities of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company: Common stock, 139,807, out of 342,356 shares, about 40 per cent; preferred stock, 1,243 shares out of 20,000 shares, about 40 per cent. Bonds: Colorado Industrial company 5 per cents, $14,450,000 out of $35,437,000, about 43 per cent; Colorado Fuel and Iron company general 5 per cents $346,000 out of $6,638,000, about 6½ per cent.

Mr. Rockefeller said the only dividends paid by the company were paid in 1913. A cumulative dividend of 8 per cent on the preferred stock had at that time, he said, accumulated to 72 per cent of the contributions that year. He said 25 per cent was paid on the accumulated dividend and 2 per cent on the 8 per cent dividend.

Mr. Rockefeller said interest of his father in the concern was represented in directorate by himself, Starr J. Murphy and John D. Green. J. H. McKenna and L. M. Bowers, he said, were "indirect representatives."

Questioned Closely.

Representative Byrnes questioned Mr. Rockefeller closely as to his indorsing what Bowers had done in dealing with the strike.

"Mr. Bowers is known to us as an able and upright business man and an officer of the company. We trust him in the conduct of the business," said Mr. Rockefeller.

"You are what is called a dummy director, aren't you?" asked Chairman Foster.

"Well, we don't call it that," replied Mr. Rockefeller, who said he did not consider it necessary, in view of the strike, to go to Denver to attend a stockholders and directors' meeting. He said he could keep in touch with the situation well enough by correspondence.

Mr. Rockefeller said he had no time to look into conditions in the Colorado field as to wages and working and living conditions.

"Don't you think a director of a company ought to know these things?" asked the chairman. "Don't you think if he hasn't the time, he ought to have some one in his place who would have time?

"If I thought I were not conscientiously doing my duty I should at once resign," said Mr. Rockefeller, "but my conscience entirely acquits me in this case."

Rockefeller on Labor.

Discussing labor conditions, Mr. Rockefeller said he believed "free American citizens should have the right to choose the employer for whom they shall work, and the conditions under which they shall work."

Ninety per cent of the employees in the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, Mr. Rockefeller said, were nonunion men who had no difficulties with the officers of the company. He said that he "could see no reason why the men should be forced to join a union and pay union dues by the other 10 per cent."

"What is your opinion as to the relation of employes and employer?" asked Chairman Foster.

"I believe that the employer and employes are fellow men and should treat each other as such."

"As a director of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, have you ever investigated conditions among your employes in Colorado?"

"No. I have been trained to act on the reports of trained and competent men who do make investigations. I have received the reports of the men in charge of the work and they have made them responsible," said Mr. Rockefeller. Officers have reported to him that by the end of the present year the strike will have cost $1,000,000. He said he did not know whether any money had been spent to import arms and ammunition into the strike district.

Protecting the Workers.

"But if the state authorities were unable to protect the employees of the company, I should say that the first duty of the officers would be to see that the workers were protected," he added.

"You have spent $250,000 so far in this fight," said Chairman Foster. "you have heard that men, women and children have been shot and killed out there. Don't you think that as a director you might have made a personal investigation of conditions and looked into things there, rather than rely on the officers who were there?

"We stand ready to lose every cent we have invested in that company rather than that the workingmen of this country should lose their right to work for whom they please," said Mr. Rockefeller.

"You'll do that even if you lose all your money and have all your employees killed?" asked Mr. Foster.

"It's a great principle. It's a national issue. And we propose to support the officers in their course, which is in support of the workingmen themselves and their right to work for whom they please and how they please," returned the witness.

Rockefeller's Plan.

Representative Austin, at the afternoon session, asked Mr. Rockefeller if he could make any recommendation as to national legislation on contests between capital and labor.

"Of course, the importance of the question is brought home to all. I have no suggestion to make. Labor and capital must come to know that the interest of both is the interest of each," Mr. Rockefeller replied. He believed that labor should be allowed to organize but "should not be forced to organize." As to question of unionizing the mines he said, was a "great principle" and he did not believe it should be submitted to arbitration. He might consider arbitration, he said, if he could be assured of a fair and unbiased board composed of men, such as federal judges.

Mr. Rockefeller presented all of his correspondence with the officers of the company in Colorado during the strike. The committee decided that personal references in them made them unavailable for the record. Mr. Rockefeller then was excused.

Will Probe the Report Convicts Have Replaced Regular Camp Drivers

A report that the regular drivers at the Adamsville convict camp had been supplanted by convicts, resulted in the receipt Monday by Clifford L. Anderson, chairman of the public works committee, of a letter from T. C. Waters, chairman of the county commissioners, protesting against this departure from the county's policy of having all teaming done by free labor. Mr. Waters requested that the men who had been dropped out be placed back at work immediately, and that, in the future, all county teams of the county be handled by free labor only.

Mr. Anderson said Mr. Waters' letter was the first notification he had had that the changes mentioned had been made.

"There is a new deputy warden at Adamsville," he said, "and I presume he thought convict labor could be applied quite as advantageously to teaming as anything else. However, I am investigating the matter as rapidly as possible, and if I find that the embodied reports are correct shall order the reinstatement of whatever men have been dropped."

FALL CAUSE OF DEATH.

Jury Reaches Verdict in Case of Ed Clower.

A verdict of "death by accidental fall" was returned by Coroner Donehoo at the inquest held Monday morning over the body of Ed Clower, the young white man who was found late Saturday night in front of the American Can company, on Marietta street, in an unconscious condition, caused by a deep cut on his head, which caused his death Sunday afternoon at the Grady hospital, never having regained consciousness.

Absolutely no clue as to Clower's identity could be found on his person, his watch, pocket knife, all personal belongings having been removed from his pockets. This caused the detectives to believe that he had been assaulted and robbed, as his money was also missing, and it was known that Clower was paid off Saturday afternoon by the Walker Roofing company, for which concern he worked as a tinner.

Clower's identity was not disclosed until Sunday night, when his brother, R. A. Clower, of 405 Elm street, came to the hospital seeking for his missing brother.

Civil Service Exams.

Secretary Hare, of the civil service commission for the fifth district, will hold an examination in the federal building on Wednesday and Thursday, April 22 and 23, to secure a reserve and transitman for assignment to service in the general land office or to any vacancies that may occur in any branch of governmental service requiring similar qualifications. The pay ranges from $100 to $110 a month and a graduated per diem in lieu of subsistence, while the surveyor will draw $125 to $150 a month, with a graduated per diem in lieu of subsistence. On Friday and Saturday, April 24 and 25, Secretary Hare will hold examinations to secure inspectors of safety appliances in railroad work. The pay allowed is $1,800 a year, with necessary expenses incurred while absent from headquarters.

SUMMERALL EXPLAINS HOSPITAL OPPOSITION

Several Erroneous Impressions Exist, He Asserts—Further Plans for Campaign.

Dr. W. B. Summerall, superintendent of Grady hospital, asserted before a meeting of the general committee on Grady enlargements yesterday afternoon that one of the chief voices being raised in opposition to the proposed $750,000 bond issue was based on a current delusion that the Grady improvements were meant to benefit a private institution.

The opposition, Dr. Summerall stated, was being promoted by those who had the idea that the Atlanta Medical college was to derive benefit from the Grady improvements, and, that eventually, the medical school planned to assume control of Grady hospital.

"In order to remove opposition," Dr. Summerall said, "we must make ourselves clear on this medical college question. It can be easily done. We must let the public know the facts. The college is not a private institution. It is maintained by a board like ourselves, which does not derive one bit of revenue.

Must Work in Conjunction.

"The only salaried positions are the faculty members, who devote their entire time and effort to the school and its classes. A number of Atlanta's leading physicians devote many hours each week to the school without any pay whatever. In order for a hospital to operate successfully it must be maintained in conjunction with a college of the ranking of the Atlanta Medical college.

"Both the hospital and college depend upon one and the other for support. None of us have selfish motives in seeking these Grady enlargements. But there seems to be a belief afloat that there are ulterior motives in the proposition. Why, not so long ago, I was approached by a councilman who intimated that I wanted the hospital enlarged so that I might thereby gain a bigger salary.

"To set this man's mind at ease, I will say right now that, after this bond issue has been passed, I will give the board of Grady trustees sixty days' notice of my resignation. I say this with the view of putting myself clear and my position."

Bishop Nelson Presides.

Bishop C. K. Nelson presided over the meeting. Publicity methods were outlined, and the Lewis-Seabrook publicity organization selected to promote publicity for the campaign.

A suggestion by Ivan E. Allen to inaugurate a post-card ballot so that the sentiment of the majority of voters could be learned before the issue was put before the people, also met the committee's approval.

The publicity committee is composed of R. L. Foreman, chairman; A. R. Colcord and C. S. Northen. It will be enlarged at once to ten members. Campaign headquarters will be established at an early date in the Chamber of Commerce building.

Another move in the campaign was inaugurated at yesterday's meeting, when it was decided to establish committees in each of the ten wards of Atlanta, which committee will consist of ten men each.

NO POLICE INSPECTOR.

Office Proposed to Check the Frivolous Arrests.

Months ago an ordinance was introduced in council providing for the creation of the office of "inspector of police." The ordinance aimed to put a man at police headquarters to make an investigation into every arrest, and it was so framed that the inspector would have the power to release prisoners arrested for frivolous offenses.

Monday afternoon the ordinance committee returned a report urging that the ordinance not be passed, and the report was sustained. The report did not explain the reason why the ordinance was adversed.

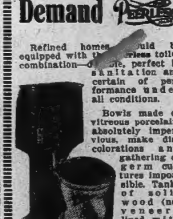
AMEND GAS ORDINANCE.

College Training No Longer Required for Office.

Amendment to the smoke and gas ordinance was authorized by council yesterday afternoon in order that engineers other than college graduates be allowed to take charge of the plants. The ordinance was also amended so as to require incumbents to be citizens of Atlanta.

The ordinance does not interfere with Inspector Poole, the present head of the department. The amendments were offered and urged merely to remove certain restrictions which made it impossible for engineers other than college graduates to aspire for the place. The job pays $2,400 per annum.

Refined Homes Demand



Refined homes should be equipped with the modern toilet combination—the perfect in sanitation and comfort—the utmost performance under all conditions.

Bowls made of vitreous porcelain, absolutely impervious, make discolorations and gathering of germ cultures impossible. Tanks of solid oak wood (not veneer), lined with copper, insure durability and prevent repair bills.

Your plumber will be glad to install Crane Combinations. Be sure your architect and builder specify them. But convince yourself by a first-hand study of these equipments at our showrooms. Five completely equipped bathrooms on display.

Lectures in French.

M. Andre Bellesort, a member of the lecture board of the International Alliance Francaise, and one of the most distinguished Frenchmen among the writers, essayists and critics at the moment, paid a short visit to Atlanta yesterday, lecturing yesterday afternoon to the Atlanta branch of the alliance. Bellesort was met at the depot by Mr. and Mrs. Slifer. Mrs. Slifer is the president of the alliance in Atlanta, and with a party of friends he had luncheon preceding the lecture, which took place in the ballroom of the Ansley hotel.

The theme of the lecture was what the tourists in France never see, and M. Bellesort, with that characteristic loyalty of the French, took occasion to criticise those writers and students who, seeing Paris superficially, and knowing it only through public places, through cabarets and through the trashy French romance build their opinions accordingly of the country, and the people, and too freely express their views.

He talked eloquently of the sacredness and dignity of the French home, the Frenchman's reverence for it; the virtue of the French wife and mother. The Frenchman was hospitable in spirit, he said, and entertained where the obligations were his, in public life, and in his business, but he was most tenacious of the social life centering in his home, and few strangers are honored with invitations there. Certain erroneous ideas about social institutions in France, were woefully misunderstood, according to M. Bellesort.

The entertainment was delivered in French.

Miss Gray on Finland.

Miss Helen Gray delivered the second of a series of lectures she is giving on Finland for the benefit of the Mineral Bluff Industrial school, last night at the Ansley. She has visited Finland, has studied deeply into the lives and customs of the people. She stressed particularly last night the participation of women in government affairs, women having the suffrage for many years in Finland, and she explained in interesting fashion the political functions agitating public life there, and the readiness of women to decide for themselves about the principles upon which the factions were based.

HIS ANNOUNCEMENT WILL FOLLOW SLATON'S

Savannah, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—J. Randolph Anderson, president of the state senate, returned from Atlanta today.

"I am receiving many assurances of support from all parts of the state in my race for governor," he said.

Mr. Anderson indicated that he would not make any formal announcement of his candidacy until after Governor Slaton has formally announced his candidacy for the senatorship.

SHIPPERS ARE FIGHTING FREIGHT RATE ADVANCE

Washington, April 6.—Inefficient and expensive handling of lake and railroad traffic, particularly of package freight, was urged before the interstate commerce commission today by shippers as a fundamental reason why the railroad rates on such traffic should not be increased.

It was asserted by counsel for the shippers' organizations that existing methods of loading and unloading vessels from and to care were archaic. Most of the freight, the testimony showed, is handled by hand trucks instead of modern mechanical devices.

The shippers maintained that the carriers were not entitled to the proposed advance in rates until they had exhausted all means of handling package freight economically and had established that they were performing the service efficiently, and without adequate returns.

REGIONAL SELECTIONS APPROVED BY WILSON

Washington, April 6.—Although stating specifically that the selection of the twelve regional reserve cities had been none of his business and that he had refrained from making any suggestions, President Wilson today gave his unqualified approval to the choices announced by the organization committees of the federal reserve board.

The president said he knew the organization committee had fairly considered the facts upon which the selections were based and he knew they acted upon their study of the actual conditions of financial exchange and lending. The president added that he believed the organization of the twelve banks would make a solid structure.

Mr. Wilson still is considering eligibles for the reserve board, but has made no selections.

EDUCATION IN SOUTH WILL BE DISCUSSED

Louisville, Ky., April 6.—Hundreds of men and women visitors, representing virtually all lines of human activity in the south, are in Louisville, and others are arriving on every train tonight to attend the seventeenth annual sessions of the conference for education in the south, comprising various organizations working to uplift country life, and the annual convention of the Southern Educational association, which open here tomorrow and will continue through Friday.

The program for the series of meetings and conferences calls for addresses and demonstrations by men and women of prominence in the business, agricultural, educational and scientific circles of the country, in addition to a number of government experts. Delegates are here from sixteen southern states.

The conference for education in the south opens tomorrow morning in the First Regiment armory, in which exhibits have been arranged to represent a model rural community, and where instruction and demonstrations will be given as to the best methods of organizing and conducting farmers' clubs and co-operative projects, and various other interests embraced in rural community life. Demonstrations also will be given in domestic science, community hygiene and health and home-building.

Votes for the Women.

Washington, April 6.—Representative Palmer, of Pennsylvania, today introduced into the house a joint resolution proposing a woman suffrage constitutional amendment similar to one pending in the senate offered by Senator Shafroth. The amendment would provide that, upon petition by 8 per cent of the legal voters of any state participating in the last preceding general election, the woman suffrage question shall be submitted to the voters of that state, a majority decision to be final.

NINE LIVES ARE LOST IN A BRIDGE DISASTER

Nine Other Persons Narrowly Escape Death Under the Mississippi at Memphis.

Memphis, Tenn., April 6.—Nine men lost their lives today and nine others narrowly escaped a like fate when a shaft leading to the underground workings in the foundation for the Harrahan railroad bridge, being constructed across the Mississippi river here, became filled with poisonous gases. Eight of them suffocated while descending the shaft to take their places in a caisson 90 feet below the surface, and the ninth man, Peter Watson, a watchman, lost his life in an attempt to rescue his comrades. Those nearest the shaft were in a compartment adjoining the gas-filled shaft. They were hauled to the surface unconscious and used to send material to the workmen.

All the Dead White Men.

All of the dead were white men. Those rescued are negroes.

The dead:

PETER WATSON, Liberty, Ind.
A. WINKLER, Chicago.
JOHN CLAYTON, St. Paul, Minn.
A. W. JOHNSON, Brooklyn.
P. J. FARRELL, Kansas City.
MIKE BURKE, Providence, R. I.
THOMAS LEONARD.
JOHN KING.
JACK POWERS.

The places of residence of the three last named could not be ascertained.

Divers, protected from the poisonous fumes by their armor, recovered all of the bodies.

Officials of the company constructing the bridge stated tonight that they had been unable so far to definitely determine the cause of the gas formation.

Theory of Physicians.

A physician who examined the bodies stated that they bore evidence of carbon monoxide poisoning, which might have been formed through the burning of the calcium and rubber lining on top of the caisson, the fumes penetrating into the shaft. Another surmise was that a deposit of the "marsh gas" was penetrated in making the excavations.

The accident occurred about 100 feet inland on the Arkansas shore of the bridge. The first indication those at the top of the shaft had that the men had been overcome was when no report came from the descending crew. Watson volunteered to go to the aid of the men and was overcome while descending the shaft. The shaft was then filled with water and the negroes were hauled to the surface in a bucket through the supply shaft. Before the last man was started for the top, water had reached his waist. He was Jim Daniels, shift foreman, who refused to leave until the others of his crew had been hauled to safety.

JURY REFUSES TO HEAR SAVANNAH PROHI LEAGUE

Savannah, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—The grand jury today refused to allow a committee from the Law Enforcement league to appear and present cases against a number of Savannah saloon dealers. The committee indicated that mandamus proceedings might be instituted to compel the grand jury to grant them a hearing.

THOUGHT TROUBLES WOULD NEVER END

When Almost Resigned to Life of Misery, Good Friend's Advice Proves Blessing.

Toyah, Texas.—"For about eight years," says Mrs. R. A. Casey, of this place, "I suffered with womanly troubles.

I had pains all over, and was so nervous at times I could hardly stand it to live. I had spells, when I would be in bed several days at the time.

I had about given up, and thought I would always have to suffer. At this time, a friend asked me to please try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I did. I have taken nine bottles, and it cured me. I feel well and strong, and have not been sick at all for nearly a year.

Cardui is certainly a boon to suffering women. I do not think I would be alive without it. I shall certainly say a good word for Cardui, every chance I have, for I wish every suffering woman could know about Cardui and what it can do for her."

In the light of this experience, you may well decide that, no matter from what form of womanly trouble you may be suffering,—and all women suffer at times,—it will benefit you to take Cardui, the woman's tonic.

It has been found to gently strengthen, regulate and build, and thus, in a natural manner, restore weak women to health.

Try Cardui. It will surely help you.

NEARLY 5,000 REGISTER IN MUSCOGEE COUNTY

Columbus, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—The heaviest registration in the history of Muscogee county was recorded tonight when the county registration books closed. Nearly five thousand voters registered. The heavy registration is due partly to several lively races for county offices and partly to increase of population.

Hon. W. Coett Neal has announced as a candidate for the legislature from Muscogee and there are now four candidates.

MACON MERCHANTS PLAN BIG LIGHTING COMPANY

After the Plant Is Started It May Be Offered to the City.

Macon, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—A meeting is to be held here shortly for the purpose of organizing another electric lighting company with a capital of $100,000, for the purpose of supplying the busines houses in the downtown district with electric current at rates much lower than those recently fixed by the state railroad commission for the Macon Railway and Light company.

It is said several big business houses, whose light bills have been soaring under the new rates, have agreed to take stock in the new company, and it is not thought there will be any trouble in disposing of all the stock desired.

A proposition will later be made to the city to sell the plant to the municipality. The city is now under contract for the next four years with the Macon Railway and Light company, but those who are behind the new company declare the city can manufacture its own current much cheaper than it is now paying for it. If the new plant is sold to the city it will go at exactly the amount it costs to erect and equip it.

Named on Sociological Congress.

Macon, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—Alderman F. L. Hay, of Macon, has been named a member of the Southern Sociological Congress, to meet in annual session at Nashville, Tenn., May 6-13.

Alderman Hay is chairman of the park committee of the city council, and is an enthusiastic advocate of more and better parks for the city. One of the aims of the congress is the conservation of forests and parks, and much good work has been done along this line. The congress has a membership of 2,000, and among the number are senators, governors and other men in public life. Alderman Hay will attend the meeting in Nashville.

Macon, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—Macon is interested in the coming to Georgia, on April 16, of a delegation of 500 New York people for the purpose of dedicating the newly erected monument which

I'M A MURDERER, YOUNG MAN SAYS

Van Goosby Confesses Crime and Asks to Be Arrested—Afflicted With a Homicidal Mania.

Danville, Va., April 6.—"I'm a murderer and I want to be arrested," said Van Goosby, a well-dressed young white man, to Police Officer Petty, of this city, shortly before midnight Saturday.

The officer looked at the man as if to determine whether he were joking or not, but Goosby continued: "I mean what I say. I am wanted in Georgia for murder, and I committed the deed at Douglas. My name is Van Henry Goosby."

The man was so persistent and so thoroughly in earnest that Petty took him into custody and escorted him to jail. Goosby told the officer he had killed his stepfather, a man named Hodge, and had been tried and acquitted. Later, while residing at the same place, he claims that he was approached and upbraided by Tom Hodge, a brother of the man he had killed. Words led to an altercation in the course of which Goosby killed the second man and fled, coming to this city in company with his brother. Goosby assumed the name of King, while his brother, he asserts, assumed the name of Saunders. Goosby secured employment in a cotton mill under his assumed name.

On Sunday, just after dinner, Goosby, who was confined in a cell with two misdemeanor prisoners, wrenched a metal plunger from the plumbing equipment of the cell and without warning assaulted his fellow prisoners. Their cries summoned the jailer, who disarmed the man. City Physician Hudson, who examined Goosby, expressed the opinion that he has homicidal mania and ordered him isolated in a secure cell.

To Be Brought to Georgia.

Douglas, Ga., April 6.—Today Sheriff J. C. Gillis, of Coffee county, received a telegram from the chief of police of Danville, Va., advising him that Van Goosby had surrendered to him and confessed that he was wanted in Broxton, Ga., for killing his stepfather four years ago.

On September 25, 1910, Goosby, in a dispute over a game of cards, is said to have shot and killed his stepfather, Tom Hodge, in Coffee county, on the J. J. J. Rowe place, six miles from Broxton, and made his escape. At the term of court in 1910 the grand jury returned an indictment against Goosby for murder. Sheriff Gillis will send a deputy for Goosby, who, it is understood here, will come back without requisition papers for trial.

REBEL FOREIGN POLICY EXPLAINED BY CARRANZA

General Is Willing to Accept the Mediation of the United States.

El Paso, Texas, April 6.—A carefully worded communication from General Carranza dealing with the rebel foreign policy was made public today by Dr. Henry Allen Tupper, of the international peace forum. Dr. Tupper interviewed General Carranza at the request of Senator Morris Sheppard, of Texas. The letter says in part:

"I possess a deep admiration for the American people and hold in great personal esteem President Woodrow Wilson and Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan. I know they are men of the very highest mentality as well as moral and political aims and for that reason I think that their friendship toward Mexico and the sympathy evinced for the principles of the Mexican constitutionalists are not only sincere, but entirely disinterested, and are the result of the existing harmony between the aims of the cause which I have the honor to represent and the ideals of American democracy.

"As long as I am at the head of the constitutional army, or in any other office, my policy will be to strive in such way as to have our international obligations complied with and have our relations with foreign governments become more and more cordial, and especially with such countries as have their destiny linked with the political, economic and personal interests of Mexico.

Regrets Misunderstandings.

"I sincerely regret that incidents of an international character should have given rise to an interpretation not entirely in accord with my real attitude as the chief of the constitutionalists. I have striven to place myself in the legitimate light deserved by the high aims of our party without overlooking the cordial suggestions which were offered me within the attitude just expressed, neither evading responsibility nor ignoring diplomatic customs and usage.

"In pursuance of this attitude, all representations and matters called to our attention by the United States in an unofficial way have in the past received our prompt attention, and I assure you that hereafter the same attention will be given to all representations and matters presented to us through the United States in behalf of other nations in conformity with international diplomatic usage and custom, notwithstanding the fact that we always have deemed it preferable to avoid responsibility being thrust upon the United States by other powers as a result of its attitude toward the political conditions now existing in the republic of Mexico.

To Accept American Mediation.

"In accordance with the views above expressed, I repeatedly stated and now reiterate that I am at all times disposed to give attention, for instance, to foreign representations brought to my attention through the offices of American representatives, provided, of course, that we are not thereby asked mediation is at the request of such power.

"I can conceive no better evidence of the spirit of cordiality and friendship which we bear towards the United States than our willingness to receive unofficial representations and claims made by the United States government in regard to all matters concerning its citizens within the republic of Mexico. I must, however, call your attention to the fact that we could not, without sacrificing our hard-fought-for prestige, consider representations made through the good offices of the United States in behalf of foreigners, unless we be previously informed that such mediation has been requested of the United States by the interestd nation"

HUERTA PUTS BAN ON CONSUL AGENT

Mexican constitution—the famous "pernicious foreigner" law, which gives Mexican authorities the right to deport undesirable aliens.

General Gutierres followed up his story of the Spanish exodus by a threat against the Jesuits in Mexico. "And the Jesuits come next," he said. Already, it was learned, numbers of Catholic priests have been forced to leave the country in which the Gutierres men are operating. Many of the deported priests were said to be Spaniards, but a number were of Mexican descent.

SOLDIERS GATHERING FOR THE NEXT BATTLE

Torreon, Mexico, April 5, via El Paso, Texas, April 6.—San Pedro, twenty-six miles northeast of here, it is said, in all probability will be the scene of the next battle.

San Pedro, a hill girt city, whose natural defenses must be approached over a flat country, held a federal garrison all the time the battle of Torreon was being fought, but this force was prevented by a rebel column from coming to the assistance of General Velasco.

Recently a comparatively small force of rebels attempted to take the town, having underestimated the strength of the garrison, whose real numbers were developed by the attack.

General Villa has been building up his force in the last few days for a renewal of the assault. The defeat of the federals at San Pedro would, it is said, remove the last federal force from this district.

The whereabouts of the troops driven from this city last week is not known, although it is believed Velasco is headed for Saltillo.

The Spanish colony ordered out of this city by General Villa, it is said, probably will be placed aboard trains for Juarez tomorrow.

LIND AND HIS FAMILY SAIL ON THE MAYFLOWER

Vera Cruz, Mexico, April 6.—John Lind, personal representative of President Wilson, with his daughter and the family of Rear Admiral Frank F. Fletcher embarked on the Mayflower today to proceed direct to Washington. William P. Canada, American consul here, and the consular staff went on board to bid them farewell.

The French cruiser Descartes arrived early today and saluted the foreign warships here.

HABEAS CORPUS DENIED TO INTERNED MEXICANS

Fort Worth, Texas, April 6.—United States Judge Meek this afternoon denied the application for a writ of habeas corpus filed by the 2,000 Mexicans interned at Fort Bliss, Texas.

These were the Mexicans who surrendered to United States soldiers at Presidio, Texas, after Villa had driven them from Ojinaga, Mexico.

ATTACKED CATHOLICS AND GOT INTO TROUBLE

Rev. Otis L. Spurgeon Badly Beaten at Denver—His Nose Broken.

Denver, Colo., April 6.—Rev. Otis L. Spurgeon, of Des Moines, who was forcibly escorted from the city last night by unidentified men because of attacks on the Catholic priesthood in a lecture, was brought to a local hospital today suffering from injuries at the hands of his assailants. No one was allowed to see him.

In a lecture here Saturday night Spurgeon accused Catholic priests with immorality. Last night a party of seven men visited Spurgeon at his hotel and seized him.

His captors took him in automobile to a place about 24 miles north of Denver, where he was beaten and released after being given $110.

Spurgeon succeeded in reaching the home of a deputy sheriff who brought him to the hospital.

Spurgeon's nose was broken and he suffered other injuries.

ACCUSER OF PREACHER RECEIVES A THREAT

New York, April 6.—A threatening postal card sent to Mrs. Hilma Dohl advising her not to press her charges was today's contribution to incidents in the secret ecclesiastic trial of Dr. Jacob E. Price, Methodist clergyman, charged with misconduct by nine women members of his congregation. Mrs. Dohl said on the stand that Dr. Price had made improper proposals to her and "treated her as no man had ever treated her before."

"Your accusations against Dr. Price," read the postal, "are all false. I suppose you are another suffragette clamoring for newspaper notoriety. Better let this matter drop."

REPORT OF ENGINEER ON GRANITE HIGHWAY

The executive committee of the Granite Highway association met last night and heard reports from the engineer, who has just completed a preliminary survey of the first half of the proposed route for the Granite Highway.

The road will extend from Decatur to Lithonia, a distance of 18 miles. The engineer estimated that the cost of building the road from ——— to Stone Mountain, which is 9 miles, will be $90,000, provided the Stone Mountain quarry furnishes free of charge the broken stone to be used in the construction. This will make the cost of the entire road figure about $180,000. Half of the expense will be borne by property owners along the route and the remainder by DeKalb county.

How To Grow Long Beautiful Hair

By a Hair Specialist.

It is not hard to stop the hair from falling out and promote its growth if the right means are used. There is no hope for the scalp where the hair roots are dead and the scalp is shiny. However, to those who have not reached this condition, immediate steps should be taken to stop it before it is too late. Here is a simple recipe which you can mix at home, that will stop the hair from falling out, promote its growth and eradicate scalp eruptions and scalp humors. I know of cases where the hair has grown from four to five inches in a few months' time using this simple recipe: To a half pint of water add 1 oz. bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 1-4 oz. of glycerine, and apply to the hair, rubbing with the finger tips, two or three times a week. These ingredients can be obtained at any drug store at very little cost and mixed at home. This recipe not only promotes the growth of the hair but darkens streaked, faded gray hair and makes it soft and glossy.

NEWSPAPER GOLFERS BEGIN TOURNAMENT

Playing on First Round Which Must Be Ended by Wednesday Night.

NOTICE.

Entrants are requested to post their scores on the score sheet on the bulletin board in the locker room as soon as match ends and to turn card of first round into member of golf committee, so winner of low medal score can be determined.

The newspaper golfers of Atlanta have started play over the course of the Capital City Country club at Brookhaven for the handsome silver loving cup offered by Colonel W. R. Gentry, vice president of the club.

Play has started on the first round, which will be continued today and must be completed tomorrow. When the returns are in the entries of the sixteen matches will comprise the first flight and the losers the second.

In this round stymie play has been eliminated. This was made necessary by reason of the play for the low net medal score prize, offered by the tournament committee. Subsequent rounds will be played with the stymies used.

In addition to the Gentry cup, which goes to the winner of the first flight, there will be a cup for the winner of the second flight, a driver offered by A. G. Spalding & Bros. for the runner-up in the first flight and a MacGregor bronzie offered by Parks-Chambers-Hardwick company for the runner-up in the second flight.

Full handicaps will apply in all matches. For instance, if a player with 5 strokes meets one with 18 he must give him 13 strokes handicap instead of 8 as would be the case if the usual 2/3 stroke basis was used as is the case in all match play rounds.

The second round must be played by April 11, the third by April 15, the fourth by April 19 and the finals by April 20.

MICHIGAN DOWNS ALABAMA 9 TO 1

Tuscaloosa, Ala., April 6.—(Special.) Alabama went down in disastrous defeat under Michigan this afternoon to the tune of 9 to 1.

The Alabama team put up one of the poorest exhibitions of baseball ever seen here. The team seemed without pep entirely and fell down during the game was the final outcome in any doubt.

As usual, Alabama started off poorly, and before the first inning was over Michigan showed over four runs on two walks, a couple of errors and a hit.

Hogue, for Alabama, pitched an excellent game after the first inning, considering the kind of support that was given him. The visitors had a well-balanced team, fast and aggressive. Another game will be played tomorrow.

Marist at Boys' High.
Tech High at Stone Mountain.
Donald Fraser at G. M. A.

Tech High will play Marist the first game today, and Peacock Fleet will be the team that has an off day. Tech High will journey down to Stone Mountain and accordingly to the great showing that Stone Mountain made against Marist last Tuesday, they will have a hard job on their hands downing these lads.

The Boys' High-Marist game will be played at Marist, although the game is Boys' High day with the rest of Marist's diamond.

The Donald Fraser-G. M. A. game will be played on the G. M. A. campus at College Park. Both of these teams lost their opening game, and will fight hard for the game today.

GRAMMAR LEAGUE PLAYS SECOND ROUND TODAY

The second round of the Grammar league starts with the games today. The first round of the schedule closed last Friday. Formwalt leading the South Side with a perfect percentage, having won all four games, while Oakland led the North Side, having won four and tied one of their games.

The league this year is meeting with great success, and some lively games are being pulled off by the youngsters.

Here is the card that will be played today:

North Side.

Ridgewood v. Peeples, at N. E. Piedmont.
Oakland v. Boulevard, at S. H. Piedmont.

South Side.

Davis v. Ivy, at S. W. Piedmont.

Formwalt v. Fraser-Brisbine.
Battle Hill v. Peeples, at Brisbine.
Hill v. Walker, at Grant park.

Medicos Win Two.

The Atlanta Medical college team defeated the Tech High boys last Friday by the score of 7 to 6 with only three regulars in the line-up.

On Saturday they ran away with Marist by the score of 20 to 0. They scored at will and at no time did they exert themselves. Boggs hit one over left field fence for a homer in the eighth inning.

El Dent Blanks Bronchos; Each Cracker Gets a Hit; Jennings Shows Promise

By Dick Jemison.

With Big Elliott Dent picking up where he left off last fall and hurling the fine brand of baseball that he is capable of hurling steadily, the Crackers had no trouble in winning the first of a six-game series from the Rochester Hustlers yesterday afternoon.

El was in splendid form, not handing out a free ticket during the nine rounds and allowing but seven widely-scattered hits. His support never faltered when Gassell, Dooley and McDonald, and the result that a coat of whitewash was the answer.

Chester Hoff, a former New York American, who came near being a Cracker a couple of times and was picked for eleven bingos, every man on the team getting at least one hit and Flanagan and Welchonce getting two each. These eleven bingles netted five runs and would have netted much had the Crackers taken the same precaution that they will take in regular games.

The Hustlers grabbed off a couple of double plays, one of them one of the most unique two-ply killins that it has been our pleasure to witness on a ball field.

With two on, Tommy Long fired a hot shot at second baseman Dooley. Millan was going over to cover Hoff, nailed the ball, threw it to Brien, who tossed home, William tagging the Welchonce. The other double play was a legit.

Jennings Shows.

Morley Jennings has shorstopped his way into a regular berth with the 1914 Crackers, if the way he [illegible] around that place Monday afternoon is any indication. Not an ungle babie.

Jennings looks like a regular ball player, one who can field, bat, bunt and run bases. He seems to know what he is going to do with the ball when he gets it and not like the rookie that is in his pocket, as some athletes we have [illegible].

Jennings' size is in his favor. He reminds one in size of Hal Beaumiller, who went into the Georgian circuit. He must be said to his credit that he handles himself some better. Some better is right.

Without endeavoring to reflect on the ability of the Crackers' opponents in the local shortstop berth, it looks like Mr. Morley Jennings, of Cracker note. One, if he is going to be the Crackers' 1914 shortstop, barring always, of course, the possibility of Livingston Stidand's return by the Browns.

Lynch Goes Good.

Red Lynch is playing a great game around the hot corner these spring days and bids fair to keep it up. Red had twelve chances and took one. On them was a line drive that nearly took off a finger from Hoff's left hand. The easiest chance he had he booted, trying to outrid Tommie McMillan. The latter was trying to get him in the afternoon.

Joe Gunn caught a nice game and stopped three would-be base-stealers in the style. Tommie McMillan made a couple of fine plays, while Shortstop Millan had a hard-hitting centerfielder of the Hustlers, who broke his leg in Anniston last spring during the training season, and was a regular of the game a whole year, grabbed three vicious line singles in four tries at them. Amby McConnell had a great play on his other attempt.

In justice to the Hustlers, it must be said that they have not the condition that the locals have and with a sub first baseman, one of the weakest in shape and only one catcher, they are likely to lose most of the games here. Both Federals and Nats did on the Hustlers, taking Wilhelm, Simmons, Zachtich, Kopp, McDonald, Zinn and others, practically wrecking the ball club.

The Hustlers have the making of a good club, however, with one more catcher, a couple of outfielders and a first-sacker. The rest of their infield and their outfield looks pretty good.

Federal League on Defensive At Opening of Legal Fight

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 4.—In the opening legal skirmish of a nationwide war between the new Federal league and organized baseball, started in federal court here today, counsel for the so-called outlaw organization were put on the defensive at the outset and directed first to demonstrate its right to relief, even granting the invalidity of the reserve clause in baseball contracts as established.

The Federal league is making a test case of the individual contract of Richard Killifer, who has signed with the Federals, of Chicago, while under reserve by the Philadelphia National contract for $12.

The Federals are seeking to enjoin him from continuing in the service of the Philadelphia Nationals or any other club than the Chicago Federal league club. In seeking this relief the Federals entered their attack on the whole bulwark of all organized baseball, the reserve clause, and also gave considerable attention to the so-called ten-day clause, which gives a club authority to dispense with a contracted player's services at any time after a ten-day notice is given.

E. E. Gates, general counsel for the Federal league, opened the argument, and after reviewing the bill of complaint, answered affidavits, made his attack on the reserve clause and the ten-day clause.

Court Halts Attorney.

It was in the midst of his argument that Judge Sessions interrupted with pointed questions, which indicated indirectly that the Federal league must first establish that it has come into court with clean hands in seeking an order enjoining Killifer from playing with Phillies.

Stripped of its legal verbiage, the question was raised by the court that since the Federal league is not a party to the contract, it is making a plea declared invalid and to have relief from it should demonstrate that it had no part in inspiring Killifer, even in violating the moral obligation contained in the reserve clause, which is signed by the player.

Samuel M. Clements, counsel for the Philadelphia National league club, said during recess the question of the right of the complainant to seek relief in the one big issue in this case. The Killifer case was submitted to the court at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Judge Sessions announced he would not give his decision before the morning of April 7.

NEW ORLEANS FANS PICK THE CRACKERS

Like Locals for 1914 Peanant. Base Choice on "Paper" and Spring Games.

New Orleans, April 6.—(Special.)—Over a hundred local fans, when asked to pick the winner of the Southern league flag during 1914 chose the Atlanta team. They picked New Orleans to finish second, Chattanooga third, Birmingham fourth, Mobile fifth, Montgomery sixth, Memphis seventh and Nashville eighth.

The local fans picked the Atlanta team to win because they claimed the team looked best on paper and had shown better class in the spring [illegible].

This is the second bunch of fans to pick Atlanta, a Memphis delegation choosing the Crackers some time ago.

CUBAN OUTFIELDER QUITS THE REDLEG

Cincinnati, April 6.—Armando Marsans, the Cuban outfielder of the Cincinnati National league team, quit the club today. He declared he had been unjustly treated by Manager Herzog. Marsans was a strong hitter last week. Herzog declared Marsans claimed he had been injured and could not play, while the club's physician said the injury was slight.

The break in relations between manager and player was not considered serious until today. Marsans said he would take the first train for Havana, Cuba, his home.

E. P. H. 10, West Haven 4.

On last Friday afternoon the strong E. P. Howell baseball team defeated West Haven school on the latter's grounds by the decisive score of 10 to 4.

G. Springer and C. Anderson were the battery for E. P. H. Besides getting four hits himself, Springer fanned sixteen men and yielded only five hits.

Albany, Ga., April 4.—(Special.)—The South Atlantic league season opened here today with about 2,000 fans witnessing Jacksonville defeat Albany by the score of 5 to 2. Both teams did some fast fielding work, though Albany's errors were costly. Wiley and Burmeister were both in good form, the Jacksonville club scoring four of their runs on lucky bingles. Crow and Hanna starred with the stick.

Macon, Ga., April 6.—With Jim Fox, the famous Cracker, in the spotlight, getting a home run in the second inning, Columbus won the first game of the 1914 South Atlantic season here this afternoon from Macon, 4 to 0. McCormick and Kimball, lefthanders, were invincible, keeping the four hits well scattered. Martin, Macon pitcher, also got the hits well apart.

A large crowd witnessed the game. The Macon park is no longer known as the Peaches. It is now the "Tigers," having been christened by a high school boy in a contest.

DELMONT IS BESTED BY JOHNNY KILBANE

Memphis, Tenn., April 6.—Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, was given a newspaper decision over Gene Delmont, of Memphis at the end of a rather tame eight-round bout here tonight. By agreement no decision was given by the referee.

Six of the eight rounds were declared even and the other two, the only ones in which Kilbane made any perceptible advantage, were given the champion.

Delmont was the aggressor in all except the fifth and seventh rounds. Kilbane satisfied himself with dodging the lunges of his opponent and with little effort to retaliate. In the fifth and seventh, however, Kilbane went after the Memphis man and his showing in these rounds gave him the unofficial verdict.

Referee Blanck stated after the fight that had he rendered a decision he probably would have called it a draw because of the aggressiveness of Delmont and the refusal of Kilbane to extend himself.

Kilbane met the jeers of the spectators with a smile.

"So you didn't marry Miss Jiggers after all?"

"No; her old man wanted me to promise to support him in the same style that she did."—Baltimore American.

MACON BREWERY CASE UP TO SUPREME COURT

The Law Enforcement League Seeks to Close the Acme Brewing Company.

The supreme court Monday heard argument in the appeal case of the Law Enforcement league of Macon against the Acme Brewing company, of Macon. The case is an important one to the brewers of the state, as, if it is decided adversely to the Macon brewery, it will have the effect of putting every brewery in the state out of business.

The case came up from Judge Matthews' court in Bibb county, and is an injunction appeal. The Acme brewing people are handling nothing 2 per cent beverage, but not an "intoxicating beverage."

The Law Enforcement league of Macon holds that the laws of Georgia prohibit the manufacture or sale of all malt liquors.

Every brewery in the state admits manufacturing malt liquor, but none of them admit that their product is intoxicating.

If the supreme court holds that the manufacture of malt liquor is illegal, every brewery in the state must close.

W. D. McNeill represented the Acme brewery, and R. D. Dagnan the Law Enforcement league.

DEADLY EXPLOSION ON A TORPEDO BOAT

Norfolk, Va., April 6.—The explosion of the forward boiler on the torpedo boat Aylwin this morning caused the death of First Class Fireman Daman and the serious injury of First Class Fireman James E. Seaton and Water Tender Barney Allen.

The explosion occurred while the Aylwin was 16 miles south of Diamond Shoals light and 46 miles from Norfolk. The force of the explosion was so great three plates on starboard side of the craft were blown off and two of her compartments filled with water. The torpedo boats Benham and Parker were nearby at the time and went to the assistance of the Aylwin. The Benham took off the three injured men and started under full speed for Norfolk. She left the scene of the explosion a few minutes after 5 o'clock this morning and arrived at the naval hospital at this port at 12:15 o'clock this afternoon. The distance covered was about 140 miles.

Hannan died on the Benham before she reached Norfolk. The torpedo boat Parker took the Aylwin in tow, and the general manager dispatched a battleship and the tug Sonoma to see to assist the disabled craft. She is tonight at the tugs dock and Wainwright were sent from the Norfolk navy yard to Cape Henry to await the arrival of the Aylwin and take her in tow for Norfolk. The disabled craft will be placed in dry dock at daybreak. She is expected to pass Cape Henry at 4 o'clock tomorrow morning.

It is reported that the crew of the Aylwin, with the exception of three men, have been taken off and are now on the Parker.

Get the Personal Touch

The policy of this Company is not to sell cars by "hook or crook" or rush advertising, but to ask you to take the wheel of a Mitchell yourself, give the car a thorough trial over all kinds of roads and discuss the subject of purchase afterwards.

The theory is that a personal trial eliminates all uncertainty, does away with all possible risk by proving the car, and demonstrates in advance that when you pay the price you are making an investment and not indulging in a speculation or gamble.

If this car does not come up to our claims or your expectations, it is a good deal better to know it before you buy than to seek redress afterwards. If we start off right and you are entirely satisfied, you become a standing and mighty valuable advertisement for the Mitchell car.

The 1914 Mitchell is unquestionably the finest, most lasting, most efficient and most powerful popular-priced car on the market. We know it and we want the chance to prove it to you. So take the wheel yourself and get the personal touch and the "feel of the car." Our dealers stand ready to aid you at any time you call.

BETTER WEATHER SENT COTTON DOWN

Disappointing Cables Also Contributed to the Decline. The Market Closed Steady. Spot Quiet.

New York, April 6.—An easing off from 4 to 6 points under Saturday's closing was followed by repeated declines throughout the day in the cotton market, occasional rallies of some of the options, based on some buying by room interests, failing to give any strength of permanence. After this buying there was a decline of from 7 to 10 points and during the final hour there came a break to the low points for the day upon rumors that the department of justice would investigate the recent bear operations. Other weakening factors were the more favorable weather reports, which were reflected in selling by leading trade houses in Liverpool and a slower inquiry and selling orders in the south. Climatic conditions and the prices attracted southern selling orders. That section also announced that field work was reported possible because of lack of opportunity during the rainfall of the past week. The rumor was recurrent there that a powerful clique was attempting to gain control of the near months in this country and the local stocks of cotton, and to this much credence was given these claims. At the close the net decline was found to be 23 points, with the near months leading the stronger pressure.

Fidelity Fruit and Produce Co.'s Letter.

Business in the produce line was rather quiet the past week, chiefly caused by the fact of very light receipts in both fruits and vegetables.

The trade seems especially anxious for vegetables and not more than one-fourth as many coming as there is a demand for so high they are selling at record-breaking prices. Beans, squash, eggplants, cucumbers, and peppers are selling higher now than was ever known before at this time of year. Practically all kinds of fruits and their vegetables of all kinds will begin to move freely in ton to fifteen days, when the trade will be in shape to handle and to be able to supply the demand to some extent.

Atlanta dealers have begun to be concerned over the fact that no good goods in the line to supply the demand during the Christian convention in this city, and as a rule, our market during the month of May is full of all kinds of produce, but the freeze of a few weeks back has seemed to set the crops back two to four weeks, and it is believed there will be but little in sufficient quantities to supply the demand while the convention is in session. Dealers never start to move before the last of May the first of June, but if they could get cantaloupes while here someone will be disappointed.

Apples—Receipts some lighter and the same may be said for the demand; prices rule firm, however.

Oranges—Holding up well. No change of note from previous week.

Grapefruit—Plentiful, meeting with a light demand, caused by the fact that people seem to want strawberries now.

Strawberries—Receipts record, showing an advance of $2.00 per crate from Wednesday to Saturday. Weather being unfavorable, growers were able to ship them to the northern markets, where they were selling at 35 to 40 cents a quart.

Celery—Receipts fairly liberal; market firm.

Lettuce more plentiful; market lower, and overstocked; weather caused by warm spell.

Pineapples very scarce and high.

Cabbage receipts light and market advanced.

Irish potatoes, onions and lemons in liberal supply. No change of note.

Sweet potatoes—Receipts by express heavy and market lower.

No change of note on sweet potatoes.

SECRET SERVICE MEN CATCH COUNTERFEITERS

New York, April 6.—Acting on information obtained during a trial of counterfeiters three years ago, federal detectives have been steadily on the trail of the other men alleged to be members of the same gang, and today raided a basement flat in a Brooklyn factory, making two arrests and seizing a quantity of spurious coins. According to S. J. Henry, head of the government secret service squad here, a counterfeiting plant was in operation today when he and six aids entered the apartment.

The men arrested, Carmella Quarticcio, 24, and Salvatore Riggio, 25, were held in $10,000 bail each for a hearing on April 15. Two members of the gang of which the prisoners today are alleged to be members were sentenced in 1911 to fifteen years in prison.

She—I hear that your friend Mr. Drinkleigh's habits are very irregular.

He—Nonsense! Reggie has a clock —he's never sober after dinner.

WHEAT DECLINED; CORN AND OATS UP

Belief That the Government Crop Report Will Be Bearish—Lowered the Price of Wheat.

Chicago, April 6.—Chances that the government crop report tomorrow will prove of the most flattering sort tended today to lower the price of wheat. The market closed easy at 2@2¼c net to 2-8 net decline. Corn finished with a gain of from 1-16@5-8, oats at 1-8@3-8 to 1-2, and provisions varying from a shade off to 5 advance.

Belief in a bearish official report on the growing crop in this country, although no prime authority expected to find no means the only influence causing the wheat market to sag. Reports from the winter wheat northwestern receipts were liberal, and world shipments were heavy. Besides, about 2,000,000 acres of western Kansas, which had been rather dry, reports declared, had a good rain at the week end. Another factor in the situation was the cheaper offerings from Russia. Cash demand, however, was a prominent support like on the seaboard and in view of the small stocks and the bulls urged that the knowledge of nearly perfect crop conditions and of big acreage sown over the whole world market for sixty days, that fully three months would elapse ere another harvest in any part of the world, and that consumption has been in progress at a rate nearly double normal. No important rally took place, and the last hour or two showed a lower range of prices of the day with July finishing at the bottom level reached.

Despite further offerings from Argentina all along the coast from the St. Lawrence to Texas, corn values turned strong. The shortage of corn for quick domestic use by interior dealers was the point of support, accentuated by many reports of a supply compared with a year ago.

Poor Chunks—Per crate, $1.25; bags, $3.50@3.90; sweet mixed, bags, $2.50; chocolate drops, 15c; bags, $2.90.

Extracts—10 Ounces, 90c per dozen; 35c Size, $2.75 per dozen.

Sugar—Granulated, 4¾c; light brown, 4½c; dark brown, 4c; domino, 5¼c.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

The features of today's real estate activities will be the legal sales this morning before the courthouse door.

The most important parcels to be disposed of are the two Alabama street holdings of the W. A. Hemphill estate, which the Edwin P. Ansley agency will dispose of at commissioners' sale. There will be several other parcels of minor importance.

The Hemphill property is the first central property to be placed on auction in some time, and it is expected that a large crowd of capitalists and realty investors will turn out to the sale. There should be some lively bidding for these choice parcels.

One parcel is the northwest corner of Alabama street and Central avenue, having railroad frontage. This parcel fronts 49 feet on Alabama, 52 feet on Central avenue and end of the feet on the railroad in the rear.

The second parcel is known as Nos. 51 and 53 East Alabama street, having a frontage of 37 feet on the south side of Alabama street, running the depth to a depth of 179 feet, this depth being cut by Mercer's alley, a 19-foot alley, at a depth of 116 feet.

Oglethorpe Park Sales.

R. E. Davidson, sales manager of the Edwin P. Ansley agency, which on Monday placed on sale the country residence tracts of Oglethorpe Park, a new development which that agency is promoting between the Capital City club and Silver lake, announced Monday evening the sale of four of the forty tracts which are now on the market, these tracts bringing over $11,000. The names of the purchasers will be announced later.

Mr. Davidson was more than pleased with the large number of clients who visited Oglethorpe Park on Sunday, and became interested in purchasing tracts there. About sixty tracts will eventually be placed on the market.

Papers went to record on Monday conveying tracts of the Oglethorpe Park property to Edwin P. Ansley and Will H. Hunt. One tract comprises seventy-six acres and the other consists of a lot 750x800, the aggregate consideration being $36,500.

Outlook For Better Business.

Among all the realty agents on Monday was evident a more optimistic spirit. All are predicting a revival of the market.

This they declare, is due to several conditions: The settlement of the regional bank question and the readjustment of money to new conditions; a renewed manifestation on the part of prospective owners and investors to do business; good weather and easier money.

There has also been a marked renewal of building, which tends to support values.

This optimism was supported by the keen interest shown in the opening of Oglethorpe Park and by the announcement of several deals now in the contract stage. There will above the $50,000- mark and will probably be ready to be made public before the end of the week.

Sale of Quarry Properties.

The Broad River Granite company has sold two of its quarry holdings in Elbert county, Ga., for the purpose of retiring bonded indebtedness and other corporation purposes.

From this corporation the Quimby Granite company, of which J. L. Wiggins is president, bought the Ellerbee quarry at Eldridge, Ga., for $36,000 cash. The Atlantic Stone company, of which W. G. Watson is president, purchased the quarry at Oglethorpe, Ga., comprising some 300 acres, equipment and machinery, for a cash consideration of $85,000.

Some of the wealthiest people of Atlanta are stockholders in the Broad River Granite company. The purchasing companies are understood to be very strong financially.

Thrower Improves Quarters.

M. L. Thrower is remodeling and enlarging the quarters of his real estate office on the first floor of the Grant building, at the southeast corner of Forsyth and Walton streets.

When the work is now in progress, is complete the partition between Mr. Thrower's office and the storeroom at 37 North Forsyth street will have been removed and the entire space will be thrown into one office, extending through from Walton street to the central mail-and-freight corridor.

The interior will be finished in marble, with modern and artistic furniture and fixtures.

There will be four entrances to the office, one from Walton street, two from Forsyth and one from the middle corridor.

Mr. Thrower has renewed his lease on his present quarters and taken a lease on the Forsyth street place adjoining.

Forsyth Street Lease.

J. H. Wyatt, cafe proprietor, has leased the three-story building at the corner of James and Forsyth streets for a term of years. He will open a first-class cafe and dance hall in these quarters.

Symptoms.

Am I hungerin' to go fishin'?
Well, if sittin' here an' wishin'
To be where the reeds are swishin',
In a boat, beneath the skies,
With the blue stream driftin' by,
Far from all the city strife
And the mad desires of life;
From the ceaseless strain of getting
And the bickering and fretting;
From the hum of wheel and leather,
From the noisy, jangling tether
Out where trifles do not matter,
Where the gulls above me chatter,
With the waves about me splashin'
And the pickerel are flashin'
Where the sun is shinin' on the blue,
Hooked an' fightin', through ..... me!

If al lthis be not a symptom,
It must frankly say: I am.
Do I want to go a-fishin'?
Well, if absence of ambition,
And a yearning to discover
If the old rain pole of plover
Still have kept the faith between them
And are there where oft I've seen them;
If impatience with convention
And the craze for public mention
And the ceaseless rush and clamor
Of the city and its glamor;
If a stifled, stuffy feeling
In the office, like a ceiling
Sense and only stupor leaving,
Is not pain and false-deceiving;
If the wish to leave the city
With its grimy walls and gritty,
And get out and cleanse and tone up
All my fibers, I must own up,
If this means a wish for fishin',
Then it must be what I'm wishin'.

What the Pedigree Is For.

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside appears the following account of the advantages of a good pedigree: "A great many people make a serious mistake in their conception of pedigree. Its use and its value. Not uncommonly we see people paying a little extra for a pure-bred animal and then to secure a further reduction in price, declaring that they do not care to have it recorded, just so they know that it is eligible.

"The value of pedigree lies entirely in what it proves, and the very least of its values is the proof of pure breeding. That, if anything, ought to appear to a sufficient degree in the general appearance of the animal, but it does not carry its pedigree on its back in any respect it certainly is not a true representative in its class.

"The pedigree is a convenient means of tracing individual or family tendencies. If an animal is good and if it comes from a long line of equally good ancestors, there is little danger of disappointment through back-breeding. If, on the other hand, the animal is good and there is no way of finding out what the characteristics of the ancestry back of it have been, we cannot tell whether we are purchasing transmissible excellence or whether the quality is only the product of liberal and skillful feeding; whether it begins and probably will end with one animal in question."

Germs in Hair.

(Paris Correspondent New York Times.)

The popularity of colored wigs brings to light the question of dissemination by Chinese hair of germs, more particularly those of leprosy.

The wife of a government official in a provincial city wore a violet wig at a masked ball. On the following day she saw her own hair begin to fall and died of a malady not at all infectious, specialist diagnosed a case of leprosy.

Following the discovery that there are 100 leprosy cases in the city, a commission was appointed to investigate the cleaning of streets, courts, etc., and a systematic destruction of rats.

Opportunity.

It cometh with dawn of every morn,
It floats on every breeze.
Each hour some opportunity's born
Ready for man to seize.
If let pass by it may come again,

She Sues Siegel for Divorce

MRS. HENRY SIEGEL.

The divorce suit prepared by Mrs. Marie Vaughn Wilde Siegel against Henry Siegel, failed merchant-banker, was filed in Nassau county, New York, Monday. Mrs. Siegel's last payment on a $35,000 annual allowance to his wife, made under an agreement by which they have lived apart. The divorce also, as far as Siegel's personal affairs are concerned, comes as a climax to the general collapse of his business and the institution of criminal charges against him and his partner, Frank E. Vogel. At present there is no probability of him being financially able to continue the $35,000 allowance. If he goes to prison it is highly improbable any allowance will be paid his wife at any time in the future. Mrs. Siegel is the second wife of Siegel. His first wife was Miss Lillie Rosenbaum, who died in 1886. The first husband of the present Mrs. Siegel was George Wilde, a brother of Rear Admiral Wilde of the United States navy. Mrs. Siegel, or Mrs. Wilde, as she is known, came to New York in 1896 with her two daughters, Misses Georgina and Dorothy. They came from Virginia, where the family had more of a name than actual wealth, Mrs. Siegel became a reporter on The New York Press. Her duties included society articles. On one occasion she got an assignment to cover a display at a store. There she met Siegel, and married him some months later.

Perhaps in other spites,
Its promise to aid will never wane
Till every mortal dies.
It comes to us in our schoolboy days,
And when we graduate,
Appeals to us in a thousand ways.
Bids us be strong and great;
It hovers over our business hours,
Stirs professional pride.

Invites us to use our innate powers
Our obstacles to ride.
Fires ambition with promises bright,
Opens the gates of success,
Our difficult problems throws to light.

Brightens life's wilderness,
The years and months will have it so,
Surrounds us all from birth.
The man who grasp it are men we know
Are greatest men on earth.

IT'S FUNNY TO ME—

THE WAY MY BUNGALOWS are selling at Lakewood Heights, but it should arouse a CURIOSITY on your part to find out the REASON for this. I have sold four bungalows at Lakewood Heights this week—one for $2,000, one for $2,500, one for $2,350, one for $2,750. These were all SOLD before they were completed. If you will get on the car and go out to LAKEWOOD HEIGHTS and take a look you will SEE the reason they sell at a glance. They have five rooms each, and they are PERFECT Bungalows. They are different from anything you have seen in Atlanta. There is a sentiment of home life about them that makes you want one the minute you see it, and when you do see it you will agree with me that there is a vast difference between a BUNGALOW and a BARN. Will have two more completed in about ten days. Price $2,100 and $2,200. Get off the car at Adair avenue. It is just TWENTY-TWO MINUTES to CALIFORNIA via LAKEWOOD HEIGHTS.

Rich's Good Morning!

Do You "Trade Up" or "Trade Down"

YOU either "trade up" or "trade down." When you put quality above cheapness you are "trading up;" when you consider price only, you are "trading down."

The same rule governs merchants.

For upwards of 46 years Rich's has been "trading up." Our experience is a constant testing and replacing of goods that were formerly "best" with new goods that are "better" for approximately the same money values.

Because of this policy of forever "trading up" Rich's has established its unrivaled position amongst the foremost stores of Atlanta.

TELLS WHY HE LEFT MINISTERS' MEETING

Not Angry, But Objected to Parliamentary Discourtesy, Says Dr. Daniel.

The Evangelical Ministers' association unsalmously adopted verbatim at a meeting Monday the resolutions recently passed by the Baptist Ministers' association approving the fight of the First Baptist church against locker clubs.

Before the resolutions were adopted, however, a controversy arose over the word "action" in the clause of the original resolutions which read: "As citizens and ministers . . . we do heartily approve the action of the First Baptist church in its resolution adopted March 18."

Dr. C. B. Wilmer, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church, declared that the word "action" was too concrete an expression to be used in regard to the locker question and moved that the word "principle" be substituted in its stead.

Dr. C. W. Daniel, of the First Baptist church, however, objected to any change in the original resolutions. While Dr. Daniel was on the floor opposing Dr. Wilmer's motion, the chairman, Dr. L. O. Bricker, called for a vote. Dr. Daniel insisted that his motion against the amendment be put to the conference, and as he was not recognized by the chairman, left the room.

Dr. Wilmer urged him to return, but he refused. Dr. Wilmer then asked the chairman that Dr. Daniel's motion be considered, and when it was brought up, he voted for it, with the entire conference.

"There was no ill feeling on my part at all," said Dr. Daniel after the meeting. "After being ruthlessly subjected to parliamentary discourtesy, I felt that I could not remain without protesting such ruling on the part of the chairman, and to avoid further protest, I absented myself from the conference. The question debated had absolutely nothing to do with it, nor was I in the least angry when I left. I understand that after I left the chairman stated that he meant no discourtesy in disregarding my motion, if this was so stated, I accept his apology in the matter."

MURDER TRIAL CLOSES WITH RIOTOUS SCENES

San Diego, Cal., April 6.—Riotous scenes attended the closing of the murder trial of Paul Aubain, aged 40, here late today when the prisoner, after being pronounced guilty, leaped over a railing and slightly wounded Assistant District Attorney Dempster McKee with a weapon fashioned from a spoon.

Spectators overpowered Aubain, but about fifty friends of the alleged murderer's victim rushed for the assailant. He was rescued by a squad of police. Aubain was tried for the murder of two Italians. His defense was that they had attempted to blackmail him.

Grass.

(From The Milwaukee Wisconsin.)

Scientists long have believed that the "grass" which was eaten by Nebuchadnezzar to cure the malady that for several years threatened or obscured his reason was what modern epicures esteem under the name of asparagus. Asparagus is appetizing as well as otherwise suited to the alimentary requirements of man. There is a belief that the grains upon which man leans as the staff of life originally were developed from grasses. Interesting speculation is indulged in as to whether, if meat should become unavailable, man could extract nourishment from the sources that suffice for the herbivorous creatures which find in grass their favorite diet.

Next season Mrs. Fiske is to appear in an eighteenth century costume comedy. The play will be one of the important undertakings of her career.

HIS PATIENCE ENDED WHEN WIFE HIT HIM WITH A FIRE SHOVEL

The "Watchful, Waiting" policy turned out badly for Lloyd Brown, mechanic, he testified Monday, in bringing an undefended suit for divorce in Judge Ellis' superior court. He was married in May, 1900. He said that in spite of a year or two his wife began to take a violent dislike to him. She came home one night, for instance, and found she had not only left the house, but had taken all the covers off the bed before so doing.

"I borrowed some more from a neighbor," he said, "and when my wife became back in the morning. I explained to her that things couldn't go along that way much longer. She seemingly calm about it, but she went up in the air and began calling me names. I didn't answer back. The witness paused explanatorily, "I don't believe in talking back to a woman. I just sat there and said nothing. Well, that made her madder and madder. I just sat still and kept quiet. Finally she hit me over the head with a fire shovel."

After that the witness said he had insisted on a separation, and his wife had left the house that night. She never returned, he said. Judge Ellis granted the divorce.

VICTORY FOR THE "DRYS" IN MICHIGAN ELECTION

Detroit, Mich., April 6.—Practically complete returns from the twelve Michigan counties which voted today on the local option question gave the "drys" a victory in the winning of Ingham county, in which Lansing, the state capital, is located.

The county situation follows:

Clare went "dry." Gratiot, "wet." Roscommon and Ingham went from "wet" to "dry." Six others stayed "dry," two by small majorities. Another was conceded to the "drys" by the "wets" and two remained "wet."

Michigan, as the result of today's election, has thirty-four "dry" counties and forty-nine counties are "wet." The important counties, which chose to remain in the "dry" column today did so by a smaller majority than two years ago.

SEEKING FREE RIDE, YOUTH GETS A FALL FROM TROLLEY CAR

When James Edward Shaw, the 4-year-old son of Plain Clothes Policeman Shaw, of No. 109 Bryant street, tried to get a ride on a Grant Park street car Monday morning about 11 o'clock, catching hold of the bumper on the rear end, he was dragged the distance of one block from the corner of Bryant street and Park avenue to the corner of Woodward avenue. When the car stopped to take on a passenger, it lady rushed up and lifted the little fellow from the bumper.

The boy's toe nails were torn off, and his legs torn and cut. His holding on to the bumper, probably saved his life, the lady stating that if he had turned loose he would have been thrown to the ground on his face.

The lady carried young James to his home around the corner, and turned him over to the care of his mother, disappearing without giving her name.

This involves the raising of a loan of $20,000,000 in this country, and in arranging for this transaction, Minister Shah will have the benefit of the active support of the American Red Cross which practically initiated the great projected improvement.

How to Make Farmer Life Pleasanter.

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside Alice Elizabeth Wells writes an article entitled "A Business Proposition," in which she shows how farmers ought to keep strict account books with pages devoted to poultry, calves, pigs, cows, bees, orchards, gardens, etc., just as any other business is operated. In no other manner can the farmer tell exactly what part of his business is profitable. Miss Wells goes on to say:

"I believe no feature of farm life would appeal more forcibly to our girls and boys than the fact that we know that sloping pigs, cleaning poultry houses, or spraying fruit trees are only details of a paying business proposition and no more disagreeable than sweeping stores, waiting on unpleasant customers, or dealing with unscrupulous business men. Keeping a book account with flocks and herds, field and pastures, adds to the dignity of rural life and to our self-respect. I venture to add that one traveling through the country with the idea in view of measuring comparative prosperity of individual farm owners can quite accurately judge by environment just who make a profession of their business and just who, in a happy-go-lucky manner, follow along the line of least resistance, rejoicing in good years and good luck and replacing when clouds refuse to shed moistening and hens refuse to lay."
