CORN CLUB YOUTHS TAKE POSSESSION OF ATLANTA TODAY

Show Opens on First Floor of State Capitol Building, Which Resembles Dozen County Fairs.

HOMES FOR THOUSAND ALMOST PROVIDED FOR

Canning Club Girls Divide Honors—One Made Net Profit of $131 on Tenth Acre.

The Kimball house yesterday notified the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce that it would be glad to take ten of the Corn Club boys during their stay in the city.

Georgia's Corn club boys and Canning club girls will begin coming to Atlanta today, and by tomorrow morning there will be a full thousand of them practically in possession of the city.

They are coming here from more than one hundred Georgia counties, scattered all the way from Rabun Gap to Tybee light, and from Lookout mountain to the Florida line.

The 3,000 corn club exhibits and the 23 county canning club exhibits have all been set up at the state capitol, where first floor looks like several county fairs all combined into one. The work of arranging the exhibits has been done under the personal direction of Chairman H. G. Hastings, of the Corn show committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, who furnished a special crew of men for this purpose, with Roland L. Lyon in charge.

Boys Almost Provided For.

Nearly enough homes have been obtained for all the boys who will come, and it is believed today will see enough homes furnished to take care of every one of them.

A special bureau of information in charge of Henry Robinson, of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, has been set up near the Washington street entrance to the capitol, and will be open at 10 o'clock this morning. As the corn club agents and county school superintendents arrive with the boys, they will be furnished with cards giving the names and addresses of the homes and the names of the boys who go to each particular home. This card will serve as a means of introducing each of the boys to those in whose homes they are to be located while in Atlanta. Information from each county as near together as possible. Not more than 200 boys are expected today at the capitol. The large majority of them, will come on Wednesday morning, and will reach the homes to which they are assigned in time for luncheon. They will remain here Wednesday night and Thursday night, leaving Friday, though some of them will take the train for their home Thursday afternoon.

Each hostess will be furnished tickets and invited to attend the presentation of the moving picture, "The Dawn of Plenty," at the Grand exhibit house Wednesday evening. On this occasion Commissioner of Agriculture J. D. Price will deliver a special talk to the boys at the opening of the performance.

Special Exercises Thursday.

In addition to the program heretofore announced, special exercises will be held in the hall of the house of representatives at the capitol Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. President William L. Moore, of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, will preside, and brief addresses will be delivered by Chancellor David C. Barrow, of the State university; State Superintendent of Education M. L. Brittain, J. Phil Campbell, representing the United States department of agriculture, and Dr. A. M. Soule, president of the State College of Agriculture. Mr. Campbell will announce the awards of the prizes to the corn clubs and the canning members, while Dr. Soule will deliver diplomas from the State College of Agriculture to all the boys who have made 100 bushels or more of corn on their acre.

Three of Atlanta's leading moving picture shows have agreed to admit the boys free upon showing their corn club buttons. These moving picture shows are the Vaudette, 74 Whitehall street, which will admit the boys from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.; the Savoy, 78 Peachtree, and the Alcazar, 99 Peachtree, both of which will admit them from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

One or two moving picture concerns will have a number of cameras on the job during the entire corn show to take pictures of the boys wherever they go.

Canning Club Girls.

The work of placing the exhibits of the 23 County canning clubs in charge of Miss Mary E. Cresswell. She is superintending the setting up of over 2,000 cans of some splendid results have been achieved. The best of the canning club exhibits from 28 Georgia counties this year, while there will be approximately 20 individual exhibits made by those who have taken the lead in the work in their respective communities.

Special mention is made by Miss Cresswell of the work of Clyde Sullivan, of Dunlap, Cherokee county, who from one-tenth of an acre, in tomatoes cultivated by herself, put up more than 2,000 No. 2 cans. Her total receipts were $227, and her expenses were $96, including not only the cost of her supplies, but her own labor calculated at 10 cents an hour. She calculated the entire output to a carpenter-commissary near her home, making a net profit of $131. Little Miss Sullivan is but 14 years old.

Eron Dooly, of Oconee county, a 12-year-old girl, more than doubled her last year's record. She put up 1,400 No. 2 cans of tomatoes, from which she made a profit of more than $100, doing all the work herself.

A. L. Belle Isle has given to the canning clubs the use of his big automobile truck for the corn show parade Thursday afternoon. Some 40 visiting girls will ride on this truck in the parade at the head of the corn clubs.

Homes Provided.

Up to Monday night homes had been provided for a total of 796 Corn Club

Previously reported	$12,900
Reported Monday	6,000
Total new fund	$18,900

That's the way the Oglethorpe university fund is jumping, and that's the way the canvassing committees are going to keep it climbing every day until Atlanta's entire $250,000 is raised and the establishment of Oglethorpe in Atlanta is absolutely assured.

The first meeting of the canvassing committees since their appointment Saturday was held Monday at 12:30 o'clock at the Piedmont hotel, where luncheon was served, and there reports were all held every day at the same hour until the canvass is completed.

Twenty-five enthusiastic committee chairmen and members of the executive committee gathered around the table, and the news of Oglethorpe was unloosed.

Every committee chairman present was called on to make a report whether he had secured any subscriptions or not. Seven committees reported subscriptions which they have already secured, while eight other committees reported that they had just completed organization and making their plans. They stated they expected to get at work immediately following the encouragement of the meeting and said they would certainly have some substantial subscriptions to report on the next day.

A Remarkable Showing.

Henry Schaul's committee made the most remarkable showing of the day. Mr. Schaul reported aggregate subscriptions of $2,124, secured by himself and the members of his committee since Saturday. Some of these subscriptions were large and substantial ones; others came from those able to give only smaller amounts, and will be divided into payments such as to lighten the burden.

"Except in one or two instances," Mr. Schaul said, "I requested every man I saw to divide his payments so as to make each of them payable on his birthday. Where a man gave $20, for instance, he would have the first pay-

Go to See Child Welfare Exhibit, Mayor Woodward Urges Atlantans

VOLUNTEER NURSE AND BABY—OF CORNELIA MOORE DAY NURSERY.

City of Atlanta, Office of Mayor—To the Citizens of Atlanta: I consider the Child Welfare and Public Health exhibit of so much importance that I desire, officially, to bring it to the attention of the public. Much of the exhibit is of particular interest to Atlantans, because it shows in many striking ways what is being done to safeguard the health of the city and to improve the conditions in its homes. Other features—more general in character—have been brought here at considerable expense in order that this community may secure the benefit of the best thought of the world along the lines of Child Welfare. This exhibit will be instructive to all classes, and no one interested in the betterment of our homes and the welfare of our children should fail to see it.

(Signed) J. G. WOODWARD, Mayor.

"This is a show that every man and woman in the city should see," said Mayor Woodward, after he made a careful inspection of the Child Welfare exhibit, which he opened in the Leyden house yesterday with formal exercises.

"If I can do anything toward getting people here let me know what it is," he continued. Visiting the free clinic for crippled children, his voice faltered, he reached out to pat on the head a little boy out of three who was being taught to walk, and declared, "Something must be done for all little children like these."

From room to room he went, stopping always to inquire about the children he saw; talking to some, petting others, and carrying two in his arms when he went to the front porch to see the indoor sand pile that was built there for children to play in.

Compliments Children.

He complimented the children from the Home for the Friendless, who were in an exhibit demonstrating basketry and sewing; he was delighted with the babies in the Cornelia Moore nursery exhibit, and commended the cradle and swing made out of a fifty-cent basket.

He was shown the baby trousseau made by the ladies of the Octagon club, who give them to the poor through the Associated Charities, and he read with studious attention the charts bearing upon the necessity of vital statistics.

He saw the rooms where medical inspection was in progress; the dentist chair, where little folks were showing their teeth, and he was edified to see the best physicians in the city giving their services as the children who were brought to them.

The social exhibits upstairs were next visited, and those bearing on pure foods, fresh air and ventilation and sanitation. The horrors of the fly in its relation to public health as demonstrated in charts and pictures were studied by the mayor, and he spent some time in the room where Dr. Fort, of the state health board, shows the various exhibits bearing upon the eradication of the bookworm in Georgia.

The mayor was accompanied by his secretary, by Mrs. Charles J. Haden, who is chairman of the local executive committee of the Welfare exhibit, and by Mr. Haden, Miss Ellen Babbit,

COL. LOWRY'S AUTO HITS TROLLEY CAR

Handsome Machine Wrecked, Chauffeur Injured and Back of Street Car Is Slightly Damaged.

Skidding on the slippery pavement of Peachtree at the junction of Forrest avenue, a $7,500 Peerless limousine, the property of Colonel Robert J. Lowry, crashed into an outgoing Forrest avenue trolley car at midnight last night and was completely wrecked.

The negro chauffeur, William L. Burns, was catapulted through the windshield. Another negro, Lovett Butler, who was riding beside him on the front seat, was thrown thirty feet or more. Both were carried to Grady hospital, painfully, but not seriously, injured.

No one else was in the machine. A number of passengers on the trolley car, however, were badly shaken up. A few were struck by flying bits of glass. The car was crowded with homegoing theater patrons. The rear end of the car was crumpled into a wreck.

The automobile, one of the handsomest in Atlanta, was crushed into an unrecognizable heap of wreckage. It will be a complete loss. That neither of its occupants met death is nothing short of miraculous. Had anyone been on the rear platform of the trolley, death would have been unavoidable.

According to eye-witnesses, the limousine was coming over Ivy street in the direction of Forrest avenue. The trolley was just rounding into the curve at Ivy switch, rolling down reserve tracks.

As it neared the trolley, the limousine became unmanageable. Before the driver could change its course, he had collided with the car. A number of pedestrians on the sidewalk saw the bodies of both negroes fly into the air and to the pavement. For a time it was thought that both had met instant death. Neither, however, suffered injuries any greater than cuts and severe bruises.

FARNHAM LOST SUIT AGAINST GOVERNMENT

Washington, December 1.—Frank G. Farnham, who claimed $1,000,000 from the government on the contention that he was the inventor of the little waxed paper book in which the postoffice department sells stamps, lost his case today in the court of claims. The government denied the validity of his patents and contended that the book which become so popular was not entirely the one Farnham invented.

UNION MEN INDICTED ON MONOPOLY CHARGE

Leaders of Mine Workers Accused of Trying to "Corner" Labor.

Pueblo, Colo., December 1.—An attempt to secure a monopoly of labor is charged in indictments returned by the grand jury here today against national officers of the United Mine Workers of America. The men named are:

J. P. White, president; Frank J. Hayes, vice president, and William Green, secretary-treasurer.

Conspiracy in restraint of interstate commerce in violation of the federal anti-trust law, is charged in indictments against officials of the United Mine Workers of America, as follows:

Frank J. Hayes, John R. Lawson, Adolph Germer, Robert Uhlrich, A. B. McGarry, James Morgan, Charles Bates and Edward Wallace, editor of a labor paper at Trinidad.

Several other indictments were returned against miners for alleged depredations against property.

The indictments resulted from developments in the Colorado coal miners' strike.

The jury recommended that the mining laws be more diligently enforced; that the governor be empowered to regulate or suspend the sale of ammunition and explosives during strike troubles, that in cases of dispute both parties should be required by law to operate the mines pending settlement. Financial interest of coal companies in saloons was denounced.

Methods of the United Mine Workers were fervently condemned as "an insult to conservative and law-abiding citizens."

"They have brought here," says the jury's report, "experienced strike agitators and have armed hundreds of irresponsible aliens who have become a menace to the peace and prosperity and even the lives of citizens. They created open insurrection in southern Colorado and have resorted to measures which all fair-minded labor organizations repudiate. The officers in charge of many of the tent colonies confess their inability to control the men whom they have armed and housed.

"Evidently no qualification is necessary for membership in the United Mine Workers of America other than a pretense to pay dues, while any apparently used to support insurrection and lawlessness when necessary to force their demands by intimidation and fear whenever strikes are called, with the result of injuring other trades and the entailment of hardships and privations on the people of the entire commonwealth.

"The lawlessness of many of the striking miners is caused by radical agitators imported from other states who inflame them with incendiary speeches and exhortations to violence."

RESERVE BANK FOR ATLANTA

Robert F. Maddox Thinks Chance Is Good—Atlanta Banker Likes Amended Currency Bill.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, December 1.—(Special.) "There is an excellent chance of the federal reserve bank of Atlanta being organized at an early date," said Hon. Robert F. Maddox, of Atlanta, today after conferring with a number of members of the senate over the outlook for currency legislation. "If eight reserve banks are created our chances are good, and if twelve are established we are almost certain to land the headquarters of the bank for the southeastern states."

In discussing the amended bill approved by the senate democrats in conference, Mr. Maddox said it was a far better bill than the Glass bill, which was passed by the house.

Mr. Maddox came to Washington as the representative of the Atlanta clearing house to confer with Senators Bacon and Smith about currency legislation. He talked with a number of other senators during the day.

McAdoo Friendly to Atlanta.

"I understand that Mr. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, is very friendly to Atlanta," said Mr. Maddox. "While the talk of the location of these banks is very general and indefinite as yet, Atlanta is being considered. Everybody concedes that New York, Chicago and St. Louis, the present central reserve cities, will be headquarters of reserve banks. Then San Francisco is the indoor sand pile that was built there for children to play in.

Compliments Children.

He complimented the children from the Home for the Friendless, who were in an exhibit demonstrating basketry and sewing; he was delighted with the babies in the Cornelia Moore nursery exhibit, and commended the cradle and swing made out of a fifty-cent basket.

CHARGES FILED AGAINST TURNER

Council Will Probe, Following Allegation That City Electrician Is "Persecuting" Electric Company.

Charging that R. C. Turner, city electrician, is "persecuting" the Cotton States Electric company, Alfred Thomas, ex-councilman and attorney, in a petition he filed with council yesterday afternoon, asked for an official investigation of Turner's conduct.

Councilman Clarence Haverty, chairman of the board of electrical control, as the result of the charges, offered in council a resolution asking for a committee investigation. The resolution also asked for the appointment of a committee to make the probe. The resolution was referred to the electrical board.

The committee will probably be named by Mayor Pro Tem Warren.

The charges against Turner were the result of his action in tearing out certain wiring in the new Hurt skyscraper, put in by the Cotton States Electric company. After the work was done one of the workmen filed an affidavit with the city electrician in which he declared that the feeder wires were spliced, and as this is contrary to the law the city electrician ordered the wiring to be torn out and inspected.

Attorney Thomas, in his first appearance before the board of electrical control, charged that Turner had no right to order the wiring to be torn out, and claimed that the damage to his client amounted to $1,000. He also set forth that Turner had no authority to revoke the license of the Cotton States Electric company and in this contention the board sustained him. The license was returned to the company.

City Electrician Turner also caused the current to be held off from the wiring in a church at Central avenue and Hunter street. Attorney Chambers secured a restraining order from the superior court, prohibiting interference with the company.

Mr. Turner declares confidence in the position he has taken and welcomes an investigation.

Accounting System Upheld.

Washington, December 1.—The uniform system of accounting prescribed by the interstate commerce commission for railroads was upheld today by the supreme court.

MENACED BY STARVATION, HUERTA'S SOLDIERS YIELD CHIHUAHUA TO THE REBELS

City a the Last Stronghold of the Dictator in Northern Mexico — Capital of the State of Chihuahua.

CONDITIONS IN CITY BEYOND ENDURANCE

Food Supply Exhausted and Rebels Had Cut the Aqueduct — Women and Children Walking to the American Border.

Juarez, Mexico, December 1.—Rather than endure starvation, the federal troops have evacuated Chihuahua City, according to advices received tonight by General Francisco Villa, the rebel leader. The evacuation leaves the city open to possession by the rebels. The town was invested by rebel troops weeks ago.

Starving People in Flight.

The report received by Villa states that Salvador Mercado, military governor of the state, with 2,000 federal troops, had left on foot for Ojinega on the United States border near Marfa, Texas; that Generals Jose Inez Salazar and Pascual Orozco, with more than 1,000 federals, had retreated to the mountains west of the city, and that hundreds of civilians, including women and children, who were on the verge of starvation, had started out to walk to the United States border.

Besides being the capital of the state, Chihuahua, with a population normally of 45,000, is the second city of northern Mexico. Neither in the Madero revolution, nor in the present uprising has Chihuahua been taken from the federals. Its garrison and the commanding positions for sharp shooters and machine guns afforded by the cathedral and public buildings heretofore had presented a formidable barrier to invaders. Had the rebels reached the city and the federals resisted, it was believed a fight in the city would result in great loss of life and property.

Conditions Not Endurable.

Conditions in the city were said to be such that life there was no longer endurable. The Spanish viaduct which conveyed water from the mountains was reported to have been destroyed and the food supply exhausted. General Villa, tonight telegraphed details of the evacuation to General Carranza at Hermosillo, stating the progress and advance of the rebels southward to Monterey. City now would be expedited.

The position of Chihuahua, he said, would make rebel territory of the country straight through to Santacoss, and operations would begin almost at once against Aguas Calientes.

General Villa said Federico Moye, a prominent merchant, had been named civil governor of Chihuahua state, his selection being based on the belief that he would be acceptable to the rebels.

City Evacuated Sunday.

"The evacuation of the capitulation of Chihuahua is authentic," said Villa. "It came to me in an official dispatch which said the city was evacuated on Sunday. A rebel courier at once set out and rode 120 miles northwest, where he met the rebel advance guard. This was a point called Villa Ahumada, where we have established supply and ammunition. I have transmitted the details to General Carranza, the head of the revolution.

"It is my purpose now to send a force to intercept Orozco, who is fleeing to Ojinaga, and also to capture Orozco and Salazar. Our main body probably will concentrate at Chihuahua preparatory to the advance southward. We will be nearing Mexico City within a month."

Villa Takes Goods and Cash.

Five hundred thousand dollars' worth of provisions and clothing and $100,000 from the Bank of Mino were confiscated in Juarez by Villa to support the rebels. The property was taken through the refusal of merchants to accept paper money issued by the rebels. The storekeepers, most of them Spanish, appealed to United States Consul Edwards, and later closed their doors and handed over the keys to the consul.

Consul Edwards later returned the keys to the owners, saying he could not guarantee the safety of the property. Meantime the places were forced open and the goods added to the loot. It was said the property was insured in an English company against looting.

Bloodhounds Fall Victim to Wiles Of Negro Convict

Trailed by Dogs, Rastus Tames William Burns, Sherlock Holmes and Newport Black, Then He Sells William.

Music hath power to soothe the savage beast, and certain preparations will quiet bloodhounds, but whatever it requires to take the blood out of bloodhounds, Erastus Johnson, ginky-limed and an escaped convict, happens to have it.

Sam Bickers, of Decatur—who, mind you, is not a press agent of any kind, form or fashion—brought news of it to Sheriff W. W. McCurdy, of DeKalb, verified his part of it, and Sheriff Luther King, of Rockdale county, said the whole business was an absolute fact.

So, on with the story. That's the thing.

Erastus Johnson grew tired of wearing shackles and manicuring cobblestones in the Rockdale county convict camp, and made his get-away last Sunday. He had no more than got over the nearest hill and into the most convenient clump of bushes before Sheriff King had three trusty bloodhounds on the trail.

Royal Bloodhounds, These.

Two of these bloodhounds were royally blooded. Sheriff King had only recently been offered $100 for each of them. The third was an amateur, but had a promising future. They were the pride of the effete-heart of Rockdale county, and were known far and wide to be the Scotland Yard of kenneldom.

These three dogs picked up the Erastus trail, and overtook him about a mile from the convict camp. Erastus was in a tree. The bloodhounds, whose names are Sherlock Holmes, William J. Burns and Newport Black, respectively, grouped themselves around the oak and began making the prospects direfully unpleasant for Erastus.

But not for long. Erastus climbed down into the midst of the canine sleuths, and within three shakes of a bloodhound's tail, had made himself an inseparable companion to the whole layout. How he did it no one knows. Nigger even has his only explanation is that "he just did it—that's all." The bloodhounds considered the fact that they and Erastus had a lot in common.

Mighty Tame Dogs Now.

Anyhow, Erastus tied a string around the neck of Newport Black, fastened the other string through the collar of William J. Burns, and led them down the ravine. Sherlock Holmes followed, amiable enough, tongue wagging an affection for Erastus, growing by leaps and bounds. There was about as much blood to that trio of alleged bloodhounds as there is in a stage murder.

Erastus traveled all night, Sherlock Holmes, Williams J. Burns and Newport Black at his heels. The next morning he arrived on the outskirts of Decatur. A farmerish-looking gentleman, who had seen Erastus and ex-perience met later, evidently a connoisseur in canines, took a liking to William J. Burns, and offered to buy him for sale.

"How much?" asked the stranger.

Erastus looked at Erastus and then at William J. Burns looked at Erastus and rubbed his nobble affectionately against the leg of his body-guard-to-be.

"Four bits," answered Erastus.

Loses William J. Burns.

The trade was made. The stranger made William J. Burns an unwilling prisoner and led him off. Erastus continued toward Decatur, Newport Black and Sherlock Holmes following contentedly in his tracks. Erastus whistled joyfully and tingled his four bits. An idea struck him. He got it from the sale of the devoted William J. Burns. He would sell Newport Black and Sherlock Holmes.

A few blocks further on Erastus met a livery stable door regonized good breeding in Sherlock and William J. and asked Erastus if they were for sale. Erastus had an eye for business and a keen business faculty. He meditated for a moment. Then:

"They're mought good dawgs."

"They look it."

"How much will you give?"

It was Sheriff McCurdy who spoke—Sheriff McCurdy, of Decatur, who is somewhat of a connoisseur himself.

"Nigger, you stole those dogs."

"I didn't."

How from Newport Black and Sherlock Holmes were meant to deny the accusation.

They just took up with me. Them dawgs love me like a daddy."

Whines from Newport Black and Sherlock Holmes corroborated the assertion.

Erastus Is Pinched.

Erastus was arrested. Newport and Holmes were locked in the jail yard. Some time later Sheriff King notified Sheriff McCurdy of the negro's escape. McCurdy had not returned to Decatur and his foster-companions to the Rockdale county camp. That is, Sherlock and Newport Black.

William J. Burns is probably hunting possums now, in company with the Jamerish gentleman who bought the worth of ferocious bloodhound for "four bits."

BUSINESS AND PLEASURE

Almost every Southerner, who comes to New York on business looks forward to a pleasure trip as well, the success of which depends to a large degree on his hotel. The BRESLIN, on Broadway at 29th St., is a modern fireproof hotel with a respectable clientele, among whom are many from the South. It endeavors to render personal service and superior accommodations at a reasonable charge. Meet the Manager in the Dixie Dining Room.

Many Towns Need Improvements

There are a score of reasons why. The biggest and most conclusive reason is that Modern Improvements Pay.

They pay in Health. Sanitary living conditions are the right of the people. Without them there comes sickness, crippled efficiency, poverty and worse.

They pay in Money. The town that is alert and wide-awake enough to clean itself up, make itself attractive and wholesome, is the town that holds its own with firm grip and draws new population from elsewhere.

Is your town clean, efficient, wholesome—a good place to live? Is it the kind of town new industries and new people will naturally be attracted to?

If you lack Correct Sewerage, good water, lights, paving, you ought to get busy.

Our mission is to devise sanitary systems and improvements for towns and cities.

TARHEEL METHODISTS PUT BAN ON TOBACCO

Charlotte, N. C., December 1.—Preachers ordained or licensed by the Western North Carolina conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will not be allowed the solace of tobacco, the conference at today's session taking this action after a hard fight. The members of the conference now addicted to the weed will be allowed to continue its use, without encouragement.

Conference adjourned today after choosing Shelby as the place of meeting next year. A vote was taken on the proposed change of the name of the church to the Methodist Episcopal Church in America. This action is taken to mean that this conference favors union with the Northern Methodists.

A resolution to eliminate the words: "Holy Catholic Church" from the Apostle's creed of the church service was lost by a close vote.

TRAIN ROBBER KILLS OFFICIAL OF RAILROAD

Los Angeles, Cal., December 1.—H. E. Montague, traveling passenger agent of the Southern Pacific railroad, was shot and instantly killed this evening, while trying to disarm a highwayman, who was holding up the passengers in the Southern Pacific westbound Overland train No. 9. The highwayman boarded the train at Pomona, 30 miles east of here, and jumped off at Elmonte, 16 miles east.

ATLANTA SINNGER WON BY SOUTH AFRICAN

New York, December 1.—(Special.)—News reached here today of the announcement in Paris of the engagement of Margaret Claire, a well-known singer of Atlanta, to Aldan Wilmot, a British Colonial magistrate, of Deesa, South Africa.

Margaret Claire is the name adopted by Miss Margaret Claire Sheehan for her career on the opera stage, in which she has been successful on the continent for a number of years.

Miss Claire, who is the daughter of the late Cornelius Sheehan, one of Atlanta's wealthy pioneer citizens, studied for a number of years in Paris under Madame Marchesi, one of the world's greatest teachers.

She then made her opera debut in Italy, where she met with success. She has also done considerable drawing-room recital work and has been entertained in a number of noble English families.

She is the possessor of a beautiful lyric soprano voice, and on several occasions has charmed Atlanta audiences. She is expected home early this month.

MINISTERS TO PROBE PROBLEM OF DIVORCE

Ministers of Atlanta intend to take up a deep search into the marriage and divorce problem of the day, according to the plans made yesterday at the meeting of the Evangelical Ministers' association.

There was much heated discussion concerning the rights and duties of a minister to ask certain questions before performing the marriage ceremony. Some of the ministers expressed the belief that a minister ought to marry any persons holding the license which the state authorizes the ordinary to give them. Others held that a minister should satisfy himself about matters to which the state at present gives no heed.

It was decided to have one minister from each denomination investigate the matter and make a report at the next monthly meeting.

Election at Lawrenceville.

Lawrenceville, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—In the municipal election for councilman today Colonel John C. Houston, a prominent young member of the local bar, and Dr. D. Claud Kelley, a young practicing physician, were elected to the office for term of two years. Amid four candidates were in the race for the two vacancies, the vote being: John C. Houston 151, Claud Kelly 103, John P. Webb 27 and A. T. Green 5.

People Who Rarely Visit Theater Crowd Atlanta to See "Ben-Hur"

By Sidney Ormond.

After an absence of several years, "Ben-Hur," with all its pomp and pagan pageantry, its stirring scenes, its dramatic passages, and, what is more important, its intense emotional appeal, was presented at the Atlanta theater last night to a house of an audience which was characteristic of "Ben-Hur" productions.

One saw in the large gathering scores of people who seldom enter a playhouse—ministers of the gospel of all creeds; school teachers, who made the trip from nearby and even distant towns, for the express purpose of seeing a play of which they had heard so much; young girls, who were babes in arms when "Ben-Hur" was first produced, and, of course, the usual assortment of habitual theatergoers, who can be depended on to swell a first-night audience.

THOMAS HOLDING.

With the passing of the years "Ben-Hur" has lost none of its hold on the popular imagination, none of its power of appeal to the emotionally or religiously inclined; little of its lavish splendor of scenic effect. Other historical and religious plays have had their brief day on the boards and been consigned to the limbo of dead and forgotten things; but "Ben-Hur," the parent of them all, shows no sign of losing its power to hold the average person enthralled.

One scene alone—that wonderfully contrived touch in the final act, when the people of Jerusalem are awaiting the coming of Christ—waiting for the sight of a face which is suggested by the glorious light of His presence, waiting and singing hosannas to His name—produces an effect which defies description. It may not be a hit you may call it by what name you will, but be you Jew or Gentile or follower of any of the hundred and one creeds, you cannot but acknowledge its subtle force to fire the imagination.

And the chariot race—more obvious and more spectacular—grips you as it did when first you read Lew Wallace's incomparable story. This year there are twelve horses in the race, whereas there formerly were but eight.

Other scenes were staged and enacted with fidelity to the original production. The incidental music, which forms an important part of the play, was well rendered.

The company is a capable one, and is well up to the standard of other years. There are no particularly brilliant bits of acting, for the very good reason that "Ben-Hur" was never designed to exploit the individual actor.

In its last analysis it is merely a series of stirring tableaux. Its success depends on the manner in which the piece is staged and the number of actors employed.

Klaw & Erlanger have spared no expense in this year's production, which carries nearly 200 people.

Thomas Holding, a young English actor, who plays the character of Ben-Hur, is ideally suited to the role in face and figure. He is strikingly handsome, and will appeal to matinee audiences. One could wish, however, that he were less declamatory in his reading of his lines. Arthur Linden's interpretation of Messala was intelligent and provoked applause. Miss Roberta Bruenar made a beautiful Esther, but her acting was by no means convincing. Virginia Howell was far more successful as Iras.

"Ben-Hur" will remain at the Atlanta all the week, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

AT THE THEATERS

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

It's a corking good bill offered at the Forsyth this week, one that met with the approval of practically every patron of the popular playhouse at the two performances won Monday, and one which will undoubtedly pack the playhouse for the rest of the week.

Beginning with the Vivians, sharp-shooters, who are placed first just because they make the bill faster and fit for stage reasons, on through every act up to the finale, the appearance of Miss Orford and her wonderful elephants, there is not an opportunity offered the grouch to kick.

It was good to hear the applause after the majority of the acts, for there was nothing half-hearted about it. The people in front were enjoying themselves—were satisfied they were getting the worth of their money—and wanted other folks to know it.

On several occasions the Vivians have appeared in the role of entertainers here, and their work with the rifle and pistol seems to improve with age. Miss Vivian has lost some forty-five pounds in weight since her first appearance, but this has not detracted from her personal attractiveness.

Ward and Weber, two boys, come next in dances. Their act pleased.

Klein, Abe and Nicholson then proceeded to show Atlanta that musical acts could "get over" big. This number offers comedy, rag playing and grand opera.

Charlie and Fannie Van, assisted by Fred Van, well remembered here in "From Stage Carpenter to Ackter," had them screaming from the opening.

Then came a little sketch that has played here before, but never liked every time it appears. It is presented by Paul Nicholson and Miss Norton, and tells the tribulations of a young married couple, whose livelihood is dependent upon the small salary they earn at two of New York's biggest stores.

Then trips out a little woman who has never been seen here before—Miss Ruth Noyes—who gets more out of a song than most of the comediennes of today ever dreamed of. She leaves the stage when she gets tired, not because the audience is tired of her.

And last and best of all is Miss Orford and her elephants. Everybody you meet today will tell you of the big pets who dance with their mistress, ring the telephone and talk over it, put a baby elephant to sleep, and finally put out a fire. It's some swell act.

"The White Slave."

(At the Lyric.)

Bartley Campbell's "The White Slave" has come back. Despite the statement of certain managers several years ago that "they never come back"—they, meaning both playlets and shows—do, once and awhile, travel upward from the bottom of the bank.

"The White Slave" was first produced some thirty years ago. It is melodrama of the mellowest sort.

In season and out in stock and out on the road, under canvas and in repertoire, "The White Slave" has trouped the length and breadth of the land. It has not lost favor with age.

A goodly crowd greeted the revival of the play, under the personal direction of Robert Campbell, son of the author, last night at the Lyric. The audience wept at the right places, hissed the villian appropriately and applauded the heroine as the heavy man still pursued her.

A band of darky colored dancers and musicians beat all known local ragtime records and was one of the features of a well-balanced performance.

The company is clever and handled its lines satisfactorily.

"By the Sad Sea Waves."

(At the Columbia.)

Bathing girls, smiles and dimples predominate in "By the Sad Sea Waves," at the Columbia theater this week. But it is not to be inferred that these are the only features, for there are several which appealed to the big crowds which thronged the theater at matinee and night performances. The bathing girls and their smiles and dimples was what caught the crowd, especially in a rather novel and suggestive scene wherein the girls take refuge behind a transparent screen.

As usual the Columbia still seems with catchy music. Charles Gramlich and Helena Hall are again seen in the principal roles, and the Princess La Cell, of whom the crowds seem to never tire, has a new fan-dangled dance, and she is all to the good. Anna Elder and Blanch Wilcox have fine parts and appear to advantage. The chorus seems to be better this week than ever. In fact the entire bill is far above the average, and is worth seeing.

In the olio Gray and Red Eagle, a pair of genuine Indians, are headliners. The act is different from the ordinary run of vaudeville acts and is entirely pleasing.

WHET AXES IN 7TH OVER POLICE BOARD

Decision by a Majority of the Council Delegation to Nominate M. M. Anderson Precipitates Hot Battle.

Political axes are being whetted today in the seventh ward, and a sharp clash is imminent as the result of a caucus yesterday at which Marcellus Anderson, a foe of Mayor James G. Woodward, was selected to step into Police Commissioner J. N. McEachern's place, after the next meeting of the general council.

Instead of serving out his term, which expires in March, 1914, Commissioner McEachern sent his resignation to council Monday. His action surprised those members who assumed that all was "velvet" in the seventh insofar as patronage was concerned. It was generally understood that the encumbent delegation—Alderman F. J. Spratling and Councilman A. R. Colcord and Roy Abernathy— would not seek to place any more appointments this year and would leave the police commissionership for the new members to deal out.

Decide Upon Anderson.

Alderman Spratling and Councilman Abernathy went into caucus immediately after the clerk read Commissioner McEachern's resignation. Councilman-elect Armistead, as soon as he heard that the caucus had decided to put Anderson forward. He declared that he realized that he had a fight on his hands, and explained that he was ready to cross axes.

"I have no fight to make against Marcellus Anderson," he said. "I have been his friend for years, but I did not intend for him to be named police commissioner. I protested that place to Fred Lester."

Are Crossing Anderson.

It was frankly admitted by all who were in on the selection of Anderson that he was selected to fill the unexpired term of Commissioner McEachern in order to be groomed for the full term, which begins after March, 1914.

Councilman Colcord, it is expected, will cast aside all precedent and put forth Fred Lester when Aldermen Spratling and Councilman Abernathy nominate Anderson. Anderson, however, has enough friends in council to assure his election.

Graham P. Dozier, police commissioner from the tenth ward, also sent his resignation to council. His successor has not been definitely decided upon, but it is said that George Dixon, the insurance man, will be named as his successor.

BURNS MANUSCRIPTS WILL GO TO SCOTLAND

Philadelphia, December 1.—The mystery surrounding the whereabouts of the Glenriddell manuscripts of the Poet Burns, which were sold by the Athenaeum library of Liverpool last summer, was cleared up here tonight when John Gribbel, vice president of The Philadelphia Ledger, and associated in the Curtis Publishing company, announced that the two volumes were in his possession.

Mr. Gribbel made the announcement at a dinner of the St. Andrew's society. He declared that he had purchased the manuscripts from a dealer, and that he would restore them to Scotland, forever protected by a deed of trust, as a gift to the people who gave Robert Burns to the world.

As he finished speaking the two quarto volumes, bound in old polished calf, were removed from a fireproof box and laid before the guests.

Mr. Gribbel recounted how Burns, between 1788 and 1791, prepared a manuscript volume containing his selected poems finished as he wanted them known to posterity and also a volume containing his manuscript letters. He also told of Burns presenting them to his friend Riddell, of Glenriddell. Riddell died in 1794, and his widow returned them to Burns. In 1853 the volumes came into the possession of the Liverpool Athenaeum library, where they remained for sixty years, virtually unknown. Mr. Gribbel said:

"During the summer just passed the English reading world was shocked to read in the public press that the authorities of the Liverpool Athenaeum had sold for money these priceless treasures. Hurried efforts were made to stop the transfer of the volumes but the delivery had been made, and in the excitement they disappeared with the unknown buyer unhindered. Two weeks ago I was astonished beyond measure by having a dealer come to Philadelphia and submit to me for sale the missing manuscripts. Hoping all aversion to the possession of property of a certain class, I refused to consider them as any possible possession of my own, priceless though they are, but, gentlemen, here they are sold as merchandise in the market place and in my possession, but with a purpose which I am sure you will approve.

"These manuscripts, after the death of Burns, were the property of Jean. She only lent them to Dr. Currie (who wrote a life of the poet), and those who came after him had no stronger title to them. To whom then do they now belong by right but to those whose chief possession now is the glory of her immortal son."

Mr. Gribbel explained that he has not yet decided to which institution in Scotland the manuscripts should be presented.

When the sale of the Glenriddell manuscripts was announced last summer it was reported that the papers had been bought by Dr. Joe Jacobs, of Atlanta, who is an ardent admirer of Burns. Dr. Jacobs, however, declared he was not the purchaser, and until the announcement of Mr. Gribbel last night it was not known who possessed the manuscripts.

"CASCARETS" CLEANSE LIVER AND BOWELS

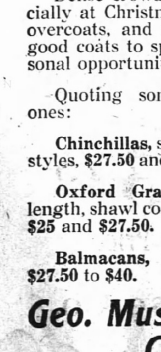
Feel Bully! No Headache, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath, Constipation.

Get a 10-cent box now.

Are you keeping your liver, stomach and bowels clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

No odds how sick, headachy, bilious and constipated you feel, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your dead clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a gentle cleansing, too.



Overcoats--- Christmas and Opportunities

Christmas is the time when every man perks up and puts his best foot forward.

Should you get a glimpse of his handsome belted back instead, you'll know he has been to MUSE'S—that he has been wise in his own time, and sought the coat of worth and warmth while yet there was "daylight" ahead.

Dense crowds do collect—especially at Christmas—to buy MUSE overcoats, and there shall yet be good coats to spare, but your personal opportunity is today.

of the Russell Sage foundation, and Miss Lillian D. Wald, of the executive committee of the National Child Welfare committee, of New York.

Prominent People Interested.

Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin, the newly elected president of the City Federation of Women's clubs, was present and declared: "Not only should every mother in the city visit this exhibit, but every man and woman interested in the city's welfare, in the many exhibits I have seen this morning it seems to me every element of civic life is touched upon—health, education, manual recreation and beauty.

Mrs. Nellie Peters Black, organ[izer] of the free kindergarten association, was present, and stated that each day the children from some one of the free kindergartens would give an exhibition of their work.

Mrs. Robert Foreman, Mrs. Wilmer Moore, Mrs. Henry Inman, representing the Cornelia Moore day nursery, were present, completing the model nursery they have equipped and members of the Order of Old-Fashioned Women. Mrs. Gilbert Fraser was installing the exhibit being made by the Sheltering Arms.

Miss Katherine Wooten was present, giving the finishing touches to the little library which contains the books marked as the very best for the pleasure and amusement of the child.

Miss Pauline Harrison, in charge of the free clinic for crippled children, has the work around which the keenest human interest centers.

Telling and far-reaching exhibits are made by the Atlanta Anti-Tuberculosis society, by the Battle Hill sanitarium, by the Associated Charities and by many more of Atlanta's commendable institutions.

Program Today.

The program today includes active exhibits in basketry and sewing; an exhibit by the children from the School for the Deaf; exercises in gymnastic drills, folk dances by the Campfire Girls and Boy Scouts.

There will be moving pictures in the afternoon, and at 5 o'clock a lecture by Dr. C. C. Howard, on "Oral Hygiene."

All mothers are invited to come and bring their children. The medical inspection is free, and there will be groups of people present to give all desired information. Mrs. Linton Hopkins is chairman of the committee on explainers today.

Hearty applause greeted the announcement of the result of the efforts of Mr. Heidt and his committee.

Ready for Today.

The efforts of the committee did not cease with the noonday meeting, but they went on even more actively to work in the afternoon. In addition, the remaining seven committees were strongly organized and their plans made.

As a result of the work done Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning, therefore, it is anticipated that a still better report will be made at the noon meeting today.

Porter Langston stated that he would have a $1,000 subscription to announce at the next meeting. It had already been secured, he said, but he could not announce the donor until Tuesday.

Several others spoke of subscriptions for good, substantial amounts, which will be announced this week.

The noonday meeting was one of the most enthusiastic that has yet been held in connection with the movement. Ivan E. Allen, chairman of the campaign committee, presided, and a list of the subscriptions was placed on a blackboard as they were announced.

The Atlanta Ad Men's committee, which always gets what it goes after, is yet to be heard from. This committee organized at a meeting called to order during the afternoon. It is expected it will have an interesting report to make today.

HEART BALM SUIT OF AGED WOMAN SETTLED FOR $2,750

Savannah, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—A friendly settlement of the heart balm suit of Mrs. Hannah S. Whilden against Preston E. Greene, was effected today in the superior court here.

Mrs. Whilden, who is 70 years old, alleged that Greene took advantage of the confidence she reposed in him, by laying claim to valuable property which she claims she owns in Savannah and Palm Beach, Fla. Mrs. Whilden is very wealthy. Greene, who is about 40 years her junior, was formerly her trusted friend and confidant.

In settling the suit Greene agreed to sell to Mrs. Whilden for $2,750, the property which she claims he took from her. The property is worth over $30,000.

G. A. HALL ELECTED MAYOR OF CALHOUN

Calhoun, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—In today's three-cornered race for mayor, G. A. Hall was elected, polling nearly twice as many votes as the combined vote of his two opponents, W. H. Hughes and T. C. Cantrell.

In the race for aldermen, Henry Hall and M. Moss were the successful candidates. Colonel J. G. B. Erwin and W. S. Pritchett were re-elected to the school board.

ANDREWS SAIL WITH WHITE HOUSE COUPLE

Colonel and Mrs. W. P. Andrews, on their trip to the countries along the Mediterranean, where Colonel Andrews goes as United States commissioner on behalf of the San Francisco exposition, sailed from New York Saturday on the same boat with Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, according to dispatches received in Atlanta.

The white house couple are on their honeymoon and took passage on the George Washington of the Hamburg-American line.

WITH THE MOVIES

The Vaudette.

"The Sign of the Snake" is the title of a Kay-Bee drama of the Mexican border which will be shown at the Vaudette today. It is a love tragedy, connected with the smuggling of Chinese immigrants across the border.

The American soldiers capture a band of wealthy Chinese who are trying to cross the border, including a Christianized Chinese girl named Moon Chew. The girl has been sold to a Chinese, but falls in love with the soldier and dies to save his life in the tragic plot that follows. "The Reporter's Scoop," Rolinson and "The Prolong Love Potion," Thanhouser, will also be shown. The Steiner Kay Comedy Four is singing daily.

The Alamo No. 1.

"Wrecked," a $75,000 three-reel Vitagraph drama, which is beyond question the greatest railroad picture ever made, will be seen at the Alamo No. 1 today and tomorrow. This is an exceptional and remarkable picture, possessing tremendous dramatic power. Thrilling situations of extreme moments are shown in a railroad wreck, depicting a head-on collision of a runaway locomotive and another engine, drawing a train of cars filled with passengers, both engines running at the rate of miles an hour. The scene of the wreck was staged at Hampton. The Benedict-Harmony Kay Comedy, "The Fresh Detective," ever heard in Atlanta, is at this theater for today and Wednesday only.

The Alamo No. 2.

"The Cipher Message," a drama of society crooks in modern English setting, will be seen at the Alamo No. 2 today. Lionel Verker and his sister, Marie, prey upon rich American society folks, but are finally exposed by Donald Bryce, a famous detective, and are sent to prison. A big Edison feature, "The Price of Human Power," will also be shown. Auriema and the Monarch quartet will both be at the Alamo No. 2 all this week.

CONGRESS BEGINS "LONG" SESSION

Washington, December 1.—Congress today closed the extraordinary session, which began April 7, and settled down to the regular "long" session, expected to continue into next summer. Until the absolutely necessary formality marked the ending of the old session and the beginning of the new.

The senate was in session practically all day.

An attempt to institute the proposed drastic program of day and night sessions for consideration of the administration currency bill failed, the democrats agreeing to allow final settlement of the program to go over until tomorrow to give the republicans time to confer.

Republican Leader Gallinger and Senator Smoot comforted the democrats with the announcement that the republicans would make no effort to filibuster or obstruct in any way the passage of currency legislation and the democratic leaders tonight predicted the enactment of the measure before the holidays.

The currency bill, as completed by the democratic conference, was printed and prepared for the senate today, and Senator Owen presented it as a substitute for the bill originally reported by himself and the administration democrats of the banking and currency committee.

Senator Burton, republican, of Ohio, introduced a currency bill of his own which would provide for the formation of a central bank to be owned by the public and operated by the government.

The house contented itself with a brief meeting, formally opening the new session. The galleries were crowded to witness the opening, but the formalities were curtailed.

The grist of first day bills in the house was much smaller than usual, but there are still pending hundreds of bills covering nearly every conceivable form of legislation submitted in the extra session. The socialist members bills for trust regulation which the judiciary committee will consider. Hearings on trust legislation by this committee will be held before many weeks.

Representative Gray, of Indiana, introduced a bill which would provide for an international conference next fall for the purpose of agreeing to a limit of armament and suspension of naval construction programs. The bill would authorize an appropriation of $500,000, the United States to entertain the delegates from foreign powers.

Although the program for consideration of the currency measure was formally adopted in the senate, the democrats succeeded in beginning work on the bill. Discussion of the Hatch-Hetchy water bill lasted during the afternoon, and Senator Owen called up the currency measure. At 4 o'clock Democratic Leader Kern moved that the senate recess for two hours and sit during the evening to discuss currency. On a roll call the motion was adopted by a vote of 53 to 5.

The senate completed the first reading of the currency bill at a short night session, but adjourned without a formal opening of the debate. Senator Owen preferred that the senate devote discussion of the measure to open late tomorrow.

The senate will meet at 11 o'clock, but the greater part of the day will be taken up with discussion of the Hetch-Hetchy bill, which is the special order of business.

MORE ACTIVE DEMAND FOR GAME LICENSES

Game Commissioner Charles L. Davis declared yesterday that he was already in receipt of reports from about a dozen counties as to the number of game licenses disposed of during the month of November. He said that the indications were that the sale of game licenses would exceed that of the for the corresponding period last year.

Vicksburg May Sell Bonds.

Washington, December 1.—The United States supreme court today decided that the city of Vicksburg, Miss., has a right to sell bonds at present for the purpose of erecting at once a municipal system of waterworks for use after November, 1916, when the franchise rights of the Vicksburg Waterworks company expires.

CANAL DIGGING NEVER "PUT OFF"

The reason for the remarkable success of the Americans at Panama is to be found in something that was not there instead of something that was there. It is procrastination. The Panama Canal would never have been finished two years ahead of schedule if the men at the helm had ever put off anything. He didn't. He did it then. He does it today. There's nothing left over that can be done today.

No doubt you are interested in the Canal. You are an American. No doubt you have intended to take advantage of The Atlanta Constitution's offer of Mr. Haskin's excellent book at cost price. It is something you need at a price that will save you money. But you have put it off. Is there need to say more? You will find the coupon in another part of this issue—the very paper you have in your hands right now. Save it.

CURRENCY LEGISLATION.

The Fourth National Bank of New York is one of the strongest banks in the country. The men in control reflect the sentiment generally of the conservative and constructive financiers of the nation. Here is the tone of preparedness, of conciliation and of optimism in which the Fourth National bank speaks in its current financial review regarding the pending currency bill:

> It may be several weeks yet before congress reaches a vote on the currency bill, and it looks now as if a compromise measure would be arranged which will be acceptable to the people as a whole. If this should be the case, and it were possible to enact a law early next year the action would unquestionably be well received. At any rate it would seem as if the country were today nearer a solution of the currency problem than at any time in half a century. There is no doubt that the banks would welcome an early agreement on this most important subject and would stand with the business interests in support of any helpful legislation.

If such an authority recognises that we are nearer a solution of this problem than "in half a century," and if they would "welcome an early agreement," certainly the United States senate, that has been delaying currency legislation, has no further pretext for pottering or postponement!

The currency measure has at last reached the senate from the conference. Bills embodying views that diverge on details but are a unit on principles are to be considered beginning immediately. The disposition of the senate leaders seems to be to thrust aside the obstructionists and get action with all the speed compatible with satisfactory results.

That resolution must be adhered to. The financial interests, that realize how oppressive to business is the present and long-continued uncertainty, would "welcome an early agreement," whether the measure will release dammed-up industry and set going the wheels of prosperity.

The duty of the senate is of plain and non-partisan patriotism. Let there be no further quibble, procrastination, abuse of time-worn "senatorial dignity." There has been ample opportunity for debate, and for becoming familiar with the essential principles of the issue in hand. The welfare of country will place the responsibility where it belongs if, within a short time, final action is not forthcoming.

A CRITICAL SESSION.

The regular session of congress, which convened yesterday, promised to mark an epoch in the history of the country no less than in the history of the democratic party.

The special session was almost exclusively occupied with the paramount issue of tariff revision. On that issue the party and congress and the administration generally wrought a splendid task. The country has accepted its results cordially and in a spirit of philosophy perfectly willing to give the new law a thorough try-out.

The first days of the regular session finds hang-over legislation in the form of currency bills. If the senate acts with proper and diligent patriotism the slate should be cleared of this item by or before Christmas.

Then comes the other great fundamental features of the administration program, including trust and railroad legislation and conservation, together with legislation pertaining to Alaska, long deferred and urgent.

In other words, the democratic party, by a singular freak of fate, has come into power at that stage in national history when elemental issues, long agitated, have at last reached the stage of legislative action. Upon the statesmanship and expedition with which the party acts during the coming four or five months will largely depend its continued tenure in power and the now scanty hopes of the opposition.

A distinct sign of encouragement is the fact that President Wilson has made his party leadership unmistakably clear, and by his strong-minded but tolerant method he can accomplish wonders at the turning point in the career of a great party.

A BILLION DOLLAR DECISION.

Prominent business men the country over hold that the almost incalculable sum of a billion dollars lies ready and waiting to filter through every trade and industrial artery in the United States, fertilizing and fructifying the largest and smallest business in the land, reviving prosperity where it already exists, and turning loose a general stimulus to industry. They claim that these are the factors involved in the contest now on before the interstate commerce commission, in which eastern railroads, and that means the railroads of the country, ask authority to make a nominal increase in freight rates. The sum of a billion dollars is needed to rehabilitate the carriers. The railroads represent they cannot market their securities to any extent unless they are permitted to make their incomes stable and higher, to meet the increasing demands on their incomes. They hold that the people will be the beneficiaries of the great sum that must eventually be spent. They cite the case of one railroad of this section alone —the Southern. It has authorized an issue of bonds aggregating $250,000,000, not yet offered for sale. That amount is urgently needed in improvements. It plans the double-tracking its main line from Washington to Atlanta, and the inauguration of other measures needed in the program of standardization. The same holds proportionately with the Seaboard Air Line, with other carriers of this section, with the other railroads of the country as a whole.

Fear of the railroads' high financial debauches of the past is the one restraining influence to the present authority for larger incomes and improvements the need for which is conceded. The commission must deny the petition of the railroads and block a cool billion dollars from the channels of development, or it must grant their petition requiring due guarantees that the excesses of the past shall not be repeated. The commission faces the decision of its career.

It is estimated that $1,000,000,000 is a conservative statement of the amount needed to modernize the railroads of the country and to prepare them for the exigencies of present traffic growth and of immediate expansion. The case of the eastern roads is, of course, in a degree the case of the railroads of the whole country. For the tariffs imposed on the carriers east of the Mississippi and north of the Potomac and the Ohio rivers will have a bearing on the tariffs in the south and the west. And the failure of the eastern railroads to standardize will menace schedules and service and safety of passengers on every mile of rail in the United States.

The feature that is now working most decisively against the effort of the railroads to secure an advance of their rates is the inheritance of misgiving and suspicion from the old financial buccaneering practices which so commonly characterized the former administration of the railroads.

No one questions that the railroads need rehabilitation. The situation, and the way in which it has been permitted to grow obvious to admit of doubt. But here and there lingers the fear that if sources of increased revenue are provided in the shape of increased rates there may be more "melons" than legitimate improvement; more absorption of competitors than betterments; more Wall street juggling than strengthening of equipment.

This misgiving removed, it is probable that the last remnant of hostility to the slight increase asked will disappear. It is incumbent upon the interstate commerce commission, or upon congress, to so bind the railroads, in the event the decision is favorable to the increase, that there shall be no repetition of these sinister errors. That done, the way is plain for progress.

In any event, the interstate commerce commission should not delay action. The country should know, at once, whether the decision is to be "yes" or "no." Indecision and uncertainty are the worst possible factors in the situation. The hearing should be pushed and the verdict handed down and business allowed to adjust itself accordingly.

The foremost financial and industrial and commercial authorities are agreed that should the commission authorize, under proper safeguards, the proposed slight increase, the railroads will at once be able to market their securities and the enormous sum of $1,000,000,000 percolating into every channel of activity will give this nation an era of great prosperity.

THE CORN BOYS' ARMY.

Beginning today and extending over this week, Atlanta will be in the hands of future captains of agriculture and industry in Georgia, as represented by the prize winners of the corn club contests. They will storm the city in attendance on the Corn show, under the auspices of the chamber of commerce, and in which are gathered the flower of the exhibits produced by the several counties in Georgia.

In the initiative and intelligence of these sturdy lads lies much of the promise of Georgia. They are blazing new trails. They are learning early the lesson that to be a producer is to be registered among the salt of the earth, and that above all else should cultivate the knack of being a scientific producer.

Dividend-makers of the best class are represented in the host that invades Atlanta today. What they have accomplished in increasing the yield of one of the state's staple crops foreshadows a new era in the wealth-creating power of the commonwealth.

Hard up for ammunition, Huerta is firing "paper bullets of the brain" at a Paris newspaper.

The Santa Claus Children.

I.

Just so close to Christmas they listen, with delight,
For the runnin' of the reindeer o'er the housetops in the night;

Each mind in waking moments a happy picture draws—
These are the little children who believe in Santa Claus.

II.

Their faith is firm forever—they know just where he dwells;
Still sweet to them the music of the reindeers' jingling bells;
When the nights are cold and snowy and the lights are burning dim
The wind lingers in the chimney still singin' a song of him.

III.

The children of old Santa Claus, theirs are the dreams so sweet
Of starlit cities of the Toys with many a Christmas street,
He's still the King of Christmas, who makes the kingdom's laws—
These are the little children who believe in Santa Claus.

Poor Lo Speaks His Mind.

The El Paso Times quotes an Indian chief as follows:

"Injun get more like white man every day. Get fool thing in his bean and want to do smart trick. Him forget way of fathers and want to put on style. Put shirt in pants and cut his hairs pompadour. Squaw she get too damn smart. She wear silk-'em skirt and peek-a-boo waist bimeby. Old Injun he go way back and set down. He no like new way. Some day he get full of slo juice and go on warpath; knock 'em block off new Injun and kick up hell out suffragette squaw. We make um good Injun."

An Accident in Meeting.

The Sylvia Sun tells this one on one of the brethren at the close of a recent revival meeting:

"On the closing evening several members gathered in front of the pulpit to extend the right hand of fellowship to the new converts. Phil Davis also went up to shake hands, but would not get them without going around. Now, Phil is a Methodist and unused to baptisteries in a church. The door of the baptismal vault had not been closed and Phil walked right down in—well, he got a premonition of being baptised or dipsoused. When his friends helped him out of the water he did not take time to congratulate the new converts, but slipped out the back door and went home."

A Story of the Moment

By WALT MASON,
The Famous Prose Poet.

THE WIFE'S SACRIFICE.

"I dropped in to see Mrs. Smilax this afternoon," remarked Mrs. Jamesworthy, "and she told me that she has done all her own sewing this fall—

"The next time you see Mrs. Smilax," said Jamesworthy, "give her my regards and tell her for me that she's a peach of purest ray serene. It's refreshing in these degenerate days to hear of a woman who rolls up her sleeves and expectorates on her hands and goes to work making her own garments, instead of hiring five or six cross-eyed dressmakers who charge more for making a misfit gown than an undertaker charges for planting a man and putting him out of his misery.

"A woman like Mrs. Smilax reminds me of my sainted mother, who not only made her own clothes, but the clothes for the whole family, and then found time to make pinafores for the heathen in Africa and Cochin, China. If she had received ten cents a mile for the seams she sewed during her life time she'd have been loaning money to the Standard Oil Company before she died. And this, Mrs. Jamesworthy, is where the sewing machine was a fixture in every Christian home. Then, as now, a young sewing machine was a luxury for the idle rich, and the average housewife had to ply her needle and thread as her mother, Mrs. Thomas Hood told about in his 'Song of the Shirt-waist.'

"Nowadays every woman has a sewing machine, and every sewing machine is equipped with all modern improvements, so that making garments around the parlor, where the women are so busy chasing to bridge parties, and preparing dippy papers to read at the next club meeting, that they have no time for sewing. When you need a new dress, Mrs. Jamesworthy, it never occurs to you to buy the material and then go to work and make it yourself. You drive up to the dressmaker's in high-powered auto and hand down your orders like some confounded duchess instructing her threewoman, and then when the bill comes in I experience a sinking sensation in the pit of my stomach and feel that death can't come too soon.

"Mrs. Smilax has always impressed me as a woman of sound judgment and discretion, and what you tell me about her last estimate was correct. I can nearly always size up the character of a woman by her general appearance, and Mrs. Smilax looks like a woman with horse sense."

"I'm glad you think so much of her," said Mrs. Jamesworthy, "but you didn't let me finish what I was saying. Mrs. Smilax says she has her heart set on going to the seashore next summer, and she's making as many sacrifices as she can now, so she'll have an argument when she suggests the trip to her husband."

"So that's the sort of perdidious creature she is, hey?" exclaimed Jamesworthy. "I might have known it. I might have realized that it's exciting too much to look for sane and reasonable conduct in any married woman of this day and generation. She has the frivolous bearing of a girl, who hasn't sense enough to come in out of the rain, and if you want to please me, Mrs. Jamesworthy, you'll cut your own sacrifices on me, and that you have planned to go to the seashore next summer is quite, but it won't work, Mrs. Jamesworthy. We are not going to take any pleasure trips until we climb aboard a new wagon, belonging to the county, and indulge in a sociability run to the poor house. You may have made over your old hat, or darned your old shoes, or dyed your pink waist a fast black. I don't care three whoops. I am going to make a desperate effort to save five dollars during the coming year, and we'll simply have to get down to brass tacks and economize."

HOT SPRINGS READY FOR SEASON'S USUAL THRONG

The Constitution is in receipt of an unique edition published by The Arkansas Democrat, of Little Rock, Ark., arranged as a general proclamation of Thanksgiving from the many business men and others of Hot Springs, Ark. The edition has been compiled for the purpose of showing the outside world that Hot Springs was not totally destroyed by the great fire, but by the fire of September 5, and is today ready to take care of the usual quota of 50,000 visitors. The edition contains a number of illustrations, many special articles, and a complete story of the fire, showing how the accommodations and much other information of a general character. It is comprised in eight pages, and on the front or title page are proclamations from the president of the United States, the governor of the state of Arkansas, the mayor of Hot Springs and the secretary of the Hot Springs Business Men's league. Copies of the edition have been sent to practically all of the large newspapers of the United States, and Hot Springs should, through this medium, be able to overcome the erroneous statements published relative to it.

Says Boston Was First.

Editor Constitution: In your issue of November 28 is an article headed, "Bewildering Array of Things in Which Georgia Leads World," and one item is "First in the world to have a woman's foreign missionary society—at Athens, in 1819."

Allow me to quote from "Western Women in Eastern Lands," an undenominational study book for the use of study classes all over the country. On page 11 it says, "The pioneer organization for foreign missions among women seems to be the Boston Female Society for Missionary purposes, established in 1800. This society included for a time both Baptists and Congregationalists. Very soon its members became interested in the support of the English Baptist work in India. To this society my great-grandmother belonged, and I have in my possession receipts given her for her subscriptions for three different years. "In 1811 the entire contribution for the year, $200, were voted to the translation of the scriptures of Serampore, in Bengal." In 1801 the Congregational women established a society called the Boston Society for Promoting the Diffusion of Christian Knowledge." "In 1812 a female missionary society was founded in Southampton (Mass.), to give and pray for the heathen." And in 1815 the Female Society of Beverly, Mass., was established. In 1812 was started the Female Foreign Missionary Society of New Haven, Conn. Another society was founded by the Baptist women of New York in 1814, and another by the Congregationalists of Ohio in 1816. In all there is a record of eight societies established by women for foreign missionary work before 1819.

Prosperity of Indiana Farm.

(Wabash Correspondence Indianapolis News.)

Henry Cripe, farmer, of Centre township, Wabash county, believes an incident of farm life recently showed that being a tiller of the soils has its rewards, even while the farmer attends church. Mr. Cripe and his family had gone to the Eel River church. When they returned they found a new colt, a new calf, twenty-five additional pigs and a dozen additional chickens. And while all this happened the corn was shocking, the shocks were growing, fathers the apples were getting ready for the fall picking and the chickens kept on laying eggs.

The World's Mysteries

WHO ASSISTED LORD ARTHUR CAPEL TO ESCAPE?

Lord Arthur Capel was one of the bravest men of his period, yet history tells us very little about him. He was an English royalist leader, was born about 1610, and appears to have lived the life of a country gentleman until called upon to take part in political life by being elected Knight of the Shrine for the county of Hertford in the short parliament.

At first Capel espoused the cause of the freeholders in their efforts to be rid of the burdens and oppressions which had been placed upon them. But he became shocked at the violence they advocated, and threw himself into the opposition party, and during the long struggle the king had no adherent more faithful and devoted to the royal cause, nor any who made more splendid sacrifices, acting at last in his death upon the scaffold.

Lord Capel was one of the three gallant cavaliers who, in 1648, when almost all was lost for Charles the First, engaged upon the desperate enterprise of holding the walled town of Colchester against a long siege, but were at last obliged to surrender against hopeless odds. His fellow captains were executed by being shot in cold blood; Capel, as a more important prize, was brought to London and "laid by the heels" in the tower. From this confinement he escaped in a most mysterious way, and several writers have tried to find who were his accomplices, but in vain.

Lord Capel, shortly after he was taken prisoner to the tower, had, by a wonderful adventure, having had a card and all things necessary conveyed to him, but no one knew by whom or in what manner, let himself down out of the window of his chamber in the night, over the wall of the tower, and by some outside means he had received the information as to what part of the ditch he might wade through with the greatest safety.

Lord Clarendon, in his account of the escape, says: "Whether he found the right place, or whether there was no safer place, he found the water and the mud so deep that if he had not been by the head taller than other men, he must have perished, since the water came up to his chin. The way was so long to the other side, and the fatigue of drawing himself out of so muddy and so intolerable, that his spirits were near spent, and he was once ready to call out for help, as thinking it better to be carried back again to the prison than to be found in such a place, from whence he could not extricate himself, and where he was ready to expire.

But it pleased God that he got at last to the other side, naked as his friends expected him, and carried him to a chamber in the temple, where he remained two or three nights secure from any discovery."

From the temple it was thought well, for better security, that Lord Capel should be taken to a house in Lambeth Marsh, and a boat was taken from temple stairs for the purpose of conveying him thither, closely muffled up, under cover of night. His friends were so anxious for his safety that they thought it best not to take a boat belonging to any one of them, lest the oarsmen should prove treacherous, and involve them all; and so a boat—the last that remained for hire that night at the Stairs—was hired, and the fugitive duly rowed up the river and taken to that place of refuge.

Whether the boatman's suspicions were aroused by the cloaked figure, or whether, as was supposed, Capel's friend inadvertently addressed him as "My Lord," was uncertain, but the boatman put in prison to answer to army officer and offering to show him for $50 where Capel escaped. Lord Capel was to be found. For his trouble the waterman had this sum doubled, but he was compelled to wait many years to enjoy his blood money, which was not paid until the November after Capel was executed.

Capel was brought to trial on March 8, 1648, and was condemned to be beheaded the following morning. To the last he is said to have behaved as a heroic gentleman, and heroism which had marked his whole career. He was buried at St. Anne's, where may still be read the inscription on the monument: "Hereunder lieth interred the body of Arthur, Lord Capel, who was murdered for his loyalty to King Charles the First, March 9, 1648."

Efficient Housekeeping

Soup and Its Accessories.

After you have made your rich stock and put it away for future use in a stone stock jar, as I explained to you yesterday, you will wonder, I expect, how you are to take out what is needed without injuring the residue.

When a portion of the "canned" stock is wanted lift off the cake of fat that has formed over the top, remove quantity needed, reheat what remains in jar with the fat and return to cool place, the covering of fat will form again.

This removes the necessity of clarifying the stock and gives a soup clear enough for the daily dinner.

In planning accessories to clear soups remember that nothing is more added to cloud their transparency. For this reason particular cooks banish dumplings, macaroni, vermicelli, pastes and vegetables in another kettle in boiling water and add them, when tender, to the hot, clear stock.

As a rule, delicately flavored vegetables like celery, cauliflower and peas are used with chicken bouillon, veal broth and all white soups, while vegetables of more pronounced taste are cooked in heavy broths of beef and mutton.

If you are fond of clear soups you will like a French ball or cutter. This costs but a few cents and is a wise investment for it quickly shapes the vegetables into neat little balls. The vegetable slicer is another help and makes "macaroni strips" and vegetable lattices in double-quick time.

Garnishes for soups may be meat balls or egg yolks poached or even noodles. The forecmeat called for in cookery books is too complicated for the average hurried housekeeper. It always requires calf's udder and that can be specially ordered and is very tedious to prepare. Royal floating custards, however, are a great addition to any soup and are fluffy delicate when made in this way: Beat the yolks of two eggs and the white of one together and add one-half a cup of cold stock or of water. Season delicately with salt and pepper and pour into a shallow dish or pan. Set this in hot water and steam until the eggs are firm. This will be in about ten minutes. Now cut the custards into little squares or strips and drop three or four into each cup of bouillon as you send it in to the table.

To make dumplings measure two cups of flour and sift it with a half a teaspoonful of salt and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Mix with cold milk or water into a small ball, using hands and plenty of flour to prevent the dough sticking. They should be quite moist, like "drop" biscuit. Do not put into the soup until it is boiling briskly and cook without covering.

If you do cover the kettle containing dumplings do not dare to raise the lid a fraction of an inch until they are cooked, for so sure as cool air strikes them they will fall. When you are sure they have boiled ten minutes they are ready to take up.

The Automatic Professor.

The automatic professor is a mechanical means of teaching the language which promises to become a favorite because of the ease and convenience with which it enables one to acquire a language. The device consists of a combination of the phonograph with a piece of mechanism on which operates a reel on which are printed words and sentences so that the student is enabled to see the word at the same time that he hears it. The phonograph alone has already been utilized for the teaching of language with some success, but the use of the new combination is much greater and the student acquires a greater familiarity with the language in much less time and with less time. It is also applicable to elementary instruction in music.

Nature as a Fighter.

(From The Philadelphia Public Ledger.)

The trouble with facts is that they will not bend themselves, nor be bent, to our wills. Mahomet himself must go to meet the mountain. If he wants to reach the summit no magic carpet will fly with him, but he must depend on his own sinews. The frame of the globe is durable, impregnable. Those who have been digging the Panama canal, those who built the "seagoing railway" to Key West or pierced the Alps for tunnels, and the whole modern tribe of action, feel that they have little enough to thank nature for. She has fought them tooth and nail at every turn. She has conceded nothing. There has been just one straight and narrow way to go, and those who did not find it were lost; disobedience to the strictest letter of the rules of the game had its sequel in a tragedy; inertia, uncompromising, adamantine have been the natural laws.

SARAH BERNHARDT.

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

Sarah Bernhardt was born in France some time after the opening of the Christian era, and became an actress at an early age.

She was not beautiful, but she had large luminous eyes and a voice made out of liquid plush velvet and the beating of butterflies' wings. She also had two industrious arms which in passage of great dramatic intensity beat the air into a pale blue haze. And so she became the foremost actress in France.

This was in the early Pleocene era, when the grandparents of the present dramatic stars were getting a start in life. Bernhardt became all the rage, and played the parts of Tosco, Camille and other beautiful but slightly soiled females with such skill and energy that the industrious artist, S. R. O. sign on the theater doors at the beginning of the season and merely touched it up a little from year to year.

From decade to decade Bernhardt continued to play with great diligence and abandon, recruiting her companies as the assistants died off or grew from their dog secondants and adding each year new charms of youth and prettiness to the old parts. At the age of fifty she was conceded to be the most promising young actress of the season, and new parts full of girlish, fascination were written for her in order to display her youth to its fullest advantage.

As Bernhardt constantly grew up to maturity she increased her activities and visited other continents, winning great triumphs and playing "religion" in a manner which filled the greatest club swingers and gymnasts of America with awe. She also took up literature, art, sculpture, playwriting, and writing beauty hints for newspapers as a means of spending her spare time.

When she became a grandmother Bernhardt began a series of farewell visits to America and other countries in the civilized world. This was necessary, for her old age mirrors were rapidly passing away, and she was not one who could see them go without bidding them goodbye. She has now bidden farewell to practically all the earlier theatergoers, and in a few years will begin a series of grand welcome tours to the rising generations. In the meanwhile she has taken up vaudeville, dress designing, theater building, sarcophagi and animal taming as diversions in her spare time and is rapidly entering the full bloom of maturity and promise.

Tennyson had Bernhardt in mind when he wrote "For men may come and men may go, but I go on forever."

UNDOING.

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

Formation is always better than reformation. The mended article is never as valuable as the original article. The thing neglected and given over to weeds is never so fertile again. In like manner the cells of man's brain, given over to foolishness and unprofitable Thought are never so plastic for useful Thought tracks again.

Everything is Easier and Better if always done Right—in the first place.

But if we all could but view our acts in the light of Eternity—not forgetting that a single effort is never lost from Influence, we would set on guard our most trustworthy sentinel to watch over us foolishness and unprofitable Thought are never so plastic for useful Thought tracks again.

Everything is Easier and Better if always done Right—in the first place.

If we all could but view our acts in the light of Eternity—not forgetting that a single effort is never lost from Influence, we would set on guard our most trustworthy sentinel to watch over us foolishness and unprofitable Thought are never so plastic for useful Thought tracks again.

Wrongly in the first place—which always means Undoing for us or somebody afterwards. Why not write this down as one of your daily Mottoes—

Everything is Easier and Better if always done Right—in the first place.

Good for the Country.

(From The Dallas News.)

Speaking of blessings, isn't it a grand thing for this country that the great common people stay in a good humor?

New Features at Concert By Philharmonic Orchestra

Mrs. John M. Slaton, president of the Atlanta Musical association announces that the next concert by the Philharmonic orchestra will take place on the night of Tuesday, December 16, at the Atlanta theater.

It is proposed to make the concert a social event as pronounced in distinction as are symphony concerts in other cities, and the custom of evening dress will be inaugurated, to make the occasion as picturesque as opera nights.

The presence of women in the orchestra will be an innovation, and judging by the experience of symphony orchestras in other cities, a successful one.

The program and other interesting details, including possibly a vocal ensemble number, will be announced at an early date.

Mrs. Slaton is at present in New York, conferring with the management of Miss Alma Gluck to secure her appearance in concert with the orchestra in January. This concert promises to eclipse all previous appearances of the orchestra from both an artistic and social standpoint.

Bazar at Mrs. Brown's.

At the home of Mrs. George M. Brown, 581 Peachtree street, a bazar will be held on Thursday from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. Mrs. Brown's circle in the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church will be in charge, and they have secured an excellent display of hand-made articles, especially meant for Christmas. Mrs. Sutherford Lipscomb, Mrs. George Forrester, Mrs. C. G. Lipsold, Mrs. R. G. Dunwoody, Mrs. W. S. Hawkins and others will assist Mrs. Brown, and they will invite a general patronage.

For Miss Daniel.

Mrs. Maulding delightfully entertained for Miss Mary Daniel at a bridge luncheon on Friday afternoon. Mrs. Clark won the prize, a beautiful handpainted bon bon dish. Miss Lutrell was presented a beautiful crepe combing jacket. Miss Kilen Lyon won the consolation, a hand embroidered handkerchief. About twenty guests were present.

Philips-Turner.

Mrs. Andrew Christensen announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Ethel Arline Philips, to Dr. John Riley Turner.

Buffet Supper.

Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Anderson entertained Thursday evening at a buffet supper. Those invited were: Miss Jessie Bradford, Miss Elsie Terrell, Miss Elizabeth Bridges, Miss Frances Harkin, Mr. Edward Quinn, Mr. Jefferson Hendon, Mr. Hunt Flinn, Mr. George Royce, Mr. William Quinn and Mr. and Mrs. J. Hanlon.

For Mrs. Yancey.

Mrs. Stewart Stringfellow will entertain a party of twelve at a bridge luncheon Thursday at her home on Sixth street, in compliment to Mrs. Robert Yancey, of New York.

Adair-Kessler.

The wedding of Miss Annie Pelona Adair and Mr. Charles McDonald Kessler will take place Thursday evening, December 4, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adair, on North Jackson street, at 7 o'clock. Little Misses Mildred and Virginia Schenck will be the flower girls and there will be no attendants, and Rev. W. C. Schaeffer will perform the ceremony, which will be witnessed by relatives and intimate friends. After a wedding trip to Savannah and other points Mr. Kessler and his bride will make their home in Atlanta.

For Miss Lesem.

Mrs. William Adkerson will entertain at a "42" party afternoon at her home in West End in compliment to Miss Lesem, of Illinois, the guest of Mrs. Robert Underwood.

Mrs. Underwood will give a bridge party this afternoon for her guest.

Mrs. Broyles Entertains.

Mrs. Nash Broyles was hostess at a pretty bridge party yesterday afternoon at her home on Merritts avenue in honor of Mrs. Robert Yancey, of New York. The house was attractive with flowers and plants and the prizes were silk stockings for first and consolation and the guest of honor was given a boudoir cap of silk and lace.

Mrs. Broyles wore a becoming gown of black charmeuse satin, the corsage of chiffon and lace. Twelve guests were invited to meet Mrs. Yancey.

St. Philip's Dinner-Supper.

The women of St. Philip's cathedral will give a dinner and supper in the Sunday school room, 14 Washington street, on Thursday, December 4.

Delicious dinner, including turkey, cranberries and plum pudding, also luncheon, served from 11:30 to 2:30. And supper—Special creamed chicken and waffles served from 5:30 to 8 p. m.

All friends and the public generally are invited, especially business men and women and those wishing to go to the theater afterwards.

The ladies in charge will be Mrs. Robert Sharpe, Mrs. A. L. Dunn, Mrs. C. L. Pettigrew, Mrs. W. N. Hawkes, Mrs. J. P. Nesbit, Mrs. Armin Maier, Mrs. Frank Allen, Mrs. E. H. Miss Lucile Heptinstall with her corps of attractive young ladies will serve at the tables.

To Mr. Hamer.

Mr. Robert Alston entertained twelve guests at a beautiful stag dinner party last evening at his home on Peachtree street in compliment to Mr. John W. Hamer, of Philadelphia, who is spending a short while with Mr. Samuel Weseman, in the center of the artistically arranged table was a large gold basket filled with Killarney roses. The candles were shaded with pink beaded crystal shades and all other details were in pink and white.

To Bridge Club.

Mrs. A. B. Christopher will entertain her bridge club at luncheon today.

Five O'Clock Tea.

Mrs. Marion Harper will entertain a few friends at tea this afternoon at the Georgian Terrace, inviting them to meet Mrs. J. L. Benton, of Monticello, who is spending the winter in Atlanta. Mrs. Claud Duggan, of Monticello, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery Francis, will share the honors of the occasion.

Theater Party.

Mr. Willis Ragan was host last night at a large theater party at the Atlanta, the occasion a compliment to three lovely young women, Miss Eula Jackson, a bride-elect; Miss Margaret Grant and Miss Katherine Ellis, debutantes.

After the theater Mr. Ragan entertained at a beautiful supper party at his home.

In the party were: Miss Ellis, Miss Grant, Miss Jackson, Colonel and Mrs. Robert J. Lowry, Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Grant, Misses May Atkinson, Marion Goldsmith, Anne Akers, Mary Helen Moody, Jessie McKee, Ada Alexander, Callie Duke Smith, and Messrs. Barker-Hassell.

Quitman, Ga., December 1.—(Special.) A marriage of unusual interest to the friends of the contracting parties was that of Miss Reuste Barker to Mr. William A. Hassell, which took place at the home of the bride parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Barker, at 3:30 o'clock. The contracting parties gave their vows in complete surprise, for no one had even suspected a marriage.

The bride is a charming young lady, with many endearing traits of character.

The groom is a member of one of the oldest and most prominent families of this section of the state. Mr. Hassell is a young man, who has risen from the ranks, having as his start in newspaper publicity at which he worked for several years, being at one time the correspondent of The Constitution and several other newspapers. He later gave up this to enter the newspaper field and decided to take up law, having been a student at the Atlanta law school in the class of 1912-13. He is at present a member of the prominent young attorneys in this section of the state.

Marriage of Miss Fletcher.

Washington, December 2.—The marriage of Miss Nell Fletcher, daughter of United States Senator and Mrs. Duncan C. Fletcher, of Florida, to Mr. Lionel Smith-Gordon, of Dublin, Ireland, only son of Sir Charles Alexander Smith-Gordon, of Aldershott Lodge, Salisbury, England, took place late this afternoon at All Soul's church, here.

No invitations were sent out for the ceremony, which was one of simplicity. The bride and bridegroom will sail from New York tomorrow for a Mediterranean cruise.

Winer-Nissenbaum.

The wedding of Miss Pearl Winer and Mr. S. B. Nissenbaum took place Sunday evening at 7 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. Winer on First avenue, Columbus, Ga. The young couple left at 10 o'clock on a bridal trip to Washington, New York, Niagara Falls and other points of interest.

Story of "The Bluebird."

Mrs. J. Wade Conklin, chairman of the junior department of the Drama league in Atlanta, announced Monday that Mrs. William Clare Sniker, president of the league, would tell the story of "The Bluebird" at the Child Welfare exhibit at 19 Peachtree street on next Saturday afternoon. All children and their parents will be

NEIGHBOR ASKED FOR INFORMATION

Which Was Promptly Disclosed and She Lost No Time in Profiting Thereby.

Miami, Okla.—"One of my neighbors," says Mrs. Hannah M. Turley, of this town, "came to my house last week, and said: 'Mrs. Turley, what did you take to help you so quickly?' I told her it was just Cardui, the woman's tonic, and she said: 'I wish I looked as well as you do.' I told her if she would only get $5.00 worth of Cardui, and take it, she would. So she sent her husband to town to get the Cardui, and commenced taking it. She looked so pale and sick all the time, but is beginning to look better already.

As to how it helped me—I suffered for about 5 years, with womanly troubles, and became so weak and nervous, and would suffer such pain every month, that I thought at times it would die. Was in such condition that I couldn't do my work half of the time, and would have awful smothering spells.

My husband bought me a full treatment of Cardui (6 bottles) and I can truthfully say that after I took the last bottle I was well. Am enjoying the best of health now, and am so thankful to Cardui."

Take Cardui for your trouble. You will never regret it. Begin today. Ask your nearest druggist.

The Southland's Christmas Brightened by Haynes

The holidays approach.

The Eugene V. Haynes Company exhibits, in the setting of the handsomest store in Dixie, the finest and most exquisite collection of jewelry ever gathered this side of New York.

We believe we have brought to Atlanta the best diamonds, the fairest pearls, the richest stones that have come out of the East and across the seas in many years.

Fashions in jewelry are more beautiful this year than ever before. The Haynes jewelers, craftsmen of rare skill, have wrought all summer and fall with wonderful achievement, setting the gems as we sent them home from the treasure houses of Europe. The wonderful $12,000 pearl necklace that has caused so much comment in society is from their hands—and it is not settled yet who will wear it Christmas.

We built this store and gathered these collections for the Southland's Christmas. You can buy highest grade jewelry here to better advantage than by going to New York. Come and see.

Norval Richardson Gets Secretaryship at Rome

Norval Richardson, of Vicksburg, Miss., recently appointed secretary to the American embassy at Rome, passed through the city Monday en route to Washington, where he will be for a few days before sailing for Europe to assume the duties of his new post.

Mr. Richardson is the brother of Hugh Richardson, of Atlanta, and has many friends here. He has had experience in the diplomatic service, his first appointment to Havana under the Roosevelt administration, and his second appointment to Copenhagen under the Taft administration.

The third appointment is considered one of the most desirable which could fall to the young American. Mr. Richardson has enjoyed the literary comradeship as well as personal acquaintance of the ambassador, Thomas Nelson Page, the latter being among the first to congratulate Mr. Richardson in his first marked literary achievement when he wrote "The Lead of Honor."

Closely following Mr. Richardson's first book came the second better work, "George Thorn." A Mexican story of lighter vein followed, and Mr. Richardson is at present engaged in the writing of his third story.

He has written many stories for leading publications, and has written a play now in progress for production. His friends, while congratulating him on his diplomatic appointment, are anticipating new laurels for him in his chosen profession of literature.

Deaf School Children Will Give Exhibit at Welfare Show Today

The group of Atlanta children who attend the Ashby street school, and who, despite the fact that they are deaf, are making rapid progress in their classes, will give an exhibition at the child welfare exhibit today. The children will arrive at 10 o'clock, with their teacher, and the exercises arranged for them will indicate the progress being made in the teaching of the deaf, and the value of the training being given by Atlanta's public school system to the city's deaf children.

"The Price of Human Life" is the title of a play to be presented through the moving pictures at the child welfare exhibit today. The film is a new one, and will be presented at the welfare exhibit both morning and afternoon. It is stirring in interest, teaches a lesson and at the same time is highly entertaining to old and young.

The lecture of Dr. Caroline Geisel will be at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Carnegie library, and the vital subject of the "Heredity and the Child." The subject is timely, coming at the beginning of the child welfare exhibit, when the men and women of Atlanta have put before them every phase of work which can better the life of the child.

The lecture of Dr. Geisel are being given under the auspices of the Atlanta Federation of Women's association. She is one of the most gifted women speakers in the country and a member of the committee of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and this year is holding the chair of home economics in Shorter college, Rome, Ga.

admitted absolutely free of charge and it is expected that a large crowd will gather to hear the interesting narrative.

MEETINGS

The executive board Woman's Baptist Missionary union, of Georgia, will meet this morning at 11 o'clock in room 1097, Candler building.

Business Men Meet To Plan Battle on the Mexican Boll Weevil

The Mexican boll weevil will receive the serious and undivided attention of 100 of Atlanta's biggest business men this afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Hotel Ansley. The meeting will take the form of a luncheon tendered to the business men by the Georgia Chamber of Commerce.

Plans will be discussed as to how the business men of Atlanta can best assist the Georgia farmer in preventing the boll weevil from entering the state. The Atlanta meeting will be followed by similar "bar the boll weevil" meetings in all the larger cities of the state.

Hoke Smith will preside over the Atlanta meeting. J. A. McCord will make a short address.

PUBLISHERS ARE HERE FOR ANNUAL MEETING

The annual convention of the Southeastern Publishers' and Printers' association began Monday at the Ansley hotel. A score of prominent publishers from all sections of the south were in attendance. All sessions are executive. The purport of the convention, it is stated, is to discuss matters which pertain only to the book and job printing industries. W. O. Foote, of the Foote & Davies company, of this city, was chairman of the meeting. The morning session and welcomed the visitors to the city.

The following well-known publishers were present: G. H. Ferguson, Nashville, Tenn.; E. W. Burke, Macon, Ga.; J. J. Reh, Savannah, Ga.; W. H. Crogman, Charlotte; George W. Courts, Galveston, Texas; Frank Dameron, Nashville, Tenn.; J. F. Davidson, Louisville, Ky.; Jamie A. Dorsey, Dallas, Texas; W. W. Wing, Birmingham, Ala.; E. E. Foster, Nashville, Tenn.; H. H. Garrett, Jacksonville, Fla.; William P. Gilles, Baltimore, Md.; Mrs. Holmes, Greenville, Miss.; Mrs. A. A. Hilton, Savannah, Ga.; Harvey Mills, Griffin, Ga.; J. A. Murphy, The purlieit, N. C.; D. W. Hayes, Athens, Ga.; Leon McQuiddy, Nashville, Tenn.; E. T. Detlick, St. Louis, Mo.; Roy Williams, Nashville, Tenn.; Otto John, Memphis, Tenn., and W. G. Foote, Atlanta, Ga.

TEN JURORS TO DECIDE SANFORD COLLIER SUIT

Ten jurors, instead of twelve, will decide the case of Sanford Collier against his two brothers, George W. and John W., whom he is suing for a large share in the estate of their father, Washington Collier.

The case was resumed Monday, after a week's check. One of the jurors was ill when adjournment was taken and when the case was called Monday it was found that another juror was missing.

By agreement of attorneys the case proceeded without interruption.

PALESTINE LODGE TO GIVE THIRD DEGREE

Palestine Lodge, No. 486, F. & A. M., one of the youngest and most progressive of the lodges in the city, will exemplify the third degree in full dramatic form on next Friday evening.

On this occasion they will use the beautiful Blue Hill top floor Masonic temple, which will afford ample room to accommodate all who may desire to attend.

Those who have not had an opportunity to see the third degree conferred, it is done by Palestine, will have a treat in store for them, as it represents the highest form of ritualistic work.

A large attendance is expected.

COUNCIL VOTES REFUND TO IVY STREET CITIZENS

Favors Return of $7,000 Despite Warm Opposition of Street Committee Minority.

Over the protests of a minority of the street committee, council yesterday afternoon approved the resolution passed up by the majority authorizing the refund of $7,000 to the property owners of Ivy street.

Councilman Orville H. Hall, chairman of the street committee, led the fight on behalf of the minority. Councilman Claude L. Ashley also made a strong appeal against council refunding the money before the work on Ivy street is completed.

When the Ivy street project for paving and regrading of the thoroughfare was passed up, the city gave $5,000 and the property owners gave $20,000. With the work almost complete, there remains a fund of $7,000. Out of that amount $1,000 will go to the waterworks if the claim is allowed. There are a number of other small claims for which the street committee has a reserve fund of about $2,500.

CAPTAIN ERNEST WEST ARRESTED FOR ASSAULT

Warrant Is Sworn Out by the Husband of His Mother-in-Law.

Captain Ernest E. West, stationed at Seattle, Wash., with the United States Marine corps, was arrested in the Capital City club shortly after noon Monday following the sensational charge of his mother-in-law, Mrs. John A. Jones, that he had assaulted her.

The arrest adds another exciting chapter to the matrimonial drama of Captain and Mrs. West, a divorce suit filed by Mrs. West now being pending in court. The alleged assault occurred some time during noon at the home of Mrs. Jones, 455 Courtland street, where Mrs. West is living with her parents.

It is charged that the naval officer arrived at the residence in a taxicab and insisted upon being admitted into the presence of his young son, who is in the custody of Mrs. Jones. Mrs. Jones, it is said, refused, hot words followed, Captain West is accused of having struck the woman, knocking her to the floor and kicking her.

An ankle was badly injured, and, is believed, was broken. Capt. Mrs. Jones scrambled to her feet and telephoned for help, and Captain West jumped in the taxicab. Detectives Patrick and Cowan found him in bed at his club. He was arrested and taken to jail in a taxicab.

Preliminary papers for Constitution Captain West denied having struck Mrs. Jones or having handled her roughly. He stated that, as she threatened to telephone, he caught her by the wrist and that she fell to the ground. He had gone to the residence, he declared, to see his son.

Charges of drunk and disorderly conduct were docketed against him at police headquarters. A bond of $200 was assessed. Later a warrant charging assault with intent to murder was issued by the husband of Mrs. Jones. Beside the police court, Captain West's case will also be arraigned before a justice court.

Divorce proceedings are now pending. They were instituted several months ago by Mrs. West. The trial will be heard next March. Captain West is now in Atlanta for the summer.

A., B. & A. MAKES REPORT FOR SUMMER MONTHS

H. M. Atkinson and E. T. Lamb, receivers for the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic, yesterday filed with H. Q. Fuller, deputy clerk of the federal court, their quarterly report covering June, July and August.

The report shows that the operating revenues for the months of June, coming from freight, passenger, mail, express and other transportation sources, amounted to $232,584.14, while July gave up $261,884.54 and August $254,852.96, making a total for the quarter included of $749,403.64.

The operating expenses for the same three months, charged to maintenance of way and structure, maintenance of equipment, traffic expenses, transportation expenses and general expenses, figured $566,621.60, for the month of June, while July called for $222,033.06 and August $216,822.85, making a total expense account for the three months amounting to $658,228.22.

A balance sheet shows that the road had a net deficit amounting to $27,-248.55 during the month of June, while its net gain for July amounted to $7,176.16, with a net gain for the month of August aggregating $7,408.23.

COLLINS MAY MAKE SELF-DEFENSE PLEA

Clarence Collins, formerly an assistant foreman at the construction work at the new Healy building, was placed on trial Monday before Judge Ben Hill, in the criminal division of the superior court, on a charge of having murdered Calvin Ware, a negro employee, will probably know before bedtime tonight. The case is expected to reach the jury late today.

Only witnesses for the state were heard Monday. It is believed that when Collins goes on the stand today to make a statement he will plead self-defense.

Collins is charged with striking the negro with an iron bar at the Healy building on October 8. The negro lived for ten days after the fight, but died at the Grady hospital. Collins was indicted two weeks ago for the alleged crime.

How to care for baby's delicate skin

Many mothers seem to forget that a baby's skin is much more sensitive, much more readily injured than that of an adult. They bathe the baby with soaps never meant for a skin of such delicate texture and then wonder why the skin becomes raw and irritated.

So little soap is used the first three or four years of baby's life that there is no excuse for not using the best. Woodbury's Facial Soap is the work of an authority on the skin and its needs. Daily baths with its soothing lather keep baby's skin in perfect condition—allay itching, burning and smarting—leave the skin scientifically clean and smooth. Get a cake and try it today.

Woodbury's Facial Soap costs 25c a cake. No one hesitates at the price after their first cake.

Methodist Pastors Think Cicero Had Seen Modern Dances When He Said "No Sober Man Will Dance"

Macon, Ga., December 1.—(Special.) "The shameful and indecent, if not immoral, dances in vogue but disgusting position our church has always taken on the subject of dancing. These shameful orgies are but the normal and natural consequences of this sin.

"Dancing was never so very decent and these modern orgies are not new, for Cicero said, 'Nemo sobrius saltat,' or 'no man being sober will dance.' He evidently had seen the modern dance.

"Another fad causing shame and leading to sin is the importation of and adoption of Parisian shame in the way of feminine costume. Why our good women should be guilty of worship of some styles that are neither decent nor pretty and more or less are to appear as if deformed, is marvelous to us.

"In these terms the report of the committee on temperance and social and moral reforms of the South Georgia conference handled the turkey trot, bunny hug and other so-called animal dances, and modern dresses.

These conditions criticised by the report were in brief as follows:

"We condemn the organized system of child labor slavery throughout the country and note with shame the low rank our state takes in its statutory protection of little children and in its effort to abolish the iniquitous traffic in infant labor at a time when the child should be in school.

"We regard as one of the great dangers of our civilization the fact that our marriage and divorce laws are not in line with the Scripture, and we view with considerable alarm the direful consequences therefrom upon our home life.

"We very much fear that Sabbath desecration is on the increase in our cities, towns and the prayerful consideration of our people.

"In our large cities dancing, card playing, baseball, golf and such like are being indulged in by many, and even some who call themselves Christians."

DECLARES THAT $10,000 BRIBE WAS OFFERED HIM

A. J. Smith Issues Statement Replying to the Charges of Alderman Hazlehurst.

Macon, Ga., December 1.—(Special.) A. J. Smith, accused of offering to withdraw from the race for chief of police if he would be paid $10,000, issued a statement in which he denied that he had offered to withdraw for that or any other sum, and alleges that, on the other hand, Alderman R. C. Hazlehurst, chairman of the police committee of council, offered him a specified sum to withdraw, but that he told him he would not withdraw "even for $10,000."

On top of this comes a statement from Dan Goodman, who charges that he was approached by Smith and asked to help him to find parties who would be willing to give him (Smith) $10,000 to get him out of the race. Goodman says that he did come to Atlanta in January for an extended visit.

Miss Jennie Knox, who has been the guest of her aunt in Baltimore, is now visiting Miss Merrick in Jacksonville for two weeks before returning home.

BIG STILL RAIDED IN SPALDING COUNTY

Griffin, Ga., December 1.—(Special.) Another illicit distillery, located about ¾ of a mile from Brewerysville, was raided by a deputy sheriff, Revenue Officer Henderson, Deputy Sheriff T. J. Mallory and Bailiff Ison. Nine gallons of beer were seized and poured out on the ground, while a worthead of 1,000 gallons capacity, which happened to be empty, was destroyed by the officers.

All guidance showed that the place had been used for illicit distilling for at least a year. Two warrants will be sworn out and, if possible, arrests will be made.

The seizure of this still makes a total of five illicit establishments that have been put out of business by these officers during the past week.

Only a few days ago the police force of the city rounded up eleven blind tigers, one of which was located on a Southern passenger train while standing at the station.

LEADING COLUMBUS CITIZEN DIES IN N. Y.

Columbus, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—G. J. Peacock, one of Columbus' leading citizens, died this morning at Mount Sinai hospital, New York, where he went several days ago to have an operation performed.

Mr. Peacock was born in Upson county, Georgia, 76 years ago. He came to Columbus when a lad of 14 years and founded and built up one of the largest business enterprises of its character in the south. He was first lieutenant and afterwards commander of the City Light Guards in the civil war. Mr. Peacock was a leading member of St. Luke's Methodist church, and was on several boards of the South Georgia conference.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

POLITICAL POT IS BOILING AT DALTON

Dalton, Ga., December 1.—(Special.) The municipal political pot has long since passed the simmering stage and is now furiously boiling, the city election just ten days off, the wisest political prophets are unable to name the winners with any degree of certainty. The following are the announced candidates:

For mayor, B. R. Bowen, former councilman, and Councilman W. E. Wood, former mayor; for councilman from first ward, William McNally and John Willis; fourth ward, John B. Hill and John C. Smith; Jesse Holland, unopposed; fifth ward, George Hall and Gould Stewart, eighth ward. Chief of Police Asa G. White is being opposed by former Chief Jesse C. Fincher. It is probable that other contestants will enter.

TWO ARE ARRESTED FOR DALTON ROBBERIES

Dalton, Ga., December 1.—(Special.) Frank Phillips and Columbus Branham are in jail here, charged with having burglarized the stores of Moodispaw & Riper Friday night. The prisoners were arrested at Varnell, Whitfield county, by Constable W. M. Blount. At which time they had on several suits of clothing which were identified by the merchants whose store was entered. The store was entered about 2 o'clock in the morning through the front door, out of which was broken a large plate glass.

They give Atlanta as their home and say that they were accompanied by two others, whose names they refuse to divulge. At a preliminary hearing they waived trial and were remanded to jail to await action by the grand jury, which convenes next week, before January.

ELKS TO PAY HONOR TO DEAD ON SUNDAY

Atlanta Lodge Will Conduct Memorial Services at the Grand Opera House.

The general public looks upon the Elks as a distinctive social organization, but there are many things about the ritual of which the public are not informed.

According to the grand lodge statutes, there are two services which every Elk lodge in the United States must conduct—the one is their observance of the birth of the American flag, and the other the memorial service held each year in commemoration of those that have passed away.

Those who attended the flag day services held at the Elks lodge some few weeks ago in commemoration of the birth of the American flag, saw a very interesting ritual, which showed those who were not Elks that this order is a patriotic order, of whom all American citizens can be, some a member, is also showed the devotion to the flag of our country.

The Atlanta Lodge, No. 78, Benevolent Order of Elks, will hold their memorial day services at the Grand Opera house on Sunday, December 7, at 3 o'clock.

The public is invited to attend these services. An exceptional fine musical program has been arranged, and the principal speakers will be the Rev. W. W. Memmingor, who will deliver the memorial day address, and the Rev. Rabbi David Marx. Dr. Playwilly act as chaplain. These gentlemen are filling pulpits in various denominations and are all Elks and members of the Atlanta Lodge No. 78.

Reservations have been provided for the members of the families of the deceased brothers, and those who have never attended exercises of this kind may learn from these services some facts regarding the order of which they have been heretofore ignorant.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE FORMED AT DOUGLAS

Douglas, Ga., December 1.—(Special.) At a large meeting of the business men of Douglas, and from Coffee county, held at the courthouse for the purpose of organizing the Douglas and Coffee County Chamber of Commerce, J. C. Brewer was elected temporary president and E. L. Jenner temporary secretary. It was decided to have a dollar Dutch supper at the new Douglas hotel next Friday night, December 5, and a committee composed of Messrs. W. R. Mcleod and C. R. Tidwell was appointed to arrange the details of the supper.

A committee composed of W. C. Ryan, E. L. Jenner and Dr. McDonald, was appointed by the chairman to draft constitution and by-laws, and nominate the directors and formulate other plans for the permanent organizing a permanent organization next Friday night at the meeting for the Dutch supper.

Hon. Douglas has received at the hands of the interstate commerce commission a decision in equalization to freight rate with other cities in the quiet, as long as such new interest is being manufactured by the business men and organization of the chamber of commerce will mean much for Douglas and Coffee county. The mayor and council of Douglas has just filed a petition with Georgia railway commission asking that the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic and Georgia and Florida railroads build a union passenger station here.

WHITE SLAVE TRAFFIC ATTACKED BY JUDGE

Savannah, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—Declaring conditions revealed by investigations of the white slave traffic have shocked the moral sense of the nation, Judge W. B. Sheppard, of Pensacola, in his charge to the grand jury in the United States court here today, ordered that indictments be found in case any evidence is produced that women had been transported from one state to another for immoral purposes.

Among other things Judge Sheppard explained the Sherman anti-trust law, and stressed the fact that any monopoly in restraint of trade are subject to indictment. He also laid stress on the peonage laws. Judge Sheppard is a native of Georgia and Alabama, and who asked to be relieved, pending the disposition of impeachment proceedings against him.

TWO STORES ROBBED AT ORCHARD HILL, GA.

Griffin, Ga., December 1.—(Special.) Word has reached here of a wholesale burglary that took place in the quiet little town of Orchard Hill, a few miles from this place, in which the store of A. J. Swint, the postoffice and the store of J. D. Grubbs were robbed. The postoffice is located in Mr. Grubbs' store. Entrance was gained to the stores by twisting off the locks of the front doors.

At the depot entrance was effected by the use of a regular key that fitted the lock of the front door. Currency to the amount of $10 was taken, and inventories of the stocks of goods in the stores has not been committed, but the amount taken is not known. Some $10 in pennies and a lot of stamps were taken from the postoffice.

For a year or two past robberies similar to this one have occurred at Orchard Hill.

HOLCOMB RE-ELECTED MAYOR OF NEWBORN

Newborn, Ga., December 1.—(Special.) In a closely contesting race for mayor and council for the town of Newborn, the following were elected today: J. M. Holcomb, mayor; J. C. Stanton, R. E. Harwell, T. K. Speer and A. D. Davis, council. This is Mayor Holcomb's second term.

EXPERTS IN CLASH IN CRAWFORD CASE

Dr. J. W. Hurt Declares He Believes "Uncle Josh" Came to End From Pneumonia, and Not Poison.

It is expected that there will be further startling developments today in the suit against Mrs. Mary Belle Crawford by relatives who are making a fight against the will of the late Joshua Crawford, the aged and wealthy land owner, over whose estate civil and criminal litigation has been in now for several months.

The sensations today are expected to substantiate the declaration made on the stand Monday by Dr. J. W. Hurt, the Crawford family physician, when he declared that, as an expert, he did not believe that the aged man came to his death through the administration of poison, as claimed by the contending Crawford heirs.

The civil angle of the now celebrated litigation was taken up Monday after more than a two months' recess before James L. Anderson, sitting as auditor.

Dr. Hurt took the stand late in the afternoon and declared it to be his unbiased opinion that "Uncle Josh" Crawford, as the aged man was familiarly called, died from pneumonia and not poison. The physician also stated under oath that he had prescribed a cough medicine for Crawford which contained morphine in sufficient quantities to show strongly in any post mortem that might have been held over the body.

Dr. Hurts testimony was supported by Miss M. Townsend, a trained nurse, who declared that just four hours before Crawford's death, she had administered a dose of the cough medicine containing the narcotic. Dr. Hurt and the trained nurse were both positive that they could not be mistaken as to the cause of death.

Interrogatives were read from Dr. J. M. McCandless which showed that the physician failed to agree with a post mortem made three years after the death of Crawford, claiming that the aged man had died from poisoning. The post mortem was made by Dr. H. F. Harris and is the basis of a charge of murder now pending against Mrs. Mary Belle Crawford, principal legatee under the Crawford will, and whose share in the estate the contending heirs are trying to distribute.

Petition in Bankruptcy.

A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was fined with the clerk of the United States court yesterday by William Heagy Hooten, engaged in dry goods trade at 807 Marietta street. The petitioner declares liabilities of $2,120.40, and assets $2,555, of which $2,540 is listed as stock in trade. The petitioner asserts an exemption in the sum of $1,000. A request for the appointment of a receiver was made.

File Bankruptcy Proceedings.

Involuntary proceedings in bankruptcy were filed yesterday with Deputy Clerk Beers, of the federal court, against G. Constantopy, conducting a novelty store on West Mitchell street. A receiver was asked. The creditors are: Dansig & Elsenbery, claiming an obligation amounting to $1,805.30; Morris Mannery, $717.36, and P. Elson, $78.59.

CATARRH VICTIMS

DO YOUR CHRISTMAS SHIPPING EARLY

It is the desire and aim of the Southern Express Company to handle all shipments entrusted to it with the greatest possible care, and to make prompt deliveries in good order.

To attain this end the shipper's co-operation is not only essential but necessary.

With this co-operation satisfactory service is assured.

This is true at all times but especially true during the holiday season when transportation is taxed to its utmost by reason of the unusual and unnatural demands made upon it.

To meet this abnormal condition the agents and employees are instructed to take especial pains to assist shippers and facilitate the Christmas business.

The greatest trouble in transportation is brought about by congestion. The greatest congestion comes at Christmas.

THE CAUSE—Every one ships at the same time.

To do your Christmas shipping early, is the only sure relief for this condition.

Gridiron Season to End In Blaze of Brilliance; All-Star Game Saturday

The Atlanta football season of 1913, the most successful season from a spectator's standpoint that the game has ever had in this city, will be officially closed next Saturday afternoon at Ponce de Leon park.

A team of all stars, captained by Lewie W. Hardage, former Auburn and Vanderbilt star and now coach at Mercer university, will play the Seventeenth Infantry eleven.

The game will be a corker. The soldiers will naturally have the better team work, but the individual brilliance of the all stars may, in a measure, offset that.

The game is to be played at Ponce de Leon park and will start promptly at 2:30 o'clock. The admission fees will be announced later.

On the soldiers' line-up will be Lieutenant Devore, the great all-American tackle of the Army eleven last year, and at present coach of the Seventeenth team.

The soldiers have several mighty good football players on their line-ups, men who, if in college, would make names for themselves on the gridiron. Against Devore and his soldiers, the all-stars will send in a great string of men, ten of them being ex-captains on southern elevens and every man an all-southern choice for the position he will play.

Lewie Hardage, Ray Morrison, Nuck Brown, Tom Brown and Red Hasslock will be the Vanderbilt entries for the game. Jenks Gillem and Eric Chesare are the Sewanee men.

The University of Georgia will have Rob McWhorter, Emp Peacock and Hugh Conklin in the line-up.

The Auburn champions will use Kirke Newell, Meadows, "Shorty" Lamb, John Davis, Pitts and Rip Majors.

Joe Smith, the former Gordon star and later of Cornell, is the only man not from an S. L. A. A. college.

Homer Cook and Al Loeb will be Tech's two representatives in the fray.

Lovers of football should get several thrills in this, their last chance to see a football game this season.

It will also serve as another chance to show up Birmingham. The game will be staged there at a future date in this month and a comparison of the attendance at the game here and there should be interesting.

COMPOSITE ALL-SOUTHERN ELEVEN CHOSEN BY EIGHTEEN DOPESTERS

Player—	Position—	Team—
Pitts	Center	Auburn
Thigpen	Guard	Auburn
MacCallum	Guard	Sewanee
T. Brown	Tackle	Vanderbilt
Turner	Tackle	Georgia
E. Brown	End	Vanderbilt
Robinson	End	Auburn
Paddock	Quarter	Georgia
McWhorter	Half	Georgia
Newell	Half	Auburn
Harris	Half	Auburn

There were eighteen all-southern picks in the Sunday papers throughout the south, and the sporting editor of The Constitution compiled from them the composite pick above, the player receiving the most votes at each position being awarded the palm.

E. Brown, of Vanderbilt, at end; Tom Brown, of Vanderbilt, at tackle, and Thigpen, of Auburn, at guard, received the unanimous choice of all the picks.

Pitts, who is elected center, received as many votes for guard as MacCallum did, five, but as he had been the choice for center we give the guard position to MacCallum.

Here are the choices at the various positions, and the votes each man received:

CENTER—Pitts (Auburn) 9, Dutton (L. S. U.) 3, Morgan (Vanderbilt) 5, Delaparierre (Georgia) 1.

GUARDS—Thigpen (Auburn) 18, Pitts (Auburn) 5, MacCallum (Sewanee) 5, Lockwood (Auburn) 3, Dutton (L. S. U.) 2, Means (Tech) 1, Baylor (Tennessee) 1, Woodward (Tulane) 1, Morgan (Vanderbilt) 1.

TACKLES—T. Brown (Vanderbilt) 13, Turner (Georgia) 7, Schilletter (Clemson) 4, Louisell (Auburn) 2, Dutton (L. S. U.) 2, Henderson (Georgia) 2, Malone (Georgia) 1, Kelly (Tennessee) 1, Vandegraaf (Alabama) 1, Morgan (Vanderbilt) 1.

ENDS—E. Brown (Vanderbilt) 18, Robinson (Auburn) 11, McClure (Tennessee) 1, Parker (Sewanee) 1, Conklin (Georgia) 1, Carroll (Tennessee) 2, Vandegraaf (Alabama) 2.

QUARTERS—Paddock (Georgia) 13, Tolley (Sewanee) 3, Rainey (Tennessee) 1, Newell (Auburn) 1.

HALFS—Newell (Auburn) 15, McWhorter (Georgia) 12, Sikes (Vanderbilt) 6, Rainey (Tennessee) 2, Vandegraaf (Alabama) 1.

FULL—Harris (Auburn) 9, McWhorter (Georgia) 4, Sikes (Vanderbilt) 3, Vandegraaf (Alabama) 1, Reid (L. S. U.) 1.

Nine coaches and nine sporting writers are included in the picks named above, and the composite eleven comes as nearly being the strongest eleven that could possibly be named.

Self-Loading Shotgun

12 GAUGE, TAKE-DOWN

Since its introduction, sportsmen have subjected this gun to almost every conceivable test. In no fair trial has it failed to stand up or prove its supremacy. Its Nickel Steel construction gives strength to shoot maximum loads with safety, and its reloading system the ability to handle the lightest or heaviest loads without tinkering the action. In this gun the "kick" is minimized to the last degree. It has other distinctive features to recommend it, as an inspection will show.

EMORY GRADUATE WINS ENGLISH TENNIS CUP

Towson, Rhodes Scholar, First in Fall Tournament at the University of Oxford.

Hatton D. Towson, a graduate of Emory college in 1912, and winner of the Rhodes scholarship last year, won the fall tournament in tennis singles at Oxford university, England, according to a story printed in the August of The Emory Weekly, an interesting little paper published by the student body at Oxford, Ga.

At Emory college Towson cleaned up with everything in the college tournaments for three years, but as the students of the Methodist institution are not allowed to take part in intercollegiate athletics, he was unknown in Georgia as a tennis player. Towson is the son of a former missionary to China and learned to play tennis about the same time that he mastered the intricacies of the Chinese touche. He has played the game on three continents now and seems to have improved each time.

Emory men who attended the college several years ago remember that Towson first came to college as a wore rather large tensed glasses and had the appearance of what college boys the world over term a "shark." After he had won several matches with the best tennis players in college, however, and made the class football team and also a place on the famous "All Emory" eleven, his college mates came to know it is studies at which he is not the only things in which he was proficient.

NO CREDIT GIVEN YOST FOR THE ARMY VICTORY

West Point, N. Y., December 1.—The forward pass formations and other plays used so successfully by the Army football team against the Navy last Saturday were not the result of outside coaching, according to a statement issued today by Lieutenant Colonel Ernest Fielding H. Yost, of the University of Michigan, the Cadets say's much but did not at West Point and did not assist Lieutenant C. D. Daly, head Army coach, the statement says.

"Much has been said in the newspapers in the last few days in regard to the assistance given by the coaches of the West Point football team by Mr. Fielding H. Yost. The facts in the case are:

"In 1908 Mr. Yost did actually assist in the coaching of the Army team. This year he arrived at West Point in the afternoon of November 25 and left in the evening of November 26. The statement that he was on the bench but did not assist with the coaching or training of this year's team is absolutely without foundation. As a result of his visit not one single play was added nor was any change of even the smallest importance made."

AUSTRALIA WILL TRY FOR THE DAVIS CUP

Melbourne, Victoria, December 1.—Australia will make another attempt to recover the Davis cup from the United States, now held by America, Norman E. Brooks and A. W. Dunlop have booked passage for Europe and will compete in British and Continental tournaments. They will thus be able to round into form for the international contests and Anthony F. Wilding, of New Zealand, who this year defeated Maurice McLoughlin, of San Francisco, for the championship of Great Britain, and Australia, he will be available for the Davis cup contests.

Waynesboro Winners.

Waynesboro, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—The Continental Field Trial club ran its members' stake today. Despite the drizzling rain some good work was done on birds. The winners were done on birds. The winners were by Mr. Perkins, first; Mr. Cone's Flora, second; handled by Mr. John White, and Dr. E. Third, handled by Mr. Mitchell.

After this stake the agg-gge drawn with twenty entries and the three brace will start in the morning.

The annual bench show of this club took place at the armory of Company E tonight with the following results: Happy Medium, first in the pointer dogs. Bess Bandana, first in the setter bitch class, and the pointer, John, won first in the dogs and Lethesome in the bitches. Peg Danston won first in the whole show.

CLEMENTS IS FAVORED BY HOUSE COMMITTEE

Washington, December 1.—The interstate commerce commission committee of the house tomorrow will formally indorse Judson C. Clements, of Georgia, for reappointment as a member of the interstate commerce commission. His term will expire shortly. The action of the committee will be unanimous and non-partisan. The resolution will be proposed by Congressman Esch, of Wisconsin, republican, and Congressman Sims, of Tennessee, democrat.

Sumter Superior Court.

Americus, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—Sumter superior court convened this morning, Judge Zera A. Littlejohn presiding, and entered upon the heaviest criminal docket presented in several years. There are thirty felony cases, including five negro murders awaiting trial. The jail is filled with prisoners, among them two white men on felony charges. Two weeks will be consumed in clearing the docket.

A CHALLENGE

The sporting editor is in receipt of the following challenge from the manager of Wild Cat Burns:

"Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Editor: I would very much like to have my man, Wild Cat Burns, of Pittsburg, Pa., meet some good middleweight in your city before some local club. He has met and defeated some of the best middleweights in the east and around the middle west.

"A glance at part of his record will convince you that he is in line with the top-notchers. A few of the latest that he has met are Jack McCarron, of Philadelphia; Tom Gibbons, brother of the famous Mike; Jimmie Gardner, of Boston; Billie McKinnon, Bob Moha, Walter Hicks, of Detroit, and his ten-round draw with George Chip shows that he is one of the most sensational fighting machines that has appeared among has seen since the days of the famous Terry McGovern.

"We are now in the south and I am willing to match him with any middleweight who cares for any of his game. Would prefer Clarence English or any other good middleweight that thinks he can make good. Burns is in the best possible shape at present, so first come first served. Respectfully yours,

"J. C. WODETSKY,
"Manager 'Wild Cat Burns.'"

ENGLISH POLOISTS CHALLENGE AGAIN

London, December 1.—The Hurlingham Polo club today forwarded a challenge to the American Polo association for a series of cup matches in 1914.

New York, December 1.—Members of the Polo association expressed pleasure over the announcement that the Hurlington club was challenging again for the trophy, according to the usual custom the challenge will go before the polo cup commission and if accepted a special committee will be appointed to confer with the Hurlington club regarding details.

ELECTION OF TECH CAPTAIN POSTPONED

Team Will Have Photo Taken Saturday, at Which Time Leader Will Be Named.

The election of the Tech football captain for the eleven of 1914 will not be held until Saturday. It was planned to be held last Saturday, but was postponed a week.

BOGUS TELEGRAM GIVEN TO NAVY QUARTERBACK

Annapolis, Md., December 1.—An incident in connection with the Army-Navy football game in New York Saturday is being investigated by naval academy authorities. Just before the game started, Nicholls, Navy quarterback, received a telegram which said his father was seriously ill and requested him to start immediately for home. The initials were not those of Midshipman Nicholls. The telegram was dated Baltimore, while Nicholls' family live in Spartanburg, S. C. Although Nicholls discredited the telegram, he felt some anxiety until he learned his father was in good health.

If the telegram was the work of some one who wished to weaken the navy team, as has been suggested, Nicholls naturally would have been selected, as upon him devolved the selection of Navy's play.

Midshipman C. McReavey, Navy halfback, who was put out of Saturday's game with a badly dislocated knee and leg ligaments, is in the Navy hospital. Surgeons say he hardly will be fit for duty inside of four weeks and will not be able to take part in athletics this winter. Percy, who played center, was kicked in the side and has an internal injury, but it is thought not to be serious.

GROSSMAN TO ATTEND SUFFRAGE CONVENTION

Attorney Leonard J. Grossman, general counsel of the Georgia Woman's Suffrage association leaves Atlanta for Washington, D. C., today, where he will attend the forty-third annual meeting of the National American Woman Suffrage association.

Georgia's delegation at this national convention consists of Mrs. Mary L. McLendon, president of the Georgia Woman's Suffrage association, who arrived in Washington Monday, and Attorney Grossman. Preliminary to an aggressive campaign in this state Mr. Grossman will confer with officials in Washington which will facilitate the work of the Georgia Men's league for equal suffrage.

ATHLETIC CLUB FIVE WILL PLAY BESSEMER

Opening Game of the Local Basketball Season Scheduled for Saturday.

The local basketball season will be ushered in Saturday night when the Atlanta Athletic club five gets into action against the Bessemer Athletic club five of Bessemer, Ala.

For an opening game, this is one of the best menus that has ever been offered to local basketball fans. Bessemer always has a good team and the locals will be extended to their utmost to win.

NATIONAL GUARD FIVES CLOSE THEIR SEASONS

The basketball season in the Fifth Regiment league will come to a close this week with three games, two on Wednesday night and the final game on Friday night.

The game Friday night will probably be for the regimental championship. The two contenders, Company G, and the Governor's Horse Guards, have not been defeated as yet and will battle for the title unless they meet defeat Wednesday.

Raw Wool on Free List.

Washington, December 1.—Raw wool went on the free list today under the provisions of the new tariff law. It is estimated that probably $1,000,000 worth of wool was in bond in New York alone, awaiting admission free of duty.

He Says Dick Knew

The sporting editor of The Sunday Knoxville Journal and Tribune has the following to say:

"In gathering the ideas of others it was observed that without one exception, Dick Jemison, The Atlanta Constitution's crack, selected a team that was identically the team chosen by ballot by all nine men. Had we known it would turn out that way, we would have contented ourselves with asking Dick's opinion, and so let it stop there, and save all the other trouble. It only shows that Dick knew what he was doing.

"To give the fans an idea of what some of the individuals thought should make up the all-southern eleven, we are publishing some of them. Others are not published because they gave us their ideas, to be used in the sum total, but did not want to be known to the public. Here was what Dick Jemison said should constitute the all-southern eleven and when you have read it, compare it with the combined judgment of all nine experts.

Ends—Brown, Vanderbilt; Robinson, Auburn.

Tackles—Brown, Vanderbilt; Turner, Georgia.

Guards—Thigpen, Georgia; Pitts, Auburn.

Center—Morgan, Vanderbilt.

Quarter—Paddock, Georgia.

Halfbacks — McWhorter, Georgia; Newell, Auburn.

Fullback—Harris, Auburn.

Substitutes—Line, Henderson, of Georgia; backfield, Sikes, of Vanderbilt.

TILLMAN DYING FROM FALL FROM AUTOMOBILE

Americus, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—T. F. Tillman, a prominent resident of Houston county, was seriously, if not fatally, injured here today in leaping from a rapidly moving automobile. Mr. Tillman stepped from the car backward and fell heavily upon his head, the fall probably resulting in a brain concussion.

He is being cared for by relatives here whom he was visiting.

BUSINESS WOMEN WILL AID IN RED CROSS WORK

At the call of Mrs. John O. Bagwell, the business women of Atlanta are earnestly requested to meet at the rooms of the Young Women's Christian association on Carnegie way, near Peachtree, at 4:15 o'clock this afternoon.

Mrs. Bagwell, who is in charge of the work to be done by the business women in behalf of the Red Cross Christmas seal campaign, was formerly Miss Daisy Logan, for a long time secretary of the Y. W. C. A. She is ably assisted in this work by Miss Gene Crew Saunders, who was chairman of last year's committee.

The work will be explained briefly and the Red Cross seals will be issued with those who attend for proper distribution.

DRINK MORE WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat Less Meat and Take Salts for Backache or Bladder Trouble.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy, the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys get like this you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll get a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue is furred and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Take less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

DARSEY MURDER CASE IN U. S. SUPREME COURT

Attorney General Felder Files Defense of Action of the Georgia Judge.

Washington, December 1.—Attorney General Felder, of Georgia, today filed with the United States supreme court a defense of the action of a judge in the superior court of Laurens county, Georgia, in refusing to accept the verdict of a jury finding Joe Darsey guilty of involuntary manslaughter in a murder case.

The attorney general showed that it was the practice in New York, Texas, Tennessee, Virginia, Missouri, Kentucky and North Carolina for the judges to refuse to accept a verdict which was not responsive to the charge to the jury.

The trial judge had not charged the Darsey jury that it could bring in an involuntary manslaughter verdict.

GIRLS! STOP WASHING THE HAIR WITH SOAP

Soap Dries Your Scalp, Causing Dandruff, Then Hair Falls Out.

After washing your hair with soap always apply a little Danderine to the scalp to invigorate the hair and prevent dryness. Better still, use soap as sparingly as possible, and instead have a "Danderine Hair Cleanse." Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one strand at a time. This will remove dust, dirt and excessive oil. In a few moments you will be amazed, your hair will not only be clean, but it will be wavy, fluffy and abundant, and possess an incomparable softness and lustre.

Besides cleansing and beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; stimulates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair. Danderine is the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

Men! Ladies! You can surely have lots of charming hair. Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it.

Eggs Cost Many Dollars Each at Poultry Show And New York Dealers Are Envious People Now

MISS MARTHA PARDICA,

Well-known Atlanta girl, "talking" with "Bill," the prize-winning Partridge Plymouth Rock rooster, born and raised right here in Atlanta. "Bill" won first recently at Augusta and Columbus in competition with some of the finest chickens in the south. The bird is the property of Wm. J. Stoddard, of this city.

The eggs here are the product of some of the finest show fowls ever gathered together under one roof.

And again!

The eggs here are but by-products of the Southern International Poultry Show, which opened its doors on Monday.

Higher Class of Birds.

By noon today the entire reservation made for birds from all over the United States will have been occupied. Late last night there were over 2,700 birds cooped and ready for the judging, which starts Wednesday. On account of the fact that this year the show managers limited the case space to 4,000 exhibits, to facilitate the work of classing the birds, the show is not so large as the one given last year. However, the class of the birds shown, the number of really fine fowls on exhibition, far outdistances any poultry show ever given in this section of the country.

William J. Stoddard, well-known Atlantan, has several coops entered, and remarked proudly that he knew of no better way to boost Atlanta than to show real made-in-Atlanta goods on the foot. Proving his statement, he pointed to his prize Partridge Plymouth Rock "Bill," as it nestled in the arms of a pretty poultry fancier who visited the show late Monday afternoon.

Poole Praises Show.

T. M. Poole, secretary and treasurer of the Southern International Poultry association, who is in active charge of the exhibition, declared Monday that in all of his experience he had never seen a finer collection of fowls shown under one roof.

The show is already an assured success. The entries leave nothing to be wished for, and an added feature is the fact that all of the entries that we expected are here on the spot for the opening day. This is unusual in the ordinary shows.

The local show is being conducted strictly along the rules laid down by the American Poultry association, whose exhibitions in New York city have attracted the attention of the entire world. The judging of the various classes of fowls will start on Wednesday morning or so soon as the entry superintendents announce that all birds have been classified and registered.

Among some of the better birds to be seen at the exhibition are many from New Jersey and Maryland breeding farms, Ohio, Indiana, as well as Kentucky and Tennessee, are also represented. The bulk of the exhibits, however, come from right here in Georgia.

CONVICTS RUN AMUCK IN WHITFIELD CAMP

Guards Have a Hard Time Quieting Negroes—Three Are Badly Hurt.

Dalton, Ga., December 1.—(Special.) Without warning, three long-term men in the local convict camp, ran amuck Saturday night, with the result that Frank Nix, from south Georgia, sustained a cracked skull, Bob Simmons, from Calhoun county, was slashed across the face with a knife, and Bud Mitchell, also from south Georgia, was severely cut across his neck.

The quarrel between the prisoners commenced after they had been locked in their quarters for the night, and was precipitated, it is said, by Nix.

It required the warden and guards some length of time to quell the disturbance, and the services of a physician to mend the damage inflicted during the fray.

All of the combatants are negroes, and the one who so effectively wielded the instrument that fractured the skull of his opponent is said to be a powerful specimen of his race, otherwise a cracked head would not have resulted.

HIS LIFE THREATENED FOR CLOSING SALOONS

Judge Neil, However, Is Resolved to Stop "Blind Tigers" in Nashville.

Nashville, Tenn., December 1.—Stating that threats had been made that his home would be burned and that his own life had been threatened as a result of closing the saloons of Nashville, Judge A. B. Neil, in the criminal court today ordered Sheriff Longhurst to place a deputy in the door of every saloon, if necessary to keep them closed. Under Judge Neil's order, issued sometime ago, all saloons were directed to surrender their federal licenses on November 15 and quit selling intoxicants. He said today that only 12 or 15 saloonists had obeyed the order and conditions were now worse than before. He meant to enforce the law, however, if he had to live in a tent on the bank of the Cumberland river.

Recently reports have been current that many places had resumed the sale of whisky and beer.

Federal Court Convenes.

Columbus, Ga., December 1.—(Special.)—Federal court convened here today, Judge W. T. Newman presiding. Many criminal cases are to be investigated. J. C. Alexander is foreman of the grand jury.

Physician Tells How To Grow Hair

A Well-Known Physician and Newspaper Correspondent Tells How to Promote the Growth of the Hair.

A well-known physician who has made a careful study of the hair recently made the following statement: "It is comparatively easy to stop the hair from falling out, promote its growth and banish dandruff by the following simple recipe, which can be made at home: To 7 oz. of water add a small box of Barbo Compound, 1 oz. of bay rum and ½ oz. of glycerine. Apply it to the scalp with the finger tips two or three times per week. It not only is excellent as a scalp and hair tonic but it darkens faded, streaked, gray hair and makes it soft and glossy. I use it myself and have no hesitancy in recommending it to my patients. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost."

GEORGIA BAPTIST MISSION WORKERS ORGANIZE BOARD

Officers were elected and the reorganization begun yesterday at a meeting of the newly elected state mission board of the Georgia Baptist church at the offices of Dr. J. J. Bennett, the secretary.

The board was named by the nominating committee at the recent meeting in Gainesville and its purpose is to overlook churches and state work and to encourage the building of new churches and missions, especially in the mill districts.

On the reorganized board only four former members were elected. They are A. D. Adair, of Alma; Dr. C. W. Daniel, of Atlanta; N. R. Drewery, of Griffin, and Graham Forrester, of West Point.

The following men comprise the new board:

A. D. Adair, Atlanta; L. E. Barton, Atlanta; Jules W. Bealer, Eastman; R. L. Berton, Monroe; A. Charles, Forsyth; H. W. Daniel, Atlanta; J. Comal, Atlanta; W. Daniel, Atlanta; L. Dunlap, Atlanta; N. B. Drewery, Griffin; M. L. Duggan, Sparta; Graham Forrester, West Point; M. Gilmore, McDonough; J. E. Hampton, Gainesville; W. M. Harris, Thomasville; M. P. Jackson, Tallapoosa; M. Ashby Jones, Augusta; F. L. Mallary, Macon; M. M. Massey, Hartwell; W. H. McKenzie, Cordele; R. C. Norman, Washington; S. B. Oglesby, Atlanta; William Russell Owen, Atlanta; T. L. Walker, Rome; J. A. Wynne, Quitman.

BARNES LODGE WILL HAVE HOME-COMING

Barnes lodge, No. 55, I. O. O. F., is to have a gigantic "home coming" Thursday night. All members of Barnes lodge who have at any time been affiliated with the lodge are urged to attend. Letters have been sent broadcast throughout the country to lodge members who are scattered in all parts of the United States by T. C. Perkins, noble grand master, and it is presaged that the event will be one of the most enthusiastically attended in the history of the local order.

Gordon F. Mitchell will be master of ceremonies and short addresses will be delivered by Past Grand Master Coleman, Grand Secretary Robertson, Past Grand Master James Mayson, and Brothers Walter McElreath, Hon. R. Lee Smith and others, if the time will permit.

IT MAY RAIN TODAY, SAYS WEATHER MAN

Probable rain!

What a power of force in words.

The local weather forecasters say it will probably rain today. Further than that, they refuse to even intimate.

The cheering thought is held, however, that it will be warmer during the daylight hours of Tuesday—even if it does rain. It is also hinted that before the week is out, Atlanta will again bask in salubrious sunshine and once more be a "thing of beauty and a joy forever."

Rain is general all over the south. There has been a big fall in Alabama, as well as parts of Georgia, but this is nearly over, so the weather man says.

So, even with the gloomy prediction of wetness for the next twelve hours, there is still hope for a balmy Wednesday.

Southern smokers have recognized in SOVEREIGN the spirit of the new South—Progress. SOVEREIGN stands for better tobacco, better paper, better cigarettes and better enjoyment.

The old Southern brands were good cigarettes—judged by the old standards. But SOVEREIGN has given the South a new and higher standard of cigarette quality.

SOVEREIGN is made of the fine, fragrant Virginia-North-Carolina leaf that Southerners love to smoke. But it is the highest grade of this Southern-grown Old Belt tobacco ever rolled in paper.

Its smooth, mellow flavor comes from ageing for as long as three years, and from the skillful blending of several crops.

SOVEREIGN smokes freely and burns evenly because the cigarettes are large, and well-made—and the expensive imported French paper doesn't smolder and "go out."

The South has never seen anything like the tremendous SOVEREIGN success, because the South has never had another cigarette like SOVEREIGN. "QUALITY TELLS."

CROP ESTIMATE AND FIRM CABLES

These Were Factors in the Upward Movement of Cotton — Selling Movement Near End of the Session.

New York, December 1.—Firm cables and a crop estimate from New Orleans of 13,660,000 bales, exclusive of linters, was chiefly responsible for a strong upward movement in the cotton market today. At one time active positions were 19 to 20 points above the close of Saturday, and there was a good class of buying, particularly for March contracts.

The strength of Liverpool was something of a surprise, and indicated that hedge selling, very often a depressing factor there on Monday, was not present today in any volume. In this market, besides active covering, there was considerable buying for Wall street and Western account, and the opening was firm at an advance of 9 to 14 points.

While occasional slight reactions occurred up to the last hour, there was no material check to the advance and the market seemed to be getting good support on all dips. Near the close, however, an unusually liberal selling movement chiefly in the new crop positions, induced partly by reports that rather wages had been refused the railroads at Fall River, caused a sharp setback of about a dozen points from the top, and the close was steady at 5 to 10 points net advance.

A final crop report of 11,766,000 bales ginned to December 1, or 1,332,000 bales for the period, and this was taken to confirm the average of local estimates that the crop will be a little over 14,000,000 bales.

Reports from southern spot markets indicated partial advances of ¼ and, in some cases, mentioned an excellent demand. There were liberal exports again, particularly to Japan, which has taken 141,000 bales of American cotton since September 1, against 78,000 last season.

During the day reports of exhaustion came in from both eastern and western sections of the belt, which, with the opening figures privately issued, had a tendency to modify ideas as to the probable showing of the census bureau next Monday.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, December 1.—It was a quiet session in the cotton market. The tone was steady the day through, with little outside interest, in the early trading, a moderate demand served to keep prices at the advance, but the afternoon there was more or less profit-taking, with the result of weakening long and sales from this source weighed against the market somewhat, although at no time were prices at a net decline.

The opening was steady at an advance of 10 to 11 points, on good cables, favorable weather in the cotton region and a local crop estimate of 250,000 bales, not including linters. This estimate about fitted in with the ideas of the trade, with little extra hope in a government estimate not much larger. Little large crop talk was heard at any time and covering by shorts was one of the features of the day's trading. Around noon, the trading months were 13 to 18 points over the last previous quotations. This was the high of the day. In the afternoon there was a dull and irregular market with a net gain for the day of 5 to 10 points. The close was steady.

The disposition to sell in the afternoon was increased by reports that railroad interests were coming out with rather liberal returns on advertising up to date. While these reports were not confirmed, they helped check the upward trend of prices.

Estimated Receipts Tuesday.

Galveston, 27,000 to 29,500, against 52,204 last year.

New Orleans, 15,500 to 16,600, against 17,682 last year.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, December 1.—The estimate of the New Orleans Times-Democrat, of 13,660,000 bales, was a bearish surprise and had effect upon Liverpool, which had opened dull but steady and later came reports and figures that there firmer. Business there, while light, favored better prices which were reflected in opening about ten points above those of the close Saturday. The good tone heard near the close, when rumors of further National Ginners figures unsettled prices. The crop esstimate of the 12th inst., anticipated by the buyers of today to be less than here before thought, causes hesitancy on the part of short sale account sellers as nearly 300 bales is considered unsafe for estimates to clients. Port receipts today, 83,995, against 22,186,000, against 11,964,541, added to the favorable conditions of the present season. Trade conditions are slightly discouraging, with continental advices not good.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, December 1.—The market showed decided strength this morning, sustaining the early advance. The close was steady at a net advance of 5 points. The bulls are opening rather too much on the possibility of a low government crop estimate.

Liverpool is due to come 2¼ to 4 points down.

Gibert & Clay.

New York, December 1.—Reports of exhaustion from different parts of both eastern and western section of the belt gave emphasis to small crop ideas, which, helped by a decree bulge selling, brought about an advance of 20 points in the local market. The demand was more insistent than has been the case lately and the market showed the effect of the recent heavy selling in much reduced offering. Prices present are being made almost entirely the day to day demand for spot cotton and with any signs of lasting improvement in this quarter, the local market will respond readily.

London Stock Market.

London, December 1.—Money and discount rates were easier today.

The stock market continues irregular in the absence of increased outside support. Consols, in which the settlement was concluded, dropped owing to the forthcoming $20,906,000 4 per cent Canadian loan. Home rails were firm and Mexicans closed higher, but copper shares eased off, in anticipation of unfavorable statistics and Paris sold its favorites in the afternoon.

American securities opened quiet and unchanged. Later in the forenoon, prices improved fractions under light covering. In the afternoon Canadian Pacific advanced, but the rest of the list barely moved. The closing was dull.

WHEAT ADVANCED ABOUT HALF CENT

Big Decrease in the Visible Supply Caused Prices to Move Up 1-4 to 5-8 Cent. Corn and Oats Higher.

Chicago, December 1.—Announcement today of a large decrease in the visible supply rallied wheat. There was a steady close at an advance of 5-8@¾ to ⅞@⅞ net. Other leading staples, too, all showed a gain—corn to ½@⅝, oats ¼ to ⅜ and provisions 5 to 20. Firmness which developed in wheat, after the posting of the visible supply figures, disclosed that elevator concerns had been the market on the December offerings and that there had been some buying by shorts and commission men. It was evident that short selling on an early decline had been numerically overdone, especially as primary receipts and world shipments were light and it was estimated that 80 per cent of the spring crop in the northwest had been taken out of farmers' hands. Temporary weakening at the outset was due to Argentine reports of fine weather bringing about rapid progress of the harvest there. Encouraging flowering reports from the winter crop both of Nebraska and Kansas, for Noma, for example, sent word of an acreage amounting to 39 per cent, compared with a year ago. Benefiting also were much of India added to bearish sentiment, but the effect disappeared when the visible supply total became known.

Rainy weather finally resulted in an upturn for corn, but not until sellers had encouraged longs, by unloading, had depressed values. Shorts were covering at noon, and there were signs of a rally.

Huge deliveries, 2,000,000 bushels, failed to make any extraordinary impression in favor of the bears in oats. Elevator firms, from whom most of the deliveries came, were busy buying December and selling May at 4 cents difference. In the end, shorts, as in corn, were scurrying to cover.

Provisions ranged sharply higher. Hogs were on the advance and there was spirited buying for grain specials, corn, visiting stockmen and a western packer.

ATLANTA LIVE STOCK MARKET.

(By W. M. White, Jr., of the White Provision Company.)

Good to choice steers, 1,000 to 1,200 average, $4.60 to $5.00.
Good steers, 800 to 1,000 average, $5.75 to $6.00.
Medium to good steers, 700 to 800 average, $5.25 to $5.50.
Good to choice heifers, 750 to 850 average, $5.00 to $5.25.
Medium to good heifers, 650 to 750 average, $4.25 to $4.50.
The above represents ruling prices of good quality of beef cattle. Inferior grades and dairy types selling lower.

Mixed to common steers, if fat, 800 to 900 pounds, $4.50 to $5.00.
Mixed to common heifers, if fat, 700 to 800 pounds, $3.75 to $4.75.
Mixed steers, 600 to 800 pounds, $3.25 to $3.75.
Good butcher bulls, $3.50 to $4.50.
Prime hogs, 160 to 200 pounds, $6.00 to $6.50.
Good butcher hogs, 140 to 160 pounds, $5.75 to $6.00.
Heavy rough pigs, 160 to 200 pounds, $5.75 to $6.00.
Heavy rough hogs, $7.00 to $7.75.
Above quotations apply to corn-fed hogs and grain-fattened cattle. Cull hogs, $1 to $7.25.

But little change in the character of cattle coming to-trade this week. Fair supplies of medium grades with but few strictly good butcher cattle to be had. Market is generally steady to strong, grades with good demand, while the medium grades and common lots have sold about steady with odd account demand to keep the yards pretty well cleaned up. Hogs have been in good demand and strong to 10c higher, better grades and a more desirable class of cattle as the season advances.

Coffee.

New York, December 1.—Pronounced weakness abroad occasioned an opening decline of 12 to 17 in coffee futures. Trade was narrow throughout the day, and the undertone continued heavy, closing practically at the lowest, 20 to 22 net lower. Europe was an early seller. Part of the liquidation here was due to big Brazilian receipts and slightly lower firm offerings. Sales, 51,000.

Spot easy; Rio, No. 7, 9¾; Santos, No. 4, 12¾.

Mild, quiet; Cordova, 13@15¼.

Havre, easy; francs lower. Hamburg 1/8 to ¼ lower. Rio, 75 lower at 58f12½. Santos, unchanged.

ATLANTA STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

Improvements in the Madison avenue district between Smithonian and Peeler and streets are expected following the purchase recently by T. F. Cashmart, from the Cathcart Transfer company, from Mrs. Mary Nally, of the property at 159 Madison avenue at $3,500.

The lot fronts 44½ feet on Madison and runs back approximately 150 feet. It is understood that Mr. Cathcart bought it with the intention of building upon it at once. He paid at the rate of $80 per front foot for the lot and considered a splendid price for the land in that section. The sale was made by H. W. Grant, of the R. O. Cochran company.

Among other transactions shown in the real estate transfers of Monday was the sale by C. P. Hunter to George C. and F. W. Waters, of a lot 25x250 feet on the southwest side of James street, 75 feet from Spring street. The price was not named in the transfer bond, but it is understood that Mr. Hunter paid $1,000 for the lot in place a year ago.

Silver Lake Estates.

Splendid reports coming from the Silver Lake Estates exhibit held last week at the corner of Peachtree and Gilmer streets. Receipts Rough 1,031; clean 950; Blue Rose, 1,000; sales, rough 1,000; clean Honduras at 2.25@2.65, 2,612 sacks Japan at 3.00@3.00, 1,102 packets clean Honduras at 3.90@12-14c, 1,582 packets Japan at 3¼@3¾.

Mr. Hunter's sales manager, Mr. Bottenfield, said: "It is assured beyond a question, and organization will soon be perfected. This will be quickly immediately followed by the development of the property, which will be pushed just as rapidly as circumstances will permit. There is no doubt about the fact that people are enthusiastic over Silver Lake Estates, and we are going to make it the most attractive residence community in the south."

Legal Sales Day.

There is expected to be a busy crowd of realty agents and investors around the court house on Peachtree on Tuesday to-day, as it is sales' day and there are a number of small parcels of land to be sold.

No particularly large lots are in the list, but as many inquiries are coming in for small lots the sale promises many investments a large crowd of possible purchasers is expected.

An application was made Tuesday with the city building inspector by Mrs. J. A. Farmer to build a $12,000 house on Ponce de Leon avenue. The structure will be of brick veneer and will contain nine rooms.

Charles H. Black also made application for permit to build on the former site of old Trinity church, as was announced several weeks ago in the Atlanta Strides column. Mr. Black plans to erect a $50,000 building on an area 50x100. The structure will be finished in enamel, giving it a decidly handsome appearance. Mr. Black has already leased part of the building to the Satuknight Furniture company.

PROPERTY TRANSFERS.

$210—John S. Owens to G. T. Lamb, lot 286 Owensboro Land company, Peachtree avenue and Grand View avenue, 50x237 feet, November 29.

$1,500—Mrs. Patterson to Mrs. Emma Hunt, November 29, land street.

$750—Mrs. Annie E. Taylor to W. W. Hunt, Boulevard Park street, 101 feet southwest of Hamilton street, 51x146 feet, November 26.

$740—Same to same, lot on east side Park street, 100 feet south of Taylor street, 51x169 feet, November 26.

EARLY REMITTANCES ASKED OF COLLECTORS

Comptroller Sends Circular Letter to Officials Urging State's Financial Needs.

With a view to having the county tax collectors make extra early remittances of moneys collected by them this year, Comptroller General William A. Wright yesterday sent out the following letter to all tax collectors in the state:

"To the Tax Collectors of Georgia—Gentlemen: I am advised by the governor and state treasurer that the state is in urgent need of funds with which to meet heavy drafts on the treasury which will be made between now and the 1st of January. It will, therefore, be necessary for you to press collections as rapidly as possible. The law requires that all taxes due the state shall be paid by the 20th of December of each year. Explain this to the taxpayers of your county, and urge them to make prompt settlement of their taxes, which you will please remit without waiting for the first Monday in January, in order that the treasurer may be able to meet all demands as they mature. I am truly yours,

(Signed) "WILLIAM A. WRIGHT,
"Comptroller General.

"Atlanta, Ga., December 1, 1913.

"The above circular letter comes as a result of a conference of the comptroller general with the governor and the state treasurer last Friday, at which the urgent financial need of the state was considered.

TELAMON CUYLER HERE AFTER A HUNTING TRIP

Telamon Cuyler, well known in Atlanta, has returned to this city after a brief absence, and is registered at the Hotel Winecoff.

Mr. Cuyler stated to a representative of The Constitution last night that he had enjoyed a ten days' hunting trip in Jones county. "The quail are plentiful and the weather during the past ten days has been ideal for sportsmen," said Mr. Cuyler. "The happiest days of my life have been spent with rod and reel and horse and hound, and I believe that a man never grows old as long as he has an inclination for such pastime."

One charm of a long fishing trip is that the fisherman gets a chance to let his whiskers grow.

REDDEN COMING

C. L. REDDEN.

C. F. Redden, general sales manager of the Maxwell Motor company, is expected in the city either today or tomorrow. Mr. Redden, while in the city, will be the guest of Charles H. Booth, southern district manager of the Maxwell.

All the Maxwell dealers and salesmen of Georgia will attend a meeting as soon as Mr. Redden arrives, at which Mr. Redden will address them on the great strides made in the last few months by his company in the manufacturing and the distributing of Maxwell cars; also a general idea of the sales policies of his company.

COUNCIL SUSTAINS WOODWARD'S VETO

Mayor James G. Woodward's veto of the resolution for the appointment of a committee of electrical experts to make a test and examination of Atlanta's fire alarm system, was yesterday sustained by council.

Aldermen C. H. Beatty then offered a resolution in substitute for the resolution vetoed, providing for the appointment of the committee of four members of council and the mayor to look into the fire alarm contract with a view of settling with the Okenite company on a cash basis.

The resolution was passed and the committee was appointed by Mayor Woodward. Kern is composed of Mayor Woodward, Aldermen Kelly and Candler and Councilmen Humphrey and Mason.

Courtesy to Woodward.

Alderman J. M. Ragsdale, chairman of the board of firemasters, declared that the resolution was offered merely as a courtesy to the mayor, and not to involve him in the contract.

Council, however, overrode the mayor's veto of the ordinance authorizing the Calhoun estate to erect a board fence over the sidewalk and part of the street at Broad and Alabama streets. Five members voted to sustain the mayor and seventeen against.

Mayor Woodward vetoed the ordinance because, he declared, that it repealed all ordinances on the subject of street and sidewalk obstruction, and gives contractors the right to erect obstructions without the consent of the city.

The traffic ordinance was not considered by council for the reason that a majority of the members have been petitioned for a public hearing. This will be composed of a member from each ward.

Salary Scale Adopted.

Council adopted the ordinance drafted by the salary committee fixing a scale of wages for policemen, teachers and firemen, also a scale for city officials. The committee recommended increase in the salary of the city attorney to $2,500 per annum, the chief clerk in the assessor's office to $2,000, and the city electrician at $2,400. The committee also imposed heavier duties on the city electrician by placing him in charge of all conduits and electrical wiring owned by the city, also placing him in control of the police, fire alarm and waterworks signal systems. The ordinance also authorizes the electrician to employ additional help, this to be done with the approval of the board of electrical control.

As a method of securing the best class of competitive bids, the sewer committee and bond commission joined in a resolution asking council for authority to use the columns of The Constitution. The resolution was adopted.

The resignations of R. L. Corley as a member of the smoke board, and H. M. Patterson, as a member of the cemetery commission, were accepted.

Arthur Homan was appointed a member of the library board in the second ward in the place of T. B. Gay, resigned.

Ellery Is Pleased at Prospect of Playing At the Auditorium

Channing Ellery, the famous head of the Ellery band, has written a personal letter to George Wilkins, of the Atlanta Music Festival association, expressing his pleasure that the band is to play in the Auditorium-Armory here from December 12 to 13.

"Some of my men," he says, "who have played in the past in your Auditorium, assure me that its accoustics are admirable. That is all I want to know, for the band will do the rest, and when the tone-quality is truly glorious, is heard there, it must sweep into victory at the very first hearing.

"William Tell," "Madame Butterfly," the Pagliacci "Prologue," Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," the Rigoletto quartette and music from Carmen are sprinkled through the program for Friday and Saturday.

The coming of the Ellery band will be the greatest musical event of the year in Atlanta, barring only the appearance of the Metropolitan Grand opera.

PRESIDENT POTEAT SPEAKS ON HAPPINESS

An enthusiastic audience was delighted last night by Dr. E. M. Poteat, president of Furman university, who, for the benefit of the Young Men's Bible class, lectured on "The Philosophy of Happiness" in the Sunday school room of the Second Baptist church.

Dr. Poteat characterized happiness as in reality being nothing more than helpfulness. As his subject was an exhaustive one Dr. Poteat considered both the aesthetic and the utilitarian phases and convinced his audience that the conclusion was not only proved by philosophy, but was borne out by incidents in everyday life.

COPELAND'S SUCCESSOR NOT YET SELECTED

Comptroller General Wright declared yesterday that he had not yet selected a successor for John Copeland, deputy insurance commissioner, who resigned Saturday. Mr. Copeland says he finds that he can make several times his present salary as an actuary.

His resignation goes into effect on January 1, after which Mr. Copeland will become associated with the Equitable building. Mr. Copeland is a young man and enjoys the reputation of being one of the best actuaries in the state.

DUDLEY BANK ROBBED BY GANG OF YEGGMEN

Vault Blown With Nitroglycerin While Bullet Hail Keeps Off Citizens.

Dublin, December 2.—(Special.)—The Bank of Dudley was robbed of about $330 early this morning at Dudley, thieves blowing the safe open with nitroglycerin and wrecking the vault.

A hardware store was entered, also, and four fine shotguns, a half case of shells about 25 horse blankets and a handsaw stolen. All of these were used by the robbers.

The robbers stole a pick and some other tools from the railroad section gang of the M. D. & R. near Dudley, entered the bank by a rear window, took the pick and crowbar and dug a hole through the wall of the vault. After getting inside they broke the lock off the vault door from the inside and then proceeded to blow the doors off the safe. They secured a quantity of silver, amounting to about $330, leaving about $20 in the safe in small change.

There were three explosions in all, and several of the citizens were awakened. One of them, A. F. Whipple, who lives just a short distance from the bank, went out on his front porch with his rifle. A man guarding the bank from the outside ordered him to get back in the house, but instead Mr. Whipple fired at him. The guard answered the shot, and wounded Mr. Whipple slightly in the hand. Another citizen, L. H. Dudley, was awakened and started toward the scene of the explosions, but was stopped by another guard, about one block from the place where the first one was stationed.

The bank keeps most of its money in Dublin, and for that reason there was not much cash in its safe. The robbers cut the telephone and telegraph wires, but in some manner missed two of the wires and Sheriff Flanders, of Dublin, was telephoned and he immediately went to the scene, but no clew could be found.

AS CHRISTMAS GUEST WILSON IS WANTED

Washington, December 2.—President Wilson has under consideration invitations to spend his Christmas vacation in Columbia, S. C., Augusta, Ga., or a place near Corpus Christi, Texas. He will not decide which to accept until he is ready to go. If congress remains in session without a holiday recess the president probably will take no vacation at all.

Subscriptions announced by one committee, Adams-Willcox, $2,500.

Previously acknowledged. . . .$18,900
Reported Tuesday. 7,277

Total new subscriptions. . .$26,177

Another rousing meeting of the canvassing committees for the funds for the refounding of Oglethorpe university in Atlanta was held at 12:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Piedmont hotel.

A total of $7,277 in new subscriptions was reported, bringing the grand total of the new subscriptions up to $26,177, or more than 10 per cent of the total fund needed to insure the refounding of the university here.

Subscriptions of $1,000 each were reported from John W. Grant and John F. Kiser.

Suggestion was given of several other large subscriptions which will soon be forthcoming.

It is desired that every Atlantan who can possibly do so shall take in this splendid work, no matter how small the subscription; and subscriptions of $10, $15, $25 and up will be most cordially accepted. In fact, the committees are working just as hard to get small subscriptions as they are for the large ones.

At Tuesday's meeting of the committees, Chairman Ivan E. Allen, of the campaign committee, stated it had been reported to him that some of the canvassing committees were having considerable trouble with the cards giving the names of the old Methodist university fund of about nine years ago, while others are securing immediate responses from them, and some of the committees have not had a single rejection. Many have been glad to double their subscriptions for Oglethorpe, and in some instances have given even larger increases.

Chairman Allen said after the canvassing committees have finished with the cards, the city will be divided into territorial sections, and one section given to each committee, as there are many possible subscribers who were not represented at all in the old university fund.

Houston, Texas, and Memphis, Tenn., are both waiting to see what Atlanta is going to do, and if Atlanta does not want Oglethorpe, both of them are ready for it, and there are others.

SPUGS TO PLAY HOST TO LONELY PERSONS

New York, December 2.—The local organization of spugs, as members of the "Society for the Prevention of Useless Giving" style themselves, plan to play host on Christmas day to every lonely person in New York city. There is to be a Christmas party in Grand Central place for the lonely, a big Christmas tree, music, dancing, singing and refreshments.

Announcement of the plan was made by Kate Douglas Wiggin (Mrs. George Riggs) at a spug meeting tonight. The number of guests expected is more than 20,000. To defray the expense of the entertainment the spugs are making voluntary contributions, placing their offerings in a huge paper pie at headquarters. The pie is to be opened on Christmas afternoon.

"We want to bring the Christmas spirit of good will to everyone in the city who would not have it otherwise," Mrs. Riggs declared. "The spugs believe in the promotion of the Christmas spirit as well as the prevention of useless giving."

To Raise Postal Deposit.

Washington, December 2.—The house committee on postoffices today favorably reported a bill to raise from $100 to $1,000, the maximum amount which an individual may deposit in a postal savings bank in one month. The increase over $100 would not bear interest.

AT THE THEATERS

"Ben-Hur."

(At the Atlanta.)

General Lew Wallace's powerful and appealing biblical drama, "Ben-Hur," which was dramatized by William Young for the stage fourteen years ago, is as popular today as it was when it was first produced. It has been estimated by the business sponsors of the piece that more than ten million people have paid homage to its beautiful story by attendance in the theaters of America, Canada, England and Australia. The engagement at the Atlanta this week at the Atlanta will be a notable one. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday matinees will further be given. Many new appointments will be provided by the projecting managers, Klaw & Erlanger. The principal role of "Ben-Hur" is interpreted by Thomas Holding, an English actor of distinction, who has long been associated with important Drury Lane productions.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

There has never been a better entertainment with its bill of vaudeville than is backing the busy theater this week. It is a bill of features. Miss Orford's delightful present a feature that is wonderful things. She has a company of wonderful things. She is a wonderful entertainer. Really it is a wonderful show. The same goes for the "exact" cold demand $2 a seat and there would not be one vacant seat. That is how good the show is. It is a show of merit, of laughter and of unusual entertainment.

"The White Slave."

(At the Lyric.)

Bartley Campbell's play, "The White Slave," with its story of the south before the war, is drawing large audiences this week to the Lyric. Although this play has been presented in Atlanta on numerous occasions, it seems to have lost none of its drawing power, as is evidenced by the large crowds that have visited the Lyric this week. Special mention must be made of the clever work of Leo Kennedy as the villain. Miss Mae Thompson and Fred Haven in comedy roles and the intimitable dancing and dancing and band playing by the darkies that compose one scene in the play. Miss Mae Thompson as a melodrama leading lady and Fred Haven as a comedian ably stands at the head of the list, and specialties point to many years of successful drawing yet for Bartley Campbell's famous old play.

Jewell Kelley Stock.

(At the Bijou.)

Probably the most pretentious offering of the Jewell Kelley company's engagement is being given this week at the Bijou in the initial presentation of Holden Brothers' sensational melodrama, "Nobody's Claim," and judging from the reception given the play so far this week there is every indication that it will be the biggest success of the season of popularity and attendance. There are five sets each of which is put on with special and elaborate scenic effects, the third act, showing the flight of the heroine through the forest cut, is a realistic piece of stagecraft and is creating a veritable furore this week at the Bijou. Especially clever work is being done this week by Earl Hunt as Caledonia Jim, Vernon Wallace as Warren Devereaux, Edwin Vail as Robert McWade and Rose Morris as Madge Brent. Indications point to a splendid week's business.

Columbia Theater.

Plenty of girly girls and a rare element of fun and ginger are the features of "By the Way," the Columbia theater this season. The management has determined to offer only the cleanest attractions and has succeeded in pleasing the crowds that fill the theater at every matinee and night performance. Charlie Gramlich and Helena Hall again carry off the honors this week, but the Bathing Girls come in for a great share of the honors, as does Grey and Red Fox as the headline number of the olio. "By the Red Sea Waves" will be the attraction every day this week.

WITH THE MOVIES

The Vaudette.

"Tony's Sacrifice" is the name of a Reliance film with some wonderful Italian characters in it that will be seen at the Vaudette theater today. Tony, an Italian fruit peddler, is a member of a gang of Italian crooks, but protects the girl from whom they are trying to rob, but the crooks get even with Tony by capturing the little girl and threatening to strangle her unless Tony turns over the fruit he has long savings. The money, tucked away in an old tomahawk, is to bring his little girl over from Italy, but, caught and a prisoner, he sacrifices himself to the crooks in order to save Nuna. At almost the same moment a fellow countryman, who had been a member of the gang, comes to his home by a back window through the floor—and the play concludes with a thrilling fight. A two-reel Bronco entitled "The Buried Past" will also be shown.

The Alamo No. 2.

"The Cave Man's War" is the title of a great picture of pre-historic days which will be shown at the Alamo No. 2 today. Red Axe, of the Cave Dwellers, is crippled in a combat with a member of his tribe, whose mate he attempts to steal. The defeated man is driven from his people. Strong Arm, of the Shell People, takes Lightfoot, daughter of Scarface, as his mate. Later Strong Arm and several of his tribesmen come upon the crippled Red Axe. The two tribes are soon engaged in a fierce, constant war. Strong Arm saves Red Axe from death at the hands of the Shell men. Later Strong Arm accidentally invents the first bow and arrow and becomes the chief of the tribe.

The Alamo No. 1.

Those who missed seeing the "Wreck," the greatest railroad picture ever produced, will be given an opportunity to see it today at the Alamo No. 1. This is a three reel Vitagraph feature which cost $75,000 to produce. The thrilling point in the story shows a head-on collision between two railroad trains, running at 60 miles an hour. One is a runaway freight and the other a passenger train. The meeting, with the resulting wreckage, is accomplished by the crashing of the locomotive, the crashing of passenger cars into the ditch are shown in a terrible and realistic manner. No one who sees the picture on Tuesday will pronounce it a marvel of realism. The Broadway Comedy Four will appear again at this theater today in popular songs and ballads.

FIVE PERSONS DROWNED IN A TEXAS FRESHET

Belton, Texas, December 2.—Five persons are dead, property valued at many thousands of dollars was destroyed and today a flood which spread over a territory approximately twenty miles in diameter is still coming.

The dead were Mrs. C. Polk and her four children, who were carried away when their home was loosened from its foundation and floated down a flooded creek. Others were reported to have lost their lives, with the exception of Mrs. Polk and her children, all of those at first listed as dead were rescued, uninjured, from trees and wreckage late today.

The flood resulted from an excessive rainfall during last night which transformed small streams, normally hardly worth mentioning, into rivers which for six to eight hours swept away houses, cut out roads and left unbroken tracks, obliterated hollows in the road and cut gaps in telephone and telegraph lines. The flood tonight is receding fast.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF GASOLINE ASKED

A movement is on foot in Atlanta to secure governmental control of the price of gasoline as the "gas" necessary to the enjoyment of a motorcar has taken a skyward flight of late. The Johnson-Gewinner company has sent out circulars to the users of auto "gas" asking them to call at their store, 82-86 North Forsyth street, and sign a petition to congress in an endeavor to have the government of Texas take up the matter.

Gasoline dealers claim that there is no justifiable reason for the recent attempt to advance the "gas" increases in the price of the liquid and state that they intend to put down the boom. Senator Bankhead, Howard to take the matter up in congress following the adoption of enough names to the petition.
