ALL THE HOUSE LEADERS ARE FIGHTING WILSON

Personal Convictions on the Question Have Smashed Party Lines—Close Vote Expected to Follow Bitter Debate.

Washington, March 25.—Lines were sharply drawn tonight for the opening of the most bitterly contested legislative struggle that has confronted President Wilson's administration—the fight to repeal the law giving American coastwise ships free passage through the Panama canal. Opposing forces divided for the first skirmish in the conflict which will open when a special rule is presented to the house tomorrow to limit debate on the repeal controversy.

For the first time since the democratic administration took charge of the government administration leaders found a strong, resourceful and determined element within a party opposed to a policy which President Wilson personally had espoused. Personal convictions on the question almost have obliterated party lines.

This political situation, with the international character of the question involved, and the stress the president has placed on his position a necessary to the successful conduct of the administration's foreign policy, combined to make up a situation fraught with complications.

House Leaders Oppose Wilson.

The president's supporters tonight declared they were gaining ground in the house, and one enthusiastic administration leader predicted the passage of the repeal bill by a majority of nearly one hundred. The more conservative members of both sides, however, anticipate a hard-fought struggle, with a bitter and protracted debate followed by a close vote.

Aligned against the president's demand for the repeal are the three leaders of the parties in the house—Representative Underwood, of the democrats; Representative Mann, of the republican minority, and Representative Mc-Cook, of the progressives. Wings of all three parties back these leaders. On the democratic side, Chairman Adamson, of the house interstate and foreign commerce committee; Representative Henry, chairman of the rules committee; Representative Stevens, of Minnesota, and many other representatives of all three parties have accepted the president's position. It generally was believed tonight that Majority Leader Underwood and other democrats, while speaking against the bill and voting against it, would not attempt to organize any extended opposition or resort to dilatory tactics to prevent the passage of the bill.

First Vote Likely Today.

At noon tomorrow Chairman Henry will report a special rule, providing for fifteen hours of general debate on the repeal bill, and allowing no opportunity for amending the measure. An attempt will be made to fix four hours as a limit of debate on the proposed rule. If this is accomplished the first test vote will come late tomorrow afternoon on the adoption of the rule.

Supporters of the president are prepared to argue that the exemption of American ships from canal tolls is a violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty; that it is a form of subsidy to special interests, and the repeal is essential that the president may carry out his foreign policy. On the other hand, opponents will declare that American shipping needs the free use of the canal, the railroads and railroads fear the competition of free American ships and that to repeal the free tolls section would be "truckling to Great Britain without exhausting diplomatic negotiations."

An effort will be made, if the rule is adopted, to press debate to a conclusion and reach a vote on the bill late Saturday. If debate is prolonged, however, the final vote may go over until next week.

Bitter Feeling in Senate.

In the senate today the feeling over the proposed repeal was demonstrated in debate precipitated by Senator Chamberlain, who called up his resolution requesting the secretary of war for information as to the expense of maintaining improved waterways and canals within the United States. Senator Chamberlain assailed Andrew Carnegie and his activities in behalf of international peace, declaring that Mr. Carnegie's friendship for Great Britain was "treasonable."

"If Andrew Carnegie, who continually asserts the cause of Great Britain were the citizen of any other nation, he would be charged with treason," declared Senator Chamberlain. "He has never hesitated to spend his millions in endeavoring to increase the friendly feeling for Great Britain in the minds of the people of the United States."

Mr. Chamberlain attacked Mr. Carnegie came as the climax to an hour of hot argument, during which Senator Jones, who also opposed a repeal of the tolls exemption, had read, under protest, several letters attacking the contention of President Wilson.

Senator Jones, one of those opposing repeal, read a letter from William B. Larkin, of Boston, assailing President Wilson's contention and saying the president should be recalled to the classic shades of Princeton instead of being permitted to make supposed a representatives of the American people to congress."

Senator Hoke Smith, Senator Lewis and other democratic leaders failed by various parliamentary tactics to prevent the reading of the letter.

Senator Thomas, democrat, interrupted the reading of similar letters, to ask Mr. Jones' opinion of the president's motives in urging repeal.

Believes Wilson Is Honest.

DECIDE ON MAY 5 FOR CITY TO PASS ON HOSPITAL BONDS

Atlanta's Most Aggressive Citizens Are Preparing to Wage Vigorous Campaign for Big Civic Improvement.

Atlanta's most aggressive citizens—physicians and laymen—who are behind the movement to float an issue of $750,000 bonds for a "Greater Grady Hospital," placed themselves solidly behind the project yesterday and are today preparing to wage a campaign unprecedented in the history of the city.

Enthused over the widespread interest created in the matter of the hospital within forty-eight hours, the central committee met in the directors' room of the Lowry National bank. There was absolutely no friction, and every suggestion offered was adopted without dissent.

May 5 the Date.

May 5, the day of the county election, was agreed on by the committee as the date for submitting the bond question to the voters of Atlanta. A committee, composed of Robert L. Foreman, Dr. W. S. Elkin and A. R. Colvard, was appointed to make arrangements for a whirlwind campaign of publicity and education, and Colonel Robert Lowry, who presided as chairman of the general committee, was authorized to appoint at his leisure, a committee of three to raise the necessary funds for carrying on the campaign.

The committee authorized Dr. W. S. Elkin, one of the leaders in the campaign to make the Grady hospital the greatest institution in the south, to confer with Mayor Woodward. The conference will be for the purpose of urging the mayor to call a special meeting of council to pass on resolutions which will be submitted authorizing the issue.

The central committee will meet again on Saturday. In the meantime, there will be no lost motion. The several subcommittees will get busy with the council representatives and urge them to support the scheme when it is offered at the special meeting.

"We want to get council to give unanimous approval to the project," Colonel Lowry said. "And we want the people of Atlanta to give the project their support."

Vote at Same Place.

SOUTHERN METHODISTS PLAN NEW UNIVERSITY

If Vanderbilt Be Lost, New Institution Will Be Founded, Says Bishop Hoss.

Baltimore, March 25.—Unless there is a possibility of an appeal to the supreme court of the United States in the suit of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, against the trustees of Vanderbilt university, in Nashville, Tenn., a strong effort will be made to found a new university, whose control shall be wholly in the hands of the church, according to Bishop E. E. Hoss, president of the board of education of the Southern Methodist church. This board claimed control of Vanderbilt university until the decision of the supreme court of Tennessee last week stripped the church of all authority or ownership.

Bishop Hoss, who is attending the Baltimore conference, said today:

"The general conference surely will take steps to keep up its standards of education and found a university of its own. If it is robbed of Vanderbilt, and the most likely course will be to take one of the present church colleges as a foundation."

WILSON IS WARNED COXEY WILL LEAD HIS SECOND ARMY

Cleveland, Ohio, March 25.—President Wilson was warned of the departure for Washington, of a second "Coxey's army," which it is said will start April 16 from Massillon, Ohio, the starting point for the first "army" twenty years ago today.

"General" J. S. Coxey, of Massillon, the leader, tonight mailed the president a letter telling of his plans and inclosing a pamphlet on "The Coxey Plan of Setting the Idle to Work on Market Roads and Other Public Improvements."

The "army" expects to arrive in Washington May 21, Coxey says, to petition the president and congress for measures which will give work to the unemployed.

"This will give you forty-five days to inform yourself of the object of this second march," Coxey's letter says, "and to consider the practicability and justice of our demands.

"On the previous march two other leaders and myself were jailed twenty days for our efforts."

FEDERAL RAILROAD FOR THE SETTLERS

Washington, March 25.—Secretary Lane, of the interior department, today announced he had authorized the construction of a railroad 30 miles long, south of Yuma, Ariz., to provide transportation facilities for the farms and settlers of the Yuma irrigation project. The road will be built along the levee running south from Yuma and will be of standard gauge. It is expected to be completed within sixty days.

Honolulu, March 25.—Brigadier General Montgomery M. Macomb sailed today on the liner Wilhelmina for San Francisco. He will go to Washington to assume the presidency of the war college.

War Department of Dictator Huerta Announces Complete Victory Has Been Gained in Crucial Battle of the War.

LOSSES OF THE REBELS ESTIMATED AT 2,000 MEN

According to Huerta Reports, Rebels Were Lured Into an Ambush and Shot Down — Rebel Agents at Juarez Say They Have No News of the Battle.

Mexico City, March 25.—The war department makes the claim that the rebels under Villa were routed at Torreon with great slaughter early today.

Eight hundred men, under General Joaquin Maas and General Javier de Mayre, it is announced, arrived opportunely from Saltillo in time to add greatly to the federal victory. The rebels are said to be retreating northward, with the federals pounding at their rear.

Caught in an Ambush.

It is admitted that Villa's men entered Lerdo, a suburb of Torreon, but it is explained that this was a ruse on the part of General Velasco to ambush them. As soon as they were well into that territory, the federal artillery shelled them out, the cavalry charging as the rebels started to retreat.

Generals Maas and De Mayre are reported to have made the distance between Hipolito and Torreon in fifty armored automobiles, which they were carrying, the railroad having been cut at Hipolito.

The rebel losses in dead and wounded are reported to be 2,000.

REBELS ARE IN GLOOM OVER NEWS FROM FRONT

El Paso, Texas, March 25.—Meagre advices from the front today were mixed in character, but out of the medley schooled observers here said they drew the conclusion that the rebels met at Torreon had Gomez Palacio, an enemy in nowise inferior, and that their attack had been checked at the outset of the battle proper.

Rebel officials at Juarez as well as refugees in this city say they place more reliance on dispatches from legitimate correspondents at the front than on so-called official dispatches. One of the correspondents today wired:

"Villa says wires will be open when he reaches Torreon."

In the course of the day no other press dispatch was received, but this one, it was said, plainly carried the inference that the attack on Torreon only had begun.

Rebel advices here today were that Villa was attacking the outskirts of Torreon and that two-thirds of the rebel army, under the direct command of General Benavides, was engaged.

OPPOSE ELECTION OF MANY OFFICERS BY CITY COUNCIL

Proposal to Give Council Right to Name Officials Now Elected by People Will Bring Fight.

Determined opposition to the charter amendments which propose vesting in council the power to elect city officers now voted on by the people, was indicated yesterday following the meeting of council's charter amendment committee.

Among other amendments to the charter the committee proposed that the chief of construction, the comptroller, city marshal, clerk, treasurer, tax collector, superintendent of waterworks, warden and city recorder be elected by the mayor and council. The committee also proposed including in the amendment a clause making the minimum salary of the chief of construction $5,000 per annum and the maximum $7,000. The committee was divided on the proposition to permit council to elect the above named officers, and it was recommended that Alderman Thomson, Councilman Boynton and City Attorney Mayson get together and draft an amendment.

Will Oppose Amendment.

Strong opposition to the amendment will be offered in council by the city officials who will be effected by the change. Once before the proposition was brought to the attention of city councilmen with a view of having the mode of election changed, but the opposition and sentiment was so strong against it that no action was ever taken.

Among other proposed changes in the charter discussed by the committee was the advisability of electing women on the school board, parks, library, health and hospital committees. Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin, president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Hamilton Douglas appeared before the committee and urged that at least five women be allowed to sit on boards. Attention of the committee was called to the fact that the petitioners represented more than 5,000 women banded together in club organizations and they emphasized the fact that more than twenty-four cities have given women the right to participate in city affairs.

Increase Membership.

The committee favored the proposal to increase the boards to seventeen members instead of twelve, in order to give the women at least five representatives, and will ask City Attorney Mayson to draft a resolution incorporating the change.

Wilmer L. Moore, ex-president of the chamber of commerce, and Robert J. Foreman appeared before the committee and urged that instead of one board of health there be two boards created, one to have charge of the sanitary affairs of the city and the other to supervise the health affairs. Other recommendations made by these gentlemen surveyed Atlanta's health department for the Russell Sage foundation were urged.

The committee will meet again before council's regular session to take up a number of other matters involving changes in the charter.

POISON IS PLACED IN BIBLE COVERS

New York, March 25.—The American Bible society sent a thousand Bibles, printed in the Gilbert Islands language, to Micronesia today. The Bibles, which cost the society $1,367, are a gift to the American board's Micronesian mission. To protect the Bibles from insects the binders worked poison into the covers.

MAGICIAN HELD ON CHARGE OF BOLD ATTEMPT TO LOOT BANK IN HEART OF ATLANTA

Edward Rhynata, of Denver, Colo., Arrested by Call Officer James Palmer on a Charge of Suspicion, After Howling Crowd Pursues the Would-Be Robber Who Held Up Negro Bank in Auburn Avenue, Shot at Clerk, Hit Him Over Head With Bludgeon, and Then Made Bolt for Safety.

BANDIT STEALS BUGGY AND ELUDES BIG MOB AFTER A WILD CHASE

Keeps Back Many of His Pursuers by Rain of Pistol Balls—Rhynata Denies Guilt, but Has Been Positively Identified by a Number of Blacks—His Wife, Bride of Year, Visits Him at Police Station—Couple Say They Have Worked in Local Theaters.

Foiled in a wildly desperate attempt to loot the safety vaults of the Atlanta State Savings Bank, a negro institution, in Auburn avenue, which contained upwards of $2,500 in gold and silver, a white would-be bandit, late Monday, bludgeoned a negro clerk, fled into Houston street, seized a horse and buggy, raced through the downtown streets, pursued by police officers and a howling mob, fired some five shots at his pursuers, and finally eluded searchers in the block bounded by Harris and Cain streets.

A short time later a man claiming to be an actor, and giving his name as Edward Rhynata, of Denver, Col., was arrested by Call Officer James Palmer, in a room at Cain and Williams streets. The suspect was taken to the banking rooms. He was identified by six negroes as the man seen earlier in the day at the Odd Fellows' building, in which the bank is located.

MAGICIAN SUSPECT DENIES GUILT.

Rhynata, at police barracks, denied any connection with the attempted hold-up and subsequent assault. The suspect is married, and for the past week has been living at Cain and Williams streets.

The attempted robbery of the savings institution, which is officered by J. O. Ross, W. F. Penn and C. C. Cater, reputable negro citizens, was in itself one of the most sensational circumstances ever occurring in the annals of Atlanta's criminal history.

The bank, situated on the ground floor of the Odd Fellows' building, 200 Auburn avenue, has three entrances. One opens on the avenue, one opens into the hall of the building, and one opens into an alley. A grill of iron work surrounds the banking counters, which have three wickets. One of these is in front, one is on the side, at the center, and the third is near a door which leads into the president's office, and also admits the clerks to the counting room.

The bank closes its books and doors at 5 o'clock every day. But one employee remains until that hour, the other two leaving at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

EAST LAKE SUFFERS FROM SECOND BLAZE

Following the big fire of Sunday night which destroyed the East Lake Country clubhouse of the Atlanta Athletic club, a fire broke out in the boathouse last night about 11:30 o'clock in the ladies' locker room from a defective flue, threatening for a time to destroy it. No golf sticks were burned in the fire, as it did not reach the men's locker room.

The night watchman discovered the fire and gave the alarm. B. E. Thrasher, E. H. Matthews, manager of the club, and Mr. Argo, superintendent of the golf links, chanced to be present and, securing axes, they cut an opening in the flooring, and with the assistance of Thomas B. Paine and his wife, who had come to aid the fire fighters, dashed buckets of water into the fire hole in the nick of time, thereby saving further spread of flames.

Chief Cummins of the fire department, made a ten-minute run to the country club. The auto fire engine of No 12 fire station, corner of DeKalb and Moreland avenues, arrived on the scene about the same time the chief did and the firemen, with the aid of chemicals, quickly put out the fire.

GEORGIA TANGOERS DANCE LIKE COOKS, DECLARES TEACHER

Rome, Ga., March 25.—(Special.)—Rome society people are up in arms at caustic criticisms of their manner of dancing the modern dances, voiced by Miss Klara Jennings, of New York, a dancing teacher, who has come here to instruct them in the gentle art of tangoing.

Miss Jennings' criticisms also applied to the people of Atlanta and Columbus, where she has conducted classes, but she exempts Athens, stating that the dancers there are more refined and less vigorous than those of the other cities in Georgia. She declares that the wiggle, squirms and hops which characterize the dances, especially of the younger set, are neither attractive, beautiful nor refined; that this manner of dancing is not in vogue in the north except among cooks and chauffeurs, and that not one person in Rome dances any of the new steps correctly.

Bandit Enters Bank.

On Wednesday, J. O. Ross, Jr., son of the president of the institution, was also in the office of the establishment after 4 o'clock. He sat at window No. 2, in the center of the counting room, at work making out some notes which were to be renewed by depositors in the institution today.

About 4:30, so far as Ross can remember, a white man wearing a stiff hat, gray suit and glasses, entered the back, through the door which leads into the counting room from the hall.

Ross immediately ceased his work and walked to window No. 3, which is next to the door which admits the clerks to the space behind the bank counters.

"Get into that vault, you black ——," said the white man, "bring out that cash and hand it over quick."

Ross, taken by surprise, stepped back from the wicket and as he did so the would-be bandit walked in through the door. Throwing a gun on Ross the hold-up again repeated his orders, adding

…he order to empty the cash trays into the coat pockets.

Ross, with the bandit's gun held to…

…the pit of his stomach, stepped towards the party opened vault. The cash drawers had been locked in an inner safe an hour before. Ross tried to explain this to the man.

"There is no money here," said Ross. "You're a liar," snapped back the bandit.

Struggles With Bandit.

As the marauder spoke the words Ross lunged forward. The bandit's hand holding the revolver was forced above his head. In the brief struggle, the pistol exploded. The bullet was embedded in a set of ledgers stacked on an upper shelf.

Ross, tightly locked in the embrace of the would-be hold-up, struggled backward in the dimly-lighted bank strong box. The pair crashed through the opened door and into the banking room.

Again the bandit's revolver spoke. The bullet tore its way through a ground glass door and found lodgement in the ceiling of the banking room.

Ross, all but losing his strength in his fight against his heavier and taller opponent, threw all of his weight against the door leading into the customers' room. The door swung to, catching the bandit on the inside. He started to sprawl his length on the marble floor.

As the bandit started to fall back, he drew from his coat pocket an iron bludgeon and putting every ounce of his strength into the effort, hurled the missile at Ross. The iron bar struck Ross on the side of his head and the youthful fighter sank into a semi-unconscious heap on the floor, blood spurting from the contusion and spattering bank counter and floor. Ross screamed an alarm as he lay wounded on the floor.

The shots and screams of the Odd Fellows' building. Black faces peered from corners inside of twenty seconds.

Seeing his egress shut off, the would-be hold-up opened the door leading to the alley, and ran through Bell street until he reached Houston.

Steals a Buggy.

A horse and buggy belonging to Jerome Sanders, an aged negro character, stood at the curbing at Houston and Bell streets.

Throwing himself into the buggy seat, the would-be bandit kicked up the whip and beat the horse into a wild gallop up the thoroughfare. Hordes of negroes were filling Bell street to overflowing. Some came within 100 feet of the fleeing man as he started on his wild ride. To the nearest, he shouted a warning; then standing in his seat, fired two shots at the wildly shouting mob. The crowds, cowed at the show of force, fell back.

Two policemen, rushing from Auburn avenue, intersected the wild ride of the running hold-up at Piedmont avenue. The hold-up, seeing the traps turned into Piedmont avenue, his vehicle running on two wheels as it cut the corner.

The policemen set out in pursuit. Down Piedmont avenue to Cain street the race sped. Into Cain the bandit turned his horse, the vehicle rattling its death knell. Again standing in the buggy seat, the flying hold-up fired recklessly into the pursuing crowd. By this time, the alarm had reached police station and an auto load of reserves had picked up the trail and were nearing the runaway.

When he sighted the automobile, the bandit escaped from his buggy and before his whereabouts could be ascertained he had disappeared like a rabbit in its burrow.

Police Set Dragnet.

Immediately the reserves, in charge of Captain Terry, drew a dragnet around the block bounded by Harris and Cain streets. Call men, detectives, uniformed police and citizens combed the block, searching outhouses, cellars and houses.

Hundreds of residents in the neighborhood stood in the streets. Homes were deserted, but sentinels by the score aided and bampered the police in the closing-in process which finally landed a suspect.

Policemen, with flashlamps, were seen to enter darkened shanties, arresting out sleepy-eyed negroes and protesting women in turn.

One resident swore that he had seen the bandit slide away under his house. Two men combed the ground under the house with no results.

Meanwhile James Palmer, one of the call men, attached to the police barracks, went into a grocery store at the corner of Cain and Williams streets. He questioned the store keeper as he bought some chewing tobacco. The store keeper declared that the bandit had dropped the gun in which he had made his wild flight a stone's throw of his store.

"I believe that hold-up is within sound of my voice," said the store keeper.

Palmer then started a house-to-house search.

Finds Man In Bed.

Walking into the house next door to the grocery store, Palmer searched every room. He finally reached the basement. The cellar door was found to be occupied. A man lay in bed. A young and pretty girl sat by the side of the rumpled bed and washed the man's face.

"He's sick," said the little woman, "so don't disturb him."

"All right," said Palmer, "I didn't mean to disturb you none."

Walking away from the door, Palmer stood about fifteen feet from the aperture and kept perfectly still. He heard pistols and cartridges fall about in the room and quickly went back to the door, which he suddenly opened.

"I think you'd better get dressed and come with me, Mr. Palmer, standing the man in bed.

"What for?" asked the fellow. "What do you want me for?"

"The chief will tell you that," said Palmer.

"Very well," said the man, "I'm willing to go with you, anyhow."

Palmer made a quick search of the room. In a dresser drawer he found a blue-steel, 32-caliber revolver, which, so he stated, had been fired within an hour, "as the smell of burned powder was strong in the barrel."

One cartridge had been exploded in the weapon. The other five cartridges still had the box grease, upon them when Palmer broke the gun.

"What are you following me about for," asked the suspect, "I'll be held at for, I'm taking no chances with you," said Palmer.

"Well, I'm not as dangerous as you think," replied the fellow as he put on his tie and collar.

Captain Jett and Captain Terry were passing the house as Palmer and the suspect came out. The officers, the three policemen conferred and the suspect, who said his name was Rhynals, and that his home was in Denver, was loaded into the patrol wagon and taken to the Auburn avenue bank.

Girl Bride Of Year.

The little woman found bathing his face, Rhynala declared to be his wife, whom he married, he stated, the year ago, in Chicago. The girl collapsed as the officers led her husband away. Other women in the Williams street house took her back to her room.

On the ride to the Auburn avenue bank Rhynala asked no questions. He evidenced a sarcastic delight, however, in referring to his wife.

"What do I get this ride for?" he kept repeating.

As the auto containing the suspect and the officers neared Auburn avenue, the crowds around the place blocked progress. The officers forced a way into the bank room and before they had asked a single question, one of the officials, several negroes in the crowd, among them a Mr. Harris, janitor of the bank, as well as Mr. Murray and Mrs. Harris and Mrs. J. P. Downs, who lives across the street, shouted in unison:

"That's him! That's the white brute!"

His surprise and wonder at the unusual reception at Chief Beavers' request and formally identified the negro as the man who attempted to rob the bank and who assaulted Mrs. Downs.

"He's been hanging around this building for a week," said the janitor of the building. "I saw him there this afternoon."

Throughout the ordeal Rhynala kept absolutely quiet. He nervously smoked a home-made cigarette and kept repeating: "Well, let's get through; let's get through."

When the negroes had identified the suspect, the police placed handcuffs on him and led him to the police auto, which parked at the rear door. Here the officers passed through the crowd and Rhynala, handcuffed to a guard, Auburn avenue was pierced with cries and shrieks from the thousands of negroes gathered in the thoroughfare.

Wife Comes To Station.

The auto, carrying the hold-up and the officers, was put into high speed and the machine run under the police barracks. There the man was searched and his record looked up. He was put into a close cell and left to himself while the officers began questioning the crowd of detectives.

An hour later the little woman whom Rhynala said was his wife came to the police station. Soliciting the aid of Chief Beavers to be allowed to see her husband.

"I want to be with him. I want to stay here," she cried, as she turned towards the cells.

Rhynala took the little woman in his arms as he was freed from his cell.

"Don't worry, little girl," he said as he embraced her. "This will all come out right. Go see Jett and get him to…

…away, and see if she can fix it to get me out."

Jett continued Rhynala to the Constitution reporter and a number of officers witnessed the meeting.

"You guys might as well understand right here that this business is all bank. You haven't got anything on me, now nor never.

"I've traveled all over the country and I ain't never got in the stir yet except this time. When you got me you got to get me right.

"What is your real name?" the suspect was asked.

"That's none of your business," he answered.

"Well, here's just one thing that will help you. Tell me where were your movements during Wednesday?"

Outlines Movements.

Rhynala then outlined his day, hour for hour, with the exception of the time between 2 and 4:30 o'clock, the time which it is claimed by the police he was away from the room. He first admitted being away from home at that hour, but stated he was at a Peachtree drug store at that hour trying to get some medicine for his wife, not state what drug store he visited nor could he give any reason for his location for the establishment.

Rhynala stated that he was a traveling magician. He declared that he had last worked in Chicago, Ill. He stated that his wife helped him in his act.

"We worked a week at the Bonita theater in February," he said.

"Have you done any work since?" he was asked.

"That's none of your business," he replied. His wife, however, had met some time before that her husband and herself had not worked on the stage since February.

When Rhynala was locked in his cell his wife was taken before Captain Jett. She was questioned briefly and then released. She returned to her rooms in Williams street.

Officials of the bank where the attempted robbery and murder-assault was perpetrated declared last night that the man under arrest was undoubtedly the one who tried to loot the bank vaults and kill Clerk Ross.

"From the way things look now he is the man," said J. C. Ross, president of the bank and father of the injured bank employee.

Can Identify Suspect.

Young Ross, seen at his home, 485 West Hunter street, last night, declared he could positively identify the would-be hold-up if he is brought face to face with him. From a description of the man given young Ross, the police stated that he believed the man now held on suspicion is the man who attacked him.

Chief of Police Beavers and Detective Sergeant Bullard are also of the opinion that the man held in the barracks is the would-be hold-up.

Pearl Rhynala, living in the house where the Rhynalas live declare they know little or nothing of the couple. They state that the pair have lived quietly in the house, since taking their apartments.

Rhynala will probably be brought before Judge Pendley's court some time today. Up to a late hour last night it was expected that the officers would secure an attorney nor had any moves been made looking towards securing bail for the man.

STRICT REGULATIONS FOR COTTON EXCHANGES

Amendments Proposed by Senator Smith to Force Legitimate Business.

Washington, March 25.—(Special.)—Senator Hoke Smith has introduced amendments to the Smith, of South Carolina, bill, regulating cotton exchanges which he believes, if passed, will force the cotton exchanges to do only a legitimate business. The amendments, of which there are several, and most of which apply to the technical practices of exchanges, will be accepted by the author of the bill. The most important of the amendments is the one providing that the only action allowed to be delivered shall be one of the grades recognized by the government standardization, and that in case another grade than the one purchased is delivered, the difference in the price paid shall be the actual difference in market value. Another amendment provides for the abandonment of what is known as the pro-forma system of delivery and other technical practices which the author says may be denied delivery of what he has bought.

No Money for Drainage Meet.

The house committee on foreign affairs will report unfavorably on the bill of Representative Edwards to appropriate $25,000 to invite representatives of foreign nations to attend the National Drainage congress in Savannah, but it will report the bill without any appropriation, thus asking congress to recognize the drainage congress. Action on the bill has been delayed by the continued illness of Representative Adamson, who will probably be got acted on until he is able to resume work on the floor of the house.

Senator West will leave for Georgia the last of the week.

SECRETARY OF WAR MADE SCAPEGOAT

Premier Asquith Explains Army Mutiny to Commons. Seely Resigns, But Asquith Refuses Resignation.

London, March 25.—The government today published its promised statement of its dealings with the revolting officers of the Third cavalry brigade, and the house of commons held another heated and disorderly session. Between the documents presented and the various statements drawn from cabinet ministers, vital facts of the affair remain obscure. The matter is a comedy, or tragedy, of errors perpetrated by Colonel Seely, secretary of state for war, and Sir Arthur Paget, commanding the troops in Ireland.

Colonel Seely took all the blame on himself. He frankly declared he had made a great mistake. His written statement to General Hubert Gough that the government "must retain its right to use all the forces of the crown in Ireland" to maintain law and order and support the civil powers in the ordinary execution of their duty, but has no intention whatever of taking advantage of this right to create political power to the policy or the principles of the home rule bill" was given without the knowledge of the cabinet and contrary to its policy.

Mutineers to Be Dealt With.

This war secretary tendered his resignation to Mr. Asquith, but the premier refused to accept it. The government has withdrawn Colonel Seely's guarantees, according to a statement by Viscount Morley in the house of lords, and Sir Edward Grey told the house of commons that the government's decision would be made known to General Gough tomorrow. Thus the situation with respect to General Gough and his fifty-seven colonels, who sent in their papers, is still in a state of suspense.

No Military Rule for Asquith.

Premier Asquith's statements that the officers should return to duty unconditionally, it is declared, were made in good faith, since he feared Colonel Seely's amendments to the cabinet memorandum only restored authority to the house of commons the government's position regarding the army, declaring he would not assent to the claim of any officer to serve in the service of the crown to demand assurances of what they could or required to do in circumstances which had not arisen.

The premier said:

"I shall never assent to the claim of any body of men in the service of the crown to dictate to the government assurances of a hypothetical character as to what would be done in circumstances which have not arisen. Such a claim would put the government at the mercy of the military and naval authorities."

Sir Edward Grey spoke even more strongly. He said:

"The government is prepared to use force to whatever extent is required to make the will of the country prevail. That is a contingency which cannot arise for a long time, and we will labor to avoid it."

…far as they apply to first class men.

FEARFUL HUMOR COVERED FACE--- RESINOL CURED

Itchy, Covered With Pimples and Most Unsightly, Instantly Relieved.

Paterson, N. J., Dec. 9, 1913: "About a year ago my face began to crack and get scaly. Then pimples came. It got red and my face was all spotted and rough, and it itched me very much at night, and caused me to scratch. It got worse for a month or so, pimples and blackheads began to show, first in small numbers and then great numbers all over my face. It was awful. The pimples were sore and the rash was itchy and my face had a most unsightly appearance. I tried different kinds of soaps, creams and massage and also a strict diet, but I could get no relief. Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment caused me instant relief. By the time another jar of Resinol Ointment and cake of Resinol Soap were gone, I can truthfully say that it was a complete cure. My face had assumed its former color and looks now as it did…

SICK SENATOR CHEERED BY VISIT FROM WILSON

Washington, March 25.—President Wilson kept pace today with his precedent-shattering reputation and even amplified the human side of himself which he described in a talk to newspaper men a few days ago, by motoring to the home of Senator William J. Stone, of Missouri, who has been sick, and having a chat about official business.

Senator Stone, who is the new chairman of the foreign relations committee, has been ill for several weeks and only today was able to be out for a short time. He had sought a conference with the president, who suggested that he visit the senator rather than have him go to the trouble of visiting the white house. Senator Stone agreed that such an arrangement would be fine, and when the president arrived at the senator's apartment the meeting was a most cordial one.

ROUTED AT TORREON REBELS ARE FLEEING

Villa had executed 200 federal prisoners and that in one assault 16 federals were killed and 500 wounded.

Villa's chief of staff sympathizes in place a gloomy construction in failure of detailed newspaper dispatches to get through.

An authoritative telegram received here tonight stated that all foreigners are at the battle front at Torreon are safe.

Officials here were still without information as to progress of the action at the front, save for the acknowledged fact that fighting continued at Gomez Palacio.

Whether the battle had continued since Monday morning, or was interrupted and then renewed, was not known. A mere cessation of firing was said to account for a premature report that the rebels had taken the town.

"Fighting Is in Progress."

Juarez, Mexico, March 25.—"Fighting is in progress this morning in the outskirts of Torreon."

This was the text of a message from the north given out officially here today. There were no details, and official prophecy was confirmed to the effect that it might be several days before the federal stronghold could be taken.

Officers at rebel headquarters were silent about the fact that no press dispatches came through, and also about the statement at Mexico City that the rebels had been repulsed in an attack on Torreon.

The last newspaper telegrams last night stated that the rebels had possession of the railroad roundhouse, which is on the outskirts of Gomez Palacio.

A personal telegram from General Benevides to his father said:

"All is well with me."

How I Darkened My Gray Hair

Lady Gives Simple Home Recipe That She Used to Darken Her Gray Hair.

For years I tried to restore my gray hair to its natural color with the preparations, dyes and stains, but none of them gave satisfaction, and they were all expensive. I finally ran onto a simple recipe which I mixed at home that gives wonderful results. I gave the recipe, which is as follows, to a number of my friends, and they are all delighted with it. To 6 oz. of water add a small box of Barbo Compound, 1 oz. of bay rum and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Use every other day until the hair becomes the required shade, then every week or two will not only darken the gray hair, but removes dandruff, stops hair falling, and acts as a tonic to the hair. It is not sticky or greasy, does not rub off and does not color the scalp. You can prepare it at home at very little expense.

What is Woman's Beauty but Health

And the Basis of Her Health and Vigor Lies in the Careful Regulation of the Bowels.

MRS. C. S. VANCE.

If woman's beauty depended upon cosmetics, every woman would be a picture of loveliness. But beauty lies deeper than that. It lies in health. In the majority of cases the basis of health, and the cause of sickness, can be traced to the action of the bowels.

The headaches, the lassitude, the sallow skin and the listless eyes are usually due to constipation. So many things that women do habitually conduce to this trouble. They do not eat carefully, they eat indigestible foods because the foods are served daintily and they do not exercise enough. But whatever the particular cause may be it is important that the condition should be corrected.

An ideal remedy for women, and one especially suited to their delicate requirements, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which thousands of women endorse highly, among them Mrs. C. S. Vance, of 311 Ray St., New Castle, Pa. At times she had spells of indigestion so severe that she thought she would die. Syrup Pepsin regulated her stomach and bowels, and she attributes her excellent health today to this remedy.

All the family can use Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, for thousands of mothers give it to babies and children. It is also admirably suited to the requirements of elderly people, in fact to all who by reason of age or infirmity cannot stand harsh salts, cathartics, pills or purgatives. These should always be avoided, for at best their effect is only for that day, while a genuine remedy like Syrup Pepsin acts mildly but permanently.

It can be conveniently obtained at any drug store at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded. You will find it gentle in action, pleasant in taste, and free from griping, and its tonic properties have a distinct value to women. It is the most widely used laxative-tonic in America today and thousands of families are now never without it.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 418 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

BUSINESS MEN BLAMED FOR LOSS OF MEMBERS BY THE FIFTH REGIMENT

That the business men of Atlanta by their objection to their employees serving in the national guard of the state are about to be responsible for the destruction of the Fifth regiment was disclosed at a joint meeting of committees from the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce and from the Fifth regiment at the chamber quarters Wednesday afternoon.

The joint committees will meet again next Friday for the purpose of defining a line of action whereby this difficulty may be overcome and the regiment saved.

It was explained at Wednesday's meeting that owing to a marked disinclination on the part of employers to encourage their employees to enlist in the national guard, the Fifth regiment has just been able to obtain men enough to maintain the full complement of companies necessary to the maintenance of the regiment.

The loss of a single company, it was stated, will mean the loss of regimental headquarters to Atlanta, since the companies of nearby towns which were formerly available to fill out the necessary numbers for the regiment can no longer be attached to the Fifth regiment. This means, then, that the loss of one company in Atlanta will put the battalions of the regiment incomplete and the state troops in Atlanta will remain no longer the Fifth regiment, with a colonel at its head, but will become a number of detached battalions and companies with majors and captains.

Captain W. H. Leahy, of the joint committees, said:

"The value of an efficient national guard to Atlanta has been demonstrated on more than one occasion when the military rendered splendid service to the city in preserving order, and the committee from the chamber expressed surprise at the state of affairs as reported by the officers and it was the unanimous view that something should be done at once to change the condition of things. It will be the purpose of the joint committee to inaugurate a campaign of both publicity and further investigation, for it must be obvious to everybody that the maintenance of a well-disciplined military organization is absolutely essential to the welfare of the community.

"Atlanta is the only city in the south with a full regiment of infantry, and it is felt by the committee that every encouragement should be given to keep the regiment intact ready for service with full ranks, to promptly answer the call of duty when it may be required to perform."

The committee from the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce was as follows: Colonel E. S. Pomeroy, chairman; Wilmer L. Moore, Colonel F. J. Paxon, J. Epps Ansley, John Morris, Sr., W. O. Foote.

The committee from the Fifth infantry was:

Colonel Orville H. Hall, Lieutenant-Colonel W. C. Hendrix, Captain Oscar Persons, Captain C. A. Stokes, Captain W. H. Leahy, Captain John W. Quillian.

PROBE TELEGRAMS SENT FROM NEWARK

Messages Signed "John Black" Received by James Conley and Others Will Be Investigated.

Detectives and attorneys in the Frank case are investigating the source of numerous telegrams that have come from Newark, N. J., signed "John Black," which, the investigators believe, are evidence of a conspiracy against Detective John Black, of police headquarters, one of the most conspicuous figures in the prosecution of Leo Frank.

One of these telegrams was sent to Jim Conley, the convicted negro accomplice. Another one was sent to The Constitution. Others are said to have been received by various persons in Atlanta who are associated with the Frank case.

The message to the negro prisoner warned him against Detective Burns, and accused him of being a "fake detective." The Constitution's telegram bore a similar message, and asked that it be delivered to Conley.

Immediately upon receipt of the telegram which came to Conley, attorney William M. Smith, the negro's counsel, consulted with Detective Black. Black averred to the attorney that an attempt was being made to "frame up" on him.

Black has been repeatedly attacked in newly discovered evidence secured by the defense. He was one of the most active figures in the investigation of the Phagan murder mystery by police headquarters. He was associated with Harry Scott, the Pinkerton fed agent.

It is said that the police of Newark, N. J., have been requested to aid in the investigation of the mysterious telegrams. Detective Burns, in a recent statement, accused certain "private detectives" of sending the messages in an effort to throw obstacles in the path of his personal investigation into the Frank mystery.

Dan Lehon, superintendent of the southern branch of the Burns service, arrived in Atlanta Wednesday morning and took up quarters in the Georgian Terrace. He will have charge of the Burns investigation while his chief is in New York with Attorney Leonard Haas.

FIREMASTERS OPEN FIRE ENGINE BIDS

Committee Will Spend Thursday in Considering Offers Submitted.

The board of firemasters, with Mayor James G. Woodward presiding as chairman, met yesterday for the purpose of opening bids on engines to be purchased for the fifth and eighth wards.

The American La France Engine company, represented in Atlanta by P. A. Hebert, submitted the lowest bid for a triple combination, 8,000-gallon per minute capacity motor-driven engine. The price new was $8,500. The company submitted a price of $9,500 for an engine of a larger type with a capacity of 1,500 gallons per minute. The city has two La France engines in use and both have given satisfaction.

The bids were as follows: Ahrens-Fox Engine company, $9,500 with chemical equipment; American La France, $8,500 for one and $8,500 for one with chemical equipment; Nott Engine company, $8,750 for two engines or $9,500 for one; Luitweiler Engine company, $8,326 for engine without chemical equipment; Robinson Engine company, $8,715 for engine and $500 additional for chemical equipment; Waterous company, $8,075 for engine without chemical.

The committee took the bids under consideration and will spend Thursday morning over the contracts, agreements and specifications.

LAXATIVE FOR OLD PEOPLE—"CASCARETS"

Salts, Calomel, Pills, Act on Bowels Like Pepper Acts in Nostrils.

Eat a 10-cent box now.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. You might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never as much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

CHAS. CHAPMAN DENIES KNOWLEDGE OF KILLING

Husband of Accused Woman Declares He Can Prove Alibi.

Calhoun, Ga., March 25.—(Special.)—A further development in the Chapman murder mystery was the arrival today, in the custody of Sheriff Land, of Charles Chapman, the husband of the young woman who is in prison here charged with the killing. Charles Chapman was wanted for complicity, though some believed that he was the principal in the tragedy. The imprisoned man stands by his plea of guilty of the crime, and knows nothing of how it occurred.

He is prepared to furnish plenty of evidence proving an alibi, and his father is now arranging to bring the necessary witnesses from Dade county. He denies that he had planned to desert his wife, as it has been rumored, but states that he was intending to return home with her and is greatly shocked to hear of the murder.

A new and sensational development in the case has been the finding of a farewell note written crudely on the side of a small grocery box at the dead man and addressed to the woman now accused of the murder. It reads as follows:

"Miss Nora Starnes-I am going to leave and don't get mad at me for I can't help it you see that I hant got nothing to do with it your friend Sid Chapman."

It is known that Sid Chapman always called Mrs. Charles Chapman by her maiden name, which was Nora Starnes, and it is also known that the murdered man could write. It is thought the note will prove that Sid Chapman was fearing for his life because of alleged threats, and that he had decided to leave, writing this note as a farewell. There are many rumors afloat state that Mrs. Chapman believed that her uncle had been the cause of her husband leaving her.

Another interesting phase of the case is the fact that the accused woman is one-fourth Indian, her grandmother on her father's side being a full-blooded Cherokee, who never left Georgia when the Indians were removed some eighty years ago.

The commitment trial will be held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. It is thought that one or both of the two women prisoners will then tell all they know, and thus clear up this mystery.

WEIRD CASE REVEALED IN PARDON BY GOVERNOR

Miles Pierce Given Freedom Through the Efforts of E. G. Lewis.

Largely through the efforts of Tax Collector E. G. Lewis, of Greene county, Miles Pierce, an 18-year-old negro boy, serving a term for the murder of Will Jernigan, also colored, in Greene county, was pardoned by Governor Slaton on Wednesday.

Pierce, his 13-year-old brother, and his mother were living with Jernigan. The father of Pierce lived nearby.

Jernigan disappeared, and murder was suspected.

A search by the authorities revealed a new grave near Jernigan's house, but upon opening the grave it was found empty. Several days later the body of Jernigan was found in the Oconee river.

Pierce was arrested and confessed to the murder, declaring that he had shot Jernigan in the course of an argument; that he and his younger brother had buried him in the grave that the authorities found, but that upon consultation with his father this hiding place for the body had not seemed safe, whereupon he and his father, under cover of night, removed the body and threw it into the river.

Pierce was convicted, granted a retrial again convicted; granted a new trial by the higher court, and again convicted.

He then declared that he had not committed the crime, but that his father, being jealous of Jernigan, had confessed to the crime and the body had been disposed of in the manner he described.

The father of the boy was tried and acquitted, and was later killed in a fight.

Tax Collector Lewis stated that he believes a wrong has been done the boy, and for this reason he interested himself in his behalf.

THIS STOMACH REMEDY REMARKABLY SUCCESSFUL

You know us—your home druggist. You know we wouldn't guarantee any remedy to relieve indigestion or dyspepsia, or money back, unless we felt the utmost confidence in that remedy. Therefore, when we offer you Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets with this proof of our faith in them, it leaves you no room for hesitation or doubt.

The remarkable success of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets is due to the fact that they contain, among other things, Diastase and Pepsin, two ingredients endorsed by the medical profession as invaluable in the treatment of stomach ills. They soothe the inflamed stomach, check heartburn and distress, stimulate the secretion of gastric juice, aid in rapid and comfortable digestion of the food and help to quickly convert it into rich, red blood. In a short time they tend to restore the stomach to a naturally comfortable, easy-acting, healthy state. They also benefit the bowels.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only by us. Three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00.—Elkin Drug Co., Atlanta.—(Adv.)

THE BOND LEAVEN AT WORK.

Most significant and encouraging of recent civic symptoms is the manner in which the leaven of the idea of a bond issue that shall standardize municipal Atlanta is working through and through public sentiment. The latest indication is the enthusiastic joint meeting at which the Grady hospital committee on ways and means and council's plaza committee effected a tentative agreement upon the bond projects affecting these two big improvements.

Logically, the first consideration of any city is the public health, and the public health can never be adequately safeguarded without sufficient municipal hospital facilities. It is, therefore, natural that whatever view citizens may take of the bond method for the solution of other municipal shortcomings, they appear to be getting together on the proposition that a $750,000 bond issue is imperative to the enlargement of Grady hospital.

The expenditure of the proceeds of such an issue would standardize the hospital in every detail. It would provide adequate and modern laboratory and clinical equipment, ward space, nurses' quarters, all and sundry of the features that go to make up a hospital in keeping with the demands of medical science today. Hand in hand would go ample provision for hospital facilities for the care of contagious diseases among negroes as well as whites, public sentiment having now been educated to the knowledge that there is no color line in disease.

The Constitution cannot too strongly commend each phase of the project. The expansion of Grady, as specified, would give Atlanta the largest and best equipped hospital south of Baltimore, one amply able to care for each patient with the right to demand its services. By supplementing the facilities of the Atlanta Medical college, now ranked as in class "A" by the American Medical association, it would also give Atlanta world-wide medical prestige.

The plaza plan is also of the greatest importance to the city.

For years, Atlanta has wrestled with the unhealthful and unsightly gulch now sundering the very heart of the city. The plan projected contemplates transforming this space into a civic center with terminal facilities, office buildings and arrangements that would at one stroke solve the smoke nuisance in the city's center. While the city would be asked to underwrite the bonds essential to the construction of the plan, their retirement would not visit a cent of expenditure from the city treasury. The property owners have agreed to finance the sinking fund and interest. To this offer they are led, not only by a spirit of public enterprise, but by realization of the fact that enhancement of their property will more than liquidate whatever expenditure they may incur. If the plaza is a splendid business investment for the property owners, it is an incomparably larger civic and business asset to Atlanta. Secured without a penny of public expenditure, it should be a matter of routine for council to co-operate in the project.

The heartening feature of the whole matter is that the light is breaking upon the greatest problem confronting Atlanta—that of standardizing every municipal facility by the one feasible route, the bond method. Once the public sees the wisdom of acting with regard to the hospital and the plaza, it will be only a step to crystallize sentiment as to schools, streets, fire-engine houses, sewers and other primary improvements, all of them permanent, all of them the demands of growth. Every other progressive American city finances these needs by use of its credit. No one has yet accused Atlanta of being unprogressive, though in blindness we have heretofore been perpetrating the economic folly of trying to pay for current need out of current income and take care of permanent improvements from the same source.

The hospital and plaza developments foreshadow the dawn of reason. In that sense they are auguries of a historic nature.

THE ENGLISH STORM.

Persons who thought the high tide of public excitement in Great Britain had been reached with the agitation to "end or amend the lords," find their error in the current Irish home rule crisis. The situation is unique in contemporaneous British politics and unfortunately threatens to lash into life many of the ancient feuds and prejudices thoughtful Englishmen had hoped were laid.

The storm center is the liberal proposal to grant home rule, the quest of the decades, to Ireland. The majority of the Irish population hold the Roman Catholic faith. The one province of Ulster is dominated by the Protestants. Ulster objects to a parliament which it is claimed would be controlled by a sect antagonistic to it in religion. Hence, measures of reputed coercion on part of the government and of reputed armed resistance on part of Ulster.

Conditions would be bad enough if they were limited to these dimensions. But the partisan foes of the liberals, the conservative element, have dragged the issue into politics, rather selfishly and unpatriotically, one would think, since the settlement of the Irish question is a national and not a partisan one, and since it is difficult to see how the conservatives expect to solve the delicate problem to any better advantage than the means proposed by the liberals.

Adding fuel to the flames is the refusal of British army officers to participate in measures of coercion against Ulster. An equally distressing element is the fact that apparently King George seems to have interfered, a course upon which his discreet father was very slow to enter. It is alleged that George has given at least implied encouragement to the officers who are averse to serving against the Ulsterites.

Such is the situation in a nutshell. Obviously, it is laden with dynamite. The solution is, of course, a domestic concern. But in America, where there are plenty of Protestant as well as Roman Catholic Irish, interest and solicitude will be keen. It was not to have been expected that an issue so many sided and complex could have been adjusted without friction. But that matters should have been permitted to go present lengths is an indication of ineptitude or blundering somewhere. Premier Asquith has before now been able to steer his party and his country through shoal waters. The disturbance that now faces him has every element of a hurricane, involving royalty itself, with the sinister spectacles of civil war and religious bitterness in the background. He will challenge the admiration of civilization if he can negotiate the present crisis without disaster.

"THE RIVER OF DOUBT."

As prophesied editorially in The Constitution recently, Colonel Roosevelt has emerged scathless from the disaster that overtook his Brazilian expedition. The latest dispatch reports that he was not even with the party that upset its craft and lost all its equipment. While his comrades were getting a good ducking the colonel, we are told, was in another part of the jungle exploring the Rio Dulvata, or "River of Doubt."

Propitious mission and protitious title! Since first his star of destiny showed above the skyline, the colonel has been sailing a river of doubt, specifically so in the minds of his enemies. He has always kept them guessing. They never pretended to know where he would next break out. It might be in swelling the membership of the Anania club, swatting a malefactor of great wealth, running for president or prodding the good but peace-loving Mr. Taft. Even now tory ears are much in the dark regarding his future and his intentions as they were when he received a roaring welcome on his return from Africa.

A river of doubt! That's the proverbial "Roosevelt luck" in hair-breadth escapes and in picking a picturesquely named adventure at the psychological publicity moment. His ability to keep his foes and loving friends in doubt is one of the explanations of the colonel's unquestioned hold on the American people.

Somebody in or around the Mississippi legislature must have left the cage door open. There is hardly any other explanation for the persistent tendency of that distinguished body to indulge in freakish legislation, or rather to get right up to the trough and shy away from it. A few weeks ago the senate narrowly missed passing a bill which would have made the simple wearing of modern feminine fashions prima facie evidence of bad character. Now comes news that the same branch has defeated a resolution to censor out of the "movies" all kisses and tongues save between blood-kin.

We have a mental picture of the legislators responsible for these frivolous perversions of the functions of statesmanship. Their rampages are confined to no one section or party. They flourish alike in the national congress or in Jay-hatting California. They can incubate with equal ease an embargo against the silk skirt, the family cow or the marriage service that does not adapt itself to ultra-eugenics.

Some day the people will "take a tumble" to this unwarranted waste of the public time and official dignity.

We know there would be a protest after a while, and so in the following The Houston Post voices the sentiments of the Texas editors who sigh to see the food going while Uncle Sam acts as waiter at the Mexican table:

"We take five thousand Mexicans just pining to be fed, and we corrall them at Fort Bliss and give them board and bed; we give them straw to eat and drink and let them take their ease and they just roll brown cigarettes and scratch their pesky fleas. The while we have whole leagues of road that we ought to build we keep these Aztecs in a bunch and keep their tummys filled, and they need neither toil nor spin, they're guests of Uncle Sam, and if school keeps or it does not they need not give a whoop!"

The Great Trials of Historu

TRIAL OF JOHN PETER ZENGER

The trial of John Peter Zenger in 1735 resulted in the establishing of a free press in America. It was the first trial in this country of a charge of libel against the government. Zenger was one of America's pioneer newspaper editors. It was the first issue of his periodical, called the "New York Weekly Journal," appeared on November 5, 1733, and he continued printing and publishing it until the following January, when the chief justice, James de Lancey, charged him with having printed seditious libels.

There was a bitter controversy waging between Governor Crosby and the people of the Province of New York. The legislature and the council had been brought under the influence of the governor, and the higher courts of law were also so modeled as to be instruments in the hands of the government against the people. The only resource of the people was in the press.

The chief justice, at the instigation of the governor, endeavored in vain to prevail upon the grand jury to indict Zenger. The jury then presented one of Zenger's issues to be "false, scandalous, malicious and seditious libels," and ordered them to be burned by the common hangman. The order was read in the court of quarter sessions, but the magistrates would not suffer it to be entered. The sheriff caused the papers to be burned by his colored servant.

Zenger was then arrested by order of the council and thrown into jail. His friends procured a writ of habeas corpus, but the bail was placed so high that he could not procure it. While he was thus lying in jail the judges tried again to get him indicted, but without success. The attorney general then charged him by information for a misdemeanor in printing the libels. Two popular leaders, James Alexander and William Smith, undertook the defense of Zenger, but, taking exception to the representative of the court, they were summarily excluded from practicing in the court and their names were stricken from the rolls of the attorneys.

This high-handed procedure frightened other New York lawyers, but Zenger's friends had recourse to a remedy which proved effectual. They engaged the services of a Philadelphia lawyer, Andrew Hamilton, who was a celebrated barrister, about eighty years of age. The admirable way in which he handled the case, and his success in having the prisoner acquitted is responsible for the oft-quoted saying, "It takes a Philadelphia lawyer!"

When the trial came on Zenger had been in prison many months. The first point to be judged was that in which Smith and William Hamilton overruled him and, acknowledging the printing and publication, boldly threw himself on the other point, and took the ground that he had printed and published no more than every freeborn British subject had a right to print and publish.

Hamilton's was a masterly appeal. He was frequently interrupted by the attorney general and the chief justice endeavored to cut him short, taking the ground that the jury had no other right to pass upon the fact to find the facts of the printing and publishing, which Hamilton had admitted, and that it was for the court to judge the libel.

Upon the court's asserting this Hamilton deliberately turned to the jury and addressed the gentlemen before them, drawing their right, and privilege and duty, to place themselves between the court and the citizens, and to protect the latter against such a claim as the former. He proved that they were the judges of the law as well as of the fact, that the whole case was in their hands, and that they ought not to relinquish any part of it to the court. In this argument, the sovereign power of the people, of whom the jury were the representatives, first came forth in complete manifestation in America, perhaps it might be said, in the world.

The jury returned a verdict of "not guilty" in the very teeth of an authoritative charge from the chief justice against the defendant. The decision of the jury was received with shouts of applause. The judges threatened to imprison the members of such a disorderly proceeding, but the people were too much excited to be awed by the authority. A son of Admiral Norris rose and called for a renewal of the shouting, which was continued and echoed for some time. Hamilton, who would receive no compensation for his services, was borne in triumph from the court-room. He was carried to a festive entertainment which was repeated by the city authorities before the return to Philadelphia. The common council presented him with the freedom of the city, the certificate of which was enclosed in a splendid gold box, purchased by subscription, and as he stepped into a barge, on his departure from New York, a salute of artillery was fired. Governor Morris asserted that Hamilton's argument, and the result of the trial of Zenger, were "the germs of American freedom, the morning star of our liberty."

Prizes for Employees' Efficiency Suggestion.

(From The Electric Railway Journal.)

Edwin C. Faber, vice president and general manager of the Aurora, Elgin and Chicago railroad, Wheaton, has offered employees of the company cash prizes for the best efficiency suggestions. The aggregate amount to a considerable sum. The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad has figured that if each one of its employees who use lead pencils would wear out an additional inch of each pencil used in writing it away the saving to the railroad would amount to $4,000 in a year. The Pennsylvania railroad has recently issued a circular letter to the employees of its various offices asking them to clean ink wells when they are not in use, because when the covers are left open the ink evaporates, dust settles in the wells and thickens the ink, and a considerable loss ensues.

"On May 1, 1914, the company will distribute $150 in prizes to those offering the most helpful and most profitable suggestions, divided as follows: Best suggestion, $50; second best, $35; third best, $20; fourth best, $15; fifth best, $10; next six, each $5."

Major McGregor has represented Warren county in the state senate and legislature, and has a strong following in this section. He is an "old guard" populist and expects a large vote from the voters who now call themselves Jeffersonian democrats.

He will run for the unexpired term of the late Senator Bacon.

COOPER MAKES FIRST SPEECH

OF CAMPAIGN AT NASHVILLE

Nashville, Ga., March 25.—(Special.)—Hon. John R. Cooper, of Macon, who recently announced for United States senate, made the first speech of his campaign here yesterday. Colonel J. D. Lovett introduced him. One of the largest audiences that ever greeted a public speaker here was present.

The speaker's statement that if elected he would not wait for the dictations of either of the factions in Georgia received much applause. He declared he was running on his own "hook."

Many of his hearers pledged themselves to vote for him.

THIS PRIMARY ONLY A MONTH OFF

AND BUT ONE CANDIDATE RUNNING

Lexington, Ga., March 25.—(Special.)—The democratic executive committee of Oglethorpe county met Tuesday and called a primary election on April 29. Sheriff T. E. Watkins is the only officer so far announced to succeed himself. There are rumors of various parties coming out for county offices, but no announcements have been made yet. Prospective candidates seem reluctant to show their hands.

The legislative and congressional candidates are yet to announce, but it is likely before the end of the week legislative candidates will announce.

NO CANDIDATES ARE SEEKING

SENATORSHIP IN 42ND DISTRICT

Lyerly, Ga., March 25.—(Special.)—Under the law, Chattooga county elects three representatives from the forty-second senatorial district at the general election to be held in October, but so far no candidates have entered the race. Several of the county's most prominent men have been slated for the race, but have made no announcement of their intentions.

Senator W. M. Ransom may not ask for the place again.

DR. PILCHER EXPECTED TO ENTER

CONGRESSIONAL RACE IN TENTH

Warrenton, Ga., March 25.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the democratic executive committee of Warren county April 29 was selected as the date of primary for county officers. Almost every one of the incumbents have strong opposition and lively races are expected. There are twenty-odd candidates in the fight.

Dr. Wyman W. Pilcher, of this place, is being urged by his friends to enter the race for congress from the tenth district. He is expected to announce his candidacy shortly.

MANY CANDIDATES TO SEEK OFFICE

NOW HELD BY JUDGE EDWARDS

Rockmart, Ga., March 25.—(Special.)—Sixteen candidates have so far entered the race for Polk county, as follows: For clerk superior court, John W. Branch; for tax receiver, L. T. Jackson, M. E. McCurry; for tax collector, W. A. Calhoun, C. B. Nettles; for sheriff, J. E. Dempsey; for judge of the city court, John L. Tyson. William James, John K. Davis; for county treasurer, William F. West, Walter Hunt, Homer H. Holland, W. J. Herndon, W. F. Campbell, E. F. Bridges, W. A. Chapman, Jesse W. Smith.

Judge Price Edwards has announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election to the office of judge of the Tallapoosa circuit, and it is believed that there will be at least seven candidates for this office. So far only Hon. J. M. McBride, of Buchanan, is the only announced candidate, but Polk will furnish perhaps two candidates for this office, Paulding one, Douglas one and Tallapoosa two more.

So far most of the interest is centered in the race for county treasurer, eight candidates for that office having announced. One of the candidates, Dr. W. A. Chapman, pledges himself to donate out of the salary of this office, if elected, $1,200 per annum towards the support of a hospital to be built for Polk county at Cedartown.

It is probable that the county primary will be consolidated with the state primary.

JUDGE BLACKWELL TO ANNOUNCE

CANDIDACY FOR STATE SENATE

Hartwell, Ga., March 25.—(Special.)—Hon. J. H. Blackwell, for many years judge of the county court of Jasper county, and formerly state senator from the thirty-eighth district without opposition, is in Hart county, the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Tocoa J. Brown. Judge Blackwell will in all probability go to the senate this year from the twenty-eighth district, as the paper's time again, and it is understood that the people of that county are urging him to make the race.

He made a good record and was universally popular as a member of the behind legislation in the senate. Judge Blackwell will probably issue his formal announcement for the senate on his return to Jasper county next week.

WARM CONTESTS TO BE DECIDED

IN CLAYTON PRIMARY TODAY

Jonesboro, Ga., March 25.—(Special.)—The candidates for the various democratic county offices in the primary to be held tomorrow are now on the last lap of the race. The races are all closely contested.

The three candidates for sheriff are C. D. Dillard, H. H. Pearson and W. L. Dorsey. John M. Mundy, clerk of superior court, is opposed by A. S. Martin. L. J. Brown and B. H. Coleman are for treasurer. The race is between J. W. Adair, H. F. Strickland, O. L. Mayo, L. E. Sparks and S. F. Crane. For tax collector, T. J. Brown, J. T. Hartsfield, O. L. Ragsdale and G. H. Roberts are running. The tax receiver's race is between J. S. Smith, John T. Ward, J. W. Davis, W. C. Kirkland and J. H. Gibson.

NOTWITHSTANDING THE CONDITIONS,

COWETA FARMERS ARE BUSY

Madras, Ga., March 25.—(Special.)—Coweta county farmers are in the midst of their spring farm work, and, while the coming primary is the topic of the day, and the candidates are making their rounds, the agricultural work goes on the same. Leading farmers have planted corn and have land in fine shape to receive other crops.

One of the leaders of the demonstrators of this county met with community farmers a few nights ago at Happy Valley schoolhouse.

Coweta county is in fine shape, with great farm progress, the roads in splendid shape, and the politicians are satisfied.

Short and Ugly Word Prevailing In Alabama Politics, With Fists Just Flying in Every Direction

By John Corrigan, Jr.

(Special Staff Correspondent.)

Birmingham, Ala., March 25.—(Special.)—Alabama is seeing a fighting blood is up. The retort courteous is being abandoned for the short and ugly word. Campaign managers' fists are flying, and candidates for the governorship draw their knives and announce that it would only require a little more provocation to induce them to use them.

Forney Johnston, a son of the late Senator Joseph F. Johnston, and the manager of the Underwood campaign, came to blows on the street in Birmingham Tuesday with Philip Painter, editor of The Advance, a campaign sheet devoted to the interests of Representative Richard P. Hobson.

After both men had been placed under bond to keep the peace, they fought again. Each claims the other was the aggressor. Mr. Painter insists several Underwood men attacked him in the second melee.

Statements by Combatants.

In their statements of the affray Mr. Johnston, the Underwood manager, said:

"I regret very much being involved in any difficulty. It was not of my seeking. I am no brawler. I regret that bitter personalities were originally injected into this campaign and continued over our protest."

Mr. Painter made this statement:

"Mr. Johnston's assault was very unprovoked. I asked him his responsibility for a certain publication. While I was holding the paper in front of me he hit me in the face and Ed Crawford grabbed me from behind. I deeply regret the necessity for having to hit Mr. Johnston back. The whole affair was unfortunate."

Further reports from Gadsville, Ala., tell of yesterday's altercation between Braxton Bragg Comer, former governor, and Walter D. Reed, lieutenant governor, say that Reed called Mr. Comer with having made misrepresentations.

"Anybody who says that the statements are untrue tells a lie," said Mr. Comer, who is 63.

Mr. Reed drew back and uttered a warning that if his opponent did not retract, or laid hands on him he would "hit him between the eyes."

"Yes, and I will cut your throat," is the retort which bystanders credit to Governor Comer.

The manager of the New Ridgway hotel intervened and informed the two men that the hotel lobby was no place for such an unseemly encounter.

Little Credence in Charge.

Little credence is placed by anyone in the charge of Theo Lacey, who is under a ten-years' sentence in the penitentiary for bombing state convict department funds, that he gave Governor Emmet O'Neal $27,500 of the funds. The charge is under investigation by the Montgomery county grand jury.

Governor O'Neal charges Mr. Comer with having inspired the charge for political effect. The latter has been called before the grand jury Friday morning to explain what he meant by saying, "When I was governor money was not taken behind the capitol and divided."

In the course of sounding political sentiment in the Hobson-Underwood senatorial race, I went to Jasper, in Walker county, today to feel political pulses and continue the diagnosis into what ails Alabama.

Jasper is a Hobson stronghold, just as Birmingham is an Underwood stronghold. It is in Mr. Hobson's congressional district; is the home of Senator John H. Bankhead, whom he defeated for congress in 1906, and is the home of William H. Bankhead, who is now a candidate to succeed Mr. Hobson. Senator Bankhead is in the position of having been kicked upstairs. His defeat was fortunate, for when his district deserted him the state elected him senator.

"Captain" Hobson is not regarded at home as a hero. He has lived down that reputation, although The Constitution a few reprinting from The Century magazine his story on "Sinking the Merrimac." No one now recalls his secondary performance either.

Regards Him as Constructive.

The sixth congressional district regards Mr. Hobson as a constructive statesman, who has done practical things for his district, is right on nation-wide prohibition and other issues, and is a model for the nation's youth.

L. Breck Musgrove, of Jasper, state manager of the Hobson campaign, is one of the leading business men of Alabama. He told me he was a Democrat of the second melee.

"Fighting blood is up. The Constitution campaign manager said. "I regret very much being involved in any difficulty. It was not of my seeking. I am no brawler. I regret that bitter personalities were originally injected into this campaign and continued over our protest."

Mr. Painter made this statement:

TURNER ASSAILS COUNCIL BOARD

Members of Electrical Control Body Are "Square Pegs in Round Holes," He Declares.

Replying to charges of discrimination made against him by W. M. Carter, an electrical contractor who was refused a license, City Electrician R. O. Turner said that he was merely following the city ordinances when he told Carter that he would have to undergo another examination before the city board of electrical control.

Turner charged in turn that the meeting of the board of electrical control, held Wednesday afternoon, and at which Carter made the charges, was a star chamber affair because the latter not given notice that there would be a meeting.

"The board should be abolished," Turner said. "It looks like it only means to receive complaints against me. The members are square pegs in round holes. Only a few know what they are members. Chief Clayton and Chief Cummings agree with me that the board should be abolished. I contend that the board has no right to pass on my official conduct. I don't care to put up as it is laid down to me, and the courts are content only to decide whether or not I am right or wrong."

Carter made complaint against the city electrician because he was refused a permit to do business in Atlanta as an electrical contractor. It seems that Carter was granted a license by City Clerk Walter Taylor after he had passed an examination before the electrical examiners in 1911. He left Atlanta and spent several years in Florida, and in Cuba, and upon his return to Atlanta about eleven days ago he applied for a renewal of his license.

City Electrician Turner turned him down on the ground that the city code requires a second examination of persons who leave the city and return.

In pleading his complaint with the board of control, Carter charged that City Electrician Turner was prejudiced against him because of his activity in organizing Local No. 18, of the electrical workers' union of Atlanta, in 1911. Carter contends that as the result honestly and in accord with his best judgment," said Senator Jones. "I am sure of the organization of the union was one of the principal reasons why increased from 75 to $2.50 a day and for that reason the electrical contractors association has got it in for me."

The board asked City Attorney Mayson for an opinion, which was to the effect that Carter did not have to pass another examination.

The board authorized the issuance of a permit, but City Electrician Turner stated late Wednesday night that he has no intention of issuing one until Carter gets a certificate from the board of examiners.

PIGS AND MISSIONS TO FEATURE IN FILMS

Athens, Ga., March 25.—(Special.)—Two new and valuable ones for motion pictures are being secured by the Athens men who are in widely separated fields of endeavor.

C. W. Kiser this morning finished up a thousand-foot reel of views of the State College of Agriculture, the process of making hogs and shoats and the living examples of good sows and their abundant litters, minutest other phases of the mens raising industry in Georgia.

Another one, quite different from agricultural lines and closer to the "other side of the world," is to be produced by A. J. Rowland, of Athens, western secretary of the Laymen's Missionary movement. He has been commissioned to make a tour of the eastern mission fields in China, Japan and Korea. This morning he received a complete motion picture photographic outfit and will take scores of reels of films of the mission work.

CROATAN INDIAN FREE AFTER LONG SERVICE

Fought Against Being Classed as Negro Rather Than for Parole.

After a fight of fifteen years against being classed as a negro, M. L. Lowry, a trapper, claiming to be a Croatan Indian, who has been serving a term in the state penitentiary for the murder, in a Glean county swamp, of another trapper named Burns, was paroled by Governor Slaton on Wednesday.

One day in 1899 a farmer was attracted by cries in a swamp near his house. He went to investigate and found Burns mortally wounded from gun shots. Burns, it is said, explained that he had dragged his mutilated body over miles through the swamps for help, and was unable to proceed further.

Lowry was arrested and convicted on circumstantial evidence.

Governor Atkinson commuted Lowry's death sentence to life imprisonment.

During the entire time that Lowry has been in prison, his attitude has been fought rather against being classed as a negro than for a pardon.

Lowry had neither friends nor money with which to forward his case. At last, Thomas W. Johnson, of Marion, N. C., became interested in the Indian's case and took it up with the governor.

SOUTHERN INSTALLS NEW BLOCK SIGNALS ON SEVERAL LINES

Automatic electric block signals are to be immediately established on two of the Southern railway's important lines leading out of Atlanta—from the Atlanta Terminal station to New Holland on the Charlotte division, 97.3 miles, and from Howell station to Acworth, 74.5 miles. Both of these lines are double tracked and over them are handled the heavy business between Atlanta and the east and between Atlanta and Birmingham and Chattanooga.

Announcement of this is made by President Fairfax Harrison, who states that signals will also be installed on the line between Atlanta and Washington as follows: Between Lanier and Whitties, Va., 82.46 miles, and between Danville, Va., and Pelham, N. C., 83 miles, and also between Citico and Ooltewah, Tenn., on the line between Atlanta and Chattanooga.

The signals will be of the modern upper quadrant three position type now in use on the Southern's lines between Charlotte and Greensboro, N. C., and being placed between Alexandria and Orange, Va., and between Knoxville and Morristown, Tenn.

The Southern already has this system in use from Atlanta to Roseland on its line leading south of Atlanta.

Case of Jefferson Negroes, Sentenced to Hang Friday, Carried to Supreme Court

Robert Paschall, William and George Hart, the three negroes twice sentenced to hang, the first date being Friday of this week, for the murder of a Louisville woman, will not go to the gallows for at least another sixty days, as their case was taken on Wednesday to the state supreme court on a writ of supersedeas, taken out by Attorney Hugh Howell, jr.

Following the first conviction of the negroes who were brought here from Jefferson county for trial on account of fear of mob violence, the jury found the trio guilty of first degree murder.

While in the Tower awaiting execution Paschall told Deputy Sheriff Minor that the two Hart boys had nothing to do with the killing. On this statement a motion for a new trial for the trio was asked and later denied. Judge Ben Hill then set the death date for March 28.

Attorney Howell on Wednesday took the case to the supreme court. It is stated that an effort will be made to clear the Hart boys, as Paschall has stated that they were not the men who accompanied him to the Jefferson county farm and murdered the wife of a white farmer near Louisville, that county.

FORMER ATLANTAN HEADS IMPORTANT COMMISSION WORK

News has been received in Atlanta of the appointment of R. C. Millar, who for many years lived in this city, and who is widely known as a former railroad man and civil engineer, to the position of senior civil engineer of the southern valuation district, in the work of making valuations of railroads so undertaken by the interstate commerce commission. Mr. Millner, who has been living recently in Louisville, has already gone to Chattanooga, where the headquarters of the district is located.

Mr. Millner formerly was with the operating department of the Southern railway as division superintendent and with the engineering department as resident engineer. He received his technical education at the University of Georgia, receiving his first experience to the building of the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley road in 1882. He turned to coal mine engineering in 1884, and spent two years as an engineer in the Birmingham district. In 1886 he returned to railroad work, serving with the Covington and Macon and Georgia Southern and Florida railroads until 1891. In 1891 and 1892 he was connected with the planning of the Cotton States and International exposition in Atlanta, which was held in 1895. In the latter part of 1895 he became connected with the Southern railway, and in 1907, when he resigned to take a position with the Cumberland railroad, he was superintendent of the Kentucky division of the Southern. He resigned when he left the Cumberland and has been engaged in the general contract business in Louisville.

Mr. Millner has many friends in Atlanta, who will be glad to hear of his appointment to the important position he now holds. He was prominent in civic life during his residence in Atlanta. His wife is a daughter of the late Major John C. Whitner, of Atlanta.

GLOOMS WILL HAVE FULL CHARGE TODAY, SAYS WEATHER MAN

Following is the weather forecast for Atlanta Thursday:

The day will open cloudy, threatening and rainy, with fresh to brisk southerly winds, and a considerable rise in temperature. The 7 a. m. temperature will probably be as high as 56 degrees, but this rise during the day, on account of the cloudiness, will not be marked. Showers are probable at intervals during Thursday. In the evening the wind will shift to westerly with some decline in temperature. Unsettled, cloudy weather will continue for a day or two longer.

MACON HAS 'SWELL' TEAM

Four of Basketball Five Sick With Mumps.

Macon, Ga., March 25.—(Special.)—The "Y's" basketball team of the Y. M. C. A., captained by W. E. Houser, is certainly the "swellest" team that institution boasts of.

Four of the five members of the team are laid up with the mumps, and the fifth member is living in dread from day to day lest he, too, shall fall a victim.

Captain Houser first contracted the disease, and being famed for following their captain to either victory or defeat, E. L. Henderson, S. J. Fried and H. Frink fell in line and appeared with swollen jaws. Marian Harmon, the fifth member, is eating pickles and other sour things to find out if his glands are showing any signs of swelling.

TWO BLACKS ARE HELD ON CHARGE OF ASSAULT

Two negroes were arrested late Wednesday afternoon at Liddell's crossing, on the Seaboard Air Line, about a quarter of a mile from Armour Fertilizer works, and were identified by L. C. Rayner, of 190 Echo street, as the two assailants of the little white girl late Tuesday afternoon on the Southern railway tracks about one-half mile from Brookwood bridge, on Peachtree road.

One of the negroes has offered an alibi, saying that he worked all day Tuesday, doing grading work for the Mercer company.

The girl, after giving a description of her two black assailants Tuesday afternoon, boarded a street car and came into the city without giving her name. She has not been seen or heard from since.

Club Women Unite to Make City Clean and Beautiful

Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin, president of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, announces that the annual "cleaning" up day will be observed in Atlanta as usual April 15, this message having gone out though the eighty different women's organizations in Atlanta belonging to the federation.

"I am delighted to see that this year we are having in our annual spring cleaning the co-operation of so many good men, and that the cleaning this year will be on a broader and a bigger, a more lasting scale," said Mrs. Lumpkin in getting forth the program for the day.

"Properly, the 'civic' spring cleaning originated with the women of the city, six years ago, when Mrs. Sam Jones, then president of the city federation, inaugurated an annual spring cleaning day, appointing committees of ladies to push the work in each ward," continued Mrs. Lumpkin. "Her successor, Mrs. Woods White, organized the committee ward clubs into one of the purposes of these to keep going the cleaning through every day of the year. Mrs. Charles J. Haden continued the same work under her regime, extending it into the school playgrounds and public parks.

"The chamber of commerce and individual citizens have aided in the movement, giving the prizes each year.

Women Shoulder Blame.

"I believe that women should more directly aid the sanitary department in their efforts. To clean streets and alleys are not the responsibility solely of the street sweeping department, but, as a matter of fact, the joint obligation of the department and the people who use them. Our walks should be swept before the street wagon has passed. Areas and grated openings under sidewalks are too thoughtlessly used by passersby or people waiting for the car, as receptacles to throw waste paper, etc. We must realize that a modern city depends as much upon the care and thought of the individual man, woman and child as upon the city's employees.

"The federation selected Saturday for cleaning up day, so no boy or girl in Atlanta would be hampered by school duties in their efforts to make every garden, yard, street and alley as clean and fresh and wholesome as their own bright, rosy-cheeked faces.

Prizes Offered.

"The chamber of commerce repeats its offer of last year: $50 for the white schools securing the greatest number of pledges and $25 for the colored schools securing the greatest number. The paint dealers offer a prize for the best painted cottage owned by the tenant and a prize for the larger residence painted in the most harmonious and artistic manner.

"Seed Dealers—Mark Johnson Seed company, two dozen books on 'Gardening for Children,' six for white children and six for colored. Hastings Seed company, three prizes: first, seeds or plants selected by the winner to the amount of $5; second prize, same to the amount of $3, and third, to the amount of $2. Mickillin Bros. fill alike five prizes.

"Lime Dealers—Jeffers Lime company will give small quantities of lime for cleaning up purposes to those sending after it."

Congressman Sees President Wilson in Regard to District Attorneyship.

Washington, March 25.—Representative Hardwick of Georgia conferred with President Wilson today about the appointment of a federal attorney for southern Georgia. He opposed A. Pratt Adams, of Macon, who had been urged by Senator West. Mr. Hardwick recommended Berner L. Berner.

Mr. Hardwick said after his conference that while he and Mr. Adams were personal friends, yet he had advocated the appointment of Mr. Berner, who lives in Macon. He said he felt confident Berner would be appointed, but had no definite assurance. Recently Senator West said the president had told him he would appoint Mr. Adams if the latter withdrew from his law partnership. It is believed the president will have further conferences with other members of the Georgia delegation.

COURT BACKS L. & N. AGAINST GOVERNMENT

Louisville, Ky., March 25.—Mandamus asked by the federal government to give the interstate commerce commission access to all files and records of the Louisville and Nashville railroad company today was refused by Judge Walter Evans in federal court. The court held that conferred communications the railroad declined to produce were privileged between counsel and client; that the Hepburn law does not give the interstate commerce commission power to make general examinations and that the inquiry here is not along lines sufficiently specific.

After the decision was rendered in the United States senate by Senator Reed, of Missouri, the members of the state commerce commission began an investigation of the Louisville and Nashville relations with the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railroad and other lines in the south to determine if there were grounds for action under the Sherman law. Examiners for the commission sought to investigate the road's correspondence files and other records.

When the federal examiners asked for files containing the legal correspondence of the road Wilbur M. Maypother, vice president, objected on the ground that the letters were privileged. The examiners insisted and were ejected from the files of the road. The company then appealed to the federal court for a mandamus.

United States Attorney George Duncan today announced that an appeal would be taken from Judge Evans' decision.

SPEER AND HIS REFEREE BEFORE SUPREME COURT

Selection of Trustee in Means-Dickson Bankrupt Case Is Attacked.

Washington, March 25.—Application was before the supreme court today to review the selection of a trustee for the estate of the Means-Dickson company, bankrupt, of Georgia. The question involved is whether the majority creditors of a bankrupt are entitled as a matter of law to select the trustee of the estate. Alexander Proudfit, referee in bankruptcy in Georgia, refused to appoint G. E. Strickland, of Concord, Ga., trustee, although he was nominated by two attorneys who represented fifty-two of the fifty-three creditors and 91 per cent of the claims. Mr. Proudfit selected C. W. Leonard, of Macon, nominated by the remaining creditor, a local concern.

Judge Speer, in approving the referee's selection, declared that a referee should have the discretion to reject the selection of a majority of the creditors. He said it was against the policy of the bankrupt law for attorneys for a credit association to "corral" the claims of creditors and utilize them so as to give absolute control of the bankruptcy proceedings to the attorneys or the association. He found that one of the attorneys represented the Atlanta Adjustment bureau, which was a branch of the National Association of Credit Men, consisting of more 15,000 wholesalers, jobbers and manufacturers.

None of the other buildings of the college group were damaged.

Ask for Sulpherb Tablets

What was grandmother's unexcelled remedy? Haven't you heard of it? Yes, you have! It was sulphur, cream of tartar and molasses. The main ingredient of Sulpherb Tablets is the same as this mixture was in grandmother's day, which is nature's own remedy. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw the moisture through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.

3 AGED VETERANS DIE IN QUICK SUCCESSION

Pulaski, Tenn., March 24.—As the body of D. C. Bilbo, a Confederate veteran, was being lowered into its grave near Conway, Tenn., Bilbo' friend, R. F. Chambers, also a veteran, dropped dead near the coffin yesterday. The shock was too much for Henry H. Reese, a third veteran, who was carried away suffering from a paralytic stroke.

DARKEN GRAY HAIR, LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY

Sage Tea and Sulphur Darkens So Naturally That Nobody Can Tell.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also stops dandruff, itching scalp and more falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is muggy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

YANKS FORTY-FOUR STRONG AT PIEDMONT LAST NIGHT

The Yankees, with forty-four men in the party, arrived in Atlanta last night, twelve hours ahead of their announced schedule. There are forty-four persons in the party.

The New York Americans, headed by Frank Chance, the veteran leader, will battle the Crackers in one game at Ponce de Leon park this afternoon, starting at 3 o'clock.

Manager Chance has wired in here that he will twirl Carl Thompson, former University of Georgia and Cracker star in the game this afternoon, with Ed Sweeney, another former Cracker, receiving his slants.

Chance is popular in Atlanta and local fans will see his team in action not only interested in the appearance of the former crackers, but he judge for themselves just how Chance's team looks for the coming pennant race.

Rube Kissinger, the veteran twirler with Memphis last season, will probably start the game for the Crackers, with Munch doing the receiving.

The batting orders of the two teams will be about as follows:

Bisland's Visit Today May Be Important One; With Browns' Yannigans

Rivington Bisland, former Cracker shortstop, now with the St. Louis Browns, will be in Atlanta today for a brief time between trains and will hold a conference with Manager Billy Smith, of the Crackers.

This conference may result in something definite regarding Bisland's possible return to the Crackers. Atlanta fans are pulling for Bissy to return, though they wish him the best of success in the big tent.

Bisland is in charge of the St. Louis Yannigans' squad, which passes through here en route to Tennessee, where they will play several games.

Will Postpone Scribes' Golf Tourney One Week On Account of Greens

At the suggestion of Jimmie McKenzie, golf professional of the Capital City Country club, the golf tournament for the newspaper men of Atlanta will be postponed one week, the opening date being set for April 5.

The committee adopted Mr. McKenzie's suggestion that the tourney be postponed, owing to the condition of the putting greens. He is going to have a squad of men working on the greens next week and by the following Monday they will be in fine shape.

NELSON AND SENTELL FIGHT DRAW BATTLE

The fastest and classiest prize fight was pulled off at the Columbia theatre ever staged here last night when Jack Sentell, of Jacksonville, and Terry Nelson, of Chattanooga, fought ten rounds to a draw. The fight was nip and tuck throughout. In a preliminary bout Battling Clarke knocked out Young Sharkey in the fourth round. The fight between Kid Wonder and Young Nelson was stopped in the first round, because Nelson was stalling. The battle royal lasted thirty minutes.

Flanagan's Timely Clout Wins Game in the Tenth; Crackers Hit Ball Hard

By Dick Jemison.

"Steamer" Flanagan steamed one through the pitcher's box in the tenth inning Wednesday afternoon, scoring George Kircher from second base with the only run of the game for the Crackers from the Newark Champions, 4 to 3.

It was the second game of the series and the second victory for the Crackers. All kinds of baseball, good and bad, were crowded into the ten innings. It was probably the weird game as has ever been played on the local park.

The Crackers got off to a swell lead, and held it until the ninth chapter, when the Newark club, aided and abetted by some good hitting, tied up the game.

Rain threatened throughout the battle, the skies were overcast, the pitchers were cold, the batters a little weak and the fielders of both sides booting when everything booting helped the opposition the most.

Hitting Stars.

"Rabbit" Long, Salonen Lynch and "Hack" Eibel were the hitting stars of the afternoon. Lynch got three blows, the others two each. One of Long's was a triple.

Long has credit for the first home-run drive of the season, a vicious clout to the center field fence in the fifth inning. He hit one very far on the mark on it a more vicious poke in the eighth session, but Heinie Zimmerman made a one-hand circus catch of the drive.

Flanagan's one hit, the final and sixth trip he had to the plate, was as valuable as all the other singles recorded by the other stars.

For the Newark club the three-ply smash by Bert Tooley, regular shortstop, who was not in the game Wednesday, but was sub for the pitcher in the ninth inning, was the feature of the Indians' attack. This tied up the ball game.

Fielding Features.

Arthur Schwind had a horrible day in the field, booting the pill no less than five times during the afternoon. He let the ball play him instead of playing it. Arthur kicked them all one of his system Wednesday.

A splendid catch by George Kircher, who was subbing in center for Captain Welchonce, and another pretty play which he converted into a double play was another feature.

Red Lynch played some grand ball around the hot corner. This lad is rapidly nailing down that third base job for Newark. Donnelly on the fellow who refused to report last season when turned over to the Crackers by Boston. The locals waited his curves out nicely, and were rewarded.

Albert Arlington Britton, who twirled for the Crackers a couple of seasons ago, was the man that the victory was scored off of.

Key Perryman, the former Emory college star, went nine innings for the Crackers. He pitched splendidly at times, but was outclassed at others. Newnelly I, by Perryman 4, by Britton 1; bases on balls, off Perryman, 1; Donnelly 4, off Britton 2; sacrifice hits, Kircher; struck out, Perryman, 2, Britton 3, Mowe, Eibel, Lynch, Long, Welchonce, Kissel 2, Schwind, Tooley 2; hit by pitched ball, Donnelly; hit by pitched ball, by Perryman (Collins). Time, 2:02. Umpire, Wilters.

How Runs Were Scored.

The Crackers scored four runs in the opening round. McConnell walked. Schwind sacrificed. Zimmerman made a play too late to second and both runners were safe. Flanagan scored, both up a base. Tommy Long drew the long limb. Eibel hit to left.

Flanagan hit a slow one and was retired, McConnell scoring on the play. Eibel slashed a single, scoring Schwind and Long. Eibel stole second, went to third on a passed ball and scored on the catcher's error.

Newark got two in the third. Gets reached second on an error. Schwind threw the ball away. He went to third on O'Rourke's single. Dunn threw home to third, trying to catch Gets off, and he scored. O'Rourke came in third. Collins scored O'Rourke with a single.

Tommy Long's home run clout scored one for the Crackers in the fifth. Long's single, Flanagan's out, Long's steal of third and Lynch's single scored another in the seventh.

Newark scored one in the eighth. Gets singled. He advanced to second on an out, to third on Schwind's error of Holesworth's grounder. Collins walked. Reynolds hit to Long, who caught the ball, then threw badly trying for a double. Gets counting.

Game Tied.

With one gone, Dion walked in New-ark's ninth. Earhart beat out a hit to short. Gets forced Earhard at second. Heckinger singled, scoring Dion, and Gets and Heckinger scored on Tooley's triple.

With two gone in the Crackers' ninth Lynch tripled. Welchonce hit for Dunn and Reynolds for Perryman, and Britton walked them. Donnelly but McConnell could not come through.

YELLOW JACKETS PLAY AUBURN THREE GAMES

The Yellow Jackets will pry open their 1914 baseball season in earnest on Friday, when they line up against the Auburn nine in a series of three games at Ponce de Leon park, a double being scheduled for Saturday.

These teams are rated among the best two college teams in the south this spring, with as good a chance as any to cop the southern intercollegiate baseball honors. It is a pity that the schedule was so arranged that the games sent in the ninth inning two teams play.

Tech on Friday will probably start at 3:30 o'clock, with the double-header scheduled for 2:15. Scottie Pitts will probably hurl the first game for the Jackets.

RED AND BLACK NINE PLAYS CLEMSON TEAM

Athens, Ga., March 25.—(Special.)—The University of Georgia baseball season will be officially ushered in on Friday, when the Clemson college team comes here for a series of two games, which should be as interesting as any of the season.

CASTRO HAS BOOKED A SPLENDID CARD FOR OPENING SHOW

At last Atlanta is to have a regular fight club, and the first of a series of top-notch bouts next Tuesday night at the Orpheum theater. The former Cracker ball player is to have the place remodeled into one of the best clubs in the country. The ring will be on the stage, with ringside chairs around it. Then there will be the usual box, orchestra, dress circle and balcony seats. Every fan will have his own individual seat.

As a starter Promoter Castro has Jimmy Gragt, unquestionably the best bantamweight in the south, and Knockout Eggers, New York's premier 118-pounder. Castro has secured Kid Williams to fight the winner.

There will be two other ten-round bouts Tuesday night. Those lively sluggers, Battling Kelly and Kid York will hook up in one of them, in the act, a real fight duo, will clash in the other Kid Williams and Battling Shepherd. Their scrap preceding Terry Donnelly bout the other night was by far the best event on the card.

AT THE THEATERS

"The Follies."

(At the Atlanta.)

"The Follies," not one whic abbreviated, sometimes possibly excepted, with all the features except Miss Ethel Kelly, the great little dancer, played a return engagement at the Atlanta theater last night to a house that overflowed from pit to dome.

Some of the essential parts have been brushed up a bit since the last appearance here and the show Atlanta theatregoers saw last night was the very nearest approach to the New York production that Ziegfeld's company has been on the road. In the place of Miss Kelly, Miss Anna Pennington appeared. She is the same winsome little lady who fascinated Atlanta folks on the occasion of the first visit. All the other principals are in the cast—Leo Errold, Nat M. Wills, Frank Tinney, Jose Collins, Elizabeth Brice and the chorus.

"The Follies" will play at the matinee today and tonight.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Standing room at every performance has been the record set up by the Forsyth for this week. Sam Chip and Mary Mabie head the bill, their success in "The Land of Dreams" is the playlet, with splendid specialties, a delightful little romance. The comedy hit of the bill has been registered by the diminutive comedian, Chip Rosard, who is playing his first vaudeville engagement in Atlanta. The bill for the coming week is one of the strongest the management has ever secured. Taylor Granville and his company of fifteen players, with a carload of scenery and a wonderful dramatic playlet, "The Fosters," a story of the police of big cities, will be the headliners. Raymond and Caverly, the famous entertainers at the Stan-Stanley theatre, a novelty comedy act, and the Frank Ward trio of musicians, are among the features.

Soothing Wash Heals—Then D. D. D. Skin Soap Keeps the Skin Healthy

Mayor Chapman of Ellis, Kansas, courteously says: "Will answer all letters written him relative to his truly marvelous cure of skin troubles with the D. D. D. Prescription."

Mayor Chapman writes: "I know how I suffered last winter, how I could get no work. I was covered with terrible blotches—sometimes weeping, sometimes dry—sometimes worse—blotches scarcely 10 inches in diameter; PEARLY, ROUGH SPOTS. It was only accidentally that I learned of the D. D. D. Prescription. I write this in all gratitude for what D. D. D. has done for me."

Results from the use of D. D. D. are immediate. The first soft, cool touch and the itch is gone!

KNELL IS SOUNDED FOR CONVICT GOODS

Washington, March 26.—After a vigorous partisan contest, the house today passed a bill to bar foreign convict-made or pauper-made goods from competition with the products of American free labor. The measure, which now goes to the senate, follows a bill recently passed by the house forbidding the shipment of convict-made goods in interstate commerce into states which prohibit the sale of such products in the open market.

The importation of foreign convict-made goods has been prohibited generally under the tariff laws since 1890, but owing to the peculiar construction of the law, it has been difficult to enforce, and labor representatives in congress declare it has been freely violated.

To Confiscate Shipments.

Under the measure passed today all shipments of goods proven to be convict or pauper-made, could be confiscated by the treasury department through court proceedings similar to libel prosecutions under the admiralty laws. In addition, the bill provides that any "consignor, seller, owner, shipper, importer, consignee, agent or other person or persons" who "knowingly and fraudulently" introduces or attempts to introduce the prohibited articles into the commerce of the United States, upon conviction, shall be fined for each offense a sum not exceeding $2,000 or be imprisoned for not exceeding two years.

Defining the goods against which the ban is placed, the bill prohibits "any goods on which, or any part of which, has been employed, in any manner, the labor of convicts or of prisoners confined in any jail, penal institution, workhouse or other place of restraint, detention or occupation permitted, established, and set aside to be utilized by or for criminals or detained persons in any foreign country, and whether the same be the product of the field, the quarry or manufacturing establishment, any part of which, or the materials entering which, have been produced, treated, manipulated or manufactured at any state, in whole or in part, by convict, pauper or prison labor, or by detained persons in a foreign country."

Term "Pauper" Limited.

The bill declares that the term "pauper" shall "be limited to those persons who are held or confined in eleemosynary institutions at the public expense in whole or in part."

Various efforts to amend the bill to broaden its scope failed. Republican Leader Mann, early in the consideration of the measure, attempted to insert a clause defining "paupers" as all persons receiving wages of less than $1 a day. Today tonight it made a provision prohibiting the importation of all child labor-made goods. Speaker Clark ruled the amendment out of order and an appeal was upheld by a vote of 104 to 101.

The right of the United States government to exclude from entry any class of goods, provided no attempt is made to discriminate as between nations, is undisputed, according to state department authorities. Though without the text of the Hensley bill in its present form, based on a description of its general scope, these officials were confident that however objectionable the legislation might be to manufacturing and exporting nations, it could not successfully maintain that it is in contravention of any treaty rights.

FOE OF WHITE SLAVERY QUITS HIS POSITION

Washington, March 25.—Stanley W. Finch, chief of the department of justice bureau for the suppression of white slave traffic, resigned today. Mr. Finch, who has been associated with the department for more than twenty years, tonight said he expected to devote his time to organizing the National Social Welfare league throughout the country.

COTTON DECLINED UNDER REALIZING

There Was Also Scattered Selling — Market Closed Barely Steady—Spot Cotton Strong.

New York, March 25.—Cotton was less active with old crop positions easing off, under realizing and some scattered selling for a reaction. New crop months were relatively quiet and positions were steadier throughout the day, with the market closing barely steady, net unchanged to 9 points lower. May was relatively weak, losing 7 or 8 points of its premium over July, although March fully maintained its premium of 80 points above May.

It is reported that small amounts of cotton are reaching the Atlantic Norfolk for delivery on March, but there is little talk of any large shipments until well in this direction and local certificated stock is now at 1,000 bales, one-half of the supply here at the beginning of the month.

Apprehensions that considerable cotton might have been involved in the fire reported in Savannah today caused some nervousness, but later reports indicated no cotton had been damaged, which may have led to the liquidation of some cotton bought around the opening. Reports of a less urgent demand in Liverpool and the less urgent demand for yarns were also cussed on the decline.

The market opened steady at 8 declines of 2 to an advance of 1 point and sold about 2 to 4 points net higher during the first few minutes on Liverpool's fairly steady showing and overnight buying orders.

Demand for May and July contracts showed a sharp falling off, and, compared with active buying of last week, however, and the market soon eased off, under local realizing and reports and rumors that the weaker short interest had been covered. Some of the trade in spot interests continued to buy May and July on a scale down, but there seemed little or no March for sale, except at a premium of about 80 points over May, but there was no active support and closing prices were practically the lowest of the day.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, March 25.—The March option was the feature of the cotton market in the early trading, but it soon settled thereafter. It closed 12 points down. The other active months were 3 to 5 points down on the close.

In the early trading favorable cables were the main support of the market, although sentiment over the week-end seemed to help to hold prices up. At the highest point of the day the March option was 20 points only, 5 points over yesterday's close. Interest in liquidation continued throughout the session and the market closed at the lowest, except on March. It was much of a waiting market.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, March 25.—The absence of outside buying orders gave the bears a chance today and the big drive which was every effort to hammer that month. They succeeded in closing it 9 down, while July was only 4 days and October unchanged. It was not a natural market, however, and may ready to take up the cotton and there would be many buyers. The world's consumption of May cotton, but the bears believe that the long interest will be out of the way shortly after daylight.

What the bears were doing in cotton the cattle were doing in coffee. They closed new selling orders and managed to mark prices up 10 points. This, also, was not a natural market, for coffee is still too high.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, March 25.—The markets slowed again, more on the exhaustion of the shortage buying than of any other factor. Of course, the feeling of depression in all lines of business extends to cotton and is shown in the discounts at which the latter selling is being done, as noted in Liverpool. Nobody wishes to have any stocks of goods on hand, and cotton is one of these goods. Cura Products is a case in point. Business proves become a decidedly bullish influence. As a result of the weakness of the past month, the interest in the market has been largely reduced, especially the speculative interests, and in the diminution of the interest here, the Liverpool people have run over the load of its stock which has been carried there. The traders think the extravagance interest will be almost entirely eliminated ere long.

SAVANNAH WHARF FIRE DOES HEAVY DAMAGE

Savannah, Ga., March 25.—Fire of unknown origin today caused damage estimated at $200,000 to the rosin and cotton sheds of the Atlantic Coast Line railway here. The British steamship Farley was slightly damaged by the flames.

The Coast Line sheds in which were stored several thousand tons of kainit and several hundred barrels of rosin were completely destroyed. The fire, which started shortly after daylight, raged unchecked for three hours and for a time endangered the entire harbor front. Heroic work by firemen and others prevented the spreading of the fire from the sheds in which a large quantity of turpentine was stored.

The Farley, which lay alongside the burning wharves, caught fire when a large crate, used in unloading ships, collapsed and fell across her bridges. Tugs quickly extinguished the blaze and towed the vessel to a place of safety. The damage to her, it was said, was small. No other ships were endangered.

The Coast Line wharves were constructed only about a year ago, to replace those destroyed in a destructive water front fire.

STOE GIVEN A NUMBER AT FEDERAL PRISON

Sam Stoe, convicted white slaver, sentenced to five years in the United States circuit court at Atlanta, by Judge Newman, of the Northern district of Georgia, was received by Warden Moyer yesterday by Dr. J. H. Brock, chief deputy federal marshal.

Stoe asked that he be allowed to tell his wife, who is now in jail awaiting sentence for the same offense, farewell. A fifteen minutes' talk was allowed, an officer keeping close watch just out of hearing.

Judge Newman has not yet indicated when he will pass sentence upon Mrs. Stoe, who has been convicted and is now a prisoner in the Fulton county jail.

AMPLE MOISTURE IN WHEAT REGIONS

This Report Caused the Chicago Market to Close Unchanged to 3-8 Cent Off.

Chicago, March 25.—Snow in the northwest and rain in the southwest today dispelled fear of a serious moisture for wheat, and, naturally, the market eased off, closing steady at a range from the same as yesterday to 3-8c lower. Other speculative articles also were affected, the declines ranging 3-8 to 1-2, oats 1-8 to 1-4@3-8 and provisions 1-2 to 1c.

Although setbacks in the price of wheat were no more severe, the bears had the advantage throughout. Steady to strong cables and crop advices proved optimistic. By some experts the snowfall in the spring wheat belt was declared a notable benefit, as virtually preventing fall of frost for the season, whereas a dry weather handicap was still feared in the winter belt. Orders to purchase on any radical break gave wheat at times an appearance of being stubborn. The main basis for support was a statement that high winds had blown wheat out of sight in a limited area of the western Kansas. There was news also that Germany had become an eager buyer of cargoes from Australia and that world shipments for the week ended would be small.

Free and lower-priced offers of new Argentine corn to arrive kept the corn market on the down grade. Some of the leading bull houses sold steadily all day and the process was intensified by selling pressure from a number of new and recent converts to offset recent dosages on the short side. It was reported that 2,000,000 bushels of an Argentine cargo at Galveston was from the new crop and there was an unfounded rumor that a full shipload of new Argentine corn had arrived in Europe.

Oats felt the depression of other cereals. Slight cash seeding would be general in Illinois within ten days had the favorable weather prevailed.

Selling, that was laid to the packers, weighed on provisions. About the only buyers were shorts.

U. S. GOOD ROAD SCOUTS EN ROUTE TO ATLANTA

Reach City Tonight—Shortest Route Sought From Washington to Atlanta.

Augusta, Ga., March 25.—(Special.)—The federal good roads scouting party, consisting of engineers from the government roads department and representatives of the National Highway association, arrived here from Columbia this afternoon at 6 o'clock and were kept busy until after midnight listening to contentions from two delegations representing proposed routes between here and Atlanta. The result is that the party will leave here for Atlanta in the morning at 9 o'clock in two sections, one going from Thomson to Atlanta by way of Athens and the other from Thomson to Atlanta by way of Warrenton and the towns along the Georgia railroad.

Purpose of the Tour.

The purpose of the tour is to find the shortest route from Washington, D. C., to Atlanta, Ga., taking into consideration the roads best and most easily maintained for automobile travel. The government will assign engineers in the work of ascertaining the maintenance of the roads selected and these will be kept open as the official route to Atlanta. To approximate each 300 miles of the highway an engineer will be assigned and, with the authorities of the various counties, will go over the roads once every ten days.

The scheme is one of maintenance and not of construction. The counties must construct the roads and the engineers will take care of maintenance.

Advocates of the Two Routes.

Tonight fully a hundred representatives of the two desired routes, by Athens and by and through Warrenton, were here to urge their claims on the federal roads engineers. The counties represented were Taliaferro, Greene, Clarke, Morgan, Warren, Wilkes and McDuffie. State Geologist McCallie was here representing the state.

Included in the official party are E. J. Watson, commissioner of agriculture of South Carolina; W. L. Spoon and George L. Esslen, United States roads engineers, and J. S. Pennybacker, executive secretary of the American Highways association.

The party, escorted by representatives from along two routes, will arrive in Atlanta tomorrow night.

ATLANTA BLIND TO HEAR GRAND OPERA THIS YEAR

No city in America has ever undertaken such a philanthropic enterprise as Atlanta will foster this year during grand opera week when all blind people will be allowed to hear the greatest artists sing the greatest operas the world has ever known free of charge.

The directors of the Atlanta Music Festival association yesterday agreed to this on condition that each blind person be accompanied by some one who had a paid ticket. The seats for the blind opera matinee will be provided beyond the sight line.

As has been announced, the season rates for grand opera tickets will go out of effect Saturday, March 28. After 6 o'clock on that day no ticket can be bought at the season rate.

The Spring Term Enrollment Begins At The South's Most Popular Commercial School, The Southern Business University

Several Students Sent to Good Positions During the Past Week—One Goes With the Government in Washington.

The Spring Term of the Southern Shorthand and Business University, 19 West Mitchell street, opens next week, and already pupils are enrolling for that session.

The management requests those intending to enter in April to call or write as early as possible.

Those living out of Atlanta are requested to come to the city and call upon the prominent merchants, bankers, doctors, lawyers and well-known citizens, and ask them to recommend the leading business school of this section. Invariably when this method of investigation is pursued, the applicant enrolls at the "Southern."

It's a significant fact that the attendance of the Southern Shorthand and Business University is more than double that of any other business college in this city, and is four times as large as the attendance of some of the Atlanta colleges.

An interesting letter has just been received by the Southern from Mr. William Norton French, who now holds a responsible position with the Cotton Specialty Company, of Chicago, Ill.

Mr. French was one of the Southern's best students, and, as a natural consequence, he has risen rapidly in the business world. Among other things, he writes:

"Since leaving the Southern, my experience in office work has been general, including bookkeeping, correspondence, shipping, buying raw material and selling finished product.

Parsing Not Positions.

"During my attendance at your college you furnished many students with excellent positions. Your institution is a straightforward, honest concern that does what it advertises."

Grateful Graduate.

The following letter, written by a prominent Atlanta attorney, was handed to the managers of the Southern yesterday:

"This will introduce Mr. ——, an old friend of mine, who is desirous of learning the old reliable Graham-Pitman shorthand system. As well as you did me, and thereby greatly increase my debt of gratitude."

Wants to Change Systems.

"I am a stenographer, writing the Chartier system, but I want to change to the Graham, a good system," said an applicant for admission to the Southern. "I have had to make my own word-signs since leaving school, and I want to learn a system that has word-signs and a system that can be read," he stated.

The National Shorthand Reporters' Association of America has adopted the Graham-Pitmanic as the standard system of the world. The Briscoe Related Chart is the best method in existance for teaching the Graham system. The Southern's pupils are taught this famous system by this improved method.

Don't get systems confused. The Southern does not teach trashy systems such as are condemned by the business men, as shown in the following advertisement, which appeared in the Atlanta papers:

WANTED—Lady stenographer; work light; intelligent beginner will answer. No Chartier writers need apply. Answer in own handwriting. M. A., Box 204, care Georgian.

The Graham-Pitmanic, which is taught at the Southern, is indorsed by merchants, lawyers and all who desire the highest grade of stenographic work. Learn the best at the best by attending the Southern.

Write or call at once for catalogue. Address A. C. Briscoe, president, or L. W. Arnold, vice president, Atlanta, Ga.

Send 25 cents in stamps for Professor Thomas L. Bryan's book on Punctuation. Professor Bryan is the Southern's lecturer and representative.

WM. NORTON FRENCH,
A Graduate of the Southern Shorthand and Business University, Now Holding an Important Position in Chicago.

DIVIDEND IS REDUCED BY PENNSYLVANIA LINES

Philadelphia, March 25.—The directors of the Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railway company, the southwest system of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg, today reduced the dividend on the common stock from 5 per cent a year to 2 per cent and on the preferred stock from 5 per cent to 4.

In connection with the announcement, President Rea, of the Pennsylvania, made the following statement:

"The directors of the Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railway company at their meeting today considered and approved the annual report for 1913. The results of which in brief are as follows: The gross earnings for the year, as shown by the report of the Pennsylvania Railroad company. This report showed an increase of $1,440,000 in operating and maintenance expenses, which includes the extraordinary charges for replacements and repairing tracks, bridges and other facilities destroyed or damaged by the serious floods of March, 1913, so that the net operating income after appropriations to sinking and other reserve funds there remained $4,436,046, applicable for dividends. The company, however, paid its regular 5 per cent dividends on the preferred and common stocks, aggregating $4,712,645, in order to treat the same had to utilize in large part its surplus income from previous years.

"In view of the decline in the gross and net revenues of the company in the first year of 1913 and so far in the present year, and as there are still large expenditures to be made in the current year for the flood damage of 1913, the directors deemed it prudent to reduce the dividend and, therefore, declared a per cent on the preferred and % of 1 per cent on the common stock for the first quarter of the fiscal year, or at the rate of 4 per cent per annum for the preferred and 2 per cent for the common as against 5 per cent declared on each class of stock in recent years."

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

Up to the present time it appears that this year will be one of the best in the history of Atlanta for the construction of apartment houses. Already plans have been announced and work started on several handsome structures.

It was learned on Wednesday that plans are being made for the construction of several more.

It is certain that before the end of the present week the details of at least one of these structures will have developed far enough to be made public.

The need for more apartment houses in Atlanta is readily apparent from the steady demand that renting agents are having for apartment house living space. The steady increase in Atlanta's population is another more guarantee of the success of apartment houses as paying investments.

In fact, a large number of realty investors in recent years have preferred to build apartment houses rather than stores and other forms of building. This desire to own apartment houses is also reflected in the trading of the last few weeks during which time at least two large apartment buildings have been purchased.

WILLIAM F. SHUMATE SOUGHT BY ALABAMA

William F. Shumate, who was recently convicted in Judge Calhoun's court of deserting his minor children, and was later sued for divorce by his wife, who is the daughter of H. J. Fear, 23 Bedford place, is now wanted in Birmingham upon charges involving his conduct with the actress whom Mrs. Shumate named as co-respondent in her case, and Governor Slaton will decide this morning whether or not he will honor the requisition from Alabama.

Shumate has appealed the several cases against him in Atlanta, and for this reason the governor does not yet know whether he is at liberty to grant the requisition. The governor will go on Wednesday afternoon, and Attorney General Felder was called in for the governor's consultation.

ATLANTA AD MEN GIVE MOVIE LUNCHEON TODAY

The Ad Men's club will hold a "movie-luncheon" Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Hotel Ansley. The feature of the luncheon will be a lecture, illustrated by moving pictures, delivered by Frank W. Redfield, southern manager of the General Film company, on the moving picture business. The machine used will be the Simplex Projector and will be operated by D. W. Jones, southern manager of the Precision Machine company.

Mr. Redfield is said to be one of the ablest and most experienced men in the "movie" business, having spent fifteen years in that line.

EXPERT ON SANITATION TO SPEAK IN COLUMBUS

Columbus, Ga., March 25.—(Special.) At a special meeting of a committee of the Columbus board of trade and a committee of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, which have the "brightening up" campaign in Columbus in charge, it was decided to extend an invitation to Hon. Walter R. Brassell, city commissioner of Montgomery, one of the finest authorities on sanitation in the south, to address a mass meeting of the citizens of Columbus on the night of Tuesday, March 31.

OLD HOME OF DURAND DAMAGED BY FLAMES

The old home of Henry Durand, the well-known restaurant proprietor of Atlanta, at 64 Washington street, was partially destroyed last night by fire, the roof falling in and the second floor being damaged considerably. The damage will approximate $3,000. J. Straus, a retired merchant, had lived in the house until Tuesday, when he moved to 241 Washington street to live with his son, C. R. Straus. A small amount of furniture, which had not been removed, was destroyed.

ALL KINDS OF DANCES AT THE GOBBLERS' BALL

The Ancient Order of Gobblers' tango ball at the Kimball house last night was a screamer. The trot, Argentine tango, the Maxixe glide and other modern dances were enjoyed by over 200 terpsichorean artists among the Gobblers.

Socialist Led Field.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 25.—Mayor Gerhard A. Bading, non-partisan, and Emil Seidel, socialist, were nominated for mayor at yesterday's primary, according to complete returns today. They will figure in the municipal election on April 7. Seidel led the field with 21,054 votes against 20,922 for Bading. Indications are that the socialists nominated six aldermen at large.

Mrs. E. C. Root, Rome.

Rome, Ga., March 25.—(Special.)—The body of Mrs. E. C. Root, who died from appendicitis in North Yakima, Wash., will be sent to Rome for interment, reaching here Friday. Mrs. Root was the daughter of Captain J. L. Doss, of Rome.

Atlanta Players Will Present "The Genius" For Benefit of Elks

The Players' club is now busily engaged in its rehearsals for its "return engagement" of "The Genius," which will be produced under the auspices of the Elks at the Grand opera house next Tuesday night. The proceeds of the play will go to the charity work of the Elks.

Union Increases Service

TWO connected telephones make the simplest form of telephone communication.

Three segregated pairs give three lines for telephone talk.

Unite the three pairs by means of a central office and an intercommunicating exchange system is formed, giving fifteen talk tracks.

Five pairs thus connected give forty-five lines of communication, and so on, in regular mathematical rule.

Millions of such groups are thus connected in the Bell System.

LINES ARE DRAWN FOR HARDEST FIGHT

simply reading these letters to show the feeling and indignation among the ordinary people of the south."

Senator Thomas criticised Senator Jones as detracting from the dignity of the senate by reading letters that almost charged the president with treason. Senator Jones responded he was not criticising the president, but believed his correspondence had grasped the idea that the people and congress were entitled to know why congress should repeal free tolls.

"Should foreign relations justify it, of course, I am sure congress will support the president, irrespective of party; but it is entitled to know the reasons on which it acts," replied Senator Jones.

Senator Thornton contended that the Larkin letter was improper and would have been received by the senate. The incident ended with Senator Chamberlain taking up his resolution to repeal the provisions of the rivers and harbors bill of 1844, which forbids the levying of tolls on inland waterways. He repeated his charge that the "Panama free tolls influence" behind the Panama repeal were the Canadian Pacific and other transcontinental railroads, but he hastened to add that he did not mean to intimate the president was actuated by those influences. He referred to the president as a "high-minded, patriotic gentleman who believes in whatever he does and that he is doing it for the best interests of the country."

Smith and Chamberlain

Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia, offered an amendment to the resolution introduced by Senator Chamberlain.

His purpose in bringing out that the fight against repeal is in effect a fight for ship subsidy. The amendment offered by Senator Smith inquires of the secretary of war how much money the government would lose annually by exempting coastwise ships from tolls, and also inquires what is the entire cost of the canal, including the cost of the land and the interest on the bonds assumed, by the United States in acquiring title to the Canal Zone.

Senator Smith says that when the information sought by Senator Chamberlain separated as he is to give the amendment expanded by the federal government on the various rivers, harbors and canals individually, while the inquiry is made as to whether the government is put to any expense to maintain these waterways, and as to whether any discrimination against foreign ships in favor of American ships is made at any point.

New Jersey Backs Wilson.

Trenton, N. J., March 25.—The lower house of the New Jersey legislature today defeated 18 to 37 a resolution offered by Assemblyman Foley, democrat, petitioning members of congress from this state to vote against the repeal of the Panama canal tolls. The vote was taken late today after the morning meeting had been hurriedly adjourned to end disorder brought about by an attempt to have immediate action taken on the resolution.

After Southern Pacific.

San Francisco, March 25.—A suit for $115,000 penalties against the Southern Pacific company was filed here today by the federal government. The complaint charges that the railroad company has repeatedly refused to comply with the interstate commerce commission's demand to inspect its files and records.

Shaw Wednesday afternoon found buried in the back yard at 89 Brookline avenue a quart of nitroglycerin. Held Suspect in Greenville.

Greenville, S. C., March 25.—John Radtiff was arrested by detectives here today in connection with the robbery of a Queen and Crescent express and mail car near Birmingham, Ala., on February 19. He denies knowledge of the crime.

Two men recently right were in Atlanta and charged with connection with the robbery, which is said to have netted three bandits in the neighborhood of $50,000.

The Atlanta police have received no official notification of the arrest of John Radliff, and have no reason to attach no importance to the report that he is connected with the Queen and Crescent train robbery. Melville, the postal clerk on the Queen and Crescent, and Fields partially identified by him.

the hospital bonds, was appointed a committee of one to confer with Eugene Thomas, chairman of the county executive committee, and urge that the committee adopt resolutions permitting voting booths in the same room in which voters will cast their ballots for county officers.

By Saturday noon it is expected that all the details will be worked out perfectly, and that the only campaigning to be done between that time and May 5 will rest with the finance and the publicity committees.

Wednesday's meeting was primarily for the purpose of placing with the general committee the report of the committee appointed to confer with the plans committees of council and the chamber of commerce. Dr. Elkin reported that Mayor Woodward indorsed the hospital bond project as a separate scheme from the plaza improvement. He said that the mayor promised to call a special meeting of council to pass on the proposition whenever asked to do so by the hospital committee. Dr. Elkin suggested that the committee start work immediately. He urged that the date of the election be made May 5, and said that he believed that by making a whirlwind campaign the interest of every voter can be attracted to the needs of the hospital and that the people will readily will support the scheme on election day.

Ruling by Mayor.

City Attorney Mayson was consulted over the telephone when the point was raised that it would be illegal, under the Australian ballot system, to establish a voting place in the same room designated for the county commissioners. The city attorney ruled that separate voting places would be required under the Australian system.

However, the committee believes that the county commissioners can be induced to allow the erection of a partition in the voting places, the booths at which the voters will cast their ballots for the hospital bonds to be in charge of separate election managers and clerks than those appointed by the city executive committee.

The idea of having the polling places in the same room is because there will be more than ordinary interest in the county election, and it is desired to be induced to support the bond issue than as an ordinary election.

Indifference Only For.

V. H. Kriegshaber, discussing this very point before the committee, said that the only opposition the bonds would have would be in the nature of indifference on the part of voters. Charles Northen said that the voting place should be close to the county booths, and the names who are behind the movement to improve the hospital should provide the managers and clerks.

Upon the report Councilman Culcord will make to the committee on Saturday will depend the course of action to be pursued by the committee. If the county executive committee decides that the bond election booths must be separated, the committee will make plans to have the city's booths established at points within arm's reach, if possible to the county booths, and will have workers at the polls to personally take charge of every voter casting a county ballot and urging him to vote for the bond issue.

Before adjourning, the committee decided that the general committee should remain in force and hold frequent meetings to advise with the finance committee and the publicity committee. The last named committee will meet immediately to map out a campaign of publicity, to educate the voters as to the necessity of improving the hospital. The committee will have the power to employ an expert publicity man, if necessary, or urge the editors of the three papers to detail a staff man to work in co-operation with the committee.

Will Raise Funds.

Upon the amount of money that will be raised by the finance committee will depend, in a large measure, the scope of the campaign. The plans of the committee are that the publicity work shall be carried to every man, woman and child in the city.

There were present at the meeting Colonel Robert J. Lowry, chairman; Charles S. Northen, Dr. W. S. Elkin, R. J. Foreman, Sam W. Dibble, A. R. Culcord, V. H. Kriegshaber, Dr. Floyd McRae, Dr. George Noble, Dr. W. F. Westmoreland, Dr. W. S. Kendrick, Dr. W. G. Hood, Dr. L. S. Stevens, Dr. Wade Harding and Dr. W. B. Summerall.

Health and Strength Regained By Splendid Tonic Influence

The Season's Difference Affects All Manner of Life and the Human Body Needs Help Most of All

So many people use S. S. S. every Spring that it is really a message of health to those who wonder why they feel so utterly worn out when the trees begin to bud. Throughout the Southern States S. S. S. has been for forty years a trusted tonic for the early days of Spring. Of purely vegetable origin, its combination of elements which kindly influence the overworked blood vessels or overstrained nerve tissues. Its action is medicinal just as meat or milk is nutritional.

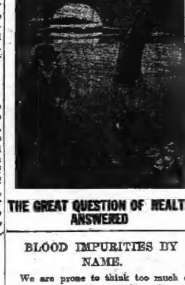

OUR WINTER INACTIVITY.

During the confined months of the winter season there are many of us who are less active. The liver is sluggish, the skin is dormant, the kidneys are overworked, the lungs are not called upon to breathe with sufficient depth and energy to satisfy the demands of the tissues for their needed amount of oxygen. And thus the body needs help, must have it. Experience comes to our relief, and what better guide could we select than the example of those who annually know exactly what to do—use S. S. S.

RETAINS ITS INDIVIDUALITY.

The wonderful tonic influence of this splendid blood purifier is traced to its ability to retain its individuality. It is acceptable to the weakest stomach, and yet it is not changed or converted or counteracted until it has exercised its medicinal dominance throughout the blood circulation.

This is important. Some drugs have this same effect, but they remain in the system, a fruitful source of irritation and danger. S. S. S. does not remain in the system, for after having served this purpose as a medicinal action, it is assimilated with the tissue products, and this excretory process goes on every second of time.

THE GREAT QUESTION OF HEALTH ANSWERED

BLOOD IMPURITIES BY NAME.

We are prone to think too much of names. When the muscles ache and the sciatic nerve hurts, and there are general pains the word Rheumatism leads one to forget that it is the blood as much as the nerves that are responsible for these pains. And S. S. S. proves this by its tonic influence on the blood. When the mind and body are jaded and utterly cast down with malarial infection, it is the blood that contains this poisonous influence. Here the system, S. S. S. asserts its tonic force. And if from a sluggish blood stream, there are skin eruptions, blood risings, indolent abscesses and other evidences of constitutional taint, the beneficial action of S. S. S. gives ocular evidence of its medicinal influence.

A THUTHFUL MEDICINE.

Not one particle of anything other than the native roots and simple preservatives are used in the preparation of S. S. S. It has survived many years of the most searching tests, and never in its forty and more years of usefulness has it ever been found otherwise than a purely beneficial and helpful to the young, invigorating to those advanced in years, and containing just the amount of gentle exhilaration so much required by most women.

S. S. S. is strongly recommended in almost every community in America, and is sold in most drug, department and general stores.

Buy by all means avoid substitutes. Do not permit anyone to palm off something they claim to be "Just as good." Ask for S. S. S., insist upon getting it and you will receive the very article on appointment. S. S. S. is prepared only in the Laboratory of the Swift Specific Co., 406 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. And for a special book on Cancer or Rheumatism or skin diseases or blood troubles, write to our Medical Dept., who will be glad to give you special and personal directions in the use of S. S. S.
