WITNESS IS NEAR ARREST AT PROBE OF GRAFT CHARGE

R. Moore Interrupts Investigation by Mumbling Protests at Evidence Attacking "Jack" J. Peters.

MONEY GIVEN TO TURNER FOR CAMPAIGN EXPENSE

Members of Committee Declare in Favor of Acquittal Unless More Substantial Evidence Is Offered.

The nearest approach to sensation during the second day of the "graft" inquiry instituted by "Jack" J. Peters, president of the Cotton States Electric company, against City Electrician R. C. Turner, came yesterday afternoon when Clarence Haverty, chairman of the committee, threatened to have R. Moore, one of Peters' character witnesses, arrested for disorderly conduct.

Moore interrupted the investigation by mumbling protests when Turner's attorneys were introducing evidence from Robert C. Moran, city electrician of Memphis, to show that Peters did not enjoy the very best reputation while he was in the contracting business in the Bluff City.

"You'll have to keep quiet or leave the room," Chairman Haverty admonished.

Arrest Is Threatened.

The disturber moved toward the door, still mumbling and Chairman Haverty was forced to threaten arrest to restore order. Moore was a witness before the committee Monday afternoon. He testified that he had known "Jack" Peters in Memphis and that his reputation was good, despite the contrary testimony of City Electrician Moran.

Through four long hours the attorneys on both sides dragged the hearing. During the time City Electrician Turner was on the stand Attorney Chambers probed into the recent campaign. Turner admitted that he received various sums from the Electric company to defray his campaign expenses. He told the committee that all the money went to the newspapers for advertising.

F. L. V. Smith, secretary of the Electric company, testified that he opposed Turner in his campaign, but after the election he volunteered to raise funds to defray the expenses. He produced the books to show that on November 5, 1912, Turner was given $180; on November 8, $225, and on December 13, $125. The three contributions totaling $525.

Gave Turner a Watch.

In addition to those sums the association gave Turner a gold watch valued at about $80. Smith said that he was not certain about the price.

"It might have been $85," he said. "I cannot remember."

Turner's attorneys offered a statement of campaign expenses filed with Secretary J. O. Cochran, of the city executive committee, showing campaign expenses amounting to $625.

While Turner was giving his testimony he frequently clashed with Attorney Chambers. At one stage of the examination Turner's attorneys complained that Attorney Chambers was "bringing up a lot of rot."

"I think the gentlemen look at this whole thing as rot," Attorney Chambers replied.

"Just about as rotten as you are," one of the attorneys replied.

Attorney Chambers ignored the assault.

"$20,000 Spent by Bambers."

At another time Attorney Chambers was charged with having spent $20,000 on his campaign against Mr. Woodward for mayor.

Turner's attorneys charged, also, that while Chambers was a member of the city council he urged the adoption of an ordinance allowing the use of metal moulding in certain buildings.

Attorney Chambers did not deny the charge, except to explain that the board of electrical control passed the ordinance after it came from council. He did not deny that he was and is attorney for the National Metal Moulding company.

Members of the committee declared after the hearing Tuesday afternoon that, unless there is more substantial evidence forthcoming, Turner will be acquitted. Evidence brought out to show that "Jack" Peters, who has brought the charges, was the man who started the subscriptions to raise money to buy the watch for Turner, it was also testified that he was active, while a member of the Electric company, in raising money for Turner's campaign.

Contributed to Both Funds.

Secretary Smith amused the committee when he stated that the Electric company contributed to the campaigns of both Turner and Fred Mims, his opponent. Miles denied that he received any money from the association.

Miles admitted that Turner was considered among the best electrical experts in the south. He admitted that Turner treated him with absolute fairness in all his dealings. In fact, every electrical contractor in the city on the stand declared that Turner was the best and only man to handle their business. This was given by Turner.

The evidence of Carl Samples, who testified that Turner gave him a check for $6 on the American National bank, was attacked in a letter from Peoples, of the American National bank, certifying that Turner has never had a bank account with that institution.

Turner denied, while on the stand, that the national undertakers rejected work in the Montgomery theater which had been approved by the electrical department. Attorney Chambers attempted to prove that Turner was under obligations to W. T. Buchanan, owner of the theater. Turner admitted that in years past Mr. Buchanan indorsed notes for him. He said that the notes did not amount to more than $200. He paid the money back, he said.

Ask Ordinance Book.

The book of ordinances passed by council to regulate the installation of electrical wiring in Atlanta was called for by Attorney Chambers for the purpose of showing that Turner was dominated by the Electron company in his recommendations for new ordinances.

The committee heard witnesses until 1 o'clock, and then adjourned to meet again at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The investigation will be ended at that time.

Policeman, Aged 69, Quits Force to Have One Long Good Time

"Young Bucks Can't Hold Candle to Me When I Get Wound Up," Says "Uncle Bob" Osborne.

Old "Uncle Bob" Osborne, 69 years goin' on 70, who has been a policeman for twenty-seven years, is quitting the department to have a "good time"—a genuine, head-splitting, gosh-durned helluva good time—during the few remaining years of life.

This fact he announced in Chief Lanford's office yesterday afternoon when Judge Broyles, in behalf of the detective department, presented him with two handsome Morris chairs. The judge spoke feelingly of the retiring detective, with whom he has been intimately acquainted during Osborne's long service in the police department.

In reply, Osborne, whose eyes had been moistened by the touching speech of the judge, declared that he was retiring upon a pension purely because he wanted to spend most of his few remaining years in having a "good time."

"And, I'm goin' to have it, too, he said. "I'm mighty old in years, but when it comes to gallivantin' about I'm kinder spry and chipper. There aren't any of you young bucks that can hold me a candle when I get wound up. I'm a-goin' to set in tune, and the first thing you know, I'll be singin' one of the confoundedest 'good time' songs you ever heard."

MRS. WINSHIP NUNNALLY DIES AT SARANAC LAKE

Funeral Services Will Be Conducted in Atlanta Thursday Afternoon.

Mrs. Winship Nunnally, one of the best known and most beloved young women of Atlanta, died yesterday morning at Saranac Lake, N. Y., where she had been ill for some time.

Mrs. Nunnally at the time of her death were her husband, Winship Nunnally, who had been at the bedside of his wife for several days, and her mother, Mrs. Hunter P. Cooper.

Mr. and Mrs. Nunnally had been married about a year and a half. Before her marriage she was Miss Mary Cooper, a popular member of the debutante set. She was an accomplished and talented young woman and an excellent disciplist. Her death will cause sorrow to a wide circle of friends.

Mrs. Nunnally is survived by her husband and her mother and by one brother, Hunter Cooper.

The funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the residence of Winship Nunnally on Peachtree road, the services being conducted by Rev. Richard Orme Flynn. The interment will be at West View.

BOY KILLS HIS FATHER TO SAVE HIS MOTHER

Ben Jones Surrenders to Gilmer Sheriff After Slaying Father, Henry Jones.

Ellijay, Ga., December 9.—(Special.) Last night Henry Jones, a well-known citizen of Gilmer county, was shot and killed by his son, Ben Jones, a boy about 19 years old.

Ben Jones came in this morning and surrendered to Sheriff Milton, claiming that he killed his father in self-defense and to protect his mother and sisters.

The affair has created much excitement.

MOTHER WILLED BIBLE TO SECRETARY REDFIELD

St. Paul, Minn., December 9.—After leaving her homestead in Pittsfield, Mass., to three of her daughters, Mrs. Mary A. Redfield willed her bible, "the gift of my husband, and the stand on which it rests," to her son, William C. Redfield, secretary of commerce. The will was probated here today, owing to the fact that Mrs. Redfield possessed local real estate. The estate is valued at $125,000. Mary V. Redfield was made administratrix without bond.

HEAD OF VICE SQUAD, INDORSED BY CHIEF, DEMOTED BY BOARD

Chief Beavers Wanted J. W. Barfield Made a Sergeant When Office of Roundsmen Was Abolished.

CHAIRMAN MASON LEADS FIGHT AGAINST OFFICER

Charges Dissension Has Existed in Department as Result of His Administration. He Drops to Patrolman.

The police board exploded a bomb last night when Chief Beavers' recommendation of J. W. Barfield, head of the vice squad, for a sergeancy, was turned down by a vote of eight to three.

Barfield has been considered one of the chief's most valuable lieutenants in the department's noted vice crusade. He was in charge of the plain clothes "vice squad," having served in that capacity since the organization of the squad. He will now be deposed to the rank of patrolman.

A strong fight was waged upon Barfield. It was led by Chairman Mason, who openly spoke against him. Mason told of numerous complaints that had reached his ears of dissension in the department caused by Barfield's administration, and of discord among the men who worked under him.

Three Votes for Barfield.

The commissioners who supported the chief's recommendation were Commissioners Smith, Vernoy and Garner. The remainder of the board voted to depose Barfield. Beavers took but very little hand in the campaign against his man, except to place him in nomination and recommend him.

The fight may result in the repealing of a city ordinance requiring the board of commissioners of all departments to accept and consider only the candidates named for office by department heads. As it now stands, the board was not permitted to consider a candidate last night except men named by the chief.

"We must comply with the law," Mayor Woodward declared on his feet "I cannot say, however, that I am in accord with this ordinance putting the privilege of nomination entirely in the hands of the chief. Until the law is repealed, though, we will have to abide by it."

At the time Barfield was put in nomination, the chief also named Roundsmen Alfred D. Lick and George Atticus Maddox. These men were elected.

He then named the third man, following Barfield's rejection—J. A. Hollis, president of the Police Relief association, now a patrolman. He was elected.

The three men will assume the duties of sergeant at once. Barfield's demotion will also take effect immediately. He was at headquarters at the time of the vote, but had nothing to say upon hearing the news.

Roundsmen Abolished.

Some time ago a move was made by police authorities to abolish the office of roundsmen—field heads who performed practically the duties of third sergeants—and elect three new sergeants. The idea was adopted by the board, and examinations were held.

Chief Beavers selected the three roundsmen—Lick, Maddox and Barfield—for the new offices, because of their former positions. There had been rumor for some time, however, of an organized fight upon Barfield.

On account of civil service regulations, perhaps the most logical and effective manner of deposing a ranking officer of Barfield's position was the abolishment of roundsmen and the inauguration of new sergeants. There is practically no difference between the office of sergeant and roundsmen —only a slight raise in pay.

The duties and authority were the same. Even the term "sergeant" was applied to roundsmen on pal rolls, records and otherwise. Two roundsmen were assigned to field bicycle duty and the other to the plain clothes squad.

Barfield Put In Command.

Barfield has been with the department many years. He was placed in charge of one shift of the "vice squad" only a short time after its organization. Later, when the squad was reduced, he was put in complete command. In police circles, he was considered perhaps the most indispensable lieutenant to Beavers in the vice situation.

In speaking of Barfield prior to the Scenes in the Mexican Revolution

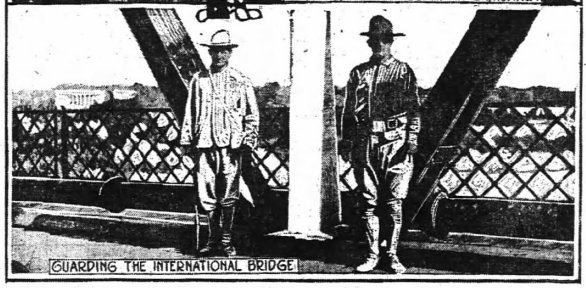
VILLA'S ADVANCE GUARD IN CHIHUAHUA



GUARDING THE INTERNATIONAL BRIDGE

General Villa's troops, now in control of Chihuahua City and the surrounding territory, will soon move on toward Mexico City, where the deciding battle of the present revolution will occur. The illustration shows victorious rebel soldiers in the streets of Chihuahua and a United States and a Mexican rebel sentry at the international bridges connecting El Paso, Texas, with Juarez. This is one of the bridges across the Rio Grande used by Mexicans fleeing from the revolution of the United States.

REDUCE ARRESTS, URGES WOODWARD

Police Commissioners Vote for Appointment of Inspector to Investigate All Frivolous Cases.

A systematized movement to reduce the alarming number of arrests in Atlanta will now go on foot, with the unanimous approval and co-operation of the board of police commissioners and of Mayor James G. Woodward.

It is likely that within a short time the office of inspector will be established at headquarters, with a view to thoroughly investigating not only individual cases of prisoners, but also of keeping an expert eye upon the conduct of the policemen of the city.

This was made strongly apparent last night at the meeting of the board of commissioners at police headquarters. Philip Weltner, secretary of the state prison reform board, who launched the idea of reform in arrests, appeared before the meeting and delivered a short talk on conditions as revealed by a personal investigation which he recently promoted.

Statistics Shame Atlanta.

His talk was occupied for the most part by statistics. He declared that Atlanta's police court yielded a sum of $80,000 yearly from fines imposed upon prisoners, while New York, a city possessing eleven police courts and five million population, levied a toll of less than $120,000 annually from police court fines.

He also showed numerous other illustrations which indicated that Atlanta ranked considerably ahead of many of the nation's largest cities in its percentage of arrests. His talk was forceful, direct to the point, and convincing.

"Money can be saved by the reduction of arrests," he told. "A marvelous amount can be saved. We spend probably more money for charity in Atlanta than in any other southern city. I do not doubt that we do. Also, we makes more arrests. That's the answer. The police arrest the man of low wages on insignificant charges. He is fined. The fine takes the larger portion of his wages. Consequently, he is made dependent upon charity."

Before the meeting, a committee composed of Commissioners Fain, Johnson, Vernoy and Smith had investigated conditions. Chairman Fain reported that the installation of an inspector—or inspectors—at police headquarters for the investigation of each arrest would aid the city and police department, and that better results would be obtained.

Mayor Wants Fewer Arrests.

Mayor Woodward said:

"I am heartily in favor of reducing the number of arrests. The man who can keep best order in his beat with the fewest arrests is the best policeman. There is no doubt about that. I have seen men who had been drinking arrested on the streets just because they staggered slightly.

"Some arrests in Atlanta are outrageous. The number of prisoners taken annually can be easily reduced. It can be reduced by means other than inaugurating the office of inspector. There's the man who can do it (pointing to Chief Beavers, who sat nearby). He can regulate the arrests. He can control the situation better than even an inspector, or anybody else, so far as that matters. It's up to him. Conditions in this city put Atlanta at the head of criminal statistics. Let the board put the duty upon the shoulders of this man Beavers. That's where it belongs."

Following the guilt of the mayor, Chief Beavers arose to say:

"Gentlemen, I have been striving to cut down the number of arrests. I have been doing all in my power to do so. (Interruption here by Mayor Woodward, who said, "And I commend you for doing so.") But the reduction of

12 HOURS LONG ENOUGH FOR GROCERY EMPLOYEES

Grocers and Butchers Call a Mass Meeting to Secure Co-operation of Citizens.

Unanimously declaring themselves in favor of a resolution which branded as "inhuman, unreasonable and uncalled for" the employment of grocery clerks for more than twelve hours each day, fifty members of the Atlanta Retail Grocers and Butchers' association at a meeting held last night at the chamber of commerce issued a call for a gigantic mass meeting to be held at the Auditorium on Tuesday night, January 13, for the purpose of getting the co-operation of the residents of this city in an effort to open and close the grocery and meat stores at a reasonable hour.

The motion, which expressed the feeling of the grocers and meat sellers of the city in regard to keeping their clerks employed for too long a period each day, was introduced by R. A. Broyles. It was seconded by a storm of voices from all over the room in which the association held its meeting.

A committee was appointed by the chairman, C. A. Tappan, to make the arrangements for the all-important mass meeting. Five members of the association will have charge of the affair. The chairman of the committee will be O. T. Camp, who is also president of the local grocers and meat sicremen.

O. T. Camp also made a motion making it the sense of the association members, gathered in meeting last night, that the summer Wednesday afternoon closing season during next year be from May 15 to September 15, adding a month to the closing period. The motion passed unanimously.

JURORS IN GEORGIA ARE NOT OSLERIZED

Supreme Court, Reversing Prior Decisions, Holds 60-Year Age Limit Privilege Not Bar.

Because a man is over 60 years old may give him a voluntarily exemption from jury service in Georgia, but it does not disqualify him from jury service, so was the decision of the supreme court yesterday in the case of Ben Staten v. State, certified to the court from the court of appeals.

This was a criminal case from Whitfield county, in which counsel for the defense undertook to peremptorily challenge a juror on the ground that he was over 60 years old. The juror was willing to serve and the court held that he was not disqualified on account of his age.

The case was first taken to the court of appeals, and by them certified to the supreme court for a final decision. The latter holds that, although the statutes of the state are in conflict as to the question of the qualification of jurors over 60 years old, that it was never intended to disqualify a man on the ground of age. The age limit was meant as an exemption which the juror could take the benefit of, not as an asterism or disqualification for age.

If a juror elects to serve on a jury after he is 60, he has a right to do so, and may not be peremptorily challenged on that account. In rendering this decision the court overruled a number of prior decisions made by it, going the out of 1898 was stricken.

ATLANTA WITHIN $100,000 OF GOAL

Sam Inman Invited to Attend Luncheon Today and to Make an Address to the Oglethorpe Workers.

OGLETHORPE MAKING RAPID HEADWAY

There remains only about $100,-000 still to be raised to complete the Oglethorpe university fund.

The canvassing committees reported at Tuesday's luncheon a total of $5,049, making $149,426 subscribed in Atlanta to date.

The aim is $250,000, and every effort will be made to reach it within the next week.

Among the gratifying subscriptions which came were those of the faculty of the Girls' high school, $250; H. M. Atkinson, $1,000, and Asa G. Candler, $1,000.

Two substantial subscriptions from prominent citizens of Atlanta were announced at the noonday luncheon at the Piedmont Tuesday, those of H. M. Atkinson and Asa G. Candler for $1,000 each.

James R. Gray, of the central committee, stated that Mr. Atkinson had voluntarily offered to give $1,000 personally, in addition to the handsome subscription that has already been made by the Georgia Railway and Power company.

Major John S. Cohen stated that he had been to call on Mr. Candler and placed the Oglethorpe university situation before him. Mr. Candler replied that the project was one that appealed strongly both to his heart and his mind, and that he would be glad to give $1,000 to it. He told Major Cohen to have one of the committees call on him at any time and he would sign the subscription blank.

High School Faculty Aids.

One of the most gratifying subscriptions yet made to the Oglethorpe fund came Tuesday through Miss Lessie Muse, principal of the Girls' high school. Miss Muse stated to Joel Hunter, whose committee reported the subscription, that the faculty of the Girls' high school would give as a body the sum of $250, and would sign subscription cards at once. Announcement of this subscription was greeted with hearty applause, and the splendid public spirit shown by these lady teachers was warmly commended by every committeeman present.

A further message from Miss Muse was placed before the meeting, praising early announcement of a subscription from the student body of the Girls' high school, another splendid evidence of the public spirit which dominates the Atlanta institutions.

Interesting among the announcements made was that by Dr. Candler, who stated that the Greeks of Atlanta had called a meeting for the purpose of considering the Oglethorpe university movement and of making a substantial contribution to it in a body. Atlanta's Greek citizens have already taken a deep interest in the project, as is evidenced by a considerable number of individual subscriptions which they have made.

Among the individual workers in behalf of Oglethorpe, none is more intensely interested in its success, than Sam Inman, a well-known grocer and president of the Retail Butchers and Grocers' association. Mr. Inman has already a single one of the noon-day meetings, and whether his chairman was present or not he has always had some subscriptions to report. One day when he had to go out of the city and had no chance to work, he secured subscriptions of $110 while coming back on the train. Tuesday he waited in vain for the appearance of his chairman, and finally announced:

"Well, I don't propose to be skunked.

MEXIC ELECTIONS ARE DECLARED VOID BY THE CONGRESS

After Nullifying the Recent Presidential Elections, Huerta Congress Calls New Elections for Next July.

HUERTA IS CONFIRMED AD INTERIM PRESIDENT

Unless the Rebels Throw Him Out, the Dictator Will Remain in Power for About Eight Months Longer.

Mexico City, December 9.—The Mexican congress today nullified the recent presidential elections. New elections are called for next July.

Congress, according to this action, expects General Huerta to remain in the presidency for at least seven months more and if the time necessary for the selection and installation of his successor is taken into consideration, it will be well towards the end of September, next year, before he yields his power to another.

In voting tonight that the recent presidential election was null, the deputies decided to fix the first Sunday in July, 1914, as the date for the new election. They also confirmed the position of General Huerta as provisional president until then.

Vivas for Huerta.

The action of the deputies was accompanied by no debate. The committee's report was approved without a dissenting vote as rapidly as the articles could be read.

It was not until the last clause was read, referring to General Huerta as provisional president, that the chamber gave evidence other than that of a well trained organization. When the reading clerk stopped some one began applauding and then instantly the deputies were shouting "Vivas" for Huerta.

The presiding officer was finally able to remind them that enthusiasm was all very well, but that it was necessary to ratify the enthusiasm by votes.

The measures taken tonight also provides for the election of a new congress since the one elected to take the place of that dissolved by Huerta is to serve out an unexpired term, which ends terminate September 15.

Reasons for Nullifying.

The reasons given for nullifying the elections was the insufficiency of the number of votes cast. It was stated that the entire number of votes cast in the republic is 14,256 and that returns were received from 107.

Although there were no dissenting votes in the chamber on the committee report it was noted that the Catholic deputies absented themselves from the session.

The action of the new congress was no surprise to most people, since it was but a reiteration of Huerta's statements made from time to time. There had been, however, a growing impression that a new organization might prove reactionary, but its approval tonight of Huerta's program serves to reassure the doubting ones that the acting president retains his grip on the political situation.

There has been a rumor current, however, that General Huerta may retire from the presidency because of pressure from abroad and the advance of the rebels from the north.

Rebels Near the Capital.

The constitutionalists are within fourteen miles of Tampico, according to information received at the capital by representatives of the oil interests in that district. A band of American hunters [illegible] the outposts of the rebels at Altamira. Information obtained by the hunters led them to believe that an attack on the city would be inaugurated shortly and that the rebel commander would be assisted by one of the heaviest forces yet employed in the campaign in that part of the republic. The Americans explained they were merely a hunting party and were invited by the rebel officers to their quarters for the night.

They were assured that foreigners have little or no fears so far as the constitutionalists were concerned, but that when the city was attacked the rights of all foreigners would be respected.

Fighting in Progress.

Fighting between federals and rebels in the vicinity of Huitzilac, between the capital and Cuernavaca, continued today, but it was indecisive. There are unconfirmed reports that Cuernavaca, capital of Morelos state, has been taken by the rebels. The war-department gave an emphatic denial to this.

Official reports from Aguas Calientes declare that the rebels are close to the city, but that they have been defeated in two minor engagements. A short distance to the north they continue to menace Zacatecas. So far as known here the rebels have no intention of attacking Monterey immediately, although they are still in that neighborhood. The largest federal garrison in the north is at Monterey, where a large part of the forces under General Velasco are concentrated preparatory to an advance on Torreon.

The war department continues to plan for the disposition of the prospective army of 150,000. The new plan involves the placing of 40,000 men in Yucatan and the utilization of 10,000 as a general scout corps.

AMERICAN TROOPS GUARDING BORDER TO STOP MEXICANS

Presidio, Texas, December 9.—With General Salvador Mercado's northern division of the federal army in bankruptcy and with the soldiers threatening mutiny unless they are paid, every restraint was enforced today to prevent a general rush of the federals across the river from Ojinaga into United States territory.

Driven from Chihuahua City, where they were besieged by rebels, to a point where communication could be opened, the army, representing the strength of the Huerta government in the north, reached the border with an empty treasury. The future of the army was said to depend upon the nature of responses to urgent demands for money sent to Mexico City.

No Money for Troops.

General Mercado himself, before evacuating Chihuahua and thus turning it over to the rebels, gave as one reason for his act the lack of money with which to pay his troops. The appearance of his financial agents on the American side soon after the arrival of the troops at Ojinaga, and the fact that General Venustiano Salazar and other officers at once communicated with Mexico City were no surprise to American army officials who were apprised of the conditions.

The United States troops here, reinforced by other troops along the border, were prepared for any emergency, having been informed that the Mexican troops purposed rushing across the border. Rebel agents who went into Ojinaga also reported that only the prompt payment of the soldiers would appease them.

Meantime civilian and federal refugees from Chihuahua continued to pour into Ojinaga. General Salazar, one of the seven generals who left their garrison, was temporarily in command of the little frontier village, while General Pascual Orozco and General Mercado were still outside the post bringing in the rear guard of the caravan.

Harassed by Rebels.

Reports brought here this the rear of the refugee column, in its slow progress on foot, was continually harrassed by the rebels. The rebels, however, were in such a small number they could do no more than hasten the pace of the retreating federals. General Francisco Villa's detachment sent out in an effort to overtake the federals and confiscate the property of some of the rich civilian refugees, including that of Luis Terrazas, was unable to accomplish its purpose. A few rebels in the mountain passes overlooking the plateau were able to keep the marchers in constant fear.

Another factor which tended to increase the predicament of the federal troops was a fear that the rebel forces, which now hold away over a great section of the north, would not long allow Ojinaga to stand unmolested. The necessity of reprovisioning the army was apparent and unless this could be done at once the troops would be insufficiently provided against possible rebel attack. It was thought that General Villa, who recently occupied Chihuahua, soon would prepare for a pursuit of the federals.

Terrific fighting around Ojinaga since their arrival. While firing has been heard on the outskirts, it was believed to have been done by a small force of rebels who followed on the rear of the refugees.

Will Desert if Attacked.

A crowd of federal troops stood on the banks of the river tonight and shouted over to the American side that they would desert if attacked by rebels.

It was reported that the rebels around Ojinaga were rapidly increasing and that a force of 3,000 or 4,000 was expected soon. As the rebels appeared more numerous the federal troops showed increasing dissatisfaction to remain at Ojinaga.

There appeared to be great activity among the United States troops. More border patrols were ordered from Marfa, the nearest railway station, 50 miles away, and Dr. Richards, an army surgeon, was asked to come to Presidio with quantities of bandages and medicines for a possible emergency.

SUFFRAGE SPEAKERS WILL STUMP GEORGIA

That congressmen from suffrage states will take the stump for woman suffrage in Georgia following the organization upon a permanent basis of the Georgia Men's League for Equal Suffrage was guaranteed Attorney Leonard J. Grossman at the conference of the National Men's League for Woman Suffrage, held during the past week in Washington, D. C.

"There are four million women voters now in the United States, according to authenticated reports, and the men in public life in the suffrage states are ready and willing to aid the efforts of the women voters to enfranchise all the women of the nation," said Mr. Grossman, following his return from the national suffrage convention, where he and Mrs. Mary McLendon, president of the Georgia Woman's Suffrage association, comprised Georgia's delegation.

arrests in a department like Atlanta's has got to be cut down to a minimum degrees. You can't do it all at once. You've got to do it slowly, gradually. I'm doing it as rapidly as possible. I'm cutting out the frivolous arrest—I'm making things possible for Atlanta to lose her ranking in criminal statistics."

Look After Policemen.

A number of commissioners offered the suggestion that, in case the inspector was appointed, he not only look after arrests, but keep a watchful eye upon the conduct of police in the department.

Another suggestion was that the board of commissioners hereafter take more interest in the affairs of the department.

The move to establish the office of inspector was unanimously approved by the board, and was sent to council.

To Protect Migratory Birds.

Ottawa, Ont., December 9.—Joint action by the governments of Great Britain and the United States for the protection of migratory birds is asked in a resolution adopted today at the thirteenth annual convention of the North American Fish and Game Protective association in session here.

FEDERAL AMENDMENT TO STOP "PISTOL-TOTING"

Judge Park Puts Matter Up to Congress—"Pistol-Toting" Means Murder.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, December 9.—(Special.)—An amendment to the federal constitution to permit congress and the states to regulate the practice of "pistol toting," was offered in the house today by Representative Frank Park, of Georgia.

Judge Park predicted that the amendment would receive the overwhelming approval of congress and the states. He said his experience on the bench had convinced him that the evil of pistol toting directly responsible for a large percentage of the grisly homicidal records of the United States. He has taken advantage of the first opportunity to remedy the evil.

"The number of weapons walking the streets and country roads of Georgia armed with Colts' automatic revolvers would surprise you," said Judge Park. "Imagine even a peaceful negro with a revolver projecting from his hip pocket on one pocket and a flask of liquor in another, and you can predict what will happen when he goes to a dance or engage in a card game in the woods, or is discharged from a job.

"The second amendment to the federal constitution now reads 'A well regulated militia, being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.' My amendment proposes to add the words: 'Provided that congress may regulate the carrying of small arms in the territories and the District of Columbia, and each state may regulate the carrying of small arms within its borders.'

I believe the amendment will get a two-thirds vote in congress and be approved by three-fourths of the states."

ATLANTA WITHIN $100,000 OF GOAL

I've got $55 here and you can add $100 to that from the Retail Butchers and Grocers' association. They haven't acted on it yet, but you can take my word for it they will do it."

The Tuesday meeting saw fully 60 representatives present, and was inspiring both in numbers and enthusiasm. If the same interest keeps up it will be necessary before the end of the week to secure a larger dining room to take care of them.

Sam Inman Invited.

By a rising vote of the committee, Samuel M. Inman, one of the most generous contributors to Oglethorpe and an Atlantan who is most deeply interested in the movement, was invited to attend the Wednesday luncheon and make a special appeal. It is confidently expected that Mr. Inman will accept the invitation and will have some words of encouragement and good advice to give to the workers.

The city has been divided intz twelve districts by Chairman Ivan Allen, of the campaign committee, and each district has been assigned to one of the campaign committees. The districts include the east and west side of Peachtree street, making two districts; the east and west side of Whitehall and Broad; Forsyth street, Pryor street, Luckie, Walton and Spring streets, Marietta and Decatur streets, Alabama and Hunter streets, Mitchell street and the Terminal station, Auburn, Houston and Edgewood avenue.

Railroad for Alaska.

Washington, December 9.—Vigorous opposition to the pending bill for a government-owned railroad in Alaska, was voiced today by Republicans who appeared presented to the house by Representative Ferris and his Democratic colleagues members of the territories committee. The measure has been approved by the committee majority. The government ownership project was generally denounced by the minority report.

HEAD OF VICE SQUAD DEMOTED BY BOARD

ballot last night, Chairman Mason said:

"For some time there have come repeated reports to me of dissension in the department, caused by Barfield's administration. The board cannot encourage discord in the department. I think it will be best for Barfield to be deposed. Not that I want to oppose the chief, but I can't sanction dissension in the force. It is damaging beyond conception."

Commissioners Varnoy, Garner and Smith, however, fought strongly for the man. Smith stated later to a Constitution reporter that he had voted for Barfield solely because he was the chief's choice.

"It is a policy of mine," he said, "to support the chief. That's why."

Commissioner King, as well as Chairman Mason, stated to the reporter following the meeting that they had not deposed Barfield because he was Beavers' selection, but because of the general dissension Barfield had created.

Barfield's successor will not be selected until today. The new head of the "vice squad," however, probably lies between Sergeants Luck, Maddox and Hollis.

2,000 Deputies on Hand.

Calumet, Mich., December 9.—Sheriff Cruse has arranged to have 2,000 deputies on hand here tomorrow at the opposition parades of the citizens of the copper strike district who are members of the Citizens' alliance and the strikers. It was also said that mounted troops will be ordered to Calumet to maintain order.

FAVOR PENNY POSTAGE.

Merchants Ask One Cent Rate for Letters.

Members of the Atlanta Merchants and Manufacturers' association at their annual banquet, last night at the Piedmont hotel, went on record as unanimously favoring penny postage for first-class mail.

E. L. Adams offered a resolution, asking that the association request the Georgia senators and representatives to aid the passage of the bill introduced in the senate by Hon. Theodore E. Burton and in the house by Hon. Charles L. Bartlett.

"The ridiculously low rates at which mail other than first-class is now carried by the government makes it unfair to those who have large mailing lists to have to pay two cents for each letter they send out," declared Mr. Adams.

"We believe that the postoffice can afford to handle first-class mail for one cent per letter and we think it would be a fair adjustment of the situation for the rate to be lowered."

Mr. Adams' resolution was favored by all.

MOTHER! THE CHILD IS COSTIVE, BILIOUS

If Tongue Is Coated, Breath Bad, Stomach Sour, Don't Hesitate!

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, listless, restless, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that it's little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels, and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!

INTERNATIONAL SEC'Y APPLAUDS S. S. WORK

Delighted at Efficiency Displayed by Atlanta Sunday Schools, Says Dr. Brown.

Rev. W. A. Brown, of Chicago, mission secretary of the International sunday School association, told the Superintendents' congress of Atlanta last night that he was delighted at the efficiency displayed by the Sunday schools of this city, saying that they compared very favorably with the many other cities of America which he had visited.

His address was made at the regular monthly meeting of the superintendents, which was held in connection with a supper in the Sunday school room of the Central Congregational church, which was enjoyed by about 40 superintendents.

Dr. Marion McH. Hull, president of the Superintendents' congress, presided. At the close of Dr. Brown's address dozens of questions were asked the international secretary by the superintendents.

Following this meeting the last session of the three days' Sunday School Institute was held in the auditorium of the church. Dr. Brown also addressed this meeting, at which a large number of Sunday school teachers and workers were present. His subject was, "Five Ways of Working," and he gave a number of practical methods for increasing the efficiency of the Sunday school work, the main idea of which was "better organization."

D. W. Sims, general superintendent of the Georgia Sunday School association, made an address at the closing meeting of the institute on the subject, "Sunday School Work in Georgia."

AS MEPHISTOPHELES, WHITNEY MAKES HIT AT ANSLEY CONCERT

Singing the well-known "Damnation de Faust" aria from Berlioz, and accompanying it with a wonderful facial expression, depicting the varying emotions of Mephistopheles as he sang the words, Myron W. Whitney made a decided hit Tuesday night with his audience at the Ansley hotel. Rounds of applause greeted his rendition of the difficult number, and Mr. Whitney finally sang as an encore "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes," which also created a deep impression upon his audience. Mr. Whitney has a deep, rich voice, splendid for solo and concert work.

Miss Marguerite Valentine was also well received by the audience, rendering a number of difficult piano solos from Chopin, Grieg and Poldini. The concert was given under the auspices of the Young Women's Christian association, and a large number of the association members and workers were present, besides other music lovers in general.

TWO SUITS ARE SETTLED.

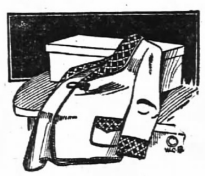
Both Were Against Southern for $25,000 Each.

In the United States court yesterday E. D. Black, attorney for the Southern railway, announced that a suit filed on September 10, 1913, by L. S. Riser, administrator of the estate of W. F. Riser, deceased, against the Southern for $25,000, had been settled out of court. W. F. Riser, then in the service of the railway, was killed in the Atlanta yards, November 24, 1911, and suit was brought for the benefit of the dead man's parents. The terms of settlement were not made known by Mr. Black. Judge Newman directed that the case be entered on the records as "settled."

A like entry was directed in a suit brought by William C. Shell, of Atlanta, against the Southern. Shell, while working as a car repairer, was, so he alleged, injured. Compensation and rendered unable to work again at his trade," was brought suit for $25,000. Mr. Black informed the court that the case had been settled.

DR. RIDLEY TO OCCUPY HIS PULPIT ON SUNDAY

Dr. Caleb A. Ridley, pastor of Central Baptist church, arrived today from Athens, where, for the past ten days, he has been conducting a great revival in the Tabernacle Baptist church. He will speak at the mid-week prayer service tonight, and at both services Sunday. The people of Athens urged Dr. Ridley to continue the revival throughout the week, but he declined, stating that he felt it his duty to occupy his own pulpit on next Sunday. Special music will be rendered by Central chorus, of which there are about fifty members. Everybody welcome.



Comfort Gifts

Health of Children Injured By Wrong Kind of Nutrition

Wednesday's Program.

11 o'clock, medical inspection.
2 o'clock, medical inspection.
3:30, music drill under Miss Milledge.
4 o'clock, drill by first grade, Luckie Street school.
4:30, moving pictures, showing welfare work in many cities.
8 o'clock, reading by Mrs. W. C. Spiker.

The last days of the Child Welfare Exhibit are bringing to the Leyden hundreds of people who come to inform themselves about the vital knowledge which the exhibit furnishes, while the number of children undergoing medical inspection indicate the appreciation which the mothers of Atlanta have for the expert examination the children receive, and the good suggestions given mothers for treatment of their children.

In many cases children brought for examination have been turned over to the physician, with the suggestion, "he is not ailing, but I wanted him looked over;" or "he doesn't seem to be like has not been himself lately." In the latter cases, mothers have frequently been surprised to hear that the reason he has not been himself is that he needs some form of treatment, for here as in Tennessee, it has been found that many children are suffering from the wrong kind of nutrition, but they may be organically all right; but they are found to be retrograding in strength or their little muscles are not normal, and it is found that they need nutrition; that the food which may have agreed with them up to the time they are two years or more, should be changed, and that the future health of the child depends upon it.

So many children were found to be retrograding, without any visible ailment, that the matter became a stirring one among the physicians serving in the department of medical inspection at the Knoxville exposition that special interest was taken in the matter. The cause given in the majority of marked cases was lack of proper nutrition. The subject of badly nourished children was taken up by the trustees of the University of Tennessee and recommendations have been made to the dean of the domestic science of the college that he establish a series of demonstrations on food values and on cooking for the benefit of mothers.

It is not surprising that in the medical inspection here in Atlanta similar conditions have presented themselves and stirring cases have been found indicating the fact of the child's life being in danger from the preventable cause of his being improperly nourished.

This lesson is one that can be learned by the mother of palace and humble abode alike and no mother should fail to attend the welfare exhibit today and tomorrow and learn the lessons which have been placed upon the wall as clearly as pictures can make objects clear.

The Chamber of Commerce officers have mailed letters to over 100 citizens who are interested in welfare work to attend the exhibition today, so that later they may be called together to suggest plans by which permanent good for the city may result from the show.

The exhibit will be open Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday to the negroes of the city.

C. G. WATKINS ELECTED NEW MAYOR OF ELLIJAY

Ellijay, Ga., December 9.—(Special.) After one of the hottest municipal contests ever held in Ellijay the progressives defeated the Cox faction for mayor and aldermen and school trustees by a decisive majority.

The following ticket was elected:

C. G. WATKINS.

Claude G. Watkins, mayor; T. G. Simmons, R. O McHan, Taylor Dooley, Henry Smith and M. I. Teem, aldermen. The new ticket was elected on a law and order platform.

The new mayor is one of the youngest officials of the kind in the state. He is a University of Georgia man and youngest son of Dr. E. V. Watkins, a prominent citizen and candidate for congress in the ninth district.

REV. ELAM CHRISTIAN DIED TUESDAY MORNING

The Rev. Elam Christian, one of the most widely known of the retired members of the Methodist conference of Georgia, died at 3:20 o'clock Tuesday morning at his home at Marietta, Ga. He was 78 years old.

Surviving the Rev. Mr. Christian are his wife, three sons, John Christian, of Marietta; W. H. Christian, of Atlanta, and P. M. Christian, of Lawrenceville, Ga., and three daughters, Mrs. W. L. Abbott, of Acworth; Mrs. A. S. Chewning, of 98 Formwalt street, Atlanta, and Mrs. Charles Bolden, of Detroit, Mich.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock this morning at the Marietta residence, followed by interment at the family burying ground at Acworth.

CONCERT FRIDAY NIGHT.

Mme. Riheldaffer and Miss Gailey Appear Here.

One of the interesting musical events of the season will be the concert in concert Friday evening at the Tabernacle auditorium of Grant Hall. Riheldaffer, dramatic soprano, and Miss Mary Dennison Gailey, violinist. They will appear under Alkahest Lyceum auspices. Miss Gailey will be assisted as the pianist. Mme. Riheldaffer will sing a program partly made up of opera selections and partly of lighter songs and ballads. She is one of the greatest singers on the concert stage. Miss Gailey is a violinist of brilliant and conspicuous ability.

Jury Nears End of Work.

The United States grand jury, Thomas B. Paine foreman, which was reconvened Monday by Judge Newman, will probably conclude its work today and be discharged. So far the grand jury has not returned to the clerk of court any of the papers given it by District Attorney Hooper Alexander. Nearly all of the accusations have to do with illicit making and selling liquor. In the batch, however, are three or four cases arising from violations of the postal laws.

Banking Institute Meets.

The Atlanta chapter of the American Institute of Banking held an interesting meeting at the chamber of commerce last night, about twenty-five members of the organization being present. The meeting was to have been addressed by Joel Hurt, but on account of his unavoidable absence the members spent the time in studying their regular lectures, which now embrace "Law and Contracts."

GAS FUMES PROVE DEADLY TO WOMEN

Columbus, Ohio, December 9.—Mrs. L. R. Hart, aged 75, of Worthington, a suburb, is dead, Miss Rachel Hart, 22, of Caruthersville, Mo., is in a dying condition, and the latter's sister, Miss Barbara Hart, 24, also of Caruthersville, is in a critical condition as the result of being accidentally overcome by gas fumes in Mrs. Hart's home early this morning.

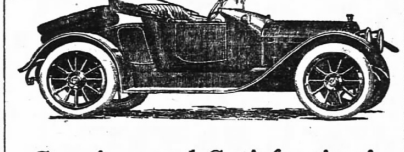
The young women are granddaughters of Mrs. Hart and had come to Worthington to prepare for the marriage of Miss Rachel to Dr. Edgar Allen, December 25.

First reports accredited the Miss Hart with being nieces of the late United States Senator Fair, of Nevada, who, the reports also said, left Mrs. Hart and her two granddaughters a legacy of half a million dollars. Relatives here denied this report tonight and said a large sum of money had been left the young women by their grandfather, a Mr. Mason, of Los Angeles.

Physicians tonight said they are hopeful of the recovery of Miss Barbara, who has regained consciousness. Her sister's recovery is doubtful.

Money Lost, She Kills Self.

Orange, N. J., December 9.—Miss Matilda Reglin, an elderly seamstress, whose savings of a lifetime, $4,000, were swallowed up by the recent closing of the Roseville Trust company, of Newark, was found dead in bed today, with the gas turned on and the doors and windows stuffed with cloth. The Roseville Trust company was closed by the state bank examiner with a shortage of $400,000.



Service and Satisfaction!

Wherever motor cars are sold the name VELIE stands for the utmost in these two features of supreme importance to owners!

Service with the VELIE means not only road service obtained from a motor car of the highest standard in mechanical construction—but also careful attention to owners, made possible by the tremendous financial and business resources of the VELIE Company.

GRAND LODGE OFFICERS VISIT ATLANTA MASONS

Colonel Robert Lee Colding, of Savannah, Makes an Interesting Address.

Grand lodge officers of Georgia gathered in Atlanta last night for the formal constitution of three new lodges, representing some 250 Masons, and to be present at conferring the three sections of the Master Mason's degree upon a number of candidates of Gate City lodge. The three lodges, which have heretofore been operating under a dispensation from which were given their charters Tuesday night, were Capital City lodge, Capitol View lodge and Malta lodge.

The first two sections of the degree occupied the time of the Masons during the afternoon. At night the grand officers were received with proper honors following their introduction to Atlanta Masons. The third degree was then put on. This was followed by an address by Colonel Robert Lee Colding, of Savannah, grand master of the state lodge.

Much interest was aroused among Atlanta Masons over the visit of the grand lodge officers as they rarely meet together except at the annual grand lodge session in Macon.

Among the officers who attended, besides the grand master, were: W. M. Ballard, deputy grand master; Frank O. Pulliam, senior grand warden; W. G. England, junior grand warden; John R. Wilkinson, senior grand deacon; Dan Quinn, deputy grand marshal; A. J. Patterson, deputy grand steward, and George H. Fields, second grand steward.

Warrenton Lodge Elects.

Warrenton, Ga., December 8.—(Special.)—At a meeting of Franklin Lodge No. 11, F. & A. M., the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Worshipful master, L. D. McGregor, senior warden, W. Eugene English; junior warden, W. G. Brinkley; treasurer, C. R. Fitzpatrick; secretary, S. E. DuPuis, tyler, C. S. Davenport; senior deacon, W. W. DeBeaugrule, Jr.; junior deacon, W. D. Brinkley; senior steward, James R. Lee; junior steward, Bert Fowler; chaplain, N. S. Avery. The above officers will be installed at the celebration of St. John's on December 27.

Rest Room at Eastman.

Eastman, Ga., December 9.—(Special.)—A rest room for the benefit of the farmers' wives and children and for all other ladies who may be visiting for a few hours in Eastman will be opened within the next few days under the auspices of the Eastman Study class, an organization made up of the ladies of Eastman. This room will be located in the First National Bank building in the room where the city clerk and treasurer has his office. The building is steam-heated and will be comfortably furnished. It will be supplied with comfortable chairs and lounges and cribs for the babies.

Negro Slayer Sought.

Cordele, Ga., December 9.—(Special.)—George Banks, a negro, is being sought by Sheriff Ward, of Crisp county, for the murder yesterday morning of Henry Harris, another negro, at Wenona. The two negroes had spent the night in the same house together, and across the following morning about 9 o'clock. They immediately engaged in a fight, in which Banks fired a bullet through the intestines of the other negro.

BRYAN KEEPS SILENCE IN REGARD TO SULLIVAN

[illegible] December 9.—Secretary Bryan today declined to comment on [illegible] Sullivan that information had been laid before the state department regarding the conduct of James M. Sullivan of New York, the new minister to the Dominican republic. Charles B. Curtis, former secretary of the legation there, was in the capital recently and was said to have talked with officials about certain negotiations for concessions in Santo Domingo.

Assistant Secretary Osborne, of the state department, who has charge of personnel, said today that no charges had been laid before the department and was inclined to discredit statements regarding Minister Sullivan's affairs. Secretary Bryan, however, saving he had not seen all the published reports, refused flatly to discuss the subject. Various reports, however, are being discussed in congressional and diplomatic circles.

A. S. COLYAR BOUND OVER ON SWINDLING CHARGE

Accused of Cheating Mrs. S. C. Awtrey—He Will Be Tried Monday.

Rome, Ga., December 9.—(Special.)—A. S. Colyar, who figured in Atlanta recently in the dictagraph case, was this afternoon bound over to Floyd city court in the sum of $750, which he furnished, and will appear for trial next week on a charge of cheating and swindling.

Colyar offered no defense and three witnesses at the commitment trial before Justice Broach swore that he defrauded Mrs. S. C. Awtrey out of notes amounting to $750, which he afterwards cashed.

Mrs. Awtrey declared that Colyar represented to her that her son, Henry J. Awtrey, was in serious trouble in Atlanta, and that he could get the boy out in an hour, but it would take $750, otherwise Henry would be on his way to the penitentiary for a five-year sentence. She had not heard from her son in several weeks, and, alarmed at Colyar's alleged story, she turned over to him notes of solvent parties in Collinsville, Ala., which he promptly converted into cash.

Mrs. Ophelia Wynne, daughter of Mrs. Awtrey, whom she was visiting at the time, confirmed the mother's story. Henry Awtrey testified that he had never been in any trouble; that Colyar had no authority to represent him, and that he had been engaged on an electrical contract at Chicago when Colyar told his mother he was in trouble in Atlanta.

Colyar made no statement at the commitment trial. He was represented by Attorney Barry Wright, and Mrs. Awtrey, a wealthy woman of 75, by Maddox & Doyal.

It is understood that Colyar will offer as a defense when his case is called for trial, that he was acting as an attorney for two other sons of Mrs. Awtrey, Lother and Martin, under charges of forgery; that he had been paid a fee of $250 in their cases, and that the additional money had been given him to secure his further services, and also to represent Henry Awtrey in divorce proceedings, which are alleged to be pending between Henry and his wife, an Atlanta woman, from whom he is separated.

Colyar returned to Atlanta tonight. His trial is set for next Monday before Judge John H. Reece. Attorneys for the prosecution made an unavailing effort to have Colyar bound over to Floyd superior court, which does not sit until January 12, but upon the defendant's demand for an earlier trial, Justice Broach fixed the case for city court.

STARS AND STRIPES HOISTED ON FULTON COUNTY COURTHOUSE

Mrs. Richard Brooks, of Forsyth, regent of the Piedmont chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, hoisted the United States flag on the flag staff of Fulton county's new $2Million-Dollar Courthouse on Tuesday amid impressive ceremonies. The magnificent emblem was presented to the county by the Piedmont chapter and was officially received by members of the county commissionary board who were present.

Mrs. Brooks made an impassioned plea for a nation-wide reverence of the national flag and said in part:

"The flag which we unfurl today will be a constant reminder to the people of this city and county to consecrate their efforts to build this great metropolis and commonwealth."

General Clifford Anderson presided at the ceremonies and made a brief address. Other speakers included Lucian Lamar Knight, Mrs. Shepherd W. Foster, Mrs. W. L. Peel and Mayor James Woodward.

SAMUEL E. BERRY DIES AT HOME IN DALTON

Dalton, Ga., December 9.—(Special.)—Samuel E. Berry, aged 63 years, representative of the Whitfield county in the Georgia legislature, died at his residence here this evening at 5 o'clock, after a short illness. The deceased was one of the most popular and well-beloved citizens of this section of the state, and he enjoyed a wide circle of friends throughout the state. He has served this county and state in various capacities.

Mr. Berry is survived by his wife and the following children: Mrs. M. E. Heggie, of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Mrs. Albert Kelly, Bristol, Tenn.; M. O. Berry, Calhoun, Ga., and Gordon, Samuel, Jr., and Miss Alberta Berry, of Dalton.

He was a prominent Mason, and has filled the various chairs in the local lodge, and, although no funeral arrangements have been announced, it is probable that he will be buried with Masonic honor. The cause of his death was an organic heart affection.

A. M. E. CONFERENCE OPENS AT THOMASVILLE

Thomasville, Ga., December 9.—(Special.)—The annual conference of the African Methodist Episcopal church convenes here tomorrow in the First church, Rev. B. J. Powell, pastor. Bishop Joseph Simeon Flipper, of Atlanta, will preside over the daily and night sessions. Two hundred and fifty pastors and delegates will compose the body. Drs. W. G. Alexander, Alice Cooper, G. W. Smith and others compose the bishop's cabinet. Drs. F. G. Simmons, J. A. Hadley, H. V. Booth, J. Frank McDonald and Marta Baldwin represent The Christian Recorder, of Philadelphia; The Voice of Missions, of New York; The Southern Recorder, of Columbus; The African Methodist, of Georgia, and The Western Recorder, of Kansas City, respectively.

This is the last of six annual conferences of the denomination in the state, all of which have been most satisfactory.

JUDGE KINNEBREW DIES AT HOSPITAL IN ATHENS

Athens, Ga., December 9.—(Special.)—Judge R. C. Kinnebrew, born in Greene county just eighty-one years ago, died at the local hospital here last night after an illness of several weeks. He was a lawyer and teacher and for many years was the United States commissioner for this section, many famous cases having passed under his preliminary scrutiny.

The funeral will be held this morning and took charge of the funeral arrangements—the services to be held tomorrow. Judge Kinnebrew is survived by his wife and one little daughter, about six years of age.

Accepts Call to Winder.

Lexington, Ga., December 9.—(Special.)—Rev. W. H. Faust preached his farewell sermon at the Sandy Run Baptist church here last Sunday morning to a large and attentive audience. This is one of the four churches composing his pastorate. He was instrumental in its organization, and during the short history of the church over two hundred new members have been received, and more than a thousand dollars per year contributed to various purposes.

Rev. Faust takes charge of the First Baptist church of Winder, one of the strongest churches in northeast Georgia.

PULLETS ARE LAYING; EGGS WILL BE CHEAPER

Government Says That the Young Hens Have Begun to Do Their Duty.

Washington, December 9.—Relief from the prohibitive egg prices is in sight, experts of the department of agriculture announce in a special report on the subject, because pullets all over the country have begun to lay. Information reaching the department is to the effect that already poultry owners are reporting a 50 per cent egg production.

The experts declare the change of heart on the part of the aristocrats of the barnyard is not due to the threatened egg boycott, but to natural conditions.

Explanation of the shortage of last fall, they say, dates back to weather conditions of last spring and summer. "Investigation of weather conditions," says the report, "shows that the spring was unusually wet and cold, which set back the laying development of the pullets; and the unusual drought of July further postponed the laying period, because both of these weather conditions affect the food supply of the pullets. The pullets that normally begin to lay in the fall have not commenced their laying until about a month later than the usual fall laying season."

Unless extreme cold weather should intervene this pullet egg supply should now continue, says the report, and bring with it a gradual reduction in egg prices.

Representative McKellar, of Tennessee, author of a bill charging the cold storage "egg kings" with responsibility for high prices, assailed the department of agriculture today for its statement relating to prices.

"I regret exceedingly," said Mr. McKellar, "that the department of agriculture, the day after it made an argument in the house in an attempt to aid the American people in maintaining their food supply at a lower price, should have published a report which apparently is an effort of the department to whitewash the cold storage men and belittle my efforts.

"I personally asked the department for information as to how the production of eggs for 1913 compared with production of preceding years, and was informed it did not have any information. It is certainly an interesting query as to how the department got the inside statistics on the action of the pullets of the country for the last two weeks. Evidently the pullets have talked more lately than the packers have done."

MUSCOGEE SHERIFF ARRESTS SLAYER IN HARRIS COUNTY

Columbus, Ga., December 9.—(Special.)—With a shotgun loaded with buckshot, J. E. Melton, aged about 30 years, shot and killed Mans Teal, aged 35 and married, at Jackson's Mill, in Harris county, Georgia, this afternoon about 4 o'clock. Melton later surrendered himself to Sheriff Beard, of Muscogee county, and is in jail here tonight.

Soon after the killing, Sheriff Beard received a telephone message from Goat Rock, near the scene of the killing, asking him to go there at once and get Melton, as further trouble was feared, although it was outside of his county. It was stated that communication with the sheriff of Harris county could not be established and the Muscogee sheriff left immediately for the scene. He met Melton in the custody of W. A. Cannon, and Melton was turned over to him.

According to the story of Melton he shot Teal in self-defense, as Teal had drawn a revolver and was in the act of firing on him when he (Melton) fired, killing Teal immediately. The trouble is of a years standing, the two men having had at least three difficulties previous to this afternoon.

Elam Christian Dies; Owned Many Papers Throughout Georgia

Marietta, Ga., December 9.—(Special.) Elam Christian died here this morning in his 76th year. He had been in failing health for some months. He was known over a great part of the state having owned at one time or another some twenty or more different newspapers. He had been engaged in newspaper work at Dalton, Cartersville, Acworth, Macon, Tallapoosa, Atlanta, Douglasville, Sparta and numerous other towns in Georgia. He was, too, in the early sixties drillmaster of the confederate troops at Big Shanty and was present when the "General" was taken from that place.

His funeral occurs Wednesday morning at the home here on Atlanta street and the burial will be in Acworth at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Christian leaves a wife and seven children.

CLOSE FINISH EXPECTED IN ELECTION AT DALTON

Dalton, Ga., December 9.—(Special.) Predictions that there will not be more than 100 votes difference between the mayoralty candidates, R. R. Bowen and W. E. Wood, in the city election here tomorrow are freely made today. The race for chief of police between J. F. Pincher and A. E. White appears also to be close.

In addition to mayor and police chief, four of the eight wards will elect councilmen.

J. T. REDDICK IS DEAD; OLDEST ENGINEER IN GA.

Macon, Ga., December 9.—(Special.) The oldest railroad engineer in Georgia in point of service died here today. He was J. T. Reddick, who became a regular engineer with the Central of Georgia at the age of 19 years and served in that capacity for forty-six years. He was widely known among railroad men.

TO WED ON ANNIVERSARY OF PARENTS OF THE BRIDE

Perry, Ga., December 9.—(Special.)—The wedding of Miss Edna P. Hodges and Mr. Thomas D. Mason, which will occur on the 21st day of January, 1914, will be on the thirty-fifth marriage anniversary of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hodges. The marriage ceremony will be performed by the same minister who performed the ceremony of the bride's parents, namely, Rev. John B. McGehee.

Dawson Welcomes Pastor.

Dawson, Ga., December 9.—(Special.) Rev. Thomas M. Callaway, who was called to serve the Baptist church in this city some weeks ago, entered upon his pastoral duties last week and occupied his pulpit Sunday morning and evening for the first time and delivered two most excellent and admirable sermons. There was no preaching in any of the other churches here Sunday evening and all the congregations of the city attended the services at the Baptist church, thus filling the spacious auditorium, a compliment to the new pastor who has entered so auspiciously on his work in this community. It is a source of profound regret to all the members of the Baptist church in Jackson will no longer continue to live here where he has resided for the past three years as presiding elder of this district.

Jonesboro Councilmen.

Jonesboro, Ga., December 9.—(Special.)—At an election held here last week, S. T. Manson, G. D. Medlock and here were only 45 of the 84 registered votes polled. There was no contest and hence very little excitement over the election.

W. F. Reeves were elected members of the city council. They will qualify on the second Monday evening in January next, for a term of two years.

HUERTA, THE MAN.

Crudeness in diplomacy, braggadocio in utterance, futility in action. Those qualities seem to summarize Huerta, the provisional president of Mexico, whose remarkable stand against the force of adverse events seems now to be reaching its final stages with preparation of flight from the capital. In a recent issue of The Fortnightly Review Edwin Emerson, a war correspondent, who has had the opportunity to study Huerta personally, contributes a careful analysis of his life and character. To all intents and purposes, Mr. Emerson is impartial, and certainly his sources for information cannot be excelled. From his reckoning it is easily to be deduced that Huerta missed his calling, and that an excellent scientist and maker of military maps was spoiled in an indifferent general and an execrable executive. It is illuminating that Mr. Emerson should have compressed into the personality of this one Mexican practically all the virtues and vices of the Mexican people.

Huerta graduated from the military academy of Chapultepec at the age of 21 years and was commissioned a second lieutenant of engineers. At the academy he distinguished himself chiefly for prowess in mathematics and astronomy. His one real achievement, it appears, was the organization of the present Mexican army staff corps, for which he drew the plans, and in the materialization of which he had the sanction of Porfirio Diaz. From then onward his career was a blend of activity against roving Indians and bandits, of the mapping of military maps and of fugitive military expeditions. Throughout the rebellions which raged under the latter years of Diaz's rule Huerta was frequently delegated in positions of more or less responsibility. Invariably, he failed to demonstrate brilliant military ability, being distinguished more by cruelty and steadiness than constructive tactical capacity. Mr. Emerson is at pains to show that Huerta can hardly be criticised for lack of military genius, since his experience in the field has been limited to campaigns in which he had little opportunity to develop resourcefulness. Even when these openings came he proved arbitrary, boastful and was given to discounting the strength of the enemy.

The attitude of Huerta toward the United States is interesting as explaining his lack of perspective, and his failure to appreciate the abyss toward which he has long been drifting. This attitude Mr. Emerson gives in the following impromptu speech made by Huerta in an informal conviviality, Mr. Emerson himself being an auditor:

"I am not afraid of Mexico. Why should I be? No army Mexican need be afraid of the Gringoes. If it had not been for the treachery of President Santa Ana, who sold himself to the United States in 1847, we should have beaten the Yankees then, as we surely shall beat them next time. Let them cross the Rio Bravo. We will send them back with bloody noses. The Mexicans need not be afraid of any foreign nation. Did we not beat the Spaniards? Did we not aid beat the French, and the Austrians, and the Heligians, and all the other foreign adventurers who came with Maximillian? In the same way we would have beaten the Gringoes had we had a fair chance at them. The Texans who beat Santa Ana at San Jacinto, you must know, were not Gringoes, but brother Mexicans, of whom we have reason to be proud. To my mind, there are only two real nations in the world, besides our old Aztec nation. Those nations are England and Japan. All the others cannot properly be called nations, least of all the United States, which is a mere hodge-podge of other nations. One of these days England and Japan and Mexico will get together, and after that there will be an end to the United States."

From this array of characteristics the man possessing ordinary logic will see that Huerta in his adventure with the governing of Mexico was doomed from the start. It is questionable if he would have made any more substantial headway had he been given the moral backing of this government.

Incidentally, Mr. Emerson's unsparing analysis of Huerta finally dissipates the original impression that we were dealing with a "strong man." His strength seems to be obstinacy, and his genius egotism.

THE SALVATION ARMY.

The Christmas appeal of the Salvation Army comes this year to the people of Atlanta under particularly happy auspices. The city itself is prosperous, reflecting in its affluence the conditions that range Georgia, this year near the national pinnacle of returns for work done and effort put forth. We are able to give and we should give to a cause that represents the practical philanthropy that this one does.

It is true that the initial appeal of the Salvation Army is addressed to the purpose of providing for the poor at Yuletide something of that cheer which is their natural inheritance, but which adverse fortune shuts off from them. But the work of the organization, and the fund that is now sought to be fed by public subscription, is of a year-round description and a year-round need.

What the Salvation Army has done and does in the line of fighting destitution and putting moral and physical cripples on their feet hardly needs elaboration. In Atlanta it has proved its usefulness many times over. There can be no doubt that it has contributed its quota of rehabilitated lives to the community and effected material economies by restoring derelicts to productiveness.

What the people of Atlanta may give to this excellent machine for charity may be contributed in the full knowledge that it will be wisely and beneficently expended.

A WORLD HERO.

Millions of people who never heard his name and greater millions yet unborn will be indebted to Lieutenant Colonel David Gaillard for the manner in which he lived and the manner in which he died. Colonel Gaillard, a South Carolinian by birth, was the army engineer who superintended the excavation of Culebra cut on the Panama canal. When it is said that this labor was the most gigantic of those labors of Hercules which have characterized the construction of the waterway, the achievement of Colonel Gaillard is seen in its proper proportion. He died the other day at a hospital in Baltimore, literally a martyr to the progress of civilization. Surgeons say that the growth in his head from which death finally resulted was the result of arduous overwork on the isthmus, complicated with the tropical climate. By tragic happening, he died without knowing that his life efforts had been crowned with success by the blowing up of the Gamboa dike, which united the two oceans.

In the earlier part of the excavation at Culebra, Colonel Gaillard had to contend with obstacles that a man of lesser courage would have found insuperable. Unexpected slides crashed hundreds of tons of earth into the cut, obliterating the accomplishment of weeks and burying engines and apparatus. Time and again calculations wrought out with painstaking effort were upset in a twinkling and had to be done all over again.

The change in world trade and the vast era of development that will follow the opening of the canal will be attributable as much to the energy and the sacrifice of such men as Gaillard as to the enterprise and wealth of the American people. It is estimated that by his economies in management and in his own personal exertions outside of the precise duties assigned him, he saved the government $17,000,000. The south should cherish the deeds of a man who figured instrumentally in so monumental an epoch in history. Congress will probably show its appreciation in tangible form by voting his widow not only a year's salary of the late husband, but also a substantial pension. He shares with Goethals the glory of the canal.

WILSON'S DIPLOMACY.

President Wilson handled with admirable tact the request delegation from the American National Woman's Suffrage association which waited on him with the request that he make the issue of their organization the subject of a special message to congress.

What he told them, in effect, was that he did not feel justified in approaching congress upon any measure, save of an emergency nature like the Mexican situation, which had not been embodied as a national political issue, or as such figured at an election. He extended distinct encouragement, however, when he said he favored a standing woman's suffrage committee for the house of representatives.

The president could hardly have granted the request made of him without diminishing his usefulness, in a sensible degree, and without needlessly offending leaders of all parties. It is true that the cause of woman's suffrage has become more than a propaganda. But it has not yet crystallized sufficiently, in a national sense, to warrant a president's exertion of his powers in its behalf. Antagonism here and there is still bitter. Progress must still be of the persuasive and not of the radical type.

In the long run, the advocates of the principle of equal suffrage will respect the president the more for his candor. In pointing the way to further educative agitation he has helped rather than hindered their cause.

Mrs. Pankhurst's jail record is, "in ag'in, out ag'in, gone ag'in!"

Once in a great while that $40,000 Nobel prize goes to a poet, but even all that money doesn't stop him.

Cole Blease has his eye on the senate, but at the distance he is from it there's no actual harm done.

In spite of the optimistic poets there are Christmas trees that will be in hard lines unless Miss Charity gets busy.

Don't believe that the $20,000 Mrs. Pankhurst made on her lecturing tour will be invested in bombs to blow up the government.

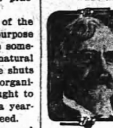
Just From Georgia

By FRANK L. STANTON

A Wayside Citizen.

I.

Office never came my way—it's not the thing I care for;
Not all the folks in congress can tell you what they're there for;



They build their heads a little high and try to look collected;
They draw their pay when counted the day and talk when it's expected.

II.

I wasn't born to lift my voice an audience to tire;
No deeds of mine like beacons shine to set the world on fire;
And on a search for mighty men—whenever they begin it,
Though they should roam the wide world o'er they'd never know I'm in it!

II.

I'm just a wayside citizen in humble pathways going;
And when I am not at my toil I watch the country growing;
And many a statesman, fallen far from heights of vain endeavor
Would envy me the joy of life—the peace that lives forever.

DISTRACTING NOISES No. 10

He Told Him All.

"Excuse me, sir," said the seedy one in the hotel lobby, "but though a stranger to me your face seems familiar. Have you any relatives in Atlanta?"

"Not one," was the reply. "Years ago I floated down the Chattahoochee river on a raft, leaving all my relatives behind; the raft was wrecked in a storm and I had to swim ashore, with a 40-pound catfish in tow. I traded the fish for a square meal; put an ad in the 'lost' column, recovered my wrecked raft and started a lumber yard. You can buy me a beer at the bar on the left; here's the price."

In the Growling Land.

In summer you were growling when fire-brands were buried;
When the central sun, remorseless, set fire to the world;
When the lilies they were wilting and the violets drooped dead,
And where the gardens glimmered the rose was burned to red.

And 'twas "O, for icy weather!
Heaven send a winter day,
With the roaring of a blizzard-wind
To blow the world away!"

But now, when Winter answers your fervid summer prayer,
You cuddle close to sunbeams, in valleys of despair;
And it's "Lord, send the Summer, with fire-flags unfurled,
Till all the sky is crimsoned with the flame that burns the world!"

And it's "O, for blasting weather!"—
That's the way it goes;
And what would please a storming world
There's not an angel knows!

A Story of the Moment

PREPARING FOR COMPANY

"Our telephone is out of commission," said Mrs. Jamesworthy, "and when you get down town I wish you'd do some errands for me. The Daughters of Delilah are to meet here this afternoon, and of course I'll have to serve refreshments, so please go to the candy store and order five gallons of ice cream. Then go to the baker's and tell him to send out eight pounds of those little wafers. Tell him I want the same kind he sent me two years ago, when I entertained the Sassy Sisterhood. Then go to the florist—"

"I'll be hanged if I'll go to the florist," replied Jamesworthy. "If the old hens who are coming to this house to waste their time must have flowers, let them blow themselves. I'll stand for a reasonable quantity of ice cream, but I draw the line there, Mrs. Jamesworthy. If you can't entertain a bunch of frowsy old delegates without running me in debt up to the scaly tank, you'd better call off the whole business, and let the delegates entertain themselves.

"It's a surprising thing that women can't have a meeting of any sort unless they are supplied with expensive refreshments. If men consider it necessary to assemble for any given purpose they never think of ordering ice cream or angel food. Their minds are on the business they are meeting for, and there's no thought of refreshments unless one gentleman treats or he has a cigar, while another has a match. The fact that women can't hold successful meetings unless they have something to eat argues against their usefulness in politics or public life. Before long we'll be having women judges and I tremble to think of the dignity of our courts when the female jurors begin sending word to the judge that they can't agree on a verdict unless they have three quarts of pineapple ice cream, and two pounds of caramels.

"This whole idea of refreshments at social gatherings is extravagant folly and should be denounced by press and pulpit. It's a modern innovation, and is part of the scheme of American housewives to send their husbands to the poorhouse by the shortest route. I don't object to simple, inexpensive refreshments. Instead of sending to the baker for three bushels of his blamed old wafers, whatever they are, you could take up a batch of old-fashioned cookies, if you had an ounce of initiative. And when we come down to bronze tacks, Mrs. Jamesworthy, the old-fashioned cookies, as made by our departed grandmothers, are a hundred per cent better than anything the baker turns out.

"I remember quite well how my mother entertained company in the halcyon days. There were no 'five o'clube in those days. The women of a neighborhood assembled once in a while, but always for some safe and sane purpose. Most of the women made their own quilts in those days, and the quilting bee was a popular diversion. The women sat around a large framework, sewing on the quilt, and as they worked they engaged in helpful and uplifting conversation. We had such jamborees at our house on many occasions, and when the beldames had worked for two or three hours mother would go to the kitchen and come back with a big dish of apples, or peradventure a cake that she made with her little hands.

"The idea of sending out for nectar and ambrosia, and ice cream and wafers, never occurred to her, and when the festivities were ended, and the females had departed, there was no painful vacuum in the family stronghold. It makes my heart ache to think of the way our mothers used to run things, and contrast their methods with those of present day wives. So, as I remarked, I'll buy the ice cream, but—"

"You don't need to buy anything," said Mrs. Jamesworthy, severely. "I'll see if I can't use the telephone next door, and order what I need myself."

But why go to all the trouble and fuss in the house, and you can readily understand how comfortable they are. The World's Mysteries

WHAT BECAME OF A. T. STEWART'S BODY?

When Alexander T. Stewart died on April 10, 1876, in New York city, he was reckoned one of the richest merchants in the United States, very well known for his many works of charity during his lifetime and his liberal patronage of art. He was seventy-three years of age and his wealth was estimated to be at least $40,000,000. His real estate alone was assessed at $5,460,000, which did not include property valued at more than $600,000, on which the taxes were paid by the tenants.

The aggregate of his sales in his two great stores in New York during the last three years of his life was upward of two hundred million dollars, and he was commonly recognized as the richest and most powerful merchant in the country. He died without children or blood relatives in this country, bequeathing the bulk of his estate to his widow, and one million dollars to Henry Hilton as executor of his will. In the great funeral procession that followed his remains to their burial place there appeared a multitude of the most eminent Americans of the day. He was buried in St. Mark's churchyard, New York city.

One morning in November, 1878, or about two years and a half after the body of the millionaire had been entombed, the late Judge Hilton walked into the office of the New York police department and informed them that the grave had been rifled. It was apparent that in the course of the autumn there had been some tampering with it, and that Judge Hilton had caused the slab which rested upon the grave to be removed to another place, and then, shrewdly, as he believed, had the words cut on the slab "A. T. Stewart" family vault."

The knowledge that this had been done was confined to four persons. But so well planned had been the operation of the ghouls that they not only knew where the body was, but had made their excavations with almost mathematical precision. Three flagstands to the poorhouse by the shortest route. I don't object to simple, inexpensive refreshments. In the great funeral procession that followed his remains to their burial place there appeared a multitude of the most eminent Americans of the day. He was buried in St. Mark's churchyard, New York city.

One morning in November, 1878, or about two years and a half after the body of the millionaire had been entombed, the late Judge Hilton walked into the office of the New York police department and informed them that the grave had been rifled. It was apparent that in the course of the autumn there had been some tampering with it, and that Judge Hilton had caused the slab which rested upon the grave to be removed to another place, and then, shrewdly, as he believed, had the words cut on the slab "A. T. Stewart family vault."

The knowledge that this had been done was confined to four persons. But so well planned had been the operation of the ghouls that they not only knew where the body was, but had made their excavations with almost mathematical precision. Three flagstones covered the entrance to the vault; the earth had been dug down to within a hair's breadth of the side of the central stone—it was undoubtedly the work of shrewd men.

When Mr. Stewart died his body was so emaciated that it was supposed to weigh no more than eighty pounds. It had been placed in a coffin covered with black cloth and fringed with gold braiding, and this coffin rested in a leaden case, which, in its turn, was inclosed in an outer box. From the Hilton had been unscrewed, the leaden case was cut through and the inner coffin opened. It was supposed that the thieves had deposited the corpse in a sack and carried it off in a wagon.

Nobody had seen them; they had chosen a rainy night for the deed, and it was not until several hours after daylight that the discovery was made. They had left behind them, only a newspaper, an iron shovel, a small bull's eye lantern and a pile of fresh earth. But it seemed impossible that the ghastly plunder could be carried through the streets of the city or concealed without detection, for, that, if it had been taken out of New York, it could have been transported across the ferries or reburied without exciting suspicion somewhere or leading to a sure clew.

Judge Hilton declined to make overtures for the surrender of the body; he declared that he would not be blackmailed, and within twenty-five days after the grave was robbed it was returned with the condition that the sum should not only be for the body, but for information that would lead to the detection of the persons who committed the outrage.

Mr. Hilton counselled Mrs. Stewart not to compound a felony, and when the widow, who said to have been terribly affected by the blow, followed this advice during the next years the mystery of her husband's body. Some time later there were clandestine hints of negotiations with the ghouls, who were said to be in Chicago.

A vague impression was allowed to gain ground that the body had been recovered and that it had been placed in the vault of the beautiful cathedral at Garden City, L. I. But there was never any proof of these assertions, and what became of the body or who stole it, is still a mystery.

CROQUETTES.

"Croquettes are any minced meat simply mixed with a thick sauce, then shaped, breaded and fried in deep fat," says the cook.

Very plain, helpful directions are found for making them in the Century cook book: "Any kind of cooked meat, fish and some kinds of vegetables may be served as croquettes. They may be plain, using one kind of meat alone, or richer combinations may be made by adding mushrooms, tuna or sweetbreads."

The rule for sauce given below is always the same. The croquettes should be very creamy inside and fried a golden brown outside; then, served on a napkin and usually garnished with parsley or a little cress.

Sauce for any croquette mixture: Scald one cup of milk, or cream. In a double boiler put a tablespoon of butter to a paste with two tablespoons of flour and add it to the hot milk. Cook until thick, season with salt and pepper. An egg may be added if desired, but may as well be omitted.

To this amount of sauce add two cups of finely chopped or ground meat. Pour on a flat dish and set in cooler to harden. In about two hours it will be stiff enough to mold.

Now take a tablespoon of the mixture and roll it to a ball in the palms of the hands; have a plentiful supply of sifted bread crumbs at hand. Shape the ball into a cylindrical form and roll in the crumbs. Put to one side and so continue until all the croquettes are shaped, then dip one in beaten egg and again roll in the crumbs. Every part must be entirely coated; if there is an opening the grease will creep in.

If a smooth croquette is wanted cracker crumbs are used in place of bread crumbs.

Fish and lobster croquettes are usually stamped out with a cutter shaped like a chop and after they are fried a lobster claw is inserted in the pointed end for a garnish.

I have said if it is possible to make croquettes without frying them in deep fat. It is, after a fashion. The bread crumbs must be melted butter and after the croquettes are rolled in them, and egged and rolled again, they are placed on a wire rack in a very hot oven for about fifteen minutes or until evenly browned.

Olive oil or any frying oil may be used in the place of butter. Croquettes baked in this way are much easier to digest than those fried. However, we have learned that articles immersed in deep hot fat have a hard coating quickly formed on the outside that is impervious to the grease so that the interior is not richer than food cooked by other means.

If the fat used is pure, fried foods are not injurious to well persons, providing the frying is done quickly and the food well drained.

Brown sauce, tomato, cream, mushroom and Bechamel sauces are all used on croquettes.

FAVORITE RECIPES OF DISTINGUISHED WOMEN

By MRS. ROBERT L. HENRY
Wife of Congressman Henry, of Texas

An old time favorite of mine is what I call macaroon pudding. It is what most people know as cabinet pudding. It makes a perfectly delicious dessert and is quite elaborate enough to answer for any meal.

It is made in the following manner:

Macaroon Pudding.

6 eggs, 1 1-2 dozen macaroons, 1 cupful sherry wine, 6 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons raisins, 1 cupful pecans, 1 small bottle of Maraschino cherries.

Dissolve the gelatine in one cupful of cold water and afterward beat until completely dissolved. Beat the yolks of the eggs and the sugar, grown and add to the wine and boil until thick, stirring constantly. Let this stand until cool.

Beat the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth and mix by adding alternately whites and gelatine. Into this mixture stir gently the crumbled macaroons, mixed with the nuts and cherries.

Pour into a mold and when set turn out of the mold onto a platter and serve with whipped cream, garnishing liberally with the cherries.

Five pounds of honey from Nemingha, Tamworth, Australia, arrived in London in a condition that is quite as satisfactory as the trial shipment from the same proprietor last year.

CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA.

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, is the metropolis of the Cedar river, Lynn county and the R. C. I. & N. Railroad. It was originally founded by people who got tired of waiting for the northbound train on the Decorah branch and has now accumulated 32,000 people—a fact which is regarded with scornful frenzy by its neighbor, Waterloo.

Cedar Rapids is a model American city with winding, parklike suburbs, infant skyscrapers, a new hotel and a commercial club which sleeps standing up. The principal ward for half the corn and oats grown in northern Iowa. It turns the corn into starch and the oats into breakfast food. The leading breakfast food factory in Cedar Rapids displaces as much sky-line as the Rock of Gibraltar, and a mere look at it gives one an overfed sensation.

The people of Cedar Rapids are prosperous, enterprising and Bohemian. This does not mean that they sit around in cellars eating cheap table d'hote washed down with red ink. They were born Bohemian—at least 10,000 of them were. Cedar Rapids takes the raw Bohemian, straightens the kinks out of him and successfully transforms him in a few years into the owner of a bungalow, a foreman in the starch mill and an upholder of the commission form of government.

The people of Cedar Rapids are kind hospitable. They lie in wait around the North-western depot with automobiles, and when they capture a stranger they show him the park system, the home of the local P. D. Armour, the Carnegie library, the new building, the Masonic Library, the local college, the island upon which the city government is going to retreat in case the North-side and South side dispute, the only steamboat in captivity on the Cedar river and the Country club. Taking a visitor out to the country club and watching him try to drive a ball over an 80-foot sand cliff is a favorite diversion in Cedar Rapids.

All of the foregoing tends to show that Cedar Rapids has everything to be found in "The people of Cedar Rapids are also hospitable."

PRAISE.

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

The most natural thing in the world is for a person to frighten up and to be lifted up within themselves by praise. Praise given them face to face. But there is a higher method of Praise than that face to face Praise and that is Praise for an individual given to his Friends or to people who don't know him.

When you want to Encourage a man, Encourage him by speaking well of him to other people.

We are all semi-slaves to custom and precedent, so that it has become a second nature for us almost unknowingly to Praise people unjustly and insincerely to their faces. But the Praise that comes from the heart comes back with glorious reality in the Praise that you honestly start right out from your heart about somebody to somebody else.

When you want to Encourage a man, Encourage him by speaking well of him to other people.

Sincere Praise is an inspiration to any man. It is a thing demanded by every human soul. Even the child responds to it instantly. The employee justly Praised for his good work increases his efficiency for that place. A noble piece of work well wrought, demands and deserves Honest Praise. Half of the benefits back of effort is inspired by the future vision of Genuine Praise. But—

When you want to Encourage a man, Encourage him by speaking well of him to other people.

"DRY" LEGIONS TO STORM CAPITOL

Mighty Prohibition Demonstration Today in Washington--Prohi Amendment to Constitution Wanted.

Washington, December 9.—Prohibitionforces from all over the country are gathered in Washington tonight, ready for a mighty demonstration tomorrow before the national capitol. More than two thousand men and women, representing the Anti-Saloon league of America and the Woman's Christian Temperance union, will march in separate bodies to the capitol, bearing petitions demanding that national prohibition be effected by constitutional amendment.

Disagreement as to the part each organization should play in the presentation of the petitions threatened today to cause a split in the temperance forces, but it was said tonight that all differences had been smoothed out, and that there would be no friction. As a result, the committee of one thousand men, representing the Anti-Saloon league forces, will be received at the capitol first, after which they will withdraw and the women will make their plea.

Brigadier General A. S. Daggett will act as grand marshal of the men's procession, while the women will be headed by Mrs. Lillian M. Stevens, of Maine, president general of the W. C. T. U.

At East Front of Capitol.

The demonstration will take place at 6 o'clock at the east front of the capital. There Representative Hobson, of Alabama, author of the proposed constitutional amendment, will receive the petitions on behalf of the house of representatives, while Senator Morris Sheppard, of Texas, will act for the senate.

Addresses will be made on behalf of the committee of one thousand by Ernest H. Cherrington, of Westerville, Ohio, editor of the official organ of the anti-Saloon league, and by former Governor M. R. Patterson, of Tennessee. Afterwards the reason for a constitutional amendment from the woman's standpoint will be presented by Mrs. Ella A. Boole, of Brooklyn, N. Y., president of the New York state W. C. T. U., and Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, of Georgia.

Plans for the demonstration were inaugurated at a meeting recently at Columbus, Ohio of the Anti-Saloon league of America, when resolutions in favor of national prohibition were adopted and the committee of one thousand appointed to urge congress to adopt the proposed constitutional amendment.

Amendment is Drafted.

A subcommittee tonight completed the draft of a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution. Representative Hobson and Senator Sheppard will, it is understood, introduce the resolution in the two houses of congress tomorrow.

The preamble recites that "exact scientific research has demonstrated that alcohol is a narcotic poison, destructive and degenerating to the human organism, and that its distribution as a beverage or contained in food lays a staggering economic burden upon the shoulders of the people, lowers to an appalling degree the average standard of character of our citizenship, thereby undermining the public morals and the foundation of free institutions, produces widespread crime, pauperism and insanity, inflicts disease and untimely death upon hundreds of thousands of citizens and blights with degeneracy their children unborn, threatening the future integrity and the very life of the nation."

The resolution would propose a constitutional amendment to forever prohibit the sale, manufacture for sale, transportation for sale, importation for sale and exportation for sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes, but empowering congress to provide for the manufacture, sale, importation and transportation of intoxicating liquors for sacramental, medicinal and other purposes.

ELLERY'S BAND LAUDED.

Nashville Likes Organization Which Plays Here Friday.

Enthusiastic reports have come from Nashville in regard to the reception given the Ellery band there last week. This noted organization, which comes to Atlanta Friday for a week's engagement under the auspices of the Music Festival association, has just closed a three days' series of concerts in Nashville. This was the first opportunity in more than eleven years that the people of this city had been given to hear Ellery's band, and their playing, under Director A. D. Williamson, provoked such enthusiasm among the listeners as is not often witnessed at any concert.

Negro's Sentence Fixed At 15 Days to Let Him Be Free Christmas Day

Palmer Peas, the negro prisoner who hasn't spent a Christmas out of prison in twenty-seven years, and who was released from jail by Judge Calhoun recently in order that Palmer might spend at least one Christmas in freedom, in "in again."

Judge Broyles sent him up from police court yesterday afternoon. Palmer, elated over his Christmas prospects, had been brought to headquarters a muchly intoxicated person. He appealed thusly to the recorder when his case was called:

"Judge, I was wantin' to spend this Christmas outa jail—now, I'm in again. If you'll fix things so I can be a free nigger Christmas day, I'll give you my word 'n honor 'fore Gawd that I'll not even drink eggnog."

"Very well, Palmer," said the judge. "I'll fix things. Let's see! It's sixteen days before Christmas. I'll make your sentence up to Christmas eve so you won't have time to get drunk and arrested before Christmas. Fifteen days."

"Thanks, judge," replied Palmer, "that's all I wanted. Them fifteen day'll keep me out of meanness till Christmas."

DIVORCE CASE GROWS OUT OF LEE WILL SUIT

The Lee will hearing case, on in superior court, will probably end today.

The case, which has already brought out several sensational incidents, is based on the charge of Mrs. Larue Mizell, daughter of the late Mrs. Emma G. Lee, against her two sisters, in which she alleges that her sisters hold a fraudulent will. An estate valued at about $50,000 is involved in the litigation.

One of the most peculiar features of the case, which was given to be a pure by-product of the main case was the divorce petition filed in the superior court on Tuesday by Mrs. Mary Henderson against her husband, J. C. Henderson, an engineer of the Terry laundry.

Mrs. Henderson avers in her divorce affidavit that, besides cruel and inhuman treatment suffered during the past two years, when she was summoned as a witness in the Lee will hearing, on November 12, her husband strenuously objected. When she testified at the hearing on November 27, she avers her husband, who remained at home, had a violent outbreak of temper and threw all of her clothes into the street.

Judge John T. Pendleton granted Mrs. Henderson an exeat and placed Henderson under $500 bond not to leave the state. Judge Pendleton is also hearing the Lee will case.

BEAUTY OPENS BATTLE AGAINST WHITE PLAGUE

Atlanta Girls Will Sell Red Cross Seals to Obtain the Sinews of War.

The sale of Red Cross Christmas seals opens today.

And every day from now until December 25, Sundays included, the sales will be pushed vigorously, with the view of establishing a record for Atlanta with the disposal of one million of the seals.

Mrs. C. H. Booth will have charge of the opening day sales, and she has secured the volunteer services of fifty to seventy-five most attractive young ladies.

Mrs. Hugh M. Willet, as general chairman, has named chairmen for each day of the sales and each chairman will select her own committees of fifty to seventy-five of Atlanta's most attractive girls and matrons to do the actual selling.

Below is the complete list of chairmen for the thirteen selling days between now and Christmas:

Wednesday, December 10—Mrs. C. H. Booth.

Thursday, December 11—Mrs. Luther Rosser, Jr., and Mrs. J. D. Palmer.

Friday, December 12—Mrs. John M. Cooper and Mrs. R. N. Boykin.

Saturday, December 13—Mrs. D. R. Hoote.

Monday, December 15—Mrs. Leon Grossman.

Tuesday, December 15—Mrs. A. C. McHan.

Wednesday, December 17—Mrs. W. W. Martin.

Thursday, December 18—Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin, City Federation.

Friday, December 19—Daughters of the Confederacy, Miss Mary Griffith, president.

Monday, December 22—Miss Jerome Jones.

Tuesday, December 23—To be announced.

Wednesday, December 24—The Boy Scouts.

COLUMBUS TO HOLD ELECTION TODAY ON COMMISSION RULE

Columbus, Ga., December 9.—(Special.)—Great interest is felt, not only locally but through the state, in the election which will be held here tomorrow to determine whether the city of Columbus will adopt the commission form of government. Government by commission has been advocated in a desultory sort of way in various Georgia cities for some time. In Columbus, one of the largest cities in the state, the issue has now come squarely up and is to be decided by the election tomorrow.

Both the advocates of commission government and the other side are well organized, and a campaign that opened rather listlessly has closed with plenty of fire. Public meetings have been held under the auspices of the recently organized Greater Columbus club, which is opposed to commission government under the proposed charter, and last night a large mass meeting was held at the courthouse and addressed by advocates of commission government. J. R. Hornady, of Birmingham, who has been prominent as an advocate of commission government in Alabama cities, was the principal speaker, and addresses were made by several prominent Columbus citizens.

A majority of the vote cast will decide the issue. Both sides are working hard and election day will be marked with much more spirit than was indicated a week or two ago. The afternoon newspaper favors commission government, and the morning newspaper, although committed to the general principle of commission government, is opposed to it under the present bill. Numbers of advocates of commission government take the same position, claiming that there are serious defects in the proposed city charter.

TECH NIGHT SCHOOL WILL OPEN WINTER TERM THIS EVENING

Tonight will witness the opening of the winter term of the night school of the Georgia School of Technology. The term will begin with the largest attendance in the history of the school and applications for enrollment are still coming in. Although the term begins tonight, the enrollment and registration will continue throughout Thursday, and all who have not yet made arrangements to attend the school and are still desirous of entering should make application at once.

The class rooms will be open to students at 7:15 p. m. Instruction begins at 7:30 and ends at 9:30 p. m. The school is in session Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays.

The expense to a student of the night school is nominal, being fixed by a contingent fee of $5 per term, to help defray the actual cost of lighting and heat. The courses include architecture, mechanical drawing, electrical engineering, woodwork, carpentry and joinery, foundry practice, machine shop, mechanical engineering, mathematics, chemistry and English.

THOMASVILLE MAY HAVE NEW A., B. & A. STATION

Thomasville, Ga., December 9.—(Special.)—That a new Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad will erect a new depot on its property here is a rumor that, while not authoritatively confirmed, is current here. This road owns part of the land on which the old Piney Woods hotel recently stood, just across from its present depot site, and it is on this property that report has it the new depot will be built.

Several prominent officials of the road were here some days ago and since then engineers have been here looking over the property, and making estimates of the probable cost of a depot. That the intention is to build seems certain, the only question in doubt is whether a freight depot will be built first or whether the present station will be turned into a freight depot and a new passenger one erected.

KAPPA ALPHAS MEET.

Will Hold Smoker Thursday Night.

Ben Lee Crew, president of the Atlanta Alumni association of the Kappa Alpha fraternity, has issued invitations to all members of the fraternity in Atlanta to meet at 8 o'clock Thursday night at the University club for a smoker. Mr. Crew does not say who is giving the smoker, but it is announced as a free affair and a cordial invitation is given to all Kappa Alphas.

Plans will be discussed for the annual banquet of the association and there will be lots of other things to talk about that will be sure to interest members of the fraternity. The association is also making an effort to get the address of every member living in Atlanta.

COLD SNAP AT AN END, SAYS WEATHER MAN

The back of the cold snap has been broken. Today, while it will be entirely too chilly to wear light waists or go without a vest, yet the sun will do its best to warm the rather raw air and there will be little if any wind.

Tonight the thermometer may not drop below freezing and before Thursday is out, the weather may have again returned to summer temperature.

One thing Atlanta can rest assured of—that the entire south is suffering with her during this passing cold snap. Alabama and Tennessee, the Carolinas and Florida, all had a touch of "Jack" Frost, some of these states getting more than a mere touch—a few of them were literally splashed.

W. L. DIGBY ARRESTED FOR KILLING NEGRO

Cordele, Ga., December 9.—(Special.) W. L. Digby, a white man, charged with the murder of Henry Hunt, a negro farm hand, on the grounds of a carnival showing here during the week of November 10, was arrested yesterday at Dublin by Sheriff John Ward, of this county, returned to Cordele yesterday afternoon and lodged in the Crisp county jail. Several days after the killing the grand jury returned an indictment against Digby charging murder, though he claims to have shot the negro in self-defense. The bullet taking effect in the negro's head and causing instant death. Immediately Digby was the manager of a naval stores concern at Wenona, in this county.

BAPTISTS WILL GIVE FOR ORPHANS' HOME

Workers for the Baptist Orphans' home have asked that no Baptist in Georgia forget the institution on December 14, which has been named as "In-Gathering day." The institution has a debt of $12,000 and leaders among the workers for it have estimated that if every Baptist in Georgia gave his income for that day to the institution that the debt would be fully paid off.

All offerings will be sent to Dr. J. J. Bennet, in the Candler building, as soon as they are collected, is the announcement made by R. D. Hawkins, general manager.

$10.75 FINE IMPOSED ON ALDERMAN MADDOX

Alderman J. W. Maddox was fined $10.75 in police court yesterday morning for interfering with an officer, the charge of disorderly conduct growing out of an incident recently on Peachtree street, in which the city official had commanded the negro driver of one of his wagons to ignore the command of Policeman Dad Sorrells, to stop. The driver was fined $8.75. Both fines were paid.

THOMAS TRUCK GROWERS ORGANIZE ASSOCIATION

Thomasville, Ga., December 9.—(Special.)—Through the instrumentality of C. M. Killilan, president of the Killian Lumber company, the Thomas County Truck Growers' association has been organized with a number of the well-known farmers of the county as members.

A few days ago Mr. Killian met with things or more of the prominent farmers at the Fredonia schoolhouse, a few miles from town, and an organization was perfected with C. L. Heald, president, and H. L. Heald, secretary. A committee consisting of C. M. Killian, J. A. Chastain, J. L. Welch, E. A. Moreland and C. L. Heald, was appointed to work out the details of the organization and agree upon the acreage to be planted for trucking purposes. It is planned to erect a packing plant at the Cassady siding on the Atlanta Coast Line railroad, a few miles from town, and arrange facilities for the proper handling and shipping of truck.

ROYAL

The world-wide standard

Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

Royal Baking Powder is the embodiment of all the excellence possible to be attained in the highest class baking powder and its use is more economical than other leavening agents, because of the superlative quality and absolute wholesomeness of the food it makes.

Cheap baking powders, containing alum, are frequently distributed from door to door, or advertised as pure and wholesome. Such mixtures are not desirable for food ingredients. Most persons have learned to their sorrow that a low price does not always mean economy. This is especially so in a food article. No baking powder can properly be substituted for Royal.

Read the ingredient clause upon the label. If it does not show "Cream of Tartar," don't buy the powder.

Winship-Scott Wedding Beautiful Social Event

The marriage of Miss Emily Winship and Mr. Hugh Scott was a beautiful event of last night, centering the social interest in two popular members of the younger set.

The ceremony at 9 o'clock took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Winship, on Peachtree road, and was followed by a handsome reception.

Miss Ida Winship was her sister's maid of honor; Mrs. Milton Dargan, Jr., was matron of honor; Mr. Fort Scott, best man; Miss Caroline Muse, Miss Elizabeth Brown of Pittsburg, bridesmaids; Messrs. Dugas McLesky, Stuart Boyd and Arthur Clarke, groomsmen. Dr. Hugh K. Walker, of the First Presbyterian church, was the minister officiating.

The ceremony took place in the small reception room before an altar banked with palms and garlanded with smilax. At each side were stately Marie Antoinette baskets filled with Easter lilies, their handles showered with tulle and valley lilies, and overhead was a green canopy starred with Easter lilies and tiny electric lights, and fringed with lilies of the valley.

A canvas aisle from the stairway was roped off with white satin ribbon and smilax, and the bridal white with green was continued in elaborate decorative detail throughout the house, and in the costumes of the bride's attendants.

The Costumes.

The bride was exquisite in her wedding costume, her gown a charming model in tulle combined with Duchess and rose point lace, with foundation and court train of a heavy satin charmeuse. Sprays of orange blossoms were caught in the veil and her bouquet was of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

The matron of honor wore a French gown of green chiffon and silver, the maid of honor wore white brocade crepe and tulle, and the bridesmaids wore white satin charmeuse. They carried each a bouquet of Easter lilies showered with lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Winship wore orchid brocade charmeuse and silver, and Mrs. Walter Connally, of Tyler, Texas, wore shell pink brocade velvet.

Mrs. H. F. Scott wore a lace gown, its foundation of white satin, and Mrs. Robert L. Meador, the groom's sister, was gowned in blue brocade combined with chiffon and gold lace.

The orchestra was stationed in a palm screened alcove, and palms were used with variegated foliage plants, smilax and Easter lilies in an elaborate decoration throughout the reception floor.

The Bride's Table.

Seated for supper at the bride's table in the dining room were the bride and groom, their attendants, and Miss Mignon McCarty and Mr. Milton Dargan, Jr.

In the center of the table was a large round mirror with a border of asparagus ferns and lilies of the valley. Reflected in the mirror from above was a Marie Antoinette basket suspended from the ceiling, the basket filled with Easter lilies and showered with valley lilies. On the table were four smaller baskets of the same flowers, and the handpainted place-cards were valley lily designs. The silver candlesticks had green and silver shades with dewdrop fringe, and at each place were white moire bows of wedding cake. The little souvenirs to her attendants were gold chiffon pins, and the groom presented his attendants silver card cases.

Punch was served in the sun-parlor and on the porch, the porch and terrace being enclosed and made garden-like with baytrees, palms and bamboo.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott went north on their wedding trip and, returning, they will be at home for the present with Mr. and Mrs. Winship.

The bride is one of the most lovable young women in the social life, her debut three years ago following her graduation at Chevy Chase and travel abroad. She is unusually talented and has developed into a delightful accomplishment her musical gift.

Both young people are of prominent families, and Mr. Scott, who is the younger son of Dr. and Mrs. H. F. Scott, is one of the most successful young lawyers in Atlanta, a member of the firm of Brown, Randolph, Parker & Scott. He is a graduate of the University of Georgia and of the Law School at Ann Arbor.

Dinner-Dance.

The dinner-dance at which Mr. and Mrs. Morris Brandon gave last night was a beautiful intertainment at which fifty guests were delightfully entertained. They were seated at tables in the dining room and sun parlor, the flowers used in the decoration being pink roses and narcissi.

In the center of the tables, the flowers falling in clusters from the large vases were tied here and there with bows of pale blue ribbon. Small silver Dresden baskets held the same flowers, with the handles tied with blue ribbons, and the silver candle sticks all held pink tapers.

Pink flowers garnished the dishes from which the guests were served, and the place cards painted in a design of flowers bore verses appropriate to the guests. There was music during dinner and after dinner, when dancing was enjoyed.

Mrs. Brandon's French toilet was of rose pink taffeta silk. The tunic drapery was of violet colored chiffon, and she wore violet colored slippers and carried violets. Mrs. Graham wore a pale gray velvet gown with overdress of cut steel embroidery on net. The corsage was draped in tulle and she wore orchids. Mrs. Dickey wore a dancing gown of midnight blue satin, the corsage of lace and finish given in French roses.

Lambert-McElroy.

An interesting event of the past week was the wedding of Miss Lois Lambert and Mrs. J. D. McElroy, which took place Wednesday afternoon at the College Park Christian church at 4 o'clock.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. F. Lambert, father of the bride.

The church was beautifully decorated with palms, ferns and smilax, and the color scheme was green and white.

The wedding music was rendered by Miss Ethel Martin.

The bridesmaids were Misses Delura Lambert and Myrtle Betterton, and the groomsmen were Messrs. P. A. McClelland and George W. Branch.

Mr. and Mrs. McElroy visited his parents in Fayetteville and are now at home in College Park.

Miss Ansley's Luncheon.

Miss Mamie Ansley was hostess at a beautiful luncheon yesterday at the Piedmont Driving club in compliment to Miss Ella Jackson, a bride-elect.

The luncheon was served in the rose room and the centerpiece of the table was a basket filled with pink roses and narcissi. At each end of the table were small baskets filled with the same flowers and the places were marked with dainty pink baskets filled with French flowers.

Miss Ansley wore a becoming gown of blue charmeuse, the corsage of chiffon and shadow lace and a hat of black velvet. Mrs. Rucker McCarty assisted her sister in entertaining and wore a handsome costume of cadet colored moire trimmed in mink fur and her black velvet hat was trimmed in paradise aigrettes.

The guests including Miss Jackson, her bridesmaids and a few other friends, were Misses Margaret Grant, Adgate Ellis, Katherine Ellis and her guest, Dorothy Aleshire, of Washington, D. C.; Edith Bryson, of Savannah; Ella Vaughn Patterson, of Montgomery; Harriet Calhoun, Mignon McCarty, Jessie McKee, Callie Hoke Smith and Mrs. Rucker McCarty.

For Miss Barnard.

Mrs. John M. Cooper entertained the members of her bridge club and one extra table very delightfully yesterday morning at her home, in Inman Park, in compliment to Miss Christine Barnard, of San Francisco, who is spending some time with Mrs. W. A. Wimbish and with Mrs. E. M. Boykin.

To Miss Cooney.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Cooney have issued invitations for the evening of Tuesday, the 16th of December, at 9 o'clock, to meet Miss Cooney, at the Piedmont Driving club.

In the afternoon Mrs. Cooney will entertain for Miss Cooney from 4 to 6 o'clock at the club.

Miss Stephens' Reception.

An event of distinctive social interest will be the reception at which Miss Mamie Bagby Stephens will entertain on Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Stanley will be guests of honor, Mr. Stanley a pupil of Leschetizky at the same time Miss Stephens was studying under the great master, and music will be a feature of the afternoon.

Mr. Stanley, Mrs. Benjamin Elsas, Mr. George F. Lindner and Mr. Bonawitz will contribute to an informal program.

Assisting in receiving will be Miss Daisy Martin, Mrs. Martin Dunbar, Mrs. J. A. Lynds, Miss Nell Phillips, Miss Allie Candler, Miss Grace Stephens.

House-Corker.

The marriage of Miss Leila House and Mr. Paul Grattan Corker will take place at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, December 22, at St. Luke's Episcopal church, Dr. C. B. Wilmer will officiate. Miss Julia House will be her sister's maid of honor, and Mr. James Rogers will be best man. Mr. Ralph McKenzie and Mr. C. J. Bettis will be the ushers, and the bride will be given away by her brother, Mr. Thomas House. After a wedding trip Mr. Corker and his bride will be at home in Atlanta after January 10.

Reception to Seniors.

Miss Frances Stephens will give a reception Friday afternoon at her home in Druid Hills in compliment to the senior class at Washington seminary, of which she is a popular member.

For Miss Ellis.

Miss Esther Smith will entertain at a small bridge party Saturday afternoon at her home on Pesotnive street for Miss Katherine Ellis. The guests invited for bridge will include only debutantes, who will be joined for tea by a few other guests.

Basketball.

The Washington seminary basketball team will play the Woodbury team on the seminary field tomorrow afternoon at 3:15.

Let's Have an Old Fashioned Christmas

The kind that simply bubbles over with the real Christmas spirit, and makes everybody happy. You remember it well, don't you? It could almost be called a Candy Christmas.

The kiddies' stockings were filled with bright, hard candies.

The Christmas tree fairly groaned with boxes and baskets of candy for almost every member of the family—every face was radiant with smiles. It was an occasion of supreme happiness and contentment. It was a Merry Christmas—without extravagance.

Nunnally's

Fine Candies make just such an ideal Christmas. Our stores contain more than a hundred varieties of dainty sweets—all of them fresh, pure and clean.

The bright, pure "stocking" candies at 25c the pound are the very thing for the little fellows.

Tell Santa Claus to fill their stockings and let them eat all they want.

Nunnally's Gift Candies in beautiful satin-lined baskets, or exquisite satin boxes, will delight even those who are accustomed to the luxuries of life.

An enviable quarter century reputation for quality backs up your judgment when you buy Nunnally's. They are always pure, always fresh and always delicious.

To Mrs. James E. Graham Many Parties Are Given

Mrs. James E. Graham was the guest of honor at two beautiful entertainments yesterday, one a luncheon at which Mrs. Henry W. Miller entertained, and a dinner-dance of fifty guests given in the evening by Mr. and Mrs. Morris Brandon.

Mrs. Miller's guests assembled at 1 o'clock and were received by the gracious hostess and Mrs. Graham in the library. The guests were served the elegant luncheon, seated in small groups in the library, hallway and dining room.

In the dining room the table from which the sweets were served had as central decoration a basket of pink roses and narcissi. Throughout the house the same flowers filled bowls and vases, and in all the details of the luncheon the color scheme of pink and white was observed.

Mrs. Miller wore a black satin gown with corsage of lace and finish given in a sash of pompadour ribbon, showing the Dresden colors. Mrs. Graham wore a gray velvet gown, with hat to match. Mrs. Dickey wore a violet colored charmeuse gown, her black hat trimmed in white paradise.

Mrs. Walter Lamar, of Macon, who was one of the visiting guests, wore a smart blue suit, with hat of black, trimmed in coral colored plumes. Her hostess, Mrs. Stanley, wore a brown velvet gown, with corsage trimmings of mauve and brown furs. Her brown hat trimmed in plumes.

Mrs. John D. Little wore a Parisian toilet of black chiffon and black brocade moire. The corsage of lace was finished with chiffon and black fox fur, and her black hat was trimmed in Parisian plumes. Mrs. C. A. Wood wore a black velvet gown, her hat trimmed in white aigrettes. Mrs. Samuel Inman wore a black satin gown, the corsage opening in a vest of pointed venise lace. Mrs. John Grant wore taupe colored velvet, with corsage of lace and her hat of velvet was trimmed in taupe colored ostrich.

Mrs. John Ottley wore a marine blue moire gown, with hat of blue trimmed in plumes.

Mrs. Frank Inman wore a plum colored corse velvet gown with black hat the same color. Mrs. Percival Sneed was with black velvet gown, a black hat trimmed in white osprey. Mrs. Robert Alston wore a smart toilet in brown with brown hat trimmed in gold colored plumes. Mrs. W. L. Groegrove wore a black satin gown, the corsage showing effective finish in empire green chiffon and gold. Mrs. Don A. Pardee wore gens d'arms blue satin gown, the corsage of pointe de Lierre lace, trimmed in the blue, and her blue hat trimmed in Parisian flowers.

Mrs. Morris Brandon wore a beautiful toilet in royal blue velvet trimmed in sable. Her wrap of violet colored velvet was trimmed in the same fur.

Mrs. Robert Foreman wore with black velvet gown, a toque of black velvet, trimmed in paradise aigrettes.

PATRICIAN Shoe for Women

"Chic"

To achieve that elusive charm expressed in the word "chic," it is best to seek the French woman's advice. At your question, she will smile and answer, "It is to be well gloved and well shod." The extremities of the figure, you see, demand the most attention.

To be well shod, to possess a shapely foot that expresses the style tendencies correctly, demands more attention than is usually bestowed upon it.

The makers of Patrician have demonstrated the full possibilities of effect in dainty, stylish footwear by the employment of the most original designers and the most skillful shoemakers.

Discriminating women appreciate these efforts, as you will find by observing the number of well-dressed women who wear Patrician Shoes.

All styles and all Leathers for all occasions are here.

To Rer Cross Workers

Mrs. Hugh Willett, general chairman, has issued to all workers who will sell Red Cross Christmas seals, the following notice:

"All who have pledged the day chairmen to sell Red Cross Christmas seals should on the appointed day, at 8 a. m., meet at the Piedmont hotel reading room where the headquarters have been established. Each chairman will there supply her committee of workers with seals and assign them places for work through the day.

"Mrs. Parmelee, assistant general chairman, with other ladies, will be at the Red Cross Christmas seal booth in the reading room at the Piedmont hotel, ready to help the chairmen direct their committees and give all necessary information.

"The sale days will begin on December 15 and continue through the 24th instant. All workers are requested to again report at the headquarters in the afternoon at 5 p. m., to turn over the money collected and all unsold seals. This is important, as each chairman will close her report on the day of sale."

To Debutantes.

Mrs. Jesse Draper will entertain at luncheon on Wednesday, the 17th in compliment to Miss Katherine Ellis, Miss Margaret Grant and Miss Jessie McIntyre.

Supper-Dance.

Miss Margaret Grant will entertain on Thursday evening in compliment to Miss Eula Jackson and Mr. Edward Alson. A buffet supper and dancing will follow the rehearsal. This entertainment to be substituted for the luncheon Miss Grant was to give on Friday.

Uncle Remus' Birthday.

Yesterday afternoon the Junior Civic league at the City Federation of Women's Clubs, the young people of the Junior Civic League of Atlanta and the Uncle Remus Memorial association had a most interesting program in celebration of Uncle Remus' birthday. Mrs. Robert Lumpkin, president of the city federation, and Mrs. Lyman Amsden, state and city organizer of junior civic leagues, arranged the program.

Mrs. Lumpkin, in a beautiful talk, brought greetings from the City Federation of Women's Clubs, and was followed by Mrs. McD. Wilson, president of the Uncle Remus Memorial association, who spoke interestingly on "The Recognition of Uncle Remus' Birthday."

Miss Maude Foster, a member of the Junior league, made a very bright response to Mrs. Wilson.

One of the delightful features of the afternoon was the short talk made by Captain Harrison Jones, chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, as Mrs. Walter Brooks introduced Miss Vida Barili, who delighted the audience with a story from Uncle Remus. Uncle Remus himself said that Miss Marili interpreted his ideas more perfectly than anyone he had ever heard.

Others taking part in the program, every number of which was interesting, were Miss Carter, who sang, accompanied by Mrs. Miller.

Messages from Mrs. Charles Haden and Mrs. William Perry.

"A Boy's Idea of Junlom Civics"—Masters Leonard Bellingrath and Harry Owensby.

"A Girl's Idea of Junior Civics"—Misses Jessie May O'Neal and Annebeth Smith.

Miss Lucy H. Smith's Wedding

Washington, December 9.—(Special.) Miss Lucy Hoke Smith's fiance, Ensign Alston H. Simpson, has been ordered away on the Dolphin to Santo Domingo and a number of entertainments planned in honor of the young couple were abandoned or the dates changed.

Ensign Simpson will return just before Christmas and the wedding will take place on December 30.

Captain and Mrs. Shindle will give a dinner at the Army and Navy club preceding one of the Friday night dances probably December 24. On Sunday, December 28, Miss Flora Berwick will give a buffet supper in their honor, and, on the following day, Major and Mrs. Pearce will entertain them at a buffet luncheon.

The Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Daniels will crown the list of hosts by entertaining the wedding party and some others at dinner at Shingle Oak the night before the wedding.

Church Bazar.

The ladies of the West End Christian church will hold their annual bazar and dinners on Thursday and Friday at 206 Lee street, near Gordon.

Miss Ida Sewell, the general chairman, is desirous of making it the best bazar the ladies have given. The ladies of the church ask patronage of all their friends.

Atlantans See "Rosenkavalier"

New York, December 9.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. Otto H. Kahn had as their guests at the American Premiere of "Der Rosenkavalier" tonight at the Metropolitan opera house, Governor and Mrs. Slaton, of Georgia, and Mr. and Mrs. Clark Howell, of Atlanta.

MEETINGS

EGG INVESTIGATION IN ATLANTA COMPLETED

L. J. Bailey, of the department of justice, with offices in Atlanta, has completed and sent to Attorney General McReynolds his inquiry recently directed by the department into the alleged local "corner on eggs." While Mr. Bailey will not disclose his report, it is believed that he has not found any combination among produce handlers to hold eggs from the local market subject to orders from Chicago, where an "egg trust" was supposed to have been formed.

"As I have said before," remarked Mr. Bailey, "I have had nothing to do with the age of the eggs in Atlanta. The department's instructions had nothing to say about cold storage or fresh eggs. Its one aim was to ascertain whether there was any foundation for the alleged egg trust, and if so, how far, if at all, Atlanta dealers were involved."

TRAFFIC IS TIED UP BY WHITEHALL BLAZE

Fire originating in an unknown manner on the fourth floor of Chamberlin - Johnson - DuBose company's furniture and carpet annex on Whitehall did practically no damage to the store, but tied up street car traffic for about fifteen minutes during the rush hour last evening.

Some waste paper and a few articles in the stockroom were damaged, according to employees of the store. Fire Chief W. B. Cummings stated that the fire extinguishers had put the blaze out before he got there. The greater part of the damage was from water before the extinguisher plugs could be cut off.

The fire occurred shortly after closing hour and only a few employees and no customers were in the store to cause a panic or possibly get injured.

Great Strike Likely.

London, December 9.—The prospect of a strike of the postal employees in the Christmas season was increased by the announcement today of the postmaster general, H. L. Samuel, that he would not concede the demands for a 10 per cent increase in wages.

Good Vocal Features In Philharmonic Concert

A pleasing variety will be afforded by vocal numbers at the concert by the Philharmonic orchestra of the Atlanta Musical association at the Atlanta theater next Tuesday night. Mr. Wilfred Watters will be the soloist, and he has the equipment to make his participation in the concert a feature well worthy the symphony standard.

His voice is a robust baritone, and he knows how to show the strength of its every link of sweetness. He has excellent style, with a fine sense of dramatic values. He will sing arias from "Pigaro," "Tannhauser" and "Falstaff."

The other vocal features will be the sextet from "Lucia" by a group of well known singers.

VETERANS DEMAND THAT OLD COTTON TAX BE RETURNED

Zebulon, Ga., December 9.—(Special.) At a meeting of Camp 421 of Confederate Veterans, on December 6, the following resolution was adopted:

"Whereas, a special and excessive tax was levied on the cotton produced in the south from July, 1861, to February, 1868, by our national government, by which a sum of $68,672,288.98 was collected and which has never been returned to the people who paid it; and, whereas,

"This tax was pronounced unconstitutional by the supreme court of the United States and its collection stopped; and, whereas,

"Resolved, by the Pike County Camp of Confederate Veterans, in meeting assembled this 6th day of December, 1913, at Zebulon, Ga., that the sum of the tax so collected, that has since been refunded, be apportioned and paid pro rata to each of the southern states originally taxed to that state the amount collected therefrom.

"Resolved, further, That the officers of this camp be instructed to send copies of these resolutions to our senators from this district and to our two senators from this state, with the request that they urge the passage of a bill through congress that will put this plan in operation.

"Resolved, further, That copies of these resolutions be sent to the local newspapers and to The Constitution, Journal and Georgian, of Atlanta, and that they be asked to print them and co-operate with us in this movement.

"Resolved, further, That the officers of this camp invite the co-operation of the officers of other camps in this state and in the south, with a view to securing the united efforts an co-operation of all the camps of confederate veterans of the south in this great movement."

THIEVES MAKE HAUL FROM DECATUR STORE

Decatur, Ga., December 9.—(Special.) Burglars entered the store of the Stephenson Hardware company, at Decatur, Monday night. Just what they took could not be determined, but J. C. Stephenson feels sure that it will amount to a considerable sum.

The thieves gained entrance through the rear door and seemed to be interested in cutlery and firearms. All the keys to the store doors were taken. There is no clue to the burglars.

FLAGMAN ON SEABOARD KILLED BETWEEN CARS

Cartersville, Ga., December 9.—(Special.)—W. P. Noss, a flagman on the Seaboard railroad, while making an attempt to couple the air hose between two cars in motion, lost his balance and fell between the trucks, which crushed him to the extent that he died about 40 minutes later. The body was badly mangled by the wheels, four of which are said to have passed over his body.

The body was taken on an afternoon train to Birmingham, Ala., where it is understood he has lived for some time.

MILKERS OF THE FRISCO MAY HAVE TO DISGORGE

St. Louis, December 9.—William Niles, owner of 600 shares of stock in the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad, today asked the federal court for permission to bring restitution suits against present and former officials of the Frisco.

The petition embodying the request charges that B. F. Yoakum, former chairman of the board of directors of the Frisco; James Campbell, former vice president of the road, and head of the North American company, who brought the receivership suit; Thomas H. West, chairman of the board of directors of the St. Louis Union Trust company, whose resignation as receiver was accepted yesterday; the late Edwin Hawley and W. K. Bixby, now receiver of the Wabash, made individual profits aggregating $1,656,600 by selling to the Frisco short lines which they and other syndicate subscribers had promoted.

The petition charges that the men named, in their dealings with as buyer and seller, violated their obligations to the stockholders of the Frisco and therefore are personally liable to the stockholders for losses suffered by the Frisco.

Niles is not privileged to file suit against the individuals named without the consent of the court, as the Frisco now is in receivership.

Before filing the petition Niles obtained a transcript of the testimony taken here a few weeks ago before Interstate Commerce Commissioner Clark, who investigated the Frisco receivership.

POISONED NEEDLE USED ON WHITE SLAVE SLEUTH

Cleveland, Ohio, December 9.—Police today are searching for two men believed to be members of a "poison needle" gang, who are alleged to have attacked George Baker, said to be an immigration inspector, and robbed him of valuable government papers while he was under influence of a drug.

The victim, who was said to have been assisting a white slave investigation here, was walking down Lakeside avenue late yesterday afternoon when he was suddenly taken ill. Two men rushed forward and carried him into a nearby hospital. While physicians were reviving Baker his "friends" left with his bag, in which were supposed to be reports on white slave conditions here.

That Baker was a victim of a poisoned needle is thought possible. Doctors at Lakeside hospital said they believed Baker was a victim of heart trouble but admitted that a drug injected into his veins might have caused his illness.

Deserted by His Bride, Weds Again on Same Day He Secures His Divorce

Ernest T. Fuller was married on Monday night to Miss Annie Belle Richardson, at the home of Rev. John F. Purser, in West End.

The bare announcement of the marriage is but one end of the story. On Monday afternoon Mr. Fuller was divorced from his wife, whom he married in 1907 and with whom he lived just one day, thus proving conclusively that the brides of one day are the divorcees of the next, and vice versa.

Miss Richardson was in the court room Monday when Fuller got his divorce from Mrs. Mary McDonald Fuller. Two minutes after the jury had awarded Fuller his decree, he and Miss Richardson were obtaining a license. A few hours afterward they were married.

The couple are now at home to their many friends at 25 Brookline street.

Fuller is a well-known railroad man, being connected with the offices of the W. & A. railroad.

According to Fuller's divorce petition he was married on March 11, 1907, to Mary McDonald and on March 12, 1907, she deserted him.

BAPTISTS WILL PRAY ALL OVER THE WORLD

New York, December 9.—Baptists the world over will tomorrow hold a prayer meeting at the corresponding hour of such a gathering for divine guidance in Rangoon, Burmah. The prayers will be in observance of the one hundredth anniversary of the arrival in India of Adoniram Judson and his wife, Ann Hasseltine Judson, the first Baptist missionaries and the first American missionaries sent to a foreign land.

The Rangoon service of prayer will be held from 8:30 to 9:30 o'clock in the evening. Because there is a difference of eleven and one-half hours in time between Rangoon and eastern time in America, the meetings in this part of the country will take place from 9 to 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Between Buffalo and Omaha, the Baptists will gather for prayer from 8 to 9 o'clock; between Omaha and the Rocky mountains from 7 to 8 o'clock; between Colorado and the Pacific from 6 to 7 o'clock. The idea is for a world wide collective prayer of thanks for the life work of the Judsons.

There will be a mass prayer meeting at Mechanics' hall, Boston, tomorrow morning from 8:30 to 9:30 o'clock. It is there that the Baptist Foreign Missionary society has its headquarters. It was from Salem, Mass., that Adoniram Judson and his bride left on a honeymoon trip for India.

AUTOMOBILE KILLINGS STIRRING NEW YORK

New York, December 9.—Coincident with the holding of an international exposition of safety here this week, New York is aroused by the frequency of the so-called automobile killings. So many children have been victims that a number of women representing various organizations have appointed a committee to call upon Mayor Adolph Kline and to petition for the appointment of a bureau for the prevention of further speeding and reckless driving.

The Society for Public Safety, of which Miss Edith Reifert is chairman, has also called a public mass meeting which will probably be held in Cooper Union next Monday evening, at which the situation will be discussed. There have been 241 deaths in this city from automobile accidents in the last eleven months, in connection with which there have been only thirty-nine arrests, no indictments and no licenses revoked, according to a speaker at yesterday's meeting of the Society for Political Study. In view of the fact that there are over 50,000 automobiles in New York, it was argued that there were not enough police to cope with the situation.

FAITH IN DREAMS SHOWN BY POLICE

New York, December 9.—The police showed their faith in dreams today by searching every hospital in the city for William H. Boyd, a missing Philadelphian. The search was made at the request of Henry Hartman, of Philadelphia, who wrote that Boyd had disappeared from his home at 2321 West Lehigh avenue, Philadelphia, last Thursday morning and that a relative had dreamed he was lying in a New York hospital ward, the victim of street cadilla.

The police did not find Mr. Boyd in the hospitals, but they sent out a general alarm for him and continued the search. Boyd's relatives say that he has large financial interests and is a prominent Mason. He left home with considerable money and valuable jewelry.

REPUBLICANS TO FIGHT TO CAPTURE THE HOUSE

Washington, December 9.—Republican campaign machinery will be put in motion in Washington in a few days, opening the battle for the capture of the house of representatives in the elections of next November. Headquarters have been engaged and will be opened this week under the direction of Secretary John Eversman.

Conference of republican representatives of several states are now in progress here. When the national congressional committee meets Friday the details of the campaign to be waged in "close" states will have been fairly well determined.

It is proposed to concentrate the republican fight in 166 congressional districts and estimates by republican leaders indicate that they expect to carry fully one-half of these. The campaign to be directed from the Washington headquarters is to be largely of an "educational" kind at first. Early next summer it is proposed to put well organized campaign forces out to aid candidates in the districts where is the strongest probability of success.

GOVERNMENT CHARITY NO SOCIAL CURE-ALL

New York, December 9.—An ordinance providing for the payment by the city of 50 cents a day to the wives or dependents of men sent to the workhouse for nonsupport of their families, failed of passage in the board of aldermen today. The measure received thirty-three affirmative votes, seven less than the number required to make it effective. Alderman John H. Walsh, who led the opposition to the ordinance, characterized it as one of the social cure-alls of the professional altruists. He said:

"Eugenics plan our future before our parents are to marry, and through all our lives this paternalism is with us until we end as paupers, or if you resent the term, I will substitute pensioners. There are many injustices, much unnecessary suffering, gross inequities, missing discontents, but government charity is not the antidote."

LIBEL SUIT SETTLED BY FRANK A. MUNSEY

London, December 9.—A libel suit brought by the Grand Duke Boris, of Russia, against the Frank A. Munsey company was settled today out of court, but the grand duke will appear on the witness stand on December 13 and give evidence to clear his character.

The case arose out of an article describing the grand duke's career in Manchuria during the Russo-Japanese war and his relations with General Kuropatkin, the Russian commander-in-chief.

Frederick E. Smith, a prominent unionist politician, acting as counsel for the grand duke, asked the judge to set a day for the grand duke to appear and testify. He said the case would have involved the calling of an immense number of witnesses. In order to avoid this, the parties had discussed the matter out of court and had reached a settlement.

MACON MAYOR STRIPPED OF APPOINTIVE POWER

Council Takes Away Former Right to Name Policemen and Firemen.

Macon, Ga., December 9.—(Special.)—The city council tonight passed Alderman Hayes' ordinance as amended, taking from the mayor the power to appoint the members of the police and fire departments and vesting it in the chiefs of the two departments and chairmen of the police and fire committees jointly.

The mayor of Macon has had the power to make these appointments for over seventy years.

Under the terms of the new ordinance, the appointments are to come before council for confirmation.

CHILDREN ARE KILLED BY DRINKING LIQUOR

New York, December 9.—To "some unknown person" a coroner's physician attributed today the death last night of three little children who, as guests at an east side wedding ceremony, hid themselves and drank the contents of several bottles of liquor. Two other children are seriously ill.

The physician was unable to determine the nature of the poison and a chemical analysis will be made. Similar liquor, the police assert, was drank by adults at the wedding party without ill effect.

J. RANDOLPH ANDERSON UNDERGOES OPERATION

Savannah, Ga., December 9.—(Special.)—J. Randolph Anderson, president of the Georgia senate, was operated on today for appendicitis. The operation was successful and Mr. Anderson is expected to improve rapidly.

Chattanooga and Mississippi To Ask S.I.A.A. Membership; Jim Preas May Be Reinstated

Jacksonville, Fla., December 9.—(Special.)—The annual meeting of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association, which will be held here Friday and Saturday, promises to be an interesting one.

The University of Chattanooga will ask for admittance as a member of the association, while the University of Mississippi will ask to be reinstated to the good graces of the association, after a couple of years' debarment.

But the most important matter that is to come up will be the possible adoption of a one-year rule that will prohibit any athlete from playing on any team in the association until he has been a student at the school for a period of one year.

This rule, if adopted, will work a hardship for the first year on some of the schools that draft fine prep stars, but it will eliminate the evil of having any professionalism, and college men, as a whole, are said to be in favor of it.

The football schedules of most of the southern colleges are drafted at this meeting, and some baseball dates arranged as well. These schedules are not completed entirely, but a majority of the most important dates are considered.

The Preas Case.

A matter of interest to Atlantans and to Tech will be the Preas case. Professor Randle, director of athletics at Tech, is going to lay Preas' case before the association on the floor of the convention and ask for his reinstatement.

This is the one and only course open to the Tech athletic authorities, unless the executive committee can be made to rescind their present action in barring him for accepting a scholarship at Bingham school, the charge on which he was barred.

Tech authorities have given Preas a clean bill of health, and other football men say that he was only technically guilty of a breach of the rules.

It is the general consensus of opinion that Preas will be reinstated, and if the convention does not do this they will not only do the right thing, but will establish a precedent for the good grace of fair-minded sportsmen throughout the south for years to come.

The general opinion prevails that Preas has been made the goat when there are worse offenders in every school in the association. Preas ought to be reinstated. He is deserving, a good student, a splendid athlete and far from being of the ringer type.

RIVERSIDE ACADEMY WILL ENTER RIFLE TEAM IN MEETINGS

Gainesville, Ga., December 9.—(Special.)—Now that the football season has come to a close, the Riverside Military academy boys have turned their attention to rifle-shooting.

Lieutenant Harry Hawley, appointed to Riverside by the United States government, is teaching the boys the art of rifle-shooting, and some are becoming very proficient.

Riverside contemplates entering a team at the next annual meeting of the school rifle teams of the country. Riverside will probably be the only school in this section of the country entered, and interest of Georgia riflemen will center in their shooting.

The boys have taken quite an interest in the rifle practice, and Riverside will excell in this branch of sports like she has in everything else due to the spirit that the boys exhibit in taking hold.

BRADLEY STREIT LED EASTERN GRID IN SCORING POINTS

Bradley Streit, Birmingham boy, who played star ball on the Princeton football team during the past season, scored more points than any player of any of the eastern teams.

An article in The Princetonian several days ago gave a comparison of the highest individual scorers on the Princeton team. A greater honor awaits him, however, as a comparison of scores shows that he has made more points than any other individual player of any of the big eastern teams. Marshall, of Pennsylvania, is his closest rival with a total of sixty points, while Brickley, of Harvard, is next, with fifty-one. A list of the leading scorers and the points which they have made so far is as follows: Streit, Princeton, 70; Marshall, Pennsylvania, 60; Brickley, Harvard, 51; McHenry, Navy, 48; Horsett, Dartmouth, 43; Baker, Princeton, 41; Hobbs, Army, 36; Hodgson, Army, 30; Liewellyn, Dartmouth, 30; Toolan, Williams, 30; Young, Pennsylvania, 30.

Another difference between the weather bureau's guests and ours is that there is more red tape to the former's.

OLYMPIANS VICTORS IN FIERCE GRID GAME

Saturday afternoon at Piedmont park, the South Side Olympians met the strong All-Star team, and the latter team bit the dust for the first time this season, 6 to 0. The All-Stars outweighed their opponents eighteen pounds to the man, but they were too slow and lacked the teamwork that characterized the Olympians' playing.

Time after time the lighter Olympians would break through their heavier rivals and nail the runner for five or ten-yard losses, while on the offense the line would open gaping holes for the backs to walk through and their end runs and forward passes netted good gains. Four times the Olympians had the ball on the All-Stars' one-yard line, but could push it over only once, as they were too anxious and were penalized severely for offside and being too rough.

The only touchdown was made on a forward pass, Smith hurling the ball from the center of the field to half way to the goal line, from where it was carried over. Goal was missed. The stars for the Olympians were Duan, Smith and Robertson on the offense, and Sullivan, Morgan and Simon on the defense. For the All-Stars, Callahan, Frank, Romming, Williamson and Rogers played best ball. With a little more practice the All-Stars will be very formidable for any team.

The Olympians were defeated by Marietta on Thanksgiving on account of being outweighed ten pounds to the man and not being familiar with the hillside that represented a gridiron, although the representation was but a poor imitation. The two teams meet again on good ground, the Olympians feel sure they can win.

The line-up:

OLYMPIANS.	Position.	ALL-STARS.
R. Wallace, Weaver	L.T.	Hodgett
Schenk	L.G.	Hickabay
Simon	C.	Callahan, Freeman
Bevis	R.G.	Rogers, Nightengale
Weaver, Delaney	R.T.	Hickabay
Morgan	R.E.	Edmondson
Dunn	Q.B.	Nichols, Porter
Robertson	L.H.B.	Frank
Sullivan	R.H.B.	Williamson, Callahan
Smith	F.B.	Williamson

Time of quarters, 12, 15, 12, 15. Referee, H. Thompson (Georgia). Umpire, Johnston (B. H. S.). Head linesman, Griffin (Peacock). Touchdown, D. Wallace.

QUERIES ANSWERED

Under this head the sporting editor will endeavor to answer questions pertaining to all branches of sports.

Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution: In a game of football the defense fumbled their ball on their 10 yard line, but recovered it although thrown back several feet. The captain called out, "First down, 14 to go." The captain claimed that it should be first down and 10 to go, as it was a free-for-all fumble. The referee claimed that although it should be first down, the 4 yards lost by the fumble should be added to the next 10 to go. Which was right? L. D. W.

The referee was right. It is first down, but the side line sticks remain the same as on the previous down, the distance to be gained being from the place of the recovery, the downs only changing.

Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution: Can you tell me who Thomasville Style was? He was with Thomasville and later with Montgomery last season.

F. H. G.

My impression is that he is the reserve list of the Montgomery team, though I am not certain.

GOVERNOR TENER HEADS NATIONAL

Retiring President Lynch Sends Hot Shot at the Moguls on Acquiring Dignity. Lynch Not Peeved.

New York, December 9.—John K. Tener, governor of Pennsylvania, was this afternoon elected president of the National League of professional baseball clubs to succeed Thomas J. Lynch.

Mr. Lynch told members of the league that he hoped they would acquire some of the dignity which they expect Governor Tener to bring to the league. He praised Tener as a man who would lend prestige to the league and declared he left the presidency without any ill feeling.

Before electing a president, the magnates voted to change the by-laws extending the president's terms from one to four years. With the election of Governor Tener, the meeting adjourned.

Heydler for Secretary.

John A. Heydler was re-elected secretary for two years. A new board of directors was chosen, as follows:

Barney Dreyfus, Pittsburg; Charles H. Ebbetts, Brooklyn; Harry Hempstead, New York, and Charles W. Murphy and Harry Ackerland, Chicago.

Except for the selection of the new president, all the important problems which confront the National league went over until tomorrow. They include the demands of the Baseball Players' fraternity, a new plan for drafting players which would favor the second division clubs, the abrogation of the outlaw Federal league, and the appointment of schedule and rules committees.

There was no dissenting voice in the election of Governor Tener, who will continue in his office as governor until the expiration of his term in January, 1915. The undecided Tener's salary will be $25,000 a year.

A committee was appointed to notify Thomas J. Lynch, retiring president, of the selection of his successor. Lynch, according to an unconfirmed report will be retained by the league as chief umpire. He was formerly an umpire. Mr. Lynch denied a report that he would associate himself with the Federal league. "I am a National leaguer," he said.

Lynch's Report.

Lynch's report, read by Secretary Heydler, set forth statistics dealing with the 1913 season's play. There were 74 postponed games, 47 double headers, 13 tie and 13 unplayed games. Five games protested, of which four were disallowed and one protest withdrawn. During the playing and championship games, the eight umpires used 13,748 balls.

An interesting feature of Lynch's report was that referring to rowdyism. "Taking into consideration the fact that we had many new managers fighting for a reputation, electric ridden person, the deportment of players on the ball field was good," asserted Lynch. He cited as two unusual occurrences the clashes between Umpire Mc-Graw, of New York, and Pitcher Brennan, of Philadelphia and Umpire Moran, the manager of Cincinnati, and Shortstop Daubert, of Brooklyn.

The report paid a tribute to William Locke, president of the Philadelphia club. The league adopted a resolution expressing sorrow at the passing of this National league figure.

Owners, presidents, managers and scouts of major and minor league clubs gathered in the lobby of the hotel to talk trade and other gossip. Chief among the pending deals discussed was that of Tinker, whose services are sought by several major league teams, including the Philadelphia and Pittsburg.

Statement By Tener.

Philadelphia, December 9.—Governor Tener, of Pennsylvania, today, when informed that he had been elected president of the league, said:

"To be elected president of the parent association of organized baseball is an honor anyone might covet, and coming to me by unanimous vote of all clubs, is especially pleasing. Baseball not only develops the best physical form, but has a great power for good in its high moral tone. The cleanliness and honesty of the game cannot be questioned, while its enthusiasts and followers are numbered by millions. The honesty of baseball is its greatest asset, and to preserve and maintain its good name shall be my chief concern, as has been first in the minds of all who preceded me in office.

"Naturally I have certain ideas which, when carried out, I believe will add to the popularity and greater enjoyment of those who are witness National league baseball, and to a better and more complete understanding by those who participate and those who are considered to the promotion of the best interest of organized baseball. I prefer rather to work out these ideas than to announce them at this time."

KILBANE ANSWERS STEPMOTHER'S SUIT

Cleveland, Ohio, December 9.—Featherweight champion pugilist, Johnny Kilbane, of this city, who is fighting a $25,000 alienation suit, brought by his stepmother, Mrs. Bridget Kilbane, who was himself the recipient of her bounty, years ago, she declared today in pleading her suit.

Johnny Kilbane, in his answer to the action, which is based on the charge that the fighter influenced his father against the plaintiff, contended that Mrs. Kilbane did not provide for her aged husband, who is blind and helpless, and that he was obliged to do so and for that reason gave him a home.

WILLIE J. RUNS FIRST IN THE DERBY CONTEST

Montgomery, Ala., December 9.—The completion of the annual derby of the Southern Field Trials club on the course at Letohatchie this afternoon found four dogs within the money. The judges awarded first prize to Willie J., handled by Garr; second prize to Happy Medium, handler by Lockhart, and third prize was divided between Lady Mohawk Whitestone, handled by Avest, and Frank Hamilton, handled by Fishel. The continued crispness in the air made the day's sport even more enjoyable and exciting than on the opening day.

The start in the All-Age Stakes was made about noon, six braces being run before the day's sport was called off. The All-Age Stakes will be continued tomorrow and throughout the week until winners are selected.

KAISER INTERESTED IN OLYMPIC GAMES

Berlin, December 9.—Emperor William took a hand today in the preparations for the Olympic games to be held in Berlin in 1916 by consenting to athletic contests next May at the newly constructed stadium in which athletes, non-commissioned officers and privates will take place.

The crown prince has given his name as a patron of the contests and the war minister is to appoint a committee of arrangements.

HARVARD-CHICAGO GAME IS DOUBTFUL

Chicago, December 9.—Whether there will be a Harvard-Chicago football game next season will depend upon the action taken at a special meeting of the University of Chicago Athletic board to be held in the near future.

Harvard's official proposal that Chicago and the Crimson meet at Cambridge on October 24, or October 31, was received by the board yesterday and immediate arrangements were made for its early consideration. The invitation for the inter-sectional game had been sent to Coach A. A. Stagg, of Chicago, who is at Pinehurst, N. C., and was forwarded here by him.

Unless Harvard will agree to play Chicago in this city, in 1915, there is not much possibility of a game between the universities of Cambridge next year. Chicago faculty members are said to believe the maroons would lose prestige by listing a single game on the Harvard proposal made no mention of a return game in 1915.

NEW ORLEANS WANTS SOMERS TO SELL CLUB

Crescent City Financiers Make Cleveland Magnate Offer for Stock.

New Orleans, December 9.—A. J. Heinemann, secretary of the New Orleans Baseball club, left here tonight for Cleveland, Ohio, for a conference with C. W. Somers, owner of the Cleveland Americans, looking to the purchase by local financiers of the Somers' controlling interest in the New Orleans team. The move to obtain local control was brought to a head by the publicity given to a recent announcement that Charley Frank would be removed from the management before the opening of the 1914 season. Mr. Heinemann would not say what price would be offered Mr. Somers for his stock.

CAMBRIDGE WINNER ANNUAL RUGBY GAME

London, December 9.—Cambridge university today won its annual Rubgy football match against Oxford by 13 points to 3. The match was played at Queens club.

Donahue Heads W. & L.

Lexington, Va., December 9.—(Special.)—Quarterback Jimmy Donahue was unanimously elected captain of Washington and Lee's football team for 1914. During the past campaign Donahue distinguished himself at the center of direction as a ready player and a marked leader. Sixteen monograms were awarded players, while Manager Hanna was given a monogram also. Announcement of a new coach to succeed Larry Dowd is expected soon, terms having been agreed upon.

HALF OF YALE STUDENTS TAKE PART IN ATHLETICS

New Haven, Conn., December 9.—Participation in athletic activities at Yale is not confined to the comparatively few men who make up the big varsity teams, according to figures made public today. During the fall months 1,700 students, or a little more than half of the total registration of 2,300,to k part in some form of athletic diversion.

BOUSWELL IS MANGLED IN A SEED CONVEYOR

Natchez, Miss., December 9.—John C. Bouswell, aged 49 years, superintendent of the Natchez Oil company, was almost instantly killed today when he fell into a seed conveyor at the mill and his body mangled. His right arm was broken in two places and his right leg in six.

CHATTANOOGA TIGERS ARE HARD AT WORK

Practicing for Game With the Atlanta Athletic Club Team Saturday Night.

Chattanooga, Tenn., December 9.—(Special.)—The Chattanooga Tigers, basketball champions of east Tennessee, are hard at work practicing for the coming game with the Atlanta Athletic club quintet in Atlanta next Saturday night.

The local quintet realizes that this will be the hardest game of the season for Schenk and Coach Shaffer is putting them through a mighty strenuous week in preparation for the game. Every man is in excellent condition and only the perfection of team work is necessary to make the locals formidable.

The Atlanta Athletic club team is also working hard for the game. The fame of the Chattanooga boys have preceded them to Atlanta and the locals realize that they are up against a tough proposition.

The locals will probably open the game with the same line-up that they used against Bessemer in the opening game of the season last Saturday night.

FIFTH REGIMENT TO PLAY COLUMBUS FIVE

The Fifth Regiment basketball team will battle the Columbus Young Men's Christian association five at Columbus on Friday night.

Those who will make the trip are: Mack, Pearson, Griffin, Jarvis, Mcgee, Graves, Hubert and Coolidge.

FOOTBALL AND BASKETBALL SHOW PROFIT AT OLD PENN.

Philadelphia, December 9.—Football and basketball were the only sports at the University of Pennsylvania to show a financial profit last season, according to the report submitted last night to the athletic association. Receipts from football were $84,092 for 1913, while the expenses were $23,742. Basketball cost $2,537 and the receipts were $2,837. Baseball receipts were $8,092 and expenses $10,119. Track cost $13,806 with receipts of $7,860. The report showed a deficit of $8,459. The expenses included interest on bonds, office and general expenses as well as donations to many sports for which no admission fees are charged. The total receipts from all sources were $92,248 and the expenses $100,733.

DR. CRAIG ACQUITTED OF THE MURDER CHARGE

Shelbyville, Ind., December 9.—Judge Alonzo Blair today instructed the jury to dismiss the case against Dr. William B. Craig, charged with the murder of Miss Helena Knabe, at Indianapolis, October 23, 1911. The motion to dismiss in case was made for the defendant yesterday when the state concluded its evidence.

Henry Spaan, counsel for Craig, in his argument in support of his motion to dismiss the case, said he believed Dr. Craig was murdered, but declared "it is a far cry from the proposition that Dr. Craig did it" to the conclusion that Craig did it." He declared that the state had failed to connect Dr. Craig with the crime in any way and also had failed to establish any motive for the crime. Attorneys for the state denied that their evidence was insufficient, but were overruled by Judge Blair's decision.

Dr. Helene Knabe was one of the most prominent women doctors in the state and at one time was connected with the state board of health. She was found dead in her apartment in Indianapolis on the morning of October 24, 1911. The police reported that Dr. Knabe committe suicide. Coroner Dunham returned a verdict of murder by persons unknown.

A number of women of Indianapolis employed a private detective to gather evidence. It was on the detective's report that the third grand jury which had considered the case returned indictments December 31, last against Dr. Craig and A. M. Ragsdale, an undertaker and administrator of the Knabe estate. Ragsdale was indicted as an accessory after the fact. With Craig acquitted, probably Ragsdale never will be tried.

FEDERAL SUPERVISION OF GRAIN INSPECTION

Chicago, December 9.—A bill providing for federal supervision of grain inspection will be presented in congress, it was decided today at a meeting here of directors of the National Grain Dealers' association.

According to the proposed bill, a government commission, under jurisdiction of the department of agriculture, will be appointed, empowered to examine and license grain inspectors. Members of the appeal committees of boards of trade and all other persons who have authority in certifying grain must also pass an examination before the commission. All certificates of inspection of grain shipped in interstate commerce must bear the signature of a licensed inspector, and such certificate shall be accepted as final.

The proposed law, drafted by the legislative committee, must be ratified by members of the association.

FEDERAL OWNERSHIP OF THE WIRE LINES

Washington, December 9.—Legislation preliminary to government ownership of telegraph and long distance telephone lines, or both, may be included in the annual postoffice appropriation bill soon to be reported to the house. Representative Moon, of Tennessee, and Postmaster General Burleson have been conferring on the subject and they are expected to reach a final agreement within the next few days as to the form the proposed legislation should take.

Experiments in the ownership of railway mail cars already have been provided for in the appropriation bill as drafted by the committee.

Eighty Years of Faithful Service to the American Public

The Mitchell-Lewis Motor Company has the enviable record of eighty years of faithful service to the American public. Bear this fact in mind when you get ready to buy a car, for it operates as insurance of quality.

No thoughtful business man ever buys a commodity or a luxury or a necessity without looking into the character of the men who make it. This rule of trade is more imperative in the purchase of an automobile than almost anything else you can name.

Eighty years of faithful service is an asset of no uncertain value. This company held the respect of the early settlers of the western country because of absolutely honest merchandise in the shape of farm wagons. It established its standing before automobiles were known. When it embarked in the automobile business, it clung to the policy that made its farm wagon business famous. And its automobiles are famous, for the same satisfying reason.

You've got something behind you when you buy. Our standing and prestige constitute a bulwark of safety. Add to this the remarkably fine character of the Mitchell Models and your purchase is as solid as the Rock of Gibraltar. Ask any farmer in America what he thinks of the old Mitchell-Lewis Wagon Company. Ask any one of thirty thousand Mitchell automobile owners what he thinks of the Mitchell-Lewis Motor Company. Their reputation and reliability are precisely the same.

CARVING OF ANIMALS BITTERLY DENOUNCED

John D. Rockefeller Attacked at the Anti-Vivisection Congress in Washington.

Washington, December 3.—Cruelty to animals by vivisectors and needless infliction of pain in any other form were vigorously denounced at the opening session here today of the International Anti-Vivisection and Animal Protection congress. The speeches ranged from a bitter attack by Edward H. Clement, of Boston, president of the congress, upon the Rockefeller institute experiments, to denunciation by Ernest Thompson Seton against cruel methods of trapping animals.

Dr. Hamilton W. Beggar, of Cleveland, personal physician of John D. Rockefeller spoke in favor of restriction of vivisection to smallest possible proportions. "Scores of dogs," he said, "are slaughtered in laboratories of medical colleges for no other object than grandstand exhibition, with no beneficial results to medical science."

Medical History Full of Mistakes.

Miss Lind-af-Hageby, of London, famous English suffragist, in a statement, declared that anti-vivisectionists were not sentimentalists, but men of science or medicine, but that they wanted to cleanse science of medicines of some of their mistakes. "Medical history," she declared, "is full of the vastest structure of mistakes. We believe that what is morally wrong is also scientifically right."

Ernest Thompson Seton said there was no good reason why skins of animals should be removed alive, but there should be no unnecessary suffering for the animals. He told of the humane use of the steel trap, in which, he said, "animals are sometimes held for days or weeks before they slowly starve or freeze to death. An economic reason why fur-bearing animals should not be made to suffer, he said was the fact that the skins would be better. He expressed the opinion that some day most of the furs worn would come from animal farms where easy death was inflicted.

Frederick P. Bellamy, of Brooklyn, attacked the American Humane association and many of the smaller humane societies, declaring they were neglecting their greatest opportunity by declining to take a stand against vivisection. He accused them of being afraid of disruption on account of the influence of prominent medical men.

Mr. Bellamy declared no investigation could be forced of reports that in certain hospitals children were inoculated with serums of diseased diseases by experimenters, and dangerous tests were often performed on helpless, ignorant people. He said one physician had acknowledged in a recent issue of a medical journal that he had sprayed the poison of smallpox, scarlet fever and diphtheria into the throats and lungs of seventeen healthy people whom he was treating, as they supposed, for catarrh of the throat.

The Attack on Rockefeller.

In his attack on the Rockefeller institute, Edward H. Clement said:

"Imagine it proved that your healthier scalp or shoulder blood 'indicated,' as the physicians say, for Mr. Rockefeller's baldness and dyspepsia. Are you willing that Mr. Rockefeller's jugglers should take you or one of your sons and setting up your survivors in an affluence they never dreamed of, proceed to scalp you painlessly, of course, perhaps with prayers? Here in the United States is the largest mass in the world of unfainted wealth and the whole toppling mass stands cowered with the Rockefeller institute. There is enthroned man's superior cunning and power wrecking itself on animals as erstwhile on humanity."

Mr. Clements declared that the hardest battle was against the "corrupting appeal of vivisection to the fears of man." Doctors justify themselves, he added, by saying that anybody baby in the slums is worth a thousand dogs.

"But certain children's hospital experimentation of record does not argue excessive tenderness for infants of the slums," he asserted.

Hoary Jokes and Trite Phrases Barred at Kibla Temple Feast

THOMAS D. SAMFORD.

The banquetters representing Kibla Temple, Knights of Khorassan, will witness some rare and unusual features at their dinner at the Hotel Ansley, Wednesday evening.

The occasion is the annual banquet of Kibla Temple, and it will follow the business meeting and election of officers of the 1914 divan. The dinner at the Hotel Ansley has been planned by Royal Prince Wy. Tom Winn.

The unusual features of the entertainment will open when the smoke of the first cigars announce the speaking. Royal Vizier Russell K. Smith will be toastmaster, and under his direction an "oratorical prize drill" will be put on with military precision and discipline. Each entrant in the speaking list will be rigidly required, from the very jump-off, to add to the gaiety of the occasion and to captivate and entertain the votaries. At the first dull sentence, or the first hoary joke, or the first stereotyped phrase, the speaker will be cut down instantaneously by a crash of cymbals and drums manned by Kibla's famous drum corps. Official time-keepers will record the exact length of each effort and a prize of $20 will be awarded to the orator who makes the longest speech under the conditions of the contest.

After the passing of the prize drill, which will be confined to home talent, the toastmaster will introduce Thomas D. Samford, of Opelika, Ala., who comes as the special guest of the temple and who will deliver the principal address of the evening.

The speaking order is as follows:

Toastmaster—Russell K. Smith.
"Current Gossip by One Who Knows"—George F. Babaska.
"A Man Without Humor"—Lee F. Terrell.
"The Trials of Matrimony"—Yonnie Fraser.
"The Darwinian Theory"—H. M. Stanley.
"From the Ballet to the Ballot; Evolution or Revolution"—E. G. Carter.
"A Voice From Opelika"—Thomas D. Samford.

300 Voices in Negro Chorus To Swell Through Auditorium

Old-time negro melodies and hymns, sung by 300 students of Morris Brown and Morehouse colleges, will swell through the Auditorium-Armory in stirring strains next Sunday night, when 10,000 negroes gather for a history-making mass meeting in the interest of the Colored Young Men's Christian association fund.

The most important development of Tuesday in the Colored Young Men's Christian association campaign, which comes to a climax in the mass meeting Sunday, was the strong address made at the meeting of the committee of management by David T. Howard, the Atlanta undertaker, who is one of the wealthiest and best known negroes in the south.

"From every point of view it is a matter of the greatest importance to my race that the funds for the Young Men's Christian association building for our boys and young men should be raised at once, in order that the work on the building may begin, said Howard. "We must have sufficient funds in hand to guarantee the prompt carrying out of the project before we start the work.

"There is another reason why this matter should be brought to a prompt conclusion. We promised some great things during our campaign for subscriptions to the white people of Atlanta last year. Our subscriptions and public statements were heralded throughout America as wonderful achievements of my people. Our good name and the good name of Atlanta as well, are now involved in the consummation of the project."

Rev. A. D. Williams, chairman of the committee to district the Auditorium, and other members of the committee declared Tuesday that demands for space in the Auditorium Sunday night are coming so thick that some of the churches are going to get left. As fast as the various pastors certify to the number in their congregation who are to attend, the space allotted is being made to provide for them, tickets being issued for the sections reserved for them. All the pastors are urged to send in their estimates at once to Secretary W. J. Trent at the Young Men's Christian association headquarters on Auburn avenue.

Posters and handbills advertising the meeting have been spread into every by-way and corner of Atlanta, and indications are that it will be one of the biggest gatherings of negroes ever held in the history of Georgia.

Welcome for New Pastor.

Cordele, Ga., December 3.—(Special.) Rev. Walter Anthony, who comes to the Methodist church here from the pastorate at Bainbridge, will arrive in Cordele, with his family, Wednesday afternoon, and will be met and welcomed at the union depot by a large number of his congregation, who will escort him and his family to the parsonage. Friday evening a reception will be held at the church in honor of the new pastor and his wife and children, to which every member of the church is invited.

Cotton Mills Sold.

Greensboro, N. C., December 3.—The cotton mill property of the Vance Manufacturing company, bankrupt, at Spartanburg, S. C., Rockingham and Central Falls, in Randolph county, N. C., was sold at auction this morning. The mills at Northville and Central Falls were bid in by Wiley S. Ward, of Asheboro, N. C., for $76,000, and the property located at Randleman by O. C. Marsh for $6,500.

SANITY OF HARRY THAW UP TO FEDERAL COURTS

Judge Aldrich Rules Mental Condition of White's Slayer Must Be Passed Upon.

Concord, N. H., December 3.—Judge Edgar Aldrich ruled today that the mental condition of Harry K. Thaw must be determined in the federal courts. The court's announcement was made at the hearing on Thaw's petition to be admitted to bail.

Attorneys for Thaw, who are attempting to prevent the extradition of their client, which is the basis of court proceedings in the United States district court and counsel for New York state, had agreed that the charge of conspiracy to escape from the insane asylum at Matteawan, N. Y., was a bailable offense when the question of whether the prisoner, if admitted to bail, would be a menace to the community was raised by William T. Jerome, special deputy attorney general for New York. The court stated that the point would have to be determined before bail was permitted.

"We expect to take Thaw back to New York," said Mr. Jerome, "to try him for the crime with which we have charged him and to punish him for it, and then we expect to put him where he belongs and to keep him, either for the protection of the public.

"We have very radical objections to turning Thaw on the community to threaten, as he would be a peril."

Mr. Jerome said that any reasonable amount of bail would not suffice to ensure Thaw's appearance in court. It was a matter of common belief, he said, that Thaw had given one of his lawyers $75,000 with which an attempt was made to bribe the head of the Institution where he had been confined.

Judge Aldrich replied that before the question of bail was decided it would be necessary to determine the prisoner's mental condition to the satisfaction of the United States district court. He reserved decision on whether he would personally determine the matter or appoint a commission to do so.

In the course of his argument Mr. Jerome suggested a possible decision by the court in the case.

"Don't worry about that," said Judge Aldrich.

"The constitutional questions involved in this case," added Judge Aldrich, "are of such importance that I shall not decide them myself, but shall forward them as promptly as possible to the supreme court of the United States."

Case Going to Supreme Court.

Washington, December 3.—Judge Aldrich's statement today that he would not pass upon the constitutional questions involved in the Thaw case, but would send them promptly to the supreme court of the United States was not taken in supreme court circles as meaning that the court would consider Canadian boundary line in commemoration of the one hundred years of peace between the United States and Great Britain, was the suggestion made by Samuel Hill, of Seattle, president of the association. Mr. Hill said he had conferred with Secretary of State Bryan and that the secretary would do what he could to further the movement.

SYLVIA PANKHURST AGAIN IN THE TOILS

In Spite of Her Bodyguard, the Militant Suffragette Is Arrested.

London, December 3.—Neither strategy nor force availed to prevent the re-arrest of Miss Sylvia Pankhurst at Chelsford today when she addressed a meeting tonight held for the purpose of organizing a local company of "her people's army." Miss Pankhurst seemed unusually nervous and appealed to her Eastenders to save her from arrest as they had often done before.

Surrounded by a bodyguard armed with clubs, she left the hall before the meeting ended. At the same time a dummy dressed to resemble her was carried from the house. Then the police declined to be diverted by the ruse and made a sudden rush upon Miss Pankhurst, whom they captured before her bodyguard got into action. Three of the latter were also arrested.

Among the other speakers at the meeting was Mrs. Rheta Childe Dorr, an American suffragist, who accompanied Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst when she was arrested at Plymouth to Leicester jail.

Miss Pankhurst was released under license from Holloway jail the latter part of October. Since then she had been the central figure in a number of clashes between the police and militant suffragettes and until tonight had always succeeded in making her escape.

BROAD SYSTEM WANTED FOR HIGHWAY BUILDING

Philadelphia, December 9.—Federal aid for highways throughout the United States unless accompanied by some comprehensive system, was not favored by those who today addressed the tenth annual convention of the American Road Builders' association in session here. Several speakers declared that legislation which now before congress providing for federal aid for good roads are designed merely to open "pork barrels" than to give the states good, permanent highways.

S. Percy Hooker, state superintendent of highways of Illinois, however, said he did not favor federal aid under present proposed schemes. If federal aid must be given, a federal highway should be a federal department of roads, and not a state matter, and a similar department.

Other speakers today was Governor Tener, who said that roads should not be built on the word idealists or theorists, but should be constructed by practical men.

That monuments or other suitable markers should be built on the main highways of the country connecting the Canadian boundary line in commemoration of the one hundred years of peace between the United States and Great Britain, was the suggestion made by Samuel Hill, of Seattle, president of the association. Mr. Hill said he had conferred with Secretary of State Bryan and that the secretary would do what he could to further the movement.

FORGED COTTON BILLS THROWN OUT OF COURT

New York, December 9.—Litigation involving alleged forged cotton bills in connection with a $1,000,000 transaction with alleged forged cotton bills in review. The latter, the judges have today by a decision of the United States circuit court of appeals reversing the judgment for $1,230 directed by United States District Judge George C. Pelton in favor of A. Hanney & Co., cotton exporters, of Memphis. The action was the first of a series of test suits brought to be tried upon New York banking houses, which discounted the bills for Knight, Yancey & Co. of Decatur, Ala., and Steele, Miller & Co., of Corinth, Miss. Hanney & Co. set aside by the higher court was against the Guaranty Trust company.

The reversal decision was the first of importance written by Judge Henry Wade Rogers, until recently dean of the Yale law school. The court held that the transactions involved took place in England and hence the laws of that country must determine the liabilities.

CARRANZA AND VILLA WORKING IN HARMONY

Douglas, Ariz., December 9.—General Venustiano Carranza, leader of the constitutionalists, and General Francisco Villa are in accord, despite reports to the contrary, according to a telegram received here today from the insurgent chieftain at Hermosillo by A. J. Lagarde, a constitutionalist agent. The telegram as made public by Lagarde read:

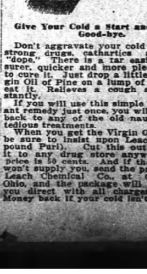
"There is no truth in the reports that General Villa and myself are not in accord. The best proof of this will be found in the fact that I am now in Chihuahua. All advices to the contrary are put out by insidious enemies."

To Beat a Cold

Just a Five-Minute Treatment of Virgin Oil of Pine Will Put the Worst of Colds "On the Toboggan."

DON'T WAIT—ACT NOW

Nearly everybody is subject to colds. Surely half the ills of humanity start with a cold. Colds lead to rheumatism, lumbago, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption and various other ailments.



Give Your Cold a Start and Tell It Good-bye.

Don't aggravate your cold by taking strong cathartics and nauseous "dope." There is a far easier, better, quicker and more pleasant way to cure it. Just drop a little pure Virgin Oil of Pine on a lump of sugar and eat it. Relieves a cough almost instantly.

If you will use this simple and pleasant remedy just once, you will never go back to any of the old nauseous and tedious treatments.

When you get the Virgin Oil of Pine, be sure to insist upon Leach's (Compound Pure). Cut this out and take it to any drug store anywhere. The price is 50 cents. And if the druggist won't supply you, send the price to the Leach Chemical Co. at Cincinnati, Ohio, and the package will be mailed you direct by return mail. Money back if your cold isn't cured.

WILSON FINDS GIRL THROWN FROM HORSE

Washington, December 9.—President Wilson was walking in Rock Creek Park late today when he noticed a riderless horse gallop by. He turned in the direction from which the horse had come and at the top of a little hill found a little girl on the ground. She was Ruth Donaldson, 13 years old, who had been thrown while trying to take a hurdle. The president was accompanied by Secretary Tumulty and Dr. Cary T. Grayson, U. S. N., his physician, who immediately went to the little horsewoman's assistance.

"Are you hurt?" inquired the president as he helped the girl to her feet.

"Oh, no," she said. "I am used to that. I've ridden a long time."

The president was slightly bruised, but she mounted her horse and rode away.

SUITS NOT FEARED BY SUGAR COMBINE

New York, December 8.—In reference to the suits recently brought against the New Orleans, the American Sugar Refining company today sent a statement to its stockholders, as follows:

"The management has received from the stockholders, the management of the company desires to say that, while it is true that a number of suits alleging a common cause of action have been brought against your company in the city of New Orleans within the last fortnight, that, in the opinion of the general counsel of your company, and eminent associate counsel, the company has a full and complete defense to all of the causes of action. It will in due course submit with confidence to an impartial court."

REFUSES TO QUASH BILBO INDICTMENT

Vicksburg, Miss., December 3.—The motion by the defense to quash the indictment charging Lieutenant Governor Bilbo and State Senator G. A. Hobbs with soliciting a bribe was overruled here late today by Judge Bozeman. Immediately after attorneys for the defense finished their argument. The court did not hear from the prosecution.

Attorney Patrick Henry advised the court that a demurrer would be entered when court opened tomorrow. District Attorney Thames requested that an early date be set for trial, but as another case is already up and a special venire summoned, the Hobbs-Bilbo case will probably be delayed.

North Carolina Baptists.

Shelby, N. C., December 4.—The State Baptist convention, the largest church organization of North Carolina, formally opened its annual session here today, 284 delegates being in attendance. President C. H. Durham, pastor of the First Baptist church of Lumberton, was re-elected for the fourth consecutive term.

J. F. Goodson Dead.

Knoxville, Tenn., December 9.—J. F. Goodson, of Morristown, aged 63 years, prominent in East Tennessee business circles, died in Jacksonville, Fla., today following a short illness. He had been at the head of a large wholesale house for twenty-five years.

VOTES FOR CHILDREN URGED BY MRS. POST

Washington, December 8.—"Votes for children" are being advocated by Mrs. Allen Post, wife of the assistant secretary of labor. She addressed a meeting of the Woman's Single Tax league of Washington on the subject last night. "The individual youth is the ultimate social unit," said Mrs. Post. "Male or female, old or young, rich or poor, wise or foolish, every individual is the unit. The rule should be: 'One citizen, one vote.'

Since men and women both contribute equally to society's support, Mrs. Post continued, each should be equally considered. The children as an important factor of the group, should also have the consideration

Dreaming of Days When Appetite Was King

Bring Back Those Joyous Health-Laden Days By Using a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet After Meals.

One of the sad memories of a stomach sufferer is the days when he could eat the meals that others ate. He recalls this joy and the meals of many special dishes, but to attempt the same thing now would be followed by distress, if not painful suffering.

Just a single Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet eaten like candy after a meal will assist in digesting any hearty, indigesting such a meal. In a brief time the fatty dyspeptic will have a normal and man may eat as he desires.

"And Now I Can Only Eat Soft, Mushy Diet."

Then the occasional use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will bring to any one a more enjoyable and comfortable feeling after a large meal than one can possibly imagine.

The entire secret of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets from a physiological digestion standpoint lies in the fact that they are composed of the elements which the system needs most and would supply if it could.

Don't delay. Go to your druggist and obtain a box this very day. Price, 50 cents.

DER ROSENKAVALIER AT METROPOLITAN

New York, December 9.—The Metropolitan opera house was the scene tonight of the great event of the season in the American operatic world—the first performance in this country of Richard Strauss' opera, "Der Rosenkavalier," first produced in Dresden in January, 1911, and last year the most frequently performed opera in the repertoire of German and Austrian opera houses.

Opera-goers who have been wont to associate Strauss with the presentation on the operatic stage of orgiastic scenes, as in his "Salome" and "Elektra," were transported to the opposite scale of human emotions in "Der Rosenkavalier," and found composer and librettist, Hugo Von Hoffmannsthal, collaborating in the production of a rollicking comedy. The plot centers around the coming of an accepted suitor to his bride, by presenting her with a silver rose.

Baron Ochs, the suitor, the leading comedy role, loses his bride in the end to Octavian, the comely youth selected as his messenger by his cousin, the Princess Werdenberg. Octavian, disguised as a maid, flirts with the susceptible baron, then as his real self wounds the baron in a passage at arms in the presence of Sophie Von Faninal, the baron's intended bride, whom the baron has wooed bootily, causing her to prefer Octavian. The baron's discomfiture is completed in a roisterous third act.

There are many parts in the score that recall the Strauss of "Elektra" and "Heldenleben," but there are likewise advancements of melodious passages in the romantic style of a half century or more ago and many Viennese waltz themes. The role of Octavian, the "Knight of the Rose," is allotted to a woman, and it was sung tonight by Margaret Ober, contralto. Otto Goritz was the baron. Anna Case the Sophie and Frieda Hempel the princess. Alfred Herts conducted.

ARMY LOST IN NUMBERS IN LAST FISCAL YEAR

Washington, December 9.—With its authorized strength increased by 3,962 men, the United States army lost instead of gained numbers during the fiscal year just closed, including the Philippine scouts, the army had 85,648 men, compared with 87,962 twelve months before.

Adjutant General George Andrews, in his annual report, made public today, considered the fact that 80 per cent of the applicants for enlistment at recruiting stations were rejected, while 14 per cent of those accepted at recruiting stations subsequently were rejected at depots.

Out of a total of 25,986 enlistments during the fiscal year, 15,862 were natives white; 3,565 foreign white; 1,049 colored, 27 Indians, 216 Porto Ricans, and 627 Filipinos.

Desertions during the year aggregated 4,451, or 5.48 per cent of the enlisted force of the army, as against 4.45 per cent during the preceding fiscal year. The Ninth and Tenth cavalry, negro regiments, and the Fifth infantry had the smallest number of desertions.

The main part of the roster of officers and enlisted men of union and confederate armies has long since been virtually completed, General Andrews said, and the work on the confederate records has progressed so far that the clerical force is now engaged in reproducing the records of the Virginia organization, which probably will be completed this year. This leaves to be done only that work relating to the confederate organizations not credited to any particular state.

DIVORCE MILL BEATS RECORDS FOR SPEED

Judge Ben Hill Will Probably Hear Last of 178 Cases by Noon Today.

The divorce court being held by Judge Ben Hall will probably be brought to a close today. It is stated that Judge Hill will, by noon, have cleared up the docket which, on Monday morning, showed 174 cases on the list. If such is the case, the result will bang up a new record in local divorce courts.

Fifty-eight cases were disposed of on Tuesday, it was noted that the majority of the undefended suits were based on desertion and liquor clauses.

One of the attaches of the court, who has followed the proceedings in the divorce courtrooms of this county for years, remarked at adjournment Tuesday:

"The women appearing here for divorces this time are the best looking that ever came into a Fulton county courtroom. I have wondered, when these women mount the stand and tell of their husbands who have deserted them, why any sane man in his right mind should have left home when he had such a good looking wife. The speaker was a bachelor.

There remains on the docket today about 20 cases. It is expected that they will be disposed of before noon.

Among the divorce decrees granted by Judge Hill on Tuesday was one to Mrs. Effie Glenn, who secured a verdict against her husband, Lother Glenn. The principals in the divorce action will be recalled by the sensational suit which was filed by Mrs. Glenn some months ago when she charged Mrs. Ione Pidcock, wife of a wealthy railway man, with running away with Glenn.

J. A. Brown won a first verdict against his wife, Lizzie, after he recited how she had picked up a board one day and spanked him. He stood for the spanking, he declared, but he found that the board had a nail in it. He quit his wife shortly afterward, he said.

UNION REVIVAL WINS MANY IN EAST POINT

Union revival services held in the large Baptist tabernacle at East Point have been signally successful, according to statements made by those connected with them. The meetings have been attended each night for over a week by large crowds, and many souls are believed to have been saved by the services.

Evangelist Bridges will close the services Wednesday. He will preach at 10 o'clock in the morning, and again at 7:30 o'clock in the evening. Large crowds are expected to bid him farewell. On Sunday pastors of the churches will receive many who have signified their intention of joining the church at the revival.

PENN. RAILWAY OFFICIALS SPEND DAY IN ATLANTA

A number of important representatives of the Pennsylvania railroad lines spent the greater part of Tuesday in Atlanta while on a general tour of the southeast and all of them expressed their admiration of Atlanta as a railroad center and a wonderful business city.

The representatives in the party were Samuel Moody, of Pittsburg, passenger traffic manager; W. W. Richardson, of Pittsburg, general passenger agent; C. A. Lockwood, of Grand Rapids, general passenger agent of the Grand Rapids line, controlled by the Pennsylvania; George W. Weedon, of Cincinnati, assistant general passenger agent; and C. H. Haggerty, of Louisville, assistant general passenger agent.

While in Atlanta the party of railroad men were entertained by C. R. Catlin, traveling passenger agent of the Pennsylvania lines. The party left Atlanta for Birmingham and will visit Chattanooga and Nashville before returning to the north. Savannah and Jacksonville were visited on the first part of the trip.

CAPTAIN W. C. SPARKS AT REST IN OAKLAND

Numerous friends of Captain William C. Sparks, an Atlanta pioneer, attended his funeral from the First Christian church yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Dr. L. O. Bricker, pastor, paid a tender tribute to the dead, while a choir of four rendered appropriate music from the loft. The larger part of the audience followed the body to Oakland cemetery, where interment followed, an escort from the old Gate City Guard being among those in attendance.

Bulletin Will Show Many Atlanta Scenes Of Days of Long Ago

The third issue of The Industrial Bulletin, issued by the Industrial and Statistical bureau of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, which went to press Tuesday, will contain some remarkable photographs, showing Peachtree and Whitehall streets thirty years ago and today. There will also be other illustrations of interest.

These bulletins are distributed all over the United States, and the bureau daily receives many letters of inquiry from prospective manufacturers and other business men in regard to conditions in Atlanta.

MAJOR J. C. C. BLACK TO BE GUEST OF HONOR

Major J. C. C. Black, of Augusta, former congressman from the tenth district and a distinguished lawyer, will be the guest of honor and orator of the evening at the banquet of the Kentucky society, at which Judge John T. Pendleton will preside.

The banquet is to be held at the Ansley hotel, on Thursday night, and a large number of Atlantans who came from Kentucky, or who married Kentuckians, is expected to be present. Members of the society have also extended a special invitation to all friends of Major Black to attend the banquet. The former congressman is well known in Atlanta, and all those who care to attend the banquet will be received for the evening on the same footing as the members of the society.

Those who wish to attend have been asked to secure their tickets at once from W. C. Warfield, chairman of the executive committee. Mr. Warfield has offices at 704 Fourth National Bank building, and may be reached by telephone over Main 1217.

Judge Pendleton is president of the society; S. L. Rhorer is treasurer, and the following, with Mr. Warfield as chairman, compose the executive committee: J. J. Spalding, Scott Hudson, W. C. Jenkins, J. D. Fuckett, Dr. J. C. White, W. S. Elkin, Jr., W. W. Gaines and Isaac Schoen.

COTTON MARKET SHOWS ADVANCE

New York, December 9.—The cotton market was higher today on a moderate demand, which was more generally attributed to covering by recent sellers for over the government crop estimate, due next Friday, than to so far could be judged from the talk about the ring. There was no particular change of sentiment as to the showing of the government's figure, but a conviction that comparatively small estimate may have been increased to some extent by reports that the secretary of agriculture, in his annual statement, had transferred to the cotton production as probably ranking fourth or third in point of size.

Only one private estimate was published, placing the yield at 14,376,000 bales, including linters, which appeared to attract no special attention, but beyond further reports of rapid picking of and ginning, there seemed no fresh development bearing upon the probable extent of supplies. COURT DECISIONS BAR "TIGER" CLUBS

Hereafter Burden Will Be on the Defendants to Show Liquors Not Sold to the Members.

Two very important locker club cases were handed down yesterday, one by the supreme court and the other by the court of appeals, which will settle finally in Georgia that no one can misquerade under a locker club license or run what is, in reality, a "blind tiger." That is really as far as the decisions of the courts in these two cases go.

The courts hold that it is just as illegal for a locker club to sell liquor to members of the club as it would be for a blind tiger. Such cases as Jacon and both were cases of clubs that admitted the sale of liquor.

The judge of the Seminole club was indicted criminally and convicted in the city court of Macon for violation of the prohibition law. In this case Judge Russell, who rendered the decision, says:

"The fact that a club or other organization has paid the $500 prescribed by the tax law does not authorize it, or any member thereof, whether it be fraternal or social, to sell intoxicating liquor, regardless of whether the purchaser is or is not a member.

Admitted Sales.

"In the present case it is conceded that the defendant, in behalf of an association known as the Seminole club, had in its nominal secretary, duly paid the United States receipt or license, authorizing that club to sell intoxicating liquors at retail, and hence the documentary evidence upon this point placed upon the defendant the burden of proving that he did not participate in any sale in any of the sales which may have been made in the club, and the jury were authorized to find that he failed to carry this burden.

"There was sufficient evidence to authorize the jury to infer that the accused, if not the actual seller of the liquor, was actively interested in its sale, and, since in all misdemeanors all who participate in the criminal act are alike principals, the conviction of the accused was warranted by the evidence, and the discretion of the trial judge in refusing a new trial will not be disturbed."

The above was a criminal case in which a conviction was secured in the criminal court against the alleged secretary of the club. The supreme court is equally emphatic in its decision against the Teutonia club, which was one of the locker clubs in which injunction was secured an injunction. Chief Justice Fish, rendering the decision, says:

"A social club paying the specific tax provided in the civil code of 1910, section 933, for keeping or permitting to be kept intoxicating or malt liquors in a room where its members assemble more or frequent is not authorized to sell such liquors to its members or others."

The court decided that the interlocutory injunction against the sale by the club of intoxicating liquors should be affirmed and made perpetual, and that the injunction abating the club as a blind tiger could not stand as final until the defendants had had an opportunity for a trial by jury.

Commercial Sales Barred.

According to attorneys who are best informed, the decisions of the court today mean the end of locker clubs which run for profit, and the number are really "blind tigers." In order to conform to the law in the future, locker clubs will have to show that there is no sale of liquors; in other words, that no profit is made by anyone by the transaction.

It is asserted that where money is paid for the liquor by members of clubs and where such payments can be necessary to equalize the contributions of members and to replenish the stock on hand, the purpose of such clubs to keep and that it is not for the commercial profit of any individual or company, the apparent law may be allowed to come within the law.

However, as the law of the state places the burden of proof for violation of the prohibition law on the possessor of a United States retail revenue license, it will be required in every case of a club possessing such a license to show that it is doing business in conformity with the prohibition law.

Stripped of His Badge, Officer Sought a Duel With Assistant Chief

Charges that he had threatened to "shoot it out" with Chief E. L. Jett, assistant chief of police, if Jett would only return his pistol and give him a chance to fit a duel on the spot, were made against Policeman C. H. Bailey at the meeting of the board of police commissioners last night.

Bailey was relieved of his equipment and badge early Sunday morning when he was brought in by headquarters on a charge of drunkenness. After remaining at headquarters for an hour or more he was permitted to go home. It was alleged by police authorities that, when Jett took from him his gun and badge from his uniform, removed his pistol and equipment, Bailey started to engage the official in a duel with pistols if he would be permitted to regain possession of his guns.

Bailey resigned under charges. In his resignation he wrote:

"Rather than carry the board of commissioners the humiliating of discharging me I tender my resignation and thanks for the many favors you have extended in the past."

BUYERS OF SOUTH TO GATHER HERE

"Merchants' Week" Planned for February by Merchants and Manufactures' Association.

Southern merchants will be in Atlanta during February as the guests of the Atlanta Merchants and Manufacturers' association. This was was the unanimous decision made last night at the seventh annual banquet of the association held at the Piedmont hotel. "Merchants' Week," when customers of the Atlanta houses throughout the entire southern territory will visit here, will start on February 16. This means that for one week Atlanta will be host to the prosperous executives of the various retail houses who will be here to meet the Atlanta wholesalers and to buy their spring goods.

For several years the southern merchants have been entertained in Atlanta during each August. Two years ago a February meeting was held also. The meeting Tuesday night it was decided to make the conventions semi-annual affairs, and the members present decided to a man that they believed that the result of the meeting would mean much for the prosperity of Atlanta and of the merchants who will buy their spring lines of goods here.

Will Throw Open Stores.

Entertainments will be arranged for the visiting merchants and they will be royally entertained. At the same time Atlanta business houses will be thrown open to the visitors and new spring goods will be shown. Following the suggestion of C. W. McClure, the Atlanta wholesalers will put on especially attractive prices for "Merchants' Week" that will make the visit well worth while.

The board of directors had previously recommended the February meeting. When the matter was put before the open meeting there was some practical discussion as to the matter of expense.

"Get the southern merchants—all of them—in the habit of coming to Atlanta; it's worth the expense," said J. K. Orr, president of the association. Mr. Orr appeared to have struck the spirit of the members and it was unanimously decided to hold a merchants' convention twice each year, beginning in February.

That Atlanta can well afford to stand the expense of entertaining out-of-town customers twice yearly was told in the speech of various merchants and manufacturers.

"I've had twice as many people and at least 50 per cent more business during this past November than in any previous November," said C. W. McClure, president of the Atlanta Cent company. Others told stories of actual buying and selling of goods that showed the prosperous condition of affairs in Georgia business.

What New Members.

It was also decided to go after new members and that is why every merchant and manufacturer in Atlanta to join W. H. Leahy, secretary of the industrial bureau of the chamber of commerce, promised to aid in this movement. He is handing out invitations and their value. Fred Houser, secretary of the convention bureau of the chamber of commerce, stated that his bureau would in the future handle all conventions for Atlanta, aggregating 156, of visitors and bringing approximately $2,097,000 to be spent here.

The following directors, who will choose officers for the coming year at their meeting, were chosen: H. B. Wey, Willis Ragan, A. H. McNan, H. J. Choate, E. L. Rhodes, D. C. Thomas, Myer Regenstein, J. R. Little, Saunders Spencer, W. Brown, E. M. Hudson and Henry Watt. J. K. Orr, retiring president, was made an ex-officio member of the board of directors.

Auto Accidents Cause Police Board to Start Work on Traffic Squad

In view of the astounding number of auto accidents that have occurred in Atlanta within the past few days, an effort is being made by the board of police commissioners to organize a traffic squad under the direction of a trained traffic manager.

Commissioner Bob Clark last night proposed that seven more patrolmen be added to the present number of men on traffic duty, and that an able traffic manager be appointed to have charge of traffic sergeant, to have control with the present number of men on crossing and street duty.

The matter met with the unanimous approval of the board. It was adopted and an urgent request printed in the new police budget for appropriations sufficient to obtain the eight required men for traffic service.

Barge and Crew Lost.

Providence, R. I., December 9.—The probable loss of the coal barge, Francis S. Hampshire, with her crew of three men, was reported tonight by Capt. Scully on her arrival from Newalls Point, Va., with the barge Henry Ewing. The tow line of the Hampshire, the last of the string, parted during a heavy gale off Block Island today. In the darkness and high seas the tug could do nothing to assist the Hampshire and it is feared she foundered.

Port Authorities Meet.

New Orleans, La., December 9.—The second annual convention of the National Association of Port Authorities was called to order here today and was addressed by Calvin Tompkins, of New York, president. He advocated municipal ownership of docks, terminals, steamship and railroad terminals and public lighterage. Ninety-seven seaport in the United States was represented at the opening session.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

West Peachtree Auction Today. Real Estate Board to Work for Regional Bank.

The Atlanta real estate market is expected to be given a big boost this week by the two auction sales that have been widely advertised. Valuable West Peachtree property, belonging to the defunct Guarantee Trust and Banking company, will be sold at auction at 10 o'clock today, with Steve R. Johnston, as auctioneer.

The auction sale will take place on the grounds, and it is expected that many investors will be present, seeking to pick up some of the property at an auction where they believe they will get a splendid bargain. Half the real estate men in Atlanta have already said that they intended to be on the grounds when auctioneer Johnston calls for the first bid. The lots to be sold are on West Peachtree, near Pine street.

Auction in Terminal District.

On Friday Forrest Adair will wield the hammer over the W. M. Scott property, in the Terminal district. This valuable railroad frontage, which also fronts on Nelson and Walker streets, has been in charge of the Adairs and Edwin P. Ansley, and is expected to draw a large crowd which will be well rewarded for their trip.

Active work on behalf of Robert F. Maddox and a number of other Atlantans who are aiding Georgia senators and congressmen to secure a regional bank for Atlanta, was brought in the new currency bill which congress is expected to pass, was strongly commended by the directors of the Atlanta Real Estate Board Tuesday.

Real estate men generally feel that the securing of a regional bank by Atlanta would be of wonderful aid to this city in its growth. They also point out that Atlanta is the logical point in this territory for placing such a bank as the currency bill would provide.

State Chamber Meets Approval.

Support of the state chamber of commerce was also given by the directors of the board. Harris G. White, president, was authorized to mail letters to the members of the board and to business men in Atlanta, telling them of the work accomplished by the state chamber and of the need for such an organization. The letter is intended to impress on business men in general the meaning of the aim and scope of the state chamber's work.

It was announced Tuesday that Dr. J. Cheston King had sold, through the Claude E. Sims company and Mollendon Realty, to the Pulliam Finance company, a lot on Peachtree circle, in block 4 of Ponce de Leon park. It brought approximately $7,500, or $100 per front foot.

18,000 to Piedmont Orchards.

Through an error in the article about the Piedmont Orchards published on the Sunday real estate page it was stated that the concern had 1,000 trees. The officials have asked that this be corrected, and state that they have 18,000 trees on their Habersham county orchards?

NEED HIGHER SALARIES TO RETAIN LIBRARIANS

The urgent need of an increased appropriation for the Carnegie library in order to retain the services of competent assistants was brought out strongly yesterday afternoon at the regular meeting of the board when two resignations were filed, both on account of the fact that better salaries are offered outside positions elsewhere.

Miss Gertrude Ryan resigned to accept the position of librarian of the department of history and archives at Montgomery, and Miss Mabel Jones to head the children's department of the public library at Jacksonville. Both of their places Miss Ruth Hill and Miss Pauline Benson were appointed.

The librarian's report showed for the month of November, 731 new books, 23,448 books circulated among grown people, 5,092 to children, 64 new members, 319 of this numbering being children, 1,821 attendance in reference room, 421 coming at night; 1,066 reading room attendance at library on Sunday, 1,600, and one hundred book into city treasury on account of fines. Large crowds were present, with the exception of the children's room, Miss Sibley reported, at Ponce de Leon reading room is open from 2 until 6 o'clock in the afternoon.

WALTHOUR CATCHES BIKE RIDERS NAPPING

New York, December 9.—Twelve teams had stood the test of two days' steady riding and were tied for the lead in the six-day bicycle race in Madison Square Garden at midnight. Trailing eight laps behind the leaders was the Kopsky-Root combination. The newly-formed Clarke-Grenda team, by its handicap under the rules, was still a lap to the rear of the leading dozen, while the Corry-Walker team, formed yesterday, was under similar handicap, but was two laps behind the rear. At midnight the leading teams had traveled 1,000 miles in the race and were 2 miles ahead of the record.

LOBBY PROBERS BRAND M'DERMOTT

He May Be Expelled for Relations With Mulhall. M'Dermott Guilty of "Acts of Grave Impropriety."

Washington, December 9.—All questions relating to the investigation of the Mulhall lobby charges were referred by the house late today to its judiciary committee. The action followed a long parliamentary debate over the report of the special investigating committee, arraigning lobbying activities at the capital and holding Representative McDermott, of Illinois, a democrat, guilty of "acts of grave impropriety, unbecoming the dignity of the position he occupies," and a minority report submitted by Representative McDonald, progressive, of Michigan, with resolutions proposing the expulsion of Representative McDermott and contempt proceedings against officers of the National Association of Manufacturers.

The majority report, which made no recommendations, was signed by Chairman Garrett and all the members of the committee except Representative McDonald.

After McDermott.

For three hours and a half the reading clerks of the house droned through the reading of the reports. Then Mr. McDonald introduced his two resolutions. The first called upon the house to immediately determine whether, under the committee's report, McDermott had not been guilty of "disgraceful and dishonorable misconduct and venality, rendering him unworthy of a seat in this house and justly liable to expulsion from the same." The other called for immediate determination whether under the committee report it had not been shown that J. Philip Bird, John Kirby, Jr., James A. Emery, Martin M. Mulhall and other officers and agents of the National Association of Manufacturers "have been engaged in systematic, continuous practices against the good order and dignity of the house and in improper and vicious lobbying activities, rendering them liable to punishment by this house for contempt."

After a general debate over the parliamentary questions involved a motion by Representative Garrett to refer the whole matter to the judiciary committee was carried 123 to 84.

Summary of the Report.

The main conclusions of the majority define a lobby as "a person or body of persons seeking to influence legislation by congress in any manner whatsoever." The National Association of Manufacturers, the National Council for Industrial Defense, the National Tariff Commission association, the American Federation of Labor, the Washington City Association of Lumber Dealers and local loan sharks are found to have maintained lobbies.

Martin M. Mulhall is held to have admitted errors in some vital statements made in his charges, but to have been corroborated in other matters of importance by officials of the National Association of Manufacturers and the National Council for Industrial Defense. Mulhall, the report says, was extravagant in many of his claims, and "cannot but have used his influence with members of congress and public men generally. High officers of the manufacturers' organization and the Council for Industrial Defense used him "very largely and primarily for personal lobbying," says the report.

The lobby of the associations of manufacturers and of industrial defense is held guilty of the most flagrant violations and seeking to prevent legislation.

Travers Aaron, counsel, is censured for propriety of acts of Mulhall and Counsellor James C. Emery, for the manufacturers.

The report added:

"It is outrageous and offensive that these associations should have to pay paid hirelings about the capitol, buttonholing members of congress, to induce them to remain away when a vote was being taken.

"Nothing illegitimate was found in the activity of the American Federation of Labor. Lobbies of liquor dealers and money lenders in Washington were found to have neither effected nor prevented legislation improperly.

Improper and Dishonest.

Methods used by the manufacturers' organization in sending Mulhall through the country with funds to organize temporary associations was denounced as "improper, disreputable and dishonest."

No evidence was found of employment of members of the house for improper purposes.

Tipping of house employees was denounced as reprehensible. Employment by the manufacturers' association of Representative Page McDermott, of the house, was severely censured.

Representatives Bartholdt, Burke, Calder, Sherley and Webb were upheld as "neither reached nor influenced by the manufacturers."

The committee held that Representative McDermott minimized his intimate relations with Mulhall; that his obtained small loans from Mulhall, but added that these were personal acts of Mulhall, and "we do not believe that he let McDermott have the money with a view to corrupting him, nor do we believe McDermott received from Mulhall, in these loans, anything near the $1,400 or $2,000 as alleged."

The committee concluded that McDermott's training and associations "have not given him the best ideas of perceptions and standards relative to public office that usually characterize public men.

"We cannot say that he has been corrupted in his votes," it added, "but some things he has done in private citizen may do with impunity must be avoided by one in official station."

MAYOR WOODWARD SEES THE "BILLIKEN GIRL"

Mayor James G. Woodward and members of the police commission of Atlanta, went to the Columbia theater last night. The members sat through the entire performance and enjoyed all the funny commedians and the pretty chorus girls. In fact, the mayor later declared that "The Billiken Girl" was full to the brim of candy.

The visit was made to the theater for the purpose of ascertaining if the numerous rumors were well founded that the prevailing report developed the management of the Columbia conducted a sporting house. Recorder Nash Broyles caused an investigation to be made, and according to reports from Police Chief Beavers, Commissioner Roberts found nothing offensive in the show.

The members of the commission would not comment on the last night except to state that it was clever. Mayor Woodward declared that he saw nothing to which anyone could take offense, and Chairman Carlos Mason congratulated the management on their efforts to make the theater an up-to-date place of amusement.

BATTLING LEVINSKY OUTPOINTS JIM FLYNN

New York, December 9.—In a fast ten-round bout here tonight, battling Levinsky outpointed Jim Flynn, of Pueblo, Colo., by a margin of seven pounds in weight. The first and tenth rounds were even, the fourth going to Flynn and in the others Levinsky proved himself the master of his opponent. Only once during the bout did Flynn appear to have an advantage when, with a blow to the right ear, he sent Levinsky to his knees. Two other times Levinsky fell, but both falls were attributed to his tripping over his own feet. Flynn weighed in at 187 pounds, Levinsky at 167.

WIDOW, IN TEARS, TELLS OF COURTSHIP

Mrs. Joshua Crawford Bares Story of Her Life on Stand at Auditor's Hearing on Tuesday.

The sensational Crawford will hearing will probably come to an end so far as the auditor sees it today. The climax to the contest on the part of the forty-eight heirs-at-law of the late well-known Atlantan to wrest from Mrs. Crawford her portion of the $250,000 estate, came yesterday, when Mrs. Crawford, dressed in deepest mourning, took the stand before Auditor Anderson and revealed the complete story of her life, and told of her acquaintanceship and later marriage to Joshua Crawford.

Mrs. Crawford denied vehemently that she had even the remotest connection with the death of her aged husband, stating in the simple story, several times Mrs. Crawford broke down and the court awaited her composure.

The little room on the top floor of the old city hall, where Mrs. Crawford told her story, was packed with litigants in the interesting action pending against her.

Tells of Early Life.

Mrs. Crawford began her narrative with the story of her early life. She declared she had married a man named Bishop when she was but 15 years of age. She bore him three children, she said, all of whom are living. In three years Bishop deserted her, she averred, and then she secured a divorce.

Mrs. Crawford said she left the farm where she had been living, near Farmington, Pa., and journeyed to Pittsburg. While there she married a man by the name of McKennon. She lived with McKennon, she declared, for six years, when he deserted her. McKennon later got a divorce decree on a desertion charge, she declared, and declared further that she was influenced to go to St. Augustine, Fla., to open a boarding house.

While conducting the establishment, Mrs. Crawford said that she had as a boarder Frederick Lumm, the banker, who is the heir-at-law in the present litigation charge as being an accessory after the fact in the murder of Crawford. Lumm, declared Mrs. Crawford, had absolutely nothing to do with Crawford's death, nor did she.

Crawford Enters Case.

During the first year she conducted the boarding house Crawford came to St. Augustine for his health, so Mrs. Crawford said. He was accompanied by a niece. Mrs. Crawford said that she did not know anything about Crawford but that she did her best to please him. The old man, she said, seemed to appreciate what was being done for him and took occasion several times to express his appreciation of her small kindnesses.

"One day," said Mrs. Crawford, "the old man mentioned that he would like to have a capable woman for his wife. I did not take it to mean that he was courting me. He was always telling me of his minor affairs and confided that he had a great many relatives who were bothering him all the time about his will.

"Well, the upshot of it was that one day he asked me to be his wife. He said, as you can see, and I want you to take care of me." He was so helpless that he touched my heart. He told me I was the only woman that he had asked to marry him in the last fifteen years."

Black Looks of Family.

Mrs. Crawford said she later came to Atlanta and that she met the black looks of the Crawford in-laws, but did not flinch. She said that in the morning she arrived here there was no breakfast in the house and that she herself went into the kitchen and prepared the meal.

Crawford, she said, showed her the anonymous letter he had received and he laughed at it.

"Then I told Mr. Crawford," Mrs. Crawford continued, "that if he felt that way about it I would marry him.

"The wedding took place," said Mrs. Crawford, "on March 21, 1909, and on March 29 Mr. Crawford died." At this point Mrs. Crawford sobbed audibly. When she had regained her composure she remarked. "And during our short married life, Josh was cold sober all of the time."

"Just a few hours before he died," Mrs. Crawford continued, "Mr. Crawford called me to him and said 'Nacy, don't you worry. I'm all right.'"

Mrs. Crawford then made a complete denial of the charges against her as the murderer of Crawford and attempting to smother Mrs. Rose Scott, who is the principal heirs-at-law, who lived at the Crawford house.

Mrs. Crawford Exhausted.

Mrs. Crawford appeared visibly exhausted. Her attorneys then consented to recess until the hearing be checked until today when with a few minor witnesses it will probably be brief. The case will then be argued on the law points before the superior court. It is hinted by both sides that should either lose the case will be carried directly to the supreme court of the state.

There has as yet been no criminal action taken against Mrs. Crawford by the solicitor general pro tem. John Y. Smith. He has stated that he hopes to present evidence looking towards Mrs. Crawford's indictment to the grand jury not later than one week from the coming Friday.

WIFE PLACED IN JAIL FOR SHOOTING HUSBAND

Lexington, S. C., December 9.—Charged with complicity in the shooting of J. Mitchell Hite, a prominent citizen of Batesburg, near here, Mrs. Ella Hite, wife of Mr. Hite, has been lodged in the Lexington jail, where Mrs. E. Gurganous, charged with doing the shooting, has been held since Tuesday night. Mrs. Hite refused to make a statement, but said she would have something to say in a few days. Hite, who is on January 1913, the Southern railway was yesterday found guilty by a federal jury. There were five counts in the bill of complaint and on each count Judge Newman directed that the verdict be completed by a fine of forty dollars in each case —$200 in all, and the cost of court.

A similar case containing five counts against the Western and Atlantic railway, was disposed of by a verdict for fifty dollars on each count, a total of $100 and cost.

AT THE THEATERS

Robert Hilliard.

(At the Atlanta).

The last two chances Atlantans will have to see Robert Hilliard and his New York company in "The Argyle Case" come this afternoon and tonight. Mr. Hilliard has the chance will miss the best show of the season—one that will provide thrills aplenty and good acting enough for any one performance anywhere in the world. Mr. Hilliard has a play which certainly won approval of all, and his company is as perfect as ever come south. The play is quite different from "A Fool There Was" in which Mr. Hilliard last appeared here but it has as strong hold upon audiences and one is entranced by the presentation. All Atlanta critics united in saying "Don't miss it."

"Fine Feathers."

(At the Atlanta.)

Thursday night, "Fine Feathers" will open at the Atlanta with its original all-star cast of Robert Edeson, Effie Shannon, Ruth Shepley, Virginia Louis Robertsen and Lydia Dickson. The play comes here fresh with a matinee Saturday and it promises to be one of the most sensational successes. Seats are now on sale for the engagement and the demand indicates a packed house for the week. "Fine Feathers" is by Eugene Walters and is a play which stirs to the very core. As performed by the all-stars, it stands unrivalled in attractiveness for the theater patron.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Theatergoers know a real show when they see it. They have seen some wonderful entertainments at the Forsyth, but never a better all-around variety combination than the bill that is now crowding the busy theater. The star of the bill and the hero of the season is Yvette, the sensational violinist, dancer and singer. This little woman has won the affection of every soul in her audiences. She has created more talk than any feature the Forsyth has offered. Her work is a delight to the eye and ear and is directly credited with the big results. The Nichol sisters are hit-makers, too. They also are pleasing persons in black face in the profession and have added to the value of the show.

"A Butterfly on the Wheel."

(At The Lyric).

A wonderfully interesting drama, a charming little star and an adequate stage production are some of the elements that are making this week's attractions at the Lyric. "The Butterfly on the Wheel," one of the most popular offerings of the season at this house. In the part of the young wife, Miss Morrell is doing most conflicting work and winning many friends among local theatergoers. The supporting company, with E. M. Burnside, in the part of the husband, Charles Dalton, as Dr. Ainsley, and Harry Cooper in the comical role of the English lord, are the unusually clever cast of excellent work. "The Butterfly on the Wheel" is destined to be a splendid business getter at the Lyric, as the attraction is in every way a meritorious one. Matinees will be given as usual on Thursday and Saturday.

"Over the Sea."

(At the Jewel.)

The Jewel Keiley company is offering this week at the Jewel a performance somewhat different from those that have preceded it in that the scene of the play takes place in England and later in Australia, giving it a flavor decidedly different from the American melodrama. Great care has been exercised in the selection of the cast for this performance, and the clever work of Earl Rigney as the smoaking Peter Crawley, Vernon Wallace as Tom Robertson, Edwin Vail as Francis Eden, the minister, Oscar Rose as John Meadowes, Miss Lillian Douglas as Susan; Miss Rose Morris as Josepha, are all deserving of praise. The company has in preparation for next week one of the most sensational railroad plays entitled "The Denver Express."

Columbia Theater.

The verdict of the Columbia patrons is the "Billiken Girl" is the best show of the season and this is attested by the fact that the cast has been enlarged. Frank Delmaine is sharing the leading honors with Charlie Grapewin. They make the funniest pair of commedians in burlesque. The full line number of the olio is Helene Hall and her company in a fantastic sketch called "The Story of the Rose of Salome." It is one of the cleverest acts seen in Atlanta in months. The entire show is evenly balanced.

WITH THE MOVIES

The Alamo No. 1.

"Smithy's Grandpa Party" is the title of an up-to-date comedy to be seen at the Alamo No. 1 today. Professor Smithy, a physical culture expert and his assistant Swifty Sam, prepare to give a blowout for their friends and the Gates theater. The professor's wife being away gives them an opportunity for having a grand old time. The girls, however, refuse to go to the Smithy home unless some female member of the family be present as chaperon. Smithy bribes the butler to wear his wife's clothes and they make him up as a grandmother. The fun is merry in the height of its sermon when wifey returns unexpectedly, demands that the butler return her clothes to them and enters the gymnasium, where the party is in full swing. The hilarious reign of Smithy recognizes his wife immediately and the fireworks begin. Wifey has a good mind to deal out Smithy but finally trusts him into the bathtub filled with cold water. The whole affair being cut short by the guests leave in an unexpected manner.

The Alamo No. 2.

"The Chinese Death Thorn" is the name of a two-reel Kalem drama that will be seen at the Alamo No. 2 today. Martin Lee is victim of the underworld and member of Moi Ling's "gang," saves Mildred, daughter of Dearborn, a banker, from the clutches of the Chinamen. In gratitude, the banker gives him a low start, and he is later made cashier of the bank. Learning of Avery's proposals to Moi Ling, through strategy, captures him and engineers a robbery of the bank. Martin's brother rescues him just as he is about to be put to death with the terrible Chinese death thorn. As the police enter the den, Moi Ling kills himself. Martin Avery and his brother return to the bank with the stolen funds. Featuring Miss Avery as crazy Aureima and the Monarch quartet daily.
