SHOTS EXCHANGED BETWEEN MEXICAN AND U. S. TROOPS

One of Huerta's Men Shot to Death After He Had Fired on the American Soldiers.

FIRST SHOT FIRED BY HUERTA SOLDIERS

Warning Sent to Huerta's Commander at Ojinaga That His Soldiers Must Not Repeat the Shooting.

Presidio, Texas, December 18.—An exchange of shots between Mexican and American soldiers on the American side two miles west of Presidio today, resulted in the death of Luis Orozco, a federal regular, from the army of General Mercado.

The Mexicans fired the first shots, Orozco, who lived several hours, admitted, after being shot, that he and his companions had crossed to the American side with a note, and that when they were halted by the American sentries they fired.

As soon as the shooting became known at United States army headquarters, a warning was sent to the federal commander across the border that the shooting must not be repeated.

According to eye-witnesses, the American soldiers on duty near the place where the shooting occurred were informed federal soldiers were hiding in a hut 300 yards from the river on the American side. The Americans went toward the hut to investigate.

Two Mexicans rushed from the hut and started running toward the river. The patrol called to them to halt. The only answer was a shot from a rifle of one of the fleeing Mexicans. Then the Americans returned the fire and one of the federals dropped. The other continued firing as he ran.

RUNS ON MEXIC BANKS ARE STILL IN PROGRESS

Mexico City, December 18.—Representatives of the banks again met at the finance department today to work out their plan to save the Central bank and its dependencies in the states. There is little doubt that their plan will be adopted and that President Huerta will issue a decree making state bank notes legal tender.

Long lines of nervous people formed in front of the Central bank today, but dilatory paying and the exchange of only 20 per cent of the notes presented in, again served to prolong the hopes of those who have these notes in their possession. The acuteness of the financial situation is not greater than that of the military situation, although no news of important field operations has been received.

The rebels in all quarters are holding their own, and it is regarded as probable that those now concentrated at Victoria will soon move southward against Tampico. Advices up to 6 o'clock tonight indicated that Tampico has been free from attack for several days and reported that no rebels were in sight. The government stores of ammunition in the capital, it is understood, have been dangerously reduced, and failure to receive a consignment from Japan is said to be causing concern at the palace.

GEN. HUERTA BANNED BY FRENCH BANKERS

Paris, December 18.—The efforts of the Mexican government to raise money in Europe in order to meet the interest on its obligations falling due in January have thus far been futile. The Paris and London bankers who took $20,000,000 of the loan authorized by the Mexican congress in the spring and an option on the $10,000,000 remainder, decline to exercise their option, even for a few millions.

The Mexican minister of finance, Adolfo De La Lama, now in Europe, brought him authority from General Huerta to intimate to the bankers here holding the option that they must either exercise it or surrender it. The bankers refuse to do either.

A threat has been conveyed to them, cautiously, that the option may be revoked so that the unissued portion of the loan may be placed elsewhere. The bankers have replied resolutely that the contract cannot be revoked summarily, as Mexican credit would be in a worse position after such a revocation than it was before.

ESCAPED FROM MEXICO TO BE ROBBED IN TEXAS

Alpine, Texas, December 18.—After getting safely through Mexico with $2,000, two Mexican refugees who came to Ojinaga with the federal army, were held up and robbed of all their money on American soil near Marfa, Texas, last night. The refugees had hired an automobile owner to take them from Ojinaga to Marfa, and the bandits wrecked the machine by piling ties on a trestle. A posse is in pursuit of the robbers.

VILLA WILL PROTECT RIHGTS OF FOREIGNERS

Chihuahua, Mexico, December 18.—General Francisco Villa, the rebel military chief, issued a notice from the state palace today that he would guarantee the rights of all foreigners and all Mexicans who have given support to the Huerta government. He provided for the immediate execution of all soldiers who should any of his soldiers attempt to loot stores or violate the rights of noncombatants.

General Villa wished it to be known he was in every way in accord with the wishes of the United States that the persons and property of foreigners would be respected. At the same time, he said it would be his policy, both in Chihuahua and during his campaign southward, to deal summarily with all people who lend aid to General Huerta. He asserted the revolution had pro-

JUST AFTER THEIR TEAM WON

Miss Elvena Smith, on left, and Miss Lucile Chandler, two pretty members of basketball team of the Woodberry School for Girls.

Although the score sounded like an example in calculus instead of basketball, the captains of the Woodberry and the North Avenue Presbyterian church basketball teams are still friends. Woodberry beat the North Avenue lassies, 38 to 9, on Wednesday afternoon. The game was played on the Woodberry court, and was witnessed by several hundred fair basketball fans.

Miss Lucy Shipman, captain of the winning team, declared that she really hated to beat the North Avenue girls by such a big score, but she "just couldn't help it" with such a band of players as she had.

SCHOOL CHILDREN GET EXTRA DAYS

Public Schools of City Will Close for Fall Term on This Afternoon—To Add 2 Days to Winter Term.

When school is dismissed this afternoon, the last day of the fall term of 1913 will have ended for the pupils of the Atlanta public schools. At the meeting of the board of education this Thursday afternoon, it was unanimously voted to give the children the requested extra holidays of Monday and Tuesday.

There was considerable discussion on the matter, it being urged that to close the schools today would disarrange the program of the teachers for the rest of the school year, especially in getting out the report cards. The board decided that the cards need not be issued until the beginning of the winter term, January 5, and that two extra days of school would be added in June.

The action of the board brings joy to the 25,000 school children of Atlanta who have been pleading for additional time before Christmas in which to prepare for the event. The children were backed in their request for an earlier holiday by many of the teachers, who saw that creditable work could not be accomplished by girls and boys whose minds were filled with Christmas plans.

Dr. Theodore Poepel appeared before the board and urged the establishing of summer playgrounds at four of the schools. He asked that the budget committee add $1,200 to the report to be submitted to the city council, this amount to be expended for equipping four playgrounds for the children. The matter was referred to the budget committee, which, as appointed by Colonel Walter R. Daley, president of the board, consists of all the members of the board.

The place of assistant principal was created by the board for the East Atlanta and Oakland City schools, and Misses Mary Zachry and Nellie Orr were elected for the places. They have not yet been assigned.

HE KILLED LODGE MATE BY MISTAKE FOR BURGLAR

Norfolk, Va., December 18.—F. F. Wilson, aged 37 years, was shot and killed early today by Dr. C. A. Saunders, who mistook Wilson for a burglar. The theory of Wilson's family is that he had been drinking and, being left on the wrong corner by persons piloting him home, was trying to get into the Saunders house, thinking it was his own. Wilson and Dr. Saunders belonged to the same Masonic lodge.

DARING AUTO THEFT CHARGED BY POLICE TO YOUNG COUPLE

The police are throwing out a dragnet for a stylishly dressed young woman and man in fur-lined overcoat and derby who are believed to have stolen the new Oakland touring car belonging to E. C. Rupley a sit stood in front of the Atlanta National bank building late yesterday afternoon.

The theft was one of the most daring committed in the present series of automobile thefts, which have startled the police and auto-owners for the past several weeks. According to the statement of a traffic policeman who saw the machine glide away, it was occupied by the woman and man.

Mr. Rupley owns two Oakland machines, both of which are yellow, the only cars of a similar color and design in the city. About 5 o'clock he left it in front of the Atlanta National Bank building and went into his office. Upon returning the machine was gone.

A policeman declared he had seen a young man with eyeglasses, a fur-lined overcoat and derby step into the car with a girl dressed elaborately in a blue hat and gray traveling suit and a crimson underskirt showing beneath a slit skirt. They had driven the machine up Whitehall street.

Police headquarters was notified. At 6:20 o'clock, however, when Mr. Rupley returned to the Atlanta National Bank building, the machine had been returned. It was out of oil, the water in the radiator was steaming, and it was in general bad shape. The police believe it was taken by the daring couple for a joy ride.

LAST SUMMONS COMES TO REV. T. E. CONVERSE

Was One of Best Known Presbyterian Ministers in the South.

Rev. Thomas E. Converse, pastor of the Druid Park Presbyterian church, died at 9 o'clock Thursday night at his home, 163 Linwood avenue. He had been ill for about three months.

Dr. Converse was born in Philadelphia, Pa., seventy-two years ago. For a number of years he was in Kentucky, in which state he married. He was for a time the editor of The Christian Observer, published at Louisville, Ky. About three years ago he accepted the pastorate of the Druid Park church, and was also one of the editors of The Presbyterian of the South.

Surviving him are his wife, three daughters, Misses Sarah, Rosa Irvine and Mildred Converse, and a brother, James Converse, of Morristown, Tenn.

Funeral services will be held some time Saturday.

PREACHER AND WIFE FINED FOR REFUSING TO KISS THE BIBLE

Chattanooga, Tenn., December 18.—Burke Priddy, a justice of the peace in this county, set a precedent today when he fined Rev. Roy Cotnam, a minister of the "Unknown Tongue," or Holy Roller, a witness, Sam Helton, and the minister's wife $5 and costs because they declined to kiss the Bible. The minister, charged with several offenses, was ordered to the workhouse, but later was released upon a writ of habeas corpus.

LABOR UNION HIT FOR BIG DAMAGES

U. S. Court of Appeals Affirms $252,130 Judgment Against United Hatters in the Famous Danbury Case.

New York, December 18.—The United States court of appeals today decided the famous Danbury hatters' case in favor of D. E. Loewe & Co., the plaintiffs, and against the United Hatters of North America. The court affirmed a judgment in favor of Mr. Loewe and against the hatters' organization for $252,130.

With interest and costs the judgment now amounts to $272,000. At the first trial, held in 1908, the plaintiffs obtained a judgment for $221,240.

Sustaining the second judgment, Judge Coxe declared that it was no longer debatable "that the anti-trust act is applicable to such combinations as are alleged in the complaint," and that the acts made distinctions between classes of combinations or individuals.

Finding of the Court.

The court held that it had been clearly established that the plaintiffs were engaged in an interstate business and that the defendants are members of a trades union and affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, "one of the objects of the latter organization being to assist its members 'in any justifiable boycott' and with financial help in the event of a strike or lockout."

It was shown at the trial that in March, 1901, the United Hatters' head resolved to unionize the plaintiffs' factory and that Mr. Loew had been informed by union officials that the hatters "would resort to the usual methods" in case their plan should meet with opposition. On July 5, 1902, the plaintiffs' employees were directed to go on strike, and it is claimed that almost immediately a boycott was established. The plaintiffs assert that this measure "converted a profit of $27,000 in 1901 into losses ranging from $17,000 in 1902 to $3,000 in 1904."

Judge Coxe said in conclusion of his finding:

"No one disputes the proposition that labor unions are lawful. All must admit that they are not only lawful, but highly beneficial when legally and fairly conducted, but like all other institutions from time to time they have voted objects and purposes, they must obey the law."

In the Courts Ten Years.

Danbury, Conn., December 18.—The so-called Danbury hatters' case has been before the courts for more than ten years. Once it was before the United States supreme court. Of the 240 original defendants, more than thirty have since died and two have gone insane. The American Federation of Labor supported the hatters and prominent labor officials, including Samuel Gompers and John Mitchell, gave testimony at some of the trials.

A walkout of union hatters employed by D. E. Loewe & Co. in 1901 was the beginning of the case. The factory up to that time and since has been conducted on a non-union basis. In 1902 D. E. Loewe & Co. brought suit against Martin Lawler and 250 other members of the hatters' union, alleging a boycott that was in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, in that in-

MONEY MEASURE SWIFTLY MOVES TO FINAL PASSAGE

All Opposition Amendments Voted Down and Democratic Amendments Being Adopted.

TODAY MAY WITNESS PASSAGE OF MEASURE

Protest by Atlanta Bankers Heeded by the Democrats. Important Changes Made by Democrats.

Washington, December 18.—With the democratic legislative machinery running smoothly, the administration currency bill today moved rapidly toward its final passage in the senate. The last of the opposition amendments to the measure was voted down, and Senator Owen began the presentation of the democratic amendments, calculated to perfect the measure, which were adopted without meeting strenuous protest.

Legislative leaders declared tonight the end of the currency fight was in sight. In the house, Speaker Clark and Majority Leader Underwood expressed the opinion that the measure would go to the president and be written into law by Monday or Tuesday at the latest. Mr. Underwood announced his intention of offering an adjournment resolution, which would give congress a holiday recess until January 12, just as soon as the bill was passed. In formal conferences on the measure, he said, already had settled all but a few disputed points in the differences between the two houses.

Atlanta's Protest Heeded.

Modification of the bill to permit clearing house associations to continue their present systems of bank examinations was announced by the senate administration currency leaders.

As the bill stands, it would prevent any bank examiner from disclosing to one bank the loans of another. Clearing house associations cities now employ special examiners by general consent of the banks to examine all the banks in the association and to protect the banks against overloans.

Telegrams received today from associations in various cities, including Atlanta, Ga., asked that the present system of examination be provided for in the bill.

The final efforts of Senator Hitchcock and the republican substitute for their ideas into the bill were voted down one after another today, the senate operating under the agreement to limit speeches to fifteen minutes each and approving them along.

Democratic Amendments Adopted.

Then Senator Owen presented the amendments which the democratic caucus last night. The opposition did not insist on roll calls, and the amendments were adopted with little debate until Senator Owen presented the one to authorize the federal reserve board to appoint "attorneys, agents and assistants" without regard to the civil service law, a provision which many cans broke forth in protest and prevented immediate action.

One amendment adopted provided that banks in the new system could not employ former secretaries of the treasury, assistant secretaries, controllers of the currency or members of the federal reserve board for two years after they severed their connection with the government. Another change left to the federal reserve board discretion to use a part of the earnings of regional banks to build up the gold reserve. The salary of the members of the federal reserve board was increased from $10,000 to $12,000.

A number of amendments calculated to safeguard the new currency discretion until Senator Owen presented one to authorize the federal reserve board to appoint "attorneys, agents and assistants" without regard to the civil service law, a provision which many cans broke forth in protest and prevented immediate action.

The salary of the members of the federal reserve board was increased from $10,000 to $12,000.

A number of amendments calculated to safeguard the new currency system into operation were adopted, and various changes were made to facilitate the entrance of state banks and trust companies.

Attacks by Republicans.

Senators Root, Bristow, Burton and Cummins attacked the decision of the proposal that the employees of the federal reserve board be exempted from civil service requirements.

"It is now declared," declared Senator Bristow, "that the haste enforced by the consideration of this bill is not only proposed to quiet the financial unrest of the country, but also to satisfy the horde of hungry office-seekers who have besieged congress for the past ten months. Opening up these positions to partisan politics would force the federal reserve board to go into politics, whether it wanted to or not."

Senator Root declared the bill was a small number of employees would be affected by the provision, and asserted that the amendment was proposed in order that the federal reserve board might not be hampered or delayed in beginning operations.

When the senate recessed at 5 o'clock the democratic caucus remained to perfect final amendments to the bill.

Democrats Are Warned.

When the democratic conference adjourned at 5 o'clock it had completed work on the bill, and had agreed on amendments covering a number of the points which had been demanded by the republicans. These included provisions for an extra issue of $50,000,000 limit on rediscountable commercial paper, of agricultural conditions from ninety days to 180 days, with the discretion left to the federal board to accept the longer time paper. The provision for branch banks in foreign countries was left in the associations as well as in the national banks, and a provision that would permit clearing house associations to continue under the present system of examining the transactions of the banks within the clearing house association.

The democrats determined to stand by their amendment, taking out of the bill only the provision for agents and officers of the new currency system. The amendment proposed to increase the gold reserve behind the notes issued from 5 per cent to 40 per cent was further modified so that an additional 5 per cent would be imposed when the reserve fell not more than 7½ per cent below that figure and an additional tax of 1½ per cent for each additional decrease of 2½ per cent in the amount of the reserve.

Amendments Are Adopted.

The amendments agreed upon by the conference were adopted later in the senate, many of them without opposition. The republicans continued the provision exempting employees from the civil service, and were joined in the vote by Senators Lane and Thomas, democrats, but they were voted down, 24 to 32.

Concessions made in the bill to accommodate agricultural notes were the result of an amendment introduced in the conference by Senator Smith, of

BROYLES TO OPPOSE ROAN FOR APPELLATE JUDGESHIP; MANY SEEK POLICE BENCH

Announces Candidacy

JUDGE NASH R. BROYLES,
Who announces he will run against Judge Roan for the court of appeals.

CHAMP CLARK BIFFS CALAMITY HOWLERS

Speaker Leaves Chair to Rebuke Republican Prophets of Woe—Plot Against Prosperity Is Charged.

Washington, December 18.—Speaker Clark left his chair in the house today to challenge the patriotism of "calamity howling" republicans after Majority Leader Mann had made a speech declaring the country in the throes of business and industrial depression as a result of democratic tariff legislation. As the "greatest calamity howlers in America," the speaker presented Senator Root, of New York; former Speaker Cannon, Chairman Hilles, of the republican national committee; former Governor Hadley, of Missouri, and Representative Mann.

Vigorously defending the new tariff law, Mr. Clark declared that there had been any hold-up in business it was simply because prudence was being exercised. He said the men who are the father of the thought with the republican leaders and suggested that it was strange that one else had seen signs of falling prices.

Purpose of Howlers.

"These people," continued Speaker Clark, "propose to get into the newspapers every day, day after day, that the country is going to the dogs and business is going to the deuce and people that never thought of a panic will begin to study about it. By all thinking men this will be considered a monstrous and unpardonable performance."

Representative Mann had painted a gloomy picture of the country under the democratic tariff, and the threat of political control of banking and currency. "Throughout the country today," he said, "wherever men are congregated there now is that quiet discussion going on, which, when cold weather strikes the country, will end in a roar and a howl that will even penetrate the ears of the deaf statesmen on the democratic side of the aisle. Men will work and children willing to work, who were at work before this date are now seeking the opportunity. The president could do much today toward inspiring confidence if he would. The democratic side of this house could do much, but they are pursuing the fatuous policies which they have talked about on the stump so many years. We are not justified in keeping silence on the situation."

Speaker Clark in reply charged that the utterances of Mr. Mann, Root, former Speaker Cannon, former Governor Hadley and Chairman Hilles of the republican national committee, looked like a republican conspiracy against the progress of the republic.

"Greatest Calamity Howlers."

The speaker added that Mr. Mann and the others mentioned "have been the greatest calamity howlers in this country this fall," and said it was impossible to see blue enough to paint the signs of the times which they pictured so vividly.

Speaker Clark ridiculed predictions of the republican leaders.

"I don't believe," shouted the speaker, "that I exaggerate in a matter of proprietory or of fact in saying that it looks like a republican conspiracy against progress of the republic. Mr. Mann while howling calamity, declared that he is a calamity howler, but Mr. Root, Mr. Cannon, Mr. Hadley and Mr. Mann have been the greatest calamity howlers in this country this fall."

Speaker Clark declared that the panic of 1893 came on as a result of the McKinley bill and that there was no truth in the "deliberate statement that calamity comes with the democrats and prosperity with the republicans."

The speaker said he had a man start downtown and send word back that he is sick he will get sick," said Mr. Clark, "and he will be sick for days doing. They are getting something in the papers all the time about a panic and after a while if they keep it up they pass it Saturday night and after it becomes a law the country will blossom like the rose."

Representative Mann suggested that what the country needs now is not so much money as orders for business. Speaker Clark retorted that the country was having plenty of orders and that in his district the largest cement plant in the country was working 1,300 men on three shifts of eight hours each.

BROYLES' PLACE ALREADY SOUGHT BY 7 CANDIDATES

Atlanta Recorder Announces That He Will Offer for Place Resigned by Judge Hill.

TWO ATLANTA MEN IN STATE CONTEST

Following Announcement of Judge Broyles Candidates for Recorder Spring Up on All Sides.

Recorder Nash R. Broyles, who has occupied the bench of police court judge of Atlanta for fifteen years, has announced his candidacy for the court of appeals in opposition to Judge L. S. Roan to fill the unexpired term of Judge Ben H. Hill.

Coupled with his declaration come the announcement of a number of well-known Atlantans of their candidacy for police court judge. There are seven in number, some of whom have previously run for the office.

They are:

John W. Smith, William M. Smith, Walt P. Kelly, Thomas H. Goodwin, Carl Guess, George E. Johnson and W. H. Preston. The race promises to be one of the most exciting in the history of Atlanta politics.

Judge Broyles' announcement is not unexpected, as it has been known for some time that he had the matter under consideration. He was a candidate during the last primary, when he opposed Judge L. S. Roan in the race which resulted in a tie and withdrawal on the part of the police judge in order to maintain harmony.

Judge Broyles' Announcement.

In his statement to the public, the recorder declares he will not promote his candidacy, but will remain home to come, and that his announcement was made at this early date in response to the inquiries of friends, who, he states, have besieged him with queries for months.

His announcement follows:

"To My Fellow Citizens of Georgia: I have lately had so many inquiries from friends in different parts of the state about my candidacy for the court of appeals that I think it due them that, without further delay, I should publicly declare my intentions.

"I shall positively be a candidate in the democratic primary next summer for a place on the court of appeals. Under the rules of the primary, I will have to designate and run for one particular judgeship. In the last primary in 1912, when I opposed Judge Pottle, the strongest argument used against my candidacy was that Atlanta already had one of the three judgeships, and was, therefore, not entitled to another.

"Despite this heavy handicap, I tied with Judge Pottle, but, in the state convention at Macon, in the interest of harmony, I withdrew my name and allowed the south Georgia candidate to have a unanimous nomination. I do not propose to run again with this same handicap, and, therefore, I shall be a candidate for the unexpired term of Judge Ben H. Hill, of Atlanta.

"This position is now held by Judge L. S. Roan, also of Atlanta, who was appointed temporarily to the place until the voters of Georgia could elect Judge Hill's successor. I do not intend to begin my campaign for several months yet, but make this announce-

"JOSH R. BROYLES.

Judge Reau to Offer.

Judge Reau, now on the appellate bench in the place left vacant by Judge Hill, has thus far made no definite declaration of his plans. Friends say, however, that he will again seek the office. He resigned his judge of the Stone Mountain circuit to take the appointment of Judge Hill's successor.

The office held by Judge Hill, and now in the hands of Judge Reau, is considered the Atlanta place upon the appellate bench. Judge Hill's term would not have expired within the coming five years had he not resigned. Under the law, however, a judge filling an unexpired term in this capacity holds the office only until the next succeeding election, which election, in this instance, will be held in October, 1914.

Judge Broyles has held the office of police magistrate for fifteen years. He has been a dominant figure in civic movements, and is an active leader of municipal reforms. He is undoubtedly the widest known police judge of the south, and recently gained national renown by his effective co-operation with the Atlanta police department in its noted vice crusade.

The contest for the office left vacant by Judge Broyles will command as much interest locally as the appellate bench campaign. The seven candidates are all well-known attorneys in Atlanta, and each has figured previously in politics. John Y. Smith is now serving in the state legislature from Fulton county.

Thomas H. Goodwin is an ex-councilman from the third ward, having held that office in 1894 and 1895. He also opposed Captain W. R. Joyner in 1896 in one of the city's closest municipal campaigns. Goodwin was beaten by 131 votes.

Carl Guess recently left council after having served two years from the third ward. He was a conspicuous figure in city hall life. William M. Smith was a candidate in the past primary for the legislature, and, during Broyles' campaign for the appellate court in opposition to Pattle, was a candidate for the police court bench. George E. Johnson is now holding a place on the board of police commissioners, having held that office for years. He is the oldest police commissioner in point of service on the commission, and is well versed in local politics and civic affairs. Watt P. Kelly is an attorney of two years' practice in Atlanta, and is a resident of nine years' duration.

Judge W. H. Preston has been in the office of recorder pro tem. for twelve years and has been clerk of police court for twenty-odd years. He has been a previous candidate for recorder.

TAFT AND ROOSEVELT CRITICISED BY CULLEN

Albany, N. Y., December 18.—Criticism of courts made by both former Presidents Taft and Roosevelt was termed "unjustified" tonight by Chief Justice Edgar M. Cullen, of the New York state court of appeals. The justice will retire next month under the age law. His remarks were made at a banquet given him by the Albany County Bar association. Technicalities, red tape and an imperfect jury system, he declared, were responsible for many alleged miscarriages of justice. Which the bench was held responsible. In this connection he called attention to the Thaw case, saying "whole responsibility for the miscarriage of justice in this case was due to the action of the jury."

Judge Cullen declared he was favorable to the appointment rather than the election of judges.

"These criticisms have been greatly fostered by the public addresses of the two living ex-presidents of this country, both of whom I have the honor of knowing, and both of whom, in their personal characters, I highly respect," he declared. "I resent their criticism not because I believe that courts, more than any other human institution, should be exempt from criticism, but because I think in both cases the criticism is unjustified."

MOYER IS DEFENDED BY AN EX-PRISONER

Says Charges Are Utterly False, Inspired by Worst Class of Inmates.

Vehemently declaring that the sensational stories being circulated concerning the discipline at the federal penitentiary were untrue, Luther C. Thompson, until Thursday a convict at the government institution, made a statement to The Constitution just before he left for his home in Baltimore, condemning the attacks on Warden Moyer and his associates and stating that the agitation against the present prison administration was centered in but 10 per cent of the nine hundred odd men incarcerated at the government prison.

Thompson, whose register number was 4813, said that the food served the prisoners for the past year at the penitentiary has been good and that there was plenty of it. He declared that the bread served the men was better than that which goes into nine out of every ten homes in Atlanta.

Treatment is Kind.

"The treatment of the prisoners is kind. Other prisoners have told me," said Thompson, "that when they served in the navy they found the discipline there harder than at the local penitentiary.

"During my term I had charge of the chair and table making departments in the carpenter shops. I served a year and a day but got time off so that I really only served time since last March.

"There is no such thing as cruel treatment at the prison. Since Moyer came there have been no chains used on prisoners. I state emphatically that there is no such place as the 'hole' at the federal penitentiary.

"There is a cell where prisoners are placed that break certain rules of the institution. Recently a prisoner who attempted to kill another with a pair of scissors was put in the solitary cell but he was not chained.

"The trouble at the penitentiary, if it could be called trouble, is that about 10 per cent of the men at the institution are the most dangerous type of criminals. Then there is about twenty per cent of the prisoners who come from the gutter. This makes thirty per cent of the number. These are the ones who are making these appeals to the public for sympathy. The other seventy per cent of the prisoners are the ones who are discouraged at these attacks on Warden Moyer.

"Why, this tough element in the penitentiary went so far recently as to attempt to work up a boycott on the school at the prison. The effort was not successful, as their boycott only lasted one day.

Hawthorne Well Treated.

"As for Hawthorne, he was given excellent treatment. He had plenty to eat. He was given a glass of fresh milk with every meal and I know that the guards were kind to him. I am sorry to say that Hawthorne was a party to the conspiracy against Warden Moyer which started last July.

"Warden Moyer, in spite of all the newspaper stories printed, still allows all of the city publications to be brought into the prison. He made an attempt to cut off any of the prisoners from news printed in the Atlanta papers.

"Personally, I believe these attacks on the prison administration are very hurtful. The truth as to the conduct of the prison should be emphasized. I know that the prison is run well, the prisoners are fed good food and are treated humanely."

Thompson promised new and startling evidence of a plot against Warden Moyer which he declared he would publish in the near future.

PROBING ELECTION AT STONE MOUNTAIN

Decatur, Ga., December 18.—(Special.)—The entire day has been devoted to the hearing of the recent election, mayoralty election from Stone Mountain before Ordinary James H. Gooch. The hearing was held in the superior courtroom, and was attended by a large number of Stone Mountain citizens.

Dr. J. R. Wells, the defeated candidate for mayor in the recent election, was represented by Hon. Sam L. Olive, of Augusta, and the present Mayor, Curdy, the successful candidate, was looked after by Judge John S. Candler, L. J. Steel and L. J. Fields.

The greater part of the day was devoted to the investigation of alleged disqualified voters, the latter being charged that votes had been cast by persons who were not entitled to vote. A large number of witnesses were present and the trialcontinued until night, when adjournment was taken, the witnesses had not all been examined. The hearing will be resumed at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

SNATCHES UP BABY AND RUNS TEN MILES

Calhoun, Ga., December 18.—(Special.)—Joseph Walden, a young farmer of this section, became so afraid of his mother-in-law and other of his wife's relatives, that he ran ten miles, carrying with him his 5-months-old baby. Walden became involved in a domestic difficulty yesterday with his wife's relatives, with whom he lives, and when they attacked him in a body he snatched up his baby and ran.

Fearing that he was trying to kidnap the infant, his father-in-law, Jesse Jones, swore out a warrant for him on a charge of wife beating, and quickly put Sheriff Land and Deputy Sheriff Fossett in pursuit. The officers trailed him to a point on the Coosawhatchee river, where he had ferried across in a batteau and finally caught him close to Sugar Valley. The baby was suffering from exposure, in his haste Walden did not get a ny wraps for it. Both were brought to Calhoun, where Walden did not get any wraps for it, was returned to its mother. The case came up before Justice of the Peace Durham this morning, and a settlement was made without trial, Walden agreeing to keep away from his wife's relatives for several months.

SIMMS AND KENNEDY RECEIVE PROMOTIONS

Owing to the resignation of Julius Bashinski, Jr., vice president of the Fulton National bank, a special meeting of the board of directors was held Thursday afternoon, and Arthur B. Simms, formerly cashier of the bank, was chosen to fill the vacancy. Henry Kennedy was elected cashier to take the place of Mr. Simms. R. G. Lacy was made assistant cashier, and Walter Stokes. All the changes were in the nature of promotions.

PACIFIC SUFFRAGETTE WOOS WITH VIOLETS

Paris, December 18.—A beautiful woman laden with violets styling herself "Lady Lilian Glendworth, Pacific Suffragette," entered the lobby of the chamber of deputies this afternoon and gave flowers to those deputies willing to add their names to a "one million signature" petition for woman's suffrage.

"Accept these violets," she said, "they will make you forget the violence of my misguided sisters."

Dr. Morgan on Dairy Cow.

Gainesville, Fla., December 18.—Dairy and cattle men from all parts of Florida today tonight heard addresses dealing with the dairy cow and kindred subjects at the closing session of the Florida Live Stock association here. Dr. C. M. Morgan, dairy agent, Southern railroad, Atlanta, Ga., delivered an address on the dairy cow.

SWEEPING LIQUOR WAR TO START IN SAVANNAH

Warrants Prepared for Every Brewery and Liquor Dealer in City.

Savannah, Ga., December 18.—(Special.)—Warrants for the arrest of the proprietors of every brewery and every liquor dealer, both wholesale and retail, will be sworn out in a day or two by the anti-liquor league, which was organized following the visit some time ago of Seaborn Wright to Savannah.

Eight committees tonight visited every saloon in the city for the purpose of collecting evidence. The names of the proprietors were taken and other facts noted for use in the wholesale prosecution which is to be started in a day or so.

The league proposes to enjoin and prosecute. Not a single place where odd men are operated in violation of the state prohibition law will be spared.

Blank warrants already have been prepared, attorneys engaged and the league plans to strike while the iron is hot. It was impossible to learn tonight just when the warrants will be sworn out.

The citizens who compose the league have been encouraged by the conviction in the Spencer court in the last two or three days of several violators of the prohibition law in each case several penalties were imposed. The Protestant Pastors' association of Savannah is actively supporting the crusade.

MONEY BILL MOVES TO FINAL PASSAGE

South Carolina, and supported by all the southern and western democrats. The provisions agreed upon provide that notes, drafts and bills drawn or issued for agricultural purposes having a maturity not exceeding six months, may be discounted in an amount to be limited to a percentage of the capital of the regional reserve bank to be ascertained and fixed by the federal reserve board.

Democratic leaders for a time contemplated trying to pass the bill tonight, but finally gave up the idea. The measure was so nearly completed, however, that it was believed it would be passed tomorrow afternoon.

Taxation Rate Reduced.

The most important change made tonight was to reduce for the present the rate of taxation of emergency currency that may be issued under the existing Aldrich-Vreeland law, which thus far has never been called into operation. An amendment adopted at the request of Senator Owen and intended to ease the situation until the new law can become fully operative, would reduce the taxation rate on emergency currency from 5 per cent to 3 per cent for the first three months the notes may be in circulation. After that the rate would increase one-half per cent a month until it reaches 6 per cent.

With one exception, only amendments offered by Senator Owen, with the consent of the democratic caucus, were adopted tonight. The other amendment proposed by Senator Norris and accepted by the democrats, would make the rights of depositors in failed banks preferential to the rights of any other creditors in their claim on the bank's guarantee fund.

The redemption provisions of the new law as finally agreed upon by the conference and which will be submitted to the senate tomorrow, provides that the proposed new currency shall be redeemable in gold at the treasury and in either gold or "lawful money" at the federal reserve banks, the choice to be left to the holder of the note.

LABOR UNION HIT FOR BIG DAMAGES

terstate commerce was restrained. The company alleged that its business had been seriously injured by the boycott and claimed $250,000 damages.

Soon after the suit was brought the American Federation of Labor decided to stand behind the defendants and to reimburse them against any loss. The Anti-Boycott Society of America supported the plaintiffs, so the litigation in reality developed into a real battle between these two organizations.

What Supreme Court Held.

After many delays the case was assigned for trial in the United States district court, but was not then tried, being taken to the supreme court of the United States for an interpretation. In February, 1908, the supreme court handed down a decision, in effect that the allegations constituted a violation of the Sherman law. In October, 1909, the trial was begun before the United States district court at Hartford. After a trial of seventeen weeks the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiffs of $74,000. Judge Platt, now deceased, awarded triple damages, in accordance with the Sherman law, so that with costs the total amount was $222,000.

The verdict was set aside by the court of appeals and a new trial ordered. Federal Judge Martin, of Vermont, heard the second trial at Hartford and on October 11, 1912, the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff of $80,000 and costs, the amount being trebled, according to law. The case was appealed again and the arguments were heard in New York last month.

SOCIETY WOMEN SPLIT OVER A MURDER TRIAL

In Two Factions Regarding Moriarity, Accused of Killing Pretty Mrs. Turner.

Toms River, N. J., December 18.—Society people of the Lakewood colony remained in the supreme court until late tonight at the first day's trial of Joseph Moriarity, alias William J. Lenhan, a stenographer, whose defense on the charge of murdering Mrs. Caroline C. Turner in 1911, is being supported by Mrs. Jasper Lynch, a wealthy woman by whom Moriarity once was employed. Mrs. Lynch has employed counsel to aid Moriarity. Mrs. Turner was the pretty wife of an employee on the Lakewood estate of George J. Gould.

The prosecution tonight after calling about a dozen witnesses had not concluded its case. No one saw Mrs. Turner killed. Two physicians testified today that death was due to suffocation, not to blows from a club, as the authorities believed at the time. Moriarity's defense, it is understood, will be that a party of automobilists killed Mrs. Turner and carried her body into the patch of pine woods where it was discovered.

Testimony was introduced today to show that Moriarity quarreled with his wife on the night of the murder, fled from the house when she called the police, and that investigators of Mrs. Turner's death found near Moriarity's home the lid of a pasteboard box which Mrs. Turner had carried containing needlework. The cover of the box was found at a spot where the prisoner is alleged to have told witnesses that he hid while the police were in his home.

Division of opinion as to Moriarity's innocence has resulted in splitting the fashionable colony into two clans, one friendly to the prisoner and his wealthy sponsor, the other hostile.

Mrs. Turner was slain on the afternoon of April 28, 1911. She was last seen alive by her friends as she entered the pine needle woods at the end of Lakewood's main street. Her body was found the next afternoon.

CARTERSVILLE ELECTS NEW COMMISSIONERS

Cartersville, Ga., December 18.—(Special.)—The first election for city officials under the commission charter was held today, when, Young, Satterfield and Gaines were elected commissioners. Mr. Young, who was nominated a few days ago in the primary, had no opposition for the position of mayor, but Messrs. Satterfield and Gaines were compelled to run against H. J. Galt and W. H. Milner, the old commissioners, who were with them among the highest four in the primary.

The contest just closed is considered as another victory for the faction opposed by Judge W. A. Fite.

The Clearaway of Street and Evening Dresses Today

Do you know what that means?

It means that price-cuts are decisive, that the savings are great, compelling; which, taken with the fact that the dresses are those we selected for the good company of our regular stocks, lends finality to the announcement as nothing else could.

But meager and general descriptions of these dresses cannot find place here—too many of them and hardly two alike, and then their beauty and their worth are told in their former prices.

They are the charmingest we could find to sell at their former prices

$21.75, $22.50 and $25.00 Street Dresses are	$11.50
$35.00, $37.50 and $39.50 Street Dresses are	$19.75
$29.75, $32.50 and $35.00 Street Dresses are	$16.50
$42.50, $45.00 and $48.50 Street Dresses are	$29.75

There's a beautiful scattering of black dresses, and many of navy and purple charmeuse, crepe de chine and silk crepe; others in taupe and bronze. Lacy bodices and sleeves, draped skirts, button trimmed, girdle of rich velvet and crushed satins; touches of Oriental trimmings. You will not look long for your choice.

The Evening Dresses

Some seventy-five in all at varying reductions. The few quoted below tell the tenor of the new prices.

$19.75 WAS $33.50 — A soft salmon pink chiffon with much shadow lace in the bodice and in ruffles over the skirt.

$25.00 WAS $42.50 — A rose chiffon over white, wide black moire girdle, chiffon bodice, beautiful.

$37.50 WAS $75.00 — A combination gown, tan brocade velvet bodice, oyster color cloth skirt, an elegant and distinguished costume.

$37.50 WAS $65.00 — A very Frenchy light blue embroidered chiffon with the ruffled skirt that is so popular these days.

$37.50 WAS $58.00 — White charmeuse, a girdle of light blue caught with a big red rose corsage.

$37.50 WAS $55.00 — A Russian green crepe de chine, chiffon waist of same shade over gold lace.

$40.00 WAS $58.50 — A pale green brocaded crepe, metal trimmings in bodice on an old blue brocaded band, dull gold sash—Oriental.

$50.00 WAS $78.50 — A tango Canton crepe with an Oriental embroidered girdle—high brilliant colors. A rich, elegant gown.

$15.00 For $21.75 and $29.75 Evening Dresses

Some thirty of these, many of them ideal dancing frocks—the fabrics are silk crepes, crepe de chines, charmeuses, nets and laces, white, cream, maize, lavender, pink. Dainty, charming in a hundred ways.

But you should come very early, the number is small.

"CAVE MAN" BOUND OVER UNDER $500 BOND

Judge Broyles Announces War on All Questionable Restaurants and Eating Places.

Following a raid by members of the police plainclothes vice squad upon a downtown cabaret, Recorder Broyles Thursday afternoon from the bench announced relentless antagonism to amusement places which tolerated disorderly conduct of any character.

"I am not in doubt that there are many such dives in Atlanta," he said, "and I want the police to make it an especial point to bring the operators before me. I will see that they get just punishment. Our morals are being raised to a plane where we cannot suffer them."

E. T. Howell, manager of The Cabaret, an eating and amusement resort at Walton and Broad streets, was given the heavy penalty of being bound over to superior court under $500 bond on a charge of maintaining a disorderly house in his restaurant.

B. E. Shirley, a business man, and Evelyn Gray, a saleswoman, who had been found in an ante-room of the restaurant by plain clothes policemen, were fined $25.75 each for disorderly conduct. They also gave testimony at Howell's trial.

Large Crowd Present.

The proceedings attracted a large crowd of semi-theatrical folks to police court—cabaret, vaudeville and moving picture actors and singers; pianists and amusement place attaches. The words of the recorder were conceded by all to have been a prediction of a police campaign to reform allegedly questionable resorts of Atlanta.

Three arrests were made Monday night by Plain Clothes Policemen Green and Womack, acting under direction of Chief Beavers. Green and Womack, it was stated in court, had been investigating the cabarets and eating houses for several nights and afternoons. They made frequent visits to The Cabaret, and told in court of many salacious scenes they had witnessed.

On some occasions, the plain clothes men testified, they had seen ubiquitous men and women in boisterous conduct at the tables of the restaurant, and, that men and girls had openly hugged and kissed one another. Some women and girls, they declared, had sat in the laps of their male escorts.

The Cabaret has been in operation for several months. It is a cafe situated in the basement beneath a saloon at Broad and Walton streets. Its amusement program has been confined to music and songs by pianists and girl singers. The policeman stated that frequent complaints had been made by occupants of adjoining places, who kicked upon the alleged boisterousness.

Recorder is Grieved.

On the night of the arrest of Shirley and the Gray girl, it was stated, the plain clothes men had found them in a small ante-room of the cabaret in a compromising position. Their fines of $25.75 were paid immediately after trial. Howell also gave required bond.

"I am not so much astonished at learning the existence of a resort of such character," said Judge Broyles, "as I am grieved. I do not doubt that there are others of a similar nature. We must get rid of them, and we depend upon the police to do it. Disorderly places, such as a restaurant or amusement resort, is an abomination to a community and one of the worst evils we encounter."

The raid of the Cabaret brought an end to the widespread speculation in police circles upon the investigations of Chief Beavers, who has been making visits to restaurants, cabarets and other like resorts of Atlanta. The chief has been reticent in this regard, but it was the general opinion that he was investigating in preparation for action against one or more places.

Green and Womack have been assigned to the task of inspecting this moral phase of the downtown district. Moving picture shows and cheap vaudeville houses, it is said, will also be included in their investigation.

Your Town's Death Rate

You men in charge of municipal affairs have a big responsibility on your hands.

Ever consider that maybe your hold-back, out-of-date and short-sighted policy is keeping the death-rate higher than it ought to be?

Fevers, contagion and death with their piteous aftermath of poverty and distress may be traceable to your negligence.

Why let your town lack the sanitation, the comforts, the improvements that will drive out the disease and make it at the same time an attractive, happy place to live?

We plan, estimate, finance, construct and, if desired, operate Sanitary Systems, Water and Power Plants and Paving.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED BY THE LOCAL SHRINE

Nearly the same officers as the ones who went to Dallas to secure the gathering of the Shriners for Atlanta next year will greet the incoming hosts of the Masons in May, according to the announcement of the election of officers in Yaarab Temple held Wednesday night.

The list of officers named follows: Forrest Adair, illustrious potentate; E. M. Hafer, chief rabian; David E. Ashby, assistant chief rabian; J. C. Duncan, high priest and prophet; John C. Joiner, orient guide; James S. Floyd, treasurer, and George E. Argard, recorder.

Appointive officers named were: R. N. Pickett, jr., first ceremonial master; E. T. Booth, second ceremonial master; C. B. Beaulieu, marshal; Henry Heinz, captain of the guard; J. Moreland Speer, outer guard, and Willian A. Fuller, director.

The representatives to the imperial council next May were named as follows: Forrest Adair, Hugh Hynds, Fred J. Paxon and William Foster.

WHITEHALL CARS TO RESUME FORMER ROUTE

Announcement was made Thursday by the officials of the Georgia Railway and Power company that street cars on the Whitehall-Peachtree line that were diverted from Peachtree to Whitehall between the Grand opera house and the junction of Forsyth and Whitehall during the regrading of Whitehall will resume their former route by way of Peachtree and Whitehall on December 22.

On the same date the Cooper-Kennedy street cars will also resume their former route by way of Whitehall street between Cooper and Mitchell streets, and the Irwin-McDaniel street cars will likewise resume their former route by way of Whitehall, Mitchell and Broad streets on December 22.

METHODISTS PROTEST AGAINST PUBLICATIONS

Park Street Stewards Think Injustice Has Been Done the Church.

At a meeting of the board of stewards of Park Street church, called for the purpose of considering an article on the first page of The Atlanta Journal, of December 17, styled "Dr. Belk's Removal from Park Street Church Severely Censured," and an article on the first page of The Atlanta Georgian of the same date, headed "Bigoted Council of Elders Rapped for Removal of Pastor," the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, In the judgment of the Board of Stewards of Park Street church, the publications in The Atlanta Journal and The Georgian of individual members should not be published as the views or sentiments of Park Street church, and

Whereas, The said newspaper articles are unfortunate, and do a great injustice to all concerned.

Third. That no action by any official board or commission of Park Street church has been taken at any time that could be construed as a basis for such an attempt on the part of the church.

Fourth. That Park Street church has the greatest confidence in the integrity and loyalty of Dr. W. F. Loveless, presiding elder of the Atlanta district, and is not antagonizing the constituted authorities of the church.

Fifth. That we welcome our new pastor, Rev. Wallace Rogers, and bespeak for him in his service the same staunch, unstinted and loyal support the charge has given to the splendid pastors who preceded him have heretofore served Park Street church.

Sixth. That a copy of these resolutions be published in The Atlanta Constitution, The Atlanta Journal and The Atlanta Georgian.

December 18, 1913.

Board of Stewards of Park Street Church,
By E. V. CARTER, Chairman.

FAIL TO REGISTER FOR OCCUPATION TAX

According to Ordinary John R. Wilkinson, none of the several thousand citizens of Atlanta who are subject to the occupation tax has registered with him up to yesterday. In the majority of cases the tax has been paid, but the manufacturers, business men and others have simply neglected to register with the ordinary.

The cost of registration is only $1, and the supreme court has recently held that all those dealers who are registered are entitled to standing in court, and can legally collect their outstanding obligations.

Recently Adair real estate firm brought suit for a considerable sum of money against a creditor, whose only defense was that the firm had no legal right to do business because of its failure to register. The defense was held valid and the costs assessed against the firm bringing the suit.

The following businesses come under the occupation tax law:

Near beer dealers, photographers, loan agents, auctioneers, keepers of pool tables, flying horses, ten pin alleys and shooting galleries, vendors of patent medicines, immigrant agents, shows and exhibitions, circuses, dog and pony shows, soda founts, social clubs, domestic wines, dealers in white hops, etc., dealers in pistols, etc., peddlers of cigars and clocks, peddlers of patent articles, agents for packing houses, itinerant doctors and specialists, brewing companies, manufacturers of soda beverages, pawn brokers, commercial agencies, slot machines, owners of cigar stands, cigar dealers, owners of playgrounds and parks, abstract companies, fortune tellers, etc., real estate agents, bicycle dealers, automobile dealers, dealers in typewriters, domestic corporations and foreign corporations.

DRUGGISTS CALLED UP FOR VIOLATION OF LAW

On the report of State Drug Inspector T. A. Cheatham, five druggists were summoned before Commissioner Price yesterday for violation of the state pure drug law. Only four of those summoned appeared.

They made satisfactory explanations to the commissioner, and will not be summoned before the grand jury.

E. Turner, a negro druggist from Americus, who was charged with selling narcotics without a prescription, failed to put in his appearance. If it develops that he received a summons and ignored it, he will be prosecuted to the extent of the law.

SMALL NEGRO CHILD INSTANTLY KILLED

Lizzie McDaniel, aged 4, a negro child, was shot and instantly killed early Thursday morning while at play with an older sister, Lillian, on the far of M. O. Jackson, on Brown Mill road.

Lillian was playing with a shotgun and the weapon was accidentally discharged, tearing a great, gaping wound in the little child's back and head. The parents of the children were not at home when the shooting took place. Jackson notified the county authorities.

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU WILL BE LAUNCHED

A movement has been placed on foot by the King's Daughters, augmented by the chamber of commerce, for the establishment of a municipal employment bureau.

At the last meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce a special committee of three was appointed, consisting of V. H. Kriegshaber, chairman; R. M. Wood and Lewis Pori, to consider the request from the committee of King's Daughters in regard to the establishment of the municipal employment bureau. The secretary was instructed to collect information from other cities concerning the workings of such bureaus and the ordinances under which they act.

Service for Business Men.

Dr. John E. White, of the Second Baptist church, has arranged a special service for business men next Sunday morning. Dr. Edwin M. Poteat, president of Furman university, will deliver the address at 11 o'clock. He will speak on "Spiritual Objectives of Business." The public is cordially invited.

The Certain Christmas Wish

Every man—yes, really every man, young, very young or middle aged—expects a Christmas tie. Really expects it. He'd be disappointed without it. And think of the crowd of good men in Atlanta!

But think of the crowds of fine ties at MUSE'S. Tho, to be sure, you don't think of them as crowds, you just know you have the only half-dozen in the world worth while when your purchase is decided on.

But the glory of the group next to yours just reaches out and touches your shopping neighbor on the shoulder, as it were, and goes home with him.

The Muse Christmas Tie Case

is as popular as a bunch of debutantes and as radiantly arrayed. Just the pleasant task of choosing colors has afforded a great deal of genuine enjoyment during this shopping season, and stored up a lot of real appreciation in the receiving line.

There's nothing so opportune for a gift, nothing so sure of pleasing, singly or in sets; matched with silk sox or handkerchiefs, or both, in dainty boxes made for gifts.

GRAND JURY WILL INVESTIGATE CLUBS

Body Will Probably Name Committee to Visit All the Locker Clubs of the City.

As rumored recently, the Fulton county grand jury at a meeting Thursday afternoon, discussed the proposition of making a thorough investigation of the locker club situation in the city.

It is understood that the body will probably name a committee which will personally investigate the question of whether or no the locker clubs are selling whisky and other intoxicating liquors to persons other than members of the organization.

The grand jury will hold a regular meeting today. It is not believed that they will touch upon the locker club situation this morning, but at the same time it is hinted that they may go into the matter from the standpoint of organizing a probe at least.

By the time the grand jury meets again, the testimony to be brought out in police court against the locker club representatives who were raided this week will have been made public and some of this evidence may reach the ears of the grand jury and that body may act upon it.

INTEREST GROWING IN KELLER LECTURE

No event in a long while has attracted so much general interest as the coming Saturday evening at the Auditorium-Armory of Helen Keller and her teacher and friend, Mrs. Macy.

This is not curiosity, but sincere interest in the personality of the young woman whose personal achievements under extraordinary difficulties has long been a matter of world-wide comment.

The Daughters of the Confederacy, under whose auspices and for whose benefit Miss Keller comes, are desirous of making the Atlanta visit memorable by having the great Auditorium filled with the best and most intelligent people of Atlanta and surrounding towns. It is understood that several parties from other points will come Saturday evening for the purpose of hearing this lecture.

Tickets are on sale at Cable hall and may be obtained there in advance of the lecture.

It is probable that Miss Keller will receive her friends at her hotel prior to the evening entertainment.

ALDERMEN VOTE DOWN INCREASE FOR MALONE

During the session of the aldermanic board yesterday, only six of the ten members being present, Councilman Boynton's resolution adopted at the last session of that body providing for $300 additional pay annually to John Malone, one of the city tax assessors, was given a negative vote.

Three thousand dollars a year has been Mr. Malone's pay. The Boynton resolution provided for an additional $300 for a twelve months' work, or an added $25 each month, making the tax assessor's pay $275 a month in place of $250 he has been receiving.

The non-concurrence by the aldermanic board in the action of council will be reported to that body at its next meeting by Walter Taylor, city clerk, when the Boynton resolution will be again brought before that body.

RED CROSS SALES NEAR 500,000 FIGURE

So Many Reports Coming in It Is Hard to Keep Up With Totals.

Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin, president of the City Federation, aided by many members of the organization, as well as others, had good results from the eight day's canvass for the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals. Wednesday's sales, under Mrs. Martin, approximated $200.

The reports from the sales are coming in from so many different sources at this time that it is rather difficult to keep track of all accurately to indicate the totals on the big thermometer. It is believed, however, that by tomorrow night the amount will be near the 500,000 figures.

Today the Woman's club, directed by Mrs. A. P. Coles, will have charge. Among the young ladies enlisted for this date are: Misses Annie Lou Jenkins, Edna Walraven, Elizabeth Ramey, Louise Allen, Christine Melton, Carrie Parish, Marguerite Goodrich, Esther Hollyman, Wynnie Wilson, Maimie Morris, Evalee Palmer, Anne Stevens, Nell Ballard, Josephine Bradford, Angie Harding, Wilhelmina Osman, Louise Thrash, Fran Douglas, Dorethea Douglas, Mildred Giddish, Eva Doyle, Louise Thrash, Miriam Comer, Louise King, Sallie Fannie McKinnon, Leila Powell, Lucile Daley and Pauline Coulter.

Last year Miss Annie Lou Jenkins established an individual record on one day's sale for the entire United States, and her wonderful work was a matter of general comment. She hopes to do even better this year. Miss Edna Walraven was a close second to Miss Jenkins, and the rivalry between them this year will be spirited.

Cities among the school children are going forward with much interest. The fund arising from this source will go toward establishing the open-air school, so much desired here.

Mrs. J. Wade Conkling, chairman of the open-air school committee of the Anti-Tuberculosis association, who is so keenly interested in this branch of the work, says that the teachers may make reports of sales for children in their grades any time up to January 1. Checks or the money may be sent to the Anti-Tuberculosis association headquarters on the seventh floor of the Gould building.

Harris Honor Guest At Annual Banquet Of Wheeler's Cavalry

The Atlanta camp of Wheeler's cavalry held its annual dinner last night at the Hotel Ansley. The banquet was attended by 75 veterans of General Joe Wheeler's famous mounted regiment of the confederate army.

The honor guest of the evening was Hon. William J. Harris, director of the United States census bureau, a son-in-law of General Wheeler, who came from Washington to attend the dinner. Colonel J. R. Prather presided as toastmaster.

MUST PAY ALIMONY EVEN IF WIFE IS RICH

Judge Pendleton, of the Fulton superior court, doesn't care how much personal income a woman may have when it comes to a matter of alimony. He declared in a decision Thursday that a husband is liable for alimony no matter if he sets the family rich.

Mrs. Sadie Goldsmith Gordon was suing her husband, J. E. Gordon, for divorce and alimony. Judge Pendleton was hearing the alimony angle when he made his interesting ruling. It developed that Mrs. Gordon has a personal income which exceeds her husband's salary.

Judge Pendleton then wrote an order requiring Gordon to pay his wife $10 per month. The court also declared that he thought the couple should reunite. Gordon thought so also, but when his wife was approached she said, "Never."

LODGEROOM FLOOR DID NOT CAVE IN

Atlanta To Be "Week Stand" For Big Plays in Future

Messrs. Klaw & Erlanger and the Messrs. Shubert wired their representatives yesterday to extend the forthcoming engagement of Maeterlinck's "The Blue Bird," at the Atlanta theater, from four days, starting Wednesday, December 24, to the whole week of Monday, December 29. Theatrical insiders say this means that Atlanta is to be made a "week stand," taking rank with Chicago, Cincinnati, Baltimore and Washington as a theatrical center.

The immediate reasons for "The Blue Bird" extension of date are the massiveness of the production, the Christmas holiday demand and the fact that it will play no other city in the state outside of Atlanta, and the further fact that a small army of Maeterlinck admirers, including the Drama League members and hundreds of unattached supporters of artistic drama, have asked Homer C. George for a season of eight days. Likewise Henry MacMahon, business manager of "The Blue Bird" company, wired that "The Blue Bird" will arrival yesterday morning. Following this telegram from New York, instructions were received to cancel December 29 and $0 in a smaller city of an adjoining state, and to give that entire week in Atlanta.

The quick response of the New York offices, combined with other straws, would indicate that the New York syndicates intend to recognize Atlanta as the principal show center of the eastern and central south. Their first step was to play "Ben Hur" here a solid week, which proved a great success. "Within the Law" will be here for three nights, December 25, 26 and 27, and will later complete its week. Manager George holds the contracts for an entire week of "Peg o' My Heart," a little later. The putting in of a whole "Blue Bird" week at such short notice is along the same line.

The Klaw & Erlanger and the Shuberts have it in their power to make Atlanta a week stand, goes without saying. The former control many of the southern theaters, and the attractions playing them, and the Shuberts have the new theater production of "Within the Law," which they will follow up by sending here "The Whip," "Passing Show of 1913" and other equally big productions.

ANNUAL DEBATE TODAY OF BOYS' HIGH SCHOOL

Exercises This Morning Under the Auspices of Alciphronian Society.

The Christmas exercises of the Boys' High school will be held this morning in Taft hall, at the Auditorium-Armory, at 11 o'clock. The exercises will be conducted by the Alciphronian Literary and Debating society. The officers of the society are John P. Stewart, president; Milford Spurlock, vice president, and Charles Powell, secretary. Milford Spurlock will preside at this morning's exercises.

An interesting literary and debating program has been arranged, and the competition for the prizes given by local jewelry firms will undoubtedly be made very close. Music will be furnished by the Boys' high school orchestra. The piano for this occasion is being furnished by the Cable Piano company.

The program is as follows:

Declaimers.

"Invective Against Corry," William S. Lowe, first grade.

"Defense of John E. Cook," William D. Mills, second grade.

"The Stars and Stripes," George C. Bellingrath, third grade.

"The Race Problem," John P. Stewart, fourth grade.

The best declaimer will be awarded the gold medal given by Messrs. Maier & Berkeie.

Debate.

Subject: Resolved, That capital punishment should be abolished.

Affirmative: Gordon Weekly, fourth grade; Willie Rhodes Carlile, second grade; Walter F. Binns, third grade.

Negative: Ben Little, fourth grade; Ben Little, second grade; Charles Hurtz, third grade.

The best debater will be awarded the gold medal given by Charles W. Crankshaw.

CORDELE POLICE CHIEF TO FACE DRUNK CHARGE

Cordele, Ga., December 18.—(Special.) On charges brought by Alderman J. M. Cox alleging the Chief of Police F. M. Sumner was drunk on the streets of the city on December 8, and acted in a manner unbecoming an officer, the city council, in executive session last night, took steps to bring the officer to trial at the next regular meeting of the body, which will be held during the first week in January.

It is stated by Alderman Cox that prominent witnesses will soon be introduced to testify tha' Chief Sumner was in a drunken condition at the time alleged, though nothing further than that he was drunk is charged against the officer.

The term of Chief Sumner expires on the same night on which his trial will be held, when the election of members of the police department will be held. He will very probably make application for re-election, and in event of his exoneration, he would very probably be retained in the office.

CUPID AGAIN INVADES COLLEGE AT AUBURN

Lawrenceville, Ga., December 18.—(Special.)—Another student of Perry-Rainey institute, Auburn, Ga., has gone away and got married when Miss Sadie Davis boarded the train with Sylvanus Cox and went to Elberton, where the knot was tied by Judge C. Edwards, ordinary of Elbert county. The bride is the 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Clark Davis, of Centreville, and the groom hails from the same locality.

The family got wind of what was going on and tried to interpose an objection to the ordinary's issuing a license to the young lady on account of her age, but when the records of that office were investigated they showed that the license had been issued and the couple married.

This makes the second young lady attending the school at Auburn to cut short her college course by the matrimonial route, the other being Miss Edna Barnett, who on November 21 became Mrs. Carl Pate.

NO EMPTY STOCKINGS IN ALBANY THIS YEAR

Albany, Ga., December 18.—(Special.) Albany will see to it that there are no empty stockings hanging in out-of-the-way houses of the community on Christmas morning. For many years W. B. Mallard has raised and disbursed an empty stocking fund for the benefit of Albany's poor children, and this year his fund will be larger than ever, as has the work well systemised, and the result is that no children are overlooked. There are toys, fruit, candy and usually warm shoes or clothing for the little folks who hang their stockings on Christmas eve, and the whole community takes a keen interest in making a success of the most interesting of the community's Christmas charities. The fund always amounts to several hundred dollars, and has never proved inadequate.

ELECTION AT HELENA FAVORS SCHOOL TAX

Helena, Ga., December 18.—(Special.) The election held here yesterday to decide whether or not the combined McRae-Helena school district should levy a tax for the support of public schools resulted in a splendid majority in favor of the tax.

The public school has been run in connection with the South Georgia college, and today's action separates the two and leaves college free to raise its curriculum even higher than it is now. Professor Branch, president of the South Georgia college, led the movement to unite the two districts and vote local tax for the common schools, and it is believed that it is his intention to immediately take steps to raise the standard of the college and add several new departments.

Cordele Growing Better.

Cordele, Ga., December 18.—(Special.) That crime has been on the decrease in Cordele during the past year is shown by an annual report of Chief of Police Sumner submitted to the city council last night. The report shows a decrease of 179 arrests for the year as compared with the number of arrests last year.

JURY FREES J. M. COONER OF CHARGE OF MURDER

Defendant Claimed He Killed McWilliams After Latter Had Lunged at Him.

Macon, Ga., December 18.—(Special.) Jesse M. Cooner was found not guilty of the murder of S. L. McWilliams, a local merchant, tonight after the jury had been out just fifteen minutes. The trial consumed the entire day in the superior court, and while Cooner was making his statement members of his family, the jurymen and many of the spectators wept.

Cooner told the jury that he shot his employer in self-defense, after McWilliams had made two lunges at him with a knife. The knife was found lying by McWilliams' side after he had fallen to the floor of his store dead.

Present at the trial today was a large delegation of Houston county citizens, Cooner having come from that county four years ago to manage the employ of the McWilliams-Hankin company.

CHILD KILLS WEE BABY WITH "UNLOADED" GUN

Jackson, Ga., December 18.—(Special.)—The one-year-old son of Will Folds, living near Jackson, died this morning from a rifle wound inflicted by his three-year-old brother yesterday. The child snapped a supposedly unloaded gun at his baby brother.

SHOT BY DIKE DELACY, BICKERSTAFF IS DEAD

Columbus, Ga., December 18.—Norwood Bickerstaff, who was brought here yesterday from Hatchechubbee, Ala., in a special train by physicians who hoped to save his life after he was shot near the heart, died early today. Dike DeLacy is under guard at the home of his sister at Seale, Ala., in connection with the shooting.

JUDGE'S CHARGE FAULTY, CLAIMS GODBEE DEFENSE

Slayer of Judge Godbee and Wife Asks Retrial—Decision Reserved.

Augusta, Ga., December 18.—Judge Henry C. Hammond heard the motion for a new trial today in the case of Mrs. Edna Parkins Godbee, convicted of the murder of Mrs. Florence Godbee, wife of her former husband, in Millen last August. The court reserved his decision after counsel for the defendants and the state had made arguments.

The defense bases its claim for a new trial on the alleged fact that three jurors had stated before the trial that Mrs. Godbee ought to be hanged, and also because the court failed to charge the jury that if Mrs. Edna Godbee shot Will Walter Godbee and did kill him in self-defense and did not intend to kill Mrs. Florence Godbee, she ought to have been acquitted. The defendant stated at the trial that the killing of Mrs. Florence Godbee was accidental, but that Walter Godbee, she thought, intended to kill her and she had a right to defend herself.

WALTER W. COLQUITT DIES SUDDENLY

Savannah, Ga., December 18.—(Special.)—Walter Wellborn Colquitt died shortly after midnight this morning in Mullarky, Fla., of pneumonia indigestion. He belonged to a well-known and distinguished Georgia family. He was a son of Walter T. Colquitt, a Virginian, who came to Georgia as a young man, and who represented this state in congress and in the senate. He was a brother of Alfred Holt Colquitt, who was governor of Georgia and a United States senator from this state.

The deceased was chief of the internal revenue department under President Cleveland. The funeral will take place in Savannah tomorrow.

He is survived by one brother, Hugh H. Colquitt, of Atlanta, three sons, Neyle Colquitt, of Savannah, Ga.; Joseph Clay Colquitt, of Washington, D. C.; Wellborn Colquitt, of Savannah, Ga.; three daughters, Miss Hallie Colquitt and Mrs. George Cope Hunter, of Savannah, Ga.

LARGE SUMTER ORCHARD IS SOLD TO P. B. BOND

Americus, Ga., December 18.—(Special.)—The extensive interests of the Raymond Overland company, near Americus, and one of the show places of Sumter county, were sold today by the Raymond estate to P. B. Bond, of Americus. The Raymond peach orchard of 125,000 trees is one of the most extensive and valuable in southwestern Georgia, and was owned by the Raymond family of Dayton, Ohio, who converted an old cotton plantation into a $50,000 enterprise which has proved highly profitable.

A Card to the People

The most regrettable thing that today confronts the sober thought of Atlanta and Georgia is the intemperate agitation of the temperance question by sincere but misguided moralists.

The intermeddling with the best regulation of beer and liquor traffic that organized society has ever known is not only prejudicial to good citizenship, but it is an offense against the business welfare that threatens alike private interest and the institutions of State.

This position will be met by the extreme agitator with the declaration that tax money and rade funds which come directly nd indirectly through the operaon of locker clubs and like institutions of pleasurable intercourse is neither desired nor desirable. Such a view is initially and finally wrong. It has not even a crutch on which to rest the weakened leg of debate.

Shut up the locker clubs and pleasure resorts of Atlanta and Georgia and you will take from the asylums and public schools of the state a valued and needed source of income. Press down the lid of puritanical reform, and you will send the hip-pocket blind tiger through the shopping districts of every city, and the back alleys of every home. Nail tightly the doors of all these places that now operate under the eyes of the law, amenable to our courts, and you will open subterranean passages from one of the states to the other, through which will flow the vilest concoctions that ever parched a throat or poisoned a stomach.

Aside from the great crime of turning neighbor against neighbor in unchristian war of opinion, the threatened fight on locker clubs is endangering the business life of our city and state. There is not a bank, a mercantile establishment or a factory that will not be affected by any radical change in the existing condition. And it may be said in truth there is not an institution of charity which does not rely in a measure on this much condemned habit of drink which men now indulge through licensed sale.

One writer forcefully said, in one of our papers a few days ago: "A large share of every dollar the saloon keeper takes in goes to help pay the cost of running our prisons, police forces, courts, hospitals, asylums and almshouses, all of which are supported by revenues from the liquor business."

The last general compilation of governmental expenditures is contained in the census report of 1902. This shows that the entire annual expenses of the state and local governments for charities, insane and penal institutions were then a trifle more than $100,000,000. The total receipts from liquor licenses were $55,000,000, and the federal internal and customs revenue from liquors $200,000,000 additional. Thus the revenues from the liquor business would pay all the expenses of our penal and public charitable institutions and leave $115,000,000 for other uses. The entire expenditures of states and localities for courts, military and police, for the year 1902 were not quite $100,000,000. Adding all this to the expenses already given, makes a total of $200,000,000. The revenue from the liquor traffic would pay this, too, and leave a balance of $50,000,000 for other purposes.

In this day of demagogic judicial display it seems that a courageous press should wield vigorous pens in behalf of that sanity which makes for stable conservatism in government. The intent of the law and the welfare of our institutions suggest no interference with the reasonably conducted locker club, and common justice cries out against the recent raiding of down-town clubs, whereas the authorities seem to be blinded as to the existence of such up-town clubs as the Capital City and the Athletic. The judge who will allow the law to be so unrighteously enforced against the poor man, himself is a breeder of that classism that means anarchy. FAIR PLAY.

WAR ON SALE OF BEER STARTED IN GRIFFIN

Law Enforcement League Is Formed at Mass Meeting. High License Asked.

Griffin, Ga., December 18.—(Special.) Agitation over liquor selling, which has excited this city considerably of late, culminated tonight in a mass meeting at which a law enforcement league was formed. Steps will be taken immediately by this organization towards securing permanent injunctions against the sale of beer here.

The meeting, called by the ministers of Griffin, unanimously passed a resolution, asking that the city's beer-license be placed at $15,000 instead of $6,000, as it is now.

In addition to the main league with headquarters in Griffin, branch organizations will be formed in each militia district of Spalding, and the men behind the movement hope that their work will sweep the entire county.

FORTUNE OF DEERING GOES TO HIS FAMILY

Chicago, December 18.—The entire estate of William Deering, the harvester manufacturer, estimated at from $12,000,000 to $13,000,000, is left to his immediate family, according to terms of the will which will be offered for probate today. None of the estate was left to charity, Mr. Deering stating in his will he considered he had done enough for charity during his lifetime.

The aged manufacturer died at his winter home at Cocoanut Grove, Fla., on December 9, and was buried from his home at Evanston last Sunday.

Northwestern university, at Evanston, was the principal beneficiary of William Deering during his lifetime, total gifts amounting to $1,000,000.

Although the will of Mr. Deering disposes of an estate value at over $12,000,000, this figure by no means represents the fortune the testator accumulated in manufacturing harvesting machinery. The bequests are in addition to large sums settled on heirs or given to charity during Mr. Deering's lifetime.

The bulk of the estate is distributed, one-third to the son, James Deering, one-third to the son, Charles Deering, and the remaining third to five grandchildren, Charles, W. C. and Roger Deering, Barbara D. Danielson and William D. Howe.

The family residence is left to Mrs. Deering, for whom Mr. Deering provided several years ago.

MANUFAC[illegible]ED MILK SOLD TO HOOSIERS

Indianapolis, Ind., December 18.—When city board of health inspectors yesterday found a number of bottles of milk in which the cream had settled to the bottom of the bottle the fact was uncovered that some time the residents of Indianapolis have been using a manufactured milk substituted for the real product.

The "milk" is prepared by mixing a powder with water and adding enough cream to give the required amount of butter fat. This fluid is said to stand all tests required of real milk, during the street car and teamsters' strikes, when the supply of milk did not diminish, though none was brought in from the rural districts. The health board sent out inspectors who took many samples of milk. When analyzed the samples were up to the standard, but the search for the source of the supply was continued.

The discovery of the manufactured milk was brought about yesterday when one company paid in too much butter fat, causing the cream to settle to the bottom of the bottles. The company admitted to city officials that it has been disposing of the manufactured milk for some time.

After it was found that the manufactured milk fulfills all requirements of the standards of the health board it was ordered that all manufactured milk must be so labeled.

DANCING TEACHER HIRED BY CHURCH IN WAR ON TANGO

New York, December 18.—To woo the young men and women away from the tango and turkey trot, the vestry and Aid society of Christ church, in Brooklyn, of which Canon William S. Chase is rector, has engaged a dancing teacher to instruct classes in the newest dances approved by the vestry. The question of dancing came to the attention of Canon Chase and the vestry when the opening of the new parish hall in connection with the church. The problem presented to the board of men was to have the hall utilized for the young men and women for which it was built, and not permit or encourage the tango and other dances to which exception was taken. The engagement of a dancing teacher was the solution. A list of the newest dances to be taught has not been issued.

HIGH ARMY OFFICERS GIVEN NEW COMMANDS

Washington, December 18.—Important changes in commands of high-ranking officers of the army were announced today as follows:

Major General Thomas H. Barry, commanding the eastern department, with headquarters at Governor's Island, N. Y., goes to the Philippines department in March to relieve Major General J. Franklin Bell, who will return to the United States in May.

Major General William H. Carter, commanding the Second division now in camp in Texas, goes to the Hawaiian department to relieve Brigadier General Frederick E. Funston, who, in April, will return to the United States for assignment to a brigade command here.

Brigadier General Clarence R. Edwards, commanding the Sixth brigade in the manouver camp in Texas, goes to Hawaii to relieve Brigadier General M. M. Macomb, commanding the First Hiwaiian brigade. General Macomb comes to Washington to relieve Brigadier General Hunter Liggett as president of the army war college. General Liggett will take command of the Fourth brigade in the Second division.

Brigadier General John J. Pershing, recently relieved from command of the department of Mindano, and now on his way home, goes to command the Eighth brigade at the Presidio of San Francisco, relieving Brigadier General Ramsay D. Potts, who goes to the Seventh brigade at Vancouver barracks.

Brigadier General John P. Wisser, commanding the Fourth brigade of the Second division, goes to command the Pacific coast artillery district.

Brigadier General Charles J. Bailey, at Fort Wordin, Washington, goes to command the North Atlantic coast artillery district at Fort Totten, New York, relieving Colonel J. B. White.

Major General Franklin Bell, when relieved of command in the Philippines, will take command of the second infantry division at Texas City, succeeding Major General W. H. Carter.

Brigadier General Thomas F. Davis, commanding the Fifth infantry brigade at Galveston, will take command of the Sixth at the same place.

The four-year detail of Major General Leonard Wood, as chief of staff of the army, will expire April 21 next. As Secretary Garrison already has announced that General Wood will relinquish the office of chief of staff there has been some speculation at the department as to what assignment General Wood will receive. It was suggested in some quarters that the command of the department of the east, from which Majo. General Barry will be relieved next March, would be an assignment for the retiring chief of staff in keeping with his present high position.

It was noted by army officers that the orders issued today recognize the increased importance of the artillery districts of the country, to which for the first time general officers are to be assigned. Brigadier General Wisser going to the Pacific coast and Brigadier General Bailey to the north Atlantic district.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS ON FEDERAL OWNERSHIP

Washington, December 18.—Postmaster General Burleson's declaration for the principle of government ownership of telegraphs and telephones as outlined in his annual report, just made public, undoubtedly will be followed by a democratic caucus in the house in January which will decide how far the project is to be made an administration policy.

President Wilson has been giving the subject careful study and, administration supporters say, has not pressed it upon congress at this time because of the enormous expense involved. A preliminary move will be congressional authorization to the postmaster general to make a report on the feasibility of acquiring the lines for a government monopoly.

Representative Lewis, who was foremost among the congressional leaders who worked out the parcel post, had prepared a bill on the new subject, but will give way to an administration measure backed by Chairman Moon, of the house postoffice committee.

MUNSEY APOLOGIZES TO GRAND DUKE BORIS

London, December 18.—The Grand Duke Boris, a cousin of the emperor of Russia, took the witness stand today to rebut allegations of misconduct and cowardice brought against him in a magazine article. In connection with this article he brought suit for libel against the Frank A. Munsey company, but the suit was settled out of court on December 9. The grand duke, however, wished to clear his character publicly.

He swore in court that there was no foundation for the libel, denied that he had been guilty of misduct and testified that he had been constantly under fire for a fortnight during the operations in the vicinity of Liao-Yang in Manchuria, when the Japanese and Russian armies fought a desperate battle in August, 1904. He said he had participated as an officer in the fighting in which the army under General Count Keller engaged the Japanese and in which General Keller was killed. He had ultimately been decorated by General Kuropatkin with the Order of St. Anne for his courage and had since been repeatedly honored, the emperor having given him a golden sword of honor inscribed "For Bravery."

Henry E. Duke, counsel for the defendants, then apologized to the grand duke on behalf of his clients, saying the article had been published without the knowledge of Mr. Munsey. He admitted that the words used were extremely objectionable and indefensible.

The case was then closed, the defendants agreeing to pay all the costs.

NO MORE IDLE WORKERS THAN IN OTHER YEARS

Chicago, December 18.—The number of workers out of employment this winter is not larger than in other years, according to the facts brought forward here today in the deliberations of the heads of the labor departments of six states, meeting to plan co-operation in giving employment to surplus labor.

National labor laws and nation-wide co-operation in meeting employment conditions are the chief objects of the meeting, it was said. This year's problem is the same as that of every year when winter shuts off many avenues of casual and regular employment, according to F. H. Hart, secretary of the Illinois labor commission and chairman of the conference. Heads of the labor departments of Missouri, Massachusetts, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois participated in the meeting.

HOBSON-DONOVAN FEUD TO BREAK ON HUSTINGS

Connecticut Congressman to Meet Hobson on Stump in Alabama.

Washington, December 18.—The long standing feud between Representative Hobson, of Alabama, and Representative Donovan, of Connecticut, now threatens to break out on the hustings. Mr. Donovan has challenged the hero of the Merrimac to debate before an Alabama audience the affirmative of a contention that "Absence of a Representative From Congress Is Honest and Justifiable."

Donovan announced his challenge today with a statement that Mr. Hobson was in his seat seven days of the eight months of the extra session of congress. The feud between the men, of long standing, has been punctuated by heated debates on the floor and threatened personal encounters in the lobbies of the capitol.

Hobson Accepts Challenge.

Birmingham, Ala., December 18.—(Special.)—Congressman Richmond Pierson Hobson at Gadsden today issued a statement accepting the challenge to debate in Alabama, issued by Congressman Donovan. He said he would leave it to Mr. Donovan as to when and where the debate should take place and that if Donovan could not get there for any reason he would extend the acceptance to Oscar Underwood, Governor O'Neal or Charles Lewis, whom he classes as "his representatives." Hobson has charged that Lewis is the representative of the Brewers' association.

Grange for Woman Suffrage.

Concord, N. H., December 18.—Woman suffrage was favored by the New Hampshire state grange today by a vote of 113 to 61.

Bangor, Maine, December 18.—The Maine state grange today adopted a resolution in favor of woman suffrage.

Fourth Trial for Dr. Hyde.

Kansas City, December 18.—Dr. B. Clarke Hyde will face trial a fourth time on the charge of murdering Colonel Thomas H. Swope, according to an announcement today from the office of the county prosecutor. The prosecution found difficulty in covering expenses of the last trial and for a time it was understood that a fourth trial was a matter of doubt, but today the county court gave definite assurance that it would pay the cost of another trial.

Capt. Kalde Dismissed.

Washington, December 18.—President Wilson today approved the sentence of dismissal imposed by general court-martial in the Philippines on Captain Frank Kalde, Eighteenth infantry, who was convicted of charges involving embezzlement of funds belonging to organizations in his regiments. Captain Kalde, a native of Minnesota, rose from the ranks.

WOMEN SUFFRAGISTS STUDY IN THE SENATE

Washington, December 18.—The United States senate served as a school of instruction tonight for a score of women suffragists from various sections of the country who have been training in Washington for the duties of state organizers in the suffrage movement. Coached by Miss Lucy Burns and Mrs. Jessie Hardy Stubbs, the women spent the entire evening studying legislative procedure, occupying seats in the senators' private gallery.

The Gift Supreme

A Diamond

The value to the buyer rests not upon what a thing costs, but upon what it is worth.

No specific rule can be made for the buyer's guidance in the purchase of Precious Stone Jewelry.

The least shade of color, touch of imperfection or lack of proportion influences the value so greatly that only an expert can fix the value. The fundamental feature of the Harry L. Dix, Inc., business, as we have outlined it, and which we steadfastly maintain, is this—

That a man need not be able to know a good piece of goods from a poor one, or a genuine stone from an imitation, that he shall be offered choice only from the best at a plainly marked price of real value.

That he shall have the unreserved warranty of the Dix Corporation with any purchase he may make, that his decision shall be made easy by confining it, if the purchaser so desires, to style and design, matters of taste not requiring technical knowledge.

ENFORCE INHERITANCE LAW.

Four months after the beginning of the operation of the inheritance tax enacted at the latest session of the general assembly not one penny has come into the treasury of Georgia from this source of revenue.

Many estates have passed from one hand to another through process of inheritance, each one subject to the tax, yet it appears that not a single ordinary or tax collector has developed the courage or conscientiousness to apply the law.

It is estimated that already the state of Georgia is loser to the extent of $33,000 by reason of failure to enforce.

It is needless to defend the principle of the inheritance tax. Of all imposts levied by government it is the most just. It takes nothing from the maker of an estate or fortune during his lifetime, does not compel him to restrict his operations and at his death collects a negligible sum from his heirs out of a fortune, their only right to which is a deed of gift. Incidentally, the tax returns to society only a fractional part of the wealth its collective endeavors helped to amass.

The present condition of non-enforcement cannot, of course, prevail indefinitely. Delay is perhaps due not so much to indifference as to timidity on part of officials. No tax is popular, and especially does the principle apply to new and unfamiliar taxes.

But the levy is a righteous one, the sovereign power of the people themselves has decreed it, and it is the sworn duty of the officials of Georgia to see that the state receives its dues. Fortunately, there is power lodged in the governor and attorney general, through the judicial machinery of the state, to hold responsible the officials who fall short in their duty.

Due and sharp warning should at once be served on those who are derelict. If this course fails to produce results, then let the penalties be applied. The state's fiscal system is embarrassed enough as it is, without being complicated by a conspiracy of timorousness.

RAILWAY PUBLICITY.

Howard Elliott, upon whose shoulders fell the vast burden of redeeming and rehabilitating the New Haven system of railways, has been telling the Massachusetts public service commission something about railroad advertising. Mr. Elliott had been questioned regarding the cost of the advertising campaigns recently inaugurated by the New Haven. He replied that publicity of the right sort was imperative to railways. Countless individuals, he declared, "sat up nights" devising ways to prejudice the people. The one hope for the corporations to offset these influences is to maintain systematic campaigns of publicity in which the road tells the truth about itself to its patrons.

That is very true. The railroad, like any other interest, needs to be protected against ignorance and prejudice. It needs to be protected against damaging misrepresentations, which grow out of inadvertence or the machinations of that brand of politician who regards corporation baiting as "his meat." Surely, if the muckrakers and the tearer-down can get a hearing in the magazines and newspapers and be paid for it, those whom he attacks should be able to get into the magazines and newspapers as legitimate advertisers. The square deal works both ways.

One great trouble with railways is that they wake up to these, as to other facts, at the eleventh hour. The New Haven is an illustration. For years, while the storm of prejudice was brewing, the heads of the New Haven never said a word. When the hurricane broke, and public sentiment demanded action, then the New Haven rushed into print and spent a lusty fortune in explaining to the people what a virtuous corporation it really was, and how much like a step-child the people and newspapers were treating it.

Publicity, publicity in time, is a mighty force for railroads. Of course, it is worthless unless with it goes an avoidance of the practices that in the first place kindled prejudice. Given the observance of this last rule, publicity continuously applied is about the best protection any corporation has against public distrust or individual plotting.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP.

Postmaster General Burleson revives the old Hitchcock suggestion of government ownership of telegraph and telephone lines. The tendency to extend to the government functions of a quasi-socialistic nature is so pronounced in our day it would be hazardous to prophesy that the present innovation may not ultimately materialize. But the objections to the plan are so many and far-ramifying that thoughtful Americans will want emphatically to be "shown" before they are convinced that in spending about $600,000,000 to acquire facilities of communication they will not be in the position of the man who swapped a plum for a penalty.

The one justification for placing telegraph and telephone service under the post-office department, or any other branch of the government, is increased efficiency and lowered cost to the consumer. Advocates of the plan rely largely upon the government-operated lines of Great Britain to sustain their argument. Passing by the fact that no comparison can safely be set up between this and any old-world nation, because of the enormous disparity in wealth and congestion of respective populations, the statistical history of Great Britain's experiment with public ownership is enough to make the average American business man go exceedingly slow.

We are indebted to The Providence (R. I.) Journal for figures the accuracy of which it underwrites. We commend the following facts to the man who can subordinate his enthusiasm to the exigencies of common sense:

In 1869 the British parliament thought that in fifteen years the profits of the telegraph would wipe out the cost, and that large sums then would be available every year for "the relief of taxes." The companies were paying 6 per cent dividends, which disappeared when the government took the properties. In two years losses were reported, and the deficit, according to the report of the postmaster general, now exceeds $4,500,000 annually. And this does not include the loss of interest on the original investment and on the money put into extensions, which, it is estimated, brings the total loss up to $6,000,000 a year. There was a like experience when the government acquired the telephone. The result has been that the service has deteriorated, that no profit on the capital that has been invested employees are most arbitrary in their demands.

In Great Britain, therefore, it does not appear that public ownership of telegraphs and telephones is the irdescent benefit it has been cracked up to be.

Under certain conditions, the Englishman makes an apparent saving of a few cents on his messages and his conversations. He stands to lose several times that much in delays and general inefficiencies. He suffers at another and a most insidious angle, the indirect one. For at the end of the year the government must appropriate part of his taxes to make up the deficit from telegraph and telephone operation. A more searching statistical analysis, bearing these facts in mind, would probably indicate that from the financial standpoint the American patron yields nothing to the British patron. There is no valid economy in putting money into a man's pocket with one hand, if you are going to take it out with another.

It must be remembered that in this country we have now all the advantages and none of the disadvantages of government ownership. We have strict government regulation of prices and practices. We can enforce reasonable rates. And the government has nothing whatever of the responsibility. This is not to reckon with the enormous sum in taxes paid to the states and nations. This would be lost under public ownership.

As the government has much new step upon unbuilded trails we need to be sure we are committing ourselves to a gain and not a loss.

EXASPERATING.

One explanation for the dangerously unhealthy impatience with court procedure that prevails here and there in this country is illustrated in the long-drawn-out Rosenthal murder case now pending in the New York court of appeals. Enough time has elapsed since the killing of Herman Rosenthal for the public to have forgotten most of the details. Yet the prosecution has just reached the stage of final appeal, the plea of Lieutenant Becker having been heard a few days ago, and that of his tools, the four gunmen, being now under way.

In the meantime, Becker and his alleged accomplices have had all the advantages that come with the death and disappearance of witnesses and the apathy which time brings to public sentiment. Whether one or all of them will pay the final penalty is yet open to doubt. Avenues still remain for lawyers gifted in the intricacies of enabling criminals to escape the consequences of their crime.

The murder rate mounts in this country and violence generally increases because, to a great extent, of the slowness with which justice trails the offender. Men in whose hearts the homicidal instinct lurks know that under our interminable system they will have a strong chance either of wearing out prosecution or getting off with a minimum of their deserts.

Until we approximate the old world judicial system, the keynote of which is dispatch tempered by rigid justice, we shall continue to stand indicted as a "nation of murderers" before the bar of civilization.

War is certainly just what it has been cracked up to be; Huerta is too poor to present the children with cannon firecrackers.

It is said the people of Chili consider the Colonel a warm number. Some of his speeches made them hot in the collar.

Just From Georgia

In the Small Procession.

I.

Never ask the country to see me rise an' shine;
They ain't no cash that's counterfeit in any "roll" o' mine;

In my one garden spot o' life I'm lovin' every clod;
I'm in the small procession, but I'm keepin' up—praise God!

II.

One pathway leads me to my toil—all earthly comforts bringin';
An' winter gray, or flower-sweet May, I walk that 'way a-singin';
An' when I'm in the lonesome land where trouble slips his tether,
I take a brother by the hand an' say: "We'll strive together."

III.

That's not like reachin' out for fame—like climbin' jes' so high
You've got to talk to clouds an' stars an' tell old times goodby;
The thing men know as "glory" the best o' things may be,
But I've long knowed it ain't my road—it wuzn't built fer me.

IV.

I'll never reach the Promised Land in any fiery car,
Nor hist this corncob pipe o' mine an' light it with a star;
Content to toil—to reap an' sow, without a trumpet blowin',
It takes the humble folk, you know, to keep the great ones goin'.

Song of the Old Mother.

This "Song of the Old Mother" from a poem by William Ernest Henley:

"I rise in the dawn and I kneel and blow
Till the seed of the fire flicker and glow.
And then I must scrub and bake and sweep,
Till stars are burning to blink and peep.
But the young lie long and dream in their bed
Of the snatching of ribbons, the blue and the red,
And their day goes over in idleness.
And they sigh if the wind but lift up a tress;
While I must work, because I am old
And the seed of the fire gets feeble and cold."

A Story of the Moment

By WALT MASON,
The Famous Press Poet.

ADULTERATION.

"The last coffee you sent to our house was half chicory," grumbled the colonel.

"We've been introduced into song and poesy," said the grocer, "if coffee were three-quarters chicory. Pure coffee is one of the deadliest drugs a man can take into his system. You have been consuming it for fifty or sixty years, and you see what it has done for you. Your teeth are all loose, and your complexion reminds people of a mud fence, and you can't see straight, and you have the blind staggers.

"It's all the result of drinking coffee, which contains caffeine, rough or rats, phosphorous, giant powder, and I don't know how many other harmful ingredients. Yet you come in here kicking and beefing because I sold you some coffee containing chicory. You don't know what chicory is, or you wouldn't talk so foolishly. It's as harmless as any vegetable that grows. You could eat a ton of it, and it wouldn't make you sweat a hair. It's wholesome and fattening, and if you use enough of it, it will fill your foxiest veins with rich red blood, forcing a new growth of hair to your bald head, and cure your corns.

"If there's anything makes me tired," remarked the colonel, "it's to have a jimtwisted splay-footed grocer sell me goods and then try to convince me that he doped them for my own welfare. After this when I order coffee I want coffee, and when I want I want coffee and nothing else. If it sends me to an untimely grave, that is my lookout, and my health all of a sudden, but I don't believe you can renew my youth by filling me up with chicory. If you want to work off chicory upon your customers, sell it for what it is, and don't try to introduce it to polite society as genuine Java and Mocha coffee. I don't care how much things are adulterated if the manufacturer or dealer acknowledges them, and makes no claim that he is doing it for my own good. If he stands up like a man and says that he is doping the goods a man and says that he is doping the goods so he can make more out of them, I have some respect for him. He is a dead game sport and entitled to my confidence. But the grocer or manufacturer who puts arsenic in my victuals, and then tells me that he is doing it for my own good, so that the sick headaches I have been suffering from, ought to be baked over a slow fire—

"For many years I have been using a certain brand of ketchup, and I always bought that kind, just because it tasted right. I knew that it contained embalming fluid, but I didn't care. The last bottle I purchased had a circular wrapped around it, and while I was waiting for dinner I read that document. It was a heart to heart talk from the manufacturer of the ketchup. He took his patrons into his confidence. He acknowledged that his product was liberally charged with embalming fluid, but it was put there, he said, to guard the health and lives of consumers.

"Ketchup, he explained, that had no chain lightning in it, was almost sure to ferment after the cork was drawn, and people at any moment, and blow the consumer through his ancestral roof-tree.

"He explained that he'd save money by leaving the chain lightning out of his ketchup, but he never reckoned that he would serve human lives were at stake. Rather than see a consumer blown across the county line by a jigger of his ketchup, he'd go to the poor house and take his family with him.

"Well, sir, that manufacturer lost one of his best customers. I simply threw the bottle into the alley and made up my mind never to buy that brand again. So I say to you, adulterate all you want to but do it like a good sport, and don't pretend you're doing it to cure your customers of the measles or ingrowing sideboards."

FAVORITE RECIPES OF DISTINGUISHED WOMEN

By MRS. LEMUEL P. PADGETT
Wife of Representative Padgett of Tenn.

If there is any particular thing in which the south takes a justifiable pride, it is upon which it feels itself an absolute and recognized authority, it is in the cooking of chicken.

Nobody better understood the nature and anatomy of chicken than the ante-bellum darkey cooks, and their ways of handling chicken and making corn-bread have become accepted and traditional.

If the secret of fine chicken lies in the taste thereof, the real southern style has deservedly earned its reputation for attaining perfection in this line.

Of all the many ways in which it may be served, while fried chicken, of course, takes the lead, there are several other styles which to many tastes are just as good. In our part of the country it is very popular prepared after the following method.

Smothered Chicken.

Select a plump, half-grown chicken, always when possible a life chicken, and after it has been picked and dressed, have it split down the back. Rub well with butter and place in a baking pan with a pint of water, seasoning with salt and pepper. On top of the chicken place several slices of good country bacon. Cover pan, place on top of the stove and let boil until the chicken has become a little tender. Cut strips of pastry for the top and place in the oven to finish cooking, being sure to baste it frequently. Thicken the gravy with a tablespoonful of flour and the dish is ready to serve.

THE RIGHT THING.

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

The way to do The Right Thing is to ignore The Wrong Thing. The Right and Wrong in People and Things is there because we see them. Right and Wrong have to have a Viewpoint at the other end. You can't do The Right Thing and The Wrong Thing at the same time. So—

Do The Right Thing—First.

For just as soon as you Begin to do The Right Thing, the Wrong Thing walks off. It is inspiring to note the way a big, successful man's Shoulder to Nose Important gets Right Thing placed before him. Immediately, without parley, his keen, trathed Mind goes to the Heart of the Matter and decides to do what The Right Thing to do is—he doesn't even consider The Wrong Thing.

Do The Right Thing—First.

For if you do The Right Thing first, there will be no need to do the thing any other way. One of the best reasons why we do not always do our best is that we are afraid we will do our worst, whereas the moment we decide that there shall be no worst we do our best. Put it down in your Book of Action, to—

Do The Right Thing—First.

Why Prayer Was Unanswered

(From The London Spectator.)

McCarthy got into an argument with Casey about the efficacy of prayer.

"O! can't see that there's anything in it," asserted Casey. "O! never got anything out of it."

"Well," said McCarthy, "don't you know when there's a war it's always the people that pray that win the fights?"

"How about the Chinese?" asked Casey. "They're great people to pray, and yet they got licked, and licked bad."

"Oh, well," explained McCarthy, "no wan could understand thim whin they prayed."

The World's Mysteries

WAS A DUTCH FLEET CAPTURED BY CAVALRY!

There have been many unusual occurrences related in history, which took their rise either from some incident or from some trivial cause, but introduced into song and story until it became a foregone conclusion that they were authentic. One of the most strange of these is the story of how a Dutch fleet was captured by cavalry through being so frozen up that they could not get away. In most every history of the French revolutionary wars this story is repeated with variations.

The waters in which the fleet was ice-bound are said by some writers to have been the Zuider Zee and by others the River IJ at Amsterdam; but wherever the fleet lay the cavalry galloped over the ice with drawn swords and attacked the ships, the crews of which, 10,000 strong, with guns and firearms, could not resist, knowing that they surrendered to a squadron of hussars, slipping about on the ice.

What are the facts? Early in January, 1795, Pchegru, holding Belgium, invaded the United Provinces on the invitation of the Dutch "patriots." He was able to cross the frozen rivers and gain a firm position in the country. On the 18th day the Stadhouder abandoned Holland to its fate: Pchegru then cajoled the States-General into receiving the French as friends and liberators, and succeeded in obtaining an order for all fortresses to open their gates to his army.

This was done in the actual commanding the Dutch fleet received a similar order, which he kept only to present himself before the flagship, anchored not far from the shore, for the fifteen warships, with a number of store ships and tenders, to be formally handed over to him, and he was then entertained at dinner on board.

Such being the facts how did the legend, if it is such, arise? It is very doubtful if the fleet was fast in ice. The short, deep inlet from the North Sea to the Zuider Zee, about two miles long and as much wide, between the Helder in North Holland and the island of Texal, with seventeen to twenty fathoms of water on the Nieuwe deep side, could scarcely have been frozen over. Such ice as might form or might drift out from the Zuider Zee could easily have been broken up by the crews of the fifteen fleet. There is no mention of the fleet being beset by ice in the reports to the States-General of the surrender. The French official report said not that the fleet was fast in the ice, but that it was stopped at the Helder by ice, which may mean that it was stopped from entering the shallow and easily frozen waters of the Zuider Zee. A month after the event Carnot congratulated the committee of public safety on the surrender of the Dutch fleets, when they might have sailed off to England.

Where is the rounding of the legend, the grain of fact on which so much has been built? It is believed that it arose from the circumstance that on the entrance of the French army into Amsterdam a few Hussars rode over the ice, probably with great care, and with their horses' feet well wrapped up, to the two gunboats which were fast in the ice of the River IJ. This ride was certainly with no hostile object. It was probably a friendly visit, for the visitors were entertained "met een extra oorlam," with an extra issue of gin. This incident is probably the source of not only the legend, but also of the confusion between the River IJ and the anchorage in the Helder in the accounts given by the historians.

Mr. John G. Agar, whose "Glimpses of the French Revolution" have done so much to expose the myths of that period of splendid mendacity, has, in his paper on the alleged capture of the Dutch fleet by cavalry, himself fallen into the same mistake of place. He states that the fleet was "lying one hundred yards off Amsterdam."

FOOTBALL RULES.

By George Fitch,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

About this time of the year the national football commission looks carefully over the remnants of the less durable players who have indulged in our great autumn pastime to excess and tries to think of a new set of rules that will protect at the prosperity of the coroners, with whom this country abounds.

The football most of the eminent shin virtuosos who participated in the various gridiron pachydermic fall emerged comparatively intact, some few of them have not been entirely collected as yet and there is great need of reducing the ballistic power of the 185-pound halfback, while at the same time care must be taken to avoid squeezing the thrills and gate receipts out of the game.

This can be accomplished if the commission will but borrow the experiences of other exact sciences and exercise a wide commonsense in its deliberations.

One of the most serious features of the present game is the number of sprained ankles and knees sustained. While this cannot be entirely eliminated the number can be cut 50 per cent by using only one-legged players.

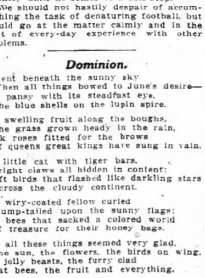
Collisions between men who carry the ball and members of the opposing line are often attended with frightful results. The semaphore system would obviate this. By the adoption of an ordinary train rule forbidding a player to start a block until the player ahead has left it the mortality would be cut down 10 per cent.

Interference is also the cause of many accidents. Interference, according to all the best street authorities is entirely unwarranted and unwise, and a skillful use of the common or temporary injunction will eliminate it.

Many football players are sadly marred by the reckless practice of walking over the faces of the opposition with cleated shoes. Turning to the rules of golf, Volume 3, Section 76, we discover the remedy. All divots cut from the features of the opposition should be immediately replaced by the player or his caddy.

Many players are permanently impaired by attempting to tackle such men as Brickley, of Harvard, without the latter's consent. A very common railroad rule will prevent this. Players should not attempt to board Brickley until he comes to a full stop.

These should be hardly cause for despair of accomplishing the task of denaturing football, but should go at the matter calmly and in the light of every-day experience with other problems.



"Players should not attempt to board Brickley until he comes to a full stop."

Dominion.

I went beneath the sunny sky
When all things bowed to June's desire—
The pansy with its steadfast eye,
The blue shells on the lupin spire.

The swelling fruit along the boughs,
The grass grown heady in the rain,
Dark roses fitted for the brows
Of queens great kings have sung in vain.

My little cat with tiger bars,
Bright claws all hidden in content;
Swift birds that flashed like darkling stars
Across the heaven's tent.

The wiry-coated fellow curled
Stump-tailed upon the sunny flags;
The bees that sacked a colored world
Of treasure for their honey bags.

And all these things seemed very glad,
The sun, the flowers, the birds on wing,
The jolly beasts, the furry clad
Folk of the fields and everything.

But gladder than them all was I,
Who, being man, might gather up
The joy of all beneath the sky,
And add that treasure to my cup.

And travel every shining way,
And laugh with God in God's delight,
Create a world for every day,
And store a dream in every night.

—John Drinkwater in The Spectator.

Founder of Modern Sunday School.

Robert Raikes, the man who founded the modern Sunday school, was a journalist with a passion for what he termed "moralizing in human nature." His great experiment is said to have been suggested by the disturbance caused by crowds of little ragamuffins playing beneath his window on Sunday afternoons when he was correcting proofs. Why should they not be put together and taught the elements of religion and good behavior? he asked himself, and answered the question by establishing the first Sunday school in Gloucester, England, in 1780. It was characteristic of the man that in his school scheme he laid as great stress upon the inculcation of "manners" as on the teaching of the catechism.

Efficient Housekeeping

HOW TO SAVE STEPS

"We have all agreed that the greatest waste in our homes is the waste of time and strength, and since our attention has been called to our kitchens and their furnishings many changes have taken place," writes a reader of this column, who recently organized a sewing club among her neighborhood friends.

"At our first meeting," she writer continues, "we drew diagrams that might have been war maps, but were kitchen plans instead. The endless maze of floor crossing and recrossing one another was the progress of some of us back and forth across the kitchen floors. To the dining room, back to the sink, over to the refrigerator, across to the stove, down into the basement and up again we go getting a dinner or doing up the afternoon work.

"Our comparison of the arrangement of the various kitchens in the discussion showed that many waste steps could be eliminated and ideas of ideal kitchens were drawn up.

"We just pretended we were multi-millionaires and still retaining our checked our fancy, let go our imagination and built kitchens in the air for an hour."

One of our members declared no kitchen perfect without a rocking chair and a sweet singing canary. Another's ideal kitchen was finished in weathered oak with plumbing, door hinges and knobs of nickel to give a bright contrast. We all agreed that small kitchens were easiest to work in and finally decided that when our ship comes in we will have a kitchen floor of linoleum so that it can be flushed and the water run down a drain in the center. This shall be covered with cork mats. Our walls will be of tiling and blue and white tiles, washable, you see. The refrigerator we will put on the back porch but have a side opening into the kitchen. One progressive member installed an elevator to connect with the laundry in the basement and the servant's room on the second floor. Besides a built-in gas range, electrical cooker and fireless box we built a huge fireplace at one end of the room for roasting and baking beans and all those good old things that do not taste the same from the gas cookery.

"Our castle building afternoon showed, as all agreed, that the refrigerator should be at the left of the kitchen cabinet, the sink, then the stove, and then a kitchen work table at its right. In this way, we found much standing back and forth can be prevented. Utensils we decided to hang within easy reach, as a carpenter does his tools, and after the shelves shall be only waist and shoulder high so there will be no stooping down or reaching up."

Such a neighborhood gathering as this is a splendid power for progress among any group of women. Why not make as well as if I was attending their meetings that they all spoke for plain, durable furniture, elimination of dust-catching ornaments to be on the range and for linoleum covered floors. Later, I presume they will discuss light and ventilation, until they realize their power, then they will take up the next work of demanding clean bakeries, factories and stores.

Alaska Reindeer.

On June 30, 1912, the last, time an official count was taken, there were 38,476 reindeer, comprising 54 herds, scattered throughout Alaska. Of the 38,476, 24,068, or 62.5 per cent, are owned by 633 natives; 3,776, or 9.8 per cent, by the United States; 4,511, or 11.7 per cent, by missionaries, and 6,121, or 16 per cent, by the Lapps.

At an average value of $25 a head, the 24,068 reindeer owned by the natives represent a capital of $601,700. The total income of the natives from the reindeer industry during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1912, was $84,238.94. The skins, meat and hides used by the natives themselves, valued $44,585.94. The reindeer industry affects the entire coastal region from Point Barrow to the Alaska peninsula—a region approximating in length the distance from Maine to South Carolina. Also a distance of over 54 yards would be more than 5,000 miles in length.

There are 633 native owners of reindeer, whose immediate families number approximately 2,500. In addition to these, probably 4,000 natives are affected by the reindeer enterprise, obtaining reindeer products in exchange for their own wares. Accordingly, the total number of natives affected by the reindeer enterprise may be estimated to be about 6,500. These are certain to be reached by the reindeer industry in Alaska, the upper Kuskokwim and the Copper river regions and the coast east of Point Barrow, also Nunivak, Kodiak and the Aleutian Islands. The establishment of herds in these regions will complete the means for gradually stocking with reindeer all of the untimbered regions of Alaska, says the U. S. Industry. During August, 1911, 10 reindeer from the herd at Unalakleet were delivered to the department of commerce, 25 were placed on St. Paul island and 15 on St. George island. In June, 1912, the reindeer on St. Paul island had increased to 40 and those on St. George to 25.

NAUGHTY DOINGS LAID TO GEORGE

Founder of Junior Republic Too Familiar With Girl Citizens—Boy and Girl Citizens Too Loving.

New York, December 18.—Removal of William R. George from active participation in affairs of the George Junior Republic at Freeville, N. Y., founded by him more than ten years ago, is recommended by the executive board of charities in a report adopted by the board yesterday afternoon and made public today. George's moral conduct is severely condemned.

An investigation begun more than six months ago resulted in the recommendation. More than fifty witnesses in six states were examined with regard to charges of loose living made against George by three young women former members of the Republic. The oldest of these charges dated back to 1904; the most recent was several years old.

The testimony was unprintable and no verdict as to whether the charges were proved was rendered by the committee under whose direction the investigation was made.

"The character of the principals in these charges would make it impossible to prove them by unsupported testimony," said Henry A. Wise, attorney for the committee. "It is my opinion that no court of law would accept the unsupported word of any of these girls in a case involving the conduct of a man like George."

Notwithstanding, the board strongly condemned the conduct of George in dealing with members of the Republic.

Girls to Be Barred.

The board also recommends that no more girls be received at the Republic and that those now there be speedily removed to other institutions. A dozen other recommendations covering the administration of the Republic's affairs are made, chief of which are suggestions that the courts of the Republic, the grand jury and the district attorney be abolished and that the superintendent deal with all offenders.

George had not been actively connected with the Republic for some time. His retirement from the directorate of the institution followed the report of the committee. It is believed is forced by the trustees.

The George Junior Republic was founded by William R. George as a refuge for bad boys. Its pioneer members were toughs of the old Bowery, the youths who said they "never had a chance." These young men were taken to the hills of Freeville, near Ithaca, and under George's direction governed themselves in the Republic which he founded. George was a benevolent despot. He was called "Daddy" George by his proteges and by each of him, he often said, was to bring back to an atmosphere of home life the wayward boys—and girls, afterwards admitted—who had strayed.

From the model at Freeville other George Junior Republics were fashioned throughout the country.

Hypnotism Practiced by George.

Of George's conduct the report says in part:

"In view of certain confessions and statements regarding his (George's) exercise of hypnotic influence upon the citizens of the Republic and his admissions of lapses of memory as testified before the joint committee of the National Association of Junior Republics, his presence in the institution is clearly undesirable.

"It was brought out in the course of testimony taken by the committee of trustees that George had practiced hypnotism to such an extent that he could hypnotize himself at will before a mirror. Sometimes he did so. It was testified, and had to be awakened from the spell by some one else, being unable to 'come to' of himself. It was also testified that George frequently hypnotized members of the Republic.

The Republic's population is 124, and of this number 41 are girls. No person is admitted under 12 years of age; the average age is 15. Since 1894 the property has increased in extent and value and now consists of about 400 acres of land and twenty buildings.

The committee pointed out that the Republic was considerably in debt, having during the past year expended receipts by about $22,000.

Too Familiar With Girls.

The report of the committee says:

"Evidence taken shows that for many years it has been the custom of Mr. George to exhibit undue familiarity with the girl citizens. Whatever may have been his motive, his example in this regard and the influence of these acts, as was shown by testimony of many witnesses, had the effect of leading to immoral acts of a number of the older girls and boys.

"About a year ago it became apparent to some in control of the Republic that seriously immoral conditions existed within the institution. An effort to eradicate the evil resulted in the severe conviction of several citizens of both sexes.

"Until recently at least, there have been many opportunities for immorality among the citizens at the institution. We find that it is the custom to permit the girls to do house work in houses occupied by the boys, and it was testified that, however vigilant the house mother of that cottage may have been, opportunities were frequent for immoral conduct and were taken advantage of."

Statement by Secretary.

Lyman Beecher Stowe, secretary of the National Association of Junior Republic, after reading the report of the special committee issued this statement:

"Now that the Junior Republic movement has become national in extent, of a limited extent, international, an adverse report from a state committee is not so serious a matter as it was when the work had hardly extended beyond the confines of New York state. I wish to say that the recommendations of the special committee of the state board of charities couldn't be carried out in full or even in large part without abolishing the Junior Republic which, in my opinion, is too firmly entrenched as the most modern and successful method of character building known to progressive educators and penologists."

THREE WEEKS' VACATION FOR PRESIDENT WILSON

He Will Leave Washington for the South—Savannah Invites the President.

Washington, December 18.—President Wilson will take a three weeks' vacation immediately after he signs the currency bill, which is expected to be on Monday or Tuesday. Where he will go has not yet been announced, although it is said he and his family will select a quiet spot on the coast of the Gulf of Mexico near New Orleans. There will be the longest absence of the president from the capital since he was inaugurated. There will be no New Year's reception at the white house, as the president will be out of the city during the holidays.

The president has been suffering from an attack of grippe for nearly two weeks, but the announcement of his intended vacation was made some time before he became ill. His physician had advised a halt in the president's labors, which have been continued without any material interruption for practically a year.

Steady Grind for President.

As president-elect, Mr. Wilson returned from a month's vacation in the Bermudas last December, and in the succeeding three months was under the double strain of official duties as governor of New Jersey and preparation for the presidency, since taking office he has been in Washington almost constantly, being occupied with the tariff, the currency and the Mexican situation, among questions of administrative affairs.

The manner in the president intends to be away until about January 12, the diplomatic reception planned for January 1 will be postponed to the following week and the dates in the entire social schedule of state dinners and receptions at the white house for the winter season will be set back.

The president was well enough today to take a long automobile ride, and on his return helped plant an American elm in front of the white house. The president shoveled vigorously and as if he enjoyed the exercise. A crowd looked on. During a recent storm the elm planted by President Hayes was destroyed and its place is taken by the "Wilson elm."

Savannah Invites Wilson.

Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia; Mayor R. J. Davant, of Savannah, Ga., and a delegation from that city today invited the president and Mrs. Wilson to attend a meeting of the National Rivers and Harbors congress to be held in April in Savannah.

Another invitation was presented by the same delegation for the president to attend the dedication of a memorial at Midway church, a few miles from Savannah, where Mr. Wilson's grandfather preached. The president took the invitations under consideration.

FIRST CABINET DINNER OF WILSON REGIME

Washington, December 18.—The first cabinet dinner under the present administration was given by the president and Mrs. Wilson at the white house tonight. Besides the members of the cabinet and their wives and daughters, the vice president and Mrs. Marshall, Secretary Tumulty and some congressional friends of the Wilson family were invited. Covers were laid for fifty.

Outside of the cabinet circle, the guests included Mayor-elect John Purroy Mitchel; Mrs. Peter Goelet Gerry; Mrs. Mitchel; Chairman William McCombs, president Harry A. Garfield, of Williams college, and Mrs. Garfield; Professor Henry Smith Pritchett, president emeritus, and Mrs. Pritchett; Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Thompson, of Wilmington, Del.; Professor Frank J. Goodnow, of Johns Hopkins university, and Mrs. Goodnow; Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Thompson, of Wilmington, Del.; Professor Frank J. Goodnow, of Johns Hopkins university, and Mrs. Goodnow; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pitney, of Morristown, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Richardson Entertain for Miss Grant

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Richardson entertained twenty-six guests at dinner last evening in compliment to their niece, Miss Margaret Grant, whose guests invited at 8 o'clock. They were seated at two tables, each decorated in the red and green which are the color here-alike of Christmas.

In the center of the tables were the crimson peabled poinsettia, artistically arranged with fern and narcissi in combination. The candlesticks had their shades of red and the minor decorations were in the red and green. The place cards were dainty creations, and music was one of the pleasurable incidents of the dinner.

Later dancing was enjoyed, the sun parlor being beautiful with palms and blooming poinsettia, and red-shaded lights afforded an ideal setting for the Christmas party.

Mrs. Richardson's dinner gown was of black satin, the corsage and tunic of gold threaded lace over white. Miss Grant wore a dancing gown of pink silk in graceful fashion, the corsage of lace given Frenchy finish in a touch of rose.

Tonight Mr. and Mrs. Richardson entertain at a family dinner party in honor of the two grandsons of the home, who arrive today for the holidays. They are Hugh Inman Richardson and William Grant, and the occasion will assemble the immediate families of the young men, including two grandmothers, Mrs. William D. Grant and Mrs. Hugh Inman. A third grandson present will be Hugh Inman, with his grandmother, Mrs. Billy McDougald, the party including besides Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Inman and Governor and Mrs. Slaton.

Misses Horine to Entertain

Invitations have been issued by Misses May and Laurent Horine to a mask ball at Segadlo's on the evening of December 29.

Adams-Bailey.

The wedding of Miss Mamie Hadley Adams and Mr. Stacy Parker Bailey took place yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Virginia M. Adams, on East Eleventh street.

The house had Christmas decorations with ferns and red carnations, Dr. Charles W. Daniel officiated, and only the members of the families were present.

The bride was given away by her mother, and her sister, Miss Eloise Adams, was bridesmaid. Mr. Miller Lott, of Waycross, was Mr. Bailey's best man.

The bride was gowned in blue crepe meteor over crimson satin charmeuse, and Miss Adams' gown was white crepe de chine and she carried white roses.

After a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Bailey will be at home with the bride's mother.

Art Exhibit.

Miss Louise Mellichamp's art exhibit, held at Haverty's last week, has been continued through this week. The public is invited.

Miss Barne's Classes.

No feature of the season's social life has proven more delightful than the classes directed by Miss Dunna Bain at the Piedmont Driving club. For these dances have proven brilliant occasions socially is evinced by the fact that two hundred guests assembled at the club Wednesday afternoon, many of these being distinguished visitors from all parts of the country, enthusiastic over the young Georgia woman's art.

Whether one takes lessons likes dancing, has a talent in that line or whether one goes merely to look on, the wish is gratified, for Miss Bain is an artiste. She dances with the thought to express and the pupils quickly distinguishes the most finished of the men and women in her profession.

She imparts her knowledge with ease and her coming is giving pleasure to men and women, old and young, alike.

MEETINGS

The regular meeting of Electa chapter, O. E. S., order of Eastern Star, will be held Friday evening, December 19, at 7:30 o'clock at Masonic temple. This is the last meeting of the year, and a large attendance is urged. Election of officers. Visitors welcome.

The Inman Park Students' club will meet Friday, December 19, at 10:30 o'clock with Mrs. John R. Dickey, 38 Euclid avenue.

Adamson Banquet Was Splendid Tribute To Former Atlantan

William Hurd Hillyer, who with Alfred C. Newell was appointed to represent the Atlanta chamber of commerce at the dinner given to Robert Adamson in New York on the 15th, returned to Atlanta yesterday.

Mr. Hillyer expressed the opinion that the dinner was the most remarkable tribute ever paid to a native Georgian on account of the number and in some respects the most remarkable honor received by any citizen in New York.

"The dinner was entirely unofficial in character," said Mr. Hillyer. "It was the spontaneous utterance of a sentiment, which prevailed in the Manhasset in the hearts of New York's best people, even the leaders of the most prominent citizens, representing all shades of politics, faith and all classes of business and professional life, volunteered to act at the dinner, the occasion, in honor of the man whose brilliant and unselfish efforts had resulted in the triumph of the fusion ticket at the recent election.

"New Yorkers with whom I talked on the subject were unable to recall an occasion on which such marked distinction was accorded a citizen, purely in recognition of his services to municipality and without the sanction or sponsorship of any political or financial body.

"The speeches were all in excellent taste and reflected the high opinion in which Mr. Adamson is held. Georgia should be proud of Robert Adamson now that he has become, in the language of one of the speakers, 'Father Knickerbocker's fair-haired boy.'"

FINED $10 FOR TALK ABOUT GIRL NEIGHBOR

Rome, Ga., December 18.—(Special)—Horace Irom, who was found guilty in recorder's court today of maligning the character of his next door neighbor, pretty Miss Ruth Harris, was fined $10 and costs by Judge Reece, in Floyd city court. Irom, who had admitted making derogatory remarks, but who insisted they were based upon what he had seen through the window of the home when Miss Harris had men callers, paid the fine.

Christmas Dinner Cheaper Than in Several Years Past

From reports of Atlanta commission merchants, Old Man High-Cost-of-Living is due for a terrific and long-needed walloping this Christmas. The wholesale price list indicates that every food commodity which goes into the making of a Christmas dinner fit for a king is lower than it has been in years, with the exception of cranberries, and enough cranberries for a dinner for six people can be had for 10 cents.

One well-known commission merchant figures the cost of a good Christmas dinner for six people at $3.50.

The following is the menu and the cost:

Turkey	$2.25
Cranberries	.05
Rice	.05
Celery	.10
Oysters	.10
Onions	.10
Sweet potatoes	.10
Irish potatoes	.10
Bread	.10
Mince pies	.20
Fruits, nuts and raisins	.30
Coffee	.05
Total	$3.50

This is a generous dinner at a generous price, which will not be changed in any manner to get variety or to reduce cost.

Turkey Is Cheaper.

Turkey this Christmas will be 2½ cents cheaper per pound than last year. And, in passing, it may be mentioned that Atlanta will eat more turkeys this year than ever before in her history. One merchant estimates the number of turkeys which will be consumed this Christmas at 20,000, at a cost of $50,000.

Another glad tiding of great joy is the report from the commission merchants that eggs—priceless eggs, which for some months past have been rather to be chosen than great riches—are rapidly becoming more plentiful. These Jersey eggs which were selling last week at 45 cents per dozen retail, are selling this week at 40 cents, and it is predicted that by Christmas they will have dropped to 30 cents. So much for the boycott of the Housewives' league, the most effective trust-busters the world has ever seen.

Nice, plump hens, and, incidentally, a matronly Plymouth is no bad substitute for turkey, are getting down to a very democratic price. Selling wholesale now at 17 to 18 cents per pound, it is expected that they will humbly offer themselves at 15 cents by Christmas.

Celery, which was bringing $1.25 wholesale last year, is being bought at 75 cents this year. Fancy head lettuce is cheaper than it has been known in years and years.

Oranges Are Lower.

Oranges, wholesale, this time last year brought $3.50 per box. Today they bring $2.25 a box. Likewise grapefruit is going wholesale today at $2.25 per crate against the $5 of last year.

The haughty little cranberry alone has declined to compromise with Mr. Consumer. "This necessary to a palatable Christmas dinner which cost last year $7 per barrel, stands up and demands $10 to $12 per barrel today. Like Christmas dinner which cost last year $7 per barrel, stands up and demands $10 to $12 per barrel today. Like Christmas dinner which cost last year, the cranberry remains in the enviable position of being unable to say, in the words of Shakespeare, "Ish ka bibble!"

TO CUT DEATH RATE OF ATLANTA IN HALF

Chamber of Commerce to Give Full Support to Board of Health.

That the city board of health will receive the full support of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce to get from city council an appropriation for the purpose of cutting in half the annual death toll of Atlanta was apparent at the latest meeting of the directors of the chamber with Dr. J. P. Kennedy, city health officer, and Dr. Claude A. Smith, city bacteriologist.

The object of this special meeting of the directors was to discuss the report of the chamber committee on the purity of the city's milk supply. Both the directors and the representative of the board of health are agreed that it is important that additional dairy inspectors and a veterinarian are absolutely necessary to make the city's system of inspection as effective as it should be.

At this meeting the milk committee's report was referred to a special committee of five directors, to be named by the president.

President Moore has appointed the following gentlemen: Ivan E. Allen, chairman; R. J. Hudson, H. H. Kriegshaber, John S. Owens, B. M. Hodges.

It is probable that this committee will bring in recommendations for additional inspection, upon which, both the health officers and the chamber of commerce committee are agreed.

President Moore has also suggested a conference between the committee of, the chamber of commerce on social survey, of which R. L. Foreman is chairman, which secured the important recommendations from the Russell Sage foundation, covering the whole field of health improvement.

The board of health has already appointed a committee of four, including President Quillian, to confer with this committee with a view to carrying out the recommendations of the Russell Sage foundation report, which have already been covered by recommendations of the board of health.

RECOVERY OF JEWELS SOUGHT BY MRS. TYE

Alleging that she reached the boarding house where her aged relative had just died, in time to find the proprietor searching the room of the dead man for valuables, Mrs. A. E. Tye filed a petition in superior court charging illegal appropriation of jewelry, valued at $500 against Thomas Cooper, of 1295 East Fair street.

Mrs. Tye, in her affidavit, declares that she is the only relative of Mrs. Ella William Sparks.

Mrs. Tye says that when she asked for the jewelry left by the aged man, Mr. Cooper, wife of the proprietor, started to cry and said that she should keep a diamond and ruby pine left by the old man as she "had been so kind to him."

Mrs. Tye also asks for possession of papers kept by "Uncle Billy" Sparks in a box in the safe of the store where he was employed for years. These papers, declares Mrs. Tye, were missing directly after Sparks' death.

INVIGORATING WEATHER ON THE BILL FOR TODAY

The weather man says it will be fair today with the mercury still down far enough in the bulb of the thermometer to call it cold.

The clearing up of an unpleasant condition in this vicinity started early Thursday when high winds drove the haze and clouds, which had hovered over the city for two days, far away towards the ocean.

Last night the full moon shone brightly. Although the air was chilled, there was no sign of the drizzle which for the past 48 hours had been so disagreeable.

Today will be a real example of a southern winter day, if the weather men are to be relied on. At least, so they promise, but it is well to add that the best promises they have made recently haven't exactly come up to the standard.

NEGRO MURDERERS ARE LODGED IN THE TOWER

Brought at top speed to Atlanta in an automobile, the three negro slayers of Mrs. Jefferson Irby, of Wrens, Ga., were lodged in the Tower at 5:30 o'clock yesterday morning for safe keeping, after having been spirited from the jail in Augusta before a revengeful mob had found time to organize.

The prisoners were brought to Atlanta following a conference between Augusta authorities and Governor Jack Slaton. Their custodians were not able to take even a train on the trip to Atlanta, for fear they would be overpowered and their prisoners taken.

The negroes will be held in the Tower until sentiment quiets in Augusta and the vicinity.

COOK REPORTS BRISK SALE OF AUTO LICENSES

The sale of automobile licenses is progressing rapidly, Secretary of State Phil Cook reported yesterday that he took in $2,600 during the day. That was for the registration of 520 automobiles. It is estimated that there are from thirty-five to forty thousand automobiles in the state. The annual registration tax is $5 for each machine. Under the new law all that is collected for automobile registration has will be distributed among the counties to be used in work upon the roads.

Noble Red Man Clashes With Gypsy Palm Reader In Office of the Mayor

Red Eagle, his face painted in a brilliant scarlet hue, with bright red and pronounced blue stripes on his high cheek bones, an eagle feather bonnet resting rakishly on one side of his head, walked into Mayor Woodward's office yesterday morning, asking for his private secretary, Frank Hammond.

"I am said Red Eagle—and he talked good American—"we've been told Mr. Hammond knows the Sioux tongue. And if he's the mighty hunter my tribe has heard of, he will understand everything Sky Eagle—that's my wife what to say."

A comely Indian girl, her face painted like the face of Red Eagle, walked from an obscure corner, where she had been standing.

Quickly darting her glance from Red Eagle, "ner man," to catch Secretary Hammond's smiling gaze, but never letting up her grip on Red Eagle's arm, she poured out a torrent of Sioux, which neither Alderman Harwell or Councilman Lee, who happened in at the moment, knew naught. And probably Sky Eagle, of the entire party of Red Eagle included, was the only one who knew what was being said until another Indian, painted face, leading a 5-year-old, stepped to the front. R. H. Hudson, the Indian fake—that I'm not an Indian. But I'm a chief, the mighty hunter my tribe has heard of, he will understand everything Sky Eagle—that's my wife what to say."

"What she says is not true," declared the new actress in the play. "She tell you I am not an Indian; that I'm a fake—that I'm not an Indian. But I'm not. I'm a real Indian, a Sioux friends of mine—friends from away back—declare you are a gypsy and not an Indian."

PIONEER ATLANTA WOMAN FOUND DEAD

Mrs. C. E. Jones, a pioneer woman of Atlanta, was found dead in her bed Wednesday morning at the home of her son, Spring street. She had not been ill and the cause of her death.

Mrs. Jones was 83 years old and had lived in Atlanta for many years. She was a charter member of the First Methodist church and a devout Christian woman. She had many friends in Atlanta and Columbus, Ga., especially among the members of the older generation.

Surviving her are two sisters, Mrs. T. J. Watt and Mrs. F. J. Robinson, and a number of nephews and nieces.

The body was removed to Patterson's undertaking rooms at 4:45 o'clock this morning to Columbus, Ga., for burial, interment in the family burying ground.

TO ADVISE FARMERS TO DIVERSIFY CROPS

Department of Agriculture to Issue Bulletin Giving Sound Advice to Farmers.

A bulletin will be issued by the department of agriculture at an early date on crop diversification. The booklet has been compiled by the heads of the different branches of the department and is specially designed to prepare the farmers of the state for the invasion of the boll weevil.

Attention is called to a number of crops which can be raised profitably in Georgia which have so far been very much neglected by farmers.

It is shown, among other things, that great profit may be made from the growing of oats. Wheat is another cereal, formerly extensively grown in Georgia, which is now almost altogether neglected. Corn, of course, is dwelt upon, but there has been much written recently about the growing of corn and a strong impetus given to that industry.

Dr. Peter F. Bahnsen, state veterinarian, contributes about fifteen pages on the subject of stock raising. It is Dr. Bahnsen's opinion that Georgia is better fitted by nature for stock raising than almost any other southern state. There is no reason, according to him, why Georgia should not be the equal of New York as a dairy state and of Illinois and Indiana as beef raising states.

All that is necessary is that the farmers of the state arouse themselves to the fact that as much money can be made in cattle raising as in cotton.

There is also a great future in Georgia for the production of hogs. Meat can be raised in Georgia cheaper than it can in the middle west. There would be a market in all of the great leading cities and the time will come when Atlanta should rival as a packing house center Chicago and Kansas City.

China is now importing nearly 200,000,000 gallons of kerosene a year.

For pastry there is nothing to compare with Cottolene
Cottolene "creams up" beautifully, always, and every cook knows what an advantage that is. It is always plastic and blends readily with the flour or sugar. This makes Cottolene especially pleasant to use in cakes, pastry, sauces, biscuits and the like.
Have you tried Cottolene yet? If not, do at least test it for yourself. You will then understand some of its many advantages. At the same time, do not forget that food experts advocate this wholesome shortening as reliable, economical and digestible.

Helen Keller's Lecture.

Unusual social interest attaches to the coming of Miss Helen Keller this week, as the guest of the Atlanta chapter, U. D. C. She will be welcome not merely because of the fact that she is to deliver a notable public lecture at the Auditorium-Armory Saturday night, but because she is a distinguished daughter of one of the oldest families in the south.

Miss Keller, accompanied by Mrs. Macey, will arrive in Atlanta Saturday at 11:30 a. m., over the L. & N., and will be met by a committee of prominent Atlanta women headed by Mrs. William McCarthy, president of the U. D. C., and Mrs. C. Helen Plane.

A suite has been reserved for Miss Keller at the Ansley and she will be the recipient of numerous social attentions while here. Among the out-of-town ladies who contemplate coming for the occasion is Miss Mildred Rutherford, historian of the U. D. C.

A beautiful ceremony in connection with the address at the Auditorium will be the crowning of Miss Keller with a wreath of roses by Mrs. C. Helen Plane.

The whole community is intensely interested in Miss Keller's appearance here, as it is her first in Atlanta, and will probably be her last. Tickets for the address are on sale under U. D. C. auspices at the Cable Piano company.

Luncheon for Surgeons.

Dr. M. L. Boyd, Dr. Max S. Mallenberger and Dr. C. M. Reclsen entertained at a luncheon Wednesday at the Capital City club. The guests, who were all members of the Southern Surgical and Gynecological association, were: Dr. J. M. T. Finney, Baltimore; Dr. T. S. Cullen and Dr. Guy Hunter, Baltimore; Dr. J. G. Clark, Philadelphia; Dr. Carey Rogers, Jacksonville; Dr. McCarty, Rochester; Dr. James Mitchell and Dr. Hagner, Washington; and Dr. Herbert Cole, of Mobile; Dr. Minter, of Boston.

Musical Program.

Preceding the lecture of Helen Keller on Saturday evening at the Auditorium there will be a beautiful musical program given by the following well-known artists: Mrs. Hawthorne Harrison, Alexander von Skiblinsky and Herbert Whitten. Miss Mildred Rutherford Harrison will be accompanist.

The program will begin promptly at 8 o'clock and all attending are requested to be on time.

For Dr. and Mrs. Cullen.

Colonel and Mrs. William Lawson Peel entertained at a luncheon yesterday at their home, Woodbine, in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Cullen, of Baltimore.

The guests were Dr. and Mrs. Cullen, Dr. and Mrs. Remsen, Dr. and Mrs. Phinizy Calhoun.

Announcement.

There will be a satisfactory meeting of the ways and means committee of the Woman's auxiliary to Wesley Memorial hospital Wednesday afternoon in the Candler building, presided over by the chairman, Mrs. H. H. Tucker. The meeting was postponed to December 17, on which date a full attendance is desired for transaction of important business for the new year.

Cowan-Rountree.

The wedding of Miss Fannie May Cowan and Mr. J. W. Rountree was a pretty event taking place Wednesday evening at the home of the bride.

The house was beautifully decorated with smilax, palms and ferns. The wedding party was grouped before an altar banked with palms, ferns, red roses and wedding bells.

The maid of honor, Miss Leslie Clark, wore white satin trimmed with seed pearls and lace, and carried white flowers.

The bride was beautiful in her wedding gown of white charmeuse satin made with court train. Her tulle veil was caught with orange blossoms and her flowers were a shower of bride roses and lilies of the valley. Mr. A. B. Everett was best man.

In the library, where the vows were solemnized, the decorations were smilax and ferns. Punch was served in the reception hall. The punch bowl was decorated with smilax and ferns, and was presided over by Misses Pearl Simmons and Essie Stanley. A reception followed immediately after the ceremony, at which one hundred guests of the bride and groom's friends being present.

After an extended trip through Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Rountree will be at home in Atlanta.

Congress of Dolls.

"A little bisque doll, and a little rag doll, and a dolly imported from France," goes the feature song of the recital this afternoon at the magnificent country home of Mrs. Hamilton Mims, when Mrs. William Lawson Peel will entertain her friends, and those of the Joseph Habersham chapter, D. A. R., at a Mayflower-heralded "Congress of Dolls."

Dolls from all over the country have been sent Mrs. Peel for this event, chief of which is a beautiful Japanese doll wonderfully gowned, sent by Madam Louis Homer, the famous opera singer.

The proceeds are to go toward the building fund of the Joseph Habersham chapter, D. A. R., and it is predicted that this affair will be one of the most successful of the many given by this organization.

The home of Mrs. Peel is ideal for an entertainment of this kind, and the program which is given below is the feature of the Friday congress. Miss Adgate Ellis, who has an unusually beautiful voice, is to sing. Mr. A. Dayo Beaty, who has recently come to Atlanta from Nashville to make his home here, will also sing. Miss Ellis is well known to local music lovers, but Mr. Beaty is making his first appearance here, and his singing will be looked forward to with interest.

On Saturday there will be a Lilliputian wedding, dancing, etc., which will make a most interesting entertainment for the grown folks.

Program.

Miss Adgate Ellis, soprano.
Mr. A. Dayo Beaty, baritone.
1. The Plaint of the Little Bisque Doll," Herman Avery Wade. "Take Me Back to Baby Land," Katherine Wincate Sol.—Miss Ellis.
2. "Absence," from "The Wandering One," Caro Roma. "The Great Unknown," Guy Hartdell.—Miss Ellis.
3. "I Love You," Carrie Jacobs-Bond.—Miss Ellis, Mr. Beaty.
4. "Love's Lullaby," Ethelbert Nevin.—Mr. Beaty.
5. "His Lullaby," Carrie Jacobs-Bond. "My Love's Dream," Alec Vanaa.—Mr. Beaty.

It is hoped that a large number of the friends of the Joseph Habersham chapter will come and bring their friends. The charge for adults is 25 cents and for children 10 cents.

For Mrs. Milam.

Mrs. Charles Sheldon will entertain at a bridge party Monday afternoon in honor of Mrs. John Milam, of Greenville, S. C., who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. R. Garner.

Dinner Party for Visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Woodruff entertained at a beautiful dinner party Wednesday evening at the Capital City club in compliment to Mr. W. Cutte and Mr. Jack Ganna, both of Cleveland, Ohio. A large white and gold basket, filled with Killarney roses, decorated the center of the table, and all other details were in pink and white. A two-course dinner with handsome gown of black velvet. Invited to meet the honor guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Woodruff, Mr. and Mrs. George Winship, Miss Mignon McCarty and Mrs. Elizabeth Winship Harris.

Mrs. McRae's Luncheon.

Mrs. Fred McRae gave a luncheon at a beautiful luncheon yesterday at her home on Peachtree street, in compliment to Mrs. Charles Mayo, of Rochester, Minn. A crystal basket filled with Killarney roses and encircled with smaller baskets of the same flowers formed the centerpiece of the table. The place cards were hand painted in roses and all other details of decorations were in pink.

Mrs. McRae wore a handsome gown of pink charmeuse, the minaret tunic of gray net bordered with chinchilla.

The guests were those of a number of the visiting physicians and were: Mrs. Mayo, of Rochester; Mrs. McCarty, of Minnesota; Mrs. McCrepon, of Baltimore; Mrs. Mitchell, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Mallis, of Minnesota; Mrs. Winslow and Miss Winslow, of Baltimore, and Mrs. Vance, of Kentucky.

HE CAN'T DO IT

Sydney Smith said: "We may live without friends, we may live without books, but civilized man cannot live without cooks." Believing which, the HOTEL BRESLIN, on Broadway at 29th St., New York, has established The Dixie Dining Room in charge of Southern cooks, where Southern Dishes are served both "a la carte" and "table d'hote." This is merely one of many features appealing to an increasing Southern patronage. The BRESLIN is modern and fireproof and its equipment is up-to-date. Its patronage is drawn from people of refinement and its charges are reasonable.

WHIRLWIND CAMPAIGN FOR STATE CHAMBER

First Gun Fired at Luncheon Served at Piedmont Hotel.

The Georgia State Chamber of Commerce fired the first gun in their one-day whirlwind campaign to raise funds for the continuance of the splendid work they have inaugurated in the state at a luncheon served at the Piedmont hotel at 12:30 p. m. yesterday.

The full amount which is to be raised in the state is $50,000. Of this total Atlanta is asked to provide $12,500. The workers feel that Atlanta ought to show what she is going to do in the matter before the rest of the state is approached. Of the total $2,500 has already been promised by various business men, leaving a total of $10,000 to be raised during the twenty-four hours.

There will be another luncheon today at 2 o'clock when the various committees will make their reports. It is confidently expected that subscriptions for the entire $10,000 will be reported at this meeting.

Following are the working committees which started the work yesterday afternoon after the luncheon:

H. G. Hastings, general chairman.

First division, Harris G. White, chairman; committee No. 1, H. G. White and S. W. Vickers; committee No. 2, William Wilson and G. R. Fraser; committee No. 3, R. M. Stanley and J. T. Davis; committee No. 4, Farr Dodd and T. R. Gentry.

Second division, St. Elmo Massengale, chairman; committee No. 1, W. J. Leverstein and C. J. Metz; committee No. 2, W. L. Massengale and F. C. Allen; committee No. 3, Joseph Thompson and Sylvan Schoyer; committee No. 4, W. H. Leahy.

Third division, L. D. Hicks, chairman; committee No. 1, Y. H. Kriegshaber and F. J. Merrian; committee No. 2, George T. Jaus and L. D. Hicks; committee No. 3, R. Neely and J. R. A. Hobson; committee No. 4, W. H. S. Hamilton and R. T. Jones.

Fourth division, William P. Pardshall, chairman; Committee No. 1, Henry W. Grady, and E. H. Efird; committee No. 2, J. F. Letton and W. F. Parkhurst; committee No. 3, W. E. Hargrove and C. Martin.

Fourth division, Charles D. McKinney, chairman; committee No. 1, A. C. Mansfield and J. W. Burdette; committee No. 2, Charles P. McKinney and W. Lochrie; committee No. 3, W. P. Dabney, A. W. Mc-Kemp and George M. Napier; committee No. 4, M. Nabors and J. R. Meredith.

Special committee, Virgil C. Hulsey and Thomas L. Moore.

Special committee, H. E. Watkins, W. E. Richards, W. M. Hutchinson, J. R. Paddy, W. S. Foote, W. C. Seagers.

FARMER FATALLY HURT AS SHOTGUN EXPLODES

With the entire left side of his face torn asunder, Hugh Hulsey, a farmer aged 30 years, was brought from his home at Parkersville, a small settlement near Decatur—in a high-powered automobile, yesterday afternoon to Grady hospital.

The wound was inflicted by a shotgun which exploded accidentally while Hulsey was on a hunting trip. There are no hopes for his recovery, and death, hospital officials say, is only a question of time.

He was discovered lying in an open field by a negro farmhand. He was carried, unconscious and bleeding freely, to his home. Dr. William Ansley, who was called in, brought the wounded man to Grady in a run at top speed.

From the eye and nose the entire left side of the man's face was torn off completely.

END OF THE FIGHT COMES SATURDAY

Bulldog Determination Will Mark the Closing Days of the Oglethorpe Campaign. University Assured.

Bulldog determination marks the work of the campaigners for Oglethorpe university now, and all are determined to see the big proposition driven through to successful conclusion at the close of business Saturday afternoon.

Thursday's luncheon was marked by this sort of feeling. There were no fireworks, little speechmaking; just hard, logical calculation—more than anything else could, spelled victory for the undertaking.

"People are so eager and willing now to give, so anxious to see Atlanta establish a record not only in the amount raised, but in the time in which it was accomplished, that they fairly met me at the door with subscriptions," said one of the workers. "Two men said they had just been waiting to see how long it would be before somebody located them and got their offerings. It is a sharp drive now, and will put it over. Everybody jump to the traces."

Thursday saw the fund go up $4,037.56, bringing the total yet to be raised down to $41,523. Does anybody believe this city will let this proposition fail now so near the goal?

Is Assured Fact.

Not for a minute. Oglethorpe university is absolutely assured now, and Atlanta has once more amazed the world by its civic pride and great spirit of public enterprise.

Just watch how these young people are coming to the front. Wednesday Tech high school added $175 more to the $275 already reported, making a total from this source of $450.

Captain James W. Bruffey, chairman of the executive committee of the Oglethorpe university movement, believes all that is necessary now is for everybody to rally around the standard and success is assured.

"Atlanta has only to rally to this work at this critical stage," he said yesterday, and we will complete the $250,000 fund for the great university. The undertaking is one of deep significance not only to Atlanta but the entire south, and every good citizen should recognize this fact.

"Immense benefits are certain to accrue from the founding of Oglethorpe. This benefit will be material as well as educational to help Atlanta and this entire section. The man who subscribes to help build this fund and rearing an educational institution that will last. While he is contributing to a great public cause, he is at the same time helping himself. We should direct more attention and greater efforts now to the educational and intellectual upbuilding of Atlanta.

Atlanta the Center.

"We are the center of practically every line of important endeavor in the south, and we can and must make it equally true educationally.

"The objection of some few that $500,000 will not be sufficient to establish a university on the scope and order contemplated, but this objection is not of force. We have no idea whatever of propping at the half-million mark. It is a reasonable belief that the assets of Oglethorpe will be increased to a million within our day. Many of the great universities with millions had beginnings much smaller than Oglethorpe will begin its life with.

"There is no question now of the success of the undertaking, so it is up to Atlanta to rally around and generously in the little remaining time and help write some big history."

GUARD SHOOTS CONVICT WHO ATTACKED HIM.

John M. Harris, a convict sent to the Adamsville camp for blowing the safe of the Lumpkin County bank at Dahlonega, was shot down yesterday by Warden Clyde Thompson, a guard. He was carried to the Bellwood camp hospital, where it is said he will recover.

The shooting culminated an alleged attack the convict was attempting to make upon the guard. Harris is 38 years old, and it is stated, had quarreled with Thompson. When, as eyewitnesses stated, he picked up a block of wood, which he threw at the guard, the shot was fired.

SURGEONS NAME OFFICERS FOR 1914

Convention Closes With Selection of Asheville As Place for Next Convention.

OFFICERS FOR 1914 S. S .G. A.

President—John Wesley Long, Greensboro, N. C.

Vice Presidents—Arthur Carroll Scott, Temple, Texas; James F. Mitchell, Washington, D. C.

Secretary—W. D. Haggard, Nashville, Tenn.

Treasurer—Le Grand Guerry, Columbia, S. C.

Council—Stuart McGuire, Richmond; Bacon Saunders, Fort Worth; Rudolph Matas, New Orleans; J. M. T. Finney, Baltimore; John Young Brown, St. Louis.

Chairman Arrangements Committee—Hubert A. Royster, Raleigh, N. C.

The twenty-sixth annual session of the Southern Surgical and Gynecological association was brought to a close yesterday afternoon with the selection of officers and selection of Asheville, N. C., as the next place of meeting.

Dr. John Wesley Long, of Greensboro, N. C., was elevated to the presidency of the association. He is one of the eight surviving founders.

From among eighty applicants for fellowship, the council recommended Dr. Fred G. Hodgson, of Atlanta; Dr. A. Johnson Bulat, of Charleston, S. C.; Dr. R. D. Gibbon, of Charlotte, N. C.; Dr. Franklin H. Martin, of Chicago; Dr. G. Paul La Roque, of Richmond; Dr. James Knox Simpson, of Jacksonville; Dr. Zapy M. Williams, of Patterson, La., and Dr. J. T. Windell, of Louisville.

Dr. John Young Brown, of St. Louis, retiring president, was appointed a member of the council. Dr. Brown became, automatically, the junior member of the council. According to precedent, Dr. W. O. Roberts, of Louisville, who was senior member of the council in 1913, retired.

The other officers retiring are Dr. Ap Morgan Vance, Louisville, and Lomax Gwathmey, Norfolk, as vice presidents. They are succeeded by Dr. Arthur Carroll Scott, of Temple, Texas, and James F. Mitchell, of Washington.

The association re-elected Dr. W. D. Haggard, Nashville, secretary, and Dr. Le Grand Guerry, Columbia, S. C., treasurer for another term each.

Next to Largest Session.

Before the session was closed, Secretary Haggard said that eighty-nine members of the association were in attendance. Thirty-two papers were actually read. He stated that the 1909 meeting was the only session which was larger in point of attendance.

The newly elected president, Dr. Long, assumed his duties during the afternoon session. He made a strong appeal for loyalty. He was escorted to the seat by Dr. John D.S. Davis, of Birmingham, brother of the founder of the association, and Dr. R. M. Cunningham, of Birmingham, formerly lieutenant governor of Alabama.

The feature of the afternoon session was a paper by Dr. D. Winslow, of Baltimore, on the significance of pain in leading women. He said that surgeons often operate too hastily when appendicitis symptoms develop in women. He related experiences to prove that in many cases where the symptoms pointed to appendix troubles, the patient really suffered from some other ailment. For instance, it has often been found that typhoid cultures contaminated the appendix, he said. In some cases the trouble was so pronounced that an operation for the removal of the appendix was necessary, and in other cases the complaint was removed without the resort to operation.

While some members characterized Dr. Winslow's paper as radical, Dr. Hubert Royster, of Raleigh, declared that he should not be censured. He stated that he had found typhoid cultures in the apendix.

Other papers were read during the afternoon session. Dr. E. P. Hogan, of Birmingham, read a paper on the acute post-operative dilatation of the stomach, and Dr. Raymond Crooke, of Jacksonville, read a paper on intestinal resection, and told of the result of removal and shortcircuiting of more than 10 feet of bowel. Dr. Mack Rogers, of Birmingham, explained a special instrument for removal of varicose veins.

Paper by Dr. Nicolson.

Dr. William Perrin Nicolson, of Atlanta, read the concluding paper of the session. His title was "Catgut as a Suture." He defended the use of the catgut, and explained the success he has attained in treating gunshot wounds. He denied that the danger of infection is great. He also said that the silkworm gut was advantageous in closing intestinal incisions.

During the morning session Dr. James E. Mitchell's paper on congenital pyloric stenosis, was one of the features. He illustrated his subject with stereopticon slides, showing babies whose lives had been saved by the operation.

Dr. R. C. Coffey, of Portland, Ore., said that the surgeons of his town had the experience of convincing physicians, and that now they are just as enthusiastic over surgery as the surgeons are themselves.

"The thing is to eliminate the interists who cost 90 per cent of the cases if they make no diagnosis. There is no reason why we should have a greater mortality among infants with this operation than among adults. The shock is not as great. The mortality reported now are cases which have gone beyond hope before operations are attempted.

Criticises Eugenic Law.

A dispatch from Milwaukee informed the association of a physician's criticism of the new eugenic laws of Wisconsin as too severe. The association took no official notice on the criticism, but the telegram was discussed freely among the members during the meeting.

Dr. J. Oechsner, of Chicago, predicted the end of the eugenic laws when the doctrine of eugenics will be in general reflection when marriage contracts will be based more on the laws of health than on sentiment.

Practically every delegate to the session declared for the application of the doctrine of eugenics just as in health and sanitation. As to the severity of the Wisconsin law or any other laws, members of the association were agreed that the whole question is one as to the law in each state.

Resolved, that the thanks of the Southern Surgical and Gynecological association be extended to the local committee of arrangements, Dr. Hubert Royster, chairman, for a successful meeting.

Resolved, further, that the thanks of the association be extended to the manager of the Georgian Terrace hotel, Miss E. Keen, for many courtesies extended and for the delightful place in which the session have been held.

Many of the delegates left Atlanta last night. Quite a few will remain in the city sightseeing.

A. P. Coles to Address The Annual Dinner Of Bankers and Brokers

At the December meeting and regular Christmas dinner of the Bankers and Brokers' club of the Capital City club tonight, A. P. Coles, of the Central Bank and Trust company, will deliver an address on the subject, "The attitude of the state bank toward the proposed federal reserve system." Mr. Coles has made an extensive study of his topic, and he will be full of very valuable facts.

The meeting will begin promptly at 6:30 o'clock. About thirty club members are expected to attend.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DEPLORES DEATHS

The directors of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce have adopted resolutions deploring the passing of the three great railroad presidents who have just died, who are W. W. Finley, president of the Southern railway; T. M. Emerson, president of the Atlantic Coast Line, and J. W. Thomas, president of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis.

The resolutions are resounding in the praise of the noble lives and the great constructive work accomplished by these men.

$150,000 Loss by Fire.

Natalbany, La., December 18.—With the help of fire fighting apparatus from Amite, La., the fire that practically destroyed the plant of the Natalbany Lumber company was extinguished today after damage estimated at $150,000 had been done. The blaze was confined to the lumber plant. No one was hurt. About 100 men are thrown out of employment.

FOUR TEAMS ENTERED IN X-COUNTRY RACE

Three Dormitories and City Boys at Tech to Run Saturday at 3:30 O'Clock.

Four teams are entered in the team cross-country race, which will be held at Georgia Tech Saturday afternoon, commencing promptly at 3:30 o'clock.

The swift, the shady and the Knowles, the three dormitories, will enter a team, and the fourth team will be composed of students of the school who are residents of the city.

To the team winning the race, that is the team that shows the largest number of men finishing in the lowest positions, a handsome prize will be awarded.

To the individual winner a handsome trophy will be given and suitable prizes will be awarded to second and third men. To the next twenty men, cakes baked by the wives of the members of the faculty will be the award.

The course will be the same as last year, from the school to the waterworks and return.

SCHWEITZER IS TRADED BY TURTLES FOR STARK

Memphis, Tenn., December 18.—(Special.)—The Memphis Turtles have traded Outfielder Al Schweitzer to the Sacramento club for Infielder Dolly Stark, a Memphis boy, and formerly a member of the Little Rock team, in this league.

Dolly is slated to take the place of Willis Butler at short for the Turtles in the next campaign.

BRITISH GOLF DATES

Travers and Ouimet to Attend British Open.

British golfers have selected the dates for their three championship tournaments, particularly interesting to Americans in view of the number who have announced their intention of crossing to compete. Beginning on May 18 the amateur championship will be held at Sandwich. It will be recalled that Jerome D. Travers, the national amateur title holder, and Francis Ouimet, the open champion, have expressed their intention of going over for this meeting.

The British open championship will be held at Prestwick, beginning on June 18. Previous to this time, however, the women's tournament will be run off at Hunstanton, in Norfolk, the starting date being May 11.

Dates for all three championships of France also have been decided. May 25 to 30 the amateurs are carded at La Boulie. On June 4 the women will tee up over the same course, while the professionals have an earlier date than last year, July 6 at La Turquie. The only one Irish meeting has been chosen, the open at Portrush on August 31.

YALE ROWING POLICY

Coaches Will Adopt System to Material on Hand.

New Haven, Conn., December 18.—Official announcement was made today of the points to be followed by the recently selected triumvirate of Yale crew coaches, Richard Armstrong, Yale 1895, appointed as resident graduate manager in charge of rowing, "will act largely as an organizer. The actual coaching will be done by Guy Nickalls, the English coach, assisted by C. F. Gianinni, of New York."

It is explained that Nickalls and Gianinni believe in fitting the stroke to the material in hand, rather than in attempting to teach something impossible, and are not therefore prejudiced in favor of the English stroke.

MANAGERIAL BURDENS HELPED JOE TINKER

It has always been said that when a good ball player assumes the management of a baseball team his individual averages suffer, as the result of the increased responsibility.

Not so with Joseph Tinker, manager of the Cincinnati Reds last season, and the man over whom a big controversy is now going on.

For the first time in his active career as a big leaguer, which started with the Cubs in 1902, Tinker hit over .300 last season, his average showing .317. His fielding was also higher than it ever was before, his .965 being 24 points better than his average in any previous campaign.

COL. GOETHALS TALKS OF THE BURKE RUMORS

Panama, December 18.—Colonel G. W. Goethals, chief engineer of the Panama canal, today issued the following statement in reference to rumors concerning John Burke, manager of the canal commissary department, who is alleged to have received commissions from persons supplying the department:

"Certain allegations were made concerning the integrity of John Burke and an investigation by the latter was immediately undertaken. A report was also made to Washington with a request for investigation there of matters which could not be reached from here. I have not received any reply from Washington, but the investigations on the isthmus have failed to disclose any irregularities."

Sutton to Play Hoppe.

Chicago, December 18.—Ora Sutton tonight accepted an offer of Willie Hoppe to play a game of 18.2 balkline match for $1,000 a side. Sutton challenged Hoppe for a game for $2,000, but the champion insisted on the larger stake. It will be played in Chicago next January.

BUCK HERZOG CHOSEN TO MANAGE THE REDS

Cincinnati, December 18.—Charles Herzog, former ball player and Manager New York and Boston National league clubs, was chosen today as manager of the Cincinnati team for the season of 1914. After a conference with the board of directors and a second conference with President August Herrmann and Secretary Harry Stephens, Herzog signed a contract as a player for a year and then was officially made manager.

Herzog steps into the position made vacant by the sale of former Manager Joe Tinker to the Brooklyn club. He will play at shortstop.

Before the deal was filed, Herzog outlined his ideas of a winning team to the board of directors and they were approved.

Herzog said he believed in a fast, dashing team, much on the order of the New York National team, of which he was a member before coming to Cincinnati, but added he would make no sales in mind at present.

Herzog is 28 and was born in Baltimore. He is a graduate of Maryland State university and after a number of league experience was assigned by Manager Mcgraw for duty on the New York team, with which he played in 1908 and 1909. He was traded to the Boston National league team and played with that club through the season of 1910 and about half of the season of 1911, when he was brought back to New York by a deal made for him by Mc. Graw.

The New York leader recently made a trade for him with Cincinnati in which the New York club gave Herzog and Catcher Hartley for Outfielder Bob Bescher.

RED AND BLACK FIVE ARRANGING SCHEDULE

Athens, Ga., December 18.—Manager Tom Brand, of the university basketball five, has planned some good trips and a fine schedule for the Georgia five. The first intercollegiate game is to be here January 16, when Auburn comes to Athens for a game. Three games with the local strong Y. M. C. A. team will be played between now and then. Two trips are arranged tentatively—one through the Carolinas and one to Augusta and Savannah. There will be games with Vanderbilt, Tech and other S. I. A. A. fives also. Coach Howell Peacock is confident of winning a good string of results with Brand, Carter, Peacock, Cerumb, Lester, Rawson, Corley, Von Sprecklen, Brown and Rothchild. From this bunch of ten men there can be drawn a good team at any time.

EBBETS MAKES PUBLIC TINKER CORRESPONDENCE

New York, December 18.—President Charles H. Ebbets, of the Brooklyn baseball club, made public today correspondence relative to the deal whereby Joe Tinker was sold by Garry Herrmann, of the Cleveland club, to Brooklyn for $30,000.

Ebbets evidently feared Charles W. Murphy might not understand the status of the deal, for on December 12 he telegraphed the Chicago club president:

"Have purchased the realese of Tinker. Please do not confer with him."

Murphy wired in reply the next day: "Your telegram received and I commend you for your enterprise. You need have no fear that I will have anything to say to Tinker. He will greatly aid the Brooklyn club."

On Monday, December 15, Ebbets telegraphed again to Murphy:

"Reported that you are quoted as saying 'If the Cincinnati club gives me permission I will start negotiations with Tinker right away.' You wired me on the 13th that 'You need have no fear, that I will have anything to say to Tinker. He will greatly aid the Brooklyn club.' Thus you, as well as all other baseball authorities, recognize the validity of the deal. Now, if you are correctly quoted, then you are violation the National league constitution because Tinker belongs to the Brooklyn club. Please keep your hands off."

Supplementing this telegraph, Ebbets wrote to Murphy requesting that Murphy tell Tinker that the Chicago club could not secure him, and that Ebbets had stated that Tinker was the property of the Brooklyn club and was not for sale or trade at any price.

Murphy replied by letter that he had not seen Tinker and had no intention of conferring with him. He denied that he was responsible for statements attributed to Tinker, but wrote that he was ready and willing to arrange a deal with either the Brooklyn, Cincinnati or any other club that could establish a claim to Tinker, with a view of securing his services.

Tinker to Meet Ebbets.

Chicago, December 18.—Joseph Tinker, former manager of the Cincinnati National league baseball club, will meet Charles Ebbets, president of the Brooklyn club, in Indianapolis, next Sunday, he said here today. The two are expected to decide whether the sale of Tinker by the Cincinnati club will be consummated. Tinker declared he will have to see a certified check for the $10,000 bonus he was to receive from the sale before he will consent to play with Brooklyn.

HARD HITTING

Chicago, December 18.—Long-distance hitting was a feature of batting in the American association during the 1913 season, according to the official averages issued by President Christian ton here today.

Risgert, of St. Louis, made a total base count of 280, leading the league in two-base hits with 44 extra bases, and making 22 triples.

Champlin, of Milwaukee (later with the Chicago Americans), was the virtual leader of the league, with an average of .349 for 85 games. Reilly, of Indianpolis, was next, with .347 for 138 games.

Bronkie, of St. Louis, made the most sacrifice hits of the season, totaling 49.

OLE MISS DICKERING FOR SEWANEE GAME

Memphis, Tenn., December 18.—(Special.)—The University of Mississippi football team, just reinstated into the good graces of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association, is endeavoring to arrange a football schedule for next fall.

One of the moves of the management of that team is to try to stage a game with Sewanee here in October. If the Tigers do not accept the game, Arkansas will probably be taken on by Ole Miss.

QUERIES ANSWERED

Under this head the sporting editor will endeavor to answer all questions pertaining to all branches of sports.

Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution. 1. What has become of Joe Thomas? Is he ever going to fight any more? 2. Will Smith, Rieland and Calvo be with the Crackers next season? H. B. L. 1. I think he has quit the game. 2. No.

AUGUSTA Y. M. C. A. FIVE STRONG ONE THIS YEAR

Have Several Old Stars and Some New Blood That Has Rounded Out Team.

The Augusta Young Men's Christian association basketball team of this year is a strong one. Just enough infusion of new blood into the personnel of the team has been made to make it one of the most formidable aggregations of basketballers that have ever represented that city.

This quintet will play the Atlanta Athletic club five on Saturday night at the local gymnasium in the third basketball game of the season.

The local quintet has been working hard for the game, realizing that in Augusta they will meet an even more formidable team than either Bessemer or Chattanooga, whom they defeated in the first games of the season.

Members are requested to get tickets for their non-member friends by not later than 7 o'clock Saturday night. The usual dancing feature of the game would be enjoyed.

ENGLISH POLOISTS LOSE THEIR CAPTAIN

New York, December 18.—Captain R. R. Ritson, leader of the English polo team last year in its attempt to lift the international cup, will probably be an absentee in next years' matches, for which England has recently challenged.

Captain Ritson's place on the challenge team will be hard to fill, as he showed himself to be a most capable, all-round horseman and hitter in the games last summer. A serious indisposition will prevent him from taking part in any international matches, according to reports received here by followers of the game.

In order to get an early start for the conditioning of both ponies and men, Lord Ashby St. Ledgers will go to Madrid early next month, accompanied by Major F. W. Barrett, Fifteenth Hussars; Captain H. A. Tompkinson, First Royal Dragoons, and W. Balding.

Spain was chosen by the financial sponsor for the team as the base of operations for the preliminary practice in order to avoid stoppages occasioned by bad weather, such as those experienced last spring by the English team at Eaton.

King Alfonso, who is a great polo enthusiast, has sanctioned the use by the English players of the royal polo grounds at Casa De Campo, Madrid, and at La Granja, while the Madrid Polo club grounds will also be available.

PENNSYLVANIA NINE MAY PLAY LOCALLY

Games Are Pending With Georgia at Athens and Tech at Grant Field.

The University of Pennsylvania baseball team may play some games in the south this spring and Atlanta may be the scene of a couple of the games.

Coach Heleman, of Tech, an alumni of Old Penn, is endeavoring to arrange for games between the two colleges during a southern trip by Penn.

It is possible that the University of Georgia will take on a game too, if pursuaded, and if Penn. could get about four dates in this section of the country they might make the trip.

BASKETBALL GAMES MAY NOT BE PLAYED

Whether the first of the three post-season games of basketball for the National Guard league's championship game will be played tonight is not known.

Technicalities at first seemed sure to prevent the game from being played, and now conditions have been imposed which will, without doubt, cause the game to go the forfeit route.

The Company G managements has positively refused to play the Horse Guard's four-man team unless each of the players is registered in the A. A. U. This cannot be done on such notice.

The league has ruled that the game be played, and the president of the league has exhausted every effort to induce Company G and the Horse Guard to get together upon terms but his efforts have so far proved fruitless.

The acting manager of the Company G team states that the support back of him is unanimous. And that his demands must be absolutely complied with or his team will not play.

As to whether members of the Governor's Horse Guard who would be willing to play on the team of the Governor's Horse Guard, and to allow the Horse Guard team a total of six men—two of them designated from among several by him.

The games for the present seem to be off. Sentiment, however, may force the contending organizations to play later.

Mundy Goes to Worcester.

Boston, December 18.—William E. Mundy, who played first base for the Boston Americans during part of last season, was released to the Worcester, New England, league club today. Mundy came to Boston from the Portsmouth, Va., team.

BRICKLEY TO CAPTAIN HARVARD'S 1914 TEAM

Great Goal Kicker Defeats Walter Trumbull for the Position.

Cambridge, Mass., December 18.—Charles E. Brickley, of Everett, a member of the last two Harvard football teams, was elected captain of the 1914 eleven today. Walter H. Trumbull, of Salem, who played center this year, was the other candidate for the captaincy. Brickley is 21 years old.

In addition to Brickley and Trumbull, two players received votes. They were H. R. Hardwick, said to be the personal choice of Coach Percy D. Haughton, and F. J. Bradlee. The Harvard club, of Boston, tonight gave a banquet to the first football team to beat Yale in the stadium.

RECORD FOR STRENGTH SOUGHT BY WITHROW

Philadelphia, December 18.—Kenneth C. Withrow, a freshman at the University of Pennsylvania, made a total of 1,760 kilograms in the strength test today in an attempt to break the record of 1,717 kilograms held by Michael Dorizas. He bettered the figures of Dorizas in the neck test, the arm pull, the arm push, the push with both arms free and the grip with both hands, but fell behind in the leg and back lifts.

Withrow, who was a guard on the Freshman football team, declared his intention of making another attempt at the record in the near future.

COTTON RALLIED FROM EARLY LOSS

Fluctuations Were Irregular and There Was Less Activity—Market Closed Steady, 1 to 8 Points Up.

New York, December 18.—The cotton market was less active today than yesterday. Fluctuations were irregular, but there appeared to be a tendency toward reaction or recovery after recent heavy liquidation, and the close was steady at a net advance of 1 to 8 points.

Judging from the talk around the ring, part of the buying probably reflected a feeling that the technical position of the market had been considerably strengthened on the break of about 75 points from the high level of last Friday, but in some quarters more bullish opinions were expressed, on the ground that interior receipts were refusing to follow the decline, and that a comparatively large diminution to December 12 had been discounted.

The census report, showing 289,118 bales of linters ginned from the growth of 1913 up to the 1st of December, seemed to inspire some of the early selling, for while no direct comparison was available, local interpretations figured that the report suggested nearly as large a total crop as linters this year as last season. According to the final report of the census bureau there was 802,000 bales of linters in last year's commercial crop, and the tendency among crop estimators this year has been to allow about 500,000 bales for this item.

The market opened steady at an advance of 3 to 8 points, in response to firmer cables than expected, but quickly eased off under renewed liquidation or bear pressure. Reports of unfavorable financial conditions abroad, as well as the report on linters, seemed partly responsible for the decline, which carried prices about 4 to 6 points net lower.

Liverpool was an active buyer on this setback, however, while there was also a little demand from spot sources and considerable covering of shorts. This checked the break and prices later rallied on a moderate buying movement, which was encouraged by continued reports of virtually no spot markets with last prices some 7 to 10 points up from the lowest.

Spot cotton quiet; middling uplands 12.90; do. gulf 13.15. No sales.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, December 18.—Cotton seed oil about steady on moderate buying by deliveries and somewhat lighter offering of crude, which served to offset the pallidness in outside trade and scattered selling by local longs. 289,118 BALES LINTERS PRIOR TO DECEMBER 1

Washington, December 18.—Statistics of the cotton seed products industry for the present cotton season, announced by the census bureau today, show 289,118 running bales of linters had been obtained and 2,201,276 tons of cotton seed had been crushed from the crop of 1913 prior to December 1. The number of cotton seed oil mills and other delinting establishments active during the period prior to December was 750.

The number of active establishments, tons of cotton seed crushed and running bales of linters obtained prior to December 1, by states, follows:

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, December 18.—The cotton market displayed a very active tone today, and bulls said it was badly oversold. In the afternoon, especially, it showed importance of its seem to being put to lower levels and this resistance seemed to come from the technical position more than anything else.

It was pointed out by the bulls that a large source of liquidation has already been instated the long interest, while the succeeding bear side and all the elements of pessimistic comment which have come out this week have been used in many selling orders on other weak markets.

The opening was steady at a decline of 2 to 5 points on the face of the cotton cables than due. The decline was widened 5 to 8 points by the force of short selling, but when scalping shorts tried to realize profits they found little cotton for sale. This brought about a recovery and at times prices were 6 to 7 points over the last figures of yesterday. In the early afternoon there was another moderate set, but near closing time of the New York market the demand suddenly increased and cotton went to new high levels for the day, 12 to 15 points net up. The market was steady at a point or a few points.

There was much buzz afloat during the day concerning the unfavorable effect the general business situation was having on the cattle trades and bears predicted that spots would soon feel the slowing down which they were making place among the mills. Telegrams from the interior, however, stated that spots were well held and were showing no weakness.

Bulls regarded the day's census bureau figures on linters, showing a production of 289,111 bales up to December 1, as being in line with other statistics pointing to a moderate sized total crop of 13,500,000.

Spot cotton steady, unchanged; middling 12.90; sales of the day, 1,175.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, December 18.—Cables were slightly better than due this morning, but our market failed to fully respond to the improvement abroad, as there was still some more liquidation. On the decline, however, the undertone was much better and trade interests were buyers on recessions. The opening report of 289,000 bales of linters ginned to December 1 caused considerable comment but as a matter of little value, as there is nothing to compare it with in the previous season. A large forty per cent of cotton is reported and it is felt that this will increase if the market steadies so that a more clearer idea of the situation can be had. Should we see approaching the big crop indicated, great buying forces is to be expected until the ginning is over on Saturday is very radical one way or the other. The tendency is to await developments after the new year.

STOCKS REACTED LATE IN SESSION

Canadian Pacific Lost Six and a Half Points and American Express Five and One-Half Points.

New York, December 18.—Price movements today were mixed and in the end only slight changes were registered in the general run of prominent shares, although there were wide movements in isolated cases. The first tendency was downward, but the stock market soon recovered and leaders rose 1 to 2 points above the low figures. Later in the session neared its end, a reaction set in with the average close to yesterday's final range. Canadian Pacific was weak, dropping 6¾. American Express yielded 5½ points to 92, selling below par for the first time in years.

The early tone was influenced by selling for foreign account. London was credited with disposing of 20,000 shares. Canadian Pacific was offered freely by Paris and Berlin as well as London. Houses with international connections received the movements as unsettlement in foreign financial markets, particularly as a result of the slump in Russian securities.

The readiness with which the market absorbed offerings prevented an extended decline and induced traders to give up attempts to hammer the list. While the outlook is too uncertain to encourage an extended forward movement, it was evident that sentiment was more cheerful.

The postmaster general's recommendation in his annual report of government ownership for telephone and telegraph lines exerted only temporary influence on American Telephone, which soon recovered from a sharp decline.

Bonds were irregular with a downward tendency. Reading general fours were essentially heavy, dropping 2¾. Total sales, par value, $1,420,000. United States twos declined ¼ and the fours coupon advanced ½ on call.

Treasury Statement.

Washington, December 18.—The condition of the United States treasury at the beginning of business today was:

Net balance in general fund $125,999,040.

Rice.

New Orleans, December 18.—Rough Honduras and Japan rice is quiet; the market is bare and practically cleaned; cleans Honduras and Japan quiet but firm. Quote: Rough Honduras, 4@4¼; Japan, 4@4¼; clean Honduras, 4@4; Japan, 3¾@3¾. Receipts, rough, 317; cleans, 1,297. Sales, 2,400 pockets rough Honduras at 4¼@4¾, 2,195 pockets Japan at 4¼@3.

New York, December 18.—Talcagie's Soho say that conservatism of action still characterizes the situation, and demands continues quiet. The near approach of the year's end, as well as the inventory period, naturally contributes to a degree of inactivity, despite buyers' hold off for the time being, taking on only such supplies as prime necessity requires, so that with the slow demand and unattractive prices which to make selections, prices are inclined towards a softer tone. Coming from the south, along the Atlantic coast, report fairly active movement at mills, while the quality of the last crop in its entirety has turned out exceptionally fine this year. At New Orleans the distribution is fairly good under steady values, but the Texas situation does not attract attention, and continues to arrive in comparatively small quantity, but on account of the slow movement most of the arriving lots are being stored in the hope of an active demand which will develop after the January inventories, though prices indicate a lower level. It is rumored that large contracts have been entered into for the new crop Java and Siam sugar at considerably lower basis of cost, which will come forward under February-March shipment. This fact has caused some disquiet on part of the trade, claiming there is every reason to expect a sharp reduction in prices in order for the buyers started again, also in view of the very heavy abnormal supply already available.

In the interior—southwest Louisiana, Texas and Arkansas—it is reported that planters are beginning to recognize the importance and magnitude of the foreign invasion, and are evincing more disposition to adjust their prices to meet the competition. Cables and correspondence from abroad note more inquiry for rough rice, but sellers are reserved; "spot cleaned" slow; "forward Burma," firmer tone; "Siam," more inquiry at the decline; "Saigon" neglected.

WHEAT DROPPED ON CROP REPORTS

Prospects for Big Yield in 1914 Caused Prices to Decline One to One and One-Eighth Cents.

Chicago, December 18.—Belief that once a positive calamity will prevent a record yield in 1914 carried wheat today to a much lower level. Heaviness prevailed at the close, which was at net decline of 1@1⅛ cents. All other leading staples, too, finished at a loss, corn ⅜ to ⅝@⅝; oats ⅛ to ¼@⅜, and provisions 2½@5@7½.

From the start bulders of wheat showed increasing discouragement, largely as a result of the government crop report. Notwithstanding vigorous attempts that were made to support the market, prices gradually slipped lower, and in the end were at the bottom point of the day. Active short selling made the weakness more acute. One bear leader alone was credited with sales that totaled several million bushels. Such aggressiveness did not develop until after one particular expert had recorded his opinion that, notwithstanding abnormal damages, the outlook was for a large winter crop than any previously known. It was also contended that glowing operations implied a decidedly increased acreage of spring wheat, and that the joint conditions of the winter and spring wheat promised a crop, as a whole, one seldom paralleled.

Besides the heavy bearish course of wheat, corn also headed down results largely from similar influences. A move from the interior added to sentiment against the latter, and besides shipping call was poor.

Oats sagged with other grain. Lack of outside buying caused comment.

Although provisions started out strong on account of an advance in the hog product, the influence of cereals acted later as more than an offset. Selling of ribs, especially, was on a large scale.

BOMBS FROM AIRSHIPS ROUTED THE TRIBESMEN

Spaniards Win a Victory Over the Moors by Using Air Flotilla.

Madrid, December 18.—A large force of Moorish tribesmen was routed with heavy loss today by Spanish troops at Muley Abselam, Spanish Morocco.

Spanish military aviators threw the Moors into disorder with showers of bombs.

The Spaniards attacked the Moors with a brigade of sharpshooters, a battalion of infantry, four batteries of artillery and a large body of native auxiliaries.

When the order for the general advance of the Spanish columns was given the advance guard discovered several thousand Moorish mountaineers concealed in the irregularities of the ground.

A flotilla of military aviators was sent up to reconnoiter. By means of flag signals the aviators guided the column of Spanish troops.

A heavy artillery fire was opened by the Spaniards without effect.

The aviators then ascended to an altitude out of range of rifle fire and flew directly over the places where the Moors were in the greatest numbers. Then came what the dispatch to the Spanish war office describes as a veritable rain of bombs, tossed by hand by the aviators into the midst of the Moors.

After this bombardment the Spanish infantry charged with the bayonet and dislodged the Moors, causing them to flee in great disorder, leaving large numbers of dead and wounded on the field.

The Spanish troops also lost a considerable number of men, as the tribesmen shot accurately.

Washington Experts Interested.

Washington, December 18.—Experts in the signal corps at the war department heard with keen interest the report of the successful bomb dropping by the Spanish aviators in the battle with the Moors at Muley Abselam, Spanish Morroco, today. "That is but another instance," said Colonel Samuel Reber, in charge of aviation in the army, "of the value of the aeroplane in actual reconnoissance and its use as a weapon of offense during an attack. It confirms the experience of other nations in using the aeroplane, as bombing and is a practical demonstration of the use of the aeroplane in a campaign."

Other officers recalled that the usefulness of the aeroplane in bomb dropping first was demonstrated in the Italian-Turkish war. There Italian aviators claimed on several occasions to have dropped explosives on Turkish warships.

It is presumed here that the Spaniards in their campaign against the Moors are using the airships over the enemy's lines and by continuous dropping of bombs while so flying had numerable chances of hitting them.

AFTER SHOOTING BRIDE HE WRITES OF TRAGEDY

Indianapolis, Ind., December 18.—John F. Conard, 21 years old, salesman for a local fish company, shot and fatally wounded Mrs. Catherine Conard, 19 years old, his bride of nine days, at their apartment here today. After the shooting Conard sat at a writing desk and wrote to his mother, who lives at 808 Buffalo street, Toledo, Ohio, the story of the crime while waiting for the police.

Conard told the police he shot his wife because she had threatened to leave him. He blamed the girl's sister, Mrs. William R. Alkens of this city, for the trouble. The sister said Catherine was going to leave Conard because he had lied to her in little things and she feared he would not be true to her.

Just before being taken to the police station Conard went to the bed where his wife lay and begged her forgiveness.

"Go away," exclaimed the girl. "If I am to die, I never want to see you again. My love has turned to hate."

Mrs. Conard was formerly Miss Catherine Reese, daughter of Jacob Reese, of 907 Hecker avenue, Cleveland.

Conard came here from Toledo a few months ago.

HANDSOME GIRL HELD FOR RIFLING THE MAIL

Mullens, W. Va., December 18.—Gimlets of Graham, about 18 years old, of good family, handsome and popular, was arrested here today by Postoffice Inspectors Robertson, Newton and Meeby, charged with rifling parcel post mail at this office, where she was employed as a clerk. She was arraigned before a United States commissioner and released on bail to appear for trial at the Huntington, W. Va., court in April.

The officers are said to have recovered from the office and the girl's room at a hotel merchandise valued at between $250 and $450.

Miss Graham's home is in Hinton, W. Va., where it is said she is well connected.

None of the postoffice funds were tampered with, the missing articles being mostly Christmas goods and articles of women's wear.

BISHOP H. D. ROBINSON SUMMONED BY DEATH

New York, December 18.—The Right Rev. Henry Douglas Robinson, Episcopal bishop of Nevada, died late today at St. Luke's hospital of a complication of diseases. Bishop Robinson attended the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal churches in this city last fall and while here suffered an attack of heart disease. He entered the hospital October 11. The funeral will be held Saturday from the Cathedral of St. John the Divine.

Bishop Robinson was born in Lowell, Mass., in 1850, was graduated from Racine (Wis.) college in 1884, and was later a graduate student at the University of Chicago. He became a priest in 1888. Since 1908 he had been missionary bishop of Nevada.

BIRMINGHAM ATTACKS CLASS FREIGHT RATES

Washington, December 18.—Class freight rates to Birmingham, Ala., from New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and other points east and north via the Atlantic Coast Line and other rail carriers were attacked before the interstate commerce commission today by the Merchants and Manufacturers' association of Birmingham. It is declared that the rates are excessive and discriminatory, in that the class rate charges exceed the sum of the local rates. The commission is requested to order a horizontal reduction.

A QUIET TIP

To every person who has read "The Panama Canal" by Frederic J. Haskin:

Why worry about the selection of Christmas presents? You remember how much profit and pleasure you got from your first reading of "The Panama Canal." You remember how you put it aside with a mental promise to yourself to read it again, or to use it for reference? Then why not pass along the profit and the pleasure? You can get additional copies to give to your friends for the bare cost of printing and distribution. See the coupon in this issue. You know the quality of the book—there is no need of argument.

A WORD TO THE WISE

Postal Employees on Roller Skates

The postal authorities of Chicago have adopted an effective scheme to accelerate the handling of the heavy Christmas mail. They have equipped postal clerks and postmen with roller skates, which double a man's utility. In the illustration above postal employees are shown using skates in handling parcel post matter.

KENLY IS SELECTED TO SUCCEED EMERSON

New York, December 18.—J. R. Kenly, third vice president of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad company, has been an officer of the road for the past thirty-one years, more recently third vice president, in charge of operation. He was born near Baltimore in 1847, and began as civil engineer of the Pittsburg and Connellsville railroad, now a part of the Baltimore and Ohio, in 1868. He was one of the engineers of the Union railroad, in Baltimore, in 1871, and assisted in the construction of the Union tunnel entering that city. In 1882 he had engineering charge while part of the Richmond and Petersburg railroad, in Richmond, Va., laid its long approach over part of the road, which afterwards became a part of the Atlantic Coast Line system. He was appointed superintendent of transportation in 1885, general manager in 1891 and vice president in 1906.

Long With the System.

Wilmington, N. C., December 18.—J. R. Kenly, who was today elected president of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad company, has been an officer of the road for the past thirty-one years, more recently third vice president, in charge of operation. He was born near Baltimore in 1847, and began as civil engineer of the Pittsburg and Connellsville railroad, now a part of the Baltimore and Ohio, in 1868. NEW ALTITUDE RECORD MADE BY ARMY AVIATOR

San Diego, Cal., December 18.—A new army altitude record was made here today by Lieutenant H. H. Arnold, who ascended to a height of 10,600 feet, more than 2,000 feet above the record. The ascent was made in a Wright biplane, No. 27, from North island. Lieutenant Post made the first 2,000 feet at an average rate of 540 feet a minute.

BRYAN WARNS ZELAYA HE MUST BE MOVING

Washington, December 18.—Secretary Bryan thinks the reasonable time allowed to Dr. Adolfo Diaz, President Zelaya's Nicaragua, to leave the United States has expired and the extradition proceedings for his extradition on murder charges were dropped, has expired and hence Zelaya's Washington attorneys wired the former dictator in New York yesterday when he planned to sail for Barcelona.

GRANDSON OF DAVIS WEDS MISS DAVIS

Colorado Springs, Colo., December 18.—William Davis Hayes, grandson of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, and Miss Elizabeth McEuen Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kirk Brown Davis, of Colorado Springs, were married here this evening, the couple will make their home on the big Hayes peach ranch near Delta.

Bryan Coming South.

Washington, December 18.—Secretary and Mrs. Bryan, with their grandson, will leave Washington tomorrow afternoon for Miami, Fla. The secretary has not been well and will visit his new southern home since it was completed and he will spend a couple of days there looking over his place. Mrs. Bryan was born in Jacksonville, Fla. The secretary has not decided where he will stop at Asheville, N. C., Saturday and will make a short stop at Jacksonville, Fla., but clearly expects to arrive at Miami Sunday.

Mrs. Roosevelt Returns.

New York, December 18.—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt returned home today from South America, where she left Colonel Roosevelt after their journey to Chile. Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt parted at Santiago on November 26, the colonel going south to Valparaiso. Mrs. Roosevelt arrived on the steamship Santa Marta from Colon, Panama, with her niece, Miss Margaret Roosevelt, who accompanied her on the trip through Brazil, Argentina and Chile.

Davis Quits Southern Pacific.

San Francisco, December 18.—H. M. Davis, general superintendent of the Southern Pacific, has resigned to become general manager of an eastern railway. His resignation, to become effective about January 1, was announced here today by the general offices of the company, which withholds, however, for the present, the name of the eastern railway.

W. T. AMERSON KILLED IN AN AUTO ACCIDENT

Macon, Ga., December 19.—W. T. Amerson, of this city, was killed in an automobile accident at Smarrs Station, in Monroe county, at midnight, according to a telephone message received here at 1:20 a. m.

He was in a car with "Bob" Barfield, of this city.

HUERTA'S MEN FIRE ON U. S. SOLDIERS

gressed to a point where its success and the downfall of the Huerta government is assured.

It has been necessary to deal promptly and perhaps harshly with certain elements which have attempted to block the progress of the revolution," said General Villa. "particularly in reference to the Spaniards, whom it was necessary to expel. This has brought about great hardships. In future the policy and the determination of those who are leading the revolt against Huerta will be clearly understood. General Carranza and myself are in complete accord."

General Carranza is expected here soon. It is Villa's intention on Carranza's arrival to establish a form of civil government independent of that at Mexico City.

MEXICAN CONDITIONS MORE FAVORABLE

Washington, December 18.—State department officials expressed the opinion today that conditions in Mexico were more favorable.

No intimation was given as to the nature of changes in the situation regarded as indicating improvement.

Much interest is manifested here in the cyclonic disturbances in the financial affairs of Mexico, involving the runs on banks and the issue of currency without security regarded as substantial.

Much optimism was expressed in some quarters that the Huerta government might soon receive financial support and the large land and mine owners in northern Mexico, who heretofore have been supposed to occupy an attitude of neutrality as between the contending factions, but who may now adopt a definite policy in favor of the Huerta cause as a result of the confiscation of their properties by General Villa, the rebel leader.

VILLA FORCED MONEY FROM THE REFUGEES

El Paso, Texas, December 18.—More refugees who arrived at the border today reported that before General Francisco Villa, the rebel leader, allowed their train to start from Chihuahua City, Mexico, he exacted from the Mexican families sums ranging from $1,000 to $5,000. The refugees were mostly Americans and wealthy Mexicans who had closed their places of business since the rebel occupied the city.

They said General Villa permitted no one who had passes to board the train, but as it was about to leave he personally appeared and ordered the assessments. One Mexican merchant said he got on the train to avoid paying $2,000, but later decided to pay the demand rather than remain in Chihuahua. Americans said they had been permitted to go unmolested.

The only business transacted in Chihuahua at present is that pertaining to the confiscation of property by the rebels, according to the refugees.

General Carothers, United States consular agent at Torreon, who is on a special mission to see Villa, conferred with some of the refugees. It is understood Mr. Carothers was sent to confer personally with Villa in regard to recent events in Chihuahua.

Rebel headquarters at Juarez today had advices that the federal troops now at Ojinaga, on the border opposite Presidio, Texas, would attempt soon to interrupt communication between Juarez and Chihuahua.

HUERTA TROOPS REBEL AND SHOOT OFFICERS

Vera Cruz, December 18.—It is reported here on good authority that General De La Llave, mutinied near Tuxpan and shot the head of the federal army during the absence of the general in Mexico City. The mutineers are said to have shot their officers and joined the Zapata adherents.

The insurgents are still reported to be a considerable force about twenty miles from Tampico.

MEXIC MINE OWNERS ALLOWED TO RESUME

Hermosillo, Sonora, December 18.—Mine owners in territory under control of the Mexican constitutionalist army have been notified by commanders of their properties whenever they see fit. It was announced today by Ignacio Bonilla, secretary of industry in the Carranza cabinet, that in order desiring to resume mines located in the states of Sonora, Chihuahua, Sinaloa and Durango would apply to the constitutionalist department of fomento, colonization and industry nearest them and they would receive the necessary permits.

Under Mexican laws mining property may not be worked until formal permission has been granted by the federal government. It was said many mining and holding property had found it impossible to obtain proper authorization from Mexico City and that the industry in the north was in a state of stagnation.

Paskert Sued for $20,000.

Cleveland, Ohio, December 18.—George H. Paskert, outfielder of the Philadelphia National league team, was sued for $20,000 damages by John Parry here late today. Paskert, while driving his automobile on October 28, struck Parry.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

Despite the fact that most realty dealers and agents have Christmas in their bosoms, the realty market has not brightened perceptibly within the last several days.

The encouraging number and variety of announcements which were made during the first days of this week were augmented on Thursday by a number of other interesting deals.

Exchange of Property.

Through the Burdett Realty company, Oscar Elsas has exchanged with David Woodward, his residence in Elsas home. at No. 230 Washington street, for a lot on the Peachtree road and Matthewson street. The Washington street property consists of a two story frame residence on a lot 71x179, valued at $12,000. The Peachtree road property is 219x330, also valued at $12,000.

Through the same agency L. A. & A. F. Genone have sold to Mrs. Perry C. Wright, Virginia avenue, a brick veneer residence on lot 50x190, for $7,150, in taking as part payment a lot 85x230 on the west side of the Ponce de Leon place at Ponce de Leon avenue, valued at $5,000.

A. H. Bailey has sold to F. O. Stone, of Cincinnati, lot 57 St. Charles avenue, for $7,500.

...ORED BY FARMERS

...die vote of the aldermanic board ...rday afternoon, the pay of the city electrician will not be raised from $1,800 to $2,400 a year, notwithstanding the adoption by the city council at the last meeting, of a motion favoring the increase introduced by Councilman Smith.

Six members of the board, Aldermen Harwell, Warren, KeHy, Nutting, Spratling and Ragsdale, were present when City Clerk Taylor presented the resolution adopted by council providing for the indicated increase in the city electrician's pay. It is known that the resolution would have had the approval of Mayor Woodward, who was, however, attending the meeting of the board of education.

There was little discussion by the members of the aldermanic board when Clerk Taylor brought the Smith resolution, adopted by council, before the board. Aldermen Spratling, Nutting and Harwell were for the resolution authorizing the salary increase, while Aldermen Kelly, Warren and Ragsdale voted against the increase, the tie vote meaning a defeat of the motion to concur in the action of the council.

Turner to Continue Fight.

R. C. Turner, the present city electrician, stated last night that he intended to continue his fight for the increase.

"The salaries of eight officials have been increased recently, and I do not see why my office should be discriminated against. The proposed raise in the city electrician's salary was recommended by the salary committee and indorsed by the electrical men of Atlanta. The present salary of $1,800 is the lowest paid a city electrician by any city the size of Atlanta. In fact the office here should pay a salary of $2,000, for the local encumbent has to stand between the people of Atlanta and a number of corporations. It is a place of much responsibility and hard work.

To Ask Conference.

"I am going to ask for a conference between the aldermanic board and the city council, and if the raise in salary is not then granted, my friends will have recourse to the referendum. The signatures of the necessary number of voters can easily be secured, and I am willing to stand by the decision of the people."

The proposed raise in salary was not to have been effective until with the next election, at which it is generally understood Mr. Turner is to be a candidate for re-election.

North Carolina Union Asks Segregation Legislation for Rural Communities.

Shelby, N. C., December 18.—Having indorsed proposed legislation aimed at race segregation in rural communities, abolished its summer meeting and requested the state attorney general to prepare necessary forms for clerks of court in putting into effect the Torrens system of guaranteeing land titles January 1 and the secretary of the treasury to extend the time of his crop loans until March 1, the North Carolina Farmers' union adjourned its convention here tonight.

Reports of officers show better organization and more stable financial conditions. But nine of the hundred counties of the state are without local unions now. Old officers were reelected with the exception of the executive committee. These are as follows:

President, H. Q. Alexander; vice president, J. M. Templeton; lecturer and treasurer, R. C. Faires. C. W. Wright, W. B. Gibson, W. H. Moore, S. L. Hobbs and Edgar Clarence Poe, of The Progressive Farmer form the executive committee.

PARSON DENIES PRAYER FOR RAIL INVESTORS

Boston, December 18.—Rev. Charles L. Page, assistant pastor of Dudley Street Baptist church, issued a denial today of a report that he had made unfortunate investors in railroad securities the special subject of a public prayer. He did this, he said, in justice to the railroads and to himself after he had received a telegram from New York, reading:

"Noticing your prayers for investors in railroad securities, will you kindly include investors in wheat for May delivery, both in Chicago and New York; also investors in flaxseed and corn; thereby obliging several parties interested in the above and who will anxiously await results."

Mr. Page said that he would not undertake any such contract.

TRADE UNIONS DEFIED BY COLORADO GOVERNOR

Ammons Faces Recall As Result of Refusal to Withdraw Troops From Mines.

Denver, Colo., December 18.—Several hundred delegates to the state labor convention this morning marched to the capitol to present to Governor Ammons their demands for the abolition of the military commission in the Colorado strike district, the dismissal of certain militia officers objectionable to the labor element.

Characterizing the demands as ridiculous and their claims as overdrawn, Governor E. M. Ammons refused to dismiss Adjutant General John Chase and other military officers from service, order the release of military prisoners and abolish the military commission in the zone where coal miners are on strike.

"There are no acts which have come to my knowledge either officially or unofficially of any misconduct on the part of the officers mentioned in the union's resolutions," the Governor's commons today, "and not until the committee itself brought charges against these men had I heard anything of it. I told them to produce their proof and then I would listen to them.

"They may now present their petition against me, but their threat to do so does not weaken me in my determination to preserve law and order in the state."

When the governor's stand was made known to the waiting delegates and they heard their committeeman say that the threat of recall petitions within five days had no effect on the governor, "Mother" Mary Jones arose and exhorted her hearers to band themselves by the "righteousness of the cause, march upon the state capitol and fling defiance of the governor in his face."

WOMAN USES HER GUN TO AVENGE AN INSULT

West Point, Miss., December 18.—Mrs. Estelle Henry, manager of a shooting gallery connected with a carnival company, early today shot and killed Arthur Felton and probably fatally wounded C. C. Colbert, both young men, and members of prominent families. The woman is in jail.

Mrs. Henry claimed Colbert made an insulting proposal. Felton was a bystander and was shot accidentally.

DEAD MULE KICKS AND BREAKS LEG OF HIS OWNER

Big Laurel, Va., December 18.—(Special.)—Edward Gardner, a farmer near here, had an old mule which died a few days ago and he set out to haul it to the boneyard. He had loaded on a sled and, to make it stay on the sled, its legs had to be tied down between the standards of the sled.

The hired man was driving the team hauling the dead mule and Gardner was walking behind. The sled struck a stone in the road with such force that the mule's tail was dislodged, striking Gardner on the leg and breaking it below the knee.

JOHN W. THOMAS, JR., PLACED IN THE GRAVE

Nashville, Tenn., December 18.—John W. Thomas, Jr., president and general manager of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway, was laid to rest here at 2 o'clock this afternoon, a blanket of flowers, sent by the men of the road, the only gift flowers permitted, covering the grave.

The funeral services were held at the First Presbyterian church. Dr. James I. Vance, pastor, officiated, assisted by Dr. J. M. Frost, secretary of the Baptist Sunday School board, and Dr. J. W. Bachman of Chattanooga. Dr. Vance paid a feeling tribute to Mr. Thomas, dwelling especially on his kindness toward his men in putting mercy above the rules in vogue on ordinary corporations.

Employees from all over the system attended. To the number of several hundred they gathered at the union station at noon and went to the Thomas home, going thence with the family to the church.

All engines of the system went out today in mourning and depots all along the line are draped in black. At the hour of the funeral every wheel and telegraph wire on the line stopped for five minutes.

Visiting railroad men included President Milton H. Smith of the L. & N. and Nashville; President C. A. Wickersham, of the Atlanta and West Point, and E. T. Lamb, general manager of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic.

30,000 MEN AND WOMEN IDLE IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Cal., December 18.—Means to provide public employment for 30,000 men and women said to be out of work in this city will be discussed tomorrow at a meeting of representatives of civic bodies, for which a call was issued today. A resolution has been drawn up demanding that the city and county of Los Angeles jointly appropriate $1,500,000 for public work.

According to those who will have charge of tomorrow's meeting a demand will be made on Governor Johnson to have the state provide employment if the city and county fail to act.

TENANT WINS SUIT AGAINST ROCKEFELLER

Cleveland, Ohio, December 18.—John D. Rockefeller, his wife, Laura S. Rockefeller, his son, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and their agents were perpetually restrained from interfering with the occupancy of the Welded block, East Sixth street, in a decision today by Judge Neff, in common pleas court. The suit was brought after a tenant of Koultz Brothers, holders of a ninety-nine-year lease on the building, had been ejected by agents of Rockefeller.

EDITOR CUNNINGHAM IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Nashville, Tenn., December 18.—S. A. Cunningham, editor of The Confederate, is in a serious condition and unconscious in his office yesterday, as the result of a severe hemorrhage of the nose, continues critically ill. Mr. Cunningham had another hemorrhage today, the fourth during his present illness. He is greatly weakened by the loss of blood.

MORTUARY

Mrs. B. P. Hunt, Huntsville.

Huntsville, Ala., December 18.—(Special.)—The body of Mrs. Ben P. Hunt, who died in Atlanta Wednesday, was brought to Huntsville this morning and the funeral was conducted this afternoon from the Episcopal church by Rev. Francis Tappey and Rev. Cary Gamble. Mrs. Hunt's death caused widespread grief in Huntsville. She was a social leader and took a prominent part in the work of the United Charities, besides being one of the board of managers of the city hospital. She is survived by her husband, Ben P. Hunt, who is a well-known lawyer and former newspaper man, and several sisters and brothers.

Mrs. H. B. Bounds, Washington.

Washington, Ga., December 18.—(Special.)—Funeral of Mrs. Hattie B. Bounds, whose death occurred Thursday from a stroke of paralysis, will be held Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock. She was the widow of Dr. Edward M. Bounds, preacher and noted writer on religious subjects, whose death occurred a few months ago. Mrs. Bounds was 55 years old and had been ill for three months. She is survived by five children. Interment will be in the city cemetery.

T. J. Linder, Jr., Hartwell.

Hartwell, Ga., December 18.—(Special.)—Thomas J. Linder, Jr., youngest son of one of Hartwell's pioneer citizens, died Tuesday and was buried Wednesday morning in the Hartwell cemetery. Mr. Linder was unmarried and was buried on his twenty-eighth birthday. Besides his father, he is survived by his brothers Colonel J. J. Linder and Clarence Linder, Rev. Thomas R. Kendrick, Jr., of the Methodist church, officiated at the funeral exercises.

Mrs. Ida P. Poole.

Mrs. Ida P. Poole, 65 years old, died at noon Thursday at a local sanitarium. She lived at Lakewood Heights and is survived by one child, A. Poole; one daughter, Miss Mamie Poole; her mother, Mrs. M. L. Hardin, and three brothers, Wallace, F. E. and Dr. O. N. Hardin. The funeral will be held Saturday from Mt. Zion church, followed by interment in the churchyard.

Mrs. M. N. Brodenbach.

Mrs. M. N. Brodenbach, 27 years old, wife of an electrical engineer with the Southern Bell Telephone company, died at a local sanitarium. She lived at 22 Hale street, Inman Park. The body was removed to Greenberg & Bondy's chapel, and will be taken today to Albany, N. Y., for funeral and interment.

Clyde Allen, Cedartown.

Rome, Ga., December 18.—(Special.)—News reached Rome yesterday of the death in Cedartown of Clyde Allen, formerly baggage agent for the Central of Georgia railway in Rome. His death was due to acute indigestion. The funeral took place today in Opelika, Ala. The deceased is survived by a wife and two children.

Solomon Sheer.

Solomon Sheer, 53 years old, of Macon, Ga., died Thursday morning at a local sanitarium. The funeral services were held at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon from Greenberg & Bond's chapel, followed by interment at Rosedale cemetery.

DR. HADLEY TO LECTURE AT OXFORD UNIVERSITY

New Haven, Conn., December 18.—The appointment of President Hadley, of Yale, as a lecturer at Oxford, next year is the result of a plan formulated recently to foster relations between some of the noted European colleges and Yale. President Hadley lectured on economics at University of Berlin several years ago. Dr. Frederick Von Der Leyon, professor of German literature at the University of Berlin, will lecture at Yale this year in return for Dr. Hadley's lectures.

Lynchburg, Va., December 18.—George E. Johnson, 95, said to be the oldest Free Mason in the United States, died here today. He had been a Mason 73 years.

GIRL BRIDE WEEPS ON FACING HUSBAND HELD AS BIGAMIST

Rome, Ga., December 18.—(Special.) Weeping bitter tears at the shattering of her life's romance, Mrs. Sallie Westbrooks Brown, a pretty 16-year-old girl, was here today and at the county jail faced John Brown, of Summerville, Ga., who was arrested last night at Aragon charged with bigamy.

On Sunday at Summerville Brown married Miss Westbrooks, who is the daughter of V. E. Westbrooks, a prominent citizen of Chattooga county. It is alleged that he has a wife living in Knoxville. The warrant for Brown's arrest was taken out by the girl's father. He was apprehended at Aragon, and spent last night in jail here. Officers took him to Summerville this morning. Brown will not talk of the matter, and does not deny or affirm that he has another wife. The girl has been taken to the home of her father.

PROFIT OF $75,000,000 FOR THE UNION PACIFIC

New York, December 18.—The annual report of the Union Pacific Railroad company, made public today, shows that it made a profit of approximately $39,000,000 on the sale of its Northern Pacific and Great Northern railway shares and a profit of about $15,000,000 on its Southern Pacific holdings.

Lessons in photograph and lantern slide tinting given by Mrs. Dunne, manufacturer of Dunne's colors, until January. Call 12 to 2 and make appointment. Hotel Aragon.—(Adv.)

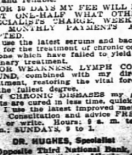
Weak, Nervous and Diseased Men Permanently Cured.



Dr. Hughes is an experienced specialist and has successfully treated and permanently cured thousands of Men. Nervousness, Varicocele Veins, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, Obstructions, Catarrhal Discharges and all Blood and Chronic Diseases of Men and Women.

I am against high and extortionate fees charged by some physicians and specialists. You will find my charges very reasonable and no more than you are able to pay for skillful treatment. Consult me in person or by letter and learn the truth about your condition, and perhaps save much time, suffering and expense. I am a graduate and licensed, long established and reliable.

FOR 10 DAYS MY FEE WILL BE JUST ONE-HALF WHAT OTHER SPECIALISTS CHARGE. WEEKLY CLINIC, Nov. 21st, 28th, Dec. 5th and 12th.

I use the latest serums and bacterins for the treatment of chronic conditions which have failed to yield to ordinary treatment.

FOR WEAKNESS, LYMPH COMPOUND, combined with New Blood treatment, restoring the vital forces to the fullest degree.

IN CHRONIC AILMENTS my patients are cured in less time, quickly and free from the most improved methods. Consultation and advice FREE. Call or write. Hours: 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.; SUNDAYS, 9 to 1.
