Carranza Calls a Halt on Invasion of Mexico

MORE AMERICANS KILLED BY VERA CRUZ "SNIPERS"

O'Shaughnessy Ordered to Leave by Huerta

VERA CRUZ QUIETED BY SHARP SHELLING AND GALLANT WORK OF THE BLUEJACKETS

Six Americans Killed and About Thirty Wounded in Wednesday's Fighting. Mexicans Fought From Houses.

SHELLS FROM THE SHIPS DROPPED ON THE ROOFS TO STOP THE "SNIPERS"

Mexican Loss Reported as Very Heavy—Several of the Buildings From Which the Mexicans Fired Were Demolished by Shells From Ships.

Vera Cruz, April 23.—Six Americans killed and about thirty wounded marked the complete investment of Vera Cruz at noon today by the United States forces.

Rear Admiral Frank F. Fletcher has taken up headquarters at the Terminal hotel. The entire city is strongly controlled and quiet prevailed tonight. Rear Admiral Fletcher is in command of the land operations, while Rear Admiral Badger, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, has brought his flag into the harbor on the Minnesota.

After the general advance began this morning, Mexican sharpshooters on the roofs put up a stubborn resistance. There was one brisk action, guns of the Prairie and Chester assisting in silencing a heavy fire from the naval college. Shells from the Prairie finally shattered its walls.

MEXICAN LOSS VERY HEAVY.

The number of Mexicans killed yesterday is estimated at 150, with many wounded. The Mexican loss today is not known, but is thought to be heavy.

The paymaster of the British cruiser Essex, Albert W. Kimber, was wounded on board his ship by a "sniper" ashore.

The British bluejackets crowded to the bows and vociferously cheered the American marines as they proceeded on shore for the landing.

The flags on the Essex and Fortress San Juan De Ulua were half-masted when the dead were carried to the boats.

Rear Admiral Badger has not decided whether to proceed to Tampico, and it is believed his departure will be delayed. An indication of this is found in the fact that his flagship has entered the harbor.

Major Smedley D. Butler, with marines from the Prairie, made a sortie up the railway for a considerable distance late today.

Rear Admiral Fletcher's staff is composed as follows:

Chief of staff, Captain Harry McL. Huse; adjutant general, Commander Stone; quartermaster, Lieutenant Commander Edward C. Kalbfus; brigade engineer, Naval Constructor Richard D. Gatewood; ordnance officer, Lieutenant Albert M. Cohen; aid and secretary, Lieutenant George McC. Courts; aids, Ensigns Dood and Kemp; brigade surgeon, Medicine S. Elliott; brigade paymaster, Paymaster Christian J. Peoples.

MARINES FACED HEAVY RIFLE FIRE.

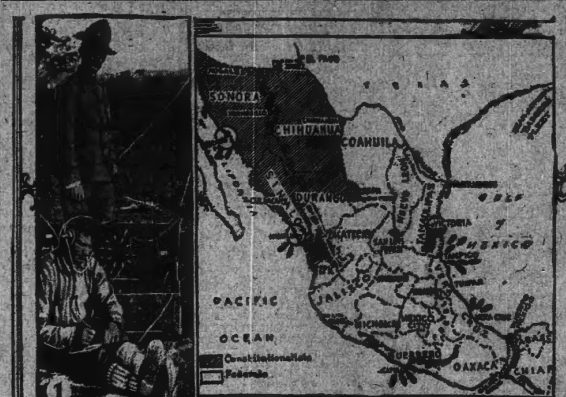

Rear Admiral Fletcher at 8:30 o'clock in the morning ordered a general movement for the occupation of all the town. A bluejacket column advanced and passed the uncompleted market place and naval college. When they reached the walls of the college a terrific rifle fire was poured in all directions from the roof and windows. The bluejackets, helpless to return the fire against the stone walls, scattered.

The Prairie, Chester and San Francisco opened with their five and six-inch guns and shattered the walls. The bluejackets formed again and advanced against the fire which had diminished. By 10 o'clock there was only desultory firing from the inshore side of the tower. Battalions of bluejackets made their way along the water to the southern end of the town and heard several streets, but the fight from houses continued at intervals.

The scout cruiser Chester pounded buildings on the outskirts with six-

How Our Hospital Facilities Fall Down

No words could be added to or subtracted from the following self-explanatory table:

MUNICIPAL HOSPITAL BED CAPACITY IN 1913.

Atlanta, Ga., population	200,000	Bed capacity....200
Augusta, Ga., population	45,000	Bed capacity....275
Worcester, Mass., population	165,000	Bed capacity....300
St. Paul, Minn., population	235,000	Bed capacity....400
Louisville, Ky., population	230,000	Bed capacity....450

Atlanta is in a class with all these cities.

Proportionately, she is wealthier than any of them.

She does less for her sick.

Over Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars Will Be Given Away In Constitution's Campaign

The Constitution is paying more than $25,000 for automobiles, self-players, pianos, cash prizes, etc., with the idea of distributing them to the winners of a contest for subscriptions.

All that is asked of those who desire to participate in the distribution is to obtain paid-in-advance subscriptions to The Constitution.

Upon each subscription free votes are given in number according to the length of time for which the subscription is to run. The prizes will be given to those who gather the largest number of votes before the contest closes on June 27, 1914.

To those who become interested and do not gather enough votes to win one of the magnificent listed prizes, will be paid cash awards. Every energetic contestant who enters this contest and puts forth the proper efforts will win some kind of a prize.

Two Divisions.

In order to help matters along, The Constitution has divided its territory into two divisions, No. 1 and No. 2. Those themselves have been divided into nine districts, four districts in No. 1 and five districts in No. 2. Prizes have been provided for the two grand divisions. The first grand division prize in each division is a seven-passenger Oakland touring car, valued at $2,685. The second grand division prize in each division is a five-passenger Velie touring car, valued at $1,500.

The first prize for each of the nine districts is a five-passenger Overland car, valued at $1,130 each. One of these splendid motor cars will be given to each candidate in each district who stands first in number of votes cast in each district after the division prizes have been given out.

No candidate can win two prizes.

The second prize in each of the nine districts is a $750 Liddon & Bates self-player piano.

Each contestant who enters this contest and turns in $100 or more of new subscriptions and fails to win one of the above prizes will be paid a cash prize at the rate of five cash for every $100 worth of new business turned in.

All Will Be Prize.

You will note by this that every energetic candidate will work to win; all will receive something, and as it costs absolutely nothing to enter the campaign, a candidate risks nothing and is bound to profit according to the results she obtains.

The very first thing to do is to send

Shriner Detained In Jail for Hours On Initiation Day

George Nicholson Finds That Crossing Hot Sands of Desert Is Beset With Difficulties.

Fulton county Tower had one prisoner yesterday whose name was not down on the record book of it has been there the chances are that newspaper reporters would have had at work on the story in a hurry and extras would have told the news to the public.

For the prisoner was Georga Nicholson, one of the most popular members of the class of 210 who were last night initiated into all the mysteries of the Shrine.

Nicholson was the guest of honor yesterday afternoon at a dinner given at the Atlanta Athletic club by Fred Patterson, who has been a member of the Shrinenx for a number of years.

While the dinner was in progress, Drew Liddell, one of the deputy sheriffs, strode into the dining room and demanded the whereabouts of Mr. Nicholson. As soon as he found him, he at once took him in charge, despite the protests of all his friends, as well as those of Mr. Nicholson himself, handcuffed him and took him to the Fulton Tower.

And there from 4 until a little after 6 o'clock Nicholson languished in durance vile. He was under arrest, he was told, on a misdemeanor charge, and bond wasn't even to be considered in his case.

Finally some of his friends came to the Tower, however, and he was given his freedom. It was then explained that it was all a practical joke, engineered by Fred Patterson, to make the candidate for Shrine honors appreciate the more his admission into the order.

With the big class initiated last night, Tarza Temple now has a membership of about 1,500.

WILSON IS WORN OUT BY SLEEPLESS NIGHTS

Washington, April 23.—President Wilson's sleepless nights, interrupted by telephone calls from state and navy department officials, his worry over the general situation, worn him out so completely today that his physician ordered a game of golf. The president went reluctantly. Secretary Tumulty, who has averaged about five hours' sleep during the last few nights himself, stayed on the watch at the white house for emergency developments.

Carranza Promises to Punish Huerta And Urges Wilson to Order Cessation Of the Fighting at Port of Vera Cruz

Chihuahua, Mexico, April 22.—Replying to a telegram from Secretary Bryan, at Washington, General Carranza today telegraphed that the United States is not justified in occupying Mexican territory.

"The invasion," says the letter, "will drag us (Mexico) into an unequal war with dignity, but which, until today, we desired to avoid."

The unofficial translation of the text of the letter follows:

"United States Consul J. C. Carothers: In answer to the message of Mr. Secretary of State Bryan, which was communicated to me through you, please transmit to the said Mr. Bryan the following note addressed to Mr. President Wilson:

"Awaiting the action of the American senate on your excellency's message, directed to said body, caused by the lamentable incident which occurred between a crew in a whale boat of the cruiser Dolphin and the soldiers of the usurper, Huerta, certain acts of hostility have been executed by the naval forces under command of Admiral Fletcher at the port of Vera Cruz, and in the face of this violation of national sovereignty, which the constitutionalist government did not expect from a government that had reiterated its desire to maintain peace with the Mexican people, I comply with the duty of elevated patriotism in directing this note to you, with a view to exhausting all honorable means, before two friendly nations sever the pacific relations that still unite them.

O'Shaughnessy Told to Leave

Washington, April 23.—Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the [illegible] Mexico City, has been handed his passports by General Huerta and is preparing to leave Mexico City.

Charge O'Shaughnessy telegraphed the state department under date of Wednesday night as follows:

"Having been given my passports, I am leaving tomorrow night or Friday morning."

The message was given out at 3:20 a. m.

Mexic Situation Stirred To New and Acute Crisis By Demand of Carranza

Washington, April 23.—General Carranza's note to President Wilson declaring the seizure of Vera Cruz by American forces a violation of the national sovereignty of Mexico, inviting the United States to suspend hostile operations and withdraw its forces, and suggesting that the constitutionalist government should receive demands for reparations of offenses committed by Huerta, stirred the Mexican situation to a new and acute crisis tonight.

Opposition to the American government's action coming from an unexpected quarter after the Washington administration had hoped for an attitude of neutrality from constitutionalists, brought the government face to face with possible hostility from the great body of Mexican loyalists living in proximity to the southern border of the United States.

800 COFFINS PLACED ON ARMY TRANSPORTS

Galveston, Texas, April 23.—Eight hundred coffins today were taken aboard the army transports here, which are stocked and ready to carry the Fifth brigade of the United States army to Mexico if the war department so orders. It was learned tonight that the transports carry two months' subsistence for the 4,000 men of the Fifth brigade, the stores of provisions having been included at the last moment. At first plans were made to put aboard only about thirty days' provisions.

It was stated tonight that from eighteen to twenty-four hours would be required to make the transports ready to sail. The mess and camp equipages could be taken aboard in a few hours.

The three torpedo boat destroyers, Hunson, Preston and Reid, which arrived here yesterday, took on coal today. The destroyers are to convoy the transports in case of sailing.

Evidence of the watchfulness of army headquarters here for emergencies was seen during the day in orders to steamship lines or inquiries about their availability for war service.

Lieutenant Commander Denseo Mori, of the Japanese navy, who arrived here today from Tampico, said he found the treatment accorded Japanese in Mexico satisfactory. He made a trip of inspection in pursuance of Mexico.

NO COMMENT MADE BY BRYAN.

Secretary Bryan received the Carranza note at his home last before midnight.

He did not comment on it. Secretary Garrison and Assistant Secretary Breckenridge, who were waiting at the war department, were given copies of the message. Secretary Tumulty, who had been asleep, hurried to the war department, and Major General Wotherspoon, chief of staff of the army, was summoned to join the conference.

President Wilson was awakened about 1:30 o'clock and talked over the telephone with Secretary Tumulty, who was at the secretary of war's office.

Rumors of a possible restoration of the embargo on arms, current during the day, were revived tonight, and it was believed this was the subject of the war department conference. Precautions against uprisings on the border as a possible result of Carranza's opposition to the American government's course also were believed to be under consideration.

The joint army and navy board, which met early in the day, it is un-

BRANDS HUERTA AS USURPER.

"And the Mexican nation, the real people of Mexico, have not recognized as its executive a man who had previously been a traitor to the national integrity, drowning in blood its free institutions, consequently the acts of the usurper Huerta and his accomplices do not signify legitimate acts of sovereignty, they do not constitute real public functions of interior and exterior relations, and much less do they represent the sentiments of the Mexican nation, which are of cofraternity towards the American people.

"The lack of representative character of General Victoriano Huerta, as concerning the relations of Mexico with the United States, as well as with Argentine republic, Chile, Brasil and Cuba, had been clearly established with the justifiable attitude of these nations, who have refused to recognize the usurper, in this way lending a valuable moral support to the noble cause I represent.

"The usurped title of the president of the republic cannot invest General Huerta with the right to receive a demand for reparation on the part of the United States, nor the right to grant a satisfaction as due.

"Victoriano Huerta is a culprit who is untenable to the constitutionalist government, today the only one under the abnormal circumstances of our nation which represents the national sovereignty.

HUERTA'S MISDEEDS TO BE PUNISHED.

"The illegal acts committed by the usurper and his partisans and those which they may yet perpetrate, be they of an international character as those which recently occurred at the port of Tampico, or of a domestic character, shall be tried and punished with indomitable energy and promptness by the tribunals of the constitutionalist government.

"As individual acts of Victoriano Huerta never will be sufficient to involve the Mexican nation in a disastrous war with the United States, the cause there is no solidarity whatsoever between the so-called government of Victoriano Huerta and the Mexican nation.

"Moreover the invasion of our territory and the permanency of your forces in the port of Vera Cruz is a violation of the rights that constitute our existence as a free and independent sovereignty, and we desire to avoid unequal war with dignity, but which until today we desired to avoid.

ACTS AT VERA CRUZ OFFENSIVE TO MEXICO.

"In the face of the real situation through which Mexico traverses, what more so than ever after three years of bloody strife and compared with the formidable power of the American nation, in considering the acts committed at Vera Cruz as acts highly offensive to the dignity and independence of Mexico and contrary to your reiterated declarations of not desiring to sever the state of peace and friendship with the Mexican nation, and in contradiction also with the resolution of the American senate, which has just declared that the United States has not assume against the Mexican people; neither do they propose to make war against it, considering also that the hostile acts already accomplished exceed those exacted by equity for the desired end, which may be considered as satisfied.

WANTS CESSATION OF HOSTILITIES.

"It not being on the other part, the usurper who, in all cases, should save the fight to hostilities a pretext, I interpret the sentiment of a great majority of the Mexican people which is so jealous of its rights and respectful of foreign rights, I invite you solicit, to suspend the hostile acts already initiated, ordering your forces to evacuate all places which they hold in their power in the port of Vera Cruz, and to formulate before the constitutionalist government, which I represent as constitutionalist governor of the state of Coahuila and first chief of the constitutionalist army, the demand on the part of the United States for the acts which originated in the port of Tampico in the security that the demand will be considered in the spirit of elevated justice and conciliation.

"The constitutionalist governor of the state of Coahuila and first chief of the constitutionalist army,

"V. CARRANZA."

BRYAN'S LETTER TO CARRANZA.

The letter from Carranza was inspired by the following to him from Secretary Bryan:

"The president does not desire any resolution that could be construed as authorizing him to engage in war; he asks and all that will be given is a resolution declaring he is justified in using the armed forces to compel redress of a specific indignity. He has been careful distinguish between General Huerta and his supporters on the one side and the rest of the Mexican people on the other side.

"He has reiterated his friendship for the Mexican people and his desire to establish them for themselves a constitutional government. The taking of the customs house at Vera Cruz was made necessary by Huerta's refusal to make proper reparation for the arrest of the American soldiers. The constitutionalists are reported in the newspapers as standing aloof from the controversy. This is a very proper attitude and we hope that they will not misunderstand the president's position or misconstrue his acts."

SITUATION STIRRED BY ACUTE CRISIS

derstood, recommended the restoration of the embargo.

BLUNT REQUEST BY CARRANZA.

While Mexican constitutionalist representatives here professed to see a basis of friendliness in Carranza's note, its blunt request for the withdrawal of the American forces from Vera Cruz and its virtual demand for recognition of the rebels as representing the constitutional government of Mexico, injected phases which made administration officials manifestly uneasy.

Plans thus far made by the army and navy board to obtain reprisals from Huerta had contemplated no move along the American border. Should hostility develop among the constitutionalists, plans of the army will be changed immediately.

The knowledge that Carranza, while refusing to make common cause with Huerta, might be disposed of his own initiative to resent the acts of the American government made the problem admittedly more grave than it ever has been.

FUTURE STEPS ARE UNCERTAIN.

Action by congress approving the president's course in using the army and navy in view of the situation he had presented in his message, and the receipt of details of the fighting at Vera Cruz were chief developments of the day. Officials expressed themselves as greatly pleased with the promptness of Rear Admiral Fletcher's conduct in taking possession of Vera Cruz and restoring order there.

Future steps are uncertain. The president has determined that his course shall be gradual. No orders have been issued to seize the customs house at Tampico. It is the purpose of the administration to keep order in Vera Cruz and await the full effect of Huerta of the first American act of reprisal.

RAILROAD TO BE SEIZED.

There is every reason to believe that the railroad running inland from Vera Cruz for twenty miles, together with valuable property will be seized by American marines and bluejackets. This section of the railroad is of supreme importance should future developments require a movement on Mexico City.

Beyond the holding of Vera Cruz and this railroad, the Washington government does not want to act at present, but persons in the confidence of the administration admit that action by Huerta or Carranza at any time may alter plans.

Fears for Americans in Mexico City and the other cities are expressed in many quarters, but the situation is promptly passed a bill appropriating $500,000 to care for refugees. The fact that nothing had been heard from Charge O'Shaughnessy for nearly forty-eight hours made President Wilson and Secretary Bryan uneasy. Early tonight unofficial communication with Mr. O'Shaughnessy was established, but apprehension has not been allayed as there is grave doubt considered in the temper of the Huerta government or the people of Mexico City since the capture of Vera Cruz.

DELIBERATE PLOT CHARGED TO HUERTA.

In this connection, a high government official made public a letter from a friend whom he said he had trustworthy, which read as follows:

"I have, on reliable authority from a man arriving from Mexico City that Huerta personally, with the Mexican foreign minister, planned the Tampico incident with a view of bringing on armed intervention by the bringing the Mexican factions with him."

The same official expressed the view that if Huerta had stayed his answer to the United States for a salute to the flag pending the arrival of the big shipment of ammunition on the German vessel.

Secretary Bryan today said that the status of Charge O'Shaughnessy and Charge Algara was the same today as he knew, Charge Algara, however, has had notification from his government that he may leave and it is deemed it advisable. This is regarded as possibly forecasting Huerta's giving passports to O'Shaughnessy.

Though international lawyers and many in congress are not exactly sure what the diplomatic relations of the United States toward Mexico are, whether a state of war" exists without a declaration to that effect, or whether, as many precedents have shown, the present situation merely is an act of reprisal "short of war," there is no doubt that relations between the Huerta de facto government and the United States have been broken.

WON'T WITHDRAW O'SHAUGHNESSY.

The United States will not withdraw Charge O'Shaughnessy from Mexico City reports it advisable to do so for the Washington government desires to maintain, as long as possible, a representative in Mexico City to care for American interests there. If necessary, however, arrangement may be made with some of the other foreign legations to look out for the interests of the United States and transmit such communications as may be necessary to the Huerta government.

Volunteers for service in Mexico will not be called for unless there is a formal declaration of war by congress. This was announced in the house today by Chairman Hay, of the house committee on military affairs.

Navy movements were continued today. The navy department feels that a sufficient force now is on hand, and why not only to take care of the situation at Vera Cruz, but at Tampico, too, if the order is given for the seizure of the customs house there.

"Until we receive a complete report from Rear Admiral Badger about the situation at Vera Cruz," said Secretary Daniels, "we will have nothing to say about Tampico or other steps."

Senator Shively, acting chairman of the foreign relations committee, who conferred with Secretary Tumulty, spoke also of the Washington government's intention to proceed slowly, hoping that its successive acts of reprisal might force Huerta to yield from his stubborn position and avert war.

FOREIGNERS QUIT MEXICAN CAPITAL.

Galveston, Texas, April 23.—Communication has been established with Mexico City and Charge O'Shaughnessy is safe and the city is quiet, but business demoralized. The city is completely in the hands of the federal government. Train leaves this afternoon for Vera Cruz with foreigners on board and will be escorted by federals.

WILSON JUSTIFIED BY THE CONGRESS

Washington, April 22.—Without debate and without the formality of a roll call, the house today concurred in the administration's Mexican resolution as adopted by the senate, which justifies the president in using the armed forces of the United States in securing amends for indignities suffered by the nation in Mexico.

On the vote, vote vote the "ayes" were in pronounced majority. A few negative votes were heard here and there on the republican side when Speaker Clark put the question.

Speaker Clark signed the joint resolution justifying the president in using armed forces in Mexico at 12:05 o'clock.

Senator Clarke, president pro tem of the senate, signed the resolution after it had been engrossed, and it was sent to the white house for the president's approval.

The president signed the resolution at 1:35. Only his family was present.

In addressing the house in support of the substitute for the senate resolution of justification, Mr. Flood said that when he introduced the original resolution Monday he believed it was in the proper form to carry out the purposes outlined in the address of the president.

"The original resolution made it clear that this country was not hostile to the Mexican people," said Mr. Flood, "and did not desire to make war on Mexico. The senate amendment states this in so many words. The substance of the resolution is, therefore, unchanged. In this momentous hour and in the circumstances confronting this country I urge action justifying and approving the course of the president of the utmost importance that the average age of the American bluejackets and marines off the Mexican coast today is 21 years.

"We have taken a great responsibility here, but the confidence you have placed in the plain private representing the average American citizen who is at the front, is not a misplaced confidence," said Representative Hobson.

Pelsmatrix Perfect Welts.

Philadelphia, April 23.—"It is hard to lose a son, but it's glorious to know he gave up his life for his country," was the father's comment today when officially notified of the killing of George Poinsett, a 20-year-old seaman of the battleship Florida, at Vera Cruz yesterday. A letter written by the young man's mother is now in the mails addressed to him in which she cautioned him to "be careful and don't get hurt."

FEAR FOR SAFETY OF AMERICANS

Many Women and Children In Mexican Oil Fields Unprotected — Huerta Orders Tampico Defended.

Tampico, Mexico, April 22, via Galveston, April 23.—Grave fears are felt here for the safety of hundreds of Americans including many women and children in the oil camps at Tepila and other river points and interior camps.

All these Americans are said to be unarmed and defenseless against attacks of either federals or insurgents. Many oil companies are directing their employees to return to Tampico.

Fifteen hundred Mexicans reported to have said that in event of an American attempt to seize Tampico he had received orders from Mexico City; that he knew his duty as a soldier, and he would do his utmost to repel the landing, and believed he would succeed.

Attack on Americans Feared.

The first hint of intervention, it was feared, might precipitate an attack on Americans and if an outbreak should occur the Imperial hotel, which is filled with Americans, would likely be the center of attack. The hotel, however, could be made easily defensible. It is near the river and readily accessible to landing parties of marines from the Des Moines and Chester and Dolphin. The Chester and Dolphin continued clearing for action with ammunition on deck, prepared to fire on Tampico or to dispatch strong landing forces at a moment's notice.

Rebels were reported this morning to have re-entered Dona Cecilia and Arbol, where they advised all residents to remove to Tampico.

The federals continued busily strengthening the city's fortifications. There was a fight yesterday eight miles south of the city, from which the federals retired, bringing a few wounded with them.

Sanitary Conditions Bad.

Sanitary conditions in Tampico are deplorable. The streets are in a foul condition and no water is available except such as is drawn from wells within the city. Many of the wells have been contaminated and even this supply is rapidly becoming exhausted, with no prospects of resumption of operations at the waterworks plant, which was damaged by shells. Doctors are prepared to resist any attempt to make removal.

Smallpox and fevers are spreading. Several cases classed in the hospitals as yellow fever are said to bear striking resemblance to yellow fever. With the approach of hot weather epidemics are feared.

Since the siege began business has been conducted almost as usual except during the first few days when the rebels made determined efforts to rush the federal entrenchments and force entrance into the city. Although so far there has been no serious lack of provisions, the cost of all supplies had been advanced enormously, causing great hardship among the poorer classes.

UNITED STATES CARING FOR MEXICAN WOUNDED

Washington, April 22.—The following statement was given out late today at the White house:

"A dispatch received at 4:30 o'clock from Consul Canada at Vera Cruz states that at 1 p. m. the city was entirely quiet and thoroughly policed by American forces. His request that San Sacaston Hospital be placed at the disposal of our chief sanitary officer, together with native doctors and nurses to care for Mexican wounded, was granted immediately. Reports have reached him that all Americans who stayed at the Diligencias hotel during the fighting are safe and are boarding the Esperanza."

Poinsett Called the Bagley Of the Mexican Trouble

Young Seaman From Philadelphia Is First American Killed in the Fight at Vera Cruz.

Washington, April 22.—Seaman George Poinsett, of Philadelphia, killed at Vera Cruz yesterday, was eulogized in the house today as "the Worth Bagley of the Mexican trouble." Representative Moore, of Pennsylvania, remarking that Poinsett was the first man killed, declared that "whether we have entered upon this war wisely or unwisely, we have at least demonstrated our wisdom as a nation in being prepared for war." He added:

"A father who yielded to his boy's desire to serve his country has been bereft of a son, but the nation has added the name of that boy to its roll of honor."

Paying a tribute to the valor of the "plain private," Representative Hobson, of Alabama, told the house today that the average age of the American bluejackets and marines off the Mexican coast today is 21 years.

"We have taken a great responsibility here, but the confidence you have placed in the plain private representing the average American citizen who is at the front, is not a misplaced confidence," said Representative Hobson.

Pelsmatrix Perfect Welts.

Philadelphia, April 23.—"It is hard to lose a son, but it's glorious to know he gave up his life for his country," was the father's comment today when officially notified of the killing of George Poinsett, a 20-year-old seaman of the battleship Florida, at Vera Cruz yesterday.

Actress Tells Secret

A Well Known Actress Tells How She Darkened Her Gray Hair and Promoted Its Growth With a Simple Home Made Mixture.

Miss Blanche Rose, a well-known actress, who darkened her gray hair with a simple preparation which she mixed at home, in a recent interview at Chicago, Ill., made the following statement: "Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray hair and make it soft and glossy with this simple recipe, which they can mix at home. To a half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the required shade. This will make a gray haired person look 20 years younger. It is also fine to promote the growth of hair, relieves itching and scalp humors and is excellent for dandruff and falling hair." (adv.)

ERUPTION THICK AND CRUSTY-LIKE

On Head First in Small Pimples, Spread Over Top. Three Cakes Cuticura Soap and Two Boxes Cuticura Ointment Cured in Month.

Pine Knot, Ky.—"The breaking out began on baby's head first. I thought it was hives but she had totter of the scalp.

It first appeared in small pimples and then got thick and crusty-like. It spread over the top of her head in a solid crust. When dry it looked like white bran and it honeyed the baby a great deal. She did not rest well at any time while affected.

"I used ——— and made halves of different things and all failed to cure her head. It would look a little better at times and other I would wash and bathe her head it would look like dandruff and when dry it looked rough and scaly. Nothing did any good until I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used three cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and could tell they helped her the first time I used them. My other baby did not get as bad as I knew what to do first without experimenting. They both had better of the scalp and were cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Mrs. Maggie Trammel, June 23, 1913.

What Will Happen When We Invade MEXICO

By a remarkable piece of editorial luck, which happens to a magazine once in a lifetime, the May METROPOLITAN, out today, contains a vivid and timely description of the battle of La Cadena by John Reed, our war correspondent, who was the only American to witness this fight between the Rebels and the Federals. It is the first genuine pen picture of the Mexican soldier in battle, and it is also the first opportunity you have had to picture in your mind the kind of fighting our soldiers will face in their march on to Mexico City.

The story of the battle is illustrated with photographs taken by John Reed in Mexico. We missed a bunch of action pictures, as Reed's camera was smashed in a run for his life, which he describes, in part, as follows:

"I ran on—ran and ran and ran, until I could run no more. Then I walked a few steps and ran again. I was sobbing instead of breathing. Awful cramps gripped my legs. I ran. I wondered what time it was. I wasn't very frightened. Everything was so unreal. It just seemed to me that if I didn't get away I wouldn't be doing my job well. I kept thinking to myself, 'Well, this is certainly an experience. I am going to have something to write about.'"

Don't miss this story. Go to the nearest newsstand today and get a copy of the May METROPOLITAN. It is sure to be sold out within a few days, and as the June number is now on our presses it will be impossible for us to print any more copies.

PENROSE ATTACKS HIS OWN COUNTRY

And Expresses Sympathy for Huerta—He Calls the Mexicans a Naked and Helpless People.

Washington, April 21.—The action of the American government in the Mexican situation has been such as to invite the contempt of the civilized world for the state department and the executive office, according to a statement of Senator Penrose on the floor of the senate, when that body convened today.

Democratic senators clamored to defend the president and the administration's course, Senator Reed characterizing Senator Penrose's statement as cheap demagogy, and Senator Shafroth as something of which he should be ashamed.

Senator Penrose's statement arose out of Senator Reed's criticism of the "recreation" of the officers of the old war veterans in Colorado to enlist for service in Mexico.

"If unexcited cheap political capital to be made out of this wicked and unnecessary warfare on a defenseless people," said Senator Penrose.

"For months American citizens were murdered in Mexico and their property despoiled without the least attention being paid to it by this government. I doubt whether there has been such a contemptuous indifference manifest toward the interests of its own citizens in the history of the world.

"And now with the guns of fifteen battleships trained on a defenseless city, shooting at a naked and helpless people, we have the senator from Missouri appearing before the senate with this show of mock heroism."

"The patriotism of the volunteers from Colorado would stand a better test than that of the senator from Pennsylvania," retorted Senator Reed.

Senator Shafroth declared Senator Penrose should be ashamed of the inconsistency of voting for the resolution justifying the president's course and then within ten hours criticising the president's action.

The senate adjourned at 1:35 until noon tomorrow.

BLOODY WORK BEING DONE IN COLORADO LABOR WAR

Many Men and Women Killed Wednesday in the Battles Between Troops and the Strikers.

ALL COLORADO TROOPS ORDERED TO THE SCENE

Reported That the Strikers Sealed Up Mine in Which Several Persons Had Taken Refuge and Then Applied the Torch.

Denver, Colo., April 22.—Every branch of service in the Colorado national guard tonight at 10:30 o'clock was ordered to entrain for Trinidad at once. Lieutenant Governor Stephen R. Fitzgarrald issued a call for a special session of the state legislature to finance the maintenance of the militia in the strike zone, to meet in Denver on or before May 4.

Trinidad, Colo., April 22.—Six mine employees dead and two missing; three men, two women and a baby reported to be entombed in a burning mine; several mining camps destroyed and others riddled with bullets; less than two hundred militiamen and some company guards confronting an army of striking coal miners estimated by strike leaders at more than four hundred—this was the situation when the sun set on the third red day in the southern Colorado labor war.

The List of Dead.

The list of dead on the side of the coal operators as the result of the day's fighting, as near as could be estimated, was:

William Waddell, superintendent of the Empire mine of the Southwestern Fuel company.

John Church, engineer of the Empire mine.

Unidentified miner killed at Empire.

David Popovan, carpenter at the Delagua mine of the Victor-American Fuel company.

Fred Dougherty, guard at Delagua, found dead in the hills late today.

Felix Gonzales and Joe Chavez, guards at Delagua, still are missing, and were supposed to be dead somewhere in the hills above Hastings canon.

A persistent but unconfirmed report had it that J. W. Hipis, manager of the Empire and Southwestern mines of the Southwestern Fuel company, with two women, a baby and two men, had been sealed in the Empire mine, which then had been set on fire by strikers.

One Striker Killed.

Strike leaders tonight asserted that only one of their fighting men had been killed during the day's battle and that two had been reported wounded. According to reports received by the military authorities the fighting at Aguilar, which followed that at Delagua, was participated in by the same body of strikers.

The firing at Delagua began soon after daybreak, with a clash between fifteen guards and a large body of miners. This fight occurred in the hills a mile or two from the camp, where the guards are declared to have gone to meet the approaching strikers. There was hot fighting at close range for a few minutes and then the guards retreated toward the camp, the pursuing strikers at their heels. The strikers reached the crest of the canon directly above the camp, then rushed for the mine buildings.

Dynamite Was Used.

Mine company reports declared that in this rush dynamite was exploded by the attacking party.

A party of militiamen, hastily sent from Ludlow in steel cars, reinforced the guards and after heavy fighting the strikers were driven back.

Shortly afterward a party of strikers appeared in the Aguilar district, separated from the Hastings-Delagua canon by a high range of hills. The assailants of Delagua in the meantime had vanished in the direction of Aguilar. The attacks on the Aguilar mines followed.

Trinidad was a scene of tense excitement tonight. The saloons should be closed by order of the city council but throngs of men still congregated on the streets. Labor headquarters were jammed with strikers, mostly aliens, and the crowd overflowed the sidewalks.

Many women and children from the Ludlow tent colony were in Trinidad cared for by union sympathizers.

Throughout the day steady streams of strikers passed in and out of the morgue where lay the bodies of several victims of the Ludlow battle.

The bodies of eleven children, two women and one man were found late today in and about the ruins of the Ludlow tent colony by a searching party sent out from here by the American Red Cross society. The bodies are being brought to Trinidad.

Blot of Civil War.

Washington, April 22.—Labor troubles in the coal fields of southern Colorado and the clash between strikers and militia at Ludlow, Colo., today, called forth comment in both senate and house.

"I fear," said Senator Thomas, "that the keen desire of young Americans to go to war before many months will find satisfaction, and unless society finds some way of putting down the troubles between capital and labor, Mexico will not be the only country torn by internal warfare."

In the house, Chairman Foster, of the house committee, which investigated the Colorado coal strike, told of conditions in the strike zone. Representative Seldomridge, of Colorado, said that conditions were intolerable. He charged that because of financial conditions of the state, Governor Ammons was unable to put the militia in the field, "until he consults the bankers and clearing houses to get funds."

WILSON ASKS $500,000 TO ASSIST AMERICANS

Washington, April 22.—President Wilson today sent to congress a message asking for an immediate appropriation of $500,000 to be used to bring Americans now in Mexico back to their homes in the United States. The message was referred to the appropriations committee.

The message follows:

"In view of the exigency created by the existing situation in the republic of Mexico, I recommend the immediate passage by the congress of an act appropriating $500,000 or so much thereof as may be necessary, to be placed at the disposal of the president, for the purpose of providing means to bring to their homes in the United States American citizens now in Mexico.

Later the house voted the $500,000 without debate.

TERRIBLY SORRY, DECLARES WILSON

Washington, April 22.—"I'm sorry, terribly sorry," declared President Wilson today when news of the fighting at Vera Cruz reached him. He had hoped that the city might be occupied by American marines without loss of life.

His Hand Forced.

As the president came to his office his head was bowed and his face was a study in deep feeling. He has determined, however, there shall be no backward step. He is trying to avert war and prevent further bloodshed, but he realizes that the American people want to see the dignity of their flag upheld.

Passage of the resolution in congress has given the president the feeling that he is justified in proceeding with aggressive steps, but he wants to have the full effect of the seizure of Vera Cruz impressed upon Huerta in the hope that he may be brought to terms without plunging further into armed conflict.

To Parents of the Killed.

Letters expressing the profound sorrow of President Wilson and Secretary Daniels at the death of the four sailors and marines at Vera Cruz yesterday were dispatched today by the secretary of the navy to the parents of the men. Mr. Daniels wrote to each:

"This morning's dispatches from Vera Cruz, conveying the distressing news that your son was in the first line to give his life for his country, saddens all America as the tragedy brings gloom into your home.

"My feeling and the feeling of the president to you in this sad hour was expressed by President Lincoln when, on November 21, 1864, he wrote to Mrs. Bixby, of Boston, whose five sons gave their lives fighting under the American flag:

"I feel how weak and fruitless must be any words of mine which should attempt to beguile you from a loss so overwhelming. But I cannot refrain from tendering to you the consolation that may be found in the thanks of the republic they died to save. I pray that our Heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost and the solemn pride that anger be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of freedom."

STOP SWEETS IF KIDNEYS WORRY YOU

Take a spoonful after meals. Drink plenty of water. Better drop the use of sugar and sweets. In a day or so your kidneys will act fine and natural. Stuart's Buchu, mixed and compounded with Juniper has been used for years to clean out impurities from the kidneys and bladder, also to neutralize the uric acids in the blood and thus so it no longer irritates, thus ending all kidney and bladder weakness and curing Diabetes. Stuart's Buchu and Juniper is a fine kidney and bladder regulator and has helped thousands of sufferers when most everything medicine failed to help or cure.—(adv.)

HUERTA SCHEMED FOR INTERVENTION

Washington, April 22.—That General Huerta deliberately planned the arrest of American blue jackets at Tampico and other offenses against the United States with a view to bringing on armed intervention and uniting all the Mexican factions behind him was the substance of a letter received by a high government official today from an authoritative source in Mexico City.

Fleet at American Harbors.

Galveston, Texas, April 22.—American sailors were fired upon by a Mexican gunboat at Tampico on two or three different occasions and once German and English sailors were fired upon, according to Chief Engineer Murray, of the steamer Herbert G. Wylie, which arrived here today from Tampico.

Murray said he had seen the Mexican gunboat Vera Cruz take "pot shots" at outliers flying the United States flag. He said on one occasion outliers from an American, a German and one from German and English boats went ashore without their flags flying, their occupants landing and starting afoot toward the village of Dona Cacelia. The Vera Cruz dropped a shell near them. Occupants of all three boats then hurried back to the water front, where they hoisted their flags in their respective boats and there was no more firing.

When the revolutionists attacked Tampico a few days ago the Wylie was lying in the river in the firing line between rebel and federal guns, with steam out. She cut loose, drifting out of danger. One of her lifeboats shows the marks of bullets. Drifting downstream, the Wylie passed several barges upon which women and children had taken refuge. The Wylie's crew took the refugees aboard.

MARSHALL DEFENDS COURSE OF WILSON

Jacksonville, Fla., April 22.—Outlining and approving the course of President Wilson in the present crisis with Mexico, Vice President Marshall tonight addressed the Jacksonville Board of Trade.

The attitude of the United States, said he, was one of reprisal, not of war. The vice president likened it to the action of a big man taking the hat of a much smaller individual as a penalty for some offense of the latter.

"When any foreign power, real or de facto, interferes with the flags there should be action," said he and the audience loudly applauded.

"I would spend, if necessary, every American dollar to save a human life, if such was necessary, but I would not spend a single American life for all the American dollars that are invested in Mexico."

Vice President Marshall stopped here en route to Fort Myers, Fla., where he will attend the meeting of the Florida State Press association. He is accompanied by Mrs. Marshall.

"DEATH TO GRINGOS" SHOUT THE MEXICANS

Eagle Pass, Texas, April 22.—Piedras Negras, opposite Eagle Pass, was evacuated by the federal garrison early today after a night of wild excitement. This morning more than two thousand refugees came to the American side of the Rio Grande for protection.

General Guajardo's forces are now camped at Fuentes, three miles south of Piedras Negras, waiting for trains to transport them to Saltillo.

All federal forces have been ordered by General Maas to concentrate at Saltillo to "repel the American invasion." Last night when the people of Piedras Negras learned that American marines had occupied Vera Cruz a dozen recruiting offices were opened and arms issued to volunteer companies as fast as organized. More than 1,500 volunteers, it was said, enlisted during the evening.

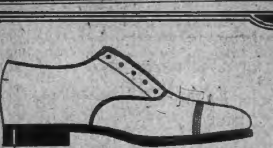

Crowds formed and marched through the streets, shouting "Death to the gringos," until the cry became a chant in every street.

Excitement became intense and then came the announcement that General Guajardo was preparing to evacuate the town. In a few minutes the excitement had died down and the rush for the American side of the river began. The new volunteers who had just been proclaiming their intention of fighting the Americans soon were sending their families to the American side for protection.

Knowledge and Integrity

are two things that must enter into the optical business. Combining these two with high-grade workmanship, careful attention, honest dealings, and the grinding of the greater portion of prescriptions written for glasses by our better oculists, has fully demonstrated the fact that there is something indescribable about the way in which we conduct our business that few opticians have been able to understand. We know when glasses are suited to your eyes, and if you need the service of an oculist we will so advise, but positively will not accept your money without satisfaction from us. MEMBERS OF W. C. T. U. ASKING CLEMENCY FOR JIM CANTRELL

Gainesville, Ga., April 22.—(Special.)—As the time draws near for the execution on Friday of Jim Cantrell, accessory before the fact in the murder of Arthur Hawkins, a prominent planter of Hall county, last spring, petitions are piling up to be carried before Governor Slaton upon his return from south Georgia, asking that a commutation to life sentence be given Jim Cantrell and his younger brother, Barlow Cantrell, who did the killing.

The Woman's Christian Temperance union has taken the matter up and large petitions are being circulated to be carried before Governor Slaton at an early hour Thursday.

Public sentiment throughout the county is for a commutation to life sentence, owing to the fact that Mrs. Hawkins, who was convicted last July as accessory before the fact, is serving a life sentence at the state farm.

Should the governor not commute the sentence of Jim Cantrell, the committee will then ask that a fourth reprieve be granted him that he may be executed at the time fixed by Judge Jones for the execution of the principal in the case, Barlow Cantrell.

ELEVEN MEN TO TRY CHIEF D. C. CAMPBELL ON MURDER CHARGE

Pelham, Ga., April 22.—(Special.)—The trial of the case against Chief of Police D. C. Campbell, charged with murder in the killing of John Harrell, was taken up in Mitchell superior court this morning. Almost the entire day was consumed in securing a jury. About 180 talesmen were summoned before the twelve men to try the case were secured. One of the jurors was taken out of the box for having expressed an opinion and, by agreement, the case will be tried with eleven.

When the work of getting the jury was completed, the taking of testimony began. About sixty witnesses for the state and defense were sworn in. The first witness called was C. C. Wade.

The case is attracting large crowds, and at times every seat in the courthouse was taken and the aisles and windows were filled. Both sides have taken counsel and every point of the case will be stubbornly contested.

CHICAGO BOOSTERS IN ATLANTA FOR DAY

Visitors Do Their Best While Here to Learn Secret of Atlanta Spirit.

Folks in the north, the east and the west, have never been able to figure out just how things are done in Atlanta. "Atlanta Spirit" has been an enigma now westerners have never been able to understand, so in order to fathom the mystery, thirty representatives of the Chicago Chamber of Commerce dropped into Atlanta in a special train Wednesday morning and remained here until midnight.

And when the special was pulling out of the terminal station bound toward Montgomery, Frank Adams Mitchell, acting as spokesman for the party, called out to reporters:

"We've learned the Atlanta spirit, but confound it, we failed to learn the secret of Atlanta's achievement."

Spirits of Atlanta.

But the Windy City boosters were not long in finding out that Atlanta's business men, merchants, bankers and professional men, representing the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, are "the spirits" of Atlanta.

The Chicago delegation is headed by Hubert F. Miller. It is, perhaps, making the most unique journey planned by a commercial organization. The purpose of the trip, as explained by Edward R. Gerke, is to get acquainted with the south.

The itinerary includes Chicago, where the party started from at 10:30 p. m., on Sunday, April 13; Louisville, Lexington, Chattanooga, Knoxville, Asheville, Winston-Salem, Greensboro, Charlotte, Columbia, Charleston, Augusta, Savannah, Jacksonville, Macon, Columbus, Atlanta, Montgomery, Mobile, Birmingham and Nashville.

Montgomery succeeded in cracking the guard in that city. But poor old New Orleans has been overlooked.

Colonel Fred J. Paxon headed the Atlanta forces in corralling the visitors for the chamber of commerce. Colonel Paxon remained every available moment of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, and mustered into service as many automobiles as could be begged, borrowed or commandeered in the wee small hours, while the milkmen and butchers wars were still robbing sleep from their eyes, the Atlantans had dogged the Chicago special and made the passengers prisoners. Colonel Paxon marshaled his forces admirably.

Guests at Luncheon.

At noon the Chicagoans were the guests of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce at the Capital City club. In the absence of President Mell Willingham, Colonel Paxon presided as toastmaster. Toasts were proposed to "Chicago, the Atlanta of the Northwest," and to "Atlanta, the Chicago of the South." And there were other speeches. Colonel Paxon originated the idea of getting an Atlanta man between two Chicagoans and after each secured the Atlanta man moved up and thus every Atlanta man at the luncheon became acquainted with the entire Chicago delegation, and vice versa.

Chicago visitors were at the matinee, at the country clubs, spinning over the county roads, admiring historic spots in and about the city, during the afternoon, and just as the party was about to disband and return to the special, George L. Cox, representing the Advance Motion Picture company, declared that he had found the "Atlanta spirit" and explained that he had it bottled up in his movie camera on 500 feet of film. He would not tell what he found, but promised to show it to the world.

GOVERNOR SPEAKS AT DRAINAGE MEET

Urges Necessity of Reclaiming Waste Land in South. Clark-Williams Drainage Bill Praised.

Savannah, Ga., April 22.—(Special.)—With twenty-two states represented and several hundred people in attendance, the fourth National Drainage congress convened at the Guards' ball this morning. In the absence of a number of national officials who were on the program for addresses, the opening session was cut short.

Governor John M. Slaton made the principal address. He welcomed the visitors on behalf of the state. Governor Slaton asserted that Georgia has a vital interest in the work, now beginning on a swamp in the state alone contains 2,500,000 acres. The state is interested in drainage, he said, because of its economic advantages, and also because of the boon to health which will be brought to many districts now be prevented to a large degree by draining the lowlands and swamps.

Land Needs Are Pressing.

The governor declared that steps must be taken to reclaim all waste land if the south is to continue as the great cotton producing nation of the world.

"The south," he said, "now has a monopoly on the production of this staple. England is growing restive under this monopoly and is seeking to escape from the control of the south. We must be up and doing."

Governor Slaton provoked applause when he announced that he had wired to a New York daily which had telegraphed him to know the condition of the Georgia national guard, that the entire organization stood ready to respond to the call of duty.

Edmund T. Perkins, president of the congress, in his response to Governor Slaton's address, made a strong plea for the passage of the Clark-Williams drainage bill, which is now pending before congress.

"The west got the reclamation act passed by hard work," he declared. "See what it has done in the way of reclaiming arid lands by irrigation. The drainage bill will do for the south what the irrigation bill has done for the west. We must demand its passage. That is the only way to accomplish our purpose."

Watson Sounds Keynote.

The principal feature of tonight's session was an address by Colonel R. J. Watson, commissioner of agriculture of South Carolina and chairman of the committee on federal action of the congress. He spoke on "The Keynote of the Fourth National Drainage Congress." He read a message from President Wilson voicing his deep interest in drainage.

Governor Slaton left tonight for Atlanta. He announced that his race for the senate was progressing satisfactorily, and that he would be satisfied if the election were to be held tomorrow. Commissioner of Agriculture J. D. Price and State Entomologist Lee Worsham are here attending the congress.

FATHER FELLS TREE ON TOP OF HIS SON AND BOY IS KILLED

Pelham, Ga., April 22.—(Special.)—Robert, the 11-year-old son of Eaton Jones, a farmer living near Sale City, fifteen miles east of Pelham, in this county, was instantly killed this evening by a falling tree.

Mr. Jones and his son were working in the field and the father cut a tree down which had caught on fire. When he thought the tree was about ready to fall he sent his son to get out of which they had cut it with them, out of the way, when a sudden gust of wind caused the tree to fall. The boy was caught under the trunk and was terribly mangled. The father is almost prostrated over the fatal accident.

Franking Privilege Abuse.

Washington, April 22.—Correction of the abuse of the congressional franking privilege was proposed in identical bills introduced in the senate and house today by the chairman of the committees on printing. The legislation proposes changes in the printing laws designed to save about $600,000 annually and the restriction of the Congressional Record to a transcript of speeches made in congress only.

LOANS ON REAL ESTATE BY NATIONAL BANKS

Washington, April 22.—Official announcement was made at the treasury department today that national banks, members of the new financial system, legally may make loans secured by real estate, provided such real estate security is improved farm land, unencumbered by a prior lien.

The property must be located in the same federal reserve district as the bank making the loan; the loan must not exceed 50 per cent of the actual value of the property, and for a period not longer than five years. Another provision is that "the total of such loans by any bank must not exceed one-fourth of the capital and surplus of the bank."

Comptroller Williams today sent to each national bank a letter setting out the restrictions under which real estate loans may be made and directing that, in each note secured by farm land, a certificate be attached stating the facts of the transaction by the officers

"That is, I will if it won't make too much bother for you. Isn't this the maid's day out?"

"Yes. But that doesn't matter. No trouble at all. To start with, I'll give you

"Fine!

"I'll make it as a bisque, or with noodles in it if you'd rather. I have them handy."

"Great! Do I get two plates-full?"

"All you want. Doesn't that beat dining down town?"

"Has it skinned a mile! The very thought of that soup makes me hungry now."

"I knew it would fetch you. Ready at six, sharp. Good-bye!"

Face to Face Courtesy

GOOD telephone service depends largely upon mutual courtesy. The telephone is more useful to those who talk as if face to face, for civility removes difficulties and facilitates the promptest possible connections.

As in other intercourse, it often happens that two or more people wish to talk with the same person at the same time. Without courtesy confusion is inevitable, and the confusion is greater when the people can not see each other.

The operators must be patient and polite under all circumstances, but they will do better work if they meet patience and politeness on the part of telephone users.

The Bell Telephone service enters intimately into the social and business life of each individual. The best results come through the practice of mutual courtesy.

VERA CRUZ QUIETED BY SHARP SHELLING

inch shells, firing over the heads of the men ashore and showing almost perfect marksmanship.

The general movement from all the positions taken yesterday began in the direction of the main plaza. Marines, under Lieutenant Colonel Wendell C. Neville, moved to the southward along parallel streets toward the center, while marines commanded by Lieutenant Commander Buchanan, of the Florida, and Lieutenant Commander Arthur B. Keating, of the Arkansas, were ordered from their positions east of the center towards the plaza.

The two forces swung forward with a rush for a distance of three blocks.

SHELLS FROM SHIPS CLEARED THE ROOFS.

The machine gun and rifle fire was supplemented by shell fire from the smaller guns of the Prairie and Chester. The ships' guns supported the movement of clearing the roofs to the south and east, occasionally dropping a shell a few hundred yards in advance.

Buchana's men, under direct command of Lieutenant Guy W. O. Castle, moved forward to a position one block directly east of the plaza. Other detachments occupied positions to the north and west. Both marines and bluejackets dragged light field pieces, but there was little work for them.

There was no organized resistance, but from the beginning of the advance a smart fire came from defenders on housetops which invariably drew a merciless fire from the advancing parties. The machine guns sounded their "tap tap" in all quarters, and American sharpshooters, posted at street corners and other points of vantage, picked off at will any man who appeared to them acting suspiciously.

Urged by Rear Admiral Fletcher the city began returning to its normal civil government under its local officials.

The gradual cessation of hostilities was brought about through notes sent by Consul W. W. Canada to the mayor, the jefe politico or chief federal civilian official, the chief of police and other officials, calling upon them for their co-operation.

The chief point from which the Mexicans fired was in the central part of the city. From the Dilligencia hotel the sharpshooters directed a most troublesome fire.

Captain William Rush, commander of the battleship Florida, had received orders not to effect any advance, but to hold the positions he had taken yesterday.

3,000 MARINES IN VERA CRUZ.

Captain Rush had under his orders ashore nearly 3,000 men, while off shore there was awaiting his call as many more as he needed up to 5,000 men.

Rear Admiral Fletcher was determined not to lose more men than absolutely was necessary, and for this reason, in all probability, did not utilize the forces under his command ashore in charges or to advance on the positions held by the snipers.

The Mexican troops belonging to the regular establishment had practically all left the city and the firing was carried out by armed citizens and straggling soldiers and policemen. Among the citizen element offering opposition to the American forces there were many prisoners who had been released by General Gustavo Maas, commander of the federal garrison, before he evacuated the city. Many of these criminals inaugurated their liberty by becoming intoxicated and then forcing a convenient outlet for their enthusiasm by joining the fighters on the housetops.

SHELL HINTS GIVEN MEXICANS.

As a hint of what might be expected later, the American force sent across the southern part of the city a few shells from their 3-inch rifled cannon, and shortly after 7 o'clock this morning these were followed by another series of shells. The principal reason for Rear Admiral Fletcher's hesitation to bombard was that hundreds of non-combatants, including many women and children, who had been unable to get out of the central part of the city, were crowded into the Dilligencia hotel building, from which most of the firing was done by the Mexicans.

Rear Admiral Fletcher's note, sent to the local officials calling on them to co-operate with the American officers in the restoration of order by calling off sharpshooters and by resuming the local government, could not be delivered.

Julio Franco, the Mexican chosen by American Consul Canada to be the bearer of the warning, was unable to communicate with any of the federal officials, and only the mayor, Roberto Diaz, could be located.

Franco, denied admission by Mexican guards stationed at the door, crawled over the roof of an adjoining building into the court of the Diaz residence.

Senor Diaz refused to leave his bedroom, so Consul Canada's messenger shouted the contents of Rear Admiral Fletcher's note to the mayor, and personally appealed to him to yield in order to save the city from bombardment by the American ships, reminding him of the grave risk to the families of Mexicans and others in the city.

WIRES ARE CUT TO MEXICO CITY.

Communication between the port of Vera Cruz and the federal capital has been entirely severed, and E. F. Hundley, superintendent of terminals, has been unable to ascertain what has become of the trains that were on their way yesterday from Mexico City when the landing of American marines and blue jackets took place.

The street fighting system failed early last evening, and the only illumination during the night came from the interior of houses.

The losses of the Mexicans in yesterday's fighting could not be even roughly calculated this morning. Much of the firing by the American marines and blue jackets was at long range, and no attempt was made during the night to approach the center of the city, in which some determined Mexicans still occupied positions. At dawn some bodies could be seen lying about the streets beyond the American lines.

The efforts of Rear Admiral Fletcher late last night to find some one who exercised command over the Mexicans and to suggest that he call off his men in the interest of humanity were unsuccessful. The rear admiral hesitated to shell the city, but the presence of riflemen hidden behind the copings of the flat-roofed buildings, which formed capital shelter for the defending sharpshooters, made the use of artillery almost imperative to prevent sacrificing the lives of more Americans.

HUERTA GENERAL FLEW VERA CRUZ.

General Gustavo Maas, commander of the garrison at Vera Cruz, left the city in a carriage at noon yesterday, half an hour after the first boatload of American marines landed from the warships.

This was stated officially today, and it was also declared that he had not been seen or heard from since that hour.

The commander's family followed him in another carriage.

It is stated that the Mexican troops forming the garrison of Vera Cruz were turned loose as soon as it was seen that the Americans were about to land and were told to act as they saw fit. Very few, if any, of their officers remained with the Mexican soldiers, whose operations were carried on without anyone to direct them. Some of the Mexican troops obtained a considerable supply of intoxicants by looting two stores. As a result many of them were in a condition which made them equally dangerous to natives and foreigners who came within their range.

Colonel Cerrillo was one of the few officers who remained with the Mexican troops. He was the commander of the Nineteenth battalion and was wounded in one arm early in the fighting.

The Mexican troops had one 75-millimeter gun, which they placed in position at the corner of Esteban Morales and Main streets.

PROCLAMATION BY FLETCHER.

Admiral Fletcher's proclamation to the mayor, chief of police and citizens of Vera Cruz read:

"It has become necessary for the naval forces of the United States of America, now at Vera Cruz, to land and assume military control of the customs wharves of Vera Cruz. Your co-operation is requested to preserve order and prevent loss of life.

"It is not the intention of the United States naval forces to interfere with the administration of the civil affairs of Vera Cruz more than is necessary for the purpose of maintaining a condition of law and order to enforce such sanitary conditions as are needed to meet military requirements.

"It is desired that the civil officials of Vera Cruz shall continue in the peaceful pursuits of their occupations.

"Under the conditions full protection will be given to the city by the United States naval forces.

"It is enjoined upon all inhabitants and property owners to prevent firing by individuals from the shelter of their houses upon United States forces or upon anyone else, such firing by irregulars, not members of an organized military force, is contrary to the laws of war; if persisted in, it will call for severe measures."

Sixty Thousand Intelligent Men and Women have Paid $10,800,000 for this Wonderful Book of Facts

WHY?

SIXTY thousand men and women representing all intelligent classes among the rich, well-to-do and people of moderate means have testified to the rare value of the new 11th edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica by buying and paying more than Ten Millions of Dollars for this library.

On one hand you find the leading educator of this half of the world, Dr. Charles W. Eliot, President emeritus of Harvard University, a man who knows the value of books, a man who can appraise the value of a book with the same nicety as your expert financier can appraise the value of a bond. The venerable educator recognized the new Britannica as a book which satisfied him, but also as a book which would be useful to young people. He therefore purchased two sets for his two sets of grandchildren. "I find them altogether admirable," he says, "and my grandchildren, who are at the most inquisitive ages, are of the same opinion." If there had been a more valuable book to give to these young people, Dr. Eliot would certainly have given it preference.

On the other hand, we find a farmer who prizes the Encyclopaedia Britannica as a valuable investment to inform him about the vital facts of scientific farming, and the advance of political thought. Here is a young lawyer to whom the Encyclopaedia Britannica is a necessity in his calling. Here is a newspaper writer to whom the Encyclopaedia Britannica is so important he consciously makes sacrifices in order to own it.

Read What These People Say

If you give a man a set of books like the Encyclopaedia Britannica, he will tactfully say something nice about them. His testimony is tinged with the sense of obligation you have thrust upon him. But if he has put his hand in his pocket and paid for his books with money that he has earned and saved, anything he says may be taken as an honest, unbiased opinion.

The letters printed below are the unsolicited words of men and women who have paid for the privilege of owning the greatest set of books of all the centuries, the collected, proven knowledge of the whole life and achievement of mankind as recorded by recognized authorities.

We ask you to give these few letters a thoughtful reading. We ask you to weigh carefully this question—

What Will Ownership of The Encyclopaedia Britannica Do For You?

No matter what your business or profession may be, somewhere in these 29 volumes of classified knowledge there is a wealth of information that you can put to actual use. If you are seriously interested in forging ahead you will charge up the cost of the Encyclopaedia Britannica as an investment in success.

A Priceless Library

"I am much pleased with this wonderful work, so "unique in mechanical construction and perfection "of printing. It is also so satisfactory in the style, "freshness and completeness of the articles written, "that I can say you have not overstated a single "feature in your advertisements of it in the maga-"zines. To me it is a priceless library."—O. J. King, Grocer, Lincoln, Neb.

Bought for the Children.

"My object in buying the Encyclopaedia was to fur-"nish my children who attend public school with "the best books of reference obtainable and it has "been a great help as well as a pleasure to them to "use it, and with the help they get from it I am "proud to say they are enabled to do good work in "all their studies."—H. P. Tobias, Farmer, Browns-ville, Texas.

Quoted by a Chief Justice

"Possibly it may interest you to know that in an "opinion of this court which I wrote and filed last "week in S. v. Nipper on the question of the right to "flog convicts as a part of the prison discipline, I "made a long quotation from your excellent article "on "Prisons" giving due credit for the same, to the "Britannica.

"We make constant use of your Encyclopaedia and "find it very helpful."—Walter Clarke, Chief Justice State of North Carolina, Supreme Court, Raleigh.

The Most Monumental Work

"Your edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica "(11th edition) I think the most monumental work "I have ever known. The best evidence of my en-"thusiasm is that I have already distributed a dozen "sets in America as presents among editors and my "children, not counting my own sets. I can hardly "conceive a more suitable present to both young "and old. The work is a liberal education. I want "to thank you for the intellectual pleasure I enjoyed "this winter in examining this extraordinary pro-"duction."—Joseph Pulitzer, New York "World."

Commended to Newspaper Men

"The last edition of the Britannica, in its flexible "covers and annotated index, is the accomplishment "of a long cherished desire on my part and its use "will not only lighten my labors, but add to the "dispatch of them and increase their value to my "readers. I commend the book to all newspaper "writers."—Editor, The Evening Times and Cumberland Alleganian, Cumberland, Md.

A Factor in Children's Lives

"The new edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica "is not only more comprehensive and equally au-"thoritative, but more readable. My own children "have begun to use it in connection with their "studies and it promises to become a factor in their "educational life. I regard it as one of the treasures "of my library."—J. W. Magruder, Gen. Sec., Federated Charities, Baltimore, Md.

Better on American Subjects

"It is the best Encyclopaedia, so far as my knowl-"edge goes. I have compared a number of articles "on American subjects with similar articles in (a "well-known American encyclopaedia) and found "the Britannica more satisfactory."—Walter E. Coffin, President, Iowa Loan & Trust Co., Des Moines, Iowa.

Very Good Articles on Textiles

"The books of the old edition were so heavy and "bulky that I found it was really no pleasure in read-"ing them at length, whereas the new ones are given "preference to even current magazines. I subscribe "for all the leading ones and now read only the most "noteworthy articles in them, then again revert to "the new Encyclopaedia.

"I find that the articles on Electricity and Aeronau-"tics and Flax, Linen, Jute and Cotton manufac-"ture, in which latter commodities I am particularly "interested because of my business, are exceptional-"ly good."—W. C. Bowman, Mgr., Linen Thread Co., Chicago, Ill.

Valuable to Banker and Farmer

"I have had occasion to become thoroughly in-"formed of the value of the work. I do not believe "that there is any subject of interest or that affects "human affairs, but what is intelligently treated. "For the information of the farmer, I desire to say "that to my great surprise I found that the theory "of the modern Silo was set forth in this work with "the same completeness that is set forth in govern-"ment publications upon the subject."—James E. Ferguson, Temple State Bank, Temple, Texas.

Valuable Summary of Knowledge of Electricity

"I have made useful reference to the Encyclo-"paedia Britannica in a few instances and have "found the information I was looking for in very "full and satisfactory form. I have taken occasion "to read with some care the article on electricity—"a subject in which I have special interest, and I "was surprised to find the fullness and completeness "of the information contained in it. It is in truth "a resume of all that has been and is known on the "subject of electricity from the coining of the name "electron to the latest and innumerable applications "of that force."—R. S. Taylor, Fort Wayne, Ind.

The Article on Japan

"It gives me genuine pleasure to indorse with un-"reserved praise the 11th edition of the Encyclo-"paedia Britannica. The comprehensive and satis-"fying articles on Japan and Mexico have been "especially gratifying to my family."—Mrs. Scott Hopkins, 1177 Filmore St., Topeka, Kansas.

Excellent Maps

"I find the maps the best I have ever encountered "in English, quite as reliable and much more con-"venient to use than a German atlas."—W. W. Cockins, Jr., Ranchman, Meade, Kansas.

You Can Afford It

No man or woman of even moderate income need say, "I can't afford it." The publishers of the Encyclopaedia Britannica from the very start have considered this book to be for all the people, not for the intellectuals only. And for that reason they have arranged a system of payment that will meet the purses of all people.

You can pay cash and get the new Britannica at the lowest price or you can pay for it in 4, 8 or 12 installments, or and pay the balance in monthly installments of $5.00. Could any offer be more reasonable?

WE GO INTO MEXICO.

Assuming an unavoidable and distasteful task, the armed forces of the United States have invaded Mexico.

That naked fact stands out above the diplomatic verbiage imposed on us by exigency.

The president had no alternative other than to order that the ports of Vera Cruz and Tampico be seized.

Congress had no alternative other than to support the president. The one belittling feature of the situation is the eleventh hour quibble raised by partisanship in house and senate.

It is not as though the Tampico incident, with its insult to the "rights and dignity" of this country stood solitarily as provocation.

Since Madero was done to death more than a year ago the de facto government in the Mexican capital has lost no opportunity to single out the United States for humiliation.

From the outset, Huerta has challenged President Wilson's steady affirmation of our duty to safeguard liberty on this continent.

His negotiations have been an unremitting stream of affront, a succession of desperate and unconscionable plots to involve America with foreign powers that he might hold his own shaking dominion.

At no stage has he given evidence of a sincere desire or ability to co-operate with this country or genuinely to pacify Mexico. Self-preservation was the motive power back of the closing of the Mexican ports.

Had the Tampico affair been ignored, it is impossible to predict to what lengths the insolence of Huerta would have gone.

We would have lost the respect of the great nations of the world.

We would have lost the respect of the Mexican constitutionalists, even now none too strong or obvious.

We would, in effect, have weakened before all civilization our historic affirmation of the Monroe doctrine, by which we recognise and enforce the stern obligations entailed by our primacy on this continent.

The Mexicans are themselves to be the arbiters of how far the invasion shall go.

The United States acts in absolute good faith when it disavows any designs on the territorial integrity of Mexico. Our costly adventures in imperialism with the Philippines and Cuba still stand as warning reminders.

If the constitutionalists on the north shall accept this implied pledge and permit the United States to restrict its operations to the field dominated by Huerta, all will be well.

Huerta will not, then, long complicate the situation. The constitutionalists will be given the opportunity to prove their capacity for self-government and the sincerity of their protestations of patriotism.

Every peace-loving American will hope the constitutionalists guide their course by this reasoning. If they do there is no reason why within a very few months our flag should not be withdrawn and Mexico left to set her own house in order.

If the reiterated threat of a Mexican coalition against an alien invader materialises, there will be a sad and tedious work below the Rio Grande. The United States will be coerced into a course for which it is certain no Americans save a few capitalist-adventurers have any relish.

There is no reason for exultation in the premises. The forces of a powerful, a modern and a cohesive nation are opposing the forces of a disjointed, anarchical and medieval people. The contest is too unequal to be otherwise than pitiful, however much our policy is one from which we cannot flinch.

Let us all hope that the business of wholesale slaughter is not to be re-enacted on this continent. Let us hope that, having nothing tangible to gain in Mexico, the Mexicans will so deport themselves as to permit us speedily to depart.

And let us congratulate ourselves upon an administration strong enough and brave enough to recognize the underlying facts, and to exercise the highest type of constructive restraint.

Self-respect, the "noblesse oblige" of international politics, drive us into Mexico. May our stay there be as short and as devoid of tragedy as comports with the cause of humanity and the dignity of the nation.

EMPLOYERS OF SOLDIERS.

It is not improbable that before we get through with the Mexican fracas the national guard will be called to the colors.

Already congress has taken steps looking to the formal mustering of the national guard into service.

Atlanta supports an entire regiment of volunteer soldiers.

The state maintains collectively several regiments.

Practically each one of the men comprising this reserve fighting force is employed in civilian occupation.

Many of them are employed at high salaries.

A definite percentage are married and have families.

If these men are summoned to action, and taken away from work, if only for a month's service at border patrol, their regular employment will be more or less in jeopardy.

Business must, of course, go on, despite war and disaster.

But it is to be regretted that what is essentially an impulse of pure patriotism on part of some of the best blood of the state should be penalized by the threat of unemployment, or lapse in employment.

If business men of Georgia and other states will co-operate, there ought to be some method whereby the young men who go to the front will do so with an easy mind and conscience.

All this sounds a trifle premature.

But if events begin to thicken in the next few days it is almost a certainty that the national guard will be brought into action.

It is just as well, in view of this contingency, that the business men, the employers, of Atlanta and of Georgia begin to consider the phase The Constitution has outlined.

The glory of war and the exaltation of patriotism should not be dimmed by misgiving as to the manner in which dependent ones are to be supported.

THE DRAINAGE CONGRESS.

The National Drainage congress at Savannah follows quickly on the heels of the Georgia Drainage congress at Brunswick.

Both of these bodies have it in their power to accomplish much for Georgia and much for the nation. Their purposes and plans dovetail in all essentials.

It is estimated that in Georgia there is a submerged area aggregating 2,700,000 acres. If that region were reclaimed it could probably support a population half as large as the present population of the state of Georgia.

An incentive to the work of reclamation is the fact that redeemed swamp land is abnormally fertile from the vegetable and mineral accumulations of the centuries.

If The Constitution were asked to make a relative estimate of the importance of swamp land reclamation and the improvement of waterways, the task would be a difficult one.

It is certain that the navigation of rivers, upon a commercial scale, will never in this country reach the importance of former days. It will always be necessary to depend to a certain extent upon streams for navigation, and more especially for the effect of river traffic upon railroad freight rates. But the railroad has come to supplant the river as the larger factor in the equation of transportation.

With swamp reclamation it is a question of reclaiming to practical purposes land sadly needed in the agricultural and economic schemes of the country. Already the acreage possibilities of this country are beginning to reach toward a maximum. The population is increasing, and with it an increase in demand upon the soil. Restoring to agriculture a large area now worse than useless will have a salutary effect upon every industry in the nation.

With this inspiration in view, both the state and national drainage congresses should be able to do effective proselytising with the federal congress in the matter of securing appropriations. Already the federal government has offered to give Georgia two for one in the direction of appropriations for swamp surveys, these latter being preliminary to actual reclamation.

If the whole reclamation project is broadened to national proportions we shall be opening up a source of vast enrichment to the United States without regard to section or party.

Patriotism still lives. The disappointed officeseekers are beginning to enlist.

The Ananias fishermen are not in it any more; the war correspondent is on the job.

Huerta's henchmen won't have to hold him to keep him from going to the front.

The Veteran.

I.

He sees the boys a-marchin' by as in the days of old
When war-fires reddened all the sky and battle-thunders rolled,
And he half-forgets Time's laid him forever on the shelf;
He waves his crutch and calls to them: "I want a gun myself!"

II.

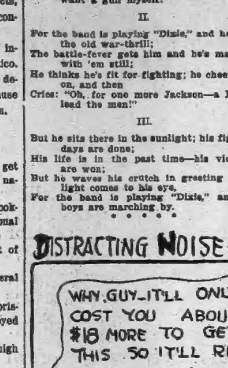

For the band is playing "Dixie," and he feels the old war-thrill;
The battle-fever gets him and he's marchin' with 'em still;
He thinks he's fit for fighting; he cheers 'em on, and then
Cries: "Oh, for one more Jackson—a Lee to lead the men!"

III.

But he sits there in the sunlight; his fighting days are done;
His life is in the past time—his victories are won;
But he waves his crutch in greeting and a light comes to his eye,
For the band is playing "Dixie," and the boys are marching by.

DISTRACTING NOISES.

"Let the Lamps Be White."

The Hack City Woman, who found poetry in the singing wheels of his speeding engine, wrote these beautiful verses not long before he "crossed over:"

"Off, when I feel my engine swerve,
As for strange veils we fare,
I strain my eyes around the curve
For what awaits me there.
When swift and free she carries me
Through yards unknown at night,
I look along the line to see
That all the lamps are white.

"The blue light marks the crippled car,
The green light signals slow;
The red light is a danger light,
The white light: 'Let her go.'
Again the open fields we roam,
And when the night is fair
I look up in the starry dome
And wonder what is there.

"For who can speak of those who dwell
Behind the curving sky?
No man has ever lived to tell
Just for sure what is to die.
Swift toward life's terminal I trend,
The run seems short tonight;
God only knows what's at the end—
I hope the lamps are white."

Perverts of the Highway.

Some folks are climb high think that every time a star twinkles it's nodding in recognition of their rise.

Satan isn't so different after all. He couldn't stand prosperity, and that's why he's where he is now.

There are people who spend more time worrying about the future hereafter than they devote to the duty of keeping up the fire in the world they're in.

The man who never gets anywhere is always waiting for a hurricane to blow dollar bills in his way, and for an earthquake to uncover a gold mine.

Some folks are delightin'
To git in the fightin',
But I'm better here
Where I'm doin' this writin',
For the river's just right
An' the fish are a-bitin',
An' the birds are breast-deep in the blossoms.

II.

Of course, of they need me,
To war they can lead me;
I'm willin' to let
The great government feed me;
But the fightin' I'll leave
That the fishin'-lines need me,
An' I'm here in a bright world of blossoms!

Getting Even.

Stories about the late George Alfred Townsend—"Gath"—the veteran newspaper correspondent and journalist who died last week, are going the rounds. Here is one:

"A statesman whom Mr. Townsend had scored was asked: 'Who is 'Gath?' 'He is George Alfred Townsend,' was the reply, 'and the name is made up as follows: G for George, A for Alfred, T for Townsend—and the H is the initial letter of the place he will go when he dies.'"

The Retired Usher.

Now is the time to envy the railroad station usher. The St. Louis Globe-Democrat says of one of them:

"John M. Green, head usher at the St. Louis union station, has saved $10,000 which he received in tips during the last ten years, he told his fellow-ushers today, when he announced his resignation."

Uncomfortable.

Of an editor on the sick list The Adams Enterprise says:

"They told him all was up with him, but there would be a warm welcome for him in the Hereafter; to which he replied:

"That's what worries me. It looks so warm I feel like crawling into a refrigerator."

Where Poets Fail.

"Trouble 'bout these here poets," said the Georgia farmer, "none of 'em make good field-hands. They won't plow, for fear they'll hurt a wildflower, an' they won't swear at a mule for fear the animals got a soul. But it's my public opinion that they're all afflicted with downright laziness!"

All Along the Line With George Fitch

BAN KACCOUNTS.

A bank account is not a thing of beauty, but it is a very present help in time of trouble.

A bank account is an insulation between misfortune and hunger, between no work and no shoes and between old age and the poorhouse.

Putting money into the bank is one of the least fascinating of occupations. But drawing it out when you haven't any other means of getting it is as pleasant as having it wished on you by a rich uncle.

A bank account is as good as two doctors in time of sickness. Many a doctor has emptied gallons of assorted medicines into a worrying man with little effect and has exclaimed in despair that the man had no constitution. But that was not the trouble. The man had no bank account and the grocer was beginning to take off his politeness when the wife came in to give an order. If the doctor had emptied $100 into the patient's bank account his appetite would have come back in three days. Still we cannot expect doctors to do this when their rate per visit is only $2 and gasoline is going up every day.

A bank account is a bulldog on the front porch in wolf time and in old age it is a rosy sunset. Still a good many men do not like to put money in the bank because the banker will use it and get rich. So they deposit it in the saloon and on a gold-plated restaurant in exchange for dyspepsia and a large, permanent thirst. These men are the real socialists. Because later on when they die, they compel us to divide up and pass a little money over to their wives and children.

VEGETARIANS.

A vegetarian is a person who will not eat his fellow animals. There are several kinds of vegetarians. One very plentiful variety is found in those European countries where the only way in which a peasant and laborer can get a taste of meat is to emigrate to America. Millions of people in these countries are vegetarians not because only on feast days and living between times on whatever they can buy with the money that the government has overlooked.

This country has many vegetarians but they do not go without meat because they cannot afford it. Instead, they march scornfully past meat shops with their pockets bulging with money and buy hamburger steak made out of nuts farther up the street.

It is easy enough to be a vegetarian if you are a European peasant. All you have to do is to eat what you can get. But in America it is a difficult task. The vegetarian has to make lamb chops out of cornmeal and roast beef out of peanuts. He lives on cod, beans, spinach, olive oil, turnips, rutabagas and peanuts and grows so skillful in preparing them that he cannot tell them from the disgusting contents of the flesh pot. But for all that, he lives a hard life. Nothing is sadder than to see a vegetarian trying to make a full meal at a large dinner party on olives, dry bread and ice cream.

The vegetarian does not believe in taking life and if he had his way no animals would be killed for food. When we all become vegetarians a terrible catastrophe will overtake the hog. He will become extinct from starvation because no one will care to stuff him with 80-cent corn for charity's sake. We should not become vegetarians until congress makes an appropriation for the proper maintenance of all pigs until they die of old age.

When vegetarianism is universal we will also have to go without leather. However, those citizens who are fond of wearing shoes need not be alarmed. Thousands of shoes are sold today which many 90 per cent brown paper and glue and they can hardly be told from the real article until it rains.

THE NEW DANCES.

As the indoor season gallops briskly to its close, numbers of new dances are being introduced by the enterprising teachers who have taught all America how to Tango this winter, and must now teach them something else or go out of business.

This has been the greatest year on record for new dances. Scores of them have been copyrighted and in ten thousand parlors eager young scientists are sketching out the ground plans for further improvements in the art of intermingling the feet of the sexes.

The Tango and the Turkey Trot are now so old-fashioned that only the aged indulge in them. One of the most fascinating new dances is the Rude Rabbit. In this dance the couple leap lightly three leaps at a time through one of the neighboring dancers, and then pause to munch lettuce sandwiches.

Another late favorite is the Chimpanzee Trot. In this dance the couple hang from the chandelier by one hand, keeping time to the music with their feet.

Another very popular innovation is the Pyramid Special. In this very fine step the dancers stand perfectly still in the middle of the floor while the other dancers climb over them.

Those who have lost a large percentage of their underpinning have been sadly neglected by the dance composers. A new dance for one-legged people remedies this. It is called the Stork Schottische.

The Railroad Rag is filling the hospitals of our leading cities with wounded. This is a fascinating dance in which the dancers all move in opposite directions and refuse to turn out for each other.

The "Shoulder Skate" is a combination of the Dotty Dip and the Slide for Life. In the "Shoulder Skate" banana peelings are scattered over the floor and the dancers go through the first four counts on the feet and the next eight on their shoulder blades.

Science is so busy with the new dances that it looks at present as if aeroplane building and other trivial pursuits would have to be abandoned until some more favorable time.

SUGGESTION

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

The greatest things you do spring from suggestion. Suggestion is one of the greatest forces in moving humanity in this world. Your ideas are largely suggested ideas. Your Success and Happiness has come to you because of their Suggestion in the experience of Others.

But the most tremendous and important fact of all is that you are concerned in regard to Suggestion is that you are a walking bundle of Suggestions.

Every time you do a worthy thing you Suggest the same thing to some one else. Every time you "go to pieces" you Suggest and make it easier for some one else within your influence to "go to pieces." Many times the mere suggestion of a wrong or a right goes farther in its appeal than the thing acted out.

A man's life Suggests marvelous things even without the words that walk out from his Brain from time to time. In fact, in most instances, it is preferable to speak plainly and squarely though you are found to be misjudged and misunderstood than to remain silent and give the wrong suggested attitude.

Think these things over and seek to make your work and life today a Suggestion of the Possibilities of which you are capable.

DAILY GRIST from the STATE'S POLITICAL GRIND

J. RENDER TERRELL MAY MAKE RACE FOR GOVERNOR'S CHAIR

J. Render Terrell, of Meriwether county, may announce that his hat is in the gubernatorial ring, within the next ten days.

Mr. Terrell is being urged to run by a large number of his friends and he now has the matter under consideration. His friends believe he will decide to make the race and they are confident that he will win.

"He has a legion of friends in Georgia," said S. Holderness, of Carrollton, Ga., who was in Atlanta last night, "and they are all anxious for him to be a candidate. We are confident that he will be elected if he permits the use of his name in this connection, and we believe that he will run."

Mr. Terrell is a brother of the late governor and senator, Joseph Terrell. At present he is the solicitor general of the Coweta circuit. He graduated from Mercer with honors. Mr. Terrell was at one time a state senator, and was president pro tem. of that body.

POLITICS TAKES BACK SEAT; WAR ON TAP AT CAPITOL

Politics—that is to say the gubernatorial race and the three-cornered contest for the United States senate—took a back seat at the state capitol yesterday, while war talk was practically the sole topic of conversation. Everywhere you went you could hear gossip of the far-off struggle, and in every office one heard some interesting yarn of a war-like nature.

For example, up in the railroad commission's office Judge George Hillyer, who is a veteran of the civil war, told some interesting anecdotes of the first war with Mexico. He was a boy of eleven years at the time of that momentous struggle and remembers the various incidents perfectly. One of his uncles was in the celebrated Fannings Rangers, recruited in this state, and from him he has heard many dramatic stories of all the big battles.

Captain Tip Harrison, in Comptroller General Wright's office, a gallant Confederate veteran, was another to whom the war news was of great interest. Right now he'd gladly give up his job and shoulder a rifle if need be in the defense of his country.

But possibly the only man in the capitol who has seen any fighting in recent years is Major A. H. Ulm, executive secretary to Governor Slaton. Major Ulm saw duty with the Twenty-seventh United States volunteers in the Philippines and he knows what modern warfare, of the kind which will be waged in Mexico, really is. He does not expect the war to be as shortlived as many think it will be.

"It all depends on what the United States proposes to do," he said. "If she expects to set up a government, as was done in Cuba, that will mean occupation by an army of fully 200,000 men, and it will be years before this army can be withdrawn in safety."

GOVERNOR MAY HAVE TO MAKE MANY MILITARY APPOINTMENTS

But while war took up a good deal of the conversation Wednesday, it was not without its political aspect. For, be it known, if the struggle in Mexico assumes anything like large proportions and the militia of the state is called on, Governor Slaton will, in a short time, be besieged by applicants from all parts of the state who want military appointments.

Under the present military regulations the regiments of the state will go to the front without any reorganization, which was the case during the Spanish-American war, but there are vacancies in many of the regiments of the state and these vacancies must be filled by appointment of the governor. Should a new unite are formed in the state, all commissions will be in the gift of the governor.

It is the boys remember what a time for governor and senator are of the same political material as the judge who introduced this resolution in the Cobb county committee, then we had better come to south Georgia for our campaign material, for the candidate having announced up to this time.

"At the same time we wish to express our confidence in our chief executive, Governor John M. Slaton."

EVERYTHING IN READINESS FOR PRIMARY IN BALDWIN COUNTY

Milledgeville, Ga., April 22.—(Special.)—The democratic executive committee has arranged all the details for the election of county officers and this will be held on May 1. The registrars are in session this week for the purpose of revising and purging the registration list. The session will last all of this week and the list as prepared will be used in the primary.

Radium Lost and Found.

There was great excitement at the Liverpool Royal infirmary a few days ago. A tube of radium, valued at $5,000, which had been stolen by burglars, came to a patient's face at night, was missing in the morning. The Roentgen ray was used to determine whether or not he had swallowed it. He had not. Perhaps it had been carried away with the infirmary sweepings. The cart had not left the premises. An expert with an electroscope arrived. He placed his instrument on the edge of the cart. The radium made its presence manifest. The cart was emptied of its rubbish, which was put into buckets. One after another of the buckets was examined by the electroscope. The tube of radium was found in the twelfth bucket.

HENDERSON A PROBABLE CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS IN THE ELEVENTH

Cedila, Ga., April 22.—(Special.)—The friends of Senator J. A. J. Henderson, of Irwin county, are confident that he will be a candidate for congress from the eleventh district.

For some time past strong pressure from all parts of the district has been brought to bear upon Mr. Henderson to make the race. He is now looking the situation over carefully and has authorised the statement that if the demand for his candidacy is as strong as it now appears to be that he will probably announce within the next few days.

DART AND BRUCE WILL RUN FOR LEGISLATURE IN GLYNN

Brunswick, Ga., April 22.—(Special.)—Hon. L. R. Akin, at present representative in the legislature from Glynn county, yesterday made formal announcement of his candidacy for the senate from the fourth district, comprising the counties of Glynn, Camden and Charlton, it being Glynn's time, under the rotation system, to furnish the senator.

Mr. Akin is one of the best known members of the house and occupies places on many of the most important committees, among them being the ways and means. He will probably have no opposition.

Glynn county is to have one political contest to decide at the primary next month after all. With the primary only two weeks off, not in a single instance had more than one candidate announced for any office, until Dr. R. C. Bruce made formal announcement of his candidacy for the legislature, while Colonel J. E. Dart several weeks ago announced that he would be in the race.

The people of Glynn county had about decided that the county primary next month would be the quietest in the history of the county, but this one contest will no doubt somewhat liven up the occasion.

NOT A SINGLE COUNTY OFFICER HAS OPPOSITION IN COLUMBIA

Appling, Ga., April 22.—(Special.)—None of the county officers have opposition, and it is generally expected that none will develop.

J. F. Olive is opposing Hon. I. V. Ballard for the legislature. Both candidates live in Harlem, and there is some talk of another candidate entering the race from the upper portion of the county.

The congressional race in this county of the tenth district, is likely to be very warm later on, but up to this time, it is, is lacking in interest. It is claimed that Hon. Joe Reynolds will get Columbia's vote. He served twelve years as solicitor of the Augusta circuit, and is very popular here.

COBB CO. RESOLUTIONS CRITICISED BY THE DEMOCRATS OF STEWART

Lumpkin, Ga., April 22.—(Special.)—Resolutions expressing confidence in Governor Slaton and deprecating the action of the Cobb county democratic committee in passing resolutions which criticised the governor, have been adopted by the Stewart county democratic executive committee. These resolutions read as follows:

"Whereas, the purpose of the democratic executive committee is for the uplift and the promotion of the good of the democratic party, we view with sorrow and contempt the resolutions passed by the Cobb county executive committee in regard to our honorable governor, John M. Slaton.

"If the Georgia democracy chooses for governor and senator are of the same political material as the judge who introduced this resolution in the Cobb county committee, then we had better come to south Georgia for our candidate, for surely we will have just such a time—perhaps a little more so, for patriotism is running riot in the state and there are scores and scores of young men who are worried for fear they will not have an opportunity to spill a small amount of blood for the honor of their country, and who'd like to be heard from—

Well, it's going to be no cinch satisfying everybody. Of that you may be assured.

Governor Slaton was in Savannah Wednesday, but by the time he returns the chances are applications will begin to come in.

BURWELL AND JUDGE FITE SPEND WEDNESDAY IN ATLANTA

W. H. Burwell, of Sparta, speaker of the house, and frequently spoken of as a candidate for governor, spent Wednesday at the Kimball house. Judge A. W. Fite, of Carterville, who also has been mentioned as a gubernatorial possibility, was in the city.

Mr. Burwell consulted with several friends during the day and from the general drift of talk in the hotel lobbies it would not be surprising if his announcement was an event of the next few days.

HARDWICK OPENS CAMPAIGN IN AUGUSTA NEXT FRIDAY

Augusta, Ga., April 22.—Congressman Thomas W. Hardwick will speak in this city Friday evening. This will be the opening speech of Mr. Hardwick's campaign for the United States senate. He is exceedingly popular in Richmond county, which he has always carried in his races for congress from the tenth district. He numbers his friends here by the thousands and it is a safe prediction that he will carry this county by a large majority in his race for the senate.

Mr. Hardwick is expected to deliver a vigorous speech, in which he will mainly discuss national issues. It is anticipated, however, that he will make pointed comment upon the political records of his opponents. He is a forceful and powerful stump speaker, and his speech will doubtless be widely read.

PLAN TO CELEBRATE BATTLE OF ATLANTA

General Committee Discusses Plans at Meeting Held at Capital City Club on Wednesday Evening.

The proposition to hold a semi-centennial peace celebration of the battle of Atlanta on July 22 was enthusiastically taken up last night at a meeting of the general committee for the celebration plans, which was held at the Capital City club.

There was practically a full attendance of the committee, which met at the call of Asa G. Candler.

At this meeting a subcommittee was appointed to arrange all the details of the day's celebration. This committee will meet in a few days at the call of Chairman Asa G. Candler, who is also chairman of this committee, and go thoroughly into these details. The committee will arrange the most magnificent program possible for the day and report back to the general committee.

Prominent Speakers.

The committee will invite a number of prominent speakers of national reputation to make addresses on that day. It is probable that the committee will invite governors and their staffs of the several states which had troops in Atlanta during the battle.

All details of the day are in the hands of this subcommittee, which is as follows:

Asa G. Candler, chairman; Wilmer L. Moore, John E. Murphy, V. H. Kriegshaber, T. W. Waters and Colonel W. Peel. W. H. Lesby, secretary of the industrial and statistical bureau of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, is the secretary of this committee.

Captain Clayton to Help.

Captain R. M. Clayton, who took part in the battle of Atlanta and, who is thoroughly familiar with the field situation of this engagement, will co-operate closely with the committee in its work.

The general committee is as follows:

Governor John M. Slaton, Mell R. Wilkinson, James R. Gray, Clark Howell, Reuben Kent Speed, Forrest Adair, Ivan E. Allen, Frank S. Arkwright, M. Clayton, Walter G. Cooper, John W. Grant, J. R. A. Hobson, S. H. Inman, Victor Kriegshaber, H. A. Mosier, Wilmer L. Moore, John E. Murphy, General Joseph Van Holt Nash, J. R. Orr, F. J. Paxon, W. L. Peel, Marion M. Smith and T. C. Waters.

Dr. Plato Durham Holds Great Audience in Thrall At Big Revival Services

The revival services at St. Paul's Methodist church continue to draw big crowds. The reason the revival services at St. Paul's Methodist church continue to draw big crowds is extremely easy to find. Until day before yesterday it was Bishop John C. Kilgo. Now, Bishop Kilgo having departed to other fields, it is now Dr. Plato T. Durham.

Dr. Plato T. Durham would draw a big crowd anywhere there was a big crowd to draw. There are a great many preachers in this world. Occasionally there is one who can preach. Dr. Durham belongs to the occasional.

You don't have to be a churchgoer to appreciate Dr. Durham's preaching. You don't have to be a Methodist. You don't have to be a Christian. You probably don't even have to believe in God. You only have to possess a pair of ears and a sense of beauty.

Pleases Big Congregation.

Dr. Durham is a young man. He is from Charlotte, N. C. He doesn't look particularly impressive. When he first began talking at the services last night the newcomers in the congregation were doubtless prepared to pardon him a few faults. But they never had the chance. If Dr. Durham has any faults he kept them carefully up his evangelical sleeve.

His text was "... and the Lord Wrestled With David." He drew his conception of God. It was the majestic God of Israel and Christendom, surrounded by cherubim and seraphim. Dr. Durham used his colors reckless-ly. His words were painted. Then he drew his picture of David. He did not dwell on the extent of David's sins. In David he saw the personification of mankind. He gave his audience credit for knowing mankind was sinful. The main fact to Dr. Durham was that David was sinful and that God wrestled with him—and he made it the main fact to his hearers. Having finished this, he relinquished God and David for a moment and began to tell about various men he had known.

He told about a man who came to him and begged for help one moonlight night, when the air was fragrant and the stars covered the sky. He told of another man who came to him on another night, while negroes sang in the darkness. He told of yet another man who had driven the tears from his wife's cheek and of how he had told this man that there was a garden where those rose bloomed again. He told of another man who found in God the power to face his children unashamed. He used simple words and simple gestures. He said nothing about David.

All Men Were Davids.

Gradually his theme became apparent. It unfolded like a cloud. These men were all Davids. The stars in the sky, the songs of the negroes, the sorrow of the woman, the innocence of the child—these were God. It was a sermon, but it was also a gospel of beauty that the young evangelist was expounding. David was mankind. It was the long struggle of mankind with the terrors of life that Dr. Durham was putting before the eyes of the congregation. The eternal, indomitable aspiration in the heart of the generations was God. Dr. Durham did not say so, but the thought was obvious.

"All that I am tonight," he said, "was given me by the long agony of human race. And when I think of it, I say, 'My God, I cannot be less than a man.'"

He used a simple illustration—the ballot. Did the congregation know the ballot was stained with blood?

"Who gave you your faith?" he asked. "Whose blood stains that?"

Christ was the Son of God, or He was suffering humanity. God was the majestic figure surrounded by cherubim and seraphim, or He was the eternal aspiration of the world. And Dr. Durham was an evangelist or a poet.

"On the wonderful white wings of beauty," he finished, "God lifts us. Can't you see it? With stars, with music, with flowers, with our wives, our children, our mothers, with memory, with color, with fragrance and with the blood of Christ, God wrestles with us. He wrestles with us as He wrestled with David."

Wrestling With You Now.

The sermon was finished. Dr. Durham turned to the congregation.

"He is wrestling with you now," said the evangelist. The response was certain. People arose all over the church and a half hour passed before the mourners' bench was vacant.

Dr. Durham will preach again this morning at 11 o'clock. The song and prayer service begins at 10:15. He will also preach tonight at 7:45 and Friday morning. Dr. Goodell, of New York, arrives Friday afternoon and begins his part in the revival services with a children's service at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. He will also preach a sermon to evangelical ministers at 11 o'clock Saturday morning.

Atlanta Women Are Urged To Work Hard This Week

"Work this week!" urges Mrs. Lumpkin, of Atlanta women who are aiding so dignally in the greater hospital movement. "I believe the work of the Atlanta women will prove of the greatest value," said Mrs. Lumpkin yesterday. She has been directing the forces of the federated women since they were asked to co-operate last week, and has been pushing their efforts through the various organizations.

This week is the time for the best effort to be made, I am trying to impress upon everybody," said Mrs. Lumpkin. "Opera week is always one to keep housekeepers busy, whether they actually go or not does not do away with the fact of the company in town, and the many social entertainments incident to opera week; following will be preparations for the Shriner convention, and commencements, which keep women busy, therefore this week should mark a concentrated effort on the part of the women who have the greater hospital movement at heart.

"The same comment has been made by many woman working, which I am told is the comment of the men workers, that if they do not encounter opposition, but a lack of interest—an apathy, while many take it for granted that of course Atlanta will get the hospital—she gets everything!

"I have urged in that the unconfident people be particularly looked after, and those who are indifferent now say, 'Why, I do not take any interest in politics.'

"I can assure you," continued Mrs. Lumpkin, "that women have become quite eloquent in explaining that the exercise of good citizenship does not necessarily mean politics, and I have been impressed with the direct and logical way in which many of them have taken hold of the business side of the bond issue and explained it."

Many women have been interested to visit the hospital and from them come the most stirring arguments in support of the bond issue, which would insure conditions there meeting the demand of humanity.

Reports from the civic ward clubs are most encouraging, and even the smaller organizations, meeting only for social purposes, are sending resolutions indorsing the work and asking how they can help.

By Saturday evening it is estimated that as many as seventy organizations of women will have expressed their favor of the bond issue, and that records of their work will be seen in many directions.

DRESSING ACT FAILS TO PLEASE AUDIENCE

Window Shades Will Now Cut Off Vision of September Morn.

Occupants of the upper floors of certain Whitehall street buildings in the downtown district did not relish long distance visions of a sprightly maiden disrobing in full view of an open window of the Forsyth hotel, at Hunter and Forsyth streets.

So they called in the police. Patrolmen investigated and found that it had almost become a custom for a woman —who looked good at a distance—to frame herself in a window of the second floor of the Forsyth and go through the pantomime of garbing herself from lingerie to nose powder.

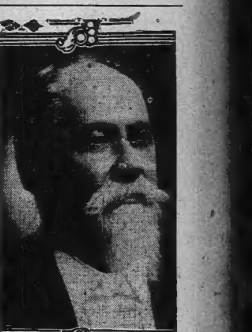

An end of the visions was requested late Wednesday afternoon when policemen suggested window shades to the Forsyth management instead of shady visions.

BUSINESS COLLEGE MAKES BIG HIT

Cost Accounting Added to Its Practical Course of Study

The Southern Shorthand and Business University of this city, already the most popular business college in the South, has just added to its practical course of instruction "Cost Accounting," and in doing so this well and favorably known institution has made a great hit with the business world.

Heretofore the producer, manufacturer, wholesaler and retailer have had little knowledge how to arrive at the cost of the various commodities,

A. C. BRISCOE,
Pres. S. S. & B. University.

but now this most essential feature will be supplied. The students of the "Southern" will be taught Cost Accounting in conjunction with their other work, thereby making their services more valuable, by far, than without such knowledge.

There is a spring boom now on at the Southern Business College such as is seldom seen at any business school just at this time of the year. New students are arriving from various sections of the country, while the enrollment of city patrons continues unabated. Students have just entered from Texas, Florida, South Carolina and Georgia.

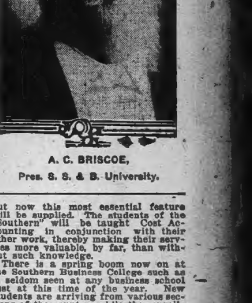

The demand from business firms for bookkeepers and stenographers upon the Southern also continues great and is increasing, the rapid growth of Atlanta, of course, being the principal cause for such a heavy demand for office help.

Those desiring positions and needing preparation are requested to call upon the bankers, business and professional men for advice as to the proper and best place at which to be trained. In this plan of investigation is followed the prospective pupil will enter the "Southern."

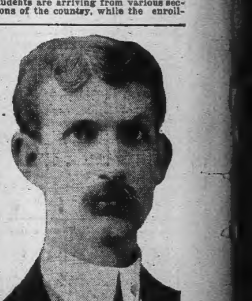

The patronage of the Southern is three times as large as that of other schools, but its faculty is also three times as large.

Burns' Negro Detective Arrested Then Released, And This Is Reason Why

Now, the question naturally arises: Should a detective be forced to explain his presence anywhere when demanded by a policeman?

And this is what it arises from:

John Smyles, a negro detective in the employ of the William J. Burns agency, was seen on the first floor of the Healey building last night, and accosted by W. J. Head, night superintendent of the Healey building. Head demanded that the negro explain cause for being in the building.

The detective, it is stated, did not care to give an explanation. At any rate, he failed to tell why he was in the building. Police headquarters was notified and Policemen Jim Palmour and Leo Deans sent to the Healey building.

Smyles, on the appearance of the policemen, said that he was a Burns detective. He was sent to headquarters and advised to prove his connection with the Burns service.

He was locked in a cell on suspicion. Within thirty minutes, however, a representative from the Burns agency came to headquarters, established the negro's identity and freed him.

REVILER OF OLD GLORY ATTACKED BY A SAILOR

New York, April 22.—An open-air meeting in Park Row, opposite the city hall, today broke up in a riot when William Fitzpatrick, a former United States sailor, attacked a speaker who shouted "the American flag is not fit to defend."

Police reserves had to use their clubs before the crowd could be dispersed. Police say the meeting was held under the auspices of the Industrial Workers of the World.

Two speakers were arrested—Sam Hartman and Becky Edelson. Hartman, aged 25, denied before a magistrate tonight that he had abused the flag.

Charged with disorderly conduct and using abusive language, Hartman and Miss Edelson were held in custody of their counsel for a hearing tomorrow.

"KATY" DIRECTORS TO PASS DIVIDEND

New York, April 22.—Directors of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway today decided to pass the 2 per cent semi-annual dividend on the preferred stock.

It was the opinion of the directors that on account of the adverse effect upon earnings caused by the extensive drouth in the southwest of last July and August and the Texas floods of November and December, it would not be prudent at this time to declare the dividend. This had seriously interrupted traffic and greatly increased the cost of operation.

Missouri, Kansas and Texas preferred had paid 4 per cent annually since 1906. Today it dropped to 2½, the lowest since 1904.

CONLEY IS GUILTY, ASSERTS W. J. BURNS

Detective Files Preliminary Report on Investigation.

Dorsey Prepares Answer to Extraordinary Motion.

Solicitor Dorsey shut himself in his office in the Kiser building Wednesday, locked the door and requested that he be not even called over the telephone, and worked two shifts of stenographers for twelve hours preparing the answer of the prosecution to the motion for a new trial to be made by Leo Frank's counsel this morning.

On the heels of the postponement of the argument for the extraordinary motion, which was made at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, Detective William J. Burns made an advance statement to the attorneys for Leo Frank that he would name Jim Conley as the guilty man in his report, and that he would submit evidence to corroborate his accusation.

The argument was postponed until this morning when the attorneys for both sides gathered before Judge Ben Hill yesterday. Only the extraordinary motion on ground of new evidence will be argued today. The motion of Attorney John L. Tye to upset the verdict of guilty on constitutional grounds was continued until May 1.

Detective Burns announced Wednesday that the reward he offered two weeks ago to persons producing evidence of perversion against Leo Frank had been raised from $1,000 to $5,000. Thus far, he states, he has not been able to find evidence of perversion against anyone except the negro Conley.

The following is the letter revealing the theme of the proposed Burns report, which the detective forwarded to Frank's attorneys Wednesday morning:

April 22, 1914.—Messrs. L. Z. Rosser, Reuben R. Arnold, Henry A. Alexander, Herbert J. Haas, Leonard Haas, Attorneys for Leo M. Frank, Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sirs: I hoped to be able to furnish you today with my complete report showing the results of my investigation of the murder of Mary Phagan.

Investigation Complete.

My investigation is about complete, with the exception of a few details which I have not yet been able to cover. In addition to these, I had also expected to secure today from Chief of Detectives Lanford, according to a promise he had made while I was out of the city, certain affidavits bearing on the case, which were extremely important, in view of the fact that I had offered a reward of $1,000 to any person furnishing evidence of Leo M. Frank's immorality, and the only response thereto was from Chief Lanford, who had stated, through the public press, that he would turn certain affidavits over to me upon my return to the city which would prove this.

I called on Chief Lanford today and requested to see the affidavits he had, but he declined to let me see them, and made the astounding assertion that the charge of perversion did not enter into the case and had simply been injected by the attorneys for Frank.

This being, as stated, the only response made by any person to my offer of reward for evidence of Leo M. Frank's immorality, I am, of course, very anxious to see these affidavits, and until I do see them it will be impossible for me to render my final report.

I must, therefore, ask your indulgence in the matter until I can get free and complete access to all evidence bearing upon the case.

Increase Reward.

It is my intention today to immediately increase the offer of reward for such information as I have previously mentioned to the amount of $5,000.

I am now engaged in drawing up my formal report, which will be submitted to you as soon as the same has been finally completed. I desire, however, to anticipate the same in these respects:

1. The murder was unquestionably the crime of a pervert of homicidal tendencies of the most pronounced type.

2. That Leo M. Frank is not a pervert, and is innocent of the murder for which he has been convicted.

3. That James Conley—and he alone—is guilty of the murder of Mary Phagan, and further, he is a pervert of the type heretofore described.

All of which I am prepared to prove.

WILLIAM J. BURNS.

NO CABINET MEMBER THINKS OF RESIGNING

Washington, April 22.—The white house today requested the publication of this statement:

"Secretary Tumulty denied emphatically today as wholly unfounded reports that any member of the cabinet contemplated resigning. He said that this subject had not been considered by the president, or by any member of the cabinet, and had never been discussed."

The statement was issued in connection with a report that Secretary Bryan was about to resign.

The afternoon meeting was taken up with the reports of the grand treasurer and various committees. An interesting feature of the convention was the exemplification last night of the ritualistic work by the Wymandauis club, which is composed of members selected from Electa, Atlanta, North Atlanta and East Point chapters. This was followed by the obligation ceremony, and floral work by Capital City chapter, U. D.

The convention will open this morning at 9:30 o'clock and hear reports from committees and discuss general business of the lodge. This afternoon, Mrs. Rata A. Mills, worthy grand matron, will address the delegates. The installation of officers will take place this evening, after which the convention closes.

ROYER NOW MANAGER OF PIEDMONT HOTEL

Atlanta Needs Street Signs and Revision of House Numbering System, He Says.

H. W. Dutton, who recently resigned the managership of the Piedmont hotel to take the management of the Hotel Stratler, in Buffalo, N. Y., where, incidentally, his friends will be glad to know he is meeting with marked success, has been succeeded by William C. Royer, as manager of the Piedmont.

Mr. Royer has taken up the active duties of his office within the last week. He is a popular and experienced hotel man, and, withal, no stranger in Atlanta. For four years he was connected during the winter months with the management of the New Kimball house.

That, however, was fourteen years ago. Since that time Mr. Royer has been connected with leading hotels in Charleston, Washington and Montgomery.

"I find many changes for the better in Atlanta since my last residence here," said Mr. Royer to some of his old friends Wednesday afternoon, "and I am more than delighted with the progress the city has made.

"The city has grown so that I can hardly find my way about town. And that, by the way, brings me to a point of criticism. If there is any one thing that Atlanta needs, according to my observation, it is street signs and a revision of the house numbering system, so that a stranger within our gates may be able to know where he is going and when he gets there. It seems to me that this improvement would be a fine achievement and a great help for the city before the Shriners arrive. With the street signs and house numbering systems in their present dilapidated condition, those 40,000 men are going to have a very hard time finding their way about town, and, mayhap, may leave with somewhat of a bad taste in their mouths on that score."

Society Women Asked To Help Tutor Children Behind in Their Studies

The Associated Charities has sent a call to society for charitably inclined women who wish to assist in tutoring young school children who are failing short in their studies.

Volunteer workers are wanted to devote an hour or so two or three days each week instructing the children of the various public schools who need additional tutorage in order to make required examinations at the close of the season.

Last year numbers of young women responded to the call, and this year the number is expected to be greater. The Associated Charities will be pleased to receive applications, in person, over the telephone or through the mail.

FAMOUS "BELL HOUSE" NOW A CORPORATION

The Bell house, the boarding house of some of Atlanta's best known men, which was operated for years by Mrs. Lula Bell, who died recently, was incorporated yesterday by Judge George L. Bell. The object of the corporation, as stated in its charter, will be to provide a private boarding place for the members of the Bell house.

THURSDAY WILL BE MODEL SPRING DAY, SAYS FORECASTER

A fine generally clear day is indicated for Atlanta on Thursday. The early morning temperature, says the forecaster, will be about 65 degrees and the midday temperature will run up nearly to 80 degrees. Light southerly winds will prevail. The general cloudiness west of the Mississippi and the widespread rains in Texas indicate a change in the weather near the end of the week.

AUTO OWNERS TO HOLD SMOKER FRIDAY NIGHT

The called meeting for Friday night of all the automobile owners in Atlanta, which was originally planned as a dinner, will be held as a smoker instead at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening at the M. & M. club. The meeting has been called by the Automobile Club of Georgia. The principal speakers invited for the evening are W. T. Winn, of the Fulton county board of commissioners and president of the convention of county road commissioners, and Shelby Smith, of the county commissioners.

DR. MARX WILL PREACH AT UNITARIAN CHURCH

The Rev. J. Wade Conkling, minister of the Unitarian church of Atlanta, has just left for Daytona, Fla., for a visit of three or four weeks, with his wife, who has been with her parents for several weeks. During the absence of Dr. Conkling, the services of the church will continue as usual at the Woman's club, with Dr. David Marx occupying the pulpit next Sunday, April 26. Announcements of succeeding Sundays will follow.

MILITIA OF GEORGIA MAY MOBILIZE HERE

Adjutant General Nash Receives Orders From the War Department.

Having already received orders from the headquarters of the first division of the United States army, at Governo's Island, N. Y., directing him to find a site for the mobilization of troops and make the necessary arrangements to have such a site prepared for the purpose of encampment, Adjutant General Nash is awaiting further orders, which may call for having the mobilization site prepared and the actual calling out of the national guard of Georgia.

While there has yet been no call for volunteers or call for the national guard, these preparatory orders are taken as significant, and the members of the national guard of Georgia are anxiously awaiting developments. It is understood that orders similar to those received by Adjutant General Nash have been received by the adjacent generals of other states.

The orders were received by Adjutant General Nash on Wednesday, and read as follows:

"Governor's Island, N. Y.

"Adjutant General—You will immediately find site obtainable for mobilization camp and find party able to furnish labor and material to pipe camp grounds for water. See about fuel. Make no arrangements until further orders. Wire results. (Signed) "SIMPSON."

Adjutant General Nash stated that there will be no trouble in finding available grounds for such an encampment. He mentioned the race track and the grounds of Fort McPherson as readily obtainable.

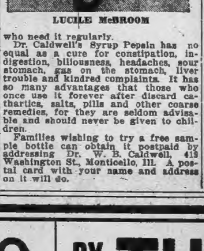

The Mind Expands As Health Returns

Quick Improvement Is Noticeable When Proper Aid to Nutrition Is Given.

A low state of the general health is now the accepted cause of backwardness in children. So in the case of a backward child it is best to look towards building up its health. It will usually be found that the main trouble is in the food, in lack of assimilation and digestion. Hence care should be taken in the kind of food given to the child. This, with plenty of air and exercise, should bring about a change for the better.

Watch the condition of the bowels, to note whether the waste is being passed off or not, or whether it is being passed too freely. If either condition prevails give a small dose of that gentlest of all laxative-tonics, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Thousands of mothers will testify to the wonders it has wrought in the lives of their own children, and for that reason legions of families like those of Mrs. Daisy McBroom, Hillsboro, Ind., are never without it in the house. She is the mother of Lucile and has been using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for Lucile since she was two. Mrs. McBroom says it saved Lucile's life. It is the standard family medicine in the McBroom home.

It is pleasant to the taste and so perfectly safe that it is given to infants, and yet is equally effective for grown people. All druggists sell it and the price is only fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, the latter for families who need it regularly.

LUCILE McBROOM

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has no equal as a cure for constipation, indigestion, biliousness, headaches, sour stomach, gas on the stomach, liver trouble and kindred complaints. It has so many advantages that those who once use it forever after discard cathartics, salts, pills and other coarse remedies, for they are seldom advisable and should never be given to children.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 413 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

Spanish War Veterans May Form a Regiment For War With Mexico

W. S. Thompson, of Columbia, S. C., lieutenant colonel during the Spanish-American war, arrived in Atlanta last night on a tour of this section of the country for the purpose of recruiting veterans of that war to form a regiment to volunteer in the strife with Mexico.

Colonel Thompson declares that he is just from the senate chamber in Washington and that he has received much encouragement from that source.

Senator Tillman, especially, says he offers to back the proposition for appropriations. Colonel Thompson is at present field agent in South Carolina for the New York Life Insurance company.

Your Grandmother's Remedy for Purifying the Blood

And Renovating the System in the Springtime

Ask for Sulpherb Tablets

What was grandmother's unexcelled remedy? Haven't you heard of it? Yes, you have! It was sulphur, cream of tartar and molasses. The main trouble with it was its nauseous taste.

A modern method puts the cream of tartar and sulphur into sugar-coated tablets and mixes them with herbs, roots, etc., making a wonderful tonic blood purifier and system cleanser.

Just try Sulpherb Tablets (not sulphur tablets), but Sulpherb—remember the name—and get the tablets in sealed tubes at 50c per tube.

Grown-up people and children who don't feel well, who are constipated or sluggish, or who have pimples, boils, carbuncles, ulcers and the like, can soon rid the system of these impurities by taking this good old-fashioned remedy in modern form. Their action satisfies or money is refunded by the Prescription Products Company, Dayton, Ohio. A free trial sent to any address. Buy of any well-stocked druggist.

CRACKER CAST-OFF BREAKS UP GAME

Edited By DICK JEMISON

RODEL AND WILLARD TO BOX AT ORPHEUM

Heavyweights to Box Tuesday Night—Winner Meets "Gunboat" Smith Here Later.

The first near championship bout between heavyweights in Atlanta will be staged at the Orpheum theater next Tuesday night, when Jamie Willard, the 250-pound cowboy, and George "Boer" Rodel, the Australian heavyweight, mix. Both of the fighters will arrive in Atlanta within the next twenty-four hours to complete their training grind. The winner of this match has been promised a match with Gunboat Smith, who is considered as being about the best heavyweight in America.

Willard and Rodel have met twice before. The first engagement was a ten-round bout in Milwaukee, and the majority of the papers gave Rodel the decision. A few weeks later a Youngstown club put the two on for twenty rounds, and the end came in the ninth round, when Willard knocked Rodel cold with a right to the jaw.

Both of these two fighters are giants. The cowboy weighs 250 pounds and stands 6 feet 6 inches in his stockings. The Australian champ tips the beam around the 216-pound mark, and stands nearly two inches over 6 feet.

TECH HIGH AND G. M. C. MEET FRIDAY

One of the best prep games that will be played locally will be the affair between Tech high school and the Georgia Military college, which will be staged at Ponce de Leon Friday afternoon at 3:30.

Tech high has about the best team in the league this year, and should very easily win the pennant in this league. They also stand a good chance of winning the state prep championship.

Georgia Military college has about the best team that the school has turned out in recent years, and is a strong contender for the state honors.

Therefore this game should be a humdinger, and a spirited contest is promised those that attend the game. Admission will be 35 cents; ladies admitted free.

Cracker Cast-Off Doubles, Breaking Up a Pitchers' Battle in the Final Round

By W. G. Foster.

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 22.—(Special.)—Pat Graham, former Cracker, went in to bit for Street in the ninth today and out on the first ball pitched doubled over Jennings' head to left center, sending Flick home with the run that beat Atlanta in the most exciting game of the season.

For eight innings, Southpaw Floyd Kroh and Kay Ferryman battled to a draw, but Ferryman opened the ninth round with the fatal base on balls. Graff sacrificed and Graham uncorked the sleep wallop for the winning pitcher. The Atlanta twirled a great game, his speed being terrific.

From the very first crack of McConnell's bat when Coyle booted his opening grounder, the game abounded with thrills. Both teams supported their pitchers with grim determination to prevent runs, taking impossible chances and battling for every inch. Further, each team wasted many precious opportunities on the bases, took reckless chances and went out.

The pitchers were effective with men on bases and many a batter failed when a hit would have sewed up the game.

Long's Homer.

Tommy Long's long drive over the left field fence in the sixth scored Atlanta's only run, and unfortunately for the rCackers' chances of victory, it opened the inning when apparently no one was on base.

In five extra innings the first Cracker at bat reached first, but failed to score and often failed to advance. Two times, Knight and Coyle were turned into force outs at second by fast fielding, and the fourth, Long singled to start, only to have Bibel fly out and himself to go out stealing. Failure to sacrifice was costly here as two bases on balls and Holland's screaming single followed.

Ferryman had one bad inning up to the ninth and sensational fielding saved him more than one run. Coyle pried the inning with a hot one directly over second, but Jennings made a startling one-hand stab of an apparently impossible chanceand converted it into an out. The shortstop made an equally sensational stop in deep short on the next ball hit by Jacobson, but he was unable to retire Knight at first. Jacobson went out stealing.

The local working crew was in one of its hitting moods, however, and would not be denied. McCormick was passed and successive singles by Balenti and Flick scored him. Graff also kicked in with a beauty up to right, but Flanagan's perfect throw to the plate beat Balenti by a thirty count, but he was unable to retire Graff at first. Jacobson went out stealing.

The inning tested the defensive class of the Crackers to the limit, and they responded nobly. There were other star fielding plays by the Crackers all through, Flanagan robbing Coyle on a liner to right, and Holland stabbing a hard line drive from Kroh for a double play.

Chances Wasted.

The Crackers waged many chances. With men on and one down in the second, Kroh threw to first to catch Holland and Flanagan made a fine effort to bring him out easily. In the third, McConnell doubled with one out, but made a reckless attempt to steal third and was out. McCormick kept this drive from being a home run, saved the game for Boston. Twenty-seven players took part in the game.

AT THE THEATERS.

Otis Skinner in "Kismet."

(At the Atlanta.)

Tonight is the last night performance of "Kismet," by Otis Skinner and the wonderful company which is supporting him in this magnificent production. All this week large crowds have packed the house and the public has joined the critics in praising the show to the limit. It is certainly the treat of the entire theatrical year, according to all, and a dramatic event of the greatest importance. More than 100 people appear in the show, which is wonderful in the richness and variety of its scenic investiture and oriental richness.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

"The Green Beetle," headliner of the Forsyth's bill this week, is attracting a great deal of comment. It tells the story of a royal American Chinese curio shop on the east side in New York, how the husband is murdered and the wife made the subject of the Chinaman's of how fifteen years later, her daughter enters the same shop with her fiance to look at curios and the events that occur thereafter make up an intensely interesting number. Miss Ward succeeds in making herself very popular with her songs and conversation. Next week Valerie Bergere will offer "The Bowery Cassille," in which she is assisted by a double company. Chaney and His Models promise to be a big number, coming just from Ostermer's beginning to manifest itself in the opening of the season at Piedmont Lake.

"Seven Days."

(At the Lyric.)

"How can you tell" is the perpetual question propoaded to Miss LaVerne since the advent of her company of players in the Lyric this week, and everyone should be asking" this same question since Miss LaVerne has brought with her a company of fifteen players, every one of them fine, high-crested actors. "Seven Days" at the Lyric this week is the best attraction ever offered to Atlanta at popular prices, either by a stock or traveling company, and that is "going some" there will be no disputing on the stage after the matinee today. The orchestra will play for an hour, rain or shine, be served and there will be a general good time.

Janior Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Grand.)

Six new features of Janior Keith vaudeville open at The Grand today with a matinee performance. While it is true "Noodles Fagan, the Newsboy King," will remain over for the balance of the week due to the hit he has made, he will present a new act in keeping with the balance of the bill. The new acts to appear following Petrie and Elliott, two men in comedy singing and talking number; Murray and Gerrish, singers and dancers; Quigg and Nickerson, comedy musical act, and Montayne's trained cockatoos. Quigg and Nickerson seem to be among the best in their line appearing before the public today. "Queen of the Earth," Grand's feature film for today, is the four-reel feature picture to be offered.

"Damaged Goods."

(At the Atlanta.)

"Damaged Goods," the famous play which Brieux wrote after creating more talk than in New York last year than any production in that city for years, will be offered Friday and Saturday at the Atlanta. A matinee will be given Saturday afternoon. The performance will be by a most excellent company made up of the members of the New York organization for the most part. They have been praised highly by the critics of New Orleans and other cities where, while the play has been commended in the most enthusiastic terms, Seats are now on sale for the engagement.

BLOOMER GIRLS PLAY HERE ON SATURDAY

Friday morning, the star Bloomer Girls' baseball team will arrive in Atlanta and will arrive in Atlanta for a game Saturday afternoon with the Atlanta Federals at Piedmont park.

The Bloomer Girls are now in Eastman, Ga., where they have been playing a series with amateur teams there. This will be the first appearance of the Bloomer Girls locally, and it is hoped the game will draw a large crowd will turn out to witness the first game.

Manager Powell, of the Federals, is here for congressional decision.

The report proposes extending the war department's jurisdiction to all feeders or tributaries of navigable waters and later to other streams, including the Bronx.

Don't worry to talk about yourself. Other people will attend to that.

Moreover, when a man tries to pretend he isn't drunk he is.

RICHMOND ACADEMY ON SHORT JUNKET

Augusta, Ga., April 22.—(Special.)—The Richmond academy baseball team leaves Thursday morning for a three-day trip, playing the Athens high school Thursday and Friday and the Riverside Military academy on Saturday. Even with such a strenuous road schedule, critics have followed the team this season say that it will give a most excellent account of itself.

To date the Richmond academy team has played five games, winning three and losing two to the strong Georgia Military college aggregation. Clemson sub-varsity was defeated, 14-5; University of South Carolina sub-varsity lost out, 7-4, while on last Saturday the team was victor over the Savannah high bunch, 7-2.

The features of the team's work has been the pitching of Philpot. Of the four games he has twirled, he has won three and has given up only eighteen hits. In the Georgia Military college game, which he lost, 1-0, only three singles were secured off his delivery. It is doubtful if any prep pitcher in the state will be found with a better record at the close of the season than this youngster.

The May schedule of the academy includes two games in Augusta with Georgia Military college, one with Porter Military academy, of Charleston, and two with Savannah high.

TECH AND CLEMSON STAGE TRACK MEET SATURDAY

Saturday afternoon at Grant field the first track meet of the 1914 Jacket season will be held with the Clemson Tigers as their first opponents.

This will be the first inter-college meet to be held on the Jackets' new field, and as workmen have been working on it for the past two weeks it is now in fine order for the meet.

Although the Tigers have defeated the Jackets in recent meets, they will have to go the limit this year to win, as Tech has one of the best teams that has represented the school in recent years. The meet will start promptly at 3:30.

RENEWED FIRMNESS SHOWN BY COTTON

July and August Contracts Make New High Ground For the Movement—Spot Cotton Steady.

New York, April 23.—Cotton showed renewed firmness today, with July and August contracts making new high ground for the movement and selling several points above the best prices reached on the advance earlier in the month. Reiterated predictions that a continued active distributing trade result in a natural corner this summer and aggressive support on July contracts from supposedly bullish sources combined with unsettled weather conditions, which might be unfavorable might be followed by a cold snap, seemed to be factors on the advance. Realizing was heavy enough to close some little irregularity, but receptions were limited and the general trend of prices was upward, with the close firm at a net advance of 9 to 14 points.

The market opened steady at net advance of 1 to 3 points on overnight buying, private cables and a fairly steady Liverpool cables. At first the market was aggressive on buying by Liverpool was a buyer of new months here and as prices worked higher, realized sales were in evidence, making it uneasy. The unsettled weather was mentioned likely to cause further delays in farm work, and while local traders thought that a late start with no sever frosts not necessarily mean a short yield, it seemed to be appreciated that a light early season development during July and August would strengthen the old crop position. On this basis the July premium over new crop months probably contributed as much to the buying power as anything, but as for new crop positions and as to the extent of the high level of April 2, stop orders were in sight and buying prices were at practically the best point of the day. In addition to the aggressive buying by prominent local and southern operators were credited with supporting July and August. Bullish estimates of the week's rain-fall movement doubtless had a part in the talk of a strengthening statistical position, while there was no change in sentiment regarding the Mexican situation.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, April 23.—Rains in Texas and generally unfavorable parts of the belt were the main sustaining influence in the cotton market today. The weather situation was the basis of some buying, but no great enthusiasm was shown to trade it. At the highest the active months were 14 to 15 points over yesterday's last quotations. The close was 13 to 13 over.

The weather map and reports indicated that the better part of the Texas cotton belt received general rains that are regarded as being very unfavorable and certain to give rise to further setbacks.

The market was quiet and the demand was not up to the best of the season, but as all practical sheet selling was not much in evidence.

Spot cotton steady, unchanged. Sales on the spot 1,000 bales; to arrive 474; good ordinary, 10.87; strict good ordinary, 11.12; low middling 12¼; strict low middling 12.12; middling 12.40; strict middling 12.65; good middling 12.90; strict good middling 13.15. Receipts 6,164; stock 191,000.

Jay, Bond & Co.

New York, April 23.—(Special)—Market never before under such a pressure to sell on prices. Rains in the southwest are responsible for the break. Texas will not get only a liberal buyer in the local market but a bullish construction is in place on the situation. Some of the largest spinners are also leading with cotton for the market and forecast more buying gradually and will be used to transport refugees from Mexico, north. This stimulated buying of old crop positions.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, April 23.—(Special.)—The market was filled with enthusiasm today by reports of cotton being unloaded at Galveston in order to turn it over before the government and other reports of this character. There was also a big demand for new and a general disposition to cover short interest. There is no use trying to sell July 15 to 20 points and it looked for the first time in many weeks like a real bull market. Liverpool was due to open up 5 to 10. Cotton was dull and unchanged.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, April 23.—A firm market today closed with the highest point of the day. It is under the influence of the fact that one of the war with Mexico will be to increase the demand for cotton goods. So far as rains, however, it has not to be bullish in the weather part market, which is very dominant with large stocks on hand. The trade is not buying to any extent, aside from cotton. Our market shows no remarkable strength, rather weak under the conditions in trade and finance a rather unfavorable time to expect any material advance. Short interest in Europe and America is very large and will be a factor in the market when their commercial view was weighed and they will cover on any bulge and close when none of us know anything about or can forecast the future.

New York, April 23.—Cotton goods may be quiet and dull, but there is no weakness in any quarter. Moderate business of good character. Delivery was in accordance with specifications. Staple cotton goods were offered.

GRAINS GO HIGHER AT NEWS FROM WAR

Shorts Much Flurried and Other Traders Take Advantage to Reap Rewards on Bull Side.

Chicago, April 23.—War excitement helped corn prices higher today in the early speculative article on change. The close was strong all around, with July and May 1@1½ net higher, and 1 1-8@1 corn, 1 1-8 to 1 1-4; oats, 7-8 to 1; provisions 17½ to 22½ up.

Just why the actual developments in Mexico were sufficient to put the wheat market so much better than it was not well explained beyond the idea that unforeseen possibilities were to be allowed for. There was no denying, however, that shorts were much flurried and that good use was had taken advantage of the feeling of nervousness and were at times forced to pay extra to all the reward possible on the bull side of the market.

Complaints of increasing menace from dry weather in Kansas and Nebraska formed an important background for the activity in the buying of wheat. Some export business at New York and Kansas City was also against the bears, especially as the day passed on and the world's shipments northwest were delayed by rain and that would further spring on taking round lots out of store.

Aside from the effect of war talk, the price of corn had an influence in the amount of terrestrial rains in Argentina. Moreover, the smallness of the domestic receipts, with a good sized shipments from primary centers, led to an increasing bullish feeling. It is said in Chicago would yet go into the hands of consumers at a fairly high figure. Cash sales here today reached 458,000 bushels. Oats bulged with corn and provisions were helped somewhat by the firmness of hogs. There was of a somewhat determined sort. Prospects of moisture soon were a bullish influence as well as the war talk.

War and good southern demand for lard had much to do with bringing about the big advance in provisions. A break in the values of hogs virtually was ignored.

Elbert Wimbish, a colored youth, told Judge Broyles Wednesday afternoon that he accidentally shot and killed J. C. Bigby, one of his lifelong friends, while playing "Mexican drama," meaning by that they were pretending to be fighting the Mexicans.

Bigby was shot Monday night at 109 Decatur street, and witnesses testified that the shooting was accidental, and that the two friends were playing, when the gun fired accidentally.

Judge Broyles deemed the evidence sufficient to let a jury decide and bound Wimbish over on the charge of murder.

SELL PHONE: MAIN 5249, MAIN 5241.
ATLANTA GA.
16 WEST MITCHELL STREET.

THIS is sure enough gardening weather. It is perfectly safe now to plant out even the most tender vegetables and flowers. Every morning our wagons come in from the greenhouse loaded with fresh tomato, pepper and egg plants; just the kind you want. Plants have all been hardened off and are sturdy and well rooted. Prices: Tomato, 10 cents per dozen; peppers and egg plant, 15 cents per dozen.

POLITE and courteous treatment in the store and prompt deliveries have been a great help in building up the Hastings business. Our seeds are all tested out carefully and have had experience enough to be able to give unstinting advice as to what are the best varieties of vegetables and flowers to plant. These things, coupled with the fact that we handle the very best grade of seeds that can be had, has enabled us to build up the largest seed business only in Atlanta, but the entire south. Few people in Atlanta realize how big a business we have and lots of Atlanta folks send their orders and make purchases at our out-of-town houses that are not as large as Hastings and certainly no more reliable. We specialize on things that are best adapted to this climate and are in a position to give the best advice relative to what to plant in the north or east. Try us this spring and we feel sure that you won't want to send your money out of Atlanta again for seeds.

NO SECRET ABOUT MY SUCCESS

I JUST FOUND OUT that I didn't know it all, and that there is no one in Atlanta who does, so I quit work last spring and took a trip. I visited nearly all the principal cities in the Northwest. While I was in Southern California I collected over Ten Thousand Dollars' worth of other men's BRAINS (other men's ideas). I was gone all summer. I spent $1,000 on that trip. What was the result? Since my return I have built and sold (including trades under way), Thirty Thousand Dollars worth of Bungalows at Lakewood Heights. I expect to sell a hundred thousand more. I will open the office this morning. I started another yesterday. Every one has been spoken for before it was completed. My terms will average from $50 to $75 per month, which includes all interest. The two I have under way will sell from $3,100 to $3,200. I also take enough contract work to keep my men going, specialize in Bungalows. If you are going to build on your lot, I KNOW I can save you MONEY.

GREATER HOSPITAL INDORSED BY LABOR

J. B. Hewitt and Jerome Jones Make Addresses to Federation of Trades Favoring $750,000 Bond Issue.

The $750,000 bond issue for a Greater Grady hospital was heartily indorsed by the Atlanta Federation of Trades at their semi-monthly meeting last night. Up to date some fifty local organizations have announced that indorsement.

At the meeting last night J. B. Hewitt, president of the federation, made an address in favor of the bonds, and Jerome Jones declared that he was for "Greater Grady."

"If you saw a man dying in the street, what would you do—leave him there or pick him up?"

This was the answer of Joseph C. Logan, general secretary of the Associated Charities, when asked how important he thought the bond issue for a greater Grady hospital.

"You don't see them lying around the street, of course," he went on, "things aren't done that way in a big city. But the situation is exactly the same. When a hospital isn't big enough to serve the needs of a city; when a hospital is so inadequate that people who need medical attention have to be turned away from the doors, someone is bound to be left in the street. If he isn't picked up, he'll die there. Under modern conditions, you can't pick him up and carry him into your home. That's all been done away with. Instead, you say: 'Take him to the hospital.' That's the modern way of doing it. We have found it's the best way. But if there isn't why hospital to which he can be taken, if, when he gets to the hospital, there isn't room for him, he must be admitted when he haven't programmed room. That's the situation as I see it. And I'd do more thinking of not voting for Grady bonds than I'd think of letting a man die in front of my house."

Mr. Logan, in his connection with the charities, has to deal with a good many cases which need hospital attention. He told of one:

"The other day, he said, a man, his wife, and a child, applied to the charities for lodging. They were forced to pay their rent and had been dispossessed. The family had lived in Atlanta for six years. I investigated the case, and found the man was a steady worker, but that he was out, unable, for some time, to procure employment. The child needed a blood feverish. An examination showed that she had a pulse of 140 and a temperature of 105. We sent her to Grady at once. The doctors there found she had typhoid fever, ordered her to bed and a bed for her, and they did.

"Now, the whole point of that story is not in what happened, but what might have happened. The child might be getting to the point where there would have been no bed for that child. The population is growing, and we won't progress any more
