HUERTA MUST SALUTE OR TAKE CONSEQUENCES

MODERN PREACHERS LIKENED TO JUDAS IN KILGO'S SERMON

"We Are Almost a Godless Age and a Godless People," Methodist Bishop Tells Big Congregation.

GOD ONLY A HEIRLOOM IN NUMEROUS PULPITS

"Fast Women Are Leading Mankind Merry Chase to Hell," He Says in Scoring Modern Society.

Bishop John C. Kilgo, of North Carolina, rolled up his figurative sleeves, doubled his fists and pitched—not figuratively, mind you, but with all the ginger of battle—into modern society and the pulpit, when he delivered a stirring sermon last night at the St. Paul Methodist church.

The modern woman of swift society he held responsible for the heavy increase in the consumption of wine and liquor, and he accused her of leading modern mankind a merry chase to hell.

"These women worship the gods of their own choosing," he said. "They make a plaything of the real God, and trifle with Him. They have given Him to understand they can run their glittering worlds without Him, and that they have no need for Him.

Smoke, Curse, Drink.

"They smoke—these women do—they curse and they drink. In an exclusive hotel of Washington, our nation's capital, I have seen them maudlin drunk, garbed in silks and jewels and satins fit for the robe of a princess, yet vulgar and lascivious in even their public conduct.

"They are godless women, and they are committing the most degraded crimes of our time. They are plunging to hell and drinking nightly toasts to the devil. They are mothers, some of them—although they firmly didn't intend it—and heaven grant that the same God they reject may pity the offspring whose lives will be burdened by their mothers."

Bishop Kilgo's sermon was the opening sermon of a week's revival being held at the St. Paul church, of which Rev. R. F. Fraser is pastor. The first services were held last night. A splendid program consisted of songs by a well-selected choir, led by Professor E. O. Excell, of Chicago, and music rendered by Professor Roper, also of Chicago. Meetings will be held nightly and every morning at 10 o'clock.

Relative to the preachers and pulpits who were made the objects of a scalding attack by Bishop Kilgo, the minister had this to say:

Judges in Pulpit.

"There are hundreds of Judases of the twentieth century, and a majority of them are in the pulpit," he said. "They are committing the sin of the age—trifling with God. There are numerous preachers in the world—and, I daresay, in this very town—who are running their pulpits with a religion that barely recognizes God.

"I have heard members of them preach extended sermons without hardly ever mentioning God, and never Christ. That is a type of the modern preacher. And from it I get in the pulpit, it is also in the pew. They are striving to run the world without the aid of God, and are giving Him to understand that they need him not.

"We are almost a godless age and a godless people. Many of our preachers seem to regard God as an heirloom that was handed down to us—some old and venerable fixture that is out of style and which we never can accept to preserve for memory's sake and for tradition.

"And these preachers say that the scriptures is a masterful stroke of literary style—it is excellently historical, and has a wonderful civilizing influence. And all that sort of thing. But it is not true. There is nothing great about the scriptures but the word of God, and the word of God will keep it forever great and make it the guiding light of our souls.

"If we didn't have the scripture, the man who clamors to get into society would have to pack his grip for hell because of his utter ignorance. Furthermore, the modern man—and all other mankind—is eligible for hell under all circumstances and conditions. Man can go to hell as quickly in a bathtub as in a gilded palace of sin."

CROWD IN COURT DEFIED THE JUDGE

Trial of Alleged Kidnaper Was Adjourned — Judge Tried in Vain to Get Women to Leave Courtroom.

Opelousas, La., April 17.—The [illegible] cessful efforts of Judge Pavy, of the St. Landry district court, to clear the courtroom of a portion of its congested population by admonitions remitted today in an unexpected halt in the trial here of W. C. Walters, charged with kidnaping 6-year-old Robert Dunbar.

When attorneys for both the defense and state had raised the point that the supreme court of Louisiana has repeatedly held that an overcrowded courtroom impeded the impartial administration of justice, Judge Pavy asked a portion of the crowd to retire.

Finding none of the spectators willing to relinquish their seats, he abruptly adjourned court until tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. "It's no use, ladies; we can do nothing until this courtroom is cleared. When this trial began I had extra seats placed for the women of Opelousas, but I expected no such crowd as this," the court stated.

Not one of the women or men who had crowded into the building, occupying all the seats, the window sills and even the judge's rostrum, indicated their intention of leaving, and apparently angered, Judge Pavy announced that court stood adjourned, and elbowed his way from the courtroom.

Trying to Forge Last Link.

The state at the sessions today attempted to prove that Walters was in this vicinity at the time Robert Dunbar disappeared from a fishing camp on Lake Swayze, the last link in the chain of evidence which it is attempting to forge around the itinerant tinker now on trial for his life. Three witnesses testified to Walters' presence near Opelousas about the time of the alleged kidnaping.

Mrs. E. H. Nix stated that Walters had attempted to lure her son from home on the pretext of going fishing.

Miss Kate Collins testified to having seen Walters in her sister's restaurant at Poplarville, La., in September, 1913. Walters was accompanied by another man and two boys, she said. One of these boys, designated by the witness as the "sickly one," she identified was Robert Dunbar. The two men bore a marked resemblance, she said.

The state had announced that it expected to prove by Miss Collins that Walters had exchanged the boys, one of whom was Bruce Anderson. Walters asserts that the boy found in his possession was Bruce Anderson.

Saw Walters and Two Boys.

Miss E. G. Lovelace, the next witness, partly justified speculation as to the state's contention, by testifying that she had seen Walters, the two boys and the other man in Poplarville in September, and two months later she saw a man she believed to be Walters, accompanied by only one boy, in the same vicinity.

"Was that the same boy he had before?" she was asked.

"If it was, it changed mightily," was the reply.

J. L. Linder, an itinerant seller and mender of stoves, contended early in the trial by the defense to be Walters' "double," was examined today. He identified that he was in Opelousas in November, 1913, for the first time in years.

"Were you around Forest Hill county in 1913?" asked the defense.

"Yes," the witness admitted.

Forest Hill is near Lake Swayze, from the shores of which Robert Dunbar disappeared.

"Did you tell a sheriff, who recently visited you, that you had been mistaken for Walters?" queried attorneys for the defense. Linder is defective of hearing and uses an ear trumpet, did the attorney who questioned him. He was apparently unable to hear the question, and left the stand without making a positive answer.

PUT WIFE ON HOT STOVE AND SHOT HER TO DEATH

Boonville Ind., April 17.—Throwing his wife, Mary, 43 years old, against a hot stove in his home here today, William Folsom, 52 years old, formerly a prosperous farmer, fired two shots into her heart, killing her instantly. Then he inflicted three wounds in his own breast, none of which, doctors say, will prove fatal.

The shooting occurred from his wife's denial of infidelity made to Folsom, it is said, and her refusal of his demand that she surrender her wedding ring.

The Folsoms have ten children, from 2 to 25 years old.

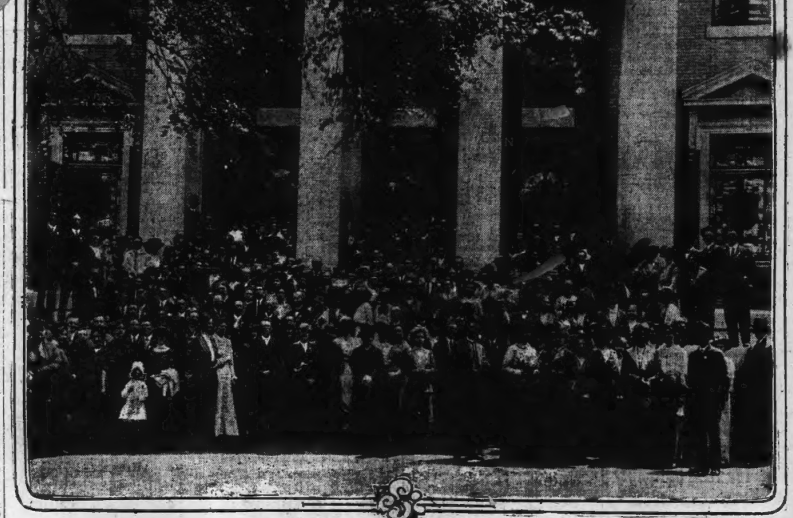
State Sunday School Association Is Planning Even Greater Accomplishments For Coming Year



Delegates to state Sunday school convention at Milledgeville, snapped before doors of church in which big gathering met.

Milledgeville, Ga., April 17.—(Special.)—Notwithstanding the fact that the work of Georgia churches in the Sunday schools has been increased some 800 per cent during the past three years, the Georgia Sunday school association, in its annual convention, which closed here last night, will now begin more elaborate plans and undertake still larger work in this state than ever.

For this purpose the budget for the support of the state work has been increased from $6,000, as in the past year, to $8,500 for the coming year, and two more field workers will be employed on full time, in addition to the three already in the field.

Ah. Andrew Jackson, [illegible] Seventh of Georgia, Sunday school work in this state may be seen in the large number of counties organizing during that time. Two years ago there was only one organized county in Georgia, while now there are seventy-eight. The augmented attendance at the state conventions also indicates the increased interest of Georgia people. Two years ago, at Dublin, fewer than 100 delegates were present, which number was increased to 496 last year at Riverton. This year 555 registered delegates were present at the convention just closed in this city.

Healthy Growth Shown.

The foregoing figures indicate a healthy growth of Sunday school enthusiasm in Georgia churches. Yet it must be understood that Georgia is still far from being one of the front rank states of the union in this branch of church endeavor. Georgia has a white population of 1,833,841. Of this number only 222,166 are enrolled as members of any Sunday school, or about one in five, or 21 1-5 per cent. This means that of Georgia's white population, 1,391,498, or 78 4-5 per cent, are not connected with the work in any form.

In one of the counties of the state there are only seven schools and six of these are in the county town. In another county only three schools have been so far located. In one county there is a stretch of main public road

REGRET EXPRESSED BY UNITED STATES

For Anything That May Have Altered the Friendly Relations With Colombia. Text of New Treaty Published in Paris.

Paris, April 17.—The text of the treaty between the United States and Colombia, settling the Panama controversy, was made public here today through the Colombian legation by publication in The Tempa. The treaty was signed at Bogota, April 7, by United States Minister Thaddeus A. Thomson and Dr. Francisco Jose Urrutia, Colombian minister of foreign affairs, and the members of a Colombian advisory committee.

First Article of Treaty.

The first article of the treaty, as published in The Tempe, says:

"The government of the United States, desiring to put an end to all disputes and differences with the republic of Colombia, occasioned by events which have brought about the present situation in the Isthmus of Panama, in its name and in the name of the people of the United States, expresses sincere regret for anything that may have interrupted or altered the relations of cordial friendship existing long between the two nations.

"Colombia, in her name and in the name of the people of Colombia, accepts this declaration in the full assurance that in this way will disappear all obstacles to the restoration of complete harmony between the two countries."

The treaty provides that "Colombia shall enjoy, freely and in perpetuity free passage through the Panama canal for her troops, stores and warships" and stipulates also that six months after the exchange of ratifications of the treaty the sum of $25,000,000 shall be paid to Colombia.

Canal Privileges.

The article relating to canal privileges also provides for commercial advantages in favor of Colombian products imported into the Canal Zone and for special advantages in the railway traffic of Panama when the canal service is interrupted for any reason, and when it is needed for Colombian agents and troops and for war stores from Colombia.

"Colombia recognizes Panama as an independent nation which shall terminate on the Pacific ocean at points equi-distant between Cocalito and Ardita," says the last article, which continues: "The United States undertakes to secure the sending by the government of Panama of an agent to negotiate with Colombia a treaty of peace and friendship which shall include an agreement regarding the pecuniary liability of the two countries."

13 High-Grade Automobiles And Other Valuable Prizes Given Away by Constitution

Are you looking for an opportunity to make a large profit easily and quickly without the investment of a single dollar during the next few weeks?

Have you an ambition to advance yourself toward ultimate success in life and are you willing to use the abilities that nature gave you in order to do so?

If you have such ambition a little determination and energy will set you very great returns in a very short time if you will send in your name to The Constitution and become an active nominee in the $25,000 gift contest.

$25,000 in Prizes.

From the columns of The Constitution opportunity speaks to all. Each day a plan is outlined whereby more than $25,000 is to be awarded in prizes to energetic and successful contestants.

The Constitution invites you to compete for these valuable prizes. The exercise of business judgment and common sense will give you your opportunity to obtain any award you choose. Do not hesitate!

The division into districts of the territory is made so that each candidate, no matter where living, has a chance to obtain first place and the prize that goes with it. It does not limit the candidate's activities, as the candidate may obtain subscriptions and votes anywhere.

Send in your nomination or that of a relative or friend today. Nomination blank and voting coupons are to be found on editorial page of this issue.

THIS CONTEST IS OPEN TO EVERYBODY. Any gentleman in the state of Georgia or contiguous territory desiring to enter the contest can do so through the name of his wife, mother, sister, cousin or lady friend. The statement made repeatedly by The Constitution that this contest is open to every woman in its territory does not mean that both men and boys cannot participate in the contest through some lady friend or relative. Everybody is invited to enter this campaign.

About the Prizes.

Thirteen automobiles head the list of magnificent prizes. Four as grand division prizes and nine as district prizes.

These cars were selected with special regard to the greatest value of the money invested.

As the first grand prize to be awarded in each division to the candidate for the largest number of votes in each division, regardless of district. The Constitution offers an automobile, conceded to be equal to any car in the world of its class. It is known as the "Oakland" 6-48, seven-passenger touring car, fully equipped, beautiful to the artistic eye. Beautiful to the eye that sees beyond the outward forms and notes the perfection of mechanical arrangement and adjustment, beautiful to those who desire luxury personified in style and comfort, and beautiful indeed to those who see in the splendid lines perfect and comfortable arrangements. A dependable motor car, and one that approaches the ideal in mechanical perfection.

The second prize in each of the grand divisions is the Velie 4-35 five-passenger touring car. The Velie is beautiful in design, and the body lines are developed along the most advanced ideas, and has long since been known as a car that will go day in and day out over all kinds of roads anywhere and free from mechanical difficulties. These cars, in addition to having the usual equipment, are also equipped with Gray & Davis electric starter and lighting of the most advanced type.

District Prizes.

In each of the nine districts an award was selected, thought to be commensurate with the efforts of those who obtain the highest score in votes after the first of the second grand division prizes have been given out. After carefully considering the desirability of many and various things, the conclusion was reached that an automobile should head the district prize list. Then the question arose as to which of the numerous motor cars upon the market should be chosen. Many good cars could be had, but after considerable negotiation The Constitution was able to make satisfactory terms with the Overland Southern Automobile company for nine five-passenger Overland touring cars, Model 79 T, one for each district, as cars embodying all of the qualifications demanded by The Constitution.

The Overland five-passenger touring car is one of the very best automobiles on the market today at the price. Many higher-priced cars of no greater beauty of contour are giving no greater service. It is a roomy five-passenger model, richly upholstered, insuring perfection comfort.

Every energetic candidate who enters this race will receive an award. Cut out the nomination blank, which is found on the editorial page of this issue, fill in your name or that of a friend and send in today, and full particulars will be furnished you by return mail, if you live outside of the city. If, however, you live in Atlanta, call on the Contest Department in person or call Bell phone Main 5000, or Atlanta phone 4604, and the Contest Department of The Constitution will give you the desired information.

Mileage Is Stricken.

Washington, April 18.—The house struck the time-honored "mileage allowance" for congressman out of the legislative appropriation bill today and provided for actual expenses of members to and from Washington to attend congress. The senate has yet to agree to the proposal.

MISSED THE MAYOR AND SHOT LAWYER

Irresponsible Man Fires at Gotham Executive—Bullet Wounds City Attorney Polk—Wound Not Fatal.

New York, April 17.—In an attempt to take the life of Mayor John Purroy Mitchel today, Michael P. Mahoney, an apparently irresponsible elderly man, who later said he was a blacksmith out of work, fired into a group of three men seated in the mayor's automobile at the east side of City Hall Park.

The bullet entered the jaw of Frank L. Polk, corporation counsel, who was sitting next to the mayor. With blood spurting from his mouth, Mr. Polk was taken into the city hall and afterward to a hospital, where, it was said, the wound would not prove fatal.

Mahoney shot at the mayor, he declared tonight, because he felt aggrieved at the city executive's "extravagant expenditures" and because he was incensed at being refused an audience with the mayor on two occasions this week when he came to apply for a municipal job.

Fired Only One Shot.

Mahoney fired only one shot. Before he could fire a second time he was overcome by Detective George Neun, who, in the capacity of chauffeur, was adjusting robes about the men in the automobile. The mayor sat in the middle of the back seat with Mr. Polk on his right and George V. Mullan, the mayor's former law partner, on his left. The bullet passed so close to Mayor Mitchel that the left side of his face was scorched. Standing within a few feet of Mahoney was Police Commissioner Arthur H. Woods, who was waiting for the chauffeur to get into the car, intending to sit beside the driver.

To bystanders, the sound of the revolver shot and the sight of the aged man who did the shooting sprawled on the pavement, as he was borne down by Detective Neun, seemed almost simultaneous. The sight of Mayor Mitchel steadying the staggering figure of Mr. Polk then detached itself from the picture. Within thirty seconds the city hall plaza and Park Row were flooded with a surging crowd, and police reserves were called out.

Mayor Questions Mahoney.

As soon as he had seen that Mr. Polk received medical attention, Mayor Mitchel went to the police station and questioned Mahoney.

"Why did you shoot at me?" he asked. The prisoner's answer was incoherent and to the effect that he had nothing to say. Cowering before

DICTATOR IS TOLD TO QUIT QUIBBLING AND TO DO HONOR TO AMERICAN FLAG

Washington Stands on the Original Demand of Admiral Mayo and Flatly Refuses Huerta's Suggestion That the Salute Be a Simultaneous One.

HUERTA IS WARNED WASHINGTON WANTS NO MORE ARGUMENT

Final American Note Is Delivered to the Dictator, and He and His Cabinet Consider It—In the Meanwhile the Great American Battle Fleet Is Rapidly Steaming for Mexican Waters.

Mexico City, April 17.—The substance of the reply of the United States government to the demand of President Huerta that there should be a simultaneous salute fired by the Americans when the Mexicans salute the American flag, was delivered verbally tonight by Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American charge d'affaires, to Senor Portillo y Rojas, the foreign minister.

The reply, it is said, was unfavorable to any early adjustment of the situation. It is understood that the matter is being considered at a cabinet meeting tonight.

The cabinet meeting lasted three hours. It was impossible to learn its results either the minister or Mr. O'Shaughnessy.

NO MORE ARGUMENT WANTED FROM HUERTA BY THE UNITED STATES

Washington, April 17.—The United States has warned General Huerta that no further argument about details for the salute of the American flag will be tolerated.

Twenty-one guns must be fired to the Stars and Stripes, in reparation for the arrest of American bluejackets at Tampico, or serious consequences will follow.

The Atlantic fleet, in the meantime, continues on its way to Tampico to back up the Washington government's demands.

No time limit has been set for an answer to the final communication sent today rejecting the suggestion twice made by General Huerta that guns from the Mexican shore batteries fire simultaneously with those of the American warships.

Rear Admiral Mayo's original demand calling for a twenty-one-gun salute, which he promised to return, according to naval precedent, has been insisted on. The United States, through Charge O'Shaughnessy, has told Huerta the only satisfactory answer was an unconditional acceptance of Rear Admiral Mayo's original conditions.

No Recognition of Insects.

The unofficial declaration from Senor Portillo y Rojas, Huerta's minister for foreign affairs, that the return salute would be regarded as a tacit recognition of the Huerta government, received no attention from administration officials, who pointed out that no such construction of the salute had been suggested by the Huerta government in its formal communications.

C. F. von HERRMANN, Section Director.

"Recognition is not extended by inadvertence but by intent," said a high administration official tonight.

Under no circumstances will the salute be given to the Huerta government, but to the Mexican flag as representing the Mexican nation, and no question of recognition is involved, according to Secretary Tumulty, who said had the Huerta government interjected into the negotiations a desire that the salute be considered as recognition, it would not have been considered for a minute.

Acting Chairman Shively, of the senate foreign relations committee, who conferred with Secretary Bryan tonight, also said there never had been an official suggestion of recognition in the negotiations, and that no salute would be given under such a condition.

On the Mayo Ultimatum.

The government here is standing on the original ultimatum of Admiral Mayo," he said. "In accordance with custom, the salute from Mexican guns would be acknowledged as Admiral Mayo set forth in his demand. But quibbling and tweiting will not be tolerated by the United States. As far as saluting the Mexican flag is concerned, it would not constitute recognition of the Huerta de facto government. There is only one flag in Mexico. All factions in that republic fly the same flag. The return salute merely is an international custom. Also recognition is a matter of intent and in acknowledging Huerta's apology this government would express no intent to recognize Huerta as a sovereign power.

"In the meantime our battleships are steaming toward Mexico."

Secretary Bryan did not know tonight whether there would be an answer to the American government's last communication—that is, whether the next step would be the firing of the salute or another message on the subject. He did not expect word from Charge O'Shaughnessy before tomorrow. Until then the situation hangs in the balance, according to the opinion of administration officials.

No Telling About Huerta.

No reply to the last American note transmitted through Charge O'Shaughnessy had been received up to late today, and no orders to the American war fleets to slow down or turn back had been issued. Administration officials considered, however, the main point at issue—the exchange of salutes—had been settled; they regard Huerta's "haggling over details," as one official expressed it, as not likely to prevent an adjustment of the controversy. They believed the crisis was over, but on the other hand, in view of the kaleidoscopic changes of the last three days, said they would not be surprised if the hitch over details became serious again.

The American government holds that when a twenty-one-gun salute is fired to the Stars and Stripes, the salute in acknowledgment will be fired to the flag of the Mexican people—and not to the Huerta administration or any government or individual.

Text of the American Demand.

In connection with the purpose of the American government to fire a return salute the navy department gave out the text of Rear Admiral Mayo's original demand, as follows:

"This morning an officer and squad of men of Mexican military forces arrested and marched through the streets of Tampico a commissioned officer of the United States navy, the paymaster of the Dolphin, together with seven men composing the crew of the whale boat of the Dolphin. At the time of this arrest the officer and men concerned were unarmed and engaged in loading cases of gasoline which had been purchased on shore. Part of the men were on the shore, but all, including the man or men in boat, were forced to accompany armed Mexican forces.

"I do not need to tell you that taking men from a boat flying the United States flag is a hostile act not to be excused.

"I already have received your verbal message of regret that this event has happened and your statement that it was committed by an ignorant officer.

"The responsibility for hostile act cannot be avoided by the plea of ignorance.

"In view of the publicity of this occurrence, I must require that you send by suitable members of your staff formal disavowal and apology for the act, together with your assurance that the officer responsible for it will receive severe punishment. Also that you publicly hoist the United States flag in a prominent position on shore and salute it with twenty-one guns. The salute will be returned by the ship.

"Your answer to this communication should reach me and the called-for salute be fired within twenty-four hours from 6 p. m. of this date."

Plenty of People Strive For Constitution Autos

Georgians and Atlantans are tumbling over themselves to own automobiles at the expense of The Constitution.

How you can win an auto from The Constitution is told elsewhere in this paper. Or you can write the office for details.

It all depends on, as old General Forrest used to say, "gittin' thar fustest, with the mostest" votes in The Constitution's contest.

Thousands of people in Atlanta and in Georgia are seeing the chances of their lives to ride on rubber tires.

They are setting a red-hot pace.

Do you want to realize the dream of a life, and own an automobile?

CHARGED WITH THEFT, COPS SUE FOR $30,000

Three Members of Savannah Force File Libel Suits Following Accusation.

Savannah, Ga., April 17.—(Special.)—Libel suits aggregating $30,000 were filed in the city court today by three members of the Savannah police department against William N. Nichols. The suits allege that in letters Mr. Nichols imputed larceny to members of the department.

The officers filing the suits were Chief of Detectives J. J. Murphy, Detective J. K. Beach and Secretary to Detectives W. A. Lufborrow. They ask $10,000 each. The suits were filed by Judge John E. Schwarts and Charles S. Donnelly.

All the suits grew out of the same matter—the arrest of James Matthews, a negro, who is the husband of Mr. Nichols' cook. It appeared at the time of the arrest Matthews' house was searched and, according to Mr. Nichols, $35 was taken out of a trunk.

The police officers deny that the money was found or taken.

LAURENS TRADE BOARD FORMALLY ORGANIZED

Dublin, April 17.—(Special.)—Formal organization of the Dublin and Laurens County Chamber of Commerce took place last night at the Bertha theater in this city. Under the plan of organization the only officers elected by the membership at large are the commissioners or department heads, who form the board of directors and will in turn elect a chairman and vice chairman.

No chamber of commerce has ever been organized here on such a splendid business basis and no one has ever met with the hearty co-operation from the business men. It was proposed at the beginning to raise $6,000 in memberships before the new organization proceeded very far, and of this amount only a few hundred dollars remains to be raised. When this is completed, Dublin will have given more than $1 per capita according to the 1910 census, for the support of a chamber of commerce.

A very strong board of commissioners has been elected as follows: Department of organization affairs, Isaie Rashinski; department of business development, D. S. Brandon; department of retail trade, R. F. Deese; department of public affairs, R. M. Arnau; department of agriculture, W. B. Rice.

COUNTY SCHOOL FAIR IS HELD IN DECATUR

Decatur, Ga., April 17.—(Special.)—Some five hundred school children gathered here today from al over DeKalb to attend the county school fair. Some thirty schools were represented.

Each school had an exhibit booth in the courthouse and made surprisingly good showings in works of art, cooking and wood work. Miniature log cabins of unique construction, cosigns in paper and cloth, charcoal pictures, cakes and biscuit, and many various articles represented the work and ingenuity of the children of the schools, many contributors of which were yet in the kindergarten and primary classes.

The most unique exhibit of the fair was contributed by Paul Knight a 16-year-old scholar of the woods, of the East End, Ga., school. This exhibit consisted of a glass case containing forty varieties of butterflies twenty-five varieties of dragon flies, or "snake doctors," and some thirty specimens of Indian war and hunting arrowheads.

Marathon races and essay writing were indulged in during the afternoon and other entertainment was provided for the young visitors.

Prominent Speakers Address Y. W. C. A. at Annual Banquet

The Young Women's Christian association of Atlanta held its annual banquet last night at the Winecoff hotel. One hundred and sixty-five guests were present.

The speakers were Dr. C. B. Wilmer, W. S. Witham, Dr. Richard O. Flinn, Dr. A. M. Hughlett, Miss Inez Kinney, of New York, national secretary of the Y. W. C. A.; Miss Ada Starkweather, of Charlotte, N. C., secretary of the South Atlantic field of the association; Miss Alice Logan Wingo, local secretary; Asa G. Candler and Mrs. W. S. Witham, toastmistress.

Miss Kinney, the national secretary, made an excellent talk along the lines of social progress, in which she said:

"We have some very false standards in this country. For instance, in our dress. . . . We must work to gain for the working women a living wage, right hours and right conditions. There never was such a time that the country needed Christian leadership for the promotion of social progress."

Mr. Witham, in speaking of the woman of the store and the woman of the home, said: "It's easy to cook bread, but it's a hard task to earn it."

The association feels confident of completing the thousand recruits which they are working to enlist, by next Tuesday night.

J. B. CHRISMAN HELD ON A FORGERY CHARGE

A Birmingham lawyer, who gave his name as J. B. Chrisman, was arrested in Atlanta Friday by Detectives Chewning and Sturdivant, and is being held on a warrant from Birmingham charging him with embezzlement and forgery.

Chrisman's arrest Friday morning followed an attempt to get a $5 check, which he later told the detectives was worthless, cashed by sending it by a young boy to a store on Whitehall street. He waited for the boy on the viaduct, and the storekeeper became suspicious, and had the detectives accompany the boy to the place where Chrisman was waiting for him.

STATE SUNDAY SCHOOLS PLAN FOR COMING YEAR

twenty-nine miles in length and only one Sunday school is found.

F. L. Mallary, of Macon, is authority for the statement, which he made in public at this convention, that, within sight of Macon's church spires, is a community where he found twenty-five families without any church connection whatever, and fifteen other families in the same community which had no connection with any Sunday school.

These facts indicate that, though Georgia is one of the foremost states in the union in some other matters, she is sadly lacking in development in making effort to reach the hearts and lives of her youths at their most impressive age through the channel of the Sunday school But the dawn of a better day is upon the Empire State of the South. Large contributions of money for the support of the work, both from individuals and from county organizations; the consecration of their talents to the work by such men as Asa G Candler, W. S. Witham, Dr. E. C. Morgan, Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, Dr. Rufus W. Smith and scores of lawyers, doctors, college professors, business men and laymen of every walk in life and the renewed determination of the leading denominations of the state to co-operate in pushing the work, are all guarantees of rapid progress in the immediate future.

Church's Best Investment.

The startling fact that the Sunday school is the best investment that the church can make was forcibly brought out at this convention. As it is today, less than 19 per cent of the church budgets go into the support of the Sunday schools. Yet 83 of every 100 of the new converts coming into the churches come from the Sunday schools; 90 out of every 100 church workers are furnished by the schools, and 95 out of every 100 preachers came through the Sunday schools. This average shows that the Sunday schools receive less than 10 per cent of the budget, yet pay back more than 90 per cent in return.

Rev. Henry B. Mays stated in this convention that in a revival campaign just held in his church at Druid Hills, near Atlanta, with an evangelist and skilled musician as leaders, only two new converts were made, but in his Sunday school on one special day for decisions twenty-seven boys and girls joined the church and confessed Jesus Christ as their Savior.

CANDIDATES WORKING FOR AKERMAN'S PLACE

Washington, April 17.—(Special.)—Fred T. Sauesy, of Savannah, was the only one of the three candidates for district attorney of the southern district of Georgia, who saw the attorney general today. R. M. Hitch, of Savannah, and D. A. R. Crum, of Cordele, are here and will see Mr. McReynolds tomorrow.

Mr. Sauesy left on a late train for Savannah tonight. The attorney general will make no decision until he has seen all the candidates, with the possible exception of W. Vance Custer, of Bainbridge. Mr. Custer has been summoned to Washington. Mr. Crum said tonight that if he is selected he will give up his law partnership and move to either Savannah or Macon, which ever place seems to be best for the government's business.

'A DECENT NOW AND NOW' IS SUBJECT OF SERMON

At the 11 o'clock morning services in the First Universalist church, 45 East Harris street, the pastor, Rev. Fred A. Line, will preach on the subject, "A Decent Now and Now, as Well as a Sweet Bye-and-Bye." Evening services have been discontinued until next fall.

YEGG SUSPECT HELD FOR INVESTIGATION

Officers Believe Ed Murry Implicated in Safe-Cracking at Fairburn.

Ed Murry, who gives his occupation as a coal miner and address as Savannah, Ga., was arrested in Atlanta late Thursday night and held at the police station for investigation.

The officers, Sergeant George Bullard and his partner, Plain Clothes Policeman Shaw, who have recently made quite a reputation for catching professional safe blowers, made the arrest, and state that they believe the man is implicated in the safe cracking at Fairburn, Ga., last Saturday night one week ago. On that night the safe in the railroad depot was blown. This is the second time this safe has been blown recently, but on each occasion the looters secured nothing for their efforts.

The officers state that Senator Longino, of Fairburn, will identify the man as one he saw lurking around the depot on the night of the attempted robbery. Senator Longino has been furnished with a description of Murry, and states that it fits the man he saw prowling around the depot on that Saturday night.

his questioners, he seemed hardly to know what he had done. He wore a ragged fringe of white beard, and was clad in an ill-fitting suit.

While the police were trying to learn the man's name, which he persistently refused to give, a jostling crowd packed the plaza.

"Where's the assassin? Lynch him!" some of them cried. It was thought at the time that the corporation counsel had lost most of his lower teeth and that the jawbone had been pierced in two places by the bullet, but a later report from the hospital said only one tooth had been knocked out, and that unless blood poisoning set in, the wound would not prove serious.

The prisoner underwent a searching examination at police headquarters before Police Commissioner Woods, District Attorney Whitman and others. As he was led out of the traffic police station into the ambulance that took him to police headquarters, the crowd lunged toward him, menacing and loud-voiced, but the police drove them back.

The automobile which waited on Park Row was to take the mayor's party to lunch. In thirty seconds the car would have started. At that time, Mahoney, who had been standing on the fringe of a crowd fifty yards away attending a noon meeting of the unemployed and the Industrial Workers of the World, saw Mr. Mitchel was within a few feet of him. As the mayor took his seat Mahoney whipped a revolver from his coat pocket and shot.

Story of Mahoney.

According to his own story, Mahoney had tried to see the mayor last Monday, but had not been able to get an interview. His idea, he said, was to criticise Mayor Mitchel for the "extravagant expenditures" of his administration and incidentally to ask for a job.

His repulse embittered him and when he came back Wednesday it was with the intention of killing the mayor. He thought better of his purpose on this occasion, however, and deferred the attempt. Today, warmed with a glass of whisky, which he said he had just had at a Park Row saloon, he determined to act.

In the several examinations given Mahoney today he appeared to be a man of weak mentality, the futility of whose protest against fancied individual wrongs and present social conditions had driven him to the verge of insanity. Two letters taken from his pockets, one addressed to Mayor Mitchel and the other addressed to Mayor Armstrong, of Pittsburg, Pa., for the most part were unintelligible, but it was evident that the writer was trying to voice a protest against the police bills recently urged by Mayor Mitchel at Albany and other municipal activities.

He Attacks Goethals.

In these letters Mahoney appeared to be agitated by the attempt to get George W. Goethals to take police commissionership.

"He knows less about police work—as much as a boy of 12 or 14," was one of the disjointed statements in the letters, referring to Colonel Goethals, and continuing: "Also knows lots of engineering as 12 or 14 year old boy." The letter then launched into a general attack on Colonel Goethals.

Among other things Mahoney told the police he was born in Ireland; that at one time he had been worth more than $100,000, and that he had gone heavily into real estate speculation. He had spent a number of years in Pittsburg, he added, and had lived in New Orleans. For the last ten years he had lived in New York. Once he said he was sorry he attempted to shoot the mayor.

Mahoney will be arraigned tomorrow.

"The attack on the mayor and the incidental shooting of Corporation Counsel Polk shows the danger to which public officials are subjected," said District Attorney Whitman tonight. "The mayor was properly guarded and will be even more so in the future, but no matter what safeguards surround a public official, he cannot be protected against cranks and others at all times."

URGE PASTOR TO LIMIT CRITICISM TO CHURCH

First Methodist Stewards Oppose Public Utterances of Dr. DuBose.

It was the publicity which Dr. H. M. DuBose, pastor of the First Methodist church, gave to his views on the locker club question, as applied to members of his own congregation, which caused that special meeting Thursday night of the stewards. A resolution adopted at the meeting is said to have had for its substance the suggestion that, in the future, Dr. DuBose confine his utterances about church members to precincts of the church.

Dr. DuBose took the resolution in good part, but did not make any promises that he would heed it.

"For my statements made in connection with my membership of the Anti-Saloon League of Georgia," he said, "I am responsible only to the North Georgia conference. My attitude toward locker clubs and all similar vells will be the same in the future as in the past. I consider them to be among the greatest evils of the times and one of the greatest sources of church demoralization."

About half the stewards of the First Methodist church are members of at least one club. Several belong to two or three. They made it plain at the meeting that they did not consider their club affiliations in the least discreditable, and that they had no intentions of quitting them on account of Dr. DuBose's position. The opinion was practically unanimous, it is stated, that Dr. DuBose, in his campaign against the clubs, had exceeded discretion.

Dr. DuBose's attitude was defined originally as being that members of Methodist congregations who belonged to locker clubs should be tried under the church discipline. This attitude was later disclaimed by the ministers' union in a long statement, but seems to have been accepted by the board of stewards as valid.

CHATTOOGA PEACH CROP DAMAGED BY COLD SNAP

Lyerly, Ga., April 17.—(Special.)—A close inspection of the fruit crop shows that only a part of the crop was destroyed by the recent cold snap. On the average, about one-third of the crop was killed, which will reduce the crop to a normal one, but as yet there is an abundant crop of peaches, apples and cherries. The trees would not have carried the fruit had the cold snap not come and killed part of the young fruit. Peach men of northwest Georgia are very much encouraged over the present outlook and they say they are expecting a large crop this year.

THE MEXICAN TURN.

It is probable that no one is more surprised than official Washington at the swift turn the Tampico incident has taken. Though Huerta now quibbles as to the terms of his backdown, it appears that the backdown will, after the necessary pyrotechnics and "face-savings," duly take place. The consensus heretofore had been that Huerta would provoke intervention, as less humiliating than a surrender to mutiny in his own ranks or defeat at the hands of the constitutionalists.

But whether Huerta shall prove to be "bluffing" or to be serious, the episode will not help him, and it is likely eventually to clarify the situation from the American viewpoint. The Mexican dictator has discovered now that Washington means what it says when it makes a demand upon his crumbling government, and that it is prepared to back up its demands by force of arms. In that connection the lesson is a salutary one. He has discovered, also, that the forbearance of the United States has reached its limit, and that the next transgression cannot be smoothed over by a belated and coerced apology.

The moral effect upon the constitutionalists will also be healthy. Continued success is likely to make them headstrong and over-independent. Now that they find Washington firm they are likely to make future plans with that contingency in view. The lesson will not be lost upon Europe, either, where the stock of this country must have gone up several points.

The crystallising of a genuine "crisis" may appear to be an interminable process, with progress sometimes so slow as to be almost imperceptible. But if the careful observer will go back over the history of the past year he will find that Wilson has, by peaceful methods, gradually applied the theory of elimination so as to prize away most of the obstacles to a settlement without intervention. There has been nothing spectacular or hot-headed about the job, but it is noticeable that today we are radically nearer a solution than a year ago. Skill speaks in that achievement. But it is an achievement and it is costing infinitely less than would the intervention the jingoes have clamorously demanded.

ASK ANY MOTHER.

Several well-known physicians and medical research workers are on trial in Philadelphia, charged with cruelty to dogs in the matter of vivisection. The prosecution was instituted by an organization of well-meaning women.

The Philadelphia trial is only a reflection of a recurrent wave of hysteria and misrepresentation by which public sentiment is sought to be arrayed against any medical or laboratory experiments in which animals figure. Several fanatical publications and one or two eminently respectable ones have fastened on the crusade as a route to quick popularity and reputation for uniqueness.

The only trouble about these good folk is that they are likely to do harm to the progress of curative and preventive medicine. Few important medical discoveries of recent years, especially those relating to the bacterins, the serums, the anti-toxins and the vaccines, but have been disclosed by patient and intelligent experimentation on animals. Smallpox, diphtheria, hydrophobia, blood poison, the sleeping sickness, typhoid, cerebro spinal meningitis, and a host of germ diseases, including tentatively even tuberculosis, are today fought by remedies largely the outgrowth of experiments upon and cultures made from animals. This is not to mention cancer, and the equally broad field of operative surgery.

No one, scientist or layman, condones wanton cruelty to these dumb creatures that give their lives for the benefit of humanity. But the sensational and thoroughly revolting pictures and text that have been printed in substantiation of charges of cruelty carry either doubt or positive disbelief on their face. A certain amount of suffering in this field is inevitable, just as it is inevitable in any form of human disease or any form of human progress. Until we are shown convincing proof we will not believe intelligent physicians or experimentators are or could be guilty of the malignant practices charged to them.

Ask any mother whose child is writhing in the throes of diphtheria or rabies, if she will pit its life against the transient suffering or even death of an animal. Her answer is the answer to all this mawkish and mischievous furore against alleged "vivisection."

THE FAME OF BROOKS.

The name of Brooks county, famous for its hams and bacon, has gone abroad to the nation. Elsewhere The Constitution reproduces an editorial in which "Farm and Fireside," published in Springfield, Ohio, celebrates the achievements of Brooks in exporting bacon. Our contemporary could have added that Brooks also exports hams. Within the past few weeks only farmers of the county have sold large shipments of hams to British Columbia, not to mention states contiguous to Georgia.

Farm and Fireside asks if another county in the United States could be found exporting bacon, unless a packing house were situated within its borders? We doubt it. There are, as our contemporary says, plenty of communities that sell live hogs at eight cents and buy bacon at thirty. Those that sell the finished product and reap the profit are few in number. If a national authority such as Farm and Fireside can recall no counterpart for Brooks there is little need to go farther.

What Brooks has done and is doing any county in Georgia can do. Conditions favorable to hog and cattle raising are not restricted to south or middle Georgia. The Blue Ridge section of the state is especially adapted to these industries, and is perhaps even more suitable to sheep culture.

If Georgia went into the hog business on the proper scale she could feed herself and send hams to the four quarters of this country. If she went into the cattle and sheep business on the proper scale she could furnish mutton and beef to her own people and the people of a large part of the southern and eastern parts of this country.

Brooks county has won its position and its profits by discovering the possibilities in this phase of animal industry and pursuing them. The county is a principality of small farms, each with its own smokehouse that uses the most approved methods. The folk there welcome a packing house, but they are independent of it, from the commercial standpoint. They do not bow down to and worship cotton as their sole fetich. They keep cotton in its proper place. They elevate hams and bacon to the prominence that the demand and the sure and steady market for them justify.

The day when all Georgia counties emulate the fame of Brooks will be the day that Georgia is the richest agricultural state in the union in actuality, as it now is in possibility.

THE AMERICAN MELTING POT.

Hugo Munsterberg, of Harvard university, told a New York meeting of the graduates of German universities recently that America is the melting pot of the world, and that the human product is likely to bring forth the best race in civilization. Professor Munsterberg declared that the United States no longer was predominantly English, but that its population was an indiscriminate mixture of the best racial elements on earth.

There is no doubt that America has offered and still offers attractions for the sturdiest and most achieving elements of all races. Industrial, educational and agricultural opportunities are open here on a scale that can be approximated nowhere in the old world, and, as yet, nowhere in South America. The average immigrant from the north of Europe, whether Germany, England, Sweden, Russia, or even France and Spain, find conditions, in some part of our country, that parallel conditions in the land of their birth from the point of view of a livelihood, while chances for free and untrammeled citizenship far surpass those offered in the old world.

All these human ingredients, ambitious and seeking fortune and advancement, locate in this country and here pool the best blood of civilization for the advancement of America. In other words, we are securing the choice breeds and workers from the four quarters of the globe, with the open door of destiny in America as their incentive and the promise of democracy as their guide.

Professor Munsterberg was right in advising his fellow-countrymen from Germany not to preserve too rigidly their affiliations with the old country. Memories of and reverence for the land of their birth was, he said, well enough. But the land of their adoption drew first claim upon them. What he says in this connection may well be taken to heart by those from all other nations who cast their lots in our midst. We need today a common American citizenship, knowing no alien tie and no sectional bias, reverential toward inheritance, but with the first allegiance to the country in which its daily routine is enacted.

America as the melting pot should, as Munsterberg predicts, draw the finest blood of all nations and pour it out into the common mold of a splendid citizenship. The thought is an inspiring one.

King George is now a baseball fan. If those militant suffragettes catch him at a game he'll have to make a home run.

Gettin' mighty tired
Of climbin' up the hill,
But if you fail to reach

T'other feller will!
So we think not of the

But right the summit
still.

Gettin' mighty tired—
And eyes with tears'll fill;
But sing a song the way along,
Or—t'other feller will!
So, never mind who lags behind—
Toil for the summit still!

III.

Gettin' mighty tired—
The way is dim and chill,
But roses bloom above the thorns
And hearts with rapture thrill;
For on the heights fair shine the lights
And we are climbing still!

SHELL FISH COOKERY.

Travelers declare the finest thing found in our country is our shell fish and one of the first articles sent across the continent by refrigerator car, was a consignment of these delicacies. This convenient method of transportation has taken lobsters, clams, scallops and other queer "fish" into new markets where their goodness makes the question of what to eat more easily solved than ever before.

There is an abundance of recipes for cooking shell fish, but how to prepare them for the last operation is not always made clear. We will begin with lobsters that are at their best in summer months, but are eaten all through the year. They should be heavy for their size to be good and whether alive or boiled the tail must be springy. That is, when it is straightened out it must spring back into a curve. The small claws are used for garnishing, the large ones are opened and the white meat drawn out. The tail is opened through the center and the middle vein removed, as it is inedible. The meat that lies between the separate and middle body bones is saved and that is all. The body is usually emptied and washed and with the under part of the claws is used for serving. The writer will gladly send sauces suitable for lobster and similar meats upon receipt of a stamped addressed envelope.

Crabs are either hard or soft shell, the last is most delicate. They are purchased alive and are cleaned when the spongy substance under each side of the shell back and the point at the lower part of the shell, called the apron, has been removed with a sharp knife.

Crab shells are the proper thing to serve crab meat in; they may be purchased by the dozen from any fish dealer. Pretty little baking dishes are now made in the same shape and style and these are a better investment.

Clams are as valuable a food as oysters, but they have not the same fine flavor. Easterners call the hard shelled ones "Quahogs" and the soft ones "Little Necks." They are sold in their shells and must be scrubbed vigorously with a brush and water before they are steamed open. The novice usually makes a mistake by putting them into a skillet full of boiling water and should be only a cup of boiling water to each two quarts of clams. Cover this closely and as soon as the shells open they are cooked enough. The liquor may be used for bouillon; the clams are served in individual dishes with melted butter and pepper.

Scallops are for those who do not relish clams, but like a tender, sweet morsel of flesh. The flavor is the most delicate of all shell fish. They are cooked in the shell, removed from their snowy shells and having the hard muscle cut away, the item block of flesh remaining is dipped in egg, salted and peppered and rolled in crumbs. This is repeated until a thick coating adheres, when they are placed in a wire basket and plunged into deep fat. They are served with tartar sauce and garnished with cress or celery.

It is much pleasanter for housekeepers to buy shell fish prepared for cooking, but dealers seldom clean or par-boil them until they have died, and by this time they are unfit for table use. The best test for the home cook to secure them as alive as possible. Scallops, however, are an exception and may be had fresh and firm and ready to be broached, but they should never be bought from a bowl of ice water, they should be dry when purchased, for they will absorb as much water as will equal their own weight. "He's so close he soaks scallops," is a description often applied "down east" to a stingy person.

IT HELPS MAKE RATHER THAN MOVE

LaGrange, Ga., April 16.—Editor Constitution: In the very complete analysis of the regional bank system by Mr. McCord there is one very important point omitted. He refers in the second before the last paragraph to the "furnishing of notes to move crops." As a matter of fact, very little money is required to move crops for the reason that within a very few days after a crop is ripe for harvest it brings in cash instantly from the sale thereof.

The point rather to be emphasized is that this regional bank makes it possible for merchants and farmers who co-operate in trade to be able to get the necessary funds to make the crop, and at lower rates of interest than has heretofore been charged.

The south needs practically no money in October to move the crop. But from March 1 to September 1 an immense amount is needed to finance the planting, furnish tenants and croppers.

This new system will make it so that at any time during this crop making period merchants and farmers who can make good bankable paper properly secured will always be able to realize on such collateral and get money, and all that is needed at a lower rate of interest.

BROOKS COUNTY, GEORGIA

(From Springfield (Ohio) Farm and Fireside.)

Brooks county, Georgia, exports bacon. Where can another county in the United States be found which does the same, unless it possesses a packing house? At the town of Quitman twenty-two wagon loads of cured bacon were sold by the farmers in one day. What other county in the United States can show any considerable number of farmers who bring in wagon loads of cured bacon?

Besides providing for the home larders, this county last year shipped some live hogs, and sold 150,000 pounds of cured bacon at an average price of 20 cents a pound. A great many pig clubs have been organized, and the production of bacon as a cash crop on the farm is making rapid progress.

This is in the south. To be sure, any Iowa county can probably make the Brooks county figures look small so far as hog production is concerned, but when one thinks of the millions of acres in the south capable of producing cheap pork the figures are startling. Again, hosts of northern pork producers sell live hogs at 8 cents and buy bacon at 20 cents.

There is something worth studying in Brooks county, Georgia.

How Blankets Got Their Name

(From The Springfield Republican.)

A recent exceptionally cold week in England has brought out of the old records the story of the origin of the blanket. It takes its name, as not everybody knows, from a Flemish merchant named Thomas Blanket, who in the fourteenth century settled in Bristol and fell into poverty. During the famous cold winter of 1340 he and his wife suffered greatly from the cold, and looking for an extra bed covering, he got hold of a piece of rough unfinished cloth, which had been thrown to waste. It met a long-felt want, and by manufacturing that kind of cloth for bed covering he won fame, fortune and a place in the dictionary.

DAILY GRIST from the STATE'S POLITICAL GRIND

HOME PAPER PUTS JUDGE THOMAS IN RACE FOR THE GOVERNORSHIP

The Valdosta Times, the home paper of Judge W. E. Thomas, in its issue of Monday, practically puts the south Georgia jurist in the race for governor. Among other things, it says, editorially:

"The call of the press and friends that Judge W. E. Thomas, of the southern circuit of the state, shall announce for the governorial chair has suddenly brought into being the new and magic slogan 'Thomas for Governor.'

JUDGE W. E. THOMAS.

"As evidenced by the editorial and cordial news stories of different papers, and the increasing flood of demands by political and personal friends, Judge Thomas stands out as the man upon whom the entire state can unite—the man who can make the race with the commendation and support of members of every section and faction.

"Sweeping aside the sentiment that naturally marks the presentation of a south Georgian's name, the fact is emphatically apparent that Judge Thomas would be the candidate of all-Georgia born and reared in this section, but whose record and reputation as a clean man, an able jurist and the most upright of judges, has spread to all other sections of the state.

"The eyes of Georgia are turned politically upon Judge Thomas as he considers his decision. While he considers, the new and magic slogan is waiting—

"'Thomas for Governor.'"

UP TO SOUTH GEORGIA DECLARES JUDGE THOMAS IN INTERVIEW

Judge W. E. Thomas, after holding court in Mitchell county for the past week, was in Atlanta yesterday, spending the day here on business.

Judge Thomas has presided over the Atlanta courts several times where the regular judges have been disqualified, and probably no outside judge who ever sat on the bench in Atlanta has made more friends among the local bar than he.

On being asked yesterday concerning the declaration of his home paper, The Valdosta Times, putting him, in effect, squarely in the race for governor, Judge Thomas said:

"I have not been at home for several days, and, while, of course, I appreciate the good will and the kind expression of my home paper, its declaration must stand for itself, and not as an announcement of my candidacy for governor.

"I am in receipt of hundreds of letters from all parts of the state, and especially from my own section, urging me to enter the race, and I do not mind saying that no other alternative is left me than to give the matter serious consideration."

"When will you make up your mind?"

"I do not know. Just now, I am thinking about the situation, and looking into it as best I can. It would be unjust to me and unjust to my friends to jump helter-skelter into a contest without making very careful study of conditions.

"Everybody tells me that all of southwest Georgia will be practically solid for me, but in this matter I do not mind saying that I am 'from Missouri.' But this is a case where others must speak before I do—not only my own section, but the balance of the state as well.

"Of course, no section of the state has an exclusive claim to the governorship, but in this particular instance the candidacy of any south Georgian should be contingent upon the presentation of his name by his part of the state. If that section of the state has any name in view that it thinks would strongly crystallize the support of those counties, then I would not hesitate to say that I would not for a moment consider entering the race.

"In other words this whole matter is entirely up to the people of the state. I must know more about how they stand before I can say what I will do.

"It does seem to me that south Georgia should be permitted to name the candidate for governor this time. Every candidate for the United States senate lives from Macon to the north Georgia line. Felder and Cooper live in Macon, Hardwick north of Macon, and both Senator Smith and Governor Slaton, and also Major McGregor and Mr. Cochran, live still further north.

"Now, it does seem that, if south Georgia is to leave the two senatorships to be contested for by the northern half of the state, the southern half should be permitted to have the governorship. That is true, whether or not I may be a candidate, and I believe that the sense of fairness of the whole state will see the situation in that light."

Judge Thomas frankly confesses that he is being literally overwhelmed with letters, and the general impression of the state is that he is all but a candidate. His announcement at any time during the next few weeks would surprise no one.

MANY STATEHOUSE CANDIDATES TO ATTEND DRAINAGE CONGRESS

Brunswick, Ga., April 17.—(Special.)—Drainage and politics will be somewhat mixed in Brunswick on next Monday, when the annual meeting of the Georgia Drainage congress will be held in this city. At least a half dozen candidates who are now aspiring to high state offices will be in the city to attend the drainage congress and to incidentally look over the situation down this way.

Among those who have already announced that they will be here will be Governor Slaton, senatorial candidate; Hon. J. Randolph Anderson, candidate for governor; Colonel Clifford Walker, candidate for attorney general; Congressman J. Randall Walker, who is seeking re-election and who, up to the present, is unopposed; Dr. L. G. Hardman, of Commerce, another gubernatorial candidate; George C. Smith, of this city, who has announced for the railroad commission; Judge C. P. Conyers, candidate for re-election as judge of the Brunswick circuit, and probably one or two others.

While, of course, the question of drainage brings all of these candidates to the city, still a little politics will likely be discussed informally after the meeting. It is expected that the entire Georgia delegation will leave after the meeting to attend the National Drainage congress in Savannah.

JUDGE BURNSIDE ENTERS RACE FOR STATE SENATE FROM 20TH

Thomson, Ga., April 17.—(Special.)—The announcement of Judge J. B. Burnside as a candidate for the state senate from the twenty-second senatorial district was received with interest by his friends in Thomson and McDuffie county. It is McDuffie's time to name the senator, according to the rotary system.

Judge Burnside is a native of this county, and graduate of Emory college from the class of 1891. Soon after leaving college he taught in the Harris county school one year. Later he studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1894, at Hamilton, Ga. He was appointed solicitor of the county court by Governor Terrell, and served in that office for seven years. In the fall of 1909 he returned to Thomson, where he has since been engaged actively in the practice of law.

But Associated Press Says Operation Was Successful

Editor Constitution: Some two weeks ago I wrote a card to The Constitution in which I deprecated the publishing of reports by the Associated Press of unusual medical and surgical cases which had been cured by some new operation. The card in question had reference to a dispatch from Baltimore in which it was stated about that time and a few days later also that vision had been restored to a child by the transplanting of a piece of the eye from a pig to that of the patient. Such reports I said did the public a real injustice in that they led to false hopes in a great many people who would spend their last cent in order to reach the city where such operations had been reported to have been done.

Following this card The Constitution published a long editorial in which the validity of the Associated Press report was upheld and intimating that the case in question had been successful.

Since then I have written to friends in Baltimore who have investigated this case and have written me that the result was exactly as predicated in my card: namely, that it was unsuccessful and has in no wise aided the vision of the child. I wish to call attention again to these erroneous press dispatches and I think that the public is due some consideration before reports go out as to the successful result of any operation or treatment before the same has been thoroughly tested and the final results well known. PURCHASING AGENT ASSAILED BY LEE

Seeks to Abolish Department, Although It Is Said to Have Saved City $60,000 Since It Was Established.

Despite the fact that the city purchasing agent department has saved the city more than $60,000, it is stated, during the brief period the office has been in operation, Councilman Jesse B. Lee, of the Fifth ward, wants the office abolished.

Councilman Lee is drafting an ordinance which proposes repealing the ordinance creating the office of purchasing agent, or rather limiting his powers in the matter of purchasing supplies for all departments of the city government. Councilman Lee takes the position that the ordinance was not intended to place the purchasing agent in control of the purchase of all supplies for city government, including fire apparatus, hose, machinery and other requisites which cost more than $5,000 and upon which boards previously controlled.

City Purchasing Agent Chambers does not enjoy the sole authority to purchase supplies.

The ordinance under which he works requires that an advisory board composed of the mayor, chairman of the finance committee and the comptroller, be consulted. This section of the ordinance, according to Mayor Woodward, has been worked out satisfactorily. Several weeks ago the city purchasing agent recommended the purchase of an American La France engine for the Eighth ward for $9,900. The purchase saved the city several hundred dollars.

On Wednesday the department purchased $2,500 worth of fire hose from the Eureka Fire Hose Manufacturing company and the Bi-Lateral company at a saving of more than $250 to the city.

MOTHER WINS CUSTODY OF MADELINE BARLOW

The supreme court on Friday affirmed the decision of the ordinary's court of Stewart county, which awarded the custody of Madeline Barlow to her mother, notwithstanding the fact that in the original decree of divorce, obtained in Fulton county, the custody of the child was given to its millionaire father, who lives in Cuba.

The Barlow case was aired in the courts some months ago, when Mrs. Barlow temporarily resided in Atlanta.

The supreme court held that while a decree of divorce awarding custody of a child originally is prima facie evidence of the proper disposition of the child, is not necessarily final, and might be reversed by proper showing in the court of ordinary.

The friends of Judge Spence, while pleased with his appointment, regret that his duties will take him so far from home.

MARKS AND KIRKPATRICK DIVIDING THE LABOR VOTE

Federation Will Elect Officers and Choose Next Meeting Place Today.

Macon, Ga., April 17.—(Special.)—Being unable to complete the business of the convention in three days, the Georgia Federation of Labor decided this afternoon to remain in session through tomorrow, at which time officers will be elected, the next place of meeting chosen, and all unfinished business disposed of.

The indications are there is going to be somewhat of a fight over the office of president, the Atlanta delegation, one of the largest in attendance, being divided between E. M. Marks, the present incumbent, and Hoyt Kirkpatrick. In addition to these, those who are being spoken of in connection with the presidency are J. C. Wilham, Macon; McKenna and G. C. O'Fry, of Macon.

Every indication points to the re-election of Robert Fechner, of Savannah, as secretary. He has held this office for five years. The fight to have Macon made the permanent meeting place of the federation was renewed today, and it begins to look as though the convention may adopt this plan.

Much of the time was taken up today with the discussion of the legislative program. Some delegates wanted to center on three of the most important bills, those of child labor, compelsory education and free text books, and seek to secure their passage by the legislature.

It was pointed out that because the federation has had so many bills before the legislature heretofore, none of them have passed in the last two years. Representatives of various unions having bills pending, however, objected, and it was decided to let all bills go in.

There are about twenty bills which have been reported on favorably by the legislative committee.

Though badly burned, the negro succeeded in cutting the mule loose from the wagon and it escaped after the tail had been burned off, the negro clinging to the harness and being dragged from the pit. The wagon was completely burned.

GWINNETT TRIES OUT NEW ROAD MACHINERY

Lawrenceville, Ga., April 17.—(Special.)—The improved road machinery recently purchased by the commissioners of Gwinnett county arrived last week and is now being tried out for the first time. The board of commissioners and a number of citizens who have seen it work are well pleased with the same and regard it as a good investment.

The machinery consists of a tractor engine weighing ten tons and developing thirty horsepower, which pulls a number of other machines. A scarifier does the plowing and is hitched next to the engine. Then there is a set of a dozen plows to tear the earth up, followed by a set of scrapes that throw the dirt toward the center of the road, clean the sides and fill the gullies. This is followed by a planer, which packs and levels the road bed.

The machinery costs in the neighborhood of $6,000, and it is said to work about ten miles in a day with convict labor. Gwinnett already has over 100 miles of graded roads.

APPEALS COURT HEARS VETERAN'S DAMAGE SUIT

The court of appeals heard yesterday a case growing out of the last veterans' reunion in Macon.

William Johnson, 75, a veteran of Hillsboro, Texas, brought suit against the Atlanta Terminal company and the Southern Railway company. He asserts he went at night to the Terminal station, and his train not being ready to go, he started out across the plaza and went on the monument grounds surrounding the Spencer monument. He claims that the place was not well lighted, and thinking it was one of the exits from the station, he walked off into the street below, falling 16 feet to the sidewalk, crushing his thigh, breaking his hips and being injured otherwise.

The companies filed a general demurrer before Judge Reid, but he overruled them and they carried case up. The Southern railway was represented by E. R. Black, the Terminal company by Arthur Heyman, and Johnson by Burton Smith and J. W. Crenshaw. Mr. Crenshaw made his first argument in the court of appeals, and was congratulated by his friends.

Still asleep he went to a window near his bed, opened the blinds and jumped to the ground below. He was picked up later by others who were awakened by his fall and was found to have escaped very serious injury.

YOU HAVE TO DANCE AND KISS PROPERLY, DECLARES RECORDER

Ethel Gibson, actress, playing at the Columbia Burlesque theater, was handed a copy of charges to appear in court on Friday for trial before Recorder Noah Broyles at the Thursday night performance by Chief Beavers' special theatrical critic, Special Officer Ed Arthur.

The police theatrical critic had just witnessed one of the dances done by the dancer and objected to it.

The girl failed to appear in court, and when Judge Broyles ordered her arrest it was discovered at her hotel that she had left the city.

Also on Thursday night the police theatrical critic visited other local playhouses. At the Old Mill theater, on Whitehall street, he served a copy of charges upon Mrs. T. W. Kennedy and Gus Mortimer for staging a brand of "soul kiss" which, the officer stated, lasted for five minutes.

Mrs. Kennedy and Mortimer were fined $25.75 each. Mortimer remonstrated, stating that they were only staging a kissing act that he had seen at a three-dollar show which was witnessed by Atlanta society, and had not been objected to at the time.

Judge Nash Broyles examined the defendant then, and under the cross-examination Mortimer admitted that the kissing act as staged by himself and Mrs. Kennedy was different from the one at the three-dollar show.

Judge Broyles told The Constitution reporter that the afternoon papers had made it appear that he had fined the "soul kissers" merely for staging an innocent church altar scene.

While it is true there are a number of first-class single seats left for grand opera, the sale is assuming such proportions that if a person delays buying until the last moments the chances are he will have difficulty in securing seats, which will give him the least opportunity of hearing grand opera under the most favorable auspices.

Grand opera is approaching rapidly. In but a few days now the noted stars will be here. With the coming of the company the sale of seats will be transferred to the Auditorium. Up to that time they can be secured at Phillips & Crew and the Cable Piano company.

Special Service For the Ladies

IN GARDENING, in the making of flower beds, in the selection of decorative plants for the home, etc., there are usually some questions coming up that mere man, no matter how well posted he may be, cannot always answer satisfactorily. The trouble is that the man can seldom see things from the woman's point of view.

We realize this, hence we have secured Mrs. Sherrill, who has had wide gardening and floral experience, for a special service. Mrs. Sherrill is in our city retail store daily to answer those often perplexing questions, both from the viewpoint of a woman and from practical experience.

Come and see Mrs. Sherrill. Ask her all the questions you want to. She is in our store to serve you to the fullest extent possible.

FAILS TO SECURE RECOGNITION

Lady's Own Friends Assert Could Not Recognize Her When Brought Face to Face.

Arritts, Va.—Mrs. D. J. Bowen, of this town, makes the following statement: "For 20 years I suffered with womanly troubles, and although I tried different treatments, I did not get any relief.

I was unable to look after any of my work, and my friends thought I could not get well.

Finally, I began to take Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I hadn't taken one-third of the first bottle before I could notice its good effects.

Now I can do all my work, feel like I'm not more than 16 years old, but am really 43. My own friends say I look so well they don't recognize me when we meet in the road.

My daughter is using Cardui, and she says it is a fine medicine. I also have a number of lady friends taking it, since they found out how it helped me.

Whenever I feel a little fatigued after a day's extra hard work, I just take a dose of Cardui and am all right.

I can't say too much for Cardui."

Thousands of women who now suffer from womanly troubles, could be relieved and benefited by following Mrs. Bowen's example.

Are you of this number?

If so, try Cardui today. It cannot harm you, and is almost sure to do you good.

WARD COMMITTEES TO URGE HOSPITAL

"Live Wires" in Every Part of City Will Be Asked to Work for Greater Grady Movement.

The campaign committee of the Greater Grady hospital bond movement is planning the completion of one of the strongest organizations next week that has ever been brought together in Atlanta for a work of this kind.

The committee is making up a list of about twenty or twenty-five "live wires" in each of Atlanta's ten wards to act as ward campaign committees and to look after and sound out the voters in their respective wards.

The selection of these ward committees has about been completed and early next week they will be called to meet in the council chamber, where Dr. W. B. Summerall will make a brief address outlining Atlanta's hospital needs. Brief speeches will also be made by Mayor Woodward and Captain J. W. English.

Organization of the ward campaign committees will then be perfected and a chairman chosen by each of them. The chairmen of the ten ward committees will constitute a sort of central committee, and the entire organization will be so employed that each member will have a particular and a specific duty to perform prior to and on election day.

In addition to the ward committees, all members of the general committee and the trustees of Grady hospital will be invited to this meeting, and the leaven of enthusiasm for Greater Grady, which is already at work, will be pushed to the limit.

Ad Men Are Busy.

There is no more enthusiastic organization in Atlanta for the Grady hospital bonds than the Atlanta Ad Men's club, who devoted their noonday luncheon this week to a discussion of the hospital situation, with an address from Dr. Summerall.

The ad men have appropriated to themselves one particular feature of the work, though they will lend their assistance to others. They have taken upon themselves the work of getting up a big mass meeting of citizens as a climax to the campaign and just at its close, and they have promised to make it one of the biggest Atlanta has ever seen.

The Rotary club will also get busy for the bonds right away. It was through the Rotary club's activities, largely, that the Grady bond movement was brought about. The Rotary club got back of the agitation for a contagious disease hospital for negroes, and it was through this that the woefully inadequate facilities of Grady hospital were brought to public attention.

Atlanta's Deficiency.

Some interesting statistics are being prepared with reference to Grady hospital, illustrating conditions there as compared with those in hospitals in other cities.

Atlanta has spent on new buildings for Grady in the last five years only $100,000, or 59 cents per capita. Chicago has expended in the same period $8,000,000, or $3.76 per capita; Louisville, Ky., $1,000,000, or $4.50 per capita; Augusta, Ga., $200,000, or $6.25 per capita, and Cincinnati $2,500,000, or $6.87 per capita.

In the past five years the annual number of patients treated in beds in Grady hospital has increased from 1,700 to 4,248, or 123 per cent; the outdoor clinic treatments have increased from 5,480 to 22,840, or 316 per cent; the ambulance trips from 1,850 to 4,212, or 116 per cent, while the money appropriated for maintenance has increased only from $42,220 to $164,632, or only 68 per cent, and the number of nurses on duty was increased only from 20 to 42, or just 50 per cent.

All anyone needs to do to be convinced of the necessity for modern hospital facilities at Grady is simply to visit that institution. It is open to anyone who desires to visit and inspect it, and Dr. Summerall will be glad to show visitors what ever they wish to see and to explain to them the necessity for a larger and more modern hospital plant.

LOCKER CLUB MANAGERS FINED AND BOUND OVER

Officials of Eagles, Theatrical and Metropolitan Are Tried by Recorder Broyles.

Judge Broyles heavily fined three managers of locker clubs in Atlanta Friday morning for violating the city's ordinance against the keeping on hand of liquor for the purposes of illegal sale.

The managers were fined $200 each or thirty days in the stockade. They were S. R. Green, Eagles' club; H. E. Smith, Theatrical club, and A. R. Smith, Metropolitan club.

In addition to the heavy fine imposed for violation of the city's law, Judge Broyles bound the managers over for trial under a $1,000 bond each for violation of the state law against the sale of whisky.

All the cases were originally made against the three clubs last December, and at that time when they came into court they were dismissed because the state's main witness, a man named W. C. Jones, had disappeared from the city. Since that time he has returned.

The two cases against two officials of the Owls' club, C. C. Raoul and William Wolpert, were postponed until this morning, when they will be tried.

Member of Company That Captured Jefferson Davis Dies at Fitzgerald Home

Fitzgerald, Ga., April 17.—(Special.) L. Clute, member of the First Wisconsin cavalry, who took an active part in the capture at Irwinville of President Jefferson Davis, of the Confederacy, died Tuesday afternoon at his home in this city. Mr. Clute was often asked as to the appearance of Mr. Davis at the time of his capture and always emphatically stated that he plainly saw Mr. Davis and that he was not garbed in female attire, that the statement that he was was without foundation.

ORATORICAL CONTEST POSTPONED TO MAY 2

The Intercollegiate Oratorical contest under the auspices of the National Prohibition association, which was scheduled for a two-days' meet at the Tech, April 17 and 18, has been postponed until Saturday, May 2. One of the speeches from one of the contestants was lost in the mail, and W. M. Bunts, traveling college secretary of the south, said he felt it would be unfair to have the contest and leave out the oration of a young collegian who had put anxious weeks of labor upon it. Three prizes will be offered, $50 in gold for the best all-round oration; $1 in gold for the next best, while the third prize will be a gold medal presented by Mrs. M. L. Bill Smith and his Crackers, nineteen strong, left Friday afternoon for Memphis, where they open up their first road trip of the season.

They will play four games in Memphis then go to Chattanooga for two returning to Ponce de Leon park Monday, April 27, with Memphis as their opponents.

The feature of the trip will be the appearance of Rube Kissinger, former Yurtle, in Memphis in a Cracker uniform. We would give anything to hear the greeting he will receive.

Rube and George Kircher are framing up a special coaching line stunt for the benefit of the Memphis fandom.

Jack Doscher and Ham Reynolds will probably be the Crackers' battery for the opening game of the series.

Captain Harry's Pinch Swat Breaks Up Pitchers' Battle; Cop Three Out of Four Games

By Dick Jemison.

Captain Harry Welchonce again broke up a perfectly good game of baseball in the ninth inning yesterday afternoon, making the second of the series with the Volunteers that he has terminated with one of his famous pinch swats.

With the score standing 1 to 1, McConnell on second base, and the umpire about to call the game to allow both teams to catch a train for other parts, Harry blooped one a mile a minute right over second base.

Johnny Lindsay made a game try to get the wallop, but was only able to deflect it with one hand. They added McConnell to his account for the platter.

Atlanta's joy would be complete if Bill Klein was still connected with the Vols as president. But Nashville has cringes whenever they hear the name of Welchonce, and they are two ball games on the wrong side of the ledger as a result. The sagacity of leading hitter being a Cracker instead of a Volunteer.

A Pitchers' Battle.

The contest was a wonderful pitchers' battle, with Emmet Kay Perryman, the former Mercer collegian, working for the Crackers against Stevens.

It was as pretty a game of baseball as one would care to see, and coming right after the horrible exhibitions that were staged on Thursday, delighted every fan's soul. Maybe the presence of the fair fans in large numbers, Friday being the first ladies' day of the season, inspired the teams to extra efforts. Whatever it was, they played good baseball.

Neither side made a bobbin. Each pitcher only allowed three hits. It was the fourth game of the series to be decided by a one-run margin. The Crackers won the first, 5 to 4, the second 7 to 6, lost the third, 5 to 4, and won the fourth 2 to 1.

Three games out of four over the Vols, who have always been the toughest club in the league for the Crackers to beat, regardless of what kind of a ball team either has, or what kind of ball they play in each game, is going some.

Perryman's Great Hurling.

Perryman's hurling was the delightful feature of the game. The big fellow "had something" on that old pill all the time. The Vols ate out of his hand throughout.

Only twenty-nine men faced him in the nine innings. Three of these got on one made a sacrifice and the other twenty-five were easily disposed of by the bench.

The first twenty men to face him came up, swung their war clubs and went back to the bench. Every had the twenty-first, also, but the blind. Tom behind the plate could not see it that far. After Perry had him fanned, Dave Callahan, the batter, doubled to right field for his first hit, and the first man to get on first during the game.

Morley Jennings made up for his bad day Thursday by fielding excellently throughout. Maxwell made a number of pretty plays; Joe Dunn perched himself on seven put-outs, and, in fact, the entire bunch played good ball.

Stevens, twirling for the Vols, also pitched a fine game, but not as good a one as Perryman. True he allowed only five scratch hits, but he handed out three free tickets, while Perryman did not issue a one.

How Runs Scored.

The Crackers were the first to count. With one gone in the first inning, Jennings reached first on a free ticket. Welchonce went out, but Long poled one to center field for two cushions, scoring Jennings.

The Vols tied it in the eighth, when Hemingway, first off the bat, went to center, was sacrificed to second by Schwartz and trotted home when Johnny Lindsay shot a single to right field.

The game was won in the ninth, when McConnell singled to left, and was sacrificed to second by Jennings and scored on Welchonce's scorching single.

Montgomery, Ala., April 17.—For the second time in the present series Montgomery and New Orleans battled into extra innings this afternoon before a decision was recorded. Phenomenal pitching by Bagby, who allowed but a hit nor a run, and allowed no local batter to reach first base for the seven innings he was on the mound, saved the game for New Orleans. He relieved Wilson in the fifth inning, whose wildness permitted Montgomery to score one run in each of the first three innings.

OTTO JORDAN GETS SCHWIND FROM BILL

Otto Jordan, former Cracker manager-captain and second baseman, has secured Arthur Schwind for his Dallas, Texas, club of the Texas league.

Schwind has left to join his new teammates. As he played in the Texas league last season and is familiar with conditions there, he should help Jordan immensely. Local fans wish him well in his new berth.

With the release of Schwind, but nineteen men remain on the roster. Of these, there are seven pitchers, three catchers, five infielders, three outfielders and a utility man. One pitcher, one catcher and one infielder will be released at the final cutting down time.

Three Teams Leave Local Prep Leagues; Rules Cause Move

The Atlanta Prep School Baseball league is about to be disrupted and all because of some dimension which arose at a recent meeting of the governing committee, consisting of one representative from each school.

Three of the seven teams have already withdrawn, taking this step so suddenly that much excitement has been caused in prep circles and much speculation as to what the outcome will be.

Boys' High school, Peacock-Wiest and Stone Mountain are the three disgruntled members. Their withdrawal leaves Georgia Military academy, Donald Fraser, Marist and Tech High in the league.

It is a matter of much doubt as to whether the four remaining teams will complete the league schedule or not. The teams that withdrew will play out their schedules with the other two prep schools.

This move on the part of the "Prep League Federals," as they have been dubbed, has created as much excitement in local prep circles as the organization of the Federal league did in organized baseball.

No settlement of the argument appears to be in sight. A ruling regarding what boys are eligible to be played by the different teams, railroaded through the recent meeting, is said to be the cause of the upset.

Whether the league will be organized again next season or not remains to be developed.

JACKETS ARE EASY FOR COMMODORES

By Hal Reynolds.

By hitting the ball at opportune moments, the VanderBilt Commodores swamped the Tech Yellow Jackets yesterday afternoon by the score of 11 to 1.

For the first five innings the game was a pitchers' battle between Burbanks and Corothers. In the sixth, however, Vandy's heavy artillery started, and before the round was over the host amassed four runs, enough to win the game.

All of the twirlers used were rapped rather freely, Vandy securing 11 binglers off of Burbank and Tech 9 off Corothers.

The Jackets failed to put up their usual steady game in the field. Five errors were chalked up to them, several of all figuring prominently in the scoring line.

Vanderbilt made a couple of fast double plays during the contest. They came late at the time when Tech was threatening to overcome the large lead.

The hitting honors of the afternoon go to Murphy Pound, Tech's captain. Out of four trips to the pan he secured four stinging hits for a total of seven bases.

There were a number of spectacular fielding stunts pulled off during the contest. Every one caught off a liner from Witherington's bat robbed the Tech catcher of a possible triple. Wooten, Johnson and Turner also made some pretty catches of hard chances.

Bubanks had the Commodores eating out of his hand up until the sixth session, when he was hit hard. During the first three innings he did not allow a ball to be hit out of the infield.

Davidson's batting was the most disastrous to the Jackets. In the sixth, with the bases loaded, he tripled over E. Montague's head, scoring three runs.

The teams play again today at 3:30 o'clock. Pitts or Bryant will twirl for the Jackets.

WILLIE RITCHIE DEFEATS MURPHY

Nearly Every One of the 20 Rounds Was Ritchie's. Murphy Showed Ability to Stand Punishment.

San Francisco, April 17.—Willie Ritchie, lightweight champion of the world, won a decision over "Harlem Tommy" Murphy in a twenty-round fight here tonight. Nearly every round was easily Ritchie's, but Murphy's ability to stand punishment astounded the crowd.

In the sixth, tenth, fifteenth and the twentieth rounds, Murphy was dazed and staggering. He reeled and clinched and covered up and leaned against the ropes. Knocked through the ropes in the last round he bounded to his feet again and came back with a splendid flash of daring, but the round remained Ritchie's by a wide margin.

Murphy made exactly the sort of a fight that Ritchie liked. The champion waited for the challenger to come to him and caught him repeatedly with straight lefts to the face and heavy left and right rips to the body.

In the last rounds the champion was crowding Murphy about the ring, measuring him with his left for heavy right crosses that still failed to carry a knockout.

Murphy scarcely landed a clean single solid blow.

MANUSH MAY MANAGE THE ALBANY BABIES

It is reported on reliable authority that Frank Manush, the veteran infielder of the Crackers, who was given his unconditional release recently, is slated to manage the Albany club of the South Atlantic league.

The report states that the deal has practically been closed and that by the first part of the next week, Frank will take over the reins now held by Phil Wells, a former Atlanta catcher.

It is also stated that Wells will remain with the club as catcher.

COTTON IS QUIET AT STEADY PRICE

Reported Large Amounts Arriving in New York Are of Too Low Grade to Pass Contract Requirements.

New York, April 17.—The cotton market was quiet today, but prices ruled generally steady on a bullish view of the week-end figures, continued reports that a large proportion of cotton arriving here was found of too low grade to pass contract requirements and appreciation of unsettled stocks at commercially cool weather southwest. Closing prices were steady and net unchanged to 5 points higher, with near months relatively firm.

Liverpool was a little better than due, but after opening steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 2 points, local traders turned off slightly under week-end realizing and continued talk of accumulating unsettled stocks or possible short time among domestic spinners during spring and summer helped to point higher, with no means active or aggressive, and after showing a net gain of 2 or 4 points the market steadied on the western belt forecast and renewed covering.

May led the advance, selling about at middling basis, and showing on the 24 points above Wednesday morning's low level. Other positions showed net gains of 3 to 5 points, but the advance was checked around this level by realizing and the close was steady at two off from the best.

Spinners taking of American cotton for the week proved slightly in excess of expectations, making the visible supply statement equally bullish, while local buyers also pointed out that for the first time since the movement started interior towns were under last year's. These features undoubtedly influenced the near covering, although talk around the ring suggested there is still more than enough fusion of opinion as to the position of May and July contracts. Demand for new crop deliveries was rather quiet, active today than on yesterday's rally, but commission houses were moderate buyers on the early decline, although the weather map showed generally favorable conditions over the belt for twenty-four hours ending this morning.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, April 17.—(Special.)—The market was dull and featureless with small trading, mostly of a scalping character. Reports were similar. The feeling here is somewhat in favor of lower prices with no special disposition to sell. The recent cotton crop situation has been treated in the degree undesirable and commitments in old crop deliveries show strength because of some fear that suitable cotton may not be found to fill contracts. The new crop position upon the developments of the next few weeks and the daily prospects are without effect at the moment they are not wholly good.

Jay, Bond & Co.

New York, April 17.—(Special.)—After an early decline a few points higher the market assumed a steadier and improved price trend. Unfavorable weather forecasts, bullish week-end statistics and reports that rejections of cotton arriving here were greater than heretofore were the principal factors in the rally. Covering by the principal cause of strength, although trading generally was active. Some commission houses are also credited with buying on the decline. Southern spinners' takings and exports were small, but the former were somewhat larger than expected. Spot cotton closed steady, unchanged; middling 13 1-16; sales on the spot, 1,525, to arrive, 1,000. Weekly Cotton Review.

New York, April 17.—Quite a reaction followed the Department's March cotton market immediately after the Easter holidays. It was argued that during a full month of active covering the short interest must have been much reduced, and that a new tering long interest had accumulated with the appearance of better weather south, nervousness over the situation and withdrawal from the the near month support which has been a strong factor before the holidays, courageed considerable selling, but at a break of about 80 points in May, and a f20 to 0 points on later months offerings became smaller, while there also seemed to be renewed disposition from recent prominent buyers.

Trading, however, was less active on the rally toward the end of the week, and talk around the rag suggested that more than usual interest centered with many traders expressing determination to operate cautiously pending fresh developments in the spot situation or a nearer view of the new crop start. The reduction in the acreage in the interior spot markets. These conditions, together with the doubtless contributed to the uncertainty expressed as to the merits of the other crop situation at the higher level. The early resumption of the official daily and weekly weather reports for the season has also tended to turn trade attention to new crop months, and they have shown relatively increased activity and have seemed to attract some commission house buying on declines.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, April 17.—Cotton seed oil started higher on scattering demand, but later eased off under prospects of liberal offerings in May contracts and liquidation for western account on the heaviness of lard. Final prices were 4 points lower for May, and unchanged to 1 not lower for the balance.

The cotton seed oil market closed easier. Spot, 7.38@7.45.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, April 17.—Continuing influences held the cotton market within narrow bounds today. At the highest trading months were 4 to 6 points over last night's close, at the lowest they were 3 to 7 under. The close was unchanged to 2 points up compared with yesterday's close.

While the weather map was extremely favorable, so far as the cotton belt itself was concerned, the outlook was for stormy and colder weather. Reports from the belt told of an immense amount of planting and of much cotton coming up, but against this was the fear of damage from the cold weather now on the Pacific coast.

The week-end statistics were bullish, the into-sight being small and the out-of-sight large, which resulted in large decreases in the visible supply. This steadied the market in the forenoon. The cotton that came on the trade was so centered on the new crop that little attention was paid to other features.

Drop in Crude Oil.

New York, April 17.—Ten cents came off the price of Pennsylvania crude when the Standard market opened here today. Other grades also were reduced.

It has been known for some time that refineries were well stocked with finished product and the market was light for crude. This, together with the drop in midcontinent oil since last week, was given by the principal purchasing agencies as the cause of the cut here.

Dun's Review.

New York, April 17.—Dun's review will say tomorrow:

"Adverse weather conditions accentuate the prevailing quietness in trade. Evidences of improvement are not absent, yet progress is checked by the backward spring. This retards distribution of seasonable merchandise and has caused accumulation of goods in some quarters.

"The supply of commercial paper continues light, notwithstanding the attractive terms offered by financial institutions. Confidence in the future, however, is maintained, largely because of the splendid agricultural outlook.

"Winter wheat is in such shape that even last year's banner yield probably will be surpassed. Everything points to an increased spring acreage, while other leading crops are starting well. Speculative influences are the injected some bearishness to prices of farm staples, but in a broad sense, commodities are still tending downward.

"Failures this week numbered 216, against 195 last year and 29 in Canada, compared with 27."

ALDERMAN OWENS ATTACKED IN VETO

Mayor Says He Is Member of Firm Awarded City Contract, But Owens Says He Has Sold His Interest.

Mayor James G. Woodward yesterday vetoed the resolution of the street committee awarding the 1914 sidewalk contract to the Cement Stone and Tile company.

Mayor Woodward explained his action by stating that information has come to him that Alderman John S. Owens, of the eighth ward, is directly interested in the corporation with W. L. Bishop. Under the law, according to Mayor Woodward, it is illegal for the city to enter into a contract with any corporation, firm or partnership in which a member of council or a city official is interested as a stockholder or as an employee.

Alderman Owens was a stockholder in the corporation, but he declares that he disposed of his stock to Bishop.

Mayor Woodward says that he has information that Alderman Owens is still a stockholder in the Cement Stone and Tile company, holding stock in the name of his partner, Bishop.

Alderman Owens claims that he is not a stockholder in the corporation. Mayor Woodward says he is. The question is one for council to decide. If the eighth ward alderman still owns stock in the partnership, the contract which was awarded on bids must of necessity be voided.

The bids for all sidewalk tile paving were opened by the street committee some time ago, and on the tender of the Cement Stone and Tile company was the lowest and best bidder—the committee passed up a resolution authorizing the execution of a contract for the work of the entire year. Council passed the resolution unanimously.

ENCOURAGE MILITIA, URGES THOMAS ERWIN

The Atlanta Chamber of Commerce is meeting with almost unanimous support in its effort to encourage the employers of Atlanta expressions of indorsement for the Georgia regiments of militia and of their willingness to allow their employees to be members of the national guard.

Hundreds of letters have come in indorsing and acquiescing in the plan, and scarcely any dissenting voice has been raised. One of the most interesting recent letters is from Thomas C. Erwin, of the Third National bank. Mr. Erwin, who is a member of the Guard and of the governor's military staff, says:

"I am heartily in sympathy with the movement to encourage the military in this city. There will undoubtedly come a time in the future, as there has in the past, when the services of this organization will be invaluable to the community. We have several members of the militia in our employ, and we not only encourage their enlistment, but we make it a point to arrange their vacations for such times as the annual militia encampment is held, even when that time is in conflict with the date of vacations of other employees."

ORATORICAL CONTEST WON BY W. P. BINNS

Arthur Pew, Peacock-Fleet, Is Second—John Stewart, B. H. S., Gets Honorable Mention.

By Robert Foreman.

W. P. Binns won the interscholastic contest which was held at the Girls' High school last night, delivering Ransom's address on "Southern Chivalry." His victory entitles him to the $50 gold medal which was offered by Mayor Woodward. Arthur Pew, of Peacock-Fleet school, was given second place by the committee, and John Stewart, of B. H. S., honorable mention.

The committee which awarded the medal was composed of E. W. Martin, C. C. Thorn and P. Etheridge. Mr. Martin delivered the medal in an interesting speech. Boys' High school carried off the honors of the contest, as the winner and the speaker who received honorable mention were both from B. H. S.

The speeches at this contest were unusually fine, and each of the six prep schools represented made a good showing. McPhail, of Peacock, won the interscholastic contest last year, but was unable to try this year on account of a rule of the prep league.

The program of the exercises was as follows:

Edward Cristo, Tech High school, "Defense of John E. Cook" (Wheeler).

John Emmett, Domnic Fraser school, "America's Uncrowned Queen" (Hall).

T. Dunnigan, University School for Boys, "Spartacus to the Gladiators" (Robert Bird).

W. P. Binns, Boys' High school, "Southern Chivalry" (Ransom).

Lyons Doel, Marist college, "Let Us Pause" (Charles Fox).

Music.

Arthur Pew, Jr., Peacock-Fleet school, "In Regard to Secession" (Robert Toombs).

J. P. Howard, Boys' High school, "Independence of Cuba."

F. D. Smith, University School for Boys, "In Defense of the Union" (Webster).

Van Valkenburg, Donald Fraser school, "Orator Hugo on Defense of His Son" (Victor Hugo).

Howell Cobb, Tech High school, "Woman" (Tilton).

Music.

Decision of the judges.

Charles W. Fairbanks Hurt.

Frankfort, Ind., April 17.—Charles W. Fairbanks, of Indianapolis, former vice president, was slightly injured today when a speaker's stand collapsed during Arbor day exercises here. Mr. Fairbanks was reviewing a parade of school children when the structure collapsed. He sustained an injury to his right leg and numerous bruises.

TWO WHITE MEN HELD ON CHARGE OF CHILD

H. Amasson and J. L. Perkins Will Be Tried This Afternoon.

Two white men are now held at police station connected with the criminal assault upon a 10-year-old girl in an old vacant house on Marietta street, near the National Furniture company, Thursday at sundown.

H. Amasson, 47 Longley avenue, a butcher, 50 years of age, and the father of eight children, was arrested at his home last night by Detectives Tuggle and Wiley. He denied the charge, but was positively identified by the little girl and a little boy who says he saw him go into the old outhouse with the little girl.

J. L. Perkins, of 134 Julian street, has also been arrested. The officers state that a short while after the crime was committed Thursday he came to the home on Marietta street of the little girl and asked the little girl to go with him to the house and show him the place where the crime was committed, promising to catch the offender.

The girl and Perkins accompanied by her aged grandmother, went to the house. The little girl states that Perkins got her to go into a room where her grandmother could not see them.

Both men will be tried in police court this afternoon, the detectives state. Amasson on the charge of assault, and Perkins on the charge of attempt to assault.

GLAD TO GET HIM, BUT MELIOPOLI AS HER NAME—NEVER!

There appeared before Judge McClelland in the municipal court yesterday, a young man and a young woman, desirous of getting married. The young man was obviously a Greek.

"Your name?" was inquired. The young man drew a long breath.

"Alexander Meliopoli—" he began. The indications were that he still had some distance to go, but at this moment the young woman looked at him. The young man appeared to remember something. He stopped.

"Your name?" was reiterated. "Aleck Brown," said he, in a subdued tone. The young woman gave here as Effie Whitaker. They were married.

On the way out, a friend of the bridegroom was pressed for explanations.

"He wouldn't stand for it," said the friend. "Said it took too long to write."

Alexander Meliopoli—, beg pardon Aleck Brown is a chef in one of the downtown restaurants. He is from Olympia, Greece.

VALUABLE PAPERS LOST BY PASSENGER IN STREET CAR ROW

About 2:40 o'clock, Friday afternoon, a Whitehall street car was the scene of a near fight over a transfer that had been turned down by the conductor.

The passenger presenting the transfer was Samuel A. Osburn, of the firm of Benjamin-Osburn company, wholesale soda fount dealers, located at 104 Whitehall. The conductor declared that the transfer was too old, and asked for fare in its place.

"When I refused to pay fare," says Osburn, "the conductor called the motorman, and they tried to force me from the car. The passengers interfered, and the police were called in. The affair was then stopped and the charge of disorderly conduct entered against the motorman, conductor and myself."

Osburn is now looking for valuable papers which he said he lost in the commotion and which he declares are worth several thousand dollars. He resides at 197 Ponce de Leon avenue.

M'WILLIAMS MAY WIN HIS FIGHT FOR LIFE

Nerve is about to win for Police Officer J. Walter McWilliams, Jr., in his fight for life at the Grady hospital, where he was taken after colliding with a wagon on Flat Shoals road Thursday night while riding on his motorcycle.

The doctors state that McWilliams' injuries would ordinarily kill any man, but that the little police officer is game to the core, and due to this may win in his fight for life.

About sundown last night McWilliams regained consciousness for the first time since his accident. He was able to recognize his wife, and his aged father; two people who have been by his bedside ever since he was rushed to the hospital apparently in a dying condition.

WOMAN GIVES HER LIFE TO SAVE HER PET DOG

Pembroke, N. C., April 17.—An aged Cherokee (Croatan) Indian woman gave her life for her pet dog here today when in attempting to warn the animal out of the way of an on-coming Atlantic Coast Line express train she was struck and killed. The dog was saved.

Women Organizations Take Up Greater Hospital Movement

From Atlanta's women organizations and individually come assuring statements of their well-organized work in the interest of the greater hospital movement.

From the Order of Old-Fashioned Women came resolutions of indorsement, greetings, and pledges to work faithfully for the cause. These resolutions were signed by Mrs. Wilmer Moore, Mrs. Henry Inman, Mrs. Robert Maddox, Mrs. William H. Kiser, Mrs. Morris Brandon, Mrs. Robert Foreman, Mrs. W. D. Ellis, Jr., Mrs. Julian Field, Mrs. Preston Arkwright, Mrs. Maud Barker Cobb, Order of Old-Fashioned Women.

Parent-Teacher Leaders.

Mrs. George Haugh, vice president in this district of Georgia for the Mother's congress and parent-teacher associations, announces that she has communicated with the heads of the fourteen parent-teacher associations in Atlanta, and that they are already at work in the campaign for the greater hospital. The next regular meeting, at 3 o'clock Mrs. J. W. Rowlett president of the Atlanta council of presidents of the associations, has called a meeting at her home at 2:30 o'clock to further the cause.

"No one could be more deeply interested in this cause than a greater hospital than the mother and the child," said Mrs. Haugh, "and we will work as hard as we can to the need of a contagious ward for children's diseases, we particularly feel, and I hope that department especially will be perfectly equipped."

At the two meetings Thursday afternoon of parent-teacher associations, resolutions were passed indorsing the hospital campaign.

Temperance Women Working.

The Atlanta Frances Willard Woman's Christian Temperance union held a very interesting meeting Thursday, April 16, in the Sunday school room of Trinity church. After discussing the proposed flower festival and deciding that the matter be left entirely to Dr. DuBose and the other ministers who have promised to finance the convention of the National Woman's Christian Temperance union, which will be held in the Auditorium in November, the subject of indorsing the movement to secure a greater Grady hospital was considered. The following resolutions prepared by Mrs. Mary L. McLendon, the president, were unanimously adopted:

Resolutions.

Whereas an election will be held at an early date to decide whether a $750,000 bond issue will be voted for by the male citizens of the city of Atlanta, said money is to be used entirely for enlarging the capacity of Grady hospital, the only municipal hospital in the city; and,

Whereas, many of the members of the W. C. T. U. are contributors to the support of our municipal as well as state and county governments, being taxed although not represented in said government; and,

Whereas, the Georgia Christian Temperance union is a Christian organization and as such recognizes the claims of our neighbor—to care for the sick and afflicted—and, therefore, that we use our influence, irrespective of class or creed or sex, who have no money should be cared for by the municipality when sick and destitute; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Atlanta Frances Willard Woman's Christian Temperance union this day places itself on record as favoring the issuance of bonds of $750,000 to enlarge and beautify Grady hospital and make it equal to Johns Hopkins of Baltimore.

Resolved, That we use our influence, (?) with voters, as we are not permitted to be present when the vote is cast, to plead and vote for the bond issue, as there is no other way to help the poor and needy citizens of Atlanta; be it also

Resolved, That we suggest to said voters the advisability of placing women on the board of control to see that the $750,000 is expended solely for Grady hospital and not frittered away on outside projects for which it is not intended to be spent. As women are more economical, it will be wise to have their assistance in this matter which concerns them and their loved ones so seriously.

WHEN SALESMAN FAINTS SUITCASE IS STOLEN

W. B. Hughes, a Baltimore salesman, as he walked along Whitehall street Thursday afternoon on his way to the Terminal station about 6 o'clock, with his suitcase in his hand, suddenly fainted in front of a Whitehall street department store. Patterson's ambulance was called and he was taken to a private sanitarium.

As the ambulance started off someone called to Claude McAfee, the driver, that he had left Hughes' suitcase on the Whitehall street curbing. McAfee jumped out of the ambulance and ran back to get the man's belongings, which in the meantime some thief had stolen.

Detectives Bass Rosser and John Black were notified of the incident by Mr. Patterson and they are working on the case with the theory that the man was dragged in order to rob him of his suitcase and valuables.

The physician attending Mr. Hughes at a private sanitarium stated Friday that he could not tell what was the trouble with Hughes. He could not say whether he was drugged or not. Hughes was reported late Friday afternoon as getting along much better.

AT THE THEATERS.

"Smashing the Vice Trust."

(At the Atlanta.)

Two more chances remain for Atlantans to see the famous motion picture, "Smashing the Vice Trust," which is shown this afternoon and tonight. These pictures have created much talk and are one of the most sensational and are one of the most sensational. They show ten traps by which the vice recruiters secure girls and also the manner in which the trust was broken up by District Attorney Whitman. The latter is shown at work while his raids are pictured and many incidents of like character are shown.

Otis Skinner in "Kismet."

(At the Atlanta.)

Seats are now being sold for the engagement of Otis Skinner in "Kismet," the great Arabian Nights production, which will be given at the Atlanta for four nights opening Monday. A matinee will be played Wednesday afternoon. Altogether, the demand has been such that it portends a big crowd for the massive show. Mr. Skinner has a tremendous following in Atlanta and hundreds who are anxious to see "Kismet" are delighted at the chance to see the star in the role. "Kismet" is the biggest show on the road and requires a perfect army of stage hands to handle the production

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Manager Hugh Cardoza is banking strong on the drawing power of the bill which will open at the Forsyth theater next Monday. Excellent as has been the drawing power and the entertainment afforded by the bill of the week, he expects the one that will be ushered in next week to be still better. The "Green Beetle," a dramatic sketch, presenting eight clever players, will be the big headliner. The number will be ably supported by the Misses Hopkins in a musical novelty, and by Miss West, an eccentric singing comedienne, and by other worth while features.

"Seven Days."

(At the Lyric.)

The second offering of the Lucille LaVerne company will be "Seven Days," a hilarious farce company that shook New York with laughter for two solid years. Marguerite Chaffee will be seen in the leading role and Miss LaVerne in her character part. The characters of the play are members of New York's smart set; they meet for dinner and are quarantined for a week. Seven days of convulsing merriment are compressed into two hours and forty-five minutes of fun, absolutely continuous laughter provoking almost to excess. Miss LaVerne promises a production and performance equal to the original in every respect. The matinee and evening performances today will be the last opportunity to see "The Lily."

"Dope."

(At the Grand.)

In order to accommodate the large audiences expected to attend four performances will be given today of "Dope," the big all-reel feature picture that has attracted large houses all week to the Grand. Many big feature pictures have been shown at the Grand, but none have proved as strong a card as this story of the drug terror. Herman Lieb and a star cast of Broadway favorites appear in the principal roles and the result is one of the best acted films ever produced.

DR. HARDMAN HEADS MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

Georgia Physicians Indorse Public Health and Vital Statistics Bills.

The sixty-fifth annual session of the Medical Association of Georgia came to an end yesterday. During the three days' session, the physicians listened to sixty-one papers on various aspects of their profession. The attendance was the largest ever recorded at a session. It was a little more than 400.

The election of officers for the forthcoming year resulted as follows: Dr. W. B. Hardman, Commerce, Ga., president; Dr. E. J. Williams, Macon, vice president; Dr. Patterson, second vice president, and Dr. W. C. Lyle, Augusta, secretary and treasurer. Dr. E. J. Davis, of Atlanta, was appointed delegate to the convention of the American Medical association, which meets in June at Atlantic City.

The association adopted several important resolutions. Two were indorsements of bills which are shortly to come before the legislature—the public health bill and the vital statistics bill. The public health bill provides for a board of health in the state in charge of the supervision of the secretary of the state board of health; sanitary and health officers in each county; health inspection of school children, and sanitary inspection of public buildings. The vital statistics bill provides for systematic compilation of the birth, death, marriage, and general living statistics of the state. It was stated that Georgia was one of the five states in the union which does not possess such a law.

Resolutions of thanks were also offered. The Fulton County Medical society for the banquet tendered the association at the Hotel Ansley Thursday night.

SATURDAY WILL BE FAIR, BUT RAIN IS INDICATED SUNDAY

Following is the Atlanta weather forecast:

Saturday will be a fair day, but with increasing cloudiness in the afternoon, owing to the development of a disturbance in the central valley. The winds will be fresh from the south and the temperature may reach a maximum of about 78 degrees. Toward night the weather will become unsettled and there is considerable probability of rain on Sunday.

REPORT BY DETECTIVE BURNS EXPECTED TODAY

If Detective William J. Burns returns to Atlanta today—as expected—it is likely that his report on the investigation of the Frank case will be submitted tonight and published Sunday morning.

Nothing has been given out yet of the detective's mysterious out-of-town trip. Officials of his organization said yesterday, however, that he was expecting back at any time Saturday.

The report is now in process of formation. Various angles of the evidence said to have been unearthed by the noted sleuth and his assistants have been put in the shape of supplements which will form the main body of the report.

Regarding the motion by Attorney John L. Tye to set aside the Frank verdict on grounds that the prisoner, in not being present at the return of the jury's decision; was deprived of his constitutional rights, Attorney Frank Hooper, who was associated with the prosecution during the convicted man's trial, made this statement yesterday to a reporter for The Constitution:

"My connection with the Frank case ceased when it was decided by the supreme court. However, as to the incident of the defendant's absence at the time the verdict was received, I will say that in a conference with Judge Roan during the trial I told him I thought it best for the defendant to agree personally to waive his presence, and I exhibited that his counsel's consent was sufficient. The judge told me that he so understood, and that the defendant's personal waiver had been or would be obtained. I suppose, of course, that it had been obtained, and was surprised to see a denial of this in the extraordinary motion filed yesterday. The solicitor and myself were attempting to guard this point, and for that reason I mentioned the matter to the judge."
