THOUSANDS JAM BIG AUDITORIUM FOR PEACE MEET

Great Throng Turned Away After Every Available Bit of Space in Great Building Was Occupied.

TWO BISHOPS TAKE PART IN BEAUTIFUL SERVICE

Choirs from 12 Churches Participate in the Program. President's Peace Proclamation Is Read by Robert Wessels.

Approximately 15,000 people went to the Auditorium-Armory Sunday afternoon to attend and participate in the great peace meeting. Of this number more than 5,000 were turned away. The largest crowd that ever surged through the doors of the vast auditorium was inside. Every seat in the arena, balcony and gallery was taken. The gallery and balcony seats were pressed into service as seats. The aisles and entrances were a mass of standing people. The crowd overflowed to the gallery seats over the wings of the stage, the existence of which but few people knew. These were filled and chairs were placed on the floor of the stage in the wings. The audience even crowded in upon the steps of the grand stairs at the rear of the stage, the combined choir of the choir occupied.

Thousands Turned Away. The services were scheduled to begin at 4 o'clock. At 3:45 the main doors of the auditorium were closed and the crowds were turned back. Until twenty minutes after the service began there was a continuous stream of people going to the Auditorium-Armory and being turned back. Many thousands turned back again the news is given that there were no seats, and thousands who had started to the Auditorium-Armory never arrived. While there was not the slightest trace of disorder, an extra squad of police was called upon to stand guard in handling the crowd. Chief of Police Deavers and Assistant Chief Jeff were there in personal charge. The peace services, held at the suggestion of President Wilson, were the first of the kind in the history of the Atlanta Music Festival association, were impressive and solemn. As the service proceeded, the vast import of the European struggle and the sincere desire for peace was written upon the serious faces of the assembled multitude.

The services were opened by Dr. Kraft's rendition of Mendels' "Largo" on the pipe organ. Robert H. Wessels, a director of the Atlanta Music Festival association, presided over the meeting and read the peace petition to the assembly. He called for the acquiescence of the audience to be indicated by silence. This was an impressive sight to see the thousands assembled in the auditorium standing with uncovered heads in a mass appeal for peace.

Upon the stage were the combined choirs of the following churches: Saint Luke's, All Saints', Trinity, Saint Mark's, the Baptist Tabernacle, First Baptist, Central Congregational, North Avenue Presbyterian, Martin Luther King, First Presbyterian, St. Philip's cathedral and the Atlanta Music Festival chorus. This remarkable chorus was led by Dr. Kraft, while Charles A. Sheldon, Jr., presided at the organ. When this mighty choir burst forth in the song, "Lord of Our Life and God of Our Salvation," the volume and majesty of their voices swept the audience with its spirit. The service came a splendid tribute to the leadership of Dr. Kraft when the voices of the choir, in a grand finale, sang the "Agnus Dei" to the stillness house the lines of the hymn.

"Peace, in our hearts our evil thoughts banishing."
"Peace, in our hearts our brothers are engaging."
"Peace, when the world its busy war begins."
"Calm, when the world its busy war begins."

Bishop Charles A. Sheldon delivered an eloquent and moving prayer for the peace of the world across the four.

Two Striking Features. Perhaps the two most impressive numbers of the program were the reading of the litany of the Episcopal church by the united choirs and the audience. Bishop C. Nelson leading the audience in the litany of the "General Mass."

In view of the fact that Bishop Nelson found it necessary to catch an afternoon train on Monday, the reading of the litany was moved up on the Sunday.

Bishop Nelson explained that no one could speak at such a momentous occasion, and asked the audience to assist in the expression of their sentiments. He then read the litany of the "General Mass."

Following the reading of the litany, the service was closed.

WILSON AND HARVEY BURY THE HATCHET

President and Editor of the North American Review Celebrate "Peace Sunday" by Harmony Meeting.

Washington, October 4.—President Wilson and George Harvey, formerly editor of Harper's Weekly, but now of The North American Review, whose controversy over the support of Harpers Weekly furnished one of the chief incidents of Mr. Wilson's campaign for the presidency, celebrated "Peace Sunday" today by a harmony meeting at the white house. It was their first meeting since their talk in 1911 in the presence of Henry Watterson, editor of The Louisville Courier-Journal, which gave rise to Mr. Watterson's later attacks on Mr. Wilson and led Mr. Harvey to support Speaker Champ Clark for the presidential nomination.

The president and Mr. Harvey remained in conference for more than an hour in the president's study. It was said at the white house later that the meeting was most friendly, and that the difference was not referred to. Mr. Harvey said he had called at Mr. Wilson's residence to discuss the European situation, and that "as a matter of course the talk was friendly."

The white house meeting followed a conference between Mr. Harvey, Mr. Tumulty, the president's secretary; Frederick Lynch, democratic national committee; from Minnesota, and Thomas Penck of the national committee's publicity bureau. The fall campaign was discussed.

In December, 1911, Mr. Wilson, then governor of New Jersey, talked with Harvey and Henry Watterson in a New York club. The three were fast friends, and the editors had worked

BROKEN COLLAR BONE FOR MRS. T. W. HARDWICK

Congressman, His Wife and Her Two Sisters in an Automobile Accident.

By John Corrigan, Jr. Washington, October 4.—(Special.)—Representative and Mrs. T. W. Hardwick, of Georgia, narrowly escaped terrible injuries this afternoon, when their electric coupe ran down an unmarked crosswalk in Rock Creek Park and turned over a broken collar bone and the beautiful car was demolished. In the electric at the time were the Misses Perkins, of Georgia, sisters of Mrs. Hardwick. They escaped with only few bruises as did Representative Hardwick, who was driving. Dr. J. H. Dineen, who made the Park Road slippery and at 6:45 turned the car sideways and got beyond the control of Mr. Hardwick. The injured occupants were all taken to their apartments in the Wyoming, and it was said tonight they were only suffering slightly from shock. Representative Hardwick was recently victorious in the state convention held at Macon and was chosen United States senator to succeed Senator Bacon.

FRANCE GETS RELIGIOUS AS RESULT OF THE WAR

No Feature of Conflict More Striking Than the Religious Feeling It Has Evoked.

London, October 4.—A stark result of the war has been a distinct religious revival in France, says the Paris correspondent of The Times. His dispatch continues: "The so-called 'clerical party' has disappeared from popular imagination. Everywhere priests have been distinguished for their heroism and patriotic devotion, several have died on the religious feeling in England was in France."

FRENCHMAN ESCAPES CHARGE OF DESERTION

Paris, October 4.—Lieutenant Andre Meunier has been acquitted by a court-martial of a charge of desertion. One of the principal witnesses for Meunier was Major Aubert, who was taken to the courtroom from the hospital where he lay with four bullets in his body and a broken jaw. Meunier's case has attracted much attention. After the battle of Dinant, in August, in which he received his baptism of fire, he left for Paris, where he was arrested. What he has to say in his defense is not known. Colonel Doyen, who would have been the most important witness in the case, died of injuries sustained in the battle of Dinant.

SMITH IS WORKING ON "DEATH NOTES"

Former Lawyer for Conley Believes These Messages Will Finally Yield Solution to Great Mystery.

William M. Smith, attorney who represented the negro factory sweeper, "Al" Conley, during the investigation of the Mary Phagan murder, and whose statement he believes his erstwhile client and Leo M. Frank, to be the murderer of little Mary Phagan, has brought this mystery into the limelight again, is today working to show Frank's innocence by demonstrating that the "death notes" found in the basement beside the body of the girl were written by him without outside assistance.

Attorney Leonard Haas, one of Frank's attorneys, declared Sunday that in the event any new evidence in favor of Frank is developed through Attorney Smith's investigation, it will probably be used before the governor and pardoning board.

Courts Must Act First. "Nothing can be done until the supreme court passes on Frank's extraordinary motion for a new trial," Attorney Haas said. "We have prepared and presented what we believed to be the most important evidence to show Frank's innocence before the supreme court, and as the case now stands the state cannot introduce any additional evidence. Furthermore, everything depends entirely on the action of the supreme court."

The decision of the court is adverse to Frank there will be but one other course open—application for a writ of habeas corpus to the governor and the pardoning board. Then it will be possible for us to present Mr. Smith's evidence before the board in his behalf.

Attorney Haas has not conferred with Attorney Smith, nor has he attempted to learn just what new evidence Conley's lawyer has developed to avert him in his opinion. Discussing the case Sunday, Attorney Haas explained that during the entire investigation of the Phagan mystery he believed, as does Attorney Smith now believe, that the positive solution of the mystery was the "death notes."

These notes are now the basis of the investigation which Attorney Smith has made. The investigation which he has made is not in detail, nor would he say what his theory is based on. He explained, however, that he always entertained suspicion about the notes, and regarded them as "death notes."

Attorney Smith also made the declaration Sunday that he has no conferred with Attorney Leonard Haas, nor with either Luther C. Weaver, Sr. or Roscoe Arnold, Frank's attorneys, as to his findings.

COUNCIL TO PASS ON FINANCE SHEET AT MEETING TODAY

Little Opposition Expected to Appropriation for Purpose of Ending "Double Session" Evil.

COMMITTEE REPORTS WILL BE CONSIDERED

Captain Clayton Will Be Elected Consulting Engineer—New Near Beer Ordinance Proposed.

Atlanta's general council will meet today to consider the October appropriation sheet, which carries a total of $1,111,111, of which $11,000 represents a deficit carried over from the June sheet and an additional $111,111 put in the sheet for the use of the school board for forty-three additional grammar grade teachers and five high school instructors.

Friends of the school system in council are expected to press hard to prevent the sheet being held up by the reason that the $111,111 provided for the school is for the purpose of adding additional teachers in order to break up the "double session" which has caused teachers, parents and children to raise their voices in indignant protest.

Some members of council say that they would rather have the standing appropriation made for special street improvements cut than take away from the school fund. They believe that the school board should be allowed to put the school on a cash basis by doing away with the "double session."

Aside from consideration of the October appropriation sheet, council will take up a number of important committee reports.

The plan for the new city hall will be given to Captain R. M. Clayton, who is chief of the department of public works, during which time he will be in charge of the city and its needs which members of council will be asked to consider.

Under the new ordinance Captain Clayton will be chief of construction department in writing out plans for big projects.

The ordinance will not be opposed and will be framed to become effective next year.

The ordinance committee will also report favorably on the ordinance to create the position of moving inspector, and the city marshal.

With the one above amendment, the ordinance will be reported favorably to the council.

Allied Claws Reach For a Deadly Clutch On the German Flank

British and French Take Several German Trenches and Resume Their Operations to Envelop the Right Wing of the Invaders.

Hard Fighting Faces the Allies, But They Are Confident That the Germans Will Be Forced to Retreat—Reports Indicate Russians Are Whipping Germans on the East Prussian Frontier—Kaiser William, Czar Nicholas, King Albert and President Poincare on the Battle Fronts.

London, October 4.—Having repulsed the German attacks, presumably in the vicinity of Roye, the French, according to an official communication issued late today at Paris, have resumed the offensive at several points, while other positions on their left have been maintained.

The great effort of the allies to envelop the German right may be said to be in operation again, and it is believed the whole French column from Roye northward to Arras is moving eastward against the German positions.

It is the same operation that has been tried repeatedly for the last three weeks in an attempt to reach the German lines of communication, and either encircle the German army forming the right wing or force it to fall back to Belgium and Luxembourg.

HARD FIGHTING FACES ALLIES. THE GERMAN ARMY BEATING SWORDS INTO PLOWSHARES

Secretary Bryan and Oscar Straus Believe That European Conflict Is Prelude to a Lasting Peace.

MAY BE WORLD NEEDED AWFUL OBJECT LESSON

No Nation Lives to Itself and None Dies to Itself. Straus Hopes That Meditation Will End the War.

New York, October 4.—Hope that the European war will be the last object lesson of the horrors of strife and that after it the efforts of man will be devoted to production rather than destruction, was expressed today by Secretary of State Bryan and Oscar Straus, former secretary of commerce and navy, who have been drawn into the vortex of war.

"Today, when a number of nations are fighting, we are reminded of the words of the prophet, 'We are all one people,' said Secretary Bryan, 'our first duty is to use such means as we may have to hasten the return of peace. There will be ample time afterward to discuss wars and means for preventing future appeals to arms.'"

"We nation lives to itself. 'Our interests are so entwined with the interests of other lands that no nation can live or die until itself alone. If we had no lives or hope for encouraging conditions conducive to peace, we should find ample justification in the fact that the burden of war is borne entirely by its direct participants.'"

"We must not be discouraged if this, the greatest of all wars, broke out just when we were most hopeful of the situation of reason for force in the settlement of the world's affairs. It may be that the world needed one more awful object lesson to prove convinced of the futility of the policy that prepares for war can give advantage of peace. This assumption is built upon the theory that peace rests on fear, whereas all history proves the contrary."

works, and that the Germans had entered the line of fortifications. Later the Belgian minister, on arriving at the German frontier, declared that the forts had not been entered, although Wahlen was damaged.

BATTLES RAGING IN EASTERN THEATER

The battle is still raging along the eastern frontier, and, according to the German official report, the the battle on the left is in full swing. The German official report, the text of the communication follows: "First—On our left wing the struggle in full swing in the region of Arns, without decision having been reached. The action has been less violent between the upper valley of the Arns and the Rhine, and between the Rhine and the Moselle. We have made progress in the region of Solms, where some of the enemy's trenches have been captured. "Second—On almost all the remainder of the front, the full already noted."

GERMAN SPIES CAUSED DOWNFALL OF NAMUR

Spies Opened Tide Gates of the Meuse and This Enabled the Kaiser's Troops to Cross.

London, October 4.—The fall of the Belgian city of Namur was largely due to the work of German spies, according to a Times correspondent in Belgium. "One of the principal features of Namur's defenses was the river Meuse," said the correspondent. "The Germans, assisted by spies, managed to open the tide gates of the Meuse, thus lowering its waters. They were then able to cross the river."

"When the Namur commander saw that resistance was impossible without reinforcements, he tried to rally all the forces from the outlying forts to the main points of defense. But owing to the work of spies he found his underground telephone system was destroyed. He thus was unable to direct his campaign or to summon reinforcements."

"As the result of the crippling of the telephone lines, each regiment was compelled to fight its way out of Namur separately, with heavy losses. If the garrison had remained together, it would have been able to hold out for a matter of fact, only 15,000 of the garrison of 35,000 soldiers."

"The German attack on Namur was opened with 17-inch siege guns, which were brought into position under cover of a cavalry screen. The older guns of the forts were powerless even to reply. Forts Maelvaux, Miroir, and Andor and Cognelle were destroyed and burned, with every man of their garrisons."

Poincaré Goes to Battle Front

French President Accompanied by Premier and War Minister—Rumors of Great Allied Victory Denied.

Bordeaux, October 4.—President Poincaré, accompanied by Premier Viviani and Minister of War Alexandre Millerand, left for the battle front today. The president goes to the battle line not to take part in the fighting, but to encourage the troops.

The president's departure has given rise to rumors that the allies have gained a great victory, the news of which is withheld and that M. Poincaré has left to witness the final disposition of the Germans.

Italian Sailors Land at Avlona

Reported That Italy Has Taken Aggressive Action in Regard to Albanian Seaport on the Adriatic.

Rome, October 4.—A dispatch to Reuters Telegram company from Rome says a rumor is published that Italian sailors landed at Avlona (a seaport of Albania on the Adriatic) Friday. There is no confirmation.

A dispatch from Trieste to a Paris paper September 13 said Italian sailors landed at Avlona. This movement was because of the disturbance following the abduction of Prince William of Yugoslavia. The Italian sailors were reported to have threatened to sack Avlona. Later the Albanian government had been elected Prince William of Yugoslavia. TUXEDO is recognized as America's favorite pipe tobacco—liked and endorsed by thousands of famous Americans. The exclusive "Tuxedo Process" of making the finest Kentucky Burley leaf delectably mild and non-biting has never been successfully imitated.

Millions of men who roll their own cigarettes use this old-famed tobacco. There is nothing like it—none with such wonderful, unique aroma and mellow, fresh fragrance.
