BUILD FOR FUTURE, SAYS ARMISTEAD

Bond Issue Should Be Sufficient to Give Schools All the Money They Need for Some Years to Come, He Says.

Members of the committee appointed to report on the needs of the schools and the various other departments of the city declined Wednesday that they were greatly annoyed by the action of the committee in allowing the use of $125,140 of the unexpended bond balances to relieve the conditions among the distressed side of Atlanta, and they are looking to the entire city to take a greater interest in the bond election which council will probably authorize to be held early next year.

The bond issue committee will not meet Friday afternoon. Council will hold its adjourned meeting Thursday for the purpose of passing the resolution which will release part of the bond balance for sewer extensions, and because of the fact that a majority of the members of the bond issue committee served through the entire week working on the distressed side of the city, it has been decided not to call a meeting of the bond committee until Monday morning.

Two Reports to Consider.

The committee will have two reports before it for consideration. One contemplates a bond issue of $1,000,000 and the other recommends an issue of $1,000,000 for all purposes. One report recommends that $1,000,000 be provided for schools and the other provides that the city should give $1,000,000 out of the entire issue.

Armistead Jesse B. Armistead, chairman of the school committee of council, will urge that council adopt the report which provides for the school department. Armistead says that the school committee has that amount if it is expected to carry out the extensive plans which have been working on the school board for new high schools, which will cost in the neighborhood of $1,000,000, and a chain of grammar schools, which will cost in the neighborhood of $1,000,000.

It will be a mistake if council does not give the school department the money to make improvements and build new schools for the future, Armistead said. "We are doing the needs of the people. The department needs the money to carry out plans for improving the system in connection with the needs of the people of the entire system. We need new schools, and if we are going to build new schools, we should build for the future so as to relieve the school department of the strain under which it is now operating."

City belief is that the schools should not be asked to accept less than $1,000,000. I have made a careful study of the needs of the school system and can safely say that the school system needs more than a million and a half will not be sufficient to build new schools for the present and relieve conditions for one or two years.

The question of how much the schools shall receive of the bond money will be decided by the council, so why not let the people vote on an issue of $1,000,000 to take care of all the city departments and the school department?

Armistead Encouraged.

Armistead said that he was greatly encouraged by the action of the committee in allowing the use of $125,140 of the unexpended bond balances to relieve the conditions among the distressed side of Atlanta, and they are looking to the entire city to take a greater interest in the bond election which council will probably authorize to be held early next year.

THE GREAT FIRE AT THE GEORGE W. BATTLE WITH THE CITY SEVERE

Resolution Adopted Calling for Expenditure of Approximately $150,000 to Provide Jobs for Unemployed.

COUNCIL TO ACT ON RESOLUTION TODAY

Work Will Be Provided for 600 Men at $1.50 a Day for Fully Two Months if the Plan Goes Through.

When three committees of Atlanta's general council consolidated Wednesday afternoon to determine what to do for the city's idle, a spirit of harmony was apparent on all sides, and within an hour the general council had passed a resolution calling for the expenditure of approximately $150,000 to provide jobs for unemployed men at work.

Major James G. Woodard will have the resolution in his hands on Friday morning, and Saturday afternoon will be at work in various sections of the city to see that the plan goes through. Captain Clayton will have jobs for the men Monday morning. The work will be done in the city and by private corporations will be taken up with money which will flow into the city from the sale of bonds.

The resolution adopted by the committee is as follows: "Resolved, that the city of Atlanta shall appropriate the sum of $150,000 to be expended in the city of Atlanta for the purpose of providing work for unemployed men at work."

Resolved, further, that the chief of the fire department shall be authorized to expend the sum of $150,000 to be expended in the city of Atlanta for the purpose of providing work for unemployed men at work.

SCENE OF OPERATIONS IN FLANDERS

With the Germans reported to be preparing for a final drive toward Calais the situation in Flanders becomes vitally interesting. The country around Arras has again been flooded to keep the Germans back, and desperate attempts of the latter to cross the flooded zone by large road rafts were foiled by the British.

GERMAN SHIPS ARE SUNK IN BATTLE WITH BRITISH SQUADRONS

German Cruisers Gneisenau, Scharnhorst and Leipzig Sunk—Dresden and Nurnberg Badly Damaged and Are Being Pursued—About 2,000 German Sailors Lost Including Admiral Count Von Spee—British Casualties Very Few—Admiral Sturdee Commanded British Squadron.

London, December 9.—A British squadron under Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Sturdee, chief of the war staff, engaged a German squadron under Admiral Count von Spee, off the Falkland islands in the South Atlantic yesterday and won a victory which is being acclaimed throughout England.

The armored cruisers Scharnhorst and Gneisenau and the protected cruiser Leipzig, three of the German warships that had menaced British shipping and part of the squadron that sank the British cruisers Good Hope and Monmouth, in the Pacific on November 1, were destroyed, while the cruisers Dresden and Nurnberg, the two other vessels comprising the German squadron, made off, and according to latest accounts, are being pursued. Two colliers were captured.

ALLIES WAKE GAINS IN THEIR ASSAULTS ON THE TURKISH

Anglo-French Forces Are on the Offensive From the Swiss Border to the North Sea.

London, December 9.—The victory off the Falkland Islands, where the British squadron sank the German cruisers Scharnhorst, Gneisenau and Leipzig, and the success of the Indian troops on the Gulf of Persia, where they compelled the surrender of a Turkish army, have for the moment overshadowed, so far as England is concerned, the larger events which have taken place on the continent of Europe.

The sinking of the German cruisers materially lessens the menace to British shipping, while the success of the Indian forces gives Great Britain control of the Persian Gulf and the delta of the Tigris and Euphrates. The British are now on the offensive from the Swiss border to the North Sea.

With this good news for the allies comes what is considered here as a favorable French communication on operations in Flanders and France. Withdrawal of German troops from the west has enabled the allies to resume the initiative along the front stretching from the Swiss border to the North Sea, and while they have not made any marked advance, they have been able, according to official announcements, to organize and consolidate their positions.

Germany's navy has been defeated, and the British are now on the offensive from the Swiss border to the North Sea. The British are now on the offensive from the Swiss border to the North Sea.

Germany's navy has been defeated, and the British are now on the offensive from the Swiss border to the North Sea. The British are now on the offensive from the Swiss border to the North Sea.

It was believed that Vice Admiral Bouchard was serving in the waters. The fact that he was in the waters of the Gulf of Mexico is indicative of the determination of the British government to clear the waters of the Gulf of Mexico of German submarines. It is believed, therefore, that the British command is at the head of a formidable squadron.

In addition, to the Division and the British command, the British command is at the head of a formidable squadron.

The official statement shows that the British command is at the head of a formidable squadron.

SCHOOL CHILDREN AND IN CAPTURE OF BURGLAR

Little Ones Pursue Him for Some Distance Until the Officers Arrive.

Policeman O. R. Jones is highly praising fifty brave little school boys of the Lincoln school, who, on Tuesday afternoon, aided him in catching a burglar who had been robbing a little child of a doll.

Policeman Jones had been patrolling the rear of No. 119 Courtland street on Tuesday afternoon, and was surprised to find a burglar who had been robbing a little child of a doll.

The burglar, when found in Briscoe's home, had fled down Grant street, to the school children, who were pursuing him for some distance until the officers arrived.

THE WINDOW LOOK IN

Batting Tied-Bears and Tight Skirts, the batting of public service corporations is going out of fashion quite rapidly.

A few years ago the public knew but little of public service corporations, and therefore suspected them. It set about remedying the situation, and created public service commissions. The first of the commissions has been at work a little over seven years. In that short time a new era has been dawned. Now we demand that when public capital is not to lose its respectability when and because it enters the public service.

Said the railroad commission of Georgia in its conclusion of the Macon Railway and Light Company case, decided last February by allowance of an increased rate:

"It has been the purpose and desire of this commission to deal fairly with the company as well as with the public. There is need, as there are opportunities for great industrial developments in Georgia. To fully take advantage of these opportunities, capital other than our own must be attracted. There is no surer way of doing this than at all times treating it and its owners fairly. Investors in public utility enterprises are free to do as they will with their property, but they must get what they can out of it. They are subject to the will of the people whom they serve, and there should be recognition at all times of the corresponding obligations for at least fair treatment."

Isn't that sound sentiment?

THEY OPPOSE AGITATION FOR MORE ARMAMENTS

There has been presented to the United States an unexampled opportunity for constructive moral and political

This committee declares in a statement: "To take advantage of this opportunity it is necessary not only to maintain strict neutrality and to preserve relations with all countries, but also to use our powers, but it also is necessary to refrain from policies which will arouse in their minds or in the minds of our own people the fear that we have reason to protect ourselves against attacks. We prefer that our nation should be the first moral power in the world rather than it should rank highest on the roll of military and naval powers."
