

FOX TROTTING TO AID HORSE TROTTING!

THE last public place in the world which fox trotting could invade has been invaded and conquered. Fox trotting as an aid and adjunct to horse trotting is now firmly established.

It was done the other day at the great Belmont race track in New York, where thirty thousand people had gathered to see the horse trotting and where later in the same day almost thirty thousand people forgot the horse trotting to gaze in amusement upon the fox trotting.

The restaurant, the aisles and lobbies of theaters, some churches, the homes, the office—in fact, every institution of public, private, or semi-public character has been conquered by the fox trot. It looked as if the fox trot would have to rest on its laurels for the remainder of its days simply because there were no more worlds for it to conquer.

Then along came Mrs. August Belmont, Jr., and Miss Anne Morgan with the suggestion of a fox trot for the race track. The fox trot came, saw and conquered. Hereafter no race, at least no race which pretends to be both up to date and a social affair, can possibly be held without the fox trot accompaniment. And in the meantime the unemployed of New York and the war sufferers in Europe are going to benefit to the extent of many thousands of dollars as a result, for the "race dancette" was held for them.

It was the first time the thing has been done in these daring United States. One of the beauties of the experiment was that it permitted you to play your favorites on the track and then celebrate your winnings with a rollicking dance.

Of if the goddess of betting did not smile on your wager you could seize a partner and forget your loss and disappointment in the mazes of a mad maxixe or the follies of a fervid fox trot.

It was really an exciting afternoon. There are two things in the world that hold their devotees in an almost fanatical allegiance. They are dancing and horse racing. Therefore when both of these joys were brought into juxtaposition nothing less than an exciting afternoon could result.

As has been said, it was the first time the thing had been tried this side of the Atlantic. In fact, it might be said with a fair degree of assurance it was the first time society girls, well-dressed men and music were ever brought together in the history of the race, of the dance, and of pretty girls. Society actually forgot to indulge in its favorite pastime of watching the passing style review in its keenness for the dance.

Underneath the grandstand the "Vacation War Relief" committee, under whose auspices the dance was given, had set up a platform, enclosed it suitably from the gaze of the multitudes who did not have quite enough in their pockets to take advantage of it, and sprinkled the whole platform with dainty tea tables, with shining white tablecloths and napkins and shining silver and glasses. The largest crowd that ever watched a race at the Belmont race track—a track which, by the way, has held many a record crowd—watched the dancers in good-natured approval and interest. There was of course a sprinkling of dyed-in-the-wool race fans who looked with supreme contempt upon the maids and men who could ignore or respect for a few moments a race for the sake of a dance. Some didn't even try to hide their contempt and displeasure. But they were far in the minority. They were all but lost in the crowd who were enthusiastically in favor of the innovation and encouraged it with applause.

It was Mrs. August Belmont, Jr., who originated the idea of the race dancette. Miss Anne Morgan was treasurer of the committee who got the people together, and Miss Ruth Shaw Kennedy was its secretary.

Suicide of His Wife Tremendously Tragic But a Beautiful End

Prof. Dana So Describes Death of Young Mrs. Dana. She Held It Was Dignified to Die of One's Own Will.

Cambridge, Mass., June 19.—In a statement tonight Edmund T. Dana, assistant professor at the University of Minnesota, described the suicide of his young wife by drowning at Nantucket Thursday as a "tremendously tragic, but beautiful end."

"Mrs. Dana," her husband said, "had always held the ideal idea that it is more dignified to die of one's own will than to be killed by accident, though it was a pathetic mistake that made her feel the world would be better without her."

Continuing, Mr. Dana explained that his wife's health became run down after a long illness, and that her husband had been unable to take care of her baby properly, and would have had to leave her in his life work.

She believed she would never be able to take care of the baby properly, and would have had to leave her in his life work.

OBREGON IN REVOLT, AND "FIRST CHIEF" MUST YIELD OR LOSE THE SUPPORT OF THE ARMY.

General Obregon in Revolt, and "First Chief" Must Yield or Lose the Support of the Army.

Washington, June 19.—General Venustiano Carranza, original leader of the Mexican constitutional movement, is now in a position to face with a situation that may eliminate him as a factor in Mexican politics unless he yields to the dictation of his commanding general, Alvaro Obregon, and other high officers in his army.

Official advice today revealed that Carranza, who has been resigned, and that General Obregon was insisting on their retention as well as the dismissal of the members to whom they were opposed.

Word also came to the American government that General Jose Maytorena, the Villa commander in Sonora, objected vigorously to the possible landing of American marines to rescue Americans in the Yaqui valley, indicating that he would regard such action as a home invasion.

RUSSIANS MASSED BEFORE LEMBERG

Definite Crisis Has Come in Galician Campaign, and Fate of Capital of Province Will Be Shortly Determined.

London, June 19.—With the fall of Grodek, the Austro-Germans are within 11 miles of Lemberg, capital of Galicia. They have captured Komarno, 30 miles southwest of Lemberg, and also have crossed the Tanau river.

This movement toward the eastward from Przemyśl has been a rapid one for large armies and although the Russians have been given credit for opposing the advance with strong rear columns on the heights of the chain of lakes and along the marshes partly encircling that territory.

Earlier in the day a resume of the Galician situation from Petrograd said that the then existing disposition of the Russian forces in the vicinity of Lemberg meant a crisis that should determine the fate of the Galician capital. The Austro-German forces are within six days' march of Lemberg.

ALLIES GAIN IN WEST. In France the allied forces report gains at various points. The French have at last completely surrounded and carried by assault the Fond de Buval, a narrow ravine east of the Loos position. This position has been defended with desperation by the Germans since May 9, and when it was captured, occupying, among other places, the town of Metzler, which the Germans set on fire before their evacuation.

The British again have attacked the German positions around Hooge, gaining a considerable stretch of trenches, occupying, among other places, the town of Metzler, which the Germans set on fire before their evacuation.

THE BRITISH AGAIN HAVE ATTACKED THE GERMAN POSITIONS AROUND HOOG, GAINING A CONSIDERABLE STRETCH OF TRENCHES, OCCUPYING, AMONG OTHER PLACES, THE TOWN OF METZLER, WHICH THE GERMANS SET ON FIRE BEFORE THEIR EVACUATION.

GERMANS DEFEAT BRITISH SUBMARINE WAR

Attitude Stiffening in Regard to American Demands. Alleged U-29 Was Sunk by British Merchant Ship Flying Swedish Flag.

Berlin, June 19.—(Via London.)—A statement given out by the German admiralty to the effect that the German submarine U-29 had been rammed and sunk by a British light cruiser, is expected to have an important bearing on the German-American negotiations.

The announcement published by the German admiralty regarding the fate of the U-29, which was made in a most positive form, and as if the German admiralty has confirmed the long-rumored story that the submarine U-29 was destroyed by a British light cruiser, is expected to have an important bearing on the German-American negotiations.

Intelligent attention and a quick perception of the customer's requirements are, of course, a necessary and requisite part of the store service always and our people here co-operate to make that as much their pleasure as their duty.

It is coincident with the progress of the store.

forecast. In an interview in The Washington Post Mr. Charles N. Stewart, prominent business man of Chicago, says it is impossible for the most confirmed pessimist to view the future of America with anything but the utmost confidence and gratification: 'If the war continued, as it probably will for a year longer at least, this would be the most prosperous period in our history. Our production for everything we have to use would be at a high level. We would have big crops for everything we have to use. Even with a greater crop of wheat than we have now, we could predict the price of wheat to be at a high level. I look for wheat to rise at a high price here, but the European nations will get a smaller share of it. With money plentiful, as it will be, everybody will want to work, and employment, and this makes prosperity.'

Preachers of prosperity who have good texts for their business sermons will always find a national audience. They are doing good everywhere, and through enlightening instruction they are helping to bring about a better understanding of the war situation, which has its brighter business side.

A MEMORIAL WITH A MISSION.

The home mission spirit of the Ellen Wilson Memorial Fund for the Christian Education of Mountain Youth commends the movement as one which all southerners, and especially all Georgians, should rally, though the movement is one which has attracted national consideration.

When a group of southern women met soon after the passing of the late Mrs. Woodrow Wilson to establish an appropriate memorial to her, the dominant thought was that the memorial take the practical form of benefiting the living. The various interests and benevolences of Mrs. Wilson were discussed, and it was determined that the women who met to discuss the memorial was her loving and practical interest in the mountain people of the central south.

For years Mrs. Wilson had given scholarships in mountain schools; had contributed to their establishment; and one of her first touches toward creating an atmosphere of her own in the white house was to adorn a room with furniture, hangings and ornaments made by the native mountain people. Inspired by her interest in this direction, the committee decided to establish the memorial in the nature of a fund to be used in scholarships through which deserving boys and girls in the mountain schools might be enabled to go to the schools already built for them.

The president expressed his approval of the form the memorial was to take, and himself suggested the name it bears.

Elsewhere in today's Constitution Mrs. W. S. Ekin, chairman of the administrative committee of the fund, outlines the plans of the organization. Each state in the central south has an executive chairman who will aid in the accumulation of the scholarship fund, and cooperate in the administration of it.

Mrs. Wilson was born, reared and educated in Georgia. Mr. Wilson came to Georgia to claim her as his bride. She came many times to visit relatives and friends in the mountain region, and has been, since 1905, his legal, governor of a great state, and finally president of the United States. Her remains were brought home to rest.

The memorial means more than the tribute it bears to the memory of a president's wife; it means the affectionate expression of the whole country for a daughter of Georgia whose example is the highest attributes of American womanhood.

FIXING FAKI NEWS EXTRAS.

The fake news extras has fallen under the displeasure of the government. In Japan this is the case, and has become the subject of alleged war news, but in local newspapers, where the public is imposed on. As to the penalties for publishing these fake extras, the Kennebec Journal says:

The metropolitan police of Tokyo, Japan, have issued instructions to the newspaper editors, warning them that they are prepared to take action against those who issue fake news items which are calculated to cause confusion among the people. They are required to call out the names of the papers whose extra editions they are selling; if they fail to do so, they are liable to arrest.

It is earnestly to be hoped that both the city and the county authorities will be sufficiently impressed with the force of the suggestion that they unite in the construction of a great high school building, open alike to state and county, to start a movement which will result in a high school building that will be a credit to both the city of Atlanta and the county of Fulton.

The county has just constructed and equipped a magnificent new courthouse at a cost of more than a million and a quarter dollars, and without bonding the county to get it.

The final payment on this new building will be made this year, leaving the county free to proceed now toward the erection of a great temple of education that will do as much for the children of the city and the county as has been done for the criminals and the litigants of both.

FIGHTERS WITH A COMEBACK.

Whatever may be said of the Russian army, they are a coming back, and they are fighters with a comeback.

Soon after a story of the capture of 300,000 of them of their retreat in wild disorder, they return to the combat front, affording the enemy, if good fortune still be with him, an opportunity to capture other hundreds of thousands. They come back as regulars, they return as fighters.

This is most annoying to seemingly victorious enemy—when an army is beaten to its knees and will not stay put. It is as if it had merely crunched for another loss-mottled spring.

AS BUSINESS SEES IT.

The testimony of business men who are in daily touch with the financial interests of the country as they are affected by war conditions is in marked contrast with all pessimistic predictions.

This testimony comes from all sections and does not vary in its hopeful, cheering

June 14, and now the Austro-German armies are within the cove's territory, making other gains.

Of course, the sweeping war claims of the Teutonic allies are denied from Petrograd, for it is a war of claims and counter-claims, but when details are made the press agents from all sides rush into print as soldiers rush to battle, and then a war of words is on.

It is to be regretted that it has been said that the larger part of the Russian army is composed of unskilled fighters; that the farm laborers in the Russian ranks naturally know more of the myths than the sword, which accounts for the vast number of men killed and prisoners taken.

Be that as it may, Russia commands more of the magic: an army is beaten—another springs up in a night, and the slaughter is renewed.

It is a determined come-back. A million slain, a million taken prisoners, and other millions marching against the guns!

It seems to be a miraculous rush of men in response to repeated calls to the colors.

If the killing proceeds in conformity with the claims, will Europe have room for the grave?

DISEASE AND INDUSTRY.

In a memorial to the president of the United States calling attention to the enormous annual loss to industry through disease and illness which are preventable, the First International Conference on Industrial Hygiene called attention to the fact that the annual loss proceeding from this source is nearly $750,000,000.

The possibility of a saving at least a large proportion of this is a subject which is more and more demanding the attention of employers, with the result that many of them are introducing the system of periodical medical inspection and examination.

In some instances where it has been tried extensively, it has resulted in extraordinary successful results are said to have been attained in the saving of industrial effort as compared with those periods in which no such attention was given to the working force.

It is impossible to foresee cases of sudden attack, but in many instances liability to them is reduced to a minimum through examination which catches defects, remedies them and thus strengthens the whole system against disease attacks of whatever nature. It is in this way that the plan is most effective, fortifying the man to the point of disease resistance not only by detection and remedying any weak spots, but by removing the principles of disease living.

Employees should not only submit willingly to such medical examination, but it would appear, would welcome it. Health is the most important thing to the individual, and in many organizations loss of time through illness means the loss of just what income to the workers, besides the expense involved. There is every reason, therefore, why employers should welcome the examination system and endeavor in all ways to conform to it.

Periodical attention to the human machine is coming to be regarded as essential. Every time a locomotive comes in from a trip it is carefully gone over in the search for loose bolts or nuts, and every screw is diligently tightened up. There are screws that get loose in the living machine without our knowing it until finally there comes a breakdown demanding extensive overhauling and repairs, the necessity for which might have been averted by a little timely observation.

The plan of medical inspection in the schools has been found to work wonders, and why shouldn't it prove successful and beneficial to the industrial organization? The expense involved will prove small in comparison with the saving in efficiency.

One thorough examination a year is believed to be sufficient, with occasional superficial inspections in the interim.

It is believed the big industrial organizations will not be slow to adopt a plan that may mean so much to them, and that ultimately, perhaps, the examination system will be put into practice by almost every institution dependent upon the efforts of employees.

SCHOOLBOY ROAD WORKERS.

North Carolina has a novel idea for exercising the surplus energy of schoolboys during the vacation season. She offers to hire them to work on roads. The plan, as outlined in The Memphis Commercial-appeal, is as follows:

Under a competent road commissioner, they will be set to work repairing or constructing roads. They will be given a practical lesson in the art of road building, learning the inspiring lessons of the road in the process.

Under the plan each week will suffice to keep the roads of the various sections of the state in a better state of repair. The plan will be highly profitable and a most effective means of road building and improved highways for farmers and motorists.

And, above and beyond all, that old cliche about the boys who are too young to be doing any work, and that they are still for idle hands to be put to work, will find their appropriate and final answer.

The plan is a most admirable one. The schoolboy, anxious to earn his honest money, will be quick to take advantage of the opportunity in this offer, which will supply him with cash for vacation pleasures. The novelty of the work may also have its appeal. The boys who are to be employed could not make a better beginning.

LARGE ARMIES OF FORMER DAYS.

(From The Orangeburg Times and Democrat.)

Although the number of men engaged in the present campaign is not as large as in previous wars, the proportion is not as much as in the days of the Napoleonic wars. The New York Times points out some of the large armies of ancient nations as follows:

The Assyrian king, in the twenty-second century B. C., led against the Babylonians with a force of 1,000,000 men. The old historian Herodotus, with land and sea forces, counted on 2,000,000, with enough athletes, hangers-on, women, sutlers, to make a host of more than 5,000,000.

Artaxerxes had at one time, before the battle of Marathon, nearly 1,500,000 men. Scylax of Caryanda brought more than 1,000,000 soldiers. The army of Alexander the Great is said to have numbered 1,500,000 men.

The king of Ethiopia, had 1,000,000 soldiers to call to his standards. In the present day, the battle line of today in Europe, the army of forces of nations is not as large as in the days of the great wars of the past.

The army of 100,000 men, which is the complement of a modern army, is a small fraction of the armies of the past. The number of men engaged in the present campaign is not as large as in previous wars, the proportion is not as much as in the days of the Napoleonic wars.

WILL THEY LET CARLO PIEMONT?

(From The New York Journal.)

It is stated in the news that Signor Riccardo Ferrar-Fontana, of the Metropolitan Opera House, has been released from military service by the Italian government. But how about that other tenor of whom we have heard, Signor Enrico Caruso? We thought he was subject to service in the military. His ability to climb the scale should render him a valuable addition to an Alpine battery.

THE GUILLEBOU COW.

Two little girls who were playing in a field were afraid of a cow. Said one of them: 'I don't know where the cow is, but I'm afraid of it.' 'But wouldn't it be deceiving the cow?' 'The other little girl expostulated: 'You're right, but I'm afraid of it.'

ONE MORE TO FEED.

With nearly all the able-bodied Italians going to war, Uncle Sam will have another problem to solve in the next few months. He will have to feed the Italian army in Italy. He will have to feed the Italian army in Italy. He will have to feed the Italian army in Italy.

What the Sun-Dream Said

(As a Homely Philosopher Interprets It)
By FRANK L. STANTON.

I. DREAMED of the shadows on the Sun. And here's what my Sun-Dream said: 'He's shadin' his eyes. In the addessed skies. So he won't see the world go dead! He's seen enough of the cruel war. Where they know not what they're fightin' for!'

II. THEY'VE built a world for their battleground. They're makin' a world of sighs. Freshen him of the ravaged lands. Like God had left the ashes! The stars look on from the fields of space. Or shriek in shame before God's face.

III. OR men are dyin', and women weep. Or'erphaned homes and drear. And holy shrines. In the battle lines. Are wind-blown ashes there. Earth's hope and faith and Heaven's sweet trust. Trampled now in the battle's dust.

IV. THAT is the message of the Sun— The word my Sun-Dream said: The high stars shriek. From the battle-ridge. The grave where Peace lies dead. And the shrieked earth may roll away, With the Lords of War to the Judgment Day.

Walt Whitney's Golf Champion Lifted by Charlie Dexters

Dexters Wins Southern Championship And Medal Paas-Off From Whitney; Frank Clark Sets a Course Record

THE NEW AND OLD CHAMPIONS GOLF TAKE FINAL CRACKERS

Charles L. Dexter, Jr., of Dallas, Texas, in the new southern amateur golf championship, defeating Nelson Whitney, the title holder in the thirty-two-hole match play round Saturday afternoon, to top.

Mr. Dexter's victory was an exhibition of golfing nerve, as he was down up at any stage of the game, only to reach the sixteenth hole in the afternoon.

It was one of the most exciting, if not the most exciting golf match ever staged on the local course, and so brilliant that the spectators were amazed by some of the puts and approaches that were made. The cards were over-looked by the gallery. It numbered close to 100 in the morning and two thousand. And they were all there to witness every kind of golf, some good and some indifferent, and some of the most brilliant.

When Low McNeil alone.

At the last moment, just before they were ready to start off the first tee in the morning round, Whitney and Dexter agreed to play off their first round in the afternoon. Whitney, who had won the championship, was to play Dexter in the afternoon round, the winner of the championship to be declared.

Therefore, the two biggest cups of the championship go to Dexter and Mr. Whitney takes back to New Orleans. Dexter's victory was a surprise, as he had captured in a southern tournament, to the four winners of the match, that he already has.

For the final game of the Mobile series Billie Smith sent Carl Thompson to the front of the Crackerjacks. Holmquist was selected by Charlie Schmidt to hunt for the Gulls. Mobile finally won out by the score of 4 to 1. Joe Jenkins and Charlie Schmidt did the receiving for the two teams, O'Toole and Pfenninger supplied.

Moral Monday Fair.

The local players staged a better round in the morning than they did in the afternoon. Whitney was out in 43 and Dexter in 41 in the morning. Whitney came back in 43 and Dexter in 41 in the afternoon. Whitney's score in the same number, giving Whitney 86 and Dexter 79 for the eighteen holes.

In the afternoon round, the winners were Dexter and Whitney. Whitney was out in 43 and Dexter in 41 in the morning. Whitney came back in 43 and Dexter in 41 in the afternoon. Whitney's score in the same number, giving Whitney 86 and Dexter 79 for the eighteen holes.

Crackers Come to Life.

The Crackerjacks came to life this morning and were able to score two. Holmquist and Pfenninger were the only ones to get on the board. Holmquist was out in 43 and Pfenninger in 41. The Gulls were out in 43 and the Crackerjacks in 41.

Specials Recovered.

All through the two rounds there were splendid recoveries. Whitney was especially impervious to traps, bunkers or anything else that he saw. He was in the fair course and putting and in what he kept the match close, with Dexter leading by only one stroke. Dexter's victory was a surprise, as he had captured in a southern tournament, to the four winners of the match, that he already has.

SCIENCE AND NEAR-SCIENCE UP-TO-DATE

"Beauty Meter" Classifies Faces As Handsome, Ugly, or Medium

YOU may be one of those people who frequently use the expression "I just love to sit in a street car or train and study faces." Scientifically, your words mean nothing. If some one were to ask you to give the dimensions of a normal human face you, no doubt, would find yourself up a tree, so to speak.

But there is a man who can use the expression with definite meaning and literal truth. He is Professor William Barnes Fotheringham of England. For years the professor has studied the faces of men and women with the minute care that a botanist studies a plant or a geologist measures and classifies a specimen.

The instrument he has invented for classifying faces according to the standard of the Greek statues is termed a "beauty-meter." The scientific name is "kallometer." Anyone can construct this instrument by stretching threads or wires across a wooden or cardboard frame at the intervals shown in a photograph accompanying this article. Professor Fotheringham always starts from a horizontal line drawn through the pupils of the eyes (which should be exactly two and a half inches apart) when the gaze is directed level immediately in front. From this point to a line drawn below the opening of the nostrils the nose should be one and seven-eighths inches; the upper lip should measure three-quarters of an inch to the mean line of the mouth, and two inches from the mouth to the bottom of the chin. The width between the eyes in infants and adults is practically the same.

"Upon investigation," says Professor Fotheringham, "it will be found that faces group themselves in certain easily recognizable divisions. These divisions can be so minutely subdivided as to resolve themselves into a practical proof of the truth that there are no two human faces exactly alike."

"But any minute division would defeat our purpose, and I have chosen rather to limit the types of faces to forty. This is not extravagant when one remembers that there are twelve hundred varieties of birds and nine hundred of fishes. There are even a hundred and ninety varieties of dogs, and yet the breeder has no difficulty in remembering them all."

The standard of beauty, by general consent of the artists and poets of all ages and all climes, is to be found in the faces and forms of the Greek statues. How many women and men of today fulfill the canons of beauty? "One or two in a million," says Professor Fotheringham.

Pasting the faces of certain celebrities through Professor Fotheringham's kallometer we become aware of some extraordinary varieties, revealing the fact that no animal forms such striking differences of outline as man. For instance, William Makepeace Thackeray, besides being a famous novelist, possessed a head measuring nine and three-quarters inches long instead of eight and a half. Moreover, his nostrils were half an inch above the standard and his mouth a quarter of an inch below it. Charles Dickens could boast an almost beautiful mask. His great predecessor, Scott, was abnormal in the height of his brow and the length of his upper lip.

The perfect head, according to Professor Fotheringham, is nine inches square, from crown to chin, and from nose tip to back. The standard face, he says, should be of a certain width—some five and a half inches across at a point just below the ear, and the eyes two and three-eighths inches apart. This would make the width of the head a full seven inches, yet there are heads only five and a half inches wide, and eyes less than two inches apart.

"Construct a beauty-meter and ascertain how far you, or your acquaintance, vary from the standard of the ideal form of face.

PIPE AS AID TO DETECTIVE

SCIENCE has taken another forward step in methods to detect crime and criminals. The invention of a pipe with small mirrors gives real meaning to the expression that a sleuth has "eyes in the back of his head."

The mirrors make it possible for the detective to watch the movements of those behind or at the side of him, and if he is at all clever, without the knowledge of those he is watching. It is likely that Sir A. Conan Doyle's hero, Sherlock Holmes, who is seldom without a pipe, will have this new invention in his mouth when next seen.

How the "Sherlock Holmes Pipe" May Be Used by the Ingenious Detective.

YOUR LEAD PENCIL IS NOT LEAD AT ALL

A PRIM young lad, fresh from the realms of higher education, recently appeared at the office of a prominent manufacturer of lead pencils, presented credentials as a health department investigator and announced her desire to study conditions in the factory with reference to lead poisoning.

Just as "pigs is pigs," so to her lead was lead. Such literal-mindedness is hardly to be expected of the average mortal, but if the fair investigator had called to inquire as to the actual nature of the product made and just why it had to share names with something equally common but totally different, the memory of her visit would have been less likely to have been perpetuated in the guise of the traditional factory joke.

Most persons are aware that lead pencils are not made of lead, but that the so-called black lead in them is a full brother to coal and to the aristocratic diamond, but that it is identical with many other substances in common use, such as the blackings on the kitchen range, are additional facts not nearly so well known. A recently installed exhibit in the National Museum's division of mineral technology shows the various forms of graphite, including natural and manufactured, as well as the various ingredients used in this industry.

Black lead and plumbago are popular terms for a form of pure carbon whose proper name, graphite—from the Greek word meaning to write—is more accurate and more appropriate. As a mineral from the earth, it has been known and used since about the middle of the sixteenth century; but for a matter of 200 years thereafter the conceptions of science, with reference to its true nature, seem to have remained about on a par with those of the fair visitor at the pencil factory. Accordingly, while pencils made of it were in use as far back as 1565, Cornwallis surrendered, 212 years later, before he could have known that this soft, black, greasy mineral might be burned, and that in burning it radiated from view in the form of carbonic acid gas, just like so much charcoal. Meanwhile, in lieu of any regular name, various nicknames were assigned, originating in superficial resemblances to better known substances. Two of these nicknames, black lead and plumbago, outgrowths of the fact that lead is soft and when trampled will leave a black streak on paper, have persisted.

Graphite occurs rather frequently in granite rock throughout the Appalachian system from Maine to Texas, and has been mined in various localities, notably at Ticonderoga in New York, and at a number of points in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. But the Appalachian range of occurrences, and with them those of Canada, consist of disseminated grains known to the trade as flake graphite, and the cost of recovery has pretty generally proven prohibitive, with the result that even the old Ticonderoga mines are no longer operated. For a number of years the chief supply of natural graphite has come from Ceylon, where the mineral occurs as massive veins. Another prominent graphite field lies in the Tunkhask Mountains of Siberia, and Mexico also has a rather important source in Sonora. In this country Montana has the only occurrence other than that of flake graphite thus far encountered.

AGE TO RETIRE FROM WORK

WHEN should a man retire from business? Should he retire at all? Varying answers to these questions have appeared in the public prints from time to time. In order to learn the viewpoint of the medical fraternity, or a part of it, the questions were put to Dr. William S. Sadler, a well-known authority on nervous diseases. He said:

"It is a pitiful spectacle to observe the old man who has worked so hard throughout life, in order to earn the right to rest in his old age, trying to enjoy idleness and rest while engaged in a round of efforts to achieve selfish enjoyment. Such aged business men and others who have led an active life sooner or later discover that they can not gracefully rest when they grow old."

"It is only the lazy idler who can enjoy aimless pleasure seeking in old age. The nervous hygiene of the aged, while it requires that the pace should be slackened and the work decreased, nevertheless demands that the old man or the old woman shall work on and on until the last breath is drawn. There can be no happiness in store for the men or women who retire from business or from life's duties unless they find other and equally absorbing lines of work or endeavor with which to engage their minds and occupy their energies.

"The pessimistic old gentleman and the quarrelsome old lady, as a rule, are those who have tried to stop work in their old age. They are endeavoring to sit down in peace and quiet and enjoy life, but they are rewarded only with peevish discontent; they become a bore to themselves and a nuisance to their loved ones; they blame their children and grandchildren and other relatives for their misery, and all of this could have been prevented had their powers been kept employed in useful work to the last."

"The most beautiful picture of the twilight of life is the old man with the sound brain, who works steadily on until the end, radiating optimism, sunshine and wisdom to all about him, proving himself the valued counselor of his younger associates and effectually demonstrating that the evening of life is the most beautiful period of existence when one's energies are employed in an appropriate manner and when one's selfish interests are kept in action to the very end."

A CHINESE BABY MINDER

HOW to keep a baby quiet and out of harm's way is always an interesting subject to mothers. Chinese women have a novel method, as testified by the accompanying photograph taken in the village of Ardins, China.

The child seen in the tub is just able to rest its feet on the earth with which it has been partly filled, in order to keep it quite steady. When this supstap was taken the mother rushed from the house in an excited state of mind, snatched the child from the tub, and cried out in despair that the "evil eye" had been cast upon it.

An offer of a dollar to the woman only added insult to injury.

The Tub is Filled With Sand—The Baby Can Neither Fall Nor Climb Out.

WHY TOMORROW IS LONGEST DAY IN YEAR

WHY will tomorrow, June 21, be the longest day in the year? Every schoolboy can answer this question if he remembers his textbook, but it has been a long time since most of the grown-up readers of this page left school. They might have forgotten—so to refresh their memories we print the following scientific version of the seasons:

The causes of the regular changes of conditions known as the seasons are the passage of the earth around the sun and the inclination of the earth's axis to the plane of its orbit.

As the orbit of the earth is elliptical, one axis is longer than the other, so that the earth is not always the same distance from the sun. As the axis of the earth is inclined to the plane of its orbit at an angle of 23 1/2 degrees, the same part of the earth is not always inclined to the sun and the sun's rays are not always perpendicular over the same place on the earth.

In the season known to us as spring the sun's rays fall perpendicularly upon the equator; day and night are equal all over the earth; and the event is known as the vernal equinox, March 21.

Now to tell you why tomorrow will be the longest day:

In midsummer, June 21, the sun's rays fall perpendicularly upon the tropic of Cancer; the northern hemisphere experiences its longest day, and the event is called the summer solstice because the sun appears to remain stationary on the ecliptic for a day or two before going south again.

In autumn, Sept. 21, the sun's rays fall perpendicularly at the equator; days and nights are equal all over the earth, and the event is called the autumnal equinox. In winter, Dec. 21, the sun's rays fall perpendicularly upon the earth at the tropic of Capricorn; the day is shortest in the northern hemisphere and longest in the southern. The event is known as the winter solstice.

Don't you remember how hard it was to get this through your head when you were in school?

NO LIFE INSURANCE SOLD HERE

ONE person in every 940 is murdered in the city of Atlanta, Siberia, every year. Inasmuch as there is a population of 150,000, the annual number of homicides is 600. These statistics have earned for Frankfurt the unenviable reputation of being the most wicked city in the world.

It took one thought to rid the city of crime by means of a vigilante committee. His was the idea.

Things enrolled themselves by the score, and after forming an organization offered their services. Granted exceptional powers by the governor, they "fix" the police, and then began a carnival of crime.

Rich merchants were shot in broad daylight on the pretense that they were suspects. Next, under cover of "house inspection" and "special constabulary" burglary was carried on in wholesale manner.

ORIGIN OF MOTTO ON COINS

THE introduction of a religious motto or device for the coinage of our country had been suggested, more or less indirectly, several times, but the suggestion that was finally adopted came from a farmer of Maryland.

In 1861, when Mr. Chase was Secretary of the Treasury, he received a letter from this old farmer, who suggested that, as we claimed to be a Christian people, we should indicate our profession in our coinage. The letter was referred to the director of the mint, James Pollock.

In Mr. Pollock's report for 1862 he discussed the question of the recognition of the sovereignty of God and our trust in Him on our coins. The proposition to introduce a motto upon our coins, he said, had been considered by Mr. Chase, and he did not doubt, but believed, that it would meet with approval by an intelligent public sentiment. But Congress gave no attention to the suggestion, and in his next annual report he returned to the subject and said:

"The motto-suggested, 'God Our Trust,' is taken from our national hymn, 'The Star-Spangled Banner.' The sentiment is familiar to every citizen of our country; it has thrilled the hearts and filled in song from the lips of millions of American freemen. The time is propitious; 'tis an hour of national peril and danger—an hour when man's strength is weakness when our strength and salvation must be of God. Let us reverently acknowledge His sovereignty, and let our coinage declare our trust in God."

A 2-cent bronze piece was authorized to be coined by Congress the following year—April 22, 1864—and upon this was first stamped the motto: "In God We Trust." In his report for that year Mr. Pollock pressed his approval of the motto and strongly urged that the recognition of trust be extended to the gold and silver coins of the United States. By the fifth section of the act of Congress of March 3, 1865, the director of the mint, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, was authorized to place upon all the silver and gold coin of the United States susceptible of such additions therewith to be issued the motto: "In God We Trust."

Here's a Rare Catch

IF YOU should throw your hook into a pond and, after a few moments' pause, pull out a stellated globe fish you doubtless would be surprised. But that was the experience of Fred Tiltman, an English fisherman, who recently tried his luck in a pond in the south of England.

Although the fish was a comparatively small one, its stomach was found to contain at least two quarts of water which was full of debris of seaweed. Its body was covered with small pieces, each of which rose from a distinct stellated root.

This fish is extremely rare. As far as is known this is the only one of its kind being caught in recent years.

Women's Influence on Legislation

The great Humboldt, when asked for aid in reorganizing the stricken kingdom of Prussia, seeking to rise from the wreck of the Napoleonic invasion, replied: "Whatever you would put in the state, you must first put into the schools." To which women would add, "and into the women's clubs."

As a legitimate part of its work, the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs is engaging earnestly in a campaign for compulsory education, permissive kindergarten, Smith-Lever appropriation, protection of holly and other important measures. It is expected that the forthcoming legislature will go on record as enacting suitable laws to supply the legal power needed for these great accomplishments. The unanimous endorsement of these measures by the more than 20,000 club women of Georgia will become an invincible power that will touch the legislative lever and turn it toward the protection of the child and the home.

Reports from the district meetings show that club women are studying matters of current public interest and trying to understand their cause and probable results. They can meet the arguments both for and against all debatable questions of public policy.

In no department of the complex structure of human society is there greater need for constant and efficient training than in this one of legislation. Women cannot castrate legislation. Sending in petitions wet with tears, buttonholing representatives and pouring into their reluctant ears the facts relating to their crusade, and imporing interest and action as a favor are not effective. Our aims must be accomplished by reason and clear understanding of the conditions calling for improvement.

We shall succeed only as we, as a body, call into concerted action all our ingenuity, adroitness and persuasiveness, carefully educated and wisely directed.

It has been too much the custom to sign papers of all kinds without knowledge or purpose. Women should not dissipate their power and influence. Their earnest effort should be to use the right of petition intelligently. Legislators have been heard to claim that the letters received from women do not show an intelligent grasp of the conditions sought to be remedied, nor the effect of the proposed legislation. The legislative department of the federation has stimulated a keener and more intelligent interest.

Reports from the district meetings show that club women are studying matters of current public interest and trying to understand their cause and probable results. They can meet the arguments both for and against all debatable questions of public policy.

As one club writes: "When club women realize that an interest in legislation is one form of patriotism they will be more eager to study it." From the earliest times, women have ever shown the highest patriotism, and while we may not be so presumptuous as to claim to understand all the measures before our august legislature, when it comes to the bills we have worked for and indorsed, let us study and master them; know the progress they have made, and keep up with the early considerations and developments.

By arranging with a member of the legislature for a copy of the legislative journal, the progress of the bills can be followed, and the length of the school year has a wide range. Significant action has already been taken toward the passage of a permissive kindergarten bill. The Smith-Lever appropriation will come up for consideration and must be directed. The preservation of our holly and the establishment of a state flower must be the result of legislation.

These important measures will be up for consideration before the legislature that meets June 22, and their passage is anxiously awaited by women who have worked faithfully for them for the good results they will bring to Georgia and because the Georgia federation informed them.

We can perhaps boast few Appalaches and Theodosians, but since the beginning woman has exerted a powerful influence upon the government of organized society and today each club woman has her duty to perform.

mighty ARIZONA LEAVES THE WAYS

Another Superdreadnaught for U. S. Navy Launched. The Arizona a Sister Ship of the Pennsylvania.

New York, June 18.—The new battleship Arizona was successfully launched at the Brooklyn navy yard today. The Arizona shares with her sister ship, the Pennsylvania, recently launched at Newport, Rhode Island, or of being the world's largest battleship. The Arizona slipped into the water at 11 o'clock.

The want to the river with the wine and water of her christening trickling in rivulets down her bow from two broken bottles, that swung bound together by a long red, white and blue cord of silk. Miss Esther Ross, of Prescott, Ariz., the sponsor, made a fair throw as the big hull quivered and slid slowly forward, the froth of the wine splattered her gown and the clothes of those in her party.

From the navy yard, black with a hollow throng, the Arizona sailed by the Brooklyn and Williamsburg bridges, from the docks and piers along the Manhattan water front, across a craft hugging the far shore of the East river, and from the quays and piers of the city, many tens of thousands saw the newest of American battleships glide down the ways.

Terror to Deers of Erie. Two hundred workmen with axes had been chopping away the restraining timbers for three-quarters of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Arizona.

The Arizona will cost $13,000,000. The Arizona will cost $13,000,000. She is the largest and most powerful craft ever built for any navy.

The big guns can be fired over the broadside and around the entire circle with the exception of an arc of less than 30 degrees directly forward for the after turrets and directly astern for the forward turrets. Four of the secondary battery guns, two on each side, are mounted directly forward and fire 12 degrees ahead of the beam. The remaining eight are mounted in pairs, one on each side, and fire 12 degrees ahead of the beam.

ONLY PROFITABLE PEACE WILL SUIT THE KAISER. Paris, June 18.—Extracts from a letter said to have been sent by Emperor William to a personage connected with the Russian court and published in the French press are reproduced by the Matin. The emperor is quoted as saying in part: "The only object is a peace profitable for the German state. This peace should be concluded sooner than thought. If it goes for the time being, it is only an inevitable result it would at least serve as a preparation for the future. It could be signed tomorrow if I wished."

Blair, trustee, of Toledo, for contempt seeking enforcement of the decision of the circuit court of appeals of the fifth circuit, which had ordered the reorganization of the company in favor of the Georgia court.

Palm Beach

THERE never was so sane a suit for the hot days. Palm Beach isn't a Linen or a Crash. It's a special texture devised by us for hot weather wear. It's totally different from any other cloth, and honestly deserves its world-spread popularity. It washes like linen, but is as shapely as your Spring Worsted. It is zephyr-light and porous, but not transparent. It comes in a host of shades and patterns—and is tailored into beautiful suits of Norfolk and Sacks. Every good clothes shop carries Palm Beach—be sure and ask for it by name. The words "Palm Beach" are trademarked, and the label is sewn in all suits made of the genuine. Declines imitations.

A Home-Loving Monarch in Moloch's Grasp

Victor Emmanuel, Last of the Great Rulers in War's Caldron, Prefers to Take Pictures of His Children and Ride Beside Their Pony Cart—But He Is Recognized as One of the Ablest Strategists of Europe

By DELIA AUSTRIAN.

THE fingers of Moloch, stained with the blood of Europe's sons, reached forth across the Adriatic, and, lifting the King of Italy from his throne, set him down among his fellow monarchs in the seething caldron of war. He surveyed the situation critically, and then unsheathed his sword.

Somehow it seems quite natural for us to think of the German Kaiser being at the front, or the Czar of Russia, or the King of England Nicholas of Montenegro and Peter of Serbia do not seem out of place at the head of their troops, away from their families, for rulers have led armies to battle down through the pages of history. But it is hard to reconcile Victor Emmanuel in the role of a soldier, in the role of anything but a peaceful monarch, a loving husband, a proud father.

King Victor Emmanuel is the idol of his people because he believes in democracy. He rules to serve his people, not to command them. Their aspirations and wishes are his—his needs are his needs. Whether in the north, as in Milan, or in the south, as in Rome and Naples, the people speak of him with the same enthusiasm and genuine love.

This is true of his subjects in all walks of life, though he means more to his army. He likes to fraternize with his soldiers and listen to their stories and their experiences. Though a firm believer in peace, he likewise is a firm believer in preparedness—and is recognized as one of the ablest strategists of Europe. The king has assumed supreme command of the army and navy forces of his country, which will necessitate his being away from his family the greater part of the time. And it is in this ideal family life that I wish to tell you.

Weds Famous Beauty.

It was in Venice that Victor Emmanuel, then the crown prince of Italy, met his future wife, Elena, a Montenegrin princess. She was there with her mother and her sister, and she dazzled everybody by her rich beauty, accentuated by her brilliant dark eyes and jet black hair. The young prince was charmed by her sweet, girlish figure and her vivacious manner.

The love of Victor Emmanuel was returned by the princess, and, much to the surprise of royalty, they became engaged. Emperor Alexander III, of Russia had hoped to welcome Elena as the bride of his eldest son, and with this in view had gone to the expense of having her educated at Petrograd. Hence the surprise of royalty when she accepted the proposal of the future ruler of Italy.

Years Strengthen Love.

Victor Emmanuel and the princess were married in Naples. It was with some trepidation that the latter went to Rome to make her debut at the Quirinal. She knew that every one, including the king and queen and suite at court, would be eager to note how a modest Montenegrin girl would conduct herself at the brilliant court of Rome. Crown Princess Elena was determined to rise immediately by her beauty and unaffected manner. Nature and outdoor life meant more to her than rich palaces and costly jewels.

So began the married life of Victor Emmanuel and his consort. They are no less sweethearts today than when they first heeded the call of love. Both are devotedly fond of their children. The king is a camera fiend and in times less strenuous than these may be seen walking in his gardens at Rome or at one of his country estates, carrying a camera in one hand and leading one of his children with the other. He spends a great deal of his time posing them into attractive groups. He especially likes to photograph them when riding their ponies.

KING VICTOR EM-MANUEL. Might Well Be Termed a "Camera Fiend." He Is Especially Fond of Photographing His Family. The Pony Grop to the Right Is Said to Have Been Snapped by the Royal Father. Above the Grop Picture Is Shown the Mother, Queen Elena.

In Less Strenuous Times Than These the Royal Family Often Went Riding.

THE Future King of Italy, Crown Prince Umberto. He is in the Care of a Naval Tutor-Guardian, Which Is Taken to Mean That the Heir to the Throne Desires to Be Known as a Sailor Rather Than a Soldier.

One day he was found in wild excitement in the park of the royal palace at Ro-conti. For a moment the queen, who was watching the king and the children from a distance, was at a loss to know what had happened. When she came up she found that the king was merely played over his success in making an attractive picture of Prince Humbert leading a pony belonging to Baby Jolando.

Another favorite pastime of Italy's ruler is to teach his children to mount and ride. Long before they were able to manage the reins he put them into a wicker basket and strapped them into the seat while he led the pony and the young charges around the hill.

Favors Military Training.

The king began his military training on reaching his teens. He was educated under Colonel Oso, who taught him the highest forms of strategy. After a year's service like other Italians of rank he was given command of a regiment and rose rapidly. Then he went aboard a man-of-war and got the same broad experience.

Victor Emmanuel was a weakling, so to speak, until committed to the charge of such a strict disciplinarian as Colonel Oso, and he is of the opinion that such a change from the nursery will be of benefit to 10-year-old Prince of Piedmont, the crown prince and Italy's future king. A year ago the prince was handed over to the guardianship of a rough and ready seaman, Frigate Captain Donaldi, to be "hardened."

He has his own suite in the Quirinal and his horses are well dispensed with. Government continues to teach him foreign languages. The choice of a naval tutor-guardian is taken to mean that the heir to the throne desires to become a sailor rather than a soldier. He would be the first Italian monarch to adopt the sea.

King Is Fearless Reformer.

Crown Prince Umberto is uncommonly intelligent, but willful and headstrong. His royal parents do their best to keep their children disciplined, but Humbert is the pet of the family.

When King Victor Emmanuel took the throne he made many reforms in his government, especially of the military branch. He knew that some reforms were inefficient and lax, and accordingly he placed the blame on the officers. His way of correcting these faults was to visit the regiments unannounced, and on finding a laxity in regard to rules disciplining the officers severely.

Like the king, Queen Elena is idolized by her people. She is a mother first and a queen last, and she has always seemed willing to forget her own interests when her subjects' welfare is threatened.

Often has Queen Elena gone out among the sick and suffering of Italy to administer comfort and aid—sometimes at the risk of her own life. The most memorable incident of this character occurred at the time of the Messina earthquake. As soon as she learned that the king was hurrying southward to his people she made ready to accompany him.

King Victor Emmanuel tried in vain to persuade her to remain behind. He argued that the sight might be too terrible for her to witness. "There is nothing in the world too terrible for me to see so far as my people are concerned," was her reply.

So she went to the stricken district, where she was so impatient to assist that she even gave a hand to clearing away debris. It was while engaged in this difficult and dangerous work that she suffered an injured arm, which has bothered her since. At the time she paid little or no attention to the wound, assisting the Red Cross to care for hundreds of unfortunates, many of them lifelines.

Queen Given Decoration.

It was not with an aim to being commended that Queen Elena undertook this hardship. She was surprised, indeed, when she was given the Legion of Honor by M. Barre, who represented the Republic of France in Italy. He explained that if any woman had the right to enjoy such a distinction it was Queen Elena. She has often shown the same heroism and patriotism when Naples and the surrounding country have been threatened by earthquakes or cholera.

In times of peace and prosperity Queen Elena has helped the women and children of her country in a great many ways. She has founded creches where working mothers may leave their children while talking, and where they may be sure of good food and attention. An investigation of the hospitals of Rome and Naples convinced Queen Elena that they were overcrowded and not segregated as they should be. She has spent no small part of her private fortune establishing hospitals for women and children.

She was the first woman to found kindergarten in Italy, and when Dr. Maria Montessori commenced her experiments among the children of the tenement districts in Rome Queen Elena gave her hearty support and co-operation.

Log Cabin Doll House At "Sign of the Wren's Nest"

The Log Cabin Doll House at Snap Bean Farm which will be contested for by the children of the United States. It was designed by Miss Susan McClellan and built by E. J. Memory of New York.

The Log Cabin Doll house at the Sign of the Wren's Nest, Uncle Remus' home, is exciting the interest of Atlanta children, and every child has a chance to win it.

Every little boy and girl in the United States who loves Uncle Remus and who wants to preserve Uncle Remus' playground, has Uncle Remus' cash help by sending 10 cents to the fund for Snap Bean Farm.

The Wren's Nest was completely paid for in January, and the association wants to acquire the three acres adjoining, where the May festival is at ways held. The log house is an idea of Miss Susan McClellan to give the children the privilege of being.

There will be a register at the Wren's Nest, and Mrs. R. T. Cronally, the official hostess will be glad to let every boy, girl, and even Uncle Remus' name. All these numbers will be put in a

VALDOSTA LEGAL FIRM SUED BY GREEK HEIRS

Valdosta, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—Arguments before Judge W. W. Lambdin, of the federal district court, in the equity action by heirs of the late John Kalamas, Woodward & Smith, a prominent Valdosta legal firm, attracted greater attention than almost any case during the week. The prominence of the defendants and attorneys, as well as the amount involved, made the case an interesting one. The heirs of Kalamas, a Greek, who died in this city a few years ago, seek to annul the sale of their interests in the estate which was made to Woodward & Smith. It is charged by them that the defendants were employed as attorneys by the heirs bringing the action, and that they misrepresented or concealed the real value of the estate, buying the interest of the plaintiffs at much less than its real value. In their defense Woodward & Smith deny that they were attorneys for the plaintiffs and that their purchase was in good faith and equity.

Harmon Cooper, charged with robbing the postoffice at Cyrus, Ga., pleaded guilty and was sentenced to three years in the federal prison at Atlanta and a fine of $500.

Henry Oliver, charged with entering the postoffice at Katsipaluga and robbing it, was given three years in the Atlanta prison and a fine of $500.

Trials in the case of the United States vs. the Seaboard Air Line Railway resulted in a consent verdict and the payment of a fine of $100 by the railroad company for violating the federal cattle quarantine act.

The South Georgia Syrup company, at Cairo, Ga., was tried under the pure food act with shipping a lot of syrup in cans containing a less quantity than the cans were marked to contain. There were two counts against the company, on one of which they were found guilty and on the other not guilty. Under the law a certain violation in quantity of containers is permissible and on one count it was shown that the percentage of violation had been exceeded, while on the other count it had not.

STRANGE ANSWERS GIVEN BY WOULD-BE AMERICANS

Valdosta, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—The audience in the federal court building yesterday during the hearing of a number of applications for citizenship by aliens, were greatly amused at the replies made by some of the foreigners to questions by Judge Lambdin. Syrians and Russian Jews composed the bulk of those who sought to have the court make American citizens of them, and some of them could speak English with difficulty. One of the applicants when asked who was the president of the United States, gave back a quick reply, "Thee Smith," and to the question, who made the laws of the country, replied with equal compass, "Hoke Smith." This man stated that Woodrow Wilson was governor of Georgia.

Another, when asked by Judge Lambdin to tell what he knew of the constitution of the United States, replied that the constitution was a big man who lived in Washington, made the laws for the country and looked after the people. One or two of the applicants said Theodore Roosevelt was the biggest man in all the land, and father of all the American people. Other details of the hearing showed grotesque ignorance on the part of some of the applicants and six of them were refused naturalization papers until they have informed themselves better as to American laws and institutions.

"What is a food expert?"
"Any man who eat less his waxe' buy enough for the family table."

FREE CLINICS FAVORED BY DENTISTS OF STATE

Also Instructive Lectures for the Public Schools—Officers Are Elected.

The Georgia State Dental association Saturday morning went on record as unanimously favoring a state appropriation sufficient to furnish lecturers and clinicians to cover the entire state and teach the children of the public schools how to efficiently cleanse and to keep sterile and pure the mouth and teeth.

Resolutions endorsing this movement were adopted and the president named the following committee to draft the proposed bill and seek its passage by the next general assembly: Dr. William Greenhaw, Dr. T. P. Hinson, Dr. M. D. Huff and Dr. S. W. Foster, all of Atlanta; Dr. O. Lee Chestnut, of Jackson, and Dr. O. M. Callahan, of Macon.

Dr. E. A. Tigner, retiring president of the association, approved of the movement and said: "The movement arises out of the urgent necessity for warding off caries tooth decay of children and for reasons even more urgent in its bearing upon the health in later life in warding off alveolar pyorrhea or Rieger's disease, which is now more widely distributed and a greater menace to the health of the general public than pulmonary consumption."

Dr. J. E. Tigner, retiring president of the association, approved of the movement and said: "The movement arises out of the urgent necessity for warding off caries tooth decay of children and for reasons even more urgent in its bearing upon the health in later life in warding off alveolar pyorrhea or Rieger's disease, which is now more widely distributed and a greater menace to the health of the general public than pulmonary consumption."

MARINE OFFICE HERE MAKES GOOD RECORD

Best Men in Corps Come From Southeast, Says Lieut. Colvocoreses.

"The best men in the United States marine corps come from the southern district according to statistics at naval and military headquarters," said Lieutenant H. Colvocoreses, who has just returned from an inspection of the several sub-stations at Memphis, Nashville and Birmingham. The larger percentage of these come from the country and smaller towns. As they are all hardy and willing to work they make most satisfactory recruits for expeditionary duty, such as being done by the marines sent to quell the Yaqui Indians.

Lieutenant Colvocoreses also said that during the last month the Atlanta office ranked third for the number of marines recruited at the general stations of the nation, excluding New York and San Francisco. He pointed out that most of the men are re-enlisting and attributing this to the fact that they understand the conditions and are not afraid of the service.

The Atlanta office has a record of 100 per cent increase for the month of June over the corresponding month of the previous year, whereas the minimum term in the army is 18 months.

Bear and Temperance

CHRONIC grinch who doesn't feel right after eating half a pound of meat, eight ounces of potatoes, vegetables, bread, butter, pickles, pie and cheese galore—that's intemperance.

Eminent authorities are agreed that beer is a temperance drink and a highly nourishing beverage. It is a powerful aid to digestion. On this point Dr. F. E. Foy, Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians, London, recently expressed himself as follows:

"Beer is a refreshing, exhilarating nutritive. A light beer, well flavored with the hop, is calculated to promote digestion, and may be looked upon as containing one of the most wholesome of the alcoholic class of beverages."

The average citizen—in fine fettle—eating well cooked and well chosen food in moderate quantities and drinking an occasional glass of mild, refreshing beer; rising next morning in perfect mental and physical condition—that's Temperance.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wharton Phillips

It is the silent forces in nature that are the most powerful and enduring. It is also true of the silent forces among our men and women. It is the quiet, modest woman who is apt to pass unnoticed in a crowd, that is doing the most good, and is leading the most useful life.

No life can be pure in its purpose and serene in its aims, unless it is purer and stronger thereby. This, in passing to her reward, Mrs. Elizabeth Wharton Phillips has left to her friends and to all whose lives she touched, a priceless heritage.

The news of her going brought a deep sense of grief and personal loss to her many friends, far and near, and there was comfort in the assurance that when the pangs of the great life were over, she would be reunited with those who loved her, and whose loss she had so nobly borne.

Mrs. Phillips, who was Miss Elizabeth Wharton, was born in Marietta, Ga. In early childhood her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Phillips, who were married in 1868, lived in the city of Marietta. Her whole life has been an example of a beautiful faith in the unseen. A love for good of all things pure and true dominated her being and in meeting her but rarely she was impressed at once with that spiritual side of her nature which characterized her.

As long as her health and strength would permit, she took an active part in church and Sunday school work. She was for 24 years a teacher in the Sunday school of the First Presbyterian church, and for many years a member of the church. The influence of her life has been felt in the lives of many of the young people of the city.

Mrs. Phillips was one of the silent forces whose memory will linger as long as a human heart can love—in the quietude of love and kindness she left a quiet, but a powerful, influence on the lives of those who loved her. Her memory will be sweet as the memory of the life she lived, and her friends will be comforted by the thought that she is now with those who love her, and whose loss she had so nobly borne.

So now with hearts tender still with the fresh sorrow of parting, we rejoice with her: That—

"For sudden the worst turns the best to the brave.
The black minutes at end,
And the elements that rise, the voices that speak,
Shall divide, shall blend,
And the hearts that were once first a peace out of pain,
Then to be again,
O thou soul of my soul! I clasp thee in my arms,
And with God be the rest."

GET-TOGETHER MEETING PLANNED AT COMMERCE

Commerce, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—A meeting of the Commerce Rotary club will be held this evening at the hotel here. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. and will be held in the main hall of the hotel.

"All Cats look grey—at Night!"

JUST Rubber and Canvas—pumped full of air!

Owners of other Cars driven with equal care, under equivalent road conditions.

THE latter type of Owner is apt to conclude offhand (from his own experience) that ALL Tires must be Short-lived and Unsatisfactory.

Now this is to tell him that there is as much difference between the Mileage and Resilience of different brands of Tires, when the facts are investigated, and proven through actual Service, as there is difference between the Color of Cats—when viewed by Daylight.

This is to inform him that three Rubber Factories using precisely the same quantity and quality of Materials might, and sometimes do, produce (through the difference in their Rubber EXPERIENCE and efficiency methods) Tires of such widely different Mileage as to average 2000 Miles, 4000 Miles, and 5000 Miles respectively—under parallel road conditions.

COST of production is therefore no sure guide to the Mileage and Resilience which can be put into such a subtle and "temperamental" product as the Rubber in a Pneumatic Tire.

And, though the B. F. Goodrich Co. can, and does, put the most Mileage per Dollar invested by the User, into Goodrich Safety-Tread Tires, they do not interpret this as a reason why they should charge a higher price to include an Insurance Premium which would place their "Adjustment Basis" beyond the safe and reasonable minimum that Bad Roads and Careless Driving make necessary.

Because of its Manufacturing Advantages, its Precision Methods, and Waste-reducing Processes (resulting from its 45 years' EXPERIENCE in the working of Rubber), the B. F. Goodrich Co. can afford to and does, offer the greatest Mileage in Tires at the lowest price per Mile.

It sells the standard grade of Goodrich Safety Tires at 10% to 30% lower prices than other non-skid brands which "Guarantee" greater Mileage but cannot prove delivery of greater Mileage in actual use.

Why pay MORE for any Tire?

CITY MAY BE ANTI-ALFAIFA AND WATFALEA

Councilman Claude Ashley Will Urge This Course in Effort to Reduce Atlanta's Forage Bill.

Atlanta's forage bill, which has increased within a few years to about $100,000 per year, has caused city officials no little concern, and many of them have been investigating with a view to devising ways and means for cutting down this expense.

The city at the beginning of the year had twenty-four automobiles in view, which materially cut down the forage bill, and with specifications already made, they will have a total of forty-eight autos before the end of the year. This saving, however, will not reduce the forage bill to the extent desired.

Councilman Claude Ashley, of the fourth ward, has hit upon a plan that will cut before general council in the form of a resolution that he believes will mean a saving of about $200,000 per year in the forage bill.

He will be joined by Councilman A. W. Faringer, also of the fourth ward, in an effort to get council to plant 50 acres of the city reserve on the McDonough road in Atlanta next fall.

At the conservative estimate of five cents per bushel, the city will get property, Councilman Ashley estimates, that will pay for itself in the next year, which he says can be gotten by the city by planting the alfalfa.

Mr. Ashley says he is willing to give a portion of his own money for this experiment for the city and contend that the city will save $100,000 and a great saving each year.

GIRLS ARE INTERESTED IN AUTO CONSTRUCTION

Studebaker Chassis Provided for Instruction at St. Mary's College.

"Do mechanics interest young ladies?" "Yes," answers Miss Mary M. Callahan, director of the physical training department of St. Mary's academy and college at Notre Dame, Ind., "and much more than in ordinarily the case, as I have found. It is the motor car enthusiast."

Miss Callahan is in position to speak competently on the subject, for at her suggestion the faculty of St. Mary's adopted a course of study for the young ladies who might be interested, and this did not prove to be uninteresting. The students who drive or had access of cars, the others were possibly looking into the future. It is probably the first instance of its kind, with institutions devoted to the education of young ladies, but the announcement comes of more than ordinary interest from the fact that it evidences a strong recognition being given the rapidly growing popularity of motor driving among the fair sex.

It is not regarded essential, with present simplified methods of automobile construction, that the owner be especially schooled in a knowledge of the parts entering into the construction of the car, but nevertheless this knowledge adds to the satisfaction of owning and greatly increases the pleasure of driving, according to those who have familiarized themselves. For another important reason it is recognized as insuring better care and longer use of the car.

Miss Callahan consulted with officials of the Studebaker corporation relative to the best method for installation of the course of training and securing the practical results. She found it to be greatly interested and agreeable to lending every facility possible, and upon appreciation of the general good that could be made to result to the automobile manufacturing industry. The public spirit of Studebaker also prompted the tender of a completely equipped Studebaker chassis for the use of the class.

According to the instructors, great interest is being taken by the young ladies in the work, and they show, while learning to drive, more than during the indoor term, their appreciation and grasp of the subject gained from the lessons given. A photograph Miss Callahan of the class and sent to Studebaker shows the young ladies familiarizing themselves with motor and transmission arrangements.

Fifty points are the limit for any one car. At the close of the indoor examinations, were held, the points being the highest score were awarded.

St. Mary's college is located at a high point on the banks of the St. Joseph river, at a point directly opposite where the fabric is disintegrated in making his explorations of the Mississippi valley. The grounds are heavily wooded and lined with winding drives, while the surrounding country affords opportunity for delightful trips, so that the recreation and excitement which are an impelling incentive, which explains the enthusiastic response given to the plan to establish a course in motor car construction by the students.

This instruction may be regarded as commendable evidence of the endeavor to make to broaden the practical training and learning, that the young woman of the future should properly equipped for independence.

Motor car owners considering tours of interest in other parts of the country, will wish to visit Studebaker, for they will obtain information in this furnish valuable information in this and are anxious to accommodate all inquirers.

BUICK OFFICIAL SAYS NO DANGER TOO MANY AUTOS

The amazing growth of the motor car industry is a source of never-ending surprise to the public—both the monitoring public and the great outside public as well. Every day the question is asked: "Where does all the money come from to pay for these automobiles?" And also: "When will the point of total saturation be reached?" R. H. Collins, known as "Trainhead," outlines throughout the Buick organization, for which he is general sales manager, says the answers to such questions are simple enough if the carlos ones will look a little below the surface. "Where does the money come from," says Mr. Collins, "and there they stop. The public does not stop to think of the tremendous additions that automobiles have made to the aggregate wealth of the country. Every man or woman who has an automobile soon finds that his or her efficiency is increased a hundred fold or more. This means, when you get right down to brass tacks, the motor car instead of subtracting from the wealth of the nation, adds to it. The man who owns an automobile makes more money than he did before he became an automobile owner. His efficiency increases as if by magic. He is able to do his own work and the wealth of the community."

"There is no such thing as the 'point of total saturation' as applied to automobiles. In other words, the more automobiles the more wealth."

Chandler Was Months Ahead of the "New Models"

THIS is "announcement" time, it seems. You are being told about "new models" and lower prices. Well the new models and the lower prices had to come, for the Chandler pointed the way months ago—not with a cheapened car but with a car that had made good for thousands of owners, at a price that made the industry gasp.

CHANDLER $1295

The Chandler announced its New Season's car in January, at a price of only $1295. That price was hundreds of dollars under the price of any other car of really similar character. And now, in spite of price reductions and new models rushed out in the hopes of meeting the Chandler competition, the Chandler is still underpriced. Such a car at such a price literally stamped the trade toward the Chandler. And it continues to lead in the leadership of the high-grade light six field. Men who are motor-wise, men who know auto-report was not a creature of my own imagination, but a matter of sufficient importance for me to write it. It was brought to my attention by my official capacity. Mr. Johnson's statement was a warning to Mr. Donovan, if he did not get out of the game, he would be removed. Mr. Johnson's statement was a warning to Mr. Donovan, if he did not get out of the game, he would be removed. Mr. Johnson's statement was a warning to Mr. Donovan, if he did not get out of the game, he would be removed.

COBB DEFIES BAN TO RUN HIM OUT

When I get ready to make any direct accusation against a club in the American League I will come right out and name it, and will bring the evidence to prove what I say. Furthermore, I will do right to ban Johnson with my profits. This is not the first time that there has been a rumor of signal stealing in the American League. The Detroit club secured a club in New York was getting them some years ago, and that matter was brought to Mr. Johnson's attention. There wasn't any rumor about putting somebody out of the game then, however.

Detroit has been accused of stealing signs. Connie Mack came out with an interview in the Detroit News, in which he said that we used to do it. As proof, he said that the matter was brought to my attention with an Indian's sign on our fence with an Indian's sign on our fence with an Indian's sign on our fence. This latter is true, but the eyes were opened by a small boy, hired by the concern owing the advertisement. The kid set behind the sign and had the eyes roll by means of a long lever. When Jennings heard that Mack had made a complaint, he investigated and found what was going on. He forced the boy to stop making the "goose" eyes right away. Tommie Thomas, of the Athletics, was on our club at this time, and that matter was brought to my attention from that sign. It would be useless to say so now if there had been anything, as I have said.

Germany Is Not a Deterred General, Bernhardi

By Special Permission of Kaiser Wilhelm, General Bernhardi Sets Forth Argument to Prove What a Potent Factor German Kind of Militarism Would Be in Development of Mind and Body of Any Nation—Gives German Opinion of Reasons Why France, Russia, England and Belgium Are Fighting Against Teutons.

By FRIEDRICH VON BERNHARDI.
(Special Correspondent.)
Russia and France have forced upon the world the idea of a dimly perceived, but not dimly perceived, that they had a right to demand that Austria-Hungary, which in view of the Serbian policy of murder, was justified in every respect, England entered into the war, not in order to protect neutral Belgium against German violation, although England, through its military agreements with that country, had long before violated the spirit of Belgium's neutrality, and that England herself had already long before been directed against Germany.

Germany has not been forced upon the world the idea of a dimly perceived, but not dimly perceived, that they had a right to demand that Austria-Hungary, which in view of the Serbian policy of murder, was justified in every respect, England entered into the war, not in order to protect neutral Belgium against German violation, although England, through its military agreements with that country, had long before violated the spirit of Belgium's neutrality, and that England herself had already long before been directed against Germany.

Today these pretents for war are no longer taken seriously by our own historians. The English press has quite frankly declared that it is without governmental sanction, that the violation of Belgian neutrality was only the ostensible pretext for England's declaration of war; that England, even in the absence of the Belgian treaty, under any circumstances, would have participated in the war against Russia, finally, it is quite frankly admitted that the crushing of Austria and the conquest of Constantinople were the real objects of this long and carefully prepared war. In that event, of the amount of attention is paid to the opinion of the population which is to be driven into battle without knowing for what they are fighting and why they must die hundreds of thousands. Like the mass of the population, they are completely ignorant of the political situation.

Germany in France no secret is made of the fact that for years preparations had been made for the war and that the first opportunity was seized to draw the Russian, Russia, finally, it is quite frankly admitted that the crushing of Austria and the conquest of Constantinople were the real objects of this long and carefully prepared war. In that event, of the amount of attention is paid to the opinion of the population which is to be driven into battle without knowing for what they are fighting and why they must die hundreds of thousands. Like the mass of the population, they are completely ignorant of the political situation.

It is evident and France on the other hand only one word is necessary to justify the war in the eyes and in order to make the mass of the population believe in an agreement for the violation of Belgian neutrality. The British government has been forced to admit another secret war.

WHERE IS PERIL OF OUR MILITARISM?

So they declare, as the French foreign minister only recently asserted publicly. The real object of the war is to establish a military dictatorship in Europe. German militarism which has been the cause of the war, will be the cause of the world's destruction. I now ask, is the difference between German militarism and the militarism of other nations? Where lies the peril? Our enemies are quick with the answer.

HAS NOT RETURNED CIVILIZATION?

This view, however, has by no means exerted a restraining and depressing influence upon our enemies. They are quick with the answer. They are quick with the answer. They are quick with the answer.

General von Bernhardi

mandated from each individual. Then, too, they took place in the army. The men of the higher class, the officers, the aristocrats, the nobles, and all men to feel that they were members of the army, not only in the barracks and on duty, but in the street and in the home. The strict discipline that is demanded of them in the army, but by no means based upon slavish obedience, but upon the free and voluntary recognition of their necessity. The discipline is based upon the recognition of their necessity. The discipline is based upon the recognition of their necessity.

General von Bernhardi

thought which also has been the guiding motive of the French policy. It is not a policy of aggression, but a policy of self-defense. It is not a policy of aggression, but a policy of self-defense. It is not a policy of aggression, but a policy of self-defense.

General von Bernhardi

Here Austria stood in her (Russian) way, and the czar's plans of late were concentrated upon the destruction of that country and the crushing of Austria's ally, Germany. In this direction the French and Russian wishes met. This was the aim of the war, not the realization of the century-old dream of the conquest of Constantinople and the domination of the Balkan peninsula.

General von Bernhardi

But if that is so—and everybody who has any knowledge of Germany will agree with me that it is so—when this war broke out, Germany was not a deterred general, but a potent factor in the development of mind and body of any nation.

SAVE THE CYCLOGRAM, URGES GEO. FREEMAN

Councilman Will Ask Council to Pass Resolution for Charter Amendment.

Save the cyclorama and the famous picture of the "Battle of Atlanta." This is the appeal Councilman George Freeman will make Monday afternoon when he will ask the council to pass a resolution calling for a charter amendment providing for a building for the great war picture.

Freeman is not going to allow the picture with all its historical association and sentiment to rot down in a third ward building. "I inspected the cyclorama and I was ashamed of Atlanta and myself for its location here."

During the recent rains three feet of water stood in the basement of the building; the lower edges of the picture were rotting away from exposure and the building is a veritable fire trap. "We need a permanent fire-proof building and if there is a way we are going to get it."

Grahame White's Warning to London Come True.

Four Years Ago the Noted Aviator, Now an Officer of the British Air Corps, Censured His Country's "Official Apathy" and Forecast the Aerial Menace That Has Now Become a Tragic Fact

WHEN German airplanes flew over London recently, dropping bombs and killing a number of people, the war office no doubt recalled the aerial menace warning of Claude Grahame-White, spoken in 1911. The well-known aviator, who is now an officer of England's air corps, said at that time:

"Weight-lifting machines of modern construction could leave foreign soil tomorrow, could make their way by air until they hovered over London, could drop explosives, or incendiary bombs, upon the streets and buildings of the city, and could fly back again to their starting point without once having need to descend."

Grahame-White was warning what he termed the "official apathy" of England. He was pleading for more aeroplanes with which to combat the attack of an enemy—in the event that such an attack should ever

Why are other countries devoting time and money unhesitatingly to strengthening their air corps, increasing the skill of their

Germany to raid the realm of King George V. with seeming impunity?

The answer to this question may be found in another declaration made by Grahame-White four years ago.

"There is one absolutely vital factor in an efficient military air corps that no money in the world could buy. That factor is represented by the priceless experience which France and Germany have acquired, not in the mere spending of money but by astute experimenting in all practical forms of aerial work. We in England are at least a year behind these countries in the development of the war aeroplane; and this year is represented also by extraordinary pioneer work.

"During this wonderful year of progress other countries have learned lessons that—even if we bought today an air fleet numerically equal to theirs—would enable them to be infinitely our superiors in the performance of all aerial operations."

An aerial attack on London has been the daily nightmare of the English people since the war began.

Almost every week since Dec. 9 there have been raids and rumors of raids on England. A summary of these will give airmen and perfecting their aerial organization? And why is it that in England sums which can only be described as paltry are set aside for war aeroplanes and men, and that permeating the official attitude toward this new 'arm' there is indifference?

"We have acquired ten military aeroplanes, at least two of which are obsolete, and we have no plans at all of regarding buying any more. We have two or three officers as expert airmen in connection with the air battalion; and there is an intention, I believe, to train a few more during the summer."

Did England shake off her apathy following this warning? To a certain extent, yes. Where she had ten military aeroplanes in 1911, she had 200 shortly after the beginning of hostilities with Germany. Also she had seven military dirigibles. Germany, the aerial activities of which country concern England the most, had between 400 and 500 military aeroplanes and twenty dirigibles.

You may say that these figures do not compare so very unfavorably for England, inasmuch as a defending party most always holds an advantage over the attacking party. Why, then, is it possible for

This Warning Has Come True

Weight-lifting machines of modern construction could leave foreign soil tomorrow, could make their way by air until they hovered over London, could drop explosives, or incendiary bombs, upon the streets and buildings of the city, and could fly back again to their starting point without once having need to descend.

Will This?

AERIAL machines in future will not be employed in units, but in large squadrons. Many people still think of the aeroplane, even for military purposes, as a machine to be used in twos and threes. But France, Germany and Russia have ceased to make this mistake. They are laying their plans for the employment of war machines, not in fifties, or even in hundreds, but in thousands.

Do you have an idea of Grahame-White's eligibility to be classed as a prophet?

DEC. 9—Hostile aeroplanes dropped bombs on Dover, only sixty miles from London. One bomb hit the earthworks of the fortifications.

DEC. 22—Berlin official press bureau announced that the German navy aviator, Lieutenant Stephen von Prodyanski, had flown over Dover, thrown bombs, reconnoitered the position of the British fleet.

DEC. 24—British official press bureau reported that a hostile aeroplane had dropped a bomb over Dover.

An aeroplane dropped a bomb at Colchester, and several bombs at Marks Tey and near Coggeshall.

APRIL 17—The report came from Berlin that a German aviator shelled Greenwich, near London. No English report made on the subject.

APRIL 30—A hostile air craft raided Ipswich. Bombs were dropped and some houses destroyed by flames started by explosives.

JAN. 10—Sixteen German aeroplanes were seen over the English Channel, according to the London Times.

JAN. 19—German air craft attempted to blow up the king's residence at Sandringham. Reports at London were that a squadron of six Zeppelins crossed the North Sea.

JAN. 22—Norfolk and London were again excited by reports that Zeppelin airships were raiding England.

FEB. 1—The batteries protecting Dover opened fire on air raiders and drove them away. The war department made all preparations for a raid on London, and the streets of the city were kept in darkness.

FEB. 21—An aeroplane dropped incendiary bombs on the fields near Brantree.

MAY 12—A Zeppelin was seen near the mouth of the Tyne.

MAY 17—A Zeppelin raided Ramsgate and dropped about forty bombs. The Bull Hotel was badly damaged.

MAY 27—Another Zeppelin raid was made on Southend. Two women were reported killed.

JUNE 1—Ninety bombs dropped in the metropolitan area of London. Four people killed, several seriously injured, and much private property destroyed.

JUNE 4—Raid made over the eastern and southeastern coast of England. "Little material damage was done, and the casualties are very few," reported the admiralty. Is Germany secretly building enough airships to attack England in fifties, in hundreds, in thousands? If so, will England be prepared to meet the attack? It might be well for her to heed the warning now four years old.

HARRISON OPPOSED FOR TAX ASSESSOR

George Sims, James R. Sewell and F. E. Maffett Are Seeking Position.

J. L. Harrison, one of the city tax assessors, faces strong opposition when the election is held by general council on the first Monday in July.

George Sims, formerly in the city clerk's office, but now attached to the municipal court; James R. Sewell, president of the West End bank, and F. E. Maffett, member of the board of health from the tenth, are candidates to succeed Mr. Harrison.

Mr. Harrison has held office as one of the city tax assessors for twenty years, but it has been charged openly in council that friction has arisen in the office.

C. D. Meador, whose term as assessor also expires on the first Monday in July, is expected to succeed himself without opposition. He has also been in the office for many years. J. N. Malone, the third assessor, will hold office until July, 1916.

The city attorney has prepared a charter amendment to be presented to the legislature which, if passed, will separate the tax assessors from that of the tax receiver, held by Chief Clerk George B. Beauchamp.

This is considered the first step by council to completely reorganize the department. Advocates of the change claim it will mean several million dollars annually increase in the personal tax returns.

There was little change during the past few days in the race for chief of the fire department. Friends of Captain W. D. Cody are sanguine as to his victory over Chief W. B. Cummings, the incumbent, who is a candidate to succeed himself.

The Cody faction claims an overwhelming majority of votes, while the friends of Chief Cummings claim it will be a close race.

Captain John Terrill's friends do not expect him to be elected on the first ballot, but claim that if he shows strength he will have a good opportunity to win on the second. They have agreed to throw their strength to Cody in the event Terrill does not poll more than eight votes on the second ballot.

THE HOME GARDEN

Conducted by Prof. R. J. H. DeLoach, Director Experiment Station, Experiment, Ga.

A New School Idea.

It is conceded by all that our trees are being reduced far too rapidly for the good of the country-at-large, and the remedies have been tried for such a condition. The one universal remedy is education. Many practical suggestions by which conditions might be changed and plans laid for the education of the people. What we need is more tree planting in the home garden, more trees of any kind, and especially more fruit trees.

School Gardens and What They Have Done.

Schools have recently become much interested in the garden idea, and yet most of them restrict their activities along this line to the growing of garden vegetables and ornamental plants. This has had the tendency to discourage the school children from growing flowers and vegetables usually ripen to maturity about the time the school closes and consequently the work of most of it is lost except its training value. There are, however, many permanent valuable results of the average school garden which are of an interesting study of plant life, and a few simple lessons in agriculture.

A Forest Nursery.

It seems to us that a forest nursery would supply a real need in the schools and help to do constructive work in a way that results can be seen and enjoyed. The school communities all naturally wish for different varieties of trees, and would secure them if they could without difficulty. Here is where the school will be able to do real service to the community and in this way with the good will of the citizens and the support of the school board a small forest nursery can be planted, consisting of such trees as are most popular to begin with and then extended to all varieties of trees to be needed and that the community could use to advantage.

Where to Begin Practicing.

In the fall is the time to prepare the land. Break it thoroughly and fertilize with barnyard manure and with mixed fertilizers. A leguminous winter crop and prepare the soil for planting. Collect the seeds in the fall from such sources as the community, in the summer and autumn from the trees of the neighborhood and other seed from nurseries. If you have a model and a few trees can be planted in the fall. Everything should be ready for the spring planting.

Each Pupil a Task.

Each pupil must have some definite task. Sometimes boys to have each pupil to try to raise a given number of feet from such sources as the community, in the summer and autumn from the trees of the neighborhood and other seed from nurseries. If you have a model and a few trees can be planted in the fall. Everything should be ready for the spring planting.

During Vacation.

It will be well to have the trees to care for during the vacation. Hoisting and weeding must be done. The trees should be arranged in such a way that it will not be necessary to dig up the trees for their own care. This can be done by planting them in a trench and calling the tree growers' association, or an agreement of some kind entered into by which the work would be looked after. Next week we will discuss suggestions on the kinds of trees that should be grown and how to get the seed.

A Want Ad Will Generally Bring a Job to a Good Man. A great many employers of men watch the applications made for work through the "Situation Wanted" column of The Constitution want ad. When the right man asks for a job in the right way—in the right place—he's pretty sure to catch the eye of some employer who will recognize the fact that the man who has brains enough to advertise for a position would make a pretty good man for his organization. Many men who are working, and think themselves capable of doing something better, often secure a BETTER position by advertising in the "Situation Wanted"—holding on to their position until they find a better one. IS THERE NEED FOR A PUBLIC DEFENDER BY CAMPBELL ? MACCULLOCH

DR. J. H. STOLPER -
FIRST PUBLIC DEFENDER
OF THE STATE OF OKLAHOMA.

WALTON J. WOOD
PUBLIC DEFENDER OF
LOS ANGELES

PUBLIC DEFENDER INTERVIEWING A CLIENT

THERE is a concerted movement to introduce in the Legislature of New York and certain other States a measure that shall provide for the creation of the office of Public Defender in each and every county of the State. This official is to be paid by the State, or some subdivision thereof, and shall occupy himself with the defence of persons accused of violation of the Penal Code. His official duties shall exactly parallel the duties of the public prosecutor or District Attorney, and he shall be as diligent in defending the accused as the prosecutor is in prosecuting him. The situation is as though the vox populi should declare to its legislative representatives:—

"You have engaged a talented man, equipped him with the power and dignity of a public office, conferred upon him the moral support of the community, have placed the communal treasury at his disposal and have set him to prosecute in behalf of the State each individual charged with the commission of a crime. In the interests of justice it is necessary that you should be as jealous for the welfare and safety of the individual as you are for the welfare and safety of the community itself, for the community is but the sum total of the individuals composing it. Hence it will be necessary that you engage a similarly talented man, equip him with the same powers and resources and set him to the defence of the individual under accusation."

In a nutshell, there is the situation at present as it is manifested in the workings of the public consciousness, and it would seem that there could be no opposition to such a plea case for the impartiality of justice. Yet there is opposition. In principle all men are equal before the law. In practice very little actual equality is apparent, as any practicing lawyer will be glad to affirm. It has been argued that the Fourteenth Amendment was designed to further enhance the equality of mankind before the law, and it does so act—in theory, or when ideal conditions are apparent; but there are vital differences in conditions, and these become more glaring as they are examined in the light of reason—not custom or legal practice. A single example comes to mind.

In the first week of April a missing witness in a most interesting criminal case was found and arrested, charged with perjury. He was locked in a police station. Now, the law provides that no man may be detained under arrest without specific charge for more than twenty-four hours prior to a hearing before a magistrate. Yet in this particular case considerably more time elapsed before this particular prisoner was brought to a preliminary hearing, and in order that the technical provisions of the law might be complied with he was removed from the first police station to another in another precinct before the expiration of the first twenty-four hours. Later on he was duly arraigned before a magistrate and committed for trial, to be later indicted by the Grand Jury. Had this man possessed resources in adequate amount a lawyer would have had him arraigned in court on a writ of habeas corpus and his rights would have been guarded, but he had no such resources.

Let us look at two parallel cases, aptly illustrative of the law's impartiality. John Burns, a laborer, is arrested charged with homicide. Accidentally he fired a dynamite blast without taking adequate precautions for the safety of human life, and as a result an infant in a perambulator was killed. He is indicted and locked up awaiting trial, which will probably occur some weeks hence. Burns' worldly possessions consist of a wife, three children, the clothes he stands up in and four dollars and sixty cents in cash. As he is unable to engage counsel the Court appoints to his defense "a gentleman of the bar," who is to serve without remuneration, thus gaining valuable experience. The prosecuting attorney, however, is not in need of gaining experience. He is a thoroughly experienced official—which is one of the chief reasons he occupies the position. He has a number of assistants, legal machinery and the practically unlimited resources of the county treasury. For Burns' prosecution he can send anywhere for expert witnesses. If Burns or his attorney want to send a postal card the former will probably have to borrow the penny or the latter will have to donate it. Let us leave Burns for the moment—in his cell.

William Jones-Smith, the youthful son of the Hon. William K. Jones-Smith, millionaire lumber man and ship owner and formerly a United States Senator, is arrested and charged with homicide. While driving his motor car he has run over a perambulator containing an infant and killed it. Young Jones-Smith is arraigned before a magistrate and committed for trial. An hour after his arrest he has been admitted to bail, after his commitment he has left the court with his father. The best lawyers that money can procure are engaged. Every trick and technicality is prepared in advance. Witnesses are searched for and well paid to remain where they can be found when needed—or the reverse. In fact the whole structure of defence is erected as carefully as talent and money may do it. Opposed to the prosecuting attorney is as great if not greater talent, as great resources for investigation and inquiry, as good if not better assistants and advisers. Compare these two cases. Are John Burns and William Jones-Smith equal before the law?

It may be argued that the lack of equality is not the fault of the law but the individual coming under the law. If John Burns had made the most of his opportunities he might have had at his command the resources of the Hon. W. K. Jones-Smith, and so on, with more fallacious argumentative piffle. The plain facts are that under our constitution the law sets out to administer impartial justice. It recognizes that impartiality is the single possible application of justice in a democracy, and then it proceeds to erect a structure so partial that almost pure justice is practically impossible under it until the individual accused shall have reached the point of power and influence of the State itself.

I do not claim these views as my exclusive property. They are only the logical outcome of experience, inquiries and experiments by men and some communities throughout the land. This exposition is the indictment, if you will, of an existing order of things—not of individuals. I am aware that by some it will be advanced that the demand for a public defender is but the socialist doctrine of free justice in another guise. It may be that, or it may be something more essentially close to human affairs. Readers of this publication may recall the case of Andrew Toch, the Pennsylvania steel worker of Polna extraction and birth, discovered in prison paying years of penalty for a crime he had not committed. He was released, and the next that could be done for him was to send him back to his relatives in Europe, a victim of what we call our free institutions. It has been long argued better that twenty guilty should escape rather than one innocent be punished. That doctrine is not wholly in line with impartial administration of justice. Far better would it be that no guilty should escape and no innocent suffer, and the very presence of one such case—brought to light—shows the need for society to take adequate precautions against a similar occurrence. In North Carolina some few years ago a negro girl was sentenced to prison for a misdemeanor. The term was short. Thirteen years after this girl was discovered still in prison. Her commitment papers had been misplaced or entangled with some others.

During 1913 the county of Los Angeles in adopting a new charter provided for the office of Public Defender. In January of last year such an official was appointed. His office was a duplicate in most respects of that of the public prosecutor. The results accomplished have been of a character most satisfactory. Los Angeles has found itself applying a higher brand of justice than it believed possible. At first it was feared the Public Defender would be an obstructionist to proper prosecution. J. D. Fredericks, the District Attorney of Los Angeles county, has written Walton J. Wood, the Public Defender, of the same county, as follows:—

"When the office of Public Defender was first discussed I am free to say the idea did not appeal to me. . . . It seemed illogical that the public was employing an officer to prosecute only meritorious cases, and it was his duty to dismiss or fail to prosecute those he did not feel worthy of prosecution. . . . I believe, under the circumstances, your position gives you a better opportunity to perform that duty [safeguarding the rights of the defendant] than the prosecutor has."

In a letter to the writer Mr. Wood says:— "So far as I know every man accused of crime in the Superior Court has called for the services of the Public Defender on arraignment excepting those able to employ their own attorneys. This has been done in spite of the fact that the Court has given them the choice of our services or of having some other lawyer appointed for them. . . . In the civil department we have over one hundred cases a week presented to us. . . . We find there is a great need for an attorney for poor people who feel they cannot afford redress through any other means, or in very truth find the expenses of litigation, except through our office, make the remedy cost more than the result."

The first Public Defender in the United States was Dr. J. H. Stolper, of Muskogee, Okla. Under the inciting influence of Miss Kate Barnard, State Commissioner of Charities and Correction, the Oklahoma Legislature in 1911 passed a measure providing for such an officer after a bitter fight. She immediately appointed Dr. Stolper to the office, and though his work has been abjectly meritorious, particularly in the matter of bringing to justice offenders against the Indians, the affected interests have succeeded in the Legislature in stripping the office until it is nothing but a name. Miss Barnard, in a letter to the writer, says:—

"The fourth Legislature introduced two bills abolishing the office of Public Defender. Both of them failed. Because I would not agree to appoint a man named by the governor the Legislature refused to appropriate for my department. At this time my department had over one thousand cases pending in the probate courts in behalf of Indian children who were being robbed by the land grabbers."

The 1912 report of the State Commissioner of Charities and Correction of Oklahoma shows that the Public Defender in that year appeared in 1,378 cases; in thirty-six counties, and that the amount involved in probate cases alone was $492,850.70. In addition there were recuses from injustice of many individuals. Dr. Stolper personally recalled to the writer one instance wherein a case of juvenile delinquency which had been technically translated into a case of burglary resulted in the boy being given a five year sentence in the State penitentiary. He succeeded in having the case reopened and reviewed by consent of the public prosecutor, new evidence was sought out and introduced and the former verdict was recalled, the prisoner being placed on probation.

In Portland, Ore., a public defender has been supplied by the local Bar Association. One member of the association takes the office for a stipulated period and appears in all cases where he is called, without remuneration. In Houston, Texas, the local legal talent supplies a public defender, and Milwaukee, Wis., is about to do so as has already provided for such an officer on somewhat similar lines. The movement is growing in many parts of the country.

In some cities of the country there is a legal aid society, usually provided for by statute, and yet this society is largely without proper authority or resources for the work, and the applicant is inclined to look upon it with more or less suspicion, simply because it smacks of private enterprise rather than official authority.

To the ordinary person the law stands primarily for oppression. It is largely engaged in telling him what he must not do, or in punishing him for doing it. His contact with the law is in the role of a violator. Actually, of course, the law is protective, and its purpose is wholly impersonal. The prosecutor is engaged by the community to prosecute, and yet any individual who has gone into the genesis of this official's existence will assert the office is strictly judicial; that he is required to see justice done, irrespective of where the application may lie. He is required—by statutory instrument at least—to be as diligent for the rights of the defendant as for the rights of the community, but—and this is said wholly without critical intent or satiric impulse—to what extent does the average thinking man familiar with criminal court procedure believe the District Attorney concerns himself with the fundamental rights and just dues of the defendant in any case? May one ask if when the prosecutor has worked up his case to a potentially successful culmination and discovers evidence that will overturn his case he makes a practice of informing the defence thereof?

In a recent decision by the Supreme Court of California the following language is used:— "The prosecutor improperly commended upon the action of the defendant in objecting, as he had a right to object, to his wife's testifying against him. It is to be regretted that the prosecuting counsel in the heat of contest and the desire for victory sometimes forgets that the function of a district attorney is largely judicial, and that he owes to the defendant as solemn a duty of fairness as he is bound to give to the State full measure of earnestness and fervor in the performance of his official obligations. Again and again this court has commented upon the course of prosecutors in this regard, but instances of such conduct are all too common. We have no doubt that in the present case the prosecutor's demeanor and his improper questions deprived the defendant of that fair trial which ought to have been his under the law. For this reason he should not be subjected to the result of a verdict so induced."

That the legal profession of the State of New York at least is not wholly in the belief that a public defender is needed is attested in the report of the Law Reform Committee of the New York State Bar Association handed in January 22 of this year. This report, signed by A. T. Clearwater, George A. Blaauvelt, F. W. Clifford and Stewart F. Hancock, states:—

"We are advised that an attempt will be made to induce the Legislature to create the office of Public Defender, the idea being to create an official set of officials in each county whose duty it shall be to defend persons charged with crime, and who shall be paid for their services either from the State or county treasury. This is a feat which your committee has been asked to commend to the favorable consideration of the association, a request with which it declines to comply. From time immemorial it has been the practice of courts to select from the Junior Bar gentlemen whose learning and ability have attracted the attention of the courts and to assign them to the duty of defending penniless persons charged with criminal offences. For generations the younger members of the profession have done this without thought of compensation, regarding it as one of the honorable duties which they owe the Court and the profession. The practice has worked admirably and we see no reason to change it."

In rebuttal many eminent lawyers hold to the opinion that a Public Defender is a necessity. Samuel Utemyer has given this as his unalterable opinion, and it is concurred in by a great number of members of the profession in all parts of the country. In so far as New York is concerned, the city thereof has in its power the creation of such an office under an existing statute. Probably not one person in a hundred thousand knows of the existence of such a provision, and for the benefit of those who may care to investigate it, it will turn to Section 280 of the Greater New York Charter as amended by Chapter 695 of the Laws of 1907, Volume II, (Laws 1907), page 1306, they will find that the said law provides that:—

"The Board of Estimate and Apportionment may appropriate from the city revenues the sum of $25,000 per annum for the uses and purposes of the Legal Aid Society." etc.

To sum up the situation as it now exists, the law is so bound to provide an adequate defence as it is to provide an adequate prosecution, on the simple basis that, while the rights and welfare of the community are above those of the individual, the status of the community can never rise higher than the status of the individuals composing it. The law, in the person of the policeman, is protective to the individual as well as to the community, and there is no adequate reason why the community should put a man in jeopardy of his life, rights or property that is an individual offense. And with special reference to the statement of the Bar Association committee already quoted may be recalled the instance in the Kentucky court where stood the moon-shiner charged with crime, and to whose defence the Court assigned a "junior gentleman of the Bar."

"Is that your lawyer?" asked the prisoner. "That is your counsel," replied the Court. "Then I plead guilty," declared the prisoner.

CHAPLIN AT ALAMO 2 A NEW COMEDY ROLE

Divides the Week's Bill With "Three Weeks" for Popularity With Public.

Charlie Chaplin, the funniest man on earth, in the newest Essanay comedy, "Work," is one of the features at Alamo No. 2 for Monday. This two-part comedy is considered to be one of the most side-splitting comedies ever filmed. This is the first showing of the Chaplin-Essanay comedy, "Work," and lovers of the great fun-maker will revel in his latest-producing antics. Tuesday, "Brags Double," a two-part Essanay drama, will be seen, with Nell Craig as the beautiful Dominica Medina, in a series of startling adventures, and Sheldon Lewis as Emilio Braga, a charming and energetic character of the criminal type who will be her accomplice in the dramatic adventures that these clever rogues adopt to thwart the investigations of the police.

"The Goddess," which appears the same day, in the seventh episode, affords contrast to "Brags Double" in its duality because it is a beautiful, Anita Stewart is fascinating always, but in these series she is fascinating. For Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, "The Goddess" will be shown, the love and loyal intrigue will be pictured, depicting the story of a queen without a country, a king without a throne. The film version is quite as fascinating as the novel itself. Those who have read the novel will notice that the picture follows it almost without variation. The story has been translated into a novelistic tone and read by millions of people. The remarkable likeness of the characters of the cast to the characters in the novel add greatly to the dramatic effect, and create the impression that they are actually living and moving the famed lovers, Madeline Travers, the tall and slender, and the Queen Sonia, with her graceful carriage manners, the dainty Mrs. Hamilton and Marion Hamilton, as Paul Verne, the handsome young Duke, who "loved well but not wisely."

The rest of the cast deserves the greatest praise for their excellent interpretation of their respective roles. The picture is a masterpiece of play making, reflecting the sumptuous splendor of reality, all various picture

Myrtle Steedman and Forrest Stanley are the features of its production of "The Wild Olive," the attraction Friday and Saturday.

Opening with a mysterious murder in the summer coma of the alibi mountains, the story shifts to Buenos Aires at the height of the grand opera season. Profound sympathy for the young American exile under sentence of death for a murder he never committed, together with enthusiastic work in his New York studios, on which was started last week, Irene Fenwick, the dainty star of "Kismet," "The Commuter," and "The Spendthrift," will be seen in the leading role with a supporting cast of Broadway players engaged especially for this feature.

Hella Connor, that pretty ingenue whose work in "Kismet," "Kismet," "Stop Thief," "The Commuter," and "Who's Who in Society," attracted national wide attention, and who is now appearing in the Essanay production, "Nobody Home," will be seen in the supporting role of "The Dictator."

Phillips Smalley

Co-producer with Lois Weber of "Scandal," a film of tremendous power, soon to be released by Universal Film company.

Significant of the idealistic reputation of Lois Weber and Phillips Smalley is "Scandal," their production since their return to the Universal fold after having made "Hypocrites," the sensational and other photoplays for the Bosworth brand. "Scandal" is 5,000 feet of power and implied anathema against the character of the man who, through the circulation of untruths and half-truths, causes so much trouble in our civilization.

The subject was suggested to Miss Weber, who wrote the story and the scenario, by an editorial of March 21, 1914, in this article, the editor stated that if one could sit behind any of the great cities of the world and see any great city, one would see more than a gorgeous scene in half an hour than in the course of a sewing circle in the whole afternoon.

The Smalleys are earnest and serious in their work to carry their message to the world. With this intent they produced "Hypocrites" and with this purpose "Scandal" was made. The Smalleys believe that "Scandal" will be more popular picture and more powerful than "Hypocrites." It is near to every one's life and applies to every class of people. It is not a picture of either rich or poor. Even the unfortunate, articulate dumb can receive

BEATRIZ MICHELENA AT VICTORIA MONDAY

Noted Star Will Appear in "Mignon," Supported by House Peters.

Besides the usual run of Mutual pictures, the Victoria will feature Beatriz Michelena in "Mignon" Monday, and Cecil Spooner in "The Daughter and the King" for Tuesday.

Beatriz Michelena is one of the screen beauties in America today, and this fact, coupled with her rare dramatic abilities, make of her the type necessary to portray in "Mignon" a classic photo-play, classic in its treatment of the subject, and in its widespread popularity, classic in respect of those who have associated with it. It is one of the screen stars which seem destined to remain original and true.

Originally written by Goethe, "Mignon" is a classic in its treatment of a grand opera, and the name play was written by the late, but still living, one of the world's greatest operatic artists.

As literature and music, this "Mignon" furnished the producers of the picture with a splendid opportunity for translating into film form the story of a little girl, which was so thoroughly well established. A five-part star film of the highest caliber, demanding an artist of exceptional ability and ability for the interpretation of the grandly conceived character which the part of the heroine requires.

A young girl almost to the manner born, who, with her eyes fixed on a happy and contented life, is brought to a handsome young nobleman with which was "Mignon," a subject for dramatic and literary treatment, and has been placed. All are familiar with the

RICH'S SALE OF NEW SUMMER GOODS

A Masterful Merchandising Movement Based Upon Our Buyers' New York Purchases

RICH'S is not a store of dreamers nor drones, but a store of doers.

Led by our merchandising manager, our buyers went to market in early June to help New York wholesalers and importers "clean house."

As a result we have loads of fresh new merchandise at lower prices than most stores ask for their tag ends or their end-of-season remnants.

Because our first prices are always fair, goods seldom remain long here.

Hence we are always ready to turn market conditions to the advantage of ourselves and our customers.

In the present instance we have made a ten-strike—the choicest goods of summer are here at savings often reaching a half or more. If you know values, Monday should see you at Rich's.

A Charge Account at Rich's enables you to share in our offerings to best advantage. Charge customers receive an IDENTIFICATION COIN which saves their time in shopping. We are always glad to open a charge account with any responsible person.

To Lighten the Housewife's Burdens

The Housekeeper's Council Table

Conducted by Dorothy Dolan

Getting a Vacation for Mother

By DOROTHY DOLAN.

ITEREST is one question that presents itself to the housekeeper more than all others as the summer advances. It is how to get a vacation without upsetting the entire household. This question is fairly easy to solve for the housekeeper of means. She usually finds rest and escape from hot weather easy by taking a house in the country or going to a summer resort, preferably to the seaside.

For a Large Family.

Where the family is large and the amount to be spent on a summer outing is small the question is less easily solved. A simple and practical way is for the city woman to exchange houses with the woman in the country. By inquiring through friends and acquaintances or, perhaps better, by advertising in the newspapers she may find that the woman living in the country is equally anxious to spend a portion of the summer in the city, especially if it is cooled by lake breezes. Their outing may be equally pleasurable if both women will try to rest and recreation in the same way.

When she wants more serious recreation she can devote into art, science and history. She will find plenty of books on these subjects in the general and special libraries. Besides, many of our colleges and universities give summer courses on these subjects. As for the city woman, living out of doors and getting at the heart of things should be the very best kind of recreation for her. How splendid to drink fresh milk from cows who have bled milk, and to eat the eggs which your chicks have laid.

Boon for City Woman. It will not take long for the city woman to appreciate all the sunshine and fresh air for the asking. How splendid to have infinite space and plenty of woods, to tramp across woods and meadows with nothing to disturb your peace of mind and body. Just think how splendid to have enough garden to grow every variety of flowers and fresh vegetables you wish. The same amount of pleasure

A BLUE and white color scheme with this set of furniture is delightful. Have the walls tinted or papered a plain yellowish tan and the woodwork stained the brown tint of the furniture. Blue and white is a good color for the tiles, set off with a piece of old copper on the mantel shelf.

Home Decoration and Furnishing

Art Glass or Plain Glass. I am building a semi-bungalow; my contractor has proposed built-in bookcases, china closet and buffet with art glass doors. Kindly advise me if it is good taste to have art glass doors instead of plain glass. A READER. Art glass is used to a certain extent by those who like it, but I much prefer a plain leaded glass cut in small panels for built-in pieces. You will find this much more satisfactory to live with. Decorating a Cottage. In a six-room, one-story cottage what color would you advise for living and dining room having a northeast exposure? The bathroom is to have imitation tiled walls. What color scheme would you like for it and what kind of electric lighting fixtures would you like in all the rooms, about medium-priced? The walls are eight and a-half feet and finished. E. J. Z. With the northeast exposure you will want light and warmth expressed in the coloring, so I would suggest a tan having considerable yellow in it for both rooms, with a deep cream color. For the bathroom have the woodwork white (ivory) and for the tiles; above you may use a pinkish cream or pale yellow, or the entire scheme may be done in the ivory. With the sand finish on the walls a pattern on verd (green) finish would be acceptable in the lighting fixtures, or a dull brass. A Budget of Questions. Is a telephone table and chair proper in dining-room? There seems no other place for it; room is large. What could one use to hang small pictures besides wire? Chairs are too large for them. Should pictures tilt out from the wall and hang high? Do they use pictures of fish and fruit in dining-room now? PIZZEL. If there is no other place for the entertainment telephone, you will have to put it in the dining-room, and let us hope that your friends will respect your meal hours. Use glass-headed tacks for pictures that are too small to hang otherwise. Fruit and fish pictures went out of style along with pianos, and, in fact, they are not hung up under the rafters (as it were), but on a level with the eye of the average sized man, six feet.

Novelties in Home Entertainment

By DAME CURTSEY.

NOWADAYS it is quite the thing to outfit to some one thing to do just a little better than some one else does. If you can do a little better than some one else, you are in your line work up some clever sketches to have on "tap" as it were. Story telling may be just what is needed, so remember the good ones you hear.

At an evening party where the guests were not well acquainted, the hostess did not have any special feature, so she passed to each guest cards bearing various verses, being careful to give to those she knew could do the stunts well. The first guest had this on hers: Though riddles do our minds distress, We'd like two good ones now to guess. And there were two good conundrums immediately forthcoming. The following are good suggestions: We'd like to hear you tell today Some funny things that children say. Describe some woman in the town, Her nose and hair, her dress and gown; But do not give us her address, Nor tell her name, and we will guess. We'd like a story full of fun; We're gifted, Lymna, tell us one. Misery likes company, they say; We'd like to hear you tell today (Don't hesitate, but now begin) Of the worst scrape you ever were in. Your talent gives us much delight, We wish that you would please recite. Your part in the program to help us Budget of questions, please give us. Will give us pleasure; please sing us a song. If music hath charms, we wish that today You'd prove it, and something quite charming would play. Tell some joke on yourself, your wife, or your friend. And we hope you'll have it pleasantly.

A Garden Shower. "Toss in the garden" is apt to be found on many cards this season, and we are all endeavoring to spend all our waking hours, and some of us our sleeping ones, out in the open these days to make up for the unusually long, severe winter. But it was the clever little woman who supplies me with new ideas to suggest and give a garden shower for the bride who was to begin her married life in a suburban home. She waited until "they" were in the new house, and then called up about a dozen intimate friends, told her plan for each one to take a thrifty

Concerning a Wedding. For years I have been reading your Sunday column. Having derived much benefit from same, I come to you with a budget of questions. I am soon to be a bride; would it be proper, at a very simple home wedding, to have it at 4:30 p. m. with only immediate families, to do without music and also dispense with wearing gloves? Would it be proper not to have any attendants? Ever, You may plan your wedding to suit yourself and your own ideas, as well as what seems to be the most convenient. You need have no attendants nor are gloves compulsory. I would have music, as it seems to be much easier to enter, and it takes the edge off and renders any undue solemnity. A harp or the piano will be sufficient.

TALKS WITH THE WOMAN WHO WORKS

MANY women count their efficiency and their salaries and their promotions. These may be fair enough tests judged in their own small and narrow way. Still, if women wish to put themselves in the class of the world's strong and efficient workers they must pass tests of a higher standard. To work in groups no less than to live in groups is the simplest and the highest principle of civilization. The individual no less than the nation wishes to work well and play well must be able to do good teamwork. If you want to college or even through high school you learned through experience that you were popular or not as you were helpful - and kindly - upon the work of your classmates and toward those with whom you came in frequent contact. To be sure, you were expected to keep your grade up to a certain standard, but little emphasis was laid on the point of your working for honors and special recognition. If this standard was put on your work it was certainly all prominent in your recreation. If you belonged to a basketball team, you knew that the question of good teamwork is the all-absorbing one. Whatever other principles you may forget or neglect, keep this idea of good teamwork ever before you. Bear in mind that men and women of rare tal-

Hints for Housekeepers

To make pulled bread, pull pieces of crumb out of a freshly baked loaf, then bake these pieces in a quick oven till brown. To make a filling for hickory nut cake whip cream very stiff, sweeten and flavor to taste and add nuts cut rather fine. Olives and shrimps chopped together make an excellent salad, with the addition of mayonnaise. A girl with clever fingers can make good little shirtwaist bows out of her brother's cast-off ties. A stub pen can be used in an emergency for tightening the tiny screws in a pair of eyeglasses. A red brick kitchen floor will keep beautifully clean and red if a drop of paraffin oil be used in the water it is washed with. Both ideas are foolish and should not

VIVIAN'S Heart to Heart Chat

DEER is the heart of every girl is the legitimate desire to be popular. If she is the right kind of a girl she wants to be liked by her own sex and to be admired by men. This is not a mere supposition. In the last six months I have gotten dozens of letters making such a confession. These letters have shown to me that many girls do not know how to make themselves popular with either sex, but especially with men. They either feel it is their duty to try and impress every marriageable young man they meet or to ignore them altogether. Both ideas are foolish and should not be countenanced by any sensible young woman. It is only natural that when a young girl reaches womanhood she should enjoy the company and attention of men. If she is the right sort of girl, she will want to win the friendship of men no less than of her own sex by fair and honest means. A good way to be popular with men and woman alike is to be adaptable. It is one thing to be tactful and another to be adaptable. The first means the using of diplomacy and often deceit. The second means employing plenty of common sense and good judgment. Adaptability implies being sympathetic, being willing to share another's interests and point of view. This does not mean that you should keep your own personality and check your own tastes. On the contrary, it takes a strong personality and good judgment to study your associates and learn how to adapt yourself to them. You may have heard a man speak about some popular girl as, "She is a good fellow," or she is a "girl after my own heart." This is only a popular way of saying that she is adaptable. This type of girl is sure to be open and frank. She goes on the principle that people like her until somebody shows her otherwise. She is ever ready for a good time, because she believes that merriness and contentment belong to youth. Anxious

New York, June 19.—(Special.)—The stock market was uncertain in tone during much of last week, with certain specialties, especially stocks of companies having war orders, or metal companies, soaring to new high records, but with the standard stocks showing a distinct tendency to fluctuate. AFTER ALL HE WASN'T OUT A CENT.

Winner of Beauty Contest Having Time of Her Life In Tour De Luxe of West

BY ALAMEDA HOLCOMBE.

(Winner Beauty Contest in Georgia.) San Francisco, Cal., June 19.—(Special.)—At last! We have arrived in San Francisco, the biggest, most amazing city in the west—a perfect wonderland. None of us girls has yet had time to get our bearings. We are so bewildered by it all. It has been a glorious trip. We have revelled and danced and dined and sung and drunk in picturesque scenery clean across the continent. The journey has been one seemingly endless succession of happy incidents, exquisite scenery and odd happenings. We have been entertained every where. Nothing seems too good for us. We have witnessed enough southern strutting sights to pen up in memory and content us forevermore. If it be dream, I am willing to wake with you further ad. I have been satisfied for life. They say that the monster ball given in our honor tonight was one of the most elaborate San Francisco has ever seen. I don't doubt it. I do doubt that anything else can be compared to it.

The Beauty Ball

It was held in the Mann hotel "in honor of the Universal National Beauties." The big dance hall was crowded with pretty girls and women, and just before the grand march ensued the thirteen Blackfoot Indians from the Montana reservation marched upon the floor. Chief "Three Bears" despite his 103 years, led a native dance that brought a perfect storm of encore. The group of Indians, clad in their native garb with fantastic blankets and long beaded pieces, were introduced to each of the six girls winners on the trip. The first to shake hands with the winners was Miss Ruth Purcell, of Washington, D. C., who has been chosen as the most beautiful girl in America, and awarded the prize of Universal Beauty.

The grand march was led by Miss Purcell, accompanied by George Fletcher, of the San Francisco Chronicle. Beauties of other states followed in the same order. The ball was the climax of one of the greatest days the party has spent since our departure from Chicago. A few days prior to our arrival in San Francisco included branch tours to Mount Tamalpais, San Geronimo, which are situated just north of the city, and to the Golden Gate, which is a half mile in height. Mount Tamalpais commands a beautiful view of the surrounding mountains, bays

CAPITOL GOSSIP

Colonel John T. Boleffull, clerk of the house of representatives, has announced that in the coming term of the legislature he will retain Bismark Moore as general clerk of the house, and H. P. Bloodworth, Jr., of Forsyth, as calendar clerk of the house. A great deal of interest now centers in the succession of D. F. McClatchey, for years reading clerk of the house, who will be elected as secretary of the senate to succeed the late Charles S. Northern. Colonel Boleffull stated that he has not yet made up his mind about this member of his staff.

Barwell Here

Representative W. H. Burwell, of Hancock county, who is candidate for the speakership of the house, arrived in Atlanta Saturday and will remain until the convening of the legislature. He will make his headquarters in the Kimball house. He is opposed for the speakership by Representative J. S. Sheppard, of Sumter county, who is running on the prohibition ticket. Mr. Sheppard opposed Mr. Burwell for the speakership of the last house, but withdrew before the session convened as did all other opposition, thus allowing Mr. Burwell to be elected without opposition.

Grice Form Partners

Attorney General Warren Grice, whose term expires next Saturday, has announced that he will resign his partnership with J. Ellsworth Hall, of Mason, with whom he will practice law upon his retirement from office. Mr. Grice was appointed by Governor Stanton to succeed Attorney General Thomas S. Falgout, who resigned for the United States senatorship. Mr. Grice will be succeeded by Clifford Walker, of Monroe. Mr. Grice is a native of Hawkinsville.

Money for District Schools

Governor Stanton on Saturday signed warrants for $1,000 each for the eleven district agricultural colleges. When these sums have been paid it will make a total of $11,000 each that these institutions have received this year. Their annual appropriation is $10,000 each, the money to come from the sale of fertilizer tags by the state department of agriculture. State Treasurer W. J. Speer will mail out the checks early this week.

New Sort of Sale

John Johnson, a negro grocer, of Marietta, a suburb of Macon, is a grioter in Bibb county awaiting development of his charges of arson made against him by Captain W. R. Joyner, state fire inspector. Johnson, so the story goes, left his store one night recently and shortly thereafter the fire department was summoned to extinguish a blaze in the store. The blaze, the frames discovered, was inside Johnson's safe. The safe was made of wood and covered with sheet iron to resemble the real article. Johnson had constructed the safe, it is said, were later discovered in possession of Johnson's wife.

Athens, Ga., June 19.—(Special.)—Both members-elect for the legislature from Clarke county are at home today confined to their rooms. Ill Arnold has been sick for several days, but is improved and will be out in time for the opening of the legislative session next week. Carlos Brown, who suffered from influenza, is unable to leave his bed, but anticipates that it will be several weeks before he can be up. Over 'phone placed at his bed he said this morning, however, "I will be in Atlanta next Wednesday to answer to my name, if I have to be carried on a stretcher."

Pension Commissioner J. W. Lindsey has announced that he will ask this session of the legislature to cut the pension appropriation for 1916 by $70,000 and to cut the 1917 appropriation $75,000. Parents, Send Your Girls to

Cox College and Conservatory The Pride of The South for Four Generations

"That our daughters may be as cornerstones, polished after the similitude of a palace;" that they may profit by all that is good and pure in our modern civilization; that they may attain the highest human perfection in body, mind and soul—these are the aims and the constant striving of the Cox College & Conservatory.

Old in the affections of the Southern people; young and vigorous in its spirit of modern progress and service to society, Cox College imparts to young womanhood all that is true and best in the education of body, mind and soul. Located in College Park, the beautiful residential suburb of Atlanta, the educational center of the metropolitan of the South—Cox girls enjoy a rare combination of suburban and metropolitan advantages.

The lovely campus of twenty-eight acres, with its lawns, shrubbery and stately forest trees, affords a delightful home environment of security, comfort and quiet for the pursuit of study; and ideal facilities for recreation and outdoor sports. With an elevation of 1,100 feet above the sea, a delightful winter climate, dormitories and classrooms equipped with modern conveniences, the health record of the Institution is unsurpassed in all America. The absolute freedom from malarial diseases has attracted a large patronage from the lower South since before the Civil War.

To these natural advantages the city of Atlanta adds unparalleled opportunities to profit by contact and acquaintance with the world's great leaders of thought and action. No other city in all the South approaches Atlanta in its power to attract the world's great lecturers, statesmen, authors, educators, theologians, artists, singers and musicians. By special arrangement many of these are introduced from the College platform and all are accessible to Cox students at a minimum of expense.

The course of study is that of a Grade college, supplemented by elective courses in Piano, Voice, Violin, Theory, Harmony, Counterpoint, Organ, Drawing and Painting, Domestic Science (Cooking, Dressmaking and Millinery), Stenography and Typewriting. The schedule of work is arranged to give the greatest flexibility to the curriculum, and the individual requirements and talents of the student are made the basis for the selection of her studies. The tuition fees and college expenses are remarkably low, it being the policy of the College to afford its students the maximum opportunities for advancement at the lowest possible expense.

The next session will open September 14, 1915. Write for catalogues and full information.

Annapolis, June 19.—The first appearance on the stand of a defendant in the "dope" case was that of a member of today's session of the court of inquiry investigating the "cribbing" scandal at the Naval Academy.

He was subjected to a searching cross-examination by members of the court. It developed that Rogers was a member of the third class, had translated for upper classmen copies of advance information on the Spanish examination.

GREAT FEAT OF ARMS BY ALPINE TROOPS

EPILEPSY CURED BY AN OPERATION ON THE INTESTINES

San Francisco, Cal., June 19.—The theory of the medical profession that epilepsy is a brain disease and incurable was contested at the Pan-American Medical Congress convention today by Dr. Charles A. L. Reed, of Cincinnati, president of the congress, who said he had discovered a surgical cure.

The success of this new operation," said "revolutionists" accepted the theory that the disease has its seat in the brain and that it is incurable.

The Alpine soldiers took rifle pits, bayonets and grenades. They were not able to fire, they possibly could help it, so avoid giving an alarm.

THINGS WORSE THAN WAR SAYS SAMUEL GOMPERS

He Outlines Attitude of Union Labor to the Peace Movement.

Washington, June 19.—Declaring that while he had always abhorred war, but believed there were things even more abhorrent, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a letter made public here tonight, said his position as to the peace movement is as follows:

"As far back as my young manhood," Gompers wrote, "I have always stood for peace. I have had an abundance of war with all the brutality which it entailed, but I have no hesitancy in saying to you that in my judgment there are some things that are even more abhorrent than war."

"The American Federation of Labor," he said, "is a great organization of the workers of America, and it is an organization of justice, freedom and self-interest."
