

SPONTANEOUS APPLAUSE GREET'S DORSEY'S VICTORY

PEACE PUTS END TO BLOODY WAR IN THE BALKANS

Treaty Will Be Signed Today by the Delegates of Serbia, Greece, Montenegro and Rumania.

BULGARIA HELPLESS BEFORE RING OF FOES

Threat of Allies to Occupy Bulgar Capital Hastened Peace—None of the States Like the Treaty.

Bucharest, August 6.—Peace was concluded tonight between the Balkan states and the preliminary treaty will be signed tomorrow by the delegates of Serbia, Greece, Montenegro, Rumania and Bulgaria. The agreement was arrived at only after another exhibition of the utter helplessness of Bulgaria to face her ring of enemies.

Wednesday the discussions in the peace conference threatened to become interminable, but Mr. Michowec, the Rumanian premier and president of the conference, allowed matters by threatening last night, Bulgaria, accepted the modified frontier proposed by the allies. Humanistic army would occupy Sofia next Saturday. This threat had the desired effect and an agreement was arrived at today after numerous private consultations between the delegates and a four hours sitting of the conference.

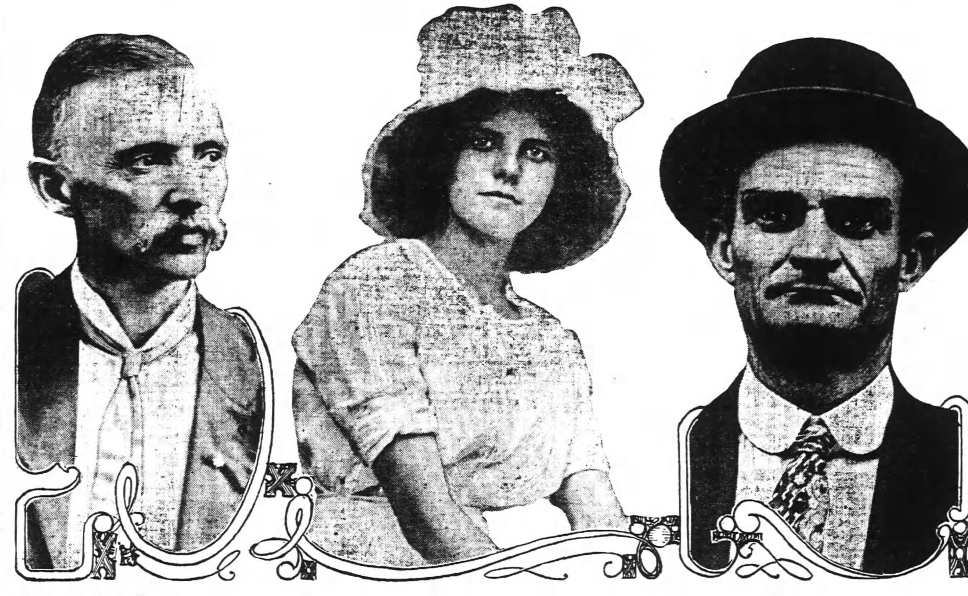

The frontier is agreed to, starts at a point on the old frontier west of the Struma river, follows the watershed to west of the town of Strumitsa, thence runs almost through the Struma valley to the Balkan mountains and thence easterly in almost a straight line to the Meza river, then cutting the town of Strumitsa, the port of Logos and Kavala to Bulgaria, and the town of Kavala to Greece. The new frontier is a deep disappointment to the Bulgarians, who still nurse the hope of its eventual revision by the powers.

It is believed that an agreement for the demobilization of the various armies will be signed tomorrow. The news that peace has been arranged caused great rejoicing.

War began July 1. The war between the former Balkan allies who had fought a coalition to shoulder against Turkey began on July 1. On that date the Serbian minister of the interior declared that Serbia was at war with Bulgaria. On the same day Greece also announced that a state of war existed and moved her troops over the Bulgarian frontier.

The trouble between the allies arose from the difficulty of dividing the territory captured by them from Turkey. Severe fighting followed and many thousands were killed. After the beginning of hostilities numerous massacres and acts of violence were reported to have been committed by the various armies.

It is reported that twenty-four women of the American colony have gone into Tampico as a precautionary move. The government here does not yet admit the truth of the assault upon Mr. Gourd and his daughters.

TAX EQUALIZATION BILL IS PREPARED

State Tax Assessor and County Boards Are Provided in Measure Favored by Senate Committee.

That an effective tax equalization bill will be presented to the state senate was demonstrated last night when the senate finance committee, of which B. S. Miller is chairman, placed its stamp of approval on the substitute of Senator Miller and President Anderson to the Shappard substitute, which was recently passed in the house.

The committee has not formally reported that the bill do pass, but last night at the Plymouth hotel the entire matter was thrashed out for more than three hours, and the substitute of Senator Miller and President Anderson, which was presented to the committee in outline form, was criticized and perfected and it was tacitly agreed that the committee would unanimously support the measure and stand unflinchingly for its passage in the senate.

The meeting of the committee was held in strictly executive session, but it has been learned from an authoritative source that the bill contains many stipulations which make it the most effective that has yet been offered.

Will Create Tax Assessor. The county board feature and the state board feature will be preserved in the measure by the creation of a county board of tax equalizers of the members in each county, and the appointment by the governor, with the confirmation of the senate, of a state tax assessor, who will perform the duties which the tax equalizers of the state board of assessors.

JUDGE ROAN DENIES MOTION OF DEFENSE TO STRIKE PART OF CONLEY TESTIMONY

Reuben Arnold Threatens to Call for Mistrial if There Should Be Recurrence of Applause Which Marked Reception of the Decision. Judge Announces That the Court Room Would Be Cleared if There Was Any More Disorder.

When, shortly after the noon recess Wednesday, after he had heard lengthy argument on both sides, Judge Roan renewed his decision of the day previous thereby admitting as evidence the statements of Jim Conley on so numerous occasions he had acted as "lookout" for Leo M. Frank while he was engaged with women on the second floor of the National Pencil factory, the state and Solicitor Dorsey won a victory which was perfunctory and the very one in the court room which would reach the street and to be circulated by word of mouth in the city.

As soon as Judge Roan announced his decision spontaneous applause broke out in the court room and Reuben Arnold jumped to his feet, exclaiming: "That happens again I shall move for a mistrial."

Hugh Dorsey Wins His Spurs; Crowd Recognizes Gameness

By Sidney Ormond. When the spectators at the Frank trial Wednesday broke into a ripple of applause after Judge Roan had announced his decision that the damaging evidence of Jim Conley that he had "watched out" for Frank on several occasions prior to the murder and had encountered him in an attitude which set him apart from normal men, would remain in the records—when this applause came—it was not that any man contributing to it necessarily thought Frank guilty. It was simply a spontaneous tribute to Solicitor Hugh Dorsey who has fought so doggedly against a man who has been set before the jury a mass of evidence which, woven together, forms the whole fabric of the state's case. The applause was a recognition of the ability of a young man who, say what you will of the guilt or the innocence of Leo M. Frank, has demonstrated that he is an antagonist of whom any man need not be afraid.

Portrait of Hugh Dorsey.

The applause was simply an expression of the desire of the average person for fair dealing in a trial against Frank which was to be suspended. It was more than anything else, an expression of the feeling that well done by a young man who was passing through a strenuous ordeal. Interest in the actual evidence in question and its possible effect on the fate of the defendant was just set aside for just the brief interval that it took for the clapping of hands. The moment the applause had passed over, the fact that it was unseasonably and might prove prejudicial to the continuance of the trial was pointed out to every man who had participated in it. Each felt abashed that he should have allowed an expression of his feelings which might be misconstrued.

Dorsey Wins His Spurs. Whatever may be the outcome of the trial—whether Frank be believed guilty or innocent or whether he agree—one thing stands out crystal clear—Hugh Dorsey has won his spurs. He has proved himself capable of coping with the foremost criminal lawyers of this or any other state. It is no small undertaking for a man of Hugh Dorsey's years to find himself pitted against such able counsel as Lester Ross and Robert Arnold, men of the very first of whose names came to the attention of the public and set stage fright.

Lester Ross is an old hand at the game of hounding a witness and the attorney who is pitted against him. He is a past master in the art of cross-examination, and that is just what he knows about ruffling up a fellow's feelings and making him feel that he is in a very bad way. When he goes out to "get" a lawyer he always comes back with a police society and the result is interesting as well as exciting.

Reuben Arnold's sting. The sting of the evidence is as sharp as an adder. He is mighty polite about it—injects the poison skillfully without missing up the patient's clothing or causing him any unnecessary loss of blood—but the poison works just as surely. He is a very good goat-getter—a sort of polite parlorer of goats in Reuben's parlance. Hugh Dorsey found himself opposed to these two men whose reputation alone is enough to awe the average man. He was opposed to them in a case which, for many reasons, was a difficult one to handle. It was his House Then Passes Registration Tax Measure, Which Means the State Treasury Loses Another $100,000.

By a point of order from Mr. Stewart of Coffee, Wednesday's promised installment of the Workweek bill was stopped in the bud, and the house once more resumed business, passing the automobile registration tax bill drafted by the ways and means committee, and with it the McMichael amendment providing for the revenue rates raised shall be devoted to the construction and upkeep of public roads in the state.

Mr. Wohlwendler, of Muscogee, who for practically all of Tuesday occupied the seat of honor on the floor, rose against the Kidd resolution on the Dixon-Searcy bill, entered the house chamber Wednesday and read the president's message to congress on the constitutionality of the Webb bill and the reading matter to the members from Chattanooga, who assisted Mr. Wohlwendler in his reading, and then made a lengthy measure for the purpose of occupying the time of the house. Mr. Wohlwendler resumed the floor, but had scarcely begun to speak when Mr. Stewart of Coffee, interrupted him.

Mr. Stewart said that it was his duty to point out to the members of the house that the federal appropriation for the support and operation of the station and that the headquarter of the station was the Georgia state agricultural college at Athens.

Mr. Wohlwendler stated that he had already been concluded without this bill being passed, and that it was a physical impossibility to comply with the terms of the resolution, that reason I ask the chair to declare the gentleman from Muscogee out of order.

Speaker Burwell sustained the point of order, and Mr. Wohlwendler yielded the floor. However, the gentleman from Muscogee and his colleagues were permitted to speak for the remainder of the session.

Mr. Miller, of Bibb, then resumed the floor to discuss the automobile registration bill, which was the continuing special order.

Mr. Miller said that the measure was passed by the house, with the exception of the amendment proposed by the gentleman from Muscogee.

SOUTH GEORGIA VIEWS RELEASE OF W. & A. EXPERIMENT STATION

Legislative Committee Recommends Removal Despite the Strong Opposition.

At a joint meeting of the senate committee on general agriculture and house committee on general agriculture the bill introduced in the house by Mr. Ellis, of Tift, to move the Georgia experiment station to south Georgia was recommended for passage.

This recommendation had already been made once by senate committee on general agriculture, and the Georgia experiment station to south Georgia was recommended for passage.

At the meeting was present Dr. A. C. Tift, of the agricultural department at Washington, who has supervision of the state experiment station, and a number of advocates both for the removal of the experiment station from north to south Georgia and for its removal to the west.

Washington is dissatisfied. Dr. Tift explained the manner in which the Georgia experiment station for the conduct of the work of the station and that the headquarters of the station was the Georgia state agricultural college at Athens.

Dr. Tift stated that he had already been concluded without this bill being passed, and that it was a physical impossibility to comply with the terms of the resolution, that reason I ask the chair to declare the gentleman from Muscogee out of order.

CAUCUS TO APPROVE CURRENCY MEASURE

Believed House Democrats Will Adopt the Proposals of Administration.

By John Corbett, Jr., Washington, August 6.—(Special.)—Democratic leaders predicted today that the administrative currency bill will meet the approval of the democratic caucus on August 11 and will be passed by the house.

These predictions followed a careful canvass of the democratic members of the house and conferences with the democratic representatives on the republican side.

The bill will not prohibit interlocking directors in national banks and other financial institutions, and tobacco as collateral to secure circulating notes.

A determined fight will be made in the democratic caucus by the three members of the currency bill, and the currency committee who favored the above amendments. They were Register, of North Carolina, and Eagle, of South Carolina, and Eagle, of Texas.

Senator Underwood is confident. Representative Underwood, of Greenwood, the democratic house leader, thinks the bill will have an overwhelming majority in the house.

Supporters of an amendment to make cotton and corn collateral for the national currency bill are ready to concede that the bill is a good one, and that it is a good one.

But the difficulty is to know where the product is to go. It is to go to the cotton growers or to the cotton processors, and it is to go to the cotton processors.

SALE OF MANSION CALLED BY SEATE

"Too Much Room for Land Speculation in Substitute Resolution," Said Senator McNeil in Opposing Plan.

The Watts resolution providing for the exchange of the present governor's mansion for a new mansion and an acre to the state capitol was killed in the senate yesterday afternoon.

A substitute to the measure providing for the completion to have the power to either sell or exchange the property was defeated by a vote of 31 to 19.

Senator McNeil, in opposing the substitute, declared that there was no money involved to entreat such an amount of money to a commission of private citizens who are not even instructed to report back their decision to the legislature.

"Gentlemen, there is too much room for land speculation in this bill," said McNeil. "It is too large to be given to a commission. It is too large to be given to a commission."

Miller, the author of the substitute, stated that this must be built in exactly the same manner as the present one. He said that the new mansion is proposed. It is the same as the present one, and I trust you will see it to do it."

Justice and mercy for the friendless!

The Senate, without a dissenting vote, has passed the bill providing for Probation.

With only three men voting against it, the Senate has also passed the bill providing for the Indeterminate Sentence.

These two bills are now before the House, having been favorably reported by the Judiciary Committee.

And Tuesday CHAIRMAN WHEATLEY saved the Girls' Reformatory from oblivion; he called a special meeting of the Committee on Appropriations to consider the Jones-Mills Bill; the RESULT, it is believed, will be the building of the Reformatory for Girls in Georgia.

Representatives GRIFFIN, GREENE of Houston, and BERRY, members of the subcommittee that considered the original bill and reported it back carrying an appropriation of $30,000 to the committee for action, spoke in favor of it.

Messrs. CONNOR and METHVIN advocated its adoption.

JOHN Y. SMITH of Fulton then moved that the Committee report favorably the bill as amended.

In favoring this motion CHAIRMAN WHEATLEY explained that he had favored the bill from the beginning.

Both the Chairman and the members of the Committee recognize the APPALLING AND IMMEDIATE NEED for the Reformatory for Girls; they unanimously adopted the motion recommending that the bill, carrying an appropriation of $30,000, be passed.

The Prison Commission has urged that the home be built, pointing out that Georgia has no place in which to handle wayward and delinquent girls. And the Penitentiary Committee has also, without a dissenting vote, recommended the passage of the Jones-Mills Bill providing for the home.

Remember! This home is not to deal with the hardened woman of the street, but with children.

Today, if a GIRL OF ELEVEN, TWELVE OR FOURTEEN gets into trouble, there is no place in Georgia to protect or help her.

This shame is unendurable. Today seventy-five girls under sixteen years old, known to us, are without a place.

What will YOU do?

No man has opposed—and it is believed that no man can or will oppose the bill, either in the House or the Senate.

Today Georgia looks to the Rules Committee of the House.

SPEAKER BURWELL, who is ex-officio its chairman, and BLACKBURN of Fulton, its Vice Chairman, and the men serving with them in the Committee on Rules, namely MESSRS. HARDEMAN, MILLER, NUNNALLY, PAULK of BERRIEN, REDWINE, RHODES, SHUPTRINE, SLADE AND RAGLAND, are to decide whether or not the State will take care of her delinquent and wayward girls—

Whether or not the State shall have Probation and the Indeterminate Sentence—

Whether or not Georgia will take her stand with her sister states in giving justice and mercy to the unfortunate.

Those who know these men believe that they will NOT KILL, but WILL HELP to pass these measures.

Those who know Georgia believe that the men of the House and of the Senate will gladly give the brief time necessary to make these bills the law of Georgia.

They harm no one. But they help the helpless.

They mean life to many a home in Georgia where worse than death—dishonor and shame, will reign if these bills are not enacted into laws at this session of the Legislature.

What will you do?

Madame LeRoy Gives Mystic Advice To Belles and Beaux at Lakewood

"It is known that there is no relation between the science of palmistry and that something called clairvoyance," explains my pretty friend, the debutante, as she tells me of her wonderful visit to Madame LeRoy, at Lakewood, an expert in palmistry. She had gone to Madame LeRoy to see if she could be helped find a lost gold pin—a little pin, the design of a basket of flowers. Madame LeRoy could not direct her to find the lost pin, but she could tell her how to avoid losing other things, for she saw in the pink-fingered palm of the debutante the lines which indicated carelessness, irregularity and a thoughtlessness which Madame LeRoy urged the still young woman to work against.

The Palmist's Pleasant surroundings. But it was of Madame LeRoy, the debutante had the story to tell, for the clever palmist is found in the prettiest site at Lakewood, her tent set on a wooded point and facing a view that would inspire the nature poet to express his most wonderful thoughts.

She lives there with her eleven-year-old son, and together they are striking with the birds, and the butterflies to live and be well, and be happy. Through the knowledge of palmistry which Madame LeRoy has, she gives readings, the mostly realized wishes of possible her number.

She has perfect herself in the science of palmistry, and her readings are most interesting and most helpful. Like all things interested in

MAIL 6 INCHES DEEP RUINS NEWTON COTTON

Terrific Damage Done to Crop by Storm That Swept the Entire County.

Social Circle, Ga., August 6.—(Special)—Reports that have come in today from all over Newton county show that terrific damage has been done to the cotton crop by a hard hail storm which hit the county yesterday afternoon. On the farm of E. L. Almond, between Social Circle and Maxwell, it is reported that not a single stalk remains that will bear a cotton boll this season. The neighboring farm of William Stanton suffered also almost a total loss of crop. Other farms were less severely affected.

CROPS IN STEPHENS COUNTY.
Also hit down by hail. Toccoa, Ga., August 6.—(Special)—A terrific rain, hail and wind storm occurred near Toccoa Tuesday night, devastating the farms and destroying the crops to the amount of several thousand dollars. The storm began about 5 o'clock and continued until late in the night. It covered an area of some 100 miles long and 2 miles wide.

The crops, especially the cotton, were destroyed, the stalks being left standing. Corn was beaten to the ground and roused up by the hail and wind.

When fifty bales of cotton were expected it is now estimated that not more than ten bales can possibly be raised. The loss is estimated to be thousands of dollars.

This is the second storm that has passed over this tract of land in the past few months. The crops recovered from the first storm only for the reason that the cotton was not so far along as it is now.

CITIZENS OF MEIGS OPPOSE PELHAM BILL.
Thomasville, Ga., August 6.—(Special)—The citizens of Meigs county determined that if they cannot have the new county of Haskell as they have proposed, they will do everything in their power to defeat its passage by the Georgia legislature.

At a mass meeting held a day or two since at Thomasville, Meigs county, to call upon every citizen of Thomas county to join with the residents of Meigs county in their efforts to fight the bill introduced by the Pelhamites and recommended by the committee. They feel that the citizens of Meigs county are in a position to fight the bill and are citizens of the parent county than they are of the new matter and are to be part of a new county which they do not want.

SEVEN WANT POSITION CORDELE POSTMASTER.
Cordele, Ga., August 6.—(Special)—Probably a thousand indorsements have been secured in Meigs county for seven applicants for the position of postmaster at Cordele. Since the resignation of P. O. Boatright, the postmaster here was requested by Postmaster General Brown to accept applications. The applicants have been extremely busy among their friends. It now appears probable that Mr. Boatright will not tender a resignation, and that his successor will soon be appointed.

CENTRAL ROAD WRECK TO BE INVESTIGATED.
Savannah, Ga., August 6.—(Special)—The wreck of the Central Georgia railway at Oliver yesterday morning in which 14 passengers were injured, will be publicly reviewed and investigated at the scene of the wreck, and conducted by the Federal Central will meet with officials of that road and inquire into the cause of the wreck. The train wrecked was en route from Atlanta to Savannah.

Another Sale of Those Wonderful House Dresses at 59c Regular $1.50 Dresses

In the Down-Stairs Section

At the Sale last week women bought these Dresses by the half-dozen, as we predicted.

This is a new shipment, just received, or most of them, and in the lot are some extraordinarily good percale Dresses, such as we did not have last week. Others are of lawns, batistes and Swiss; stripes, checks and figures; all desirable colors and black-and-white effects.

About 500 Dresses for early shoppers today. Dresses that are priced for ordinary selling at $1.50—for this sale at 59c.

The illustrations show how attractively they are made—and they are every one made with care, of good material; there are no cheap, shoddy Dresses among them.

The Keynote of Modern Business Is "Service"

VITAL SUBJECTS DISCUSSED TODAY

Thursday's Program Contains List of Topics Which Are Vital Important to the Modern Merchant.

After a day spent enjoying the whole-souled welcome which the city and her business men tender, the delegates will convene this morning in the Auditorium for the second regular discussion meeting of the convention.

There are many important topics listed for today, and while it is practically impossible to pick which of the many subjects for discussion throughout the convention is the best, it is an undoubted fact that those for today will cause as much comment and do as much good as any on the entire program.

Norman Johnson, editor of The Merchants' Journal of Commerce, of Lynchburg, Va., will be one of the speakers. He will talk on the importance of buying from the home market. W. W. Pook, head of the Pook Mercantile company of Haverhill, Ga., will speak on keeping up sales and keeping down accumulations of stock.

The program for the entire meeting is as follows:

- 7:30 a. m.—Convention called to order, 10:30 a. m.—Innovation—Rev. C. W. Daniel.
- 10:15—"Merchandising Both as a Lifetime Means of Livelihood and as a Developer of Character and Moral Virtue"—W. W. Pook, head of the Pook Mercantile company of Haverhill, Ga., when and how to buy"—R. O. Crouch, Griffin, Ga.
- "Benefits of Buying Often and Arranging to Accept Needs"—M. Roberts, of Wilkesboro, Ga.
- "Keeping Money at Home by Giving Preference to Home Manufactures Where All Things Are Equal"—Norman Johnson, editor Merchants' Journal and Commerce, Lynchburg, Va.
- "Keeping the Sales and Keeping Down Accumulations of Stock"—W. W. Pook of Haverhill, Ga.
- Accorded Cost—Estimated Cost—J. R. Nunnally, Monroe, Ga.
- Disposing of Slow Stock—J. P. Carraker, of Milledgeville, Ga.
- Aggressive Advertising—Paul T. Harbor, editor of The Commerce Observer, Commerce, Ga.
- 11:15—Open parliament—J. H. Moore, Lawrenceville, Ga.

J. S. Hunt, advertising manager of the Golden Eagle Buggy company, has just returned from his vacation. He spent his time in Philadelphia, Philadelphia, New York and Atlantic City. He reports a pleasant trip and time well spent all the time.

N. G. Barnett—Assistant Ray & Barnett, general merchandiser, Sharon, Ga., states that he has been particularly as attractive as it had been predicted so far and that he is mighty glad he came.

Convention Vice Chairman

Dear Folks: Yesterday I was calculating to kinder rest up a little and give good and ready for the speech making and the reception today. But just as I was getting up from the breakfast table in some one of these here "accommodating" residences that you see here, there and every which way were round the town, I saw his name. White and he takes me on down to the place for a spell. It seems to be some shirt for a low center called the A. M. Robinson Co., and he took me to a hotel that was filled from cellar to ridgepole with shirts and dry goods of every kind and quality. I had a mighty fine time with him and he found I was a little better off than I had to money on a bit of I wanted to see a little bit of what I'd received on taking in. I went on down to the other hotel and found a heap of folks there. One of them was a fellow named White and he took me up to his room at the top of the place and showed me some of the things he had. And his name was Jim Smith, but seemed like he was the first speaking man to have a shirt, every day, and of a name like that. The name of the hotel was Kimball, and it seemed to be a mighty fine place. The next place I went to was the home of Mr. Brown, Portman & Green, and Mr. Brown and I had a mighty fine time with them and he showed me some of the things he had. When I let him Miranda ask me to take a look at some of the women's hats, so I goes round to see some of 'em. Mister Lewis, from the hat store, took me down to show me the way and I goes into a place with the name of Fisher & Noble Co., on the corner. He took the winner, and he took me to look over to the next place. I went to see two other winners' hat stores. One was with the name of Fisher & Noble Co., on the corner, and the other was with the name of White and called Reception Co. I figured there as how I'd seen some hats to hold Miranda a spell, so I goes round to see some of 'em. Mister Lewis treated me very nice and I like me all round. I just as how Miranda would be asking what I got her in Atlanta, so made a deal with Mr. Lewis and got a little gift for her here.

H. O. CROSBY, vice chairman of the convention, who replied to the address of welcome on Tuesday.

WAGHAN'S SPEECH NOTED A CLASSIC

Cartersville Merchant Delivers Speech on Leading Topic Which Deserves Deepest Study by Progressive Men.

J. W. Vaughan, of Cartersville, Ga., delivered an address at the convention meeting yesterday evening which deserves to stand as a classic on its subject. The leading merchants of the south together with many progressive and prominent of Atlanta's business men, listened to this address with the most possible attention, and its conclusion everybody asked about it, and was glad to be one of the finest business speeches heard for the subject of "The Influence of the Merchants, Landlords and Bankers Has Brought the Influence Towards Securing a University at Georgia."

Mr. Vaughan's address is here given in full and every business man is advised to read it with the utmost care and to study it minutely.

Mr. Vaughan's Speech. The doctrine of "put all your eggs in one nest and hatch them" has nursed and developed the greatest industries of this nation.

Today the required talent demanded by big interests, in the realm of humanity you find both the alert and the inactive mind. They represent—with an A. B. degree; while many lack brains in cities are filled with college graduates, who in the words of Mark Twain, "know everything but do nothing."

In this ocean of men there is the one who is a "big fish" and as well as an abundance of mental barrenness in the field of labor and industry.

These super-intellects of activity, of whose vacation in the "big fish" their genius and effort are building the business of the future, they represent the smaller percentage of the population. In their field of speculation and concentration they may share a limited association with those of their craft, but our brotherhood of other calling is unnumbered.

In the world of modern progress that has been brought about by the genius of the race and the wants of man, there comes that new era, the "big fish" power of thought, which gives the knowledge, vision, and the growth of our people. This response to the call of civilization, in humanity, assembling together in good. But there is a difference between the other calling is unnumbered.

Then there is the change from that of our fathers. Fifty years back we had a different inspiration, from conventions, our political viewpoint from joint debate; religious fervor from communistic thinking from the associations with nature.

Today amidst the modern railroad, suburban lines, wireless communication, pleasure upon every farm, good roads, rural delivery, a festal bon on every home and the flow of commerce all we listen with less interest to the statement of others. And that man is called a fool who endeavors to force the splinters of his viewpoint upon another.

Either in the intensity of "hatching our eggs" concentration, presents all classes (the 5 and 95 per cent) overlooking and neglect man's richest privilege—their interest in man.

Diversity of crops. In with this condition, the infliction of the responsibility of seeking and providing a method for the greater diversity of crops, presents a subject extending into science, strategy and pedagogy, that your speaker may not be able to dig up. A discourse that does not present a thought leading to an inspiration that will enact is a failure. Therefore, inviting you to a discussion of our line, bringing up the dangerous likelihood of getting big effort and little fact.

Very recently an appreciable customer said to me, "I don't believe at all this blank rot about all this corn being made on an acre, and boys getting more than a hundred bushels a acre for some. Some of the purpose of the farmer." He said, "I am a farmer."

After all has been said the one word "efficiency" expresses more in merchandising than a whole book. It means economy of time and space, the accurate and profitable directing of all energy available. The elimination of lost motion and the smooth operation of business, like the soft purr of a well-balanced engine generating and delivering immense power without a wisp, and needless waste. There are merchants who seem to be busy, never rested, who have time to greet a salesman or a customer and serve each with utmost thoroughness. Who stock of merchandise in spotless, no odds and ends, no dust on high shelves and in drawers, presents "energy" forced out of service. The only force evident is that silent, insidious, ruinous force, "added interest" on each dollar's worth—like a tickle that as the clock ticks, interest is added daily. A little more of this less said each day.

SOME 'CUE ARTIST

Who said that buying goods was a dreary job? The asperation was absolutely refuted yesterday when a trip was made around the various wholesale houses. Each one was filled with merchants buying goods and salesmen selling them. And above the sound of pencils scribbling on order books and the rattling of hand-cranked scales one could hear the carefree laugh and the super-truthful tones of the fisherman.

JAMES R. LITTLE

When it is said that "Jim" Little will have charge of the barbecue at the Ponce de Leon during the merchants' convention, it is absolutely a case of "fact". Everybody knows what the result is going to be when he takes care of a big barbecue. It is invariably a good time for all and an envied satisfied crowd.

J. G. Addy, the popular M. C. Kiew company salesman, is sending out a next card to his friends announcing that he will be at home at the home office, 111 Hunter street, for the convention.

J. P. Hall, representing the Lynchburg show company, is in the city with his line of sample and states that he is expecting a big fall business.

The Binder Frame Manufacturing company state that they have already gotten good results from the ad they are running.

John Elway & Co. express themselves as more than satisfied with the way the merchants have been coming in. They are on the jump from morning to night and are selling many good bills.

A. B. Banno stated that he thought their affairs exhibiting, under the east wall of their building, was attracting more attention than anything else in the city.

BIG RECEPTION AT DRIVING CLUB

Car Ride Over City Precedes One of Convention's Popular Events—Piedmont Driving Club Will Be Crowded.

At 4 p. m. today the visiting merchants will be tendered a car ride over the city which will wind up at 6 o'clock at the Piedmont Driving Club, where there is to be a big reception. The reception at the club last year proved to be one of the most popular features of the entertainment. Every man was made to feel entirely at home and expressed himself as delighted with there will not be a single delegate missing this evening. It is expected that there will be a single delegate missing this evening. It is expected that there will be a single delegate missing this evening. It is expected that there will be a single delegate missing this evening.

AN AGE OF SPECIALIZING

The tendency of modern thought and business methods is to specialize, and thus get the benefit of concentrated brain power, that cannot be obtained in a general distribution of thought over many lines.

A Surgeon does not treat medical cases, an Oculist does not operate for appendicitis, but each concentrates on his particular line, and the results are shown in the marvelous strides in knowledge in this generation, when compared with any and all others.

SO IN BUSINESS

A man concentrates his attention and ability on one line, and becomes an expert, accomplishes things that were not considered possible in the old days of generalization.

And in this you find the reason that Floyd Lehman & Co., whose Wholesale Notion House is located at 62-64 West Mitchell St. and who have a sample room, 186 Kimball House, are pleasing their trade so highly.

They are specializing on Notions, which includes White Goods, Linens, Hosiery and Furnishing Goods, and are doing it well.

Visiting merchants will find it interesting to look over this line.

COTTON ADVANCED ON BAD OUTLOOK

Reports From Oklahoma and Texas Stated That Crop Was Damaged by Dry and Hot Weather—Spot Quiet.

New York, August 6.—Renewed apprehension over the crop outlook for the southwest imperious a firmer tone in the cotton market during today's trading. The demand did not become active or general, but there was enough buying to sustain more support from trade sources, and the close was steady at precisely the best point of the day.

The market opened steady at an advance of 3 to 5 points in response to heavy Liverpool orders, which were expected, and after some little irregularity, turned firm and active, and rose generally fair weather in the western belt. The detailed reports, showing dry and hot weather during the past week in both Texas and Oklahoma, contributed to the advance. For the first time about 14 to 15 days of hot weather were reported from Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Mississippi, and the market held very steady in the late trading.

Private cables from Liverpool reported a most active market, and that the market had been stabilized by a heavy buying. A number of private wires claiming that the crop was damaged in the central belt. Very high temperatures were reported in Oklahoma, ranging from 77 to 107 degrees, and reports from there claimed that large producing areas were still suffering from drought. A mixture of large yields from other sections of the belt continued favorable, however, and the unfavorable reports from the southwest were not sufficient to cause more concern than from buying for long accounts. August freight rates for cotton were reported from the local area.

CORN AGAIN ON ITS UPWARD MOVE

Lack of Rain in Kansas and Missouri Causes Prices to Advance About 1 1/2 Cents. Wheat and Oats Up.

Chicago, August 6.—Blistering winds and no rain in Kansas and Missouri finally sent corn on a decidedly upward course today, after a series of violent swings. The market closed firm, 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 cents higher. Wheat showed a gain of 1/2 to 3/4 and oats a rise of 1/2 to 3/4.

Reports declared to be the worst of the year as to corn damage in Kansas, Missouri and parts of Nebraska, said rapidly during the last hour of the session. Some of the best estimates of the extent of the damage in such days would mean the ruin of the crop. Heat and weakness that preceded the advance were not sufficient to prevent the corn from rising.

Out in the Open

If you are up in your advertisement reading—if you are a close observer of the trend of merchandising methods as set forth daily in the advertisements of this and other good newspapers—if you have lately experienced unusual satisfaction in your shopping and business dealings you doubtless know the underlying principle of fair play that actuates present-day merchandising.

It is the principle of service. It spells satisfaction for the consumer and success for the merchant.

People who have something to sell now tell you openly all the interesting facts about their products and their wares. The most direct method used is newspaper advertising, because newspapers now advertise every line of human activity. It is to newspapers that you turn for information. And, consequently, advertisers tell their story out in the open, where it will be sure of a careful reading by interested people.
