

50 Girls Cremated
FACTORY GUTTED BY FLAMES
50 Others Injured

The Fire Spread So Rapidly Through Clothing Plant at Binghamton, N. Y., That It Was Impossible for the 125 Girls at Work to Make Their Escape.

MANY GIRLS LEAPED FROM BLAZING FACTORY AND WERE MANGLED

At First It Was Thought the Alarm Was for Fire Drill and the Girls Continued at Work Until Flames Swept Through Building—Most of the Injured Girls Received Their Hurts in Leaping From the Windows.

Binghamton, N. Y., July 22.—Fifty persons were killed, according to late estimates, and as many injured, a dozen or more fatally, in a fire which swept the four-story factory building of the Binghamton Clothing company this afternoon. The victims were chiefly women and girls.

Early tonight twenty-two bodies had been recovered, in the city hospital and in private institutions and thirty injured. Some two score persons are known to have escaped, as if by a miracle, from the building, which burst into flame like a tinderbox and became a roaring furnace almost in no time after the first alarm sounded.

About 125 persons were in the factory when the fire broke out. Those unaccounted for, or most of them, are believed to be still in the red-hot ruins of the structure.

SEARCHING FOR THE VICTIMS. Around the scene of the catastrophe, the greatest this city has ever known, thousands tonight watched the rescuers work in the glare of three big searchlights, many in the great throng being restrained only by the closely-drawn police lines from rushing into the ruins to seek the bodies of relatives or friends.

Many streams of water are being pumped into the fiery pit, which a few hours ago was the cellar of the burned establishment.

As the ruins were cooled slightly, from time to time a spot upon which the streams were centered, men went forward to dig as long as human endurance would allow them to work. Occasionally a body was found and quickly taken away.

This work will go on all night, and perhaps all day tomorrow, before the glowing mass gives up its last dead. It will take at least two days, the authorities believe, before the cellar can be cleared and the whole town blown.

LIKE THE TRIANGLE HORROR. The big outstanding feat of the catastrophe is its suddenness. In this disaster bears a strong resemblance to the Triangle Waist company holocaust in New York city, where 145 were lost when the inflammable material upon which the employees were working and the water dripping from doors blazed up with inconceivable rapidity and set the imprisoned workers jumping from the windows to their death. The parallel here falls only in the lesser height and different construction of the building and in the strength of the list of dead and injured. Another resemblance to the New York disaster is that the fire today is believed to have been started by the careless throwing of a cigarette butt into the trash can.

Match in the trash can of the factory which the deadly burst of flame followed quickly after the alarm there was little opportunity to use ordinary even emergency means of escape. The drills had been carried on regularly, so frequently, in fact, that the employees had found them monotonous. The building was equipped with fire escapes and an automatic alarm system. The alarm tinkled at 2:36 o'clock.

At 2:38 o'clock the fire broke out. It was not until 2:40 o'clock that the fire alarm was sounded. The usual apparatus for a fire drill alarm responded. Some six persons at Warren and Chesapeake streets, four blocks away, saw a burst of flames and pulled the box there.

NO BIBLE READING IN PUBLIC SCHOOL
SENATE COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION TURNS DOWN BUSH-SEARCY BILL AFTER HEARING FROM MANY MINISTERS.

After being heard for the third time the much discussed bill which provides for the reading of the Bible in the public schools of this state was reported with the recommendation that it do not pass by the committee on education of the senate Tuesday afternoon by a vote of 8 to 5.

The final hearing on the bill continued almost three hours, ministers of many denominations speaking for and against the measure. The Baptists were divided upon their views on the measure, several of their ministers favoring the legislation while others were as ardent opponents.

Dr. John W. Wood of the Second Baptist church, stated that the passage of the bill would mean a clash of state and church. "If you pass a bill like this," he said, "you would be to furnish teachers who would interpret the reading and the state would undertake the dispute of religious teaching. A similar bill to this has already been declared unconstitutional in Michigan and the Pennsylvania bill from which this bill is copied, will have to go to the supreme court of that state."

Dr. C. W. Daniel, of the First Baptist church, presented a resolution from the Baptist ministers asking that the legislature pass the following bill. "There has been," said he, "an insidious and persistent effort to keep the state from being read to our children on the ground of mixing church and state, but why not demand your chaplain and do away with the Sunday laws this year?"

Dr. W. P. Lovejoy, presiding officer of the Methodist district of Atlanta, deplored the fact that the state made no provision to instruct her children upon the Christian religion and urged the passage of the bill.

A strong argument was presented against the bill by Rabbi David Marks. "I am not," he said, "going to pass a bill which will abolish the state religion and put in the hands of a secular government the care of the state's religious education. I think it immoral."

Against Spirit of Government. He agreed the bill to be against the spirit of the government, the spirit of the constitution, the spirit of the state and the spirit of the people. "Religious teaching has always been corrupt and intolerant when the church has been determined to do as it pleased the bill to be unjust since the church has taken from the public treasury directly or indirectly in aid of any church and denomination of any faith or any sectarian institution."

All Against the Bill. Father G. S. Rapier, representing the Catholic parishes, was so strongly against the bill. The Catholics were determined to vote against it. He said that the bill was a violation of the constitution and that the state should not be burdened with the expense of a religion which was not the religion of the state.

Howard to Be Marshal of the Northern District and Davis of Southern. The patronage deadlock is being broken. Two more Georgians were confirmed as federal officials today after Senator Bacon announced to the senate the favorable action of the judiciary committee on the nominations of Howard Thompson, of Gainesville, and Joseph S. Davis, of Albany, to the United States district courts for the northern and southern districts, respectively.

Mr. Davis was reported to the senate in the affirmative. Senator Bacon wanted to be prepared against any unexpected development which might interfere with the confirmation of both men at the same time. The fight against Mr. Davis has been determined since a strong effort was made to have Senator Smith fight the confirmation, but he declined to do so.

Both Mr. Thompson and Mr. Davis will be required to appear before the government and will then be commissioned. They will probably not take office for some ten days. No action has yet been taken by the treasury department on the nomination of the part of Savannah. Senator Bacon stands for the confirmation of the nominees despite the opposition which seeks to land the place for Mr. J. Wilson, who was recently appointed to the result of the congressional election in the sixth New Jersey district. He is a progressive, third party man, but indications were that Hart, rather than the return of Wilson, Greatly Interested. Washington, July 22.—President Wilson has greatly interested himself in the result of the congressional election in the sixth New Jersey district. He is a progressive, third party man, but indications were that Hart, rather than the return of Wilson, Greatly Interested.

IN BALKAN COCKPIT POWERS OF EUROPE MAY SOON GRAPPLE

Action of Turkey in Occupying Territory Taken From Her by Bulgaria Threatens General War. Powers are resolved to checkmate Turkey.

Russia Ready to Use Force Turkey, and Great Britain Will Likely Consent to Intervention.

London, July 22.—The European concert is faced by a most delicate and difficult situation, requiring the exercise of the utmost diplomatic tact. It is not to be planned into a general war by the Turkish occupation of Adrianople and Kirk Killis.

Bulgaria, helpless, sees the fruits of her dearly won victory snatched from her hand, and, what negotiations for an armistice proceeding in a leisurely manner at Nish, the Greeks and Servians continue to push their military forces.

Powers Exchanging Views. The official announcement made at Constantinople that the Turkish troops had reoccupied Adrianople created the worst possible impression in diplomatic circles, and the powers immediately began an exchange of views to find the best means of checkmating Turkey's action, which is looked upon as a clear defiance of all Europe.

Next few hours are likely to decide whether forces hitherto unengaged are to be brought into action. Russia is understood to be ready to accept the mandate of Europe to compel the ports to respect the treaty of London, and the British cabinet tomorrow will consider whether this government shall consent to active intervention by Russia.

Warning to Turkey. Premier Asquith's speech at Birmingham Monday evening was intended to warn Turkey against just such a development, which would continue all along the Servian front.

In their advance the Servians have occupied Belgrade, northward of which they have met strong Bulgarian resistance. Both sides are reported to be losing heavily. The Servians claim to have captured strong Bulgarian positions on the heights stretching to the north of Belgrade.

Equal suffrage was discussed from every angle at a monster mass meeting in Tall hall last night. A large ovation was accorded Mrs. Mary L. Crawford, president of the Georgia Women's Suffrage Association, when she was presented to the audience by Mrs. William L. Peel, the chairman of the meeting, and Mrs. Frances Whiteides, a leader of the Women's Suffrage League, who was also greeted with applause.

A hot campaign between the suffrage associations was waged during the evening, and application blanks, membership cards and badges were distributed by white-haired matrons and young girls not yet out of their teens.

Bivary Between Leagues. Beneath the surface of the meeting was an unostentatious rivalry between the Georgia Women's Suffrage League, formerly the Atlanta Civic League, which was backed by the recent state convention. Just before the officers of the state league were introduced by Mrs. Peel, Mrs. Frances Whiteides, a leader in the civic league, left the platform, where she had been seated all evening.

UNITED STATES WARSHIPS RUSHED TO MEXIC PORTS. Washington, July 22.—The gunboat Wheeling today was ordered to Frontera, Tabasco state, Mexico, where revolutionary activity has endangered the lives and property of Americans. By John Corrigan, Jr. Affairs in Mexico engaged the attention of the senate today and precipitated the most warlike discussion heard since the days immediately preceding the outbreak of the Spanish-American war.

Senator Fall's resolution declaring that full protection in his constitutional rights should be with every citizen of this country throughout the world caused the debate.

Marion Letcher, of Georgia, consulted with the United States at Chihuahua, Mexico, which called for the aid of the oil officer of this government in Mexico who had shown any disposition to protect an American citizen in Mexico.

That the delicacy of the situation was keenly appreciated was evidenced by the instance of many senators, led by Senator Bacon, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, who expressed disappointment that the new president and new secretary of state had not inaugurated a different Mexican policy.

New from the northern section of Mexico where the guerrillas are most numerous show why foreign governments are protesting against conditions. The bands of guerrillas have destroyed so much railroad track that transportation is demoralized. Passenger traffic to the north is practically suspended. Whenever the guerrillas commit depredations they burn and tear up track to prevent pursuit, and as a result trains are run at rare intervals and many branch lines have been abandoned. Workmen can repair the tracks only when they are not being harassed by guerrillas trying to find the marauders.

Preparations are already being made in the courtroom on the first floor of the old chamber of commerce building where the case will be tried. Putting in additional seats and benches and preparing for the crowd that is sure to attend the public hearing, in which interest has centered for months.

Double the number of seats will be installed and after those directly connected with the case have entered, a sufficient number of the general public will be allowed to take seats. All women are invited to attend. The doors will be closed and no one else will be allowed to enter the courtroom. Deputy Miner has also ordered a dozen large electric fans which will be placed at intervals around the room to keep the air stirring and to draw an equal amount through the large opening at the rear.

Senator Works, of California, asserting the Fall resolution considered a declaration that the United States was prepared to make war on Mexico if Americans there urged that no hasty action be taken.

Senator Fall averred that every act of his had been prompted with the earnest desire to prevent war and that he had vainly sought to bring to the administration a realization of the fact that a stern Mexican policy would have prevented war.

"Nothing has been done to protect American citizens in Mexico," declared Senator Bacon.

"Senator Bacon declared that the people of the United States were in a grave position of responsibility at this time, and any action of principle such as this should be thoroughly considered."

"I have every reason to believe," Senator Bacon continued, "from statements made to me by executive officials of the government that every diplomatic effort is being made to protect Americans in Mexico."

AKIN EXPLAINS PURPOSE OF THE DRAINAGE BILL

Says Government Offers Business Opportunity Not to Be Lost by State.

Action will probably be taken by the appropriations committee of the house at its next meeting tomorrow afternoon on the bill of Representative Akin...

The author regards this measure as one of the most important which the general assembly will have to act on this year.

If we get this bill appropriated from the state, Mr. Akin said Tuesday, "the sum will be duplicated by the United States government and in addition, the government will furnish the surveys to do the work."

AFTER MACON 'SHARKS' BUDGET SYSTEM PLAN PROPOSED BY HARDWICK

Washington, July 22.—A new budget system plan was embraced in two resolutions introduced in the house today by Representative Hardwick...

The resolutions would create a house committee on estimates and expenditures of twenty-one members, who should be ineligible for service on any other committee of the house...

The committee would outline and report to the house, within thirty days after the opening of each regular session...

It is reported that other railroad men are planning to enter suit against various money lenders of the city and will lay the matter before the next grand jury.

RAILROAD MEN PLAN FIGHT ON MONEY LENDERS

Macon, Ga., July 22.—(Special).—The first step in the fight against the alleged loan sharks in Macon was taken today when W. R. Roberts, a railroad fireman, entered suit in the superior court against King brothers, money lenders, for $2,000 damages.

Roberts claims that he borrowed $20 in 1911 and during the ensuing year paid the company $24 and then thought he was square. Later, he claims that when he went to work for the Southern railway he was notified that he still owed $22.

It is reported that other railroad men are planning to enter suit against various money lenders of the city and will lay the matter before the next grand jury.

HELPS FOR PRESENTING FORGED BANK CHECK

Americus, Ga., July 22.—(Special).—A white man hailing from Terrell county, according to this morning's paper, was palled here this morning for presenting a forged bank check upon local merchants bearing the name of a well-known banker.

The forger was such a plausible fraud that 'break arrest' quickly resulted. His pockets contained checks upon other banks in neighboring towns which he probably intended working eventually.

Chaingangs in Georgia

Breaking Rocks, Breaking Men, and A Death in Camp

Last Thursday night a man slept chained to others. Doubtless the drag of the shackle on his leg disturbed his rest.

In the cool of Friday morning he shuffled out of the convict camp. Linked with clinking steel to others, he came through the woods to the rock quarry.

The guard unlocked the gang chain. The man scrambled down into the pit. Work started.

The sun mounted higher. Its beams sought and found the laborers. Men began to feel it as they toiled.

Twelve pounds is the weight of the ordinary quarry hammer. Theirs weigh forty-nine pounds at this quarry.

One, buying time for the county, said: "Strength is not required to crush stone with these. They come down of their own weight. THE ROCK BREAKS."

YEA, AND SO DO MEN! Forty-nine pounds to the hammer! You could scarcely raise one.

Consider, then, what you do when you force the man to do that which you could not endure.

Lifting this hammer—crushing stone with it when the thermometer registers nearly one hundred degrees.

And doing this at the bottom of a funnel-shaped pit of stone into which the sun's rays pour and beat, enveloping in wave of agonizing heat the suffering striped and shackled working men!

Friday each minute the heat grew worse. The atmosphere quivered with it.

The quarry became a pit of torment. From its depths, to his keeper, the man cried: "I am sick!"

The guard replied: "You didn't say so this morning." Later the man fell fainting at his work.

Stripe-clad, shackled men lifted him tenderly. They carried him out.

Through the woods a jolting, springless wagon bore the dying man to the convict camp, where he died.

The man had not been condemned to death. He was only a misdemeanor convict.

The utmost punishment provided by your law for him was twelve months in the chaingang, six months in jail and a fine of one thousand dollars.

And you had no wish to kill him. BUT THE MAN IS DEAD.

Across the ages rings the question of God: "What mean you that you break my people to pieces, and grind the faces of the poor?"

Down the centuries comes the voice of Jesus saying: "Woe unto you! for you load men with burdens grievous to be borne and you, yourself, touch not the burden with one of your fingers."

Do not deny responsibility for the man's death. Your laws—our laws—placed him in the convict camp.

Your servant, a public official, made him work the day he died. He feared your lash—our lash.

God will require of you and of us his blood and the blood of others.

TALBOT CAPTURES HOT WEATHER RECORD

What is believed to be the top-notch record for hot weather in the entire state came yesterday in the report mailed in from Talbot, Ga., in which the official temperature at that place on last Saturday reached 110 degrees. Records were broken at practically every station in the state with the exception of Rome, Atlanta and Savannah, and in Atlanta the temperature of 94 degrees came within a few tenths degree of reaching the record mark of 95 years ago.

Showers are forecasted for today again and, according to the weatherman, about the same temperature will prevail. Nearly 7.5 inches of rain fell Tuesday in Atlanta and the moisture served to cool off the atmosphere to a great degree.

General rains have fallen within the last two days over nearly the entire length and breadth of Georgia and reports from the farming sections are much more encouraging than when the dry, hot spell was at its height. Practically every station reported at least a quarter of an inch of rain and in many places the fall was heavier.

GEORGIA INVITATION DECLINED BY BACON

Senator Cannot Leave Washington Because of Pressure of Public Business.

Washington, July 22.—(Special.)—Senator Bacon has been forced to decline the invitation of the general assembly to address them. He was anxious to do so, but after conferring with his colleagues was urged not to leave Washington just now because of the pressure of important public business.

In addition to the tariff matter which formally opened on Monday the delicate diplomatic problems are pressing upon the attention of Senator Bacon, as chairman of the foreign relations committee. He is expected to defend the administration's foreign policy on the floor of the senate. Kern, chairman of the democratic caucus, on being consulted by Senator Bacon about the invitation to visit Georgia, declined it. "With our eyes on the general assembly it is of the highest importance that every senator should be present every day while the general assembly is considered, as the absence of any member may put us at the mercy of our adversaries."

There is another patent reason why you should decline the invitation which will take you away from the capital and that our relations with certain foreign governments are so strained that as chairman of the foreign relations committee your presence here might be imperatively demanded at any moment. I sincerely hope that all democratic senators will remain at their posts, however much they may desire to accommodate their constituents."

Senator Bacon upon receipt of the Georgia legislature's invitation that it was impossible for him to leave his post of duty at the present time.

GOVERNMENT CLERKS MUST PAY THEIR DEBTS

The latest department to emphasize this order is the war department and an order which Secretary Garrison is being handed to all that "creditors and collectors will be denied access to employees' during office hours."

"But while the department will not permit itself to be used as a collection agency, it will not tolerate as a fit employee anyone who neglects to make payment."

A FAN PROTESTS.

To Editor of Sporting Page of Atlanta Constitution:—In the interest of fair play I write to protest against the "knocks" that from time to time have been handed to the Atlanta papers of the city to seem to gratify the desire to heap upon him the blame of a pitcher who has lost his first game as a Cracker. I am a lover of baseball, and a fairly regular student at the games on our local diamond. From the conversation I am had with others I find that I am not alone in my opinion that Dett has been unjustly "roasted."

One pitcher is estimated that the Atlanta club had been handed a "roast" considering the amount of money paid for Dett.

Since Dett has not been a member of the team no other pitcher has been put in such hard and difficult position as Dett has been put in.

COTTON REACTED LATE IN THE DAY Market Opened Higher in N. Y., but Sudden Drop in July Cotton at N. O. Caused Decline in Prices.

New York, July 22.—A firmer Liverpool market than expected and appreciation over weather conditions in the central and western belts notably Texas and Oklahoma, chiefly explained the steadiness which prevailed in the local cotton market most of the season today. Opening prices were 2 to 3 points net higher, and most of the improvement was sustained during the day until about an hour before the close, when a sudden drop in July cotton at New Orleans unsettled the local market and caused a sharp reaction to lower levels in the day, the close showing a net decline of 1 to 3 points.

Although New Orleans subsequently recovered half its loss, the market continued under pressure and was nervous right up to the close. Underlying sentiment in New York, however, notwithstanding the break in the south, was rather apprehensive about the crop outlook in the western belt, particularly in Texas, where the forecast indicated dry weather for a day or two longer at least. Complaints about crop deterioration in that state from drought have begun to appear in considerable numbers. It was believed that unless general rains soon appear, the cotton estimates may have to be materially reduced. Throughout the eastern belt further good abundance reported an abundance of moisture and crop reports were generally favorable.

Arrivals of cotton at New York today were 5,007 bales, including 2,438 bales of foreign cotton. The day's receipts contained, it being understood that most of the latter cotton was being delivered for July contracts. Cotton spot quotations: Middling, 12.40; middling up, 12.45; sales, none.

STOCK MARKET WAS IRREGULAR Some Railroad Issues and Industrials Showed Gains, While New Haven Closed at Decline—Bonds Heavy.

New York, July 22.—During the greater part of today's trading session, prices exhibited more irregularity than at any time during the upward movement of last week. Trading frequently came to a standstill and the movement lacked any trend during the previous day.

The railway opening due in part to the higher level quoted in London, soon gave way to general declines, notably in New Haven, California Petroleum and some of the obscure issues. The Dow Jones index added 3 points to its 11-point loss of the previous day. The decline in the New Haven issue resulted from a statement of the company's position, but it is believed that the decline was due to a general reaction in the market.

On the other hand, a few of the better issues, such as the Chesapeake and Ohio and the Chesapeake and Potomac, were consistently higher. The Chesapeake and Potomac was particularly strong, adding 1 point to its 11-point loss of the previous day. The decline in the New Haven issue resulted from a statement of the company's position, but it is believed that the decline was due to a general reaction in the market.

The weekly weather report was of a nature calculated to give the market a boost. It is clear, however, that some sections, particularly the middle west, continue to suffer from drought. Money conditions reflect general confidence in the financial situation.

It is without question the prettiest drive leading out of Atlanta. It is also in it the most beautiful scenery of any road leading out of Atlanta.

It is certain to have a car line within the next few years, for the reason that it goes somewhere.

You can buy the property today on Roswell road at $100 to $200 per acre that would cost $200 per acre the same distance out on Pace's Ferry road.

In our opinion, there is big money to be made on Roswell road, as all it needs is to be widened into a 40-foot drive, making it the most beautiful auto drive in Fulton county.
