

BURWELL LEADING FOR SPEAKERSHIP SAY "DOPESTERS"

Friends Claim 130 Votes as His on First Ballot and Feel That Election Is a Certainty.

ANDERSON ADDS THREE TO HIS TOTAL OF 28

Judge Allen, on Other Hand, Issues Statement that He Has Won Over Four of Rival's Supporters.

Unless the political "dopesters" are all badly off on their count, Representative W. H. Burwell, of Hancock, will be elected speaker of the house on the first ballot by a very substantial majority when that body convenes in its hall in the capitol tomorrow morning for the regular 1913 session.

The fight for the presidency of the senate is still badly mixed with the odds apparently slightly favoring J. Randolph Anderson, of the first senatorial district, over his competitor, J. T. Allen, of the twelfth.

Mr. Burwell's friends claim that he will have 130 votes or even more on the first ballot, while only 94 are required to put him safely over. They strongly hint that his two competitors will retire from the field before the vote is taken and that his election will be unanimous.

This suggestion was vigorously repelled, however, by the other two men in the race, R. N. Hardeman, of Jefferson, and J. E. Sheppard, of Sumter, Monday, and their friends there asserted that they would be in the race until the vote was counted and that a great many of the claims made by the Burwell contingent were built on no more substantial basis than "hot air."

Throughout the day and until a late hour of the night Monday the Kimball house lobby was crowded with friends of the various candidates, working in the interest of the men of their choice and with the incoming members of both houses, who arrived to the hour of considerably over a hundred during the course of the day. Not in recent years have so many members of the general assembly been seen at the capitol two days before the opening of the session.

Senate Fight More Strident

A much more strenuously contested fight is being waged for the speakership of the senate than for the speakership of the house. Many charges and recriminations were made by workers for the respective sides which threatened at times to reach the point of personal bitterness.

The friends of Judge Allen were at first very much inclined to pooh-pooh the claim made by Mr. Anderson that he had twenty-eight signed pledges of support, and the report went out from the judge's headquarters that he would retire from the race if Mr. Anderson would show him such a signed list.

Reply to Challenge

Senator Anderson sent word to his opponent that if he would furnish a written statement to the effect that he would retire if he found the list to be bona fide and every name on it was verified then the list would be forthcoming. To this message Anderson's friends made no reply, but continued support. Three others were said to have been added, bringing the total strength up to thirty-one. Other Anderson senators arrived too late for the caucus, but reported at Mr. Anderson's headquarters as soon as they arrived so that he might know where they stood.

Jubilant After Caucus

The Anderson following seemed very jubilant over the results shown at the caucus. After the caucus was over Senators W. W. Starke, of the thirty-third, and N. Chenault, of the thirty-fifth were seen by a constitution representative and they gave out the following statement as to the showing made at their meeting:

"At a caucus of the friends of Hon. J. Randolph Anderson, held at the headquarters here on Monday afternoon, it positively appeared that he had twenty-eight signed pledges of support."

Struck by a Sandbag Smoker of Cigarettes Finds Habit Is Cured

W. W. Christian Loses $14 and Pocket-Knife, But Is More Than Satisfied With Result.

A blow on the forehead, delivered last night by a sandbag in the hand of a highwayman, has deprived W. W. Christian of the cigarette habit, greatly puzzling Grady hospital surgeons as a result.

An inveterate smoker before the assault, he left the hospital shortly before midnight without the slightest taste for tobacco, and in the hope that the change would be permanent, he left a package of cigarettes with the hospital night clerk.

Christian is a cabinet maker, and lives at 18 Larkin street. Shortly after dark, as he crossed Tattall street at Stonewall, two men approached him. Both were white. The youngest asked for a cigarette. As Christian reached in his pocket for his package, the second robber struck him in the temple with a sandbag.

The next thing he knew, he told the police, was when he awoke on the operating table at Grady. Employees of a drug store at Stonewall and Chapel streets, only a short distance from the scene of the hold-up, say the cabinet maker stumbled into the store, dazed, and mumbled incoherent words about cigarettes and cowards with sandbags.

The robbers got $14 and a pocket-knife Christian said to the police that if he had really been cured of the cigarette habit he considers the money well spent.

Augusta Police Reach the Johnson Home Barely in Time to Save the Girl.

Augusta, Ga., June 23.—(Special)—Strung up to the wall with a calf chain around her neck, one end fastened in a staple high over her head, her father standing over her with the end of a broken buggy whip, Nellie Johnson, a girl about 17 years old, was found by the police tonight, almost strangled to death.

J. Johnson runs a butcher shop at 902 Eleventh street and the family lives in the same building. Late tonight neighbors heard screams of a woman and notified police headquarters and a detail was sent to investigate.

The officers found Johnson's wife cowering in one room, while in the other, back of the market proper, Johnson was beating the girl, who was all but strangled to death, her toes barely resting on the floor. At police headquarters she was revived by the department physician and it was found that her body was a mass of welts from the piece of buggy whip, while her neck and shoulders are badly bruised and lacerated from the chain.

Johnson's wife says the man became infuriated because the girl talked to a young man over the business telephone in the market.

RED WORK AT WEDDING BY REJECTED SUITOR

He Murdered Bride and Man and Fatally Wounds Three Other Persons.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 23.—A rejected suitor tonight shot and killed a young bride and a man who attempted to save her, while three others, one woman and two men, were probably fatally injured at the wedding celebration in the northern part of the city, where the double tragedy occurred.

The dead are MRS. NICHOLAS BOZELLE, 18 years old, and VINCENT SPIRTE, of Lansdowne, Pa.

Selice Sprint, of Morton, Del., was stabbed near the heart; an unidentified woman, about 25 years old, was shot through the breast.

Angelo, who is accused of doing the shooting, was slashed about the throat. None of the wounded is expected to recover.

REV. E. G. MURPHY PASSES IN NEW YORK

New York, June 23.—The Rev. Edward Gardner Murphy, of the Protestant Episcopal church, founder of the national child labor committee, died today at his home here, aged 44 years. DENIED CLEMENCY, BOY SHOT UP COURT

Ray Stewart, 18 Years Old, Tried to Kill Washington Judge and Prosecutors—Is Reader of Cheap Literature.

Washington, June 23.—Judge, lawyers, policemen and spectators were sent scurrying to cover in the criminal court here late today, when Ray M. Stewart, aged 18, fired three wild shots in an attempt to "shoot up" the court. At the first crack Justice Wendell P. Stafford disappeared beneath the desk, and out in the court room there was a wild scramble for places of safety. Some sought refuge under tables or behind heavy chairs, and others, frenzied by fear, leaped into windows and dropped to the ground some fifteen or twenty feet below.

Justice Stafford had just refused to release Stewart on probation after conviction for attempted highway robbery. The boy whipped out a pistol and fired three shots, two of which narrowly missed Assistant United States Attorney Samuel Hadden and Harvey Givan and Policeman Moffett. He was in the attitude of turning toward the judge as if to shoot, when a witness sprang upon him and choked him into insensibility.

In the confusion that followed many thought Justice Stafford had been struck by a bullet, but the judge emerged from his haven without a scratch.

Convicted of Holding Up Negro

Stewart had been convicted recently of holding up a negro in a Washington suburb last December. He had applied for probation as a first offender and Judge Stafford had been hearing the testimony of witnesses for and against the applicant. Hadden, Givan and Moffett, who were conducting the prosecution, were seated near the boy, who had been at liberty on bail.

The judge had barely uttered the last word in passing sentence when the prisoner began to shoot. The first shot was aimed in the direction of the prosecutors, and just missed Hawken, who ducked under the table. The next shot went toward the jury box and passed dangerously near Detective Sergeant Grant's head. It struck a wall and rebounded, falling near Justice Stafford's bench. The third shot struck the ceiling.

Seized Boy by Throat

As the youth wheeled and faced the bench, Edwin Biann, a clerk in the department of agriculture who had been a witness for the state, seized the boy by the throat and carried him to the floor.

By this time the court room had been nearly cleared of officials and spectators.

Stewart lay unconscious for several minutes after being disarmed. Later he was removed to the cell room beneath the court room.

Counsel for Stewart said the youth was unbalanced as the result of reading cheap literature. The hold-up for which the boy was about to be sentenced had many features of the dime novel variety.

Today the boy is in jail awaiting trial on the charge of shooting with intent to kill.

AGED MAN MURDERED FOR MONEY IN STORE

Homer Carmack, White Youth, Confesses to Part in Slaying of Storekeeper for Gold.

Columbus, Ga., June 23.—(Special)—With his throat cut and his face and arms slashed, J. J. Folk, aged 60, a merchant of Phenix City, Ala., was found dead in bed this morning in his dwelling over his store. Home Homer Carmack, aged 21, of Phenix City, is in the city jail where, it is stated, that he has confessed to connection with the murder.

The old man lived alone over his store, and, according to the story alleged to have been written from him, while young, a man named Taylor, whose first name the old man says he does not know, killed the old man while the boy stood by and watched the crime.

The Carmack boy swears that he had no part in the actual slaying of the man, but that he and Taylor divided the money between them which they got by the old man's death.

Carmack is married and according to the officers he made the confession in the presence of his wife, who went hither through the scene as he told of the deliberate plan to murder and rob the aged storekeeper and of its brutal carrying out practically exactly as it was planned.

The officers are searching tonight for Taylor and believe that from the accurate description given them by Carmack that they will have no trouble in identifying him.

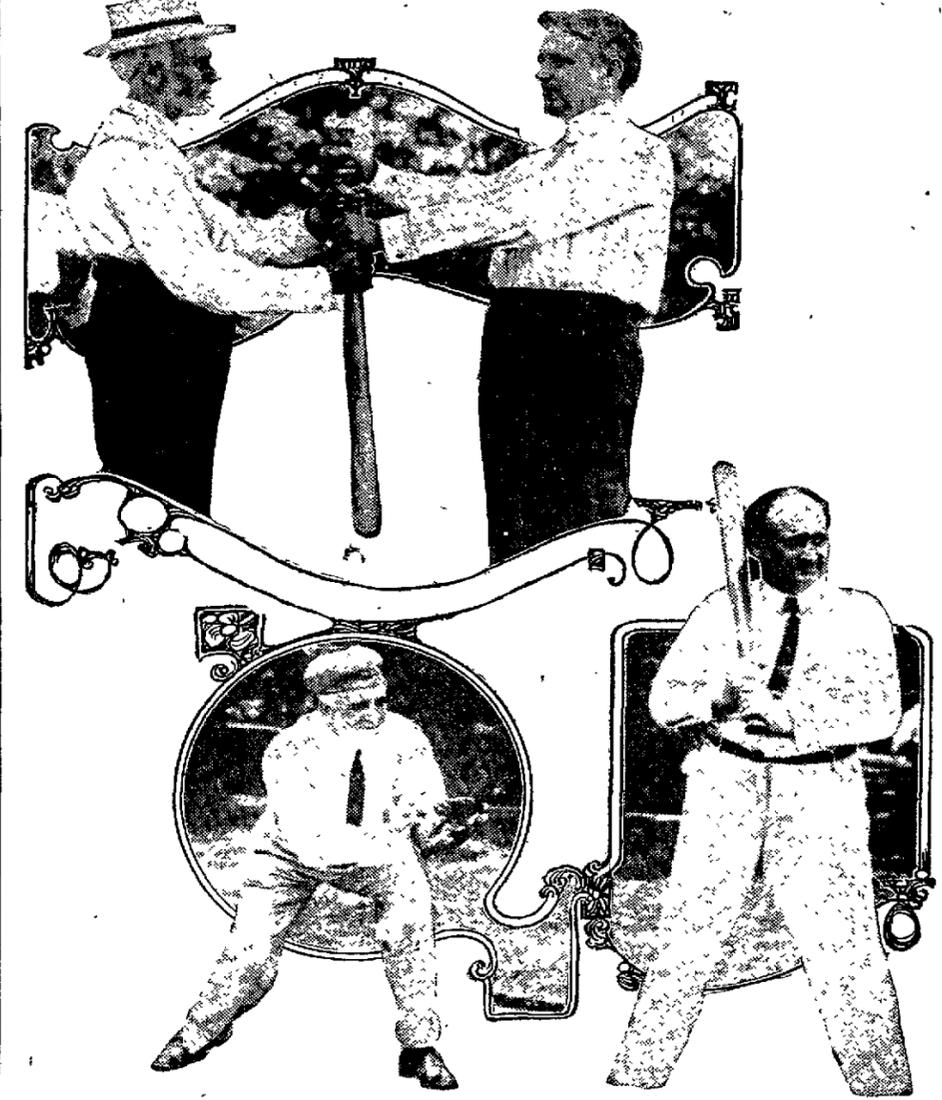

FLYING OVER THE SEA, BIRDMAN LOSES LIFE

London, June 23.—An aviator, Fairbairn, was drowned off Plymouth this evening. He had flown from Brooklands and was experimenting with a new type of machine with which he projected a trans-Atlantic flight in July. Fairbairn fell into the sea from a height of 1,000 feet, and sank before his friends could reach him. The machine was of 250-horse power, was completely enclosed and provided with a glass cockpit and tower.

Although he is 72 years of age, his constitution is reported to be excellent. He is a hopeful today. Jim Stallings, a negro who was shot by Redding while the latter was attempting to escape, died today from the effects of his wound.

Father's Abscessed Tooth Kept Him From Sucking Snake Poison From Son

Savannah, Ga., June 23.—(Special)—While picking huckleberries with his 12-year-old brother near Bethesda today, 6-year-old Edward Jackson was bitten on the leg by a 4-foot rattlesnake. Because the boy's father had an abscessed tooth he was afraid to suck the blood from the wound, and there was some delay in giving the boy treatment.

The father rolled the boy in a wheelbarrow to Bethesda, where Superintendent Chaplin cut the wound open and sucked the blood. A physician was summoned from Savannah, and the father's victim was brought to the Savannah hospital for further treatment. His condition is critical, although physicians say there is a chance for his recovery.

Montgomery, Ala., June 23.—The Alabama supreme court today, by a vote of 4 to 3, ruled that on and after September 1 next, no case may be reversed by the supreme court, nor any other court, on a mere technicality unless it is shown by the whole cause that the case of the appellant is or has been prejudiced thereby. It was also ruled that all "given" charges as well as all "refused" charges must be presented to the supreme court in every appeal.

WILSONS WERE WEDDED 28 YEARS AGO TODAY

Event Occurred at Savannah June 24, 1885—Anniversary Observed at White House.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, June 23.—(Special)—President and Mrs. Wilson will observe the 28th anniversary of their wedding tomorrow, the event having occurred in Savannah, Ga., June 24, 1885. But there will be no formal observance, and the president expects to be at his desk as usual.

When the wedding occurred this short paragraph was printed in The Morning News of Savannah:

"Miss Ellie Lou (Ellen Louise) Axson, daughter of the late Rev. Edward Axson, of this city, and Mr. Wilson, son of the Rev. J. R. Wilson, of Wilmington, N. C. were married last evening at the residence of the Rev. I. S. K. Axson, pastor of the Independent Presbyterian church. The ceremony was performed by the bridegroom's father and the bride's grandfather. The nuptials were celebrated quietly, only the intimate friends and relatives of the contracting parties being present."

President and Mrs. Wilson and their daughters expect to leave Washington on Friday for Cornish, N. H., to stay over the Fourth of July. The president will return to the capitol on July 7.

COTTON SEED CRUSHERS OPPOSE REVISION BILL

Chicago, June 23.—The Interstate Cottonseed Crushers' association, said to represent almost the entire cotton mill industry in the country, at its annual convention tonight adopted a resolution protesting against the proposed removal of camel's hair press cloth from the free list and placing it on the dutiable list at 15 per cent ad valorem.

The resolution stated that this removal, while allowing silk belting cloth used in flour milling to remain on the free list, "is a discrimination against a distinctly southern industry, in favor of a northern one."

REVISION OF TAXES CENTERS INTEREST

Prominent Legislators From All Parts of State Give Remedies for Present Condition of Georgia Finance.

That tax revision and a straightening out of the state's finances would be the most urgent subject for legislation this year seemed to be almost the unanimous opinion of members of both branches of the general assembly who were interviewed upon the question yesterday.

The only divergence of opinion seemed to be as to whether revision should be attempted this summer or whether it should be referred to a joint committee of the houses or to a state commission appointed by the governor to investigate during the recess, and final action deferred till next year. Those who seemed most in earnest about the subject were inclined to favor immediate revision.

Remedies Are Proposed

As is already known, Representatives E. A. Lipscomb of Clarke, E. T. Moon of Troup and O. T. Gower of Cris have been giving much thought to the problem, and each has a remedy that he thinks ought to be applied. Mr. Gower favors the appointment of a joint committee of both houses to prepare a measure of reform during the recess to be reported to the next session of the legislature.

Another member, who had not so far been heard from, but who has prepared a bill on the subject, is E. H. McMichael, of Marion. Mr. McMichael will introduce a bill as early as possible after the houses meet, providing for the creation of the office of tax discoverer in each county. This officer he will have appointed by the ordinary or the judge of the superior court, and will remove him as far from political influences as possible. It shall be his duty to go into each millita district after the tax returns have been made and dig up property that has not been placed on the tax books. He shall also inquire into the returns made to see that they have been fair and just. He shall have the right to summon any tax delinquent before a board of arbitrators who shall compel him to make a fair and just return.

The Alabama System

Mr. McMichael says that a system of this sort has been in vogue in Alabama, and has resulted in bringing millions of dollars' worth of property to the tax books. By having the tax discoverers remunerated by commissions from taxes on hidden property which they put on the tax assessment books, their vigilance would be secured, he says. He would have the tax discoverers of the various congressional districts meet together at cer-

WILSON TO FORCE CURRENCY REFORM THROUGH CONGRESS

President's Address Convinces Members of the House and Senate That He's Resolved on Money Legislation.

IMMEDIATE ACTIVITY EXPECTED IN CONGRESS

Wilson Insists Need for Reform Is Urgent—Declares Money Reform Necessary For Full Benefits of Tariff Revision to Be Realized.

Washington, June 23.—A fixed determination to have currency legislation passed at this session of congress was accepted by members of the house and senate today as President Wilson's text for the currency message, which he personally presented to congress assembled in joint session in the house chamber. Both democrats and republicans saw in the carefully worded appeal of the president an earnest conviction that the money situation must be dealt with before congress adjourns, and preparations were made to begin committee work on the administration bill which will be introduced in the house by Representative Glass and in the senate by Senator Owen.

From the rostrum of the house chamber the president, in carefully moderated tones that carried his words to every corner of the chamber, read the brief message he had prepared. Crowded galleries, cabinet officials, senators and representatives, democrats and republicans, sat in a close alliance as the president, with forceful earnestness, told them:

"It is plainly clear that it is our duty to supply the new banking and currency system the country needs, and that it will immediately need it more than any other country."

"We must act now, whatever the sacrifice to ourselves. I should be recreant to my deepest convictions of public obligations did I not impress it upon you with solemn and urgent insistence."

Sees Defiance of Century Precedent

The occasion was the president's second defiance of the custom of 100 years which sent presidents' messages, long, dull documents, to be droned to weary congressmen by a hoarse-voiced clerk, and the affair moved smoothly. The senate and house gathered in the chamber, where in a gallery already had been crowded and the members chatted while they awaited the president's coming. The cabinet officers, except Secretary of State Bryan and Secretary of the Navy Daniels, who, with their wives, occupied gallery seats, had places on the floor of the house.

A joint committee, led by Majority Leader Underwood and Senator Kern, met the president and escorted him to the clerk's desk on the rostrum. Mr. Wilson apparently was less nervous than expected, and in a first of his address, he was deeply fixed that the president's solemn and earnest insistence on currency legislation would result in immediate activity in the legislative branch. Chairman Glass, of the house banking and currency committee, and Hamilton Owen, of the senate committee, both conferred with the president after he delivered his address, and both prepared for the early introduction of the administration currency bill, which now is being revised in some minor feature of phraseology. The bill will go into both houses this week. He said the message was a fine example of classical English, but there is nothing more to it unless it be considered as a threat that patronage will

CALLS ON McREYNOLDS TO GET OUT OF OFFICE

Special Agent Attacks Attorney General About California Cases—Probe Asked.

Washington, June 23.—Attorney General McReynolds will make a full report to President Wilson, at the president's request, upon the causes that have led to direct postponement of the Diggs-Caminetti white cases and the trials of two directors of the Western Fuel company, the basis of the resignation of United States Attorney John L. McNab, of San Francisco, and his sensational charges against the head of the department of justice.

Demand Removal of McReynolds.

One of the day's most remarkable developments in the unusual episode was the receipt by the president of a telegram from Clayton Harrington, head of the department of justice, in charge of the federal bureau of investigation at San Francisco, demanding the removal from office of Attorney General McReynolds. Officials tonight declared that the question of summary action in Harrington's case probably would be taken up by the attorney general.

The department of justice was in ignorance of the special agent's protest until its publication this afternoon. It was then called to the attention of the attorney general. Early in the day, Clayton Harrington, chief of the bureau of investigation, officials were somewhat mystified and later amused by the receipt of a telegram from another special agent applying for the "vacancy" at San Francisco.

Looking for Successor to McNab.

When the action has yet been taken on the McNab resignation, white house officials let it be known that the president was looking for a successor. They stated that the character of the new district attorney would soon show whether there could be any manipulation of the case.

Justice through political influences, as charged by District Attorney McNab.

Steps today preliminary to a final determination of the controversy were many. The president said his first impression on the situation was gleaned from the newspaper and declared he would wait for the attorney general's report before determining his course.

The episode found an echo in the halls of congress, where Representative Kahn, republican, of California, introduced in the house resolutions, one calling for official papers in the case, and the other for an investigation by the judiciary committee. Representative Mann issued a statement declaring that President Wilson should supply the necessary information.

Other representatives who declared the matter that tax legislation was the paramount issue before this house were Alonzo Field of DeKalb, J. P. Cheney of Cobb and R. N. Hardeman of Jefferson.

Outsiders Urge Action.

Prominent politicians of state-wide reputation who are not members of the present general assembly were also agreed that tax legislation was the most important matter for legislative action this year. Said Judge W. R. Jones, of Marietta:

"The legislation involving as it does the question of the state finances, is the most important matter for the general assembly to consider; this year that and the question of refunding the state bonded debt. This much should be remembered, however, in connection with any legislation on the subject, that the state's financial difficulties can be relieved only by a most rigid resolution adhered to on the part of legislators that appropriations shall not exceed the revenue of the state."

Interest here in the incident centered around the Caminetti-Diggs case, postponement of which Secretary Wilson, of the department of labor, yesterday took responsibility.

Assistant Attorney General Harr tonight assumed full responsibility for the order to Attorney McNab to postpone the trial of Robert Diggs and Sidney V. Smith, directors of the Western Fuel company, on charges of customs coal frauds.

This postponement, mentioned in Mr. McNab's telegram of resignation to the president, was ordered, declared Mr. Harr, to prevent a possible miscarriage of justice.

Bankers Consider Measure.

New York, June 23.—The currency commission of the American Bankers' association held a meeting here today to study the administration's currency bill, considering particularly the sections they consider objectionable. Present were bankers from this city, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis, Los Angeles, New Orleans, Des Moines and other cities.

A Barton Hepburn, president of the Chas. National bank, of this city, chairman of the committee, said after the meeting that in view of an announcement that the bill as it now stands is only tentative, it was not the association's intention to criticize it, but that a protest against it would be entered should it be introduced for passage. In the same form as it was made public, Mr. Hepburn remarked, that the commission was opposed to the measure as it stood.

It is understood that the commission today drafted a memorandum, setting forth its position for submission to the chairman of the senate and house committees having the currency matter in charge.

Government Must Control.

"And the control of the system of banking and of issue which our new laws are to set up must be public not private must be vested in the government itself so that the banks may be controlled by the government and not by the private interests of the masters of business and of individual enterprise and initiative."

"The committees of the congress to which legislation of this character is referred have devoted careful and dispassionate study to the means of accomplishing these objects. The means honored me by consulting me. They are ready to suggest action. I have come to you, as the head of the government and the responsible leader of the party, to urge action now, while there is time to save the country deliberately and as we should, in a clear air of common counsel. I appeal to you with a deep conviction of duty. I believe that you share this conviction. I therefore appeal to you with confidence. I am at your service without reserve to play my part in any way you may call upon me to play it in this great enterprise of elegant reform which it will dignify and distinguish us to perform and discredit us to neglect."

Responsibility Assumed.

Omaha, Neb., June 23.—"Forget and forgive" was the keynote of a speech delivered by former Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks at a banquet tendered him by 800 republican leaders of Nebraska. The gathering was fairly representative of both wings of the party in this state.

Mr. Fairbanks, speaking of the future, said:

"Now and then we have heard it said that the republican party has ended its career, that it is a party of the past rather than of the future. Such prophecies are not new, we have heard it proclaimed in other days."

"Circumstances which unfortunately led to party division a year ago no longer exist."

"Republicans, that is to say those who believe in the political doctrine of the republican party, are largely in the majority throughout the country. I have no doubt whatever that the logic of events will bring them into co-operation again. This result cannot be accomplished by coercion; it must come naturally by the exercise of a spirit of a tolerance and patience, old scores should be forgotten; as President McKinley happily put it, 'it does not do to keep books in politics.'"

RAISE FUNDS TO HELP PARDONED PRISONERS

Efforts to raise a $5,000 fund for the benefit of released prisoners from the federal penitentiary have interested prominent Atlanta society women who are sponsors for a subscription dance which the public is urged to attend in Lakewood park tonight. On the tenth of the dance will be the awarding of a $50 cushion and candy to the most popular girls at the affair.

This function will be the first of several entertainments for the benefit of the released prisoners and messengers in the penitentiary. It is in prison circle who see the advantage of such a fund which will enable them to hold on to men after they are pardoned, paroled or unconditionally released from the penitentiary until they are set on their feet.

tain intervals to adjust tax assessments between the counties. He proposes to create a sort of state convention of these officials, made up of one or more delegates from each congressional district, to bring about tax equalization for the state-at-large.

Favors Action This Year.

Representative McMichael is highly in favor of immediate action on the question of tax revision.

Another member of the legislature who regards tax revision as the most urgent question for legislation this year is Senator J. T. Hixon, of the thirty-seventh. Senator Hixon contributed the system of voluntary contributions which is all that our present system of tax gathering amounts to is almost unthinkable as the serious plan adopted by a great state. It works untold injustice to our citizens, encourages dishonesty in tax returns and is largely responsible for the present chaotic condition of our state finances.

Senator W. E. Spinks, of the thirty-eighth, was in substantial agreement with his neighbor of the thirty-seventh as to the vital importance of tax legislation. He said:

"I have not made up my mind yet as to whether the problem can best be solved at this session of the legislature or whether it should be referred to a committee for investigation during the recess, but that some serious legislation on the subject must come from this general assembly I think all are agreed."

Blackburn Talks.

Representative R. B. Blackburn, of Fulton, is also convinced that tax reform must come from this legislature. "The state needs more revenue than it is getting," he said "if we cannot get it by the readjustment and equalization of tax assessments we will have to raise the tax rate. That is all there is to it. Personally, I am inclined to think that a mistake was made when a constitutional limit of 5 mills was placed upon the tax rate."

"Understand that I am not advocating an increase in the tax burdens to the people, but that we will be far more successful in holding down appropriations when you take off the tax rate limit. When those who are advocating increased appropriations are given to understand that every increase voted means that their constituents will have to hear, you will see that they will go very much slower in their advocacy of increases."

Other representatives who declared the matter that tax legislation was the paramount issue before this house were Alonzo Field of DeKalb, J. P. Cheney of Cobb and R. N. Hardeman of Jefferson.

Mann Attacks Caminetti.

In his formal statement, Leader Mann said:

"The republicans will call on the attorney general through a house resolution for a statement of all the facts in his possession relating to the Caminetti case under the Mann white case. Mr. Caminetti, the father, has recently been appointed commissioner general of immigration because of his prominence in democratic politics, and not for any efficiency. Mr. Caminetti, the son, is under indictment for violation of the Mann act by tampering with the case."

"The influence of the new commissioner general of immigration and his political friends already have affected the present administration in this case. If the present administration believes in the Mann act and does his duty, he will appoint a new commissioner general of immigration on the ground that the present commissioner general has used both his political and official influence to prevent his son from being brought to a speedy trial."

"FORGET AND FORGIVE" ADVICE OF FAIRBANKS

Omaha, Neb., June 23.—"Forget and forgive" was the keynote of a speech delivered by former Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks at a banquet tendered him by 800 republican leaders of Nebraska. The gathering was fairly representative of both wings of the party in this state.

Mr. Fairbanks, speaking of the future, said:

"Now and then we have heard it said that the republican party has ended its career, that it is a party of the past rather than of the future. Such prophecies are not new, we have heard it proclaimed in other days."

"Circumstances which unfortunately led to party division a year ago no longer exist."

"Republicans, that is to say those who believe in the political doctrine of the republican party, are largely in the majority throughout the country. I have no doubt whatever that the logic of events will bring them into co-operation again. This result cannot be accomplished by coercion; it must come naturally by the exercise of a spirit of a tolerance and patience, old scores should be forgotten; as President McKinley happily put it, 'it does not do to keep books in politics.'"

RAISE FUNDS TO HELP PARDONED PRISONERS

Efforts to raise a $5,000 fund for the benefit of released prisoners from the federal penitentiary have interested prominent Atlanta society women who are sponsors for a subscription dance which the public is urged to attend in Lakewood park tonight. On the tenth of the dance will be the awarding of a $50 cushion and candy to the most popular girls at the affair.

This function will be the first of several entertainments for the benefit of the released prisoners and messengers in the penitentiary. It is in prison circle who see the advantage of such a fund which will enable them to hold on to men after they are pardoned, paroled or unconditionally released from the penitentiary until they are set on their feet.

DAUGHTER TO BE USED AGAINST HER MOTHER

Little Mary Scheiber to Tell How Mother Shot Father in Presence of Paramour.

Chicago, June 23.—Mary Scheiber, 12 years old, sought by the authorities at Memphis as a witness against her mother, Mrs. Margaret Scheiber, accused of shooting her husband, was located last night on the north side at the home of her half sister, Mrs. Leon Jones. The child is said to have one time prevented her mother from attacking her father.

According to the Memphis prosecutor, the girl was snatched out of Memphis on June 13, taken across the river at night and carried in an automobile to Marion, Ark. There trace of her was lost.

Mrs. Scheiber is charged with having killed her husband three months ago after trailing him to the apartment of a woman.

Mother Takes Stand.

Memphis, Tenn., June 23.—Mrs. Margaret L. Scheiber, on trial charged with the murder of her husband, Augustus Scheiber, in the apartments of Mrs. Lillian A. Howell last March, took the witness stand in her own defense today. She evidently was laboring under a severe mental strain, and several times court proceedings were halted until the witness could be revived with smelling salts.

The accused woman declared her life with Scheiber had been happy until the latter met Mrs. Howell in 1911. She told of his trying to force her to accept the company of Mrs. Howell, and stated that in the three weeks preceding his death Scheiber was at home only two nights.

Mrs. Scheiber found her husband in the flats of Mrs. Howell and opened fire on him. He is said to have been partly disrobed.

The shooting created a sensation at the time because of the prominence of Scheiber in the club and social life of the city.

Mary Scheiber is considered a material witness in the case, and was spirited away, it is said, by friends of her mother. Search has since been made for her by the state authorities. She will probably be brought to Memphis and placed upon the stand.

FRANK'S TRIAL SET FOR NEXT MONDAY

Indications Are Case Will Begin on That Day—Jury Panel Not Yet Drawn by Judge Roan.

The trial of Leo M. Frank superintendent of the National Pencil factory, now under indictment for the murder of Mary Phagan on April 26 in the factory has been definitely set for next Monday. This was an announcement of Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey last night after he had been working upon the court calendar for the coming week.

Solicitor Dorsey announced Sunday upon his arrival from New York City where he had spent the past two weeks that he intended to sit the case for that date unless something unforeseen should come up. While he did not complete his calendar on Monday, he reached the Frank case and placed it definitely upon the docket.

The defense has indicated that it is ready to go to trial and it appears now that the case will actually be taken up on that day should it be postponed it will be after a showing has been made in open court and a postponement granted by Judge L. Roan presiding in the criminal division of the superior court where Frank's fate will be decided.

Panel Not Yet Drawn
The panel of veniremen from which the jury will be selected is expected to be drawn some time today or Wednesday. This is the duty of Judge Roan. It was rumored that the panel would be drawn from the jury list Monday afternoon but this was not done. The list of prospective jurors will not be made public after the drawing and only after their names are called when the trial has started and the task of picking the jury is begun will it be officially known who are the men who compose it.

It is expected that a special venire will be drawn containing the names of about 150 citizens as it is expected that many names will be stricken off the list before lawyers for the state and the defense are finally satisfied picking jury important.

Both Attorney Luther Z. Rosser and Attorney Heulen H. Arnid have wide reputations for their skill in choosing the jury and Solicitor Dorsey has also made this a study in the course of his criminal prosecution so that it is believed that this will be one of the longest and most important features of the trial. It is expected that it

WILL TAKE ONE OR MORE DAYS TO CHOOSE THE JURY

Since the return of Solicitor Dorsey to Atlanta he has been busily engaged in working on the case, despite the fact that he has announced that the case is ready as far as the state is concerned.

On Monday he and his assistant, E. A. Stephens were in conference with J. M. Gantt who was one of the first white men to be arrested as a suspect. Gantt was formerly an employee of the pencil factory and, according to his testimony he returned to the factory to get an old pair of shoes on the day that the girl was killed.

He appeared before the coroner's inquest and also before the grand jury following his release from custody. He stated that when he returned to the factory that Frank was preparing to leave and sent New Lee the night watchman upstairs with him to get his shoes. He was questioned closely as to Frank's demeanor at that time.

The solicitor also had James Conley, the negro sweeper who has de- clared in a statement that Frank paid him to aid in hiding the girl's body before him on the day after his return.

Use of Electric Treatment May Cure Little Girl Who Ate of Colored Crayons

Dr. Simon L. Katzoff who yesterday visited little Mary Tribble whose mysterious case of supposed poisoning from eating colored crayons has baffled her physicians stated last night that he will administer electric treatment to the little girl today to increase her circulation hoping there by to give her more strength and to relieve somewhat the paralysis in her side.

Dr. Katzoff called at the Tribble home last night to administer the electric treatment but in the absence of Dr. Stone who has been attending the girl he decided to postpone the treatment until today. The giving of this treatment said Dr. Katzoff last night will be dependant upon the consent of the entire family and Dr. Stone.

Little Mary remained last night in the same state of coma in which she has remained for so many long hours. It appeared a little strengthened, and the physicians are not without a slight hope for her recovery.

Doster's schedule shows debts of $710.50 with property valued at $335.25.

EXEMPTION CLAUSE NOT LIKED BY WILSON

But He Signs Sunday Civil Bill, Exemption Clause Bad in Principle

Washington June 23—President Wilson today signed the sundry civil appropriation bill with a statement declaring that he would have vetoed it if he could the provision in it exempting labor unions and farmers organizations from prosecution under a certain $300,000 fund designated for operation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The president characterized the exemption as unjustifiable in character and principle but called attention to the fact that the department of justice possessed other funds with which to enforce the anti-trust law.

The urgent need of various government departments for funds appropriated by the bill influenced the president to speedy action on the measure. The bill carries $116,000,000 in appropriations and was vetoed by Mr. Taft March 4 because of the labor exemption clause. When the bill was reintroduced and passed by both houses in identical form by the present congress this provision was the subject of sharp debate.

In his statement the president said: "I have signed this bill because I can do so without in fact limiting the opportunity or the power of the department of justice to prosecute violations of the law by whomsoever committed."

If I could have separated from the rest of the bill the item which authorized the expenditure by the department of justice of a special sum of $300,000 for the prosecution of violations of the anti-trust law I would have vetoed that item because it places upon the expenditure a limitation which is in my opinion unjustifiable in character and principle. But I could not separate it.

Do not understand that the limitation was intended as either an amendment or an interpretation of the anti-trust law but merely as an expression of the congress—a very emphatic opinion backed by an overwhelming majority of the hon- orable representatives and a large number of the senate but not intended to touch anything but the expenditures of a single small additional fund.

I can assure the country that this item will neither limit nor in any way embarrass the action of the department of justice. Other appropriations supply the department with abundant funds to enforce the law.

WINGFIELD APPOINTED SUCCESSOR TO BEST

Setting at rest rumors which have created considerable interest in the railroad circles to the effect that one of several local men would be appointed to succeed G. L. Best resigned as superintendent of the dining car service of the Southern railway with headquarters in Charlotte, N. C. comes the official announcement that J. H. Wingfield has received the appointment.

Among Atlantans reported to be in line for the place was E. H. Rose crans well-known in the Atlanta district of the Southern dining car service.

BURWELL LEADING FOR SPEAKERSHIP

Eight senators who had unqualifiedly pledged themselves in writing to support him in his race for the presidency of the senate. As this insures his election to that office beyond question and is naturally just and equitable under the situation. Of the senators who had arrived in the city during the day three who had not committed themselves also definitely agreed with us to vote for Anderson if they bring their vote up to thirty one and of those who are yet to arrive we are confident we will secure several more votes.

The caucus was attended by all the senators supporting Anderson who had arrived in the city and letters and telegrams were received and read from all the others pledging anew their unqualified support and vote.

From the talk circulating around the Kimball house it is evident that Judge Allen will withdraw from the race and his friends seeing the hopelessness of his position.

Vinson Speaks for Allen.
Judge Allen's friends did not appear to be a bit perturbed over the showing made by the Anderson following at the caucus. To show where they stood Carl Vinson issued the following statement in behalf of Judge Allen.

The friends of Judge Allen are more confident than ever of victory. He will receive no less than twenty-eight and probably twenty-nine votes on the first ballot. The famous list of senators Mr. Anderson has claimed as for him has gone to smash. Four senators reported for Anderson have announced positively their intention to vote for Judge Allen since their coming to Atlanta and learning of the big corporate and manufacturing interests behind Anderson. Others will follow. But whether they do or not Judge Allen has the race won. He is his own boss and belongs to no big interest.

It is not certain whether there will be any further entrants into the senatorial race than the two named. Some time ago it was said that Senator D. M. Tyson of the second would be in the running but practically nothing has been heard from him of late and it could not be ascertained last night whether or not he had reached town. There was a rumor to the effect that Judge J. L. Sweat of the fifth would be placed in nomination but this was denied by the Anderson men. It was said that Judge Sweat had withdrawn from the race some time ago and that he was counted on to vote for Judge Allen.

CALLS DOCTOR TO WIFE AND THEN DROPS DEAD

Apparently in the heat of health after returning to Atlanta on a pleasure trip from Gainesville W. E. Henson dropped dead at 9 o'clock Monday morning just after summoning a physician to see his wife who was ill.

Complaining of no illness and apparently in the best of spirits except for his concern over his wife's indisposition Mr. Henson left the telephone after calling the physician and a few moments later he was found dead in an adjoining room of his residence at 28 Clark street. He is survived by his wife and four children. Funeral and interment will be announced later.

Hearne Sues Southern.

In the United States court yesterday Judge Newman presiding a suit brought by J. H. Hearne against the Southern railway for $10,000 was begun. Hewlett and Dennis appearing for the plaintiff while McDaniel and Black looked after the defendant company. In the petition presented the plaintiff, J. H. Hearne, claiming to be a resident of Fulton county, asserts that he was in the service of the Southern railway during the month of June, 1912, and that on the 16th day of that month while in the discharge of his duties in the Inman yards, was permanently injured by the road, and that the injuries were caused by neglect of the defendant company.

Escape of "Goat" Holliday With Bride Turns Tables On Surprise Wedding Party

MRS. J. WARE HOLLIDAY

A surprise wedding party in the very midst of its merry making met with a big surprise last night when the bride and groom quietly made their escape leaving the guests chagrined with rick bags unopened. "Goat" Holliday famed as the star first baseman of the Tech team and Miss Lydia McBride one of the most beautiful and popular members of Atlanta's younger social set were the happy couple.

Not satisfied with springing a surprise on the whole city of Atlanta in their sudden and unannounced wedding the bride and groom conspired to outwit their friends and within ten minutes after Dr. Hugh K. Walker had said his I pronounce thee the couple had slipped into an auto and sped away toward the Terminal station leaving their friends to wonder over their sudden disappearance.

The wedding took place at 8:15 o'clock Monday evening at the home of the bride's mother Mrs. George Breitenbacher, 124 Sunset avenue. Only the immediate members of the family six girl chums of Miss McBride and a few frat mates of Mr. Holliday were present. They had been warned in advance of what was to happen on Monday evening but the strict instructions were to tell no body. So they all said they were just going to a little evening party on Sunset avenue. Nobly had they striven to keep the plans from being known.

J. Ware Holliday—that is the groom's real name though all his schoolmates know him only as Goat—is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Holliday of 11 West Baker street. He is only 29 years old. The beautiful young bride is only 17. For over a year however the romance has been in progress.

The bride and groom have gone to Waycross for their honeymoon where Mr. Holliday is playing with the Way cross ball team. It is said however that they are coming back to Atlanta within the next few months and that he intends to enter the newspaper business here and make Atlanta his home.

PHYSICIANS ACCUSED OF CRUELTY TO DOGS

Philadelphia, June 23—Five physicians of the University of Pennsylvania, who are charged with cruelty to dogs in vivisection work, entered $500 bail here today. Three, including Dr. Allen J. Smith, former dean of the medical school, and brother of the provost, appeared personally before a magistrate and waived hearing. The other two were represented by counsel.

While the magistrate was accepting bail a score of prominent society women, who are back of the prosecution waited in a polite station eager to testify against the doctors. They say they had been told the hearing would be held in the station house.

The women were indignant when told that the case had been disposed of by the magistrate sitting in his office two blocks away.

The physicians deny any cruelty was practiced.

A PEOPLE'S LEGISLATURE.

Tomorrow there will assemble in Atlanta for the first time in several years a legislature almost wholly free of the restrictions and bitterness of partisan division.

As in every law-making body, there will be little swirls and eddies of opposing factions.

But the feud that for several years past has split Georgia into two rival camps did not determine the choice of this legislature.

Members are absolutely free to act and think not with regard to how their program will affect the fortunes of the Brown or the Smith camp, but entirely with reference to the welfare of the people of Georgia.

Many vital issues will require settlement. It is, indeed, doubtful if in many years any general assembly has faced responsibilities so grave and pressing.

In the face of such a situation, it is a subject for congratulation that the acrimony of partisan quarrels cannot obscure the merits of issues.

In the truest sense of the term, the legislature that meets tomorrow should be a people's legislature.

PLUG UP THIS ARTERY.

A trained, efficient and congenial citizenry is the life-blood of a nation. An artery of the United States has been punctured by the Dominion of Canada. Over the border flow daily tides of educated and energetic Americans.

The southern states of America can plug up this artery. They can keep here in this country the life-blood that is going to nourish another nation.

Every American who reaches the age of maturity represents a big investment on part of society. City, town, state and federal governments have spent large sums on protecting his health and property, on educating him, on training him in democratic institutions and teaching him good citizenship.

If the railroads and commercial bodies of the south will get busy, a majority of these vanishing Americans can be kept at home. They will be brought to the south, where they will continue to help good government in this country and to pile up dividends for themselves and the section.

Red hot weather, and now that the legislature is here, we shall have to add, "and still a-heating."

What is needed is to take this knowledge in intelligible fashion to these emigrating Americans. The south can and should save these citizens to the nation.

FIGHTING RABIES.

By demonstrating the practicability of wiping out hydrophobia, Ware county and Waycross may inaugurate a movement that will be of service to all Georgia.

The public health and sanitation committee has recommended to the board of trade of Waycross that it go on record as in favor of preventive measures.

INEBRIETY IN GEORGIA.

The forthcoming legislature ought to follow the suggestion of Representative D. C. Pickett, of Terrell county, and establish an asylum for inebriates.

Our viewpoint toward drunkenness has undergone a radical change in the past fifteen years. We know now the folly of the old system that treated the alcoholic as a criminal.

Men in this condition need help. They need the life in the fresh air that will drive the poison from their systems.

All of this can be done by the outdoor cure for alcoholism, aided to a certain extent by a few simple drugs and by healthful companionship.

The small money that Georgia would spend in inaugurating and maintaining an institution of this kind would be returned several fold in a few months.

Notwithstanding the weather, Wall street isn't taking a lurid view of the situation.

Mr. Bryan's lemon farm is lost to the limelight. Being at peace with all the earth, he isn't handing them around now.

A New Jersey insane asylum is to print a weekly newspaper, and the inmates who thought they knew how to run the country will have a chance to prove it.

The college graduate's diploma may "flag" a position, but as it is Greek to the uninitiated he keeps it at home in a frame.

They will not be able to recognize the ghost of the ancient legislature joke when it is dressed to fit the occasion.

A scientist says the sun will be cool in 90,000,000. In the meantime we shall try to worry along on mint and cracked ice.

Don't be alarmed at unusual noises in the house at midnight and in sequestered woodland places: The fourth of July orator is rehearsing his speech.

And here's our old friend and standby—the Georgia legislature.

A working congress, and not growling overmuch because the job will last all summer.

When the Georgia legislature gets real busy, perhaps congress itself will sit up and take notice.

Hard to match this melting, thunderstorm, picnic weather.

A Story of the Moment

By WALT MASON, The Famous Prose Poet. WATCHING THE CLOCK

"Two young men in the store where I work got fired today," said the new boarder. "The boss told them they spent too much time watching the clock."

"I hope it will be a lesson to them," commented the landlady. "In these bustling times young men who wish to succeed must take an enthusiastic interest in their work."

"To make clear my meaning, Mrs. Jiggers must dig into the dead, dim past. When I was a young man I worked in a hardware store as a clerk.

"So the three of us watched the clock. We were always suffering to hear the evening whistle, which released us from our drudgery. The fourth clerk was one of those painful young men who wish to get ahead in the world.

"Pretty soon one of the three was let out to make room for another young man like Clarence. Then a second had to go. One by one the roses fell, my dear Mrs. Jiggers, and at last I was invited to take my hat and celluloid collar and go, making place for a fourth Clarence.

"The three of us, having been discharged, held an indignation meeting, and decided to live without working, since work called for superhuman sacrifices and the suppression of every human instinct and ambition.

The World's Mysteries

MYSTERIES OF EUROPEAN POLITICS

WHO WERE THOMAS A'BECKET'S PARENTS?

The career and fate of Thomas a'Becket, the celebrated ecclesiastic, form one of the most remarkable episodes of English history of the twelfth century.

It is said that Gilbert a'Becket, his father, had in his youth followed the Crusaders to Palestine. While he was in the east he was taken prisoner by a Saracen, or Moor of high rank.

When she reached London all the English she knew was the name of her lover and his place of residence. She was alone, but she found him, and also found him ready to fulfill his former promise.

Cold Water Was Condemned. (From The Rural New Yorker.) In contrast with our present belief in cold water an English herbal, published in 1628, says that "Many folk that hath bathed them in cold water have dyed or they came home," while the danger of drinking Nature's beverage is pointed out in the assertion that "It is impossible for them that dryneth overmuch water in their youth to come to age."

FIGHT OVER SUGAR BEGINS IN CAUCUS

Western and Louisiana Senators Open Contest to Save Duty—Decision of Caucus to Bind the Democrats

Washington June 23—Democrats opposed to free sugar envisioned the senatorial caucus late today by beginning their final effort to change the schedule before the tariff bill reached the senate for general debate.

Western and Louisiana senators primed to make a titanic fight against the provision approved and urged by President Wilson which provides that sugar shall be free of duty in 1916.

Senator Shafroth of Colorado and Walsh of Montana took up the contest when the schedule was reached suddenly late in the afternoon.

It had not been expected that the caucus would reach sugar before tomorrow but the metal and wool schedule were rushed through without much discussion and before 3 o'clock the decks were cleared for the first and most determined party tariff schedule fight. This will be the acid test for free sugar.

Case Decision to Bind

To the decision of the caucus the democratic senators will be pledged and the prospect is that only Senators Thornton and Randall of Louisiana will be released from the binding resolution that is to be adopted. There is a possibility of one other senator asking for relief.

Senator Randall who is leading the fight on free sugar hurried from the caucus room when it was apparent the sugar schedule would be reached and sent a messenger for Senator Newlands of Nevada. He wanted all the democrats who do not favor the administration plan present.

Senator Newlands soon arrived and immediately thereafter the first paragraph of the schedule for general debate was read.

Senator Shafroth of Colorado was the first speaker. Coming from a beet sugar state he made a vigorous plea for elimination of the provision for free sugar in three years. He attacked the tariff schedule and supported the claim of the beet sugar manufacturers that free sugar would mean the crippling of not the death of the industry.

Senator Walsh of Montana who will make a fight against free wool is standing by the anti free sugar senators in the caucus fight. He followed Senator Shafroth and had not concluded when the caucus adjourned until 11 o'clock.

Temporary Until Sugar Was Reached.

Until sugar was reached the caucus had been very harmonious. No change was made in the report of the majority members of the finance committee on the wooden and wooden manufactures schedule. The only material change in this from the Underwood bill was the free listing of cedar boards and other cabinet woods.

In the metal schedule there were four votes taken on committee amendments and in each case the committee amendments sustained. Aluminum in the crude state was left at 2 cents a pound and in sheets and plates at 3 1/2 cents a pound. The committee's increase from 1 1/2 to 3 1/2 of a pound on lead ore was sustained as were its amendments increasing the duty on zinc ore from 10 to 12 per cent ad valorem and zinc in pigs from 10 to 15 per cent. An effort to put hand saws and other common tools on the free list was not successful and a few small items in the schedule were referred for later determination.

Late tomorrow the majority of the finance committee will complete work on its revision of the income tax and a statement giving the details of the changes will be given by Chairman Simmons.

The committee tonight received a petition from a delegation of New York diamond merchants urging reconsideration of its action in turning down proposed reductions in the diamond rates of the Underwood bill. After careful consideration of the claims that the Underwood rates would encourage and increase smuggling the committee decided not to change the rates as left by the committee uncut diamonds are made dutiable at 13 per cent ad valorem and cut diamonds at 20 per cent. The merchants want the present rates retained on cut diamonds at 10 per cent and uncut diamonds free.

To Stop Future Gambling

Senator Clark of Arkansas the president pro tem of the senate has prepared for consideration by the caucus an amendment to the tariff bill which would levy a tax on cotton sold for future delivery. It would assess a tax of one tenth of one cent a poned on all cotton sold to be sold or agreed to be purchased for future delivery upon any cotton exchange, board of trade or other similar place.

The amendment would provide however that when cotton thus sold for future delivery actually was delivered in good faith the tax levied should be refunded to the person or corporation which paid it under regulations to be prescribed by the secretary of the treasury. The measure is designed to prevent stock jobbing and gambling in cotton futures.

The secretary of the treasury under the proposed amendment would be authorized to conduct inspections necessary to collect the tax.

Exchanged persons or corporations who failed to pay or attempted to evade payment would be liable to a fine of from $1,000 to $20,000 for each offense and in the case of individuals or unincorporated associations an additional punishment by imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than three years.

Senator Clark will push his amendment before the caucus when the schedule is reached. It resembles a general amendment introduced by Senator Cummins which would provide for a special tax on all commodities sold through stock exchanges or boards of trade.

SALUTE TO POINCARÉ RESULTS IN TRAGEDY

Cheerbourg June 23—While the forts were firing a salute in honor of the arrival of President Poincaré on his way to England today an accident occurred which resulted in the death of two men and the serious wounding of four others.

It was thought at first that a cannon had burst but it later developed that several blank cartridges had exploded. Contrary to the regulations they had been placed close to the guns and a piece of burning leading fell among them. The lieutenant in charge of the section was placed under arrest. The president desired to cancel the dinner party aboard the Courbet and the fetes in the harbor but the guests already were arriving.

Political Leaders of State Gather Here For Legislature

Political leaders from all over the state were in Atlanta yesterday in anticipation of the opening of the legislature Wednesday. Among them were quite a number of prospective candidates for congress who were busy fixing up their political fences preparatory to the expected fray next year.

John W. Holder of Jackson county who was speaker of the last two houses of the general assembly and who has a large number of friends in the present legislature was kept busy shaking hands in the lobby of the Kimball house.

Mr. Holder was defeated in his race for congress in the ninth congressional district last year. He will in all probability be in the race again next year and he promises to make it lively for any others who may enter that fight.

Mr. Holder is particularly interested just now in opposing some of the new county moves. He is adverse to any division of his county in order to make a new county for Winder.

Carl Vinson Here

Another prospective congressional aspirant who is in the city is Carl Vinson of Baldwin. Mr. Vinson represented his county in the last two legislatures and is now judge of the city court of Milledgeville. He may enter the race for congress in the tenth next year if political gossip is to be credited.

A third man who has been spoken of for congressional honors who is on hand at the opening of the legislature is Judge G. Rufus Hutchens of Rome. A former chairman of the prison commission and as the leader of the Linderwood forces in the presidential primary last year Judge Hutchens needs no introduction to the people of the state. He was noncommittal as to the congressional race next year. Some friends know that he will make a good fight if he enters it.

W. C. T. U. Propose Fast Day For the Defeat of Anderson

Rome Ga. June 23—(Special)—Some members of the W. C. T. U. in the offices of the Post Enquirer at the state have been appealed to in a letter from Mrs. T. F. Patterson of Griffin state president to spend Tuesday June 24 in fasting and prayer for the defeat of Randolph Anderson as president of the Georgia senate.

Many members of the organization here signify their intention to accede to Mrs. Patterson's request.

In her letter sent to all members in the state she pens a vigorous denunciation of Anderson who she terms a tool of liquor interests. She says Savannah openly at the state law Anderson is personally interested in a brewery and is so notoriously for liquor and that gang that his elevation to the presidency of the senate would be heralded throughout the nation as a great victory for the brewers and distillers. He might become governor of the state and manipulate everything for the liquor interests. On June 24 lets fast and pray that Gods will be done in the election of a sane man as president of the senate.

14 NEGROES ARE HLED FOR DUBLIN MURDER

Officers Investigating the Killing of the Hewells Conceal Names of Prisoners

Dublin Ga. June 23—(Special)—Three more negro suspects were arrested today near and one at Scott making a total of eleven men taken into custody in connection with the tragedy early Sunday morning in which Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hewell were brutally slain.

Although the officers are pursuing the same secret that characterized the first arrest yesterday afternoon and have refused to make known the names of the prisoners it has been learned on good authority that the three arrested near Long Branch were Sam Irwin Tom Green and one known as Little Joe. The action of the officers in refusing to give out any information is to keep from arousing the people and to prevent any trouble that might arise.

Tim Kellam one of the negroes arrested yesterday is still in custody but the other two have been released as the evidence against them was not strong enough to warrant their being kept.

The negro arrested at Scott had blood stains on his clothes. He claimed that he spent Sunday night in Buckeye district in the opposite side of the county from the scene of the murder. Officers taken him to Buckeye to be identified.

The body of Mrs. Hewell was shipped this afternoon to Griffin at the request of her step son young Mr. Hewell having given the undertaker orders to this effect over long distance from Griffin today.

The two victims of the tragedy will be buried side by side there tomorrow. Her relatives in Easley S. C. requested him to inter them together in the coroner's jury chamber at the star chamber session this evening, convening shortly after 6 o'clock. The public including press representatives were excluded from the room. The jury adjourned at 7:55 o'clock after examining six witnesses until 8 p. m. Wednesday.

FUGITIVES IN SWAMP SAFE FROM OFFICERS

May Be Some Time Before Further Arrests Are Made in Tiam Robbery Case.

Waycross Ga. June 23—(Special)—It now looks as if it will be some time before there are any further arrests in the freight robbery case at Kirkland. Coffee county officers have practically abandoned the search for the men who retreated to Roundabout swamp after having been almost surrounded on the outskirts of the swamp, and special agents who have been working on the case are not going to attempt a wash of the swamp.

Just how long the badly wanted men will remain in hiding before making a break for liberty is problematical. If reports given officers by natives at and around Kirkland are to be given any weight the Solomon brothers and their unknown companion believed to be an army deserter are well stocked with provisions and may be able to hold out some time. The fugitives mentioned also of the swamp and the territory surrounding may aid them in eluding the officers for the time being but it has become certain that the pursuit of the men will not be giving up.

No effort has been made yet to determine just what the frequent freight robberies have cost but it is understood that much valuable merchandise has been taken. Among the stolen goods was a quantity of wines. The men who conducted the robberies had no way of knowing what they were getting just entering as many cars as they could while the train was at a standstill and taking all they could unload.

Whenever G. S. Godbold chief of the Atlantic Coast Line special agents returns to the scene of the robberies interesting developments are anticipated. Although he has temporarily abandoned the search the affair has by no means been marked closed by him.

MOCK CHARGED WITH CONCEALING ASSETS

Savannah Ga. June 23—(Special)—P. A. Mock Sylvania merchant and Screven county farmer was today held under a $2,000 bond charged with concealing assets from the trustee who had charge of his property in bankruptcy. The case was heard before United States Commissioner Cooper Morcock.

Screven County Sheriff B. F. Joy testified that at the instance of the steward of the estate he recovered forty or fifty carloads of merchandise which had been removed from Mock's store and hidden about in warehouses barns stable lofts and in cane fields.

The case seemed to hinge on the question whether the goods were removed from the store prior to the appointment of J. W. Overstreet as trustee in bankruptcy or while he was only the receiver of the stock. Mock swore that nothing was taken from the store after the trustee had been elected. He said a compromise had been effected with the creditors and that he confidently expected the 50 cents on the dollar settlement to be put through.

ICE FAMINE CAUSED BY CINCINNATI STRIKE

Lincolnton June 23—Ice manufacturers of this city today were unable to agree on any method of dealing with their striking engineers firemen drivers and helpers. This city and others on the Kentucky side of the river are practically without ice as the union plants are supplying only hotels cafes and hospitals and ice sent from other sources is inadequate for the demand. It is being sold by the city only on physicians certificates.

Mayor Hunt tonight received notice that many carloads of ice have been shipped from lake points.

Union teamsters today served notice that they would refuse to handle ice from non union plants.

FLAMES DESTROY FINE MARIETTA RESIDENCE

Marietta, Ga., June 23—(Special)—The residence of R. N. Northcutt president of the Marietta Knitting company was destroyed by fire at 2 o'clock Monday morning. It was one of the city's handsomest homes and it is a great loss to that section of the city.

It was insured for only $2,500 and the furniture for $1,000. Most of the household goods were saved. The house was easily worth $3,000.

Joseph R. Sevier the pastor. Decision to hold services outdoors was reached after numerous complaints of the excessive heat in the church during the services. The pastor declared the revival to be unusual by its method.

RESINOL CURED AWFUL ERUPTION ALL OVER FACE

Brooklyn N. Y., May 2 1913—About eighteen months ago I noticed a lot of little sores spreading all over my face and neck. It itched me some thing awful and I felt like I would want to tear my face apart. At night it would pain me and start swelling—then it would itch all the more—so I got very little sleep.

I tried many treatments such as etc., but none of them did me any good. I suffered for fourteen months until I sent for samples of Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. I applied them to a little part of my face and it showed good results. So I at once bought a jar of Resinol Ointment and a cake of Resinol Soap from my druggist and kept on using them for about three months when I was completely cured. If you would see my face now you would never think anything was ever the matter with it. (Signed) Louis Bloch 35 Morrell St.

For eighteen years Resinol has been a favorite doctor's prescription and household remedy for skin eruptions, pimples, blackheads, sunburn, insect bites, dandruff, sores, piles, etc. Stops itching instantly. Every druggist sells Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment, but you can try them without cost—just write for samples to Dept. 44 S. Resinol Baltimore Md.—(Adv.)

Vereen Reaches Atlanta

Among the prominent south Georgians who are looking impartially on the political activities incident to the assembling of the legislature is W. C. Vereen of Moultrie.

Mr. Vereen is mayor of his enterprising city and is one of the most influential factors of the most important matters political as well as financial. He was delegate last year from his district to the Baltimore convention and has also been at the head of the federation of boards of trade of Georgia. He is at the head of several of the largest business and industrial enterprises in his section but is never too busy to take an active interest in state politics. His name is being mentioned in his section in connection with the governorship after the retirement of Governor Slaton.

He may be a carpenter, say, employing one or two assistants. Or he may be a big realty operator requiring the services of a dozen or more skilled salesmen. But whatever he is, his position is similar to that of the captain of a vessel. With a good crew at his command he can make a successful voyage. Without them, he cannot get very far. Therefore, he the men that are to serve him, work with him, help him push his business ahead.

In most cases he finds them through the assistance of a want ad in the daily papers. Tho, often, the ad of a man in the Situations Wanted column brings him a trusty lieutenant.

Such was the case with J. M. Jenkins, who, to use his own words, "found the best salesman I ever employed" through a little want ad in The Constitution's Classified. It cost him 54 cents for three lines three times.

SOCIETY

Society Sees Open Air Play At Piedmont Driving Club

Well might the Ben Greets Players look out for their laurels in open air productions, for last night as the 200 guests entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Felder at the Driving Club in honor of the Players' club were enjoying a delicious supper on the terrace a group of the most talented of the players surprised the hostess, who is president of the club, by presenting that delightful comedy entitled "Neurasthenia," by Francis Crowninshield.

The play was enacted on the space between the living room and the ball room annex, with the vine-covered wall of the loggia as a background.

The play "Neurasthenia" takes place in a rest retreat for fashionable folks who can afford to have ailments which are warranted not to kill under any circumstances, but are frightfully expensive in the mode of treatment required. Everything is done to make the patients happy; to make them see their own perfictions and to bring them to realize the sunshine of life without any effort on their part. The star role was brilliantly interpreted by Mrs. W. C. Jarnagin, whose ailment was of the cardiac tendency and who was a typical "Lady Languish." She was attended by a beautiful and efficient French maid, the kind to bring unhappiness to any well-ordered household, this part so admirably enacted by Mrs. Ransom Wright as to convince all ladies in the audience ambitious for the luxury of a domestique Francaise to forego it.

Mr. Claude Weller was the English duke who defied society, and Mr. Ransom Wright, a dissipated, elderly gentleman of the type to live up to the noble sentiment, "I want what I want when I want it."

Mr. Tom Donaldson, Mr. Frank Taylor and Mr. Wallace Draper and character parts to which they did full justice.

Mrs. Ida Howell Cramer was a lovely nurse with carresses in her voice and her every little movement, and Mrs. Thaddeus E. Horton was Mrs. N. O. Trumper, a bridge fiend, who played the game as the most important function of life and caused many whispered comments in the audience.

To Visitors. Mrs. Louis Moschel will entertain at luncheon Wednesday in compliance to Mrs. Martin Dunbar's guests, Miss Thelma Dargan, of Jacksonville, and Miss Maude Miller, of St. Louis.

D. A. R. Lawn Fete. It is the wish of the Atlanta chapter, D. A. R., to make the garden party as to "the women they knew who played bridge like that."

Some Social Follies. Miss Hildreth Burton-Smith was the good-natured matron Mrs. Dobbins of the retreat, who dealt out sunshine pills and cuddle tonic to the ailing ones and made them languish in the belief that nowhere was life more possible and beautiful than right here. Mrs. Frank Owens was the fair and fascinating kleptomaniac of noble birth and lineage thus protected from the usual "costs" and put in the invalid clan, and Mrs. Weller was conserving her beauty and wit by the proper diet, regular hours, soothing massage with no thought of life's responsibility.

The lines of the play were clever, the action good and the players—well, as was noted in the opening lines, they were far out of the novice class and worthy to play in the same open air with the Ben Greets.

Mrs. Felder as she witnessed the play was as happy as a queen courted by regular hours, soothing massage with no thought of life's responsibility.

Guests on the Terrace. The guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Felder on the terrace. Japanese lanterns on all sides, which were lit, made the scene very attractive. The terrace was a tropical setting for the gay party assembled at 8 o'clock. At small tables on the terrace a delicious hot supper was served with the salads, fries and aspicas making the tempting summer repast. The prettily garnished dishes were served from a long buffet table ornate with flowers and fairy lamps and the individual tables were decorated in summer flowers.

After supper and the play the ball room was thrown open and dancing was enjoyed, the guests promenading on the broad porches and at no time during the evening forgetting the restfulness and beauty of the terrace in its picturesqueness.

The costumes of the ladies were of the prettiest midsummer modes, Mrs. Felder wearing an embroidered chiffon gown in the shades of straw color. The corsage was softened in lace and finished with a girle of satin and her leghorn hat was trimmed in ciel blue plumes. She was assisted in entertaining by the officers of the Players' club.

which they will give Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall Slaton, on Peachtree road, a brilliant and gala occasion. Besides all the patriotic societies of men and women, who will patronize the event, there will be present all the members of the general assembly in the city, as an invitation to these is to be extended Tuesday morning at the opening of the general assembly. Invited to patronize the lawn fete are all the friends of the Atlanta chapter, who are interested in the patriotic endeavor of the movement, and all those who are interested in every phase of woman's organized work, or any work making for Atlanta's development along any line.

The guests are invited from 5 until 7 o'clock. A bright program of entertainment will be presented, and an admission of 50 cents will be charged.

McBride-Holliday. A beautiful wedding last night was that of Miss Lydia McBride and Mr. John Wray Holliday, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Breitenbacher, on Sunset avenue.

The ceremony was witnessed only by the families and a dozen friends of the bride and groom among the younger set, and the only attendants were little Misses Luia Lewis and Isabel Breitenbacher, ribbon bearers.

Dr. Hugh K. Walker was the minister officiating.

The bride wore her traveling suit, a becoming tailored gown of blue with hat to match, and her corsage bouquet was of valley lilies.

Mrs. Breitenbacher wore a white lace gown, and the ribbon bearers wore linge dresses.

Handsome decoration obtained throughout the house, a profusion of palms being used with pink roses in artistic arrangement, and a buffet supper was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Holliday left afterwards on their wedding trip, and they will spend the summer at Waycross.

The wedding, while it was a quiet one, had its cordial interest for a large acquaintance. The bride is a beautiful young woman, and one of the most attractive members of the younger set, and Mr. Holliday, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Holliday, was one of the most popular students at Georgia Tech. His business now stations him at Waycross.

THERMOMETER SHOWS 86 DEGREES MONDAY

Temperature Cooled Off by a Rain About 5 O'Clock in Afternoon.

The thermometer only reached 86 degrees Monday, and the temperature was cooled off about 5 o'clock in the afternoon by a rain, but the effect of a quantity of moisture in the air made the atmosphere more oppressive than on a dry, hot day.

No particular change is forecast by the weather bureau for today. The forecast made up Monday morning announced showers for Monday or Tuesday, and as one shower has already appeared since then it is probable that it will be followed by one or more today.

Atmospheric conditions are still ripe for local showers, or "thunder showers," as the sudden rains of this time of the year are called by weathermen.

While few Atlantans realized it, except one or two merchants whose plate glass show windows were blown out, one of the hardest wind storms that ever struck this section blew for about half an hour Sunday afternoon.

The wind, which accompanied the rain, drove through the streets at the rate of 64 miles an hour, propelling the rain in a horizontal direction. These were the official records taken from the government instrument.

The weather bureau is not open on Sunday, but the instruments register and record climatic conditions on that day as on others.

ANOTHER PRECEDENT SMASHED BY WILSON

Washington, June 23.—President Wilson smashed another white house tradition today.

Bareheaded, Mr. Wilson walked out the white house drive almost to the gate, to say goodbye to A. Popham Lobb, colonial secretary for Bermuda, one of his cabinet members.

Earlier, Mr. Lobb, who first met the president in Bermuda, had been a guest of the Wilson family at the capitol, and at luncheon. When Mr. Lobb departed his automobile had not arrived, and the president, walking out through the grounds chatting with his guest until they met the motor car coming from Pennsylvania avenue.

HOT WEATHER "DONT'S" ANNOUNCED BY ALSBERG

Washington, June 23.—The last word in hot weather "dont's" was issued today in brief form by Dr. Carl Alsberg, who succeeded Dr. Harvey W. Wiley as chief of the United States bureau of chemistry.

Dr. Alsberg, it developed, would abolish the thermometer because of its dispiriting influence on the minds of perspiring men and women. Here are his "dont's":

"Don't eat to excess.
"Don't wear too many clothes.
"Don't drink ice cold beverages.
"Don't look at the thermometer and keep thinking how hot it is."

Feed drinks are one of Dr. Alsberg's abominations, for he says they not only disorder the stomach, but they also interfere with the digestion. The secret of keeping cool in the dog days, according to Dr. Alsberg, is largely in temperate eating, taking just enough sustenance to keep off the pangs of hunger.

"But," says the doctor, "above all things, keep your eyes from the thermometer."

Zebulon, Ga., June 22.—(Special.)—About 9 o'clock last night J. F. Neill was shot and killed by his father-in-law. Neill is the son-in-law of Vaughan, and the killing, it is said, is the result of family trouble.

Neill's home was near Senola, but he was at the home of Vaughan and the killing took place in the lot of the latter, about 2 miles from Zebulon.

The coroner's jury thought the homicide justifiable, but the father of the deceased had a warrant issued for Vaughan, charging him with murder.

There were no eye-witnesses to the killing.

DOREMUS IS SELECTED AT WILSON'S INSTANCE

Michigan Representative Named Chairman of the Democratic Campaign Committee.

Washington, June 23.—The democratic congressional committee tonight elected Representative Doremus of Michigan, chairman and agreed to cooperate with the democratic national committee in the coming mid-presidential campaign.

Mr. Doremus is understood to have been President Wilson's choice to head the party's congressional campaign organization. He was elected by a vote of 30 to 24 after several months of lively skirmishing for the post with Representative Cline, of Indiana; Representative Sabath, of Illinois; Lloyd, of Missouri; the retiring chairman, and Sharp of Ohio, prominently mentioned as possibilities.

Mr. Lloyd announced some months ago that he would relinquish the chairmanship.

The new chairman is serving his second term in congress. He was active in the Washington and Chicago headquarters of the congressional committee in the last campaign. He said tonight it was too early to forecast any campaign program.

Harmony prevailed throughout tonight's proceedings. The organization was completed and everything is now ready for planning the coming campaign.

Besides the chairman the other officers elected followed: Vice chairman, Representative Cline, of Indiana; Senator Chamber-

IN OREGON: Senator Hollis, New Hampshire; Representative Goldfogle, New York; Representative Baker, California.

Secretary, Representative Pepper, Iowa; assistant secretary, Representative Murray, Massachusetts.

Sergeant-at-arms, Joseph J. Sinnott, of Virginia, for fourteen years holder of that post and now also sergeant-at-arms of the house.

"CAP" JOYNER TO AID OF MARIETTA FIREMEN

The home of R. H. Northcutt on Atlanta street, Marietta, Ga., was completely destroyed by fire at 2 o'clock Monday morning.

The Marietta fire department did good work in saving most of the furniture, but could make practically no headway against the flames, as such a big start had been made before they reached the house.

"Cap" W. R. Joyner, former chief of the Atlanta fire department, but who now lives in Marietta, rushed to the scene in his old rubber coat to aid the Marietta department.

3 CARS OF CUCUMBERS SHIPPED FROM TIFTON

Tifton, Ga., June 23.—Tift county truckers shipped three refrigerated cars of cucumbers the past week. Three weeks ago it was thought the cucumber crop was ruined by the dry weather, but after the rains came the vines began to bear and the yield has been fairly good. One grower reports about 700 crates from six acres, but half of these, or about 350 crates came from one and three-quarter acres.

Tomatoes are coming in and several shipments have been made, although the movement is not yet under full headway.

MACON SOCIETY FOLK STUNG BY OLD TRICK

Alleged "Seeress" Is Missing With a Lot of Valuable Diamonds and Jewelry.

Macon, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—A number of people living on College street and Georgia avenue, Macon's two most fashionable residence streets, are singing the same refrain: "Stung."

For several weeks Madame Melba, a so-called seer who claimed to be able to look into the past and future and tell her patrons many things of value to them, had been plying her trade right in the heart of this section of the city. Rumor has it that she did a land-office business, and that her patrons were put down on the waiting list, so great was the rush.

One of the requests made of each inquisitive person who desired to know what they were to expect in the future, was that they leave certain of their valuable jewels for the seeress to "sleep over" while pondering over the questions asked of her. It is said that a number of people left valuable diamond rings and other jewels.

A day or two ago the shades were pulled down at Madame Melba's house, and an investigation developed the fact that she had taken a sudden departure without confiding to anyone just where she was going. Some who still have faith in her declare that she will return, but others are not so certain about it, and have decided that in the future it is better to be without fortune tellers, especially the kind who must have valuables to sleep over.

Mind Reader in Court.

Macon, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—Mind reading figured in a habeas corpus hearing in the Bibb county superior court this morning while Mrs. Dixie Jarrett, known as the "Dixie Magnet" was on the stand.

The case was that of Mrs. Mattie Shipman against her husband, O. S. Shipman, to secure custody of her 6-year-old daughter, now in the hands of Mrs. Abbott, who was called as a witness and asked if she was a mind reader.

"A good many people think that I am a seer," said Mrs. Abbott, "and as a matter of fact I do possess some such power."

"Did you say that by merely waving your hand in front of Judge Mathews' face you could influence his decision one way or the other?" asked Attorney W. D. McNeill.

"No, I did not," said Mrs. Abbott, "but I could read the judge's mind if the conditions were right. I have known you ever see the child known as Thelma, who figures in this case?" asked the attorney.

"In my mind. My second sight!" was Mrs. Abbott's reply. "I have known of such testimony and laughed heartily at Mrs. Abbott's declaration that she could read his mind, but she did not give me a chance to demonstrate her skill."

The court did not allow Mrs. Shipman's writ because of the fact that the child was outside the jurisdiction of the court. Mrs. Shipman is asking for alimony also, on the ground that her husband deserted her and her two children.

Bernstein to Leave Macon.

Macon, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—Harry Bernstein, manager of the Grand theater, who several months ago figured in the sensational mix-up with the police department, resulting in Patrolman Proctor being "fired" from the force, is to leave Macon. Bernstein has just returned from a conference with Jake Wells, lessee of the Grand, and announces that he will leave Sunday and not return.

Wells has decided to suspend vaudeville in Macon for the summer, and probably for all time, and therefore decided to give Bernstein, who is considered one of the best men on his staff, another assignment.

It is said that Macon will next season get two or more road shows each week.

Frontier Goes Abroad.

Macon, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—Dr. E. J. Frazier will leave Macon this morning for New York to set sail for Switzerland, where he will join Mrs. Frazier and his children, who are already in that country. Dr. Frazier will be located for the next four years as vice consul at Yverdon, he having been given this appointment last week by the state department.

TELAMON CUYLER SUED BY WIFE FOR DIVORCE

That Telamon Cuyler Smith Cuyler, known in his early days and before the court as Telamon Cuyler Smith, is being sued for divorce by his wife, Mrs. Grace Barton Cuyler, of San Francisco, is the news which has reached Atlanta, where Mr. Cuyler spent the younger part of his life.

Willful neglect and lack of consideration for herself and the two young children are named as the causes by which the wife, a Californian, asks for a legal separation in the Californian courts from the former Atlantaan. Mr. Cuyler is said to be at his country place, Wayside, Jones county, Ga., and it is understood that the divorce notice will be served upon him by publication.

The son of the late Henry H. Smith, a prominent cotton broker of Atlanta, Mr. Cuyler is widely known in Atlanta, where he lived before going to New York, and finally touring the world. He is noted for his hobbies and for his writings on southern history. He is a noted collector of curios.

COURT TO INVESTIGATE LYNCHING AT AMERICUS

Better Class of Citizens of South Georgia Town Deployed Outrage of Saturday Night.

Americus, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—Resolutions ringing with denunciation of the outrage here Saturday night, deploring the affair and calling upon the public at large to withhold severe criticisms for the act of the lawless mob, have been adopted by several of the Americus churches and will be published tomorrow morning.

Without exception the fecklessness of the mob is condemned generally, as the victim, William Redding, who was shot Police Chief Barrow, was already dead, having been killed by members of the mob when taken from the jail cell. The body was dragged three blocks to the business center of the city, hanged and burned after being shot to pieces.

Judge Z. A. Littlejohn, of the southwestern judicial circuit, may convene a grand jury in special session for thorough investigation of the lynching. He is out of the city tonight, but announces that he will investigate the lynching upon his return tomorrow.

Governor Brown also wired this afternoon to Captain James Port, commanding the Americus Light Infantry, for a detailed written report of the tragedy, which was sent the governor tonight. The military was called out by Governor Brown late Saturday night, but not before Redding had been lynched and the streets cleared of the excited mobmen.

ICE WAR AT MACON GOES INTO COURTS

Macon, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—Macon's ice war got into the courts today when Judge Mathews, in the superior court, granted a temporary injunction to keep the Atlantic Ice and Coal corporation from further reducing rates to consumers in Macon.

The injunction was granted on petition of the Southern Ice and Coal company, which claims that the cuts in rates made by the Atlantic company has made the ice business in Macon unprofitable. It is alleged that the Atlantic company is able to place their rates low here because they can raise them in other places where they have no competition.

Since the ice war began the price to consumers has taken a big drop. Ice at the factory which formerly brought 20 cents per hundred pounds, is now selling for 15 cents. Six-dollar coupon books have been reduced to $4, while there has been a general cut all the way around.

The hearing on the permanent injunction will be held July 25.

YOUNG BOY LEADER OF AUGUSTA-SAVANNAH RUN

Eddie Waters, 18 years old, and the youngest contestant, was the first to check in, arriving at 8:40. He was followed closely by L. R. Hickey, who arrived five minutes later. W. S. Mell came third and A. O. Meyers fourth. The riders were sent off Saturday at noon by Mayor Davant, of Savannah, at one-minute intervals.

Legislature May Vote on Plan at Coming Session—Only Five Counties Affected.

Representative Blackburn, of Fulton county, will introduce in the house a bill prepared by Judge W. R. Hartmond, of Atlanta, authorizing the appointment of a "public defender" in all counties in the state having a city of 20,000 or more inhabitants.

The bill provides that the public defender shall be an experienced lawyer of at least ten years' actual experience in the practice of law, and the appointment is to be made by the judge of the superior court of each county, the compensation coming out of the county funds and being set by the county commissioners.

Only five counties in Georgia would be affected by the bill, as there are only five cities in the state of over 20,000 population—Atlanta, Savannah, Augusta, Macon and Columbus.

"It shall be the duty of said public defender," reads the bill, "to defend all persons charged with crimes or misdemeanors in the superior courts of said counties or other criminal courts except the mayor's or recorder's courts, where such persons are unable to employ counsel to defend them. If the opinion of said public defender, concurred in by the judge of the court, said person is guilty as charged in the indictment or accusation, then he shall not be required to do more than to use his influence to prevent the imposition of an excessive penalty."

"Be it further enacted that the term of office of said public defender shall be four years from the 1st day of January next after the passage of this act, but shall commence immediately upon his appointment if before that time."

Hot Weather Things for Your Table

Frequently at this time of the year one is in a quandary what to provide for the most important meal of the day.

Breakfast and luncheon are problems easily enough solved, but the dinner bill of fare is not so quickly arranged, particularly when there are numerous mouths to feed and the family purse is none too portly.

It is astonishing how helpful a paper like The Constitution can often be—particularly the advertising columns.

Shrewd readers can find many hints of value in The Constitution advertising columns; many things that aid in quickly deciding what "to have for dinner."

And usually these hints afford a pleasant opportunity for the judicious exercise of economy.

The market columns, the news that is related by the grocery and fruit shops—all teem with helpful suggestions.

Just turn to this paper the next time any dinner doubt enters your mind.

This, With Scattered Selling, Sent Cotton Prices Lower

New York June 23—The easier tendency in the cotton market toward the close of last week was in evidence again today owing to continued realizing by old longs or scattered selling, inspired by favorable weather and crop reports. The market was steady but at a net loss of from 4 to 11 points.

The market opened steady at a decline of 4 to 6 points in response to lower cables unfavorable European political news and reports of good weather in the south over Sunday. The initial price reflected a setback of fully 30 points from the high level of last week and this break seemed to attract a good deal of covering by recent sellers as well as some fresh buying for long account. Demand failed to broaden on a rally of 5 or 6 points, however, while there were indications of continued realizing by old longs under which the market soon turned easier selling about 10 to 10 points net lower during the early afternoon. Subsequent fluctuations were more or less irregular but the market moved too much cotton on the rally to hold any improvement and cotton closing prices were within 2 or 3 points of the lowest.

Recent Wall Street buyers were credited with being among the heavy sellers during the day while there was some liquidation of Liverpool straddles and scattered southern sellers. Trade interests were moderate buyers on a scale down while there was considerable covering which probably consisted of the bulk of the demand. Rumors that preliminary returns to the National Gunners association based on the official June bureau pointed to a 1 1/2 percent report of 8 1/2 percent this month suggesting an increase of about 4 percent in the crop outlook during the month probably inspired part of the day's selling.

Private cables from Liverpool at times indicated a continued active spot demand and continued continental realizing. Detailed weather reports showed some rain in the eastern and central sections of the belt, which was not considered unfavorable following a recent dry warm weather and few crop complaints were received from the south.

STOCKS WERE FIRMER, ENTIRE LIST GAINED

Selling of Stocks on Saturday Was Overdone—Bonds Firm.

New York, June 23—It was the opinion of many traders today that Saturday's heavy selling of stocks had been overdone, and that there was no sound reason for such a severe decline as that which brought last week to a close. There was in consequence a tendency toward a recovery which was evident today as soon as the market opened. Attempts to cover revealed a scarcity of stocks. Nervousness of the shorts was increased by the belief that Saturday's break was due principally to a bear rally.

By noon virtually the entire list was higher with gains running up to 3 points in the case of Union Pacific and Canadian Pacific. In the latter half of the day trading grew dull and prices eased off gradually from the top.

Of influence in the improvement was the belief that the interstate commerce commission's ruling in the freight rate case on Saturday had relieved too much emphasis as a bear factor. Although the commission refused to reopen the freight rate case in the petition of the eastern roads for a 3 percent advance the inquiry to be made by the commission will enable the roads to present their case.

President Wilson's message to congress on the currency question had no perceptible influence on the market. This was probably due to the fact that delivery of the message was followed by publication of the currency bill itself. It is in the detailed plan set forth in the bill that Wall Street's chief interest lies.

Further slowing down in general business was indicated by the fact that the report on idle freight cars in this country on Saturday was shown. Bonds were firm. Steel 6s showed some heaviness falling to the recent low level. Total sales par value $1,800,000.

The increase of $178,428,000 in this week is due to the return from principal cities in this week of the returns of change from New York.

BAPTIST PASTORS PUT SMITH'S TEAM IN SHADE

Didn't know there was a baseball game yesterday, did you, Mr. Fan? Well, there was, and a corkin' good one, too! Oh, no, not at Poncey. The old joyousness were closed tight as a miser's wallet, but the Baptist parsons played a game at the waterworks that beat Bill Smith's performances to a forlorn frazzle.
 In view of the fact that in reporting regular baseball games, and this was a regular baseball game, it is customary to announce the score in the beginning of the account, be it here announced that the "Has-beens" defeated the "Never-wuzzers" by a score of 10 to 2.
 The Baptist Ministers' association of Atlanta held their weekly conference and a barbecue and all-day picnic at the waterworks.
Big Change in Afternoon.
 During the conference which took place in the morning the parsons were—just regular parsons, with long black coats and white collars and ties, who called each other "Brother Ridley" and "Brother White" in deep sonorous voices.
 But that afternoon dignity went the way of the wicked. Coats and collars were shucked off and the parsons shouted and sweated like regular fellows.
 Dr. John E. White, pastor of the Second Baptist church, was elected captain of the "Has-beens" and Dr. C. A. Ridley, of the Central Baptist church, took command of the "Never-wuzzers," each pitching for his respective team.
 No sooner had Dr. White stepped in the box and began to wind up than Dr. Ridley came rushing out on the field as mad as if some wicked moving picture man had attempted to open his water on Sunday again.
Beats on Hissler.
 "Look 'y' here, John," he shouted, "what 'y' think 'y'ere puttin' around on us?"
 "I don't yer beffin' about, Caleb?" blandly asked Dr. White.
 "That there ringer! That there ringer!" yelled the parson of the Central Baptist, growing red in the face in his righteous wrath and indignation as he pointed to a layman reaching for Dr. White.
 Dr. White squared himself and placed his hands on his hips.
 "Now, look 'y' here, Caleb," he argued. "Of course, everybody knows he ain't no pitcher. We ain't makin' it no bones about it, but that ain't no reason why he should be looked down on an' be put out or the game, is it? 'Why, Caleb, that ain't even in keepin' with the policy a broad-minded preacher ought ter follow!"
 "I no know, but John, that ain't what I'm kickin' about," protested Dr. Ridley. "Just call him over here."
 "Everything's All Right."
 Dr. White crooked his finger and the contented layman meekly walked out to the pitcher's box. The other seventeen parsons crowded around. A heated argument ensued in tones so low that the spectators could not catch what was being said.
 Presently when the crowd broke up and the players went back to their respective positions Dr. Ridley turned to the umpire and said:
 "Let 'er go, ump."
 "Umps called 'play ball' and fiercely the battle was joined until the fourth inning, when Parson Ridley "beaten" Dr. W. E. Riley, of Minneapolis, upon the head with a fast upshoot, which put a sudden end to the western parson's participation in the game. Dr. Riley, however, was able to preach at the Tabernacle last night.
 The results of the game were as follows:

CUSTOMS DISTRICTS MAPPED FOR SOUTH

Washington, June 23.—Secretary McAdoo, of the treasury department has just settled all disputed questions in the south, over the redistricting of the customs service and is now practically prepared to effectuate the sweeping customs reorganization the country over on July 1.
 Jacksonville will be the headquarters of the Florida district, while some treasury officials believed Tampa should be the headquarters of the district because, it is said, the import business of that port is far greater than Jacksonville, it has just been decided that under the plan of reorganization as set to Congress by former President Taft, it is imperative that Jacksonville be designated as the headquarters of the collector for Florida. To meet the requirements of the service, it is added, however, the collector will spend much of his time at Tampa.
 As finally decided upon, the new southern districts and the ports of entry, contained or created, are as follows, the first port mentioned in each instance being the headquarters of the collector:
 Virginia (except Alexandria county): Norfolk, Newport News, Richmond, Petersburg, Cape Charles City, Chincoteague, Reedville.
 North Carolina: Wilmington, Elizabeth City, Newbern, Manteo, Beaufort.
 South Carolina: Charleston, Georgetown, Beaufort.
 Georgia (except St. Marys river section): Savannah, Brunswick, Dalton, Atlanta.
 Florida (including St. Marys river north bank): Jacksonville, Tampa, Key West, Punta Gorda, Boca Grande, Miami, Pensacola, St. Andrews, St. Augustine, Fernandina, Cedar Keys, Port Inglis, Apalachicola, Carrabelle.
 Mobile (including Alabama and part of Mississippi): Mobile, Birmingham, Gulfport.
 New Orleans (including Louisiana and part of Mississippi): New Orleans and Morgan City.
 This reorganization of the customs service of the entire country is the most drastic ever attempted at one time. It reduces the number of districts from 162 to 49 and abolishes 112 collectors of customs, including a number in the south.

AT THE THEATERS
Keith Vaudeville.
 (At the Forsyth.)
 There is a corking good bill at the Forsyth this week, and if the behavior of the Monday afternoon audience can be considered a criterion for the rest of the week, the actors are all going to be in love with Atlanta before the week is over, for the applause was the most generous of the season.
 From start to finish the acts pleased. The Four Hayasams, Jap acrobats, open the bill, and give it a splendid start. Minnie Allen, a singing comedienne, comes next with a number of catchy songs.
 Dorothy Richmond and her company present a "Midnight Marriage." It tells the story of a man who wakes from a drunk, finds he has married, and, of course, in the end the newlyweds find they knew each other a long time ago, and then "they lived happily ever after" seems to be in order. The sketch is well acted.
