

USING A CUDGEL, WOODROW WILSON TOURS NEW JERSEY

President Returns to State to Fight for the Reforms He Pledged While He Was Governor.

POINTED REFERENCES MADE TO "OLD GANG"

The President Declares He Is Opposed to Anything or Anybody Supported by the Former Bosses of Jersey.

Newark, N. J., May 1.—President Wilson battled hard tonight in two speeches at Newark and Elizabeth to wrest New Jersey politics from what he termed a "resumption of control by Jim Nugent and the old political machine."

Great crowds, frequent interruptions of applause and demonstrations of approval greeted the president when he put on his "war paint," as he described it, and campaigned in earnest to have the power of drainage placed in the hands of non-partisan commissions.

His two speeches were filled with satirical characterization of what he called the "old gang in New Jersey," but he made it clear that his fight is against a local issue, was made for the rank and file of the nation.

"I am sorry," he said at Elizabeth, "that I should have to come back to speak words of criticism, but I must say that it is familiar to have the war paint on in New Jersey again. And it is not singular that we should all ways have to be fighting to get control of our own affairs."

"When it was suggested that I return to New Jersey to speak," said the president, "I was asked if I was not impatient for me to leave affairs which hourly need my attention in Washington. Would I come to my beloved state? It was like being asked to leave the tank and file of the American people."

"I am not of a sanguinary or a bellicose nature, but I got on the train today with a light heart, and I tell you that I have been thinking about to cheat people in getting something for themselves. I am your man called for the battle."

Before Mr. James Nugent of Essex county took charge of the legislature, said President Wilson, he had been begging in the crowd and the president waited moment and continued.

"I don't know for whom those people are, but I hand them over to Jim Nugent, to whom they belong. I don't know private secret about the constitution of the state, but I don't dare do it as long as some one would go home and point him out as a man not commissioned to speak for the people and as the man opposing the process of law which he did not submit to."

The crowd cheered and the president announced that he would be willing to submit the referendum question to a referendum in the next election, but he said that it would not be a general referendum and that the machine would count the votes at the polls to suit themselves, since the processes of the election law was controlled in certain counties by sheriff-in-league with the political machine. These counties he added were the ones in need of the reform most.

"It made all my pulses beat," said the president.

HUMAN SANDBAGS PUT INTO BREACH TO SAVE BIG LEVEE

Quick Work by Farmers and Heroism of Negroes Prevent Great Disaster Above New Orleans.

NEGROES RISK LIVES, BUT SAVE THE LEVEE

The Negroes Literally Threw Themselves Into Crevasse and Held Flood Until the Break Could Be Closed.

New Orleans, May 1.—Quick work by determined farmers and a small bunch of willing negroes who were thrown into an imminent crevasse in the absence of sandbags, today saved another disaster along the turbulent Mississippi river. The dozen negroes who lay in the gap of the Poydras levee holding back the water until sandbags could be filled to take their places, risked their lives, but saved the day when it appeared hopeless to even try to hold the fast crumbling embankment.

The Poydras levee, which is only thirty-one miles south of New Orleans, began to leak suddenly shortly after 10 o'clock this morning. When the tearing was discovered the entire levee in front of the Poydras store, 100 feet wide and extending from the levee to the river bank 300 feet out, had caved in and a small gap in the levee had gone. The alarm was given and within twenty minutes a score of negroes were brought up by a planter who lives a few hundred yards south of the spot. The levee was caving rapidly, and when this small force arrived water about two inches deep was pouring over the embankment.

Negroes as sandbags. It seemed too late to prevent the water from spreading flood waters over a large area of Plaquemine and St. Bernard parishes, entailing damage to plantations totalling several hundred thousand dollars. Two thousand empty sandbags were being brought up from the farmhouse below, but the flow of water across the top of the levee had to be stopped immediately and sandbags and all the labor within ten miles would be useless.

A desperate chance was taken when working like cat filling sacks and a dozen negroes accepted the task of holding it in place. These human sandbags might be taken with the water, but they held on until a row of bags filled with dirt were put in place behind the hoards. Other bags were hurriedly dropped in the gap and soon a hundred more negroes and white men were working like cat filling sacks and carrying the filled bags to the gap.

Checking for Time. Then without warning the stretch of the levee crown where the human sandbags lay a few moments before fell away to a depth of ten feet. The second row of bags held the water back and within an hour two thousand of the dirt-filled sacks were in place and the caving was temporarily arrested. For the time, the levee was saved.

Laborers and supplies were rushed to the scene on special trains, by steamer and barge and on automobile trucks. At noon the construction of the next line of bags began. The endangered embankment, out in the middle road, was started tonight a thousand men were working by the light of torches and bonfires and Engineer John Krier, in charge of the work, expressed the belief that there would be no crevasse.

It seems almost impossible to hold all of the remaining levees in view of the three months continuous strain to which they have been subjected by the high water and with the crest of the flood still to be handled all the way from Red river south but the engineers are working doggedly, with thousands of laborers and are hoping against hope.

Flood Spreads Destruction. Vidalia, La., May 1.—The crevasse in the main line of the Mississippi river levee, near Gibson's Landing, had widened this morning to a half mile, emptying an immense volume of the flood water over the rich farming lands of Iberville and adjoining parishes. A. The engineers in an effort to prevent further crumbling of the broken ends of the gap placed a huge tarpaulin over the north end of the torn line this morning and will attempt the greater task of tying the lower end during the day.

The crevasse water is steadily extending in every direction, destroying hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of growing crops and inundating many towns and villages. It is expected to reach Vidalia tomorrow. Little alarm is felt here, as the flood is not expected to reach a dangerous stage here.

More than 100,000 tons have been distributed in the flooded territory by Lieutenant Holliday, with headquarters at Natchez during the last few days.

LITHONIA MAN MISSING; FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED

Lithonia, Ga., May 1.—(Special)—Mystery surrounds the disappearance of Thomas Garner, a young man age 30, years, who was last seen in the city of April 26. He left Lithonia late Saturday night for his home, which was about three miles east of Lithonia, and was known to have considerable money on his person. His aged parents are very much alarmed about him, and there is strong belief here that he has been foully dealt with. When last seen he wore a blue serge suit, dark colored shirt, light hat and gun metal shoes. He was about 5 feet tall. His front teeth are worn almost to the gums. He is not very fat, but has a feeling of intense. The authorities say they have strong evidence against the negroes.

FRANK AND LEE HELD IN TOWER; OTHERS RELEASED

Grand Jury May Take Up Phagan Investigation Following Conference Between Dorsey, Beavers and Lanford.

MULLINAX AND GANTT ARE GIVEN FREEDOM

Coroner's Jury Will Resume Hearing on Monday, Following the Subpoenaing of 200 Witnesses.

Thomas B. Felder, member of the firm of Felder, Anderson, Dillon & Whitman, has been engaged to assist the solicitor general in the prosecution of the murderer of Mary Phagan. He was retained yesterday by a committee of citizens from the Bellwood community, in which the dead girl lived. The counsel fund has been subscribed by residents of the town.

Mr. Felder said last night to a reporter for The Constitution that within a day or so he would be abundantly supplied with convincing evidence. He already has attacked private investigation, he said, but would not divulge its form. He would not discuss the rumor that the Burns detective agency had been employed.

A special session of the Fulton grand jury is expected to be called to take action in the Mary Phagan mystery. Evidence of this probability was first made yesterday afternoon, when Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey summoned Police Chief Beavers and Detective Chief Lanford to his office in the Thresher building.

Following a short conference, in which the solicitor informed both chiefs that he was willing and ready to co-operate with them, they returned to headquarters. They will consult with Mr. Dorsey again shortly. It will then be determined whether or not the grand jury will take its hand in the case.

The process of eliminating suspects is now being put into operation by the police. J. M. Gantt and Arthur Mullinax, who were arrested immediately after the negro watchman had been taken into custody, were released late Thursday afternoon.

Thirty minutes before they were given freedom, however, Coroner Donoghue issued warrants "remanding to the Tower Lee Frank, the factory superintendent, and Newt Lee, the clerk Thursday morning, when he was under suspicion, and will be detained until further investigation by the coroner's jury.

The inquest, which was postponed until 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, was again adjourned. It was resumed next Monday afternoon at 10 o'clock. It was at the request of Chiefs Beavers and Lanford that this action was taken.

More Than 200 Subpoenaed. The largest number of witnesses ever summoned before an inquest in Georgia was subpoenaed by Coroner Donoghue Thursday morning. It was every employee of the National Pencil factory to give testimony at the hearing. More than 200 men, women and girls came to police headquarters at 4 o'clock. They were given a body after which all were excused until the Monday session.

Although it was thought at first that they had disclosed a clue which

Two. would give them a new lead upon which to turn their investigation, the detectives say they attach but little significance to a letter addressed to "Mary Phagan," which was brought to them yesterday morning by a street car conductor.

Homes To Be Thrown Open To Presbyterian Delegates

Following the enthusiastic meeting of a number of Atlanta residents, the women who were called together Wednesday and asked to co-operate with the entertainment committee of the forthcoming Presbyterian conference, the various committees appointed were busy yesterday adding to the list of homes for the several hundred delegates still unprovided for.

All the hotels and the boarding houses in the city have been reserved to their utmost capacity. All the Presbyterian homes have been canvassed and are filled, and an appeal has been made to Atlanta citizenship at large to assist in the work of providing homes. It is not merely a matter of entertaining delegates to a national conference, but it is a test of Atlanta's civic pride and her real hospitality.

held by the coroner of said county. (Signed) PAUL DONOHOO, Coroner. Given under my hand and official signature, this first day of May, 1913.

Dorsey Explains Action. My only reason for calling Chief Beavers and myself to my office to conference this morning was to ascertain what progress they had made in the Phagan case, and to see if I could assist them in any way. The idea that I brought them to my office regarding them for the lack of progress in the matter is absurd. I have no authority to take such an action.

The foregoing statement was made by Solicitor General Hugo M. Dorsey immediately after a conference held in his private office behind locked doors, between him and the authorities, yesterday.

Although Mr. Dorsey did not confirm a rumor to the effect that the conference will result in the state taking the case in its own hands, should not immediate and telling results be shown by the police department in evidence because of the renewed activity that has been shown in the investigation.

A short while after the conference the sixth arrest in the case was made. Again, a negro sweeper, employed at the factory, was taken into custody. His arrest came as the direct result of detectives learning that he had been washing clothes at the factory.

The sweeper's explanation of this was satisfactory; however, little importance is attached to the affair. He declared that he had been ordered to appear at the inquest, and that he had been obliged to wash the shirt, as it was soiled and he had no clean one to wear.

Officials called in conference. Relations to the conference with Solicitor Dorsey, Chief Beavers would have nothing to say last night. It has been his inexorable attitude throughout the entire investigation to say nothing. He will give no information whatever, and it is impossible to ascertain through him what progress the police have made.

Chief Lanford, however, told a reporter for the Constitution that he and the police chief had been called to the solicitor general's office to give Dorsey their views of the situation so that he could gain an insight into the progress that had thus far been made.

He stated his opinion that the newspaper were publishing too much of the sensational case, and that, by some means or other, they were daily gaining information in the face of evidence we had gathered. We were assured of the support and co-operation of his office and of the grand jury. A special session, he said, would be called if necessary, and jury should take action in the investigation.

The chief also told that he and Chief Beavers would soon hold another conference with the solicitor, and that it would then be determined whether or not the grand jury should take action in the investigation.

It required hardly five minutes for the two prisoners to be transferred from police headquarters to the Tower.

Transferred in Autos. They were put in automobiles, Beavers in charge of one and Black and Ross in charge of the other. The trip was made to the Tower in less than thirty seconds.

Frank, who was first to arrive, looked through the jail door. The negro walked across the sidewalk, stopping before the doorway and looking for the newspaper camera.

Frank and the watchman signed the committee papers and were released on the jail property. They had hardly been assigned to their new prison, when Gent and Mullins were released from headquarters. All day, the mother and sister of the latter haunted the station, where there was a row of women who emerged from his cell. The mother threw her arms about his neck and wept hysterically.

Donhardt and Mullins left immediately for prison. They will remain in their respective homes. Coroner Donohoo said late in the afternoon that his plan for summon-

LOUISIANA BOLTS ON SUGAR TARIFF

Republicans Applaud, But the Schedule Is Sustained. Fight on "Market Basket" Reductions Proves Vain.

Washington, May 1.—All efforts of the opposition to disturb the "market basket" reductions in the democratic tariff bill failed in the house today, despite the fact that republican orators sounded warnings of ruined industries, enforced idleness and empty cupboards to follow the enactment of the Underwood bill.

Still championing the bill as the greatest that ever has been written for the benefit of the people of the country, the democrats were deaf to the pleas of representatives of the beet and cane sugar constituencies against free sugar in three years; unmoved by the charge that they legislated in the hands of the beet trust the placing duties on live stock while free listing their products; determined to rush the passage of the bill at the earliest possible moment.

Louisiana Democrats Bolt. The first break from the solid front of the majority came when Louisiana democrats led by Representative Broussard, appealed to republican leader Mann for a share of time in which to speak against the sugar schedule, and when Representative Broussard, a New York democrat, uttered a prediction that the senate would strike out the ways and means committee's ten per cent. rates on live stock.

Representative Sloan, of Nebraska, introduced an amendment to increase the rate on cattle from ten to fifteen per cent. after a 25 per cent. amendment by Fordney, of Michigan, had been rejected. It is a measure aimed at the belief that the ways and means committee had kept the platform pledge to the people when they had reduced live stock rates to ten per cent. but he placed live stock on the free list along with meats.

"I believe and hope," said Mr. Kinkead, "that when it comes back to us from the senate the duty will be cut off and that every democrat on this floor will support it."

This aroused prolonged applause from the republicans, who earlier were stirred to enthusiastic cheers when Mr. Broussard's amendment was proposed by his party would rebound only to the benefit of the sugar trust.

The last vote on sugar came on an amendment offered by Moriarty, of New York, to strike out the provision placing sugar on the free list in three years. It was lost 88 to 136.

Hardwick on Cane Growers. Representative Hardwick, of Georgia, defended the rates for the majority, describing America's sugar industry as of the "hot house" variety, unable to stand on its own feet, and exacting excessive taxes from the people to support it.

"Averring that under the circumstances the cane sugar industry of Louisiana could not properly survive, he urged the senate to urge the Louisiana people to abandon sugar growing and plant other crops on their rich soil. He asserted that if the Louisiana planters would plant sugarcane to start on their own feet, the stalks would grow so high in Louisiana the cost of producing sugar, he argued, was 3 3/4 cents a pound, nearly double the cost of sugar in Porto Rico and Hawaii, while the Philippines, he asserted, when modern machinery is procured and better transportation afforded, can produce all the sugar for the United States at a cost less than that furnished today. The planters of Louisiana, he said, had invested in sugar only $129,000,000 and would compel the American people to pay for it that under no surplus, to support the industry. "It is not fair," said Mr. Hardwick, "it is unjust; it is undemocratic."

Representative Mann opposed the rates, and Representative Underwood closed the debate by saying that he does not know, said Mr. Mann, "that the price of sugar in this country would be 100 to 200 per cent higher than it is, it is not a question of sugar support in this country and yet you intend to strike down this industry in the United States."

"Make the most of your opportunity; the country is ready to say your tariff legislation is all right, but the only thing the public have will be the last opportunity you will have."

Representative Underwood analyzed the sugar rates in the proposed bill, describe the Louisiana cane industry as "a hot house" and asserted that the rate in the bill would not affect the beet sugar industry. "Beet sugar in this country can be produced on an equality with European rivals with no possibility of competition under a reasonable zone," he said. "What the western beet sugar people seek is to tax the American people in order to bring their beet sugar to the Atlantic seaboard and drive out all competition. It is simply a question of freight rates."

The Japanese question was touched upon by the debate on the wood schedule, several members predicting that reductions on shingles and other wood products would turn the lumber camps of the west into Oriental labor camps. Representative Folger, progressive, of Washington, alluded to the democrats as "Hindu-Chinese-Japanese lovers," and told them, "Your democratic secretary of state is coming back from Japan with a lot of facts about Oriental labor that he does not know."

The agricultural schedule precluded prolonged discussion, though Mr. Underwood held a debate on successive paragraphs. Amendments were offered to increase the rates on cattle, sheep, hogs, on wheat, oats and other grains and nearly every other item in the bill, but all were rejected.

On this schedule the session again went far into the night, though the opposition gave evidence of having largely spent its force.

Fourteen amendments that republican leaders would not undertake to delay the passage of the bill much longer. Representative Moore, of Pennsylvania, who has been active in offering minority amendments, voted today. He said the republicans would not attempt to filibuster, and that they had been "hammering away at the Underwood bill for four days without making a single amendment. The fact that many who claim their business is affected are asking the republicans to hasten matters in order that they may readjust their affairs," he said to be-

WORLD PEACE NEAR, ASSERTS CARNEGIE

Ironmaster Addresses Fourth American Peace Congress. He Says Wilson Will Bring About Abolition of War.

St. Louis, May 1.—The fourth American peace congress began a three days session here this morning with delegates present from all parts of the country.

The chief address of the morning was delivered by Andrew Carnegie.

Mr. Carnegie told why he believed the nations soon would reach the goal of peace, and by what road they would travel. He described the cost of war and war-like preparation, and explained his confidence that the United States never need fear foreign invasion. President Wilson and his administration he predicted would gain immortal glory by dealing successfully with the question of world peace.

The goal, said Mr. Carnegie, is almost attained. "If a man wished to select the safest life possible, the one least from all danger of violent death, let him enter our army and navy. There is not a workman attending machinery or erecting buildings, nor a railway train employee or a policeman—the soldier of civilization, whose duty is never to attack but always to protect—not one but runs greater risk of sudden injury or death than the soldier or marine of our country does today. There is little danger of any of these ever leaving to parade."

Wilson Will Accomplish This. "Recently world peace was upon the eve of victory. A treaty of peace was signed by Britain, France and our government which would have prevented the outbreak of the war. It was because Germany would have joined us, as its ambassador intimated, that this treaty failed to receive the support of the nations. It need not be here dwelt upon. Suffice to say the fault was not altogether that of the present administration, but it was a failure to be worse than a crime. Well, some one blundered. Looking backward, the error is now clearly seen, and we venture to predict that the present administration will deal successfully with this vital question.

"The sole remaining task accomplished, it will rank highest of all services ever performed by man to the world, and the president will take rank above all men as the greatest world benefactor who has ever lived; because he will have laid the axe to the root of the tree and banished man-killing from the civilized world. He will have done by any of all reformers pales into insignificance compared with the banishment of this appalling crime of crimes. The nations have stood and will stand absolutely for international peace under the reign of law."

How About Japan? While Mr. Carnegie was speaking, some one in the audience interrupted with "How about Japan?"

"Well," replied Mr. Carnegie, "Japan has nineteen battleships and we have three. The questioner admitted this, but said: 'Right now we are in mortal terror because they will have laid the axe to the root of the tree and banished man-killing from the civilized world. He will have done by any of all reformers pales into insignificance compared with the banishment of this appalling crime of crimes. The nations have stood and will stand absolutely for international peace under the reign of law.'

Practically the entire audience stood up. Mr. Carnegie then turned to his questioner, saying: "Nobody is in mortal terror but you."

Benjamin F. Trueblood, secretary of the American Peace Society, spoke on the Present Demands of the Peace Movement. Mr. Trueblood said that when the present administration at Washington takes up arbitration treaties, every one who is not afraid of Japan stand up," he said.

SHEEP FOR THE BLUE RIDGE

Increase in the nation-wide demand for mutton as a substitute for beef and pork opens up a tremendous opportunity for the southern Blue Ridge...

No section is more fitted to profit by these combined conditions than is the southern Blue Ridge. From Georgia on up through Virginia the mountainous territory has every qualification for sheep-raising on a gigantic scale...

An additional argument for the revival of the sheep industry in this region is that prices for beef and pork are infallibly destined to go higher and not lower with time. The vast ranches of the west, where it once was profitable to raise and graze huge herds...

The development of the sheep industry offers itself as a natural and at least a partial solution of this problem of the masses. Much lower in price than beef, as nourishing and freer from disease, the nation will turn to it more and more in the future...

STATE RIGHTS THEN AND NOW

A unique and interesting contribution to the California-Japan controversy is the communication, published elsewhere, in which Professor Joseph T. Derry intimates that California is now virtually repudiating the doctrine of federal sovereignty...

Professor Derry indicates that California's action with regard to anti-alien legislation is based upon supremacy of state over nation, in other words a flat assertion of the extreme of the old state rights doctrine. Yet he declares that not the most ultra antebellum advocate of this doctrine would have suggested that the state had the right to remain in the union and take action calculated to embarrass the other states. The antebellum apostles of state rights believed the state was sovereign. But they also believed that when disagreement with the nation was irrevocable, the state should, and could, leave the nation, set up a separate republic and absorb the nation from responsibility in the premises.

But California is evidently advancing the theory that it may proceed independently of the other states, and then look to the union to get it out of any trouble that it may bring about.

The former teacher of the president, and now the indorser of his course in an important international controversy, opens up an interesting discussion.

KEEP AN OPEN MIND

Notwithstanding all that has happened since the finding of the murdered body of Mary Phagan, nothing has yet been developed that in any way fixes the crime on any individual.

Several arrests have been made and in the excitement incident to the affair suspicion has been directed from one person to another as the kaleidoscope has turned on the investigation.

All of which goes to show that the public is often constrained to reach hasty and frequently unwarranted conclusions. It is certain that all of the parties against whom suspicion has, in one way or another, been directed cannot be guilty; under the evidence yet developed none of them can be said to be guilty of the atrocious crime.

Sooner or later the "murder will out," but the verdict must come in an orderly and a legal way, and until something more definite develops than has yet been ascertained it is the duty of the public to keep an open mind.

Nothing can be more unjust nor more repugnant to the popular sense of justice than to convict even by hearsay an innocent man.

The Constitution, therefore, takes this occasion to call upon the public to suspend judgment and not to endeavor to convict, even by indirection, any one who has not had the full and fair showing guaranteed by the constitution of the state and of the United States, not to speak of the all-pervading guarantee that the public's sense of justice should throw around any man who, by law, is presumed to be innocent until he is proven to be guilty.

THE CHILD AND THE FLY

The war against the typhoid-fly is apt to be given perceptible impetus by the action of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce in offering to the school children a reward of $100 for the best essay on "The Prevention of the Breeding of the Fly."

The chamber of commerce is, in this respect, employing fundamental weapons in its fight for the suppression of disease. No campaign of long duration, such as the one against the fly, can be successful without the thorough co-operation of the children of the city, and co-operation is impossible unless the child is properly educated in the perils of the fly and how to avert them.

The original cry of "swat the fly!" has been enlarged to "break up the breeding places of the fly." Killing individual flies is, of course, of great aid in the battle for health. But the more effectual plan is to deprive the fly of his breeding and feeding places. Close up these against him and the problem speedily solves itself.

The prize contest inaugurated by the chamber of commerce is calculated to set to work every child in the city in the gleanings of information as to how flies breed and the damage they do and are capable of doing. Children cannot learn these facts without becoming active apostles of clean and sanitary premises. It would be an excellent plan if the methods selected by Atlanta's commercial organization were employed generally throughout the state.

UNWRITTEN LAW INDICTED.

Judge L. S. Roan is due the gratitude of every thoughtful citizen for his recent plain utterances in condemnation of the so-called "unwritten law." At the conclusion of a case in his court in which that plea had been the main defense he declared that "there is no unwritten law," and commended the jury for ignoring it. He told the prisoner that he had been misguided in assuming to usurp the functions of justice as executioner, and that if more jurymen did their duty fewer men would let their passions get the better of them.

It is full time that some such straightforward words were spoken. Carried to the logical conclusion, universal application of the "unwritten law" means no law at all, and, ultimately, anarchy. Its chief menace is that each man with a real or fancied grievance is given the right to construe law according to his own vindictive impulses. Under such a regime no life is safe. The jurymen who are easily tolerant of this sort of extra-legal justice may himself at any unexpected crisis become the victim of it.

Not only are the jurymen in this particular case to be thanked, but also the judge. If more of the men who sit on our tribunals would speak as candidly as Judge Roan society will have fewer murders with which to contend.

JUST from GEORGIA

Love's Last Kiss. I. Love, from the strife, Went with sweet memories of a dream of life. Facing God's future—beautiful and fair, His sweetheart's kisses on his golden hair.

Life's storms were past: A dream was Love's—all radiant to the last; Heaven not too high and hell with no despair. Since her dear lips had touched his golden hair.

Proverbs of the Highway. Saddest thing in life is coming back to the place where you were happy and didn't know it.

You are a millionaire or Love if the arms of a little child are around you after the day's toil.

The real Happy Land is not a day's journey from the home-valleys where the violets dream.

They Hear Caruso Sing.

Billville didn't get a show at opera—you bet. But now that they've departed we're hearing it yet; We're getting just 'bout all the joys the opera can bring. For on the Billville funnygraph we hear Caruso sing.

That voice of his goes just the same—it's soaring to the sky. An' for the Billville citizens he makes the music fly; Though they're callin' us provincial, you bet we're in the swing. Since on the Billville funnygraph we hear Caruso sing.

Tain't like the songs of Zion, or old "Amazing" Grace. But when we hear him singin' the light shines in each face; The words are far beyond us, but the soul is takin' wing. To higher, happier stations when we hear Caruso sing.

So, when he's gone so far away from where the city shines His voice comes down, with Love to stray, 'way out here, in the pines; An' so we hear Love callin' an' still to Love we cling. When on the funnygraph of life we hear Caruso sing.

Where He'll Lose Out. "I dunno what on earth that old office-seeker will do when they bring the tariff down," said the Old Philosopher, "for he's been running on it ever since we can remember, and when it is adjusted to suit the people he won't have a platform to stand on!"

On the Wait. Happiness is waiting. Ever, on the way. For the fellow who is willing To tell him time of day.

Two Versions. Here are two versions of a day off in the fields. The first is by the poet of The Milwaukee Sentinel; the last by Judd Mortimer Lewis, of The Houston Post:

"I rested in a field today. About me flowers were springing; I rested in a field today. The mud was wet and clinging; I rested in a field today. The treetops all were rocking; I rested in a field today. And ants crawled up my stocking."

"I rested in a field today. Above me clouds were drifting; I rested in a field today. About me blooms were lifting; I rested in a field today. About me bugs were questing; I rested in a field today. Wife says I'm always resting."

Only trouble about the above is that there's no such thing as a poet "resting" in a field. Every time the farmers catch 'em they are put to plowing.

Gossip Caught in Corridors Of the National Capitol

Washington, May 1.—(Special).—Senator Works, of California, wants to uplift the press. As pointing the way, he has introduced a bill to prohibit any newspaper published in the District of Columbia from giving the details of any crime or accident.

While the Works bill, if it should become a law, would shroud in secrecy many of the harrowing details of crimes which mark the daily march of human progress, it is not at all certain that it would mean a lessening of crime.

The daily newspaper is only the daily record of events which tomorrow becomes permanent history. Naturally, the unusual and the exceptional incidents of the day's happenings are featured, though at intervals a condensed record of advancement in business, in learning, in science and in art is set before the public.

As the "mirror of the human nature," the newspaper must fill its pages with the requirements of wise conventions and the demands of decency. Senator Works professes to believe that the newspaper man revels in this phase of his work, and he "shudders to think" of the school of crime and debauchery in which young men are being brought up and with the intimate details of which they must become familiar.

But, who is it that demands this information? He says the publishers of newspapers would ask themselves the question. Rather, it seems to me, the public which looks on the papers giving the fullest and most graphic accounts of wrecks, and fires, and accidents; that exhausts the editions of yellow journals giving the salacious details of divorces and murder trials and crimes of violence, should ask themselves who is responsible.

Another frequent complaint against the newspaper is that it "gets its facts all wrong." Unless the ubiquitous reporter happens to be right on the spot, he must gather his information from the witnesses and bystanders. Yet the man who looks on, without seeing, who hears a sermon and afterwards can't remember the text; who sees a play and for the life of him cannot recall the names of the characters, the plot or the lines that appeal to him; who is present at an accident but doesn't notice the number of the street car or auto, the precise time it happens, or the appearance of those involved, is amazed that a newspaper gets an occasional detail wrong.

A complimentary notice about a friend is "just newspaper talk," but a fulsome eulogy of himself or his family is evidence of good sound judgment, and makes a "splendid article."

The recital of another's misfortunes makes interesting reading; that of his own is an infernal outrage and an invasion of his private rights. Yet, next to uplifting the stage, the moralists find their greatest field for activity in "uplifting the press."

Good Christian people who urge their children to read indiscriminately the books of the Bible, with its tragic record of human crime and misery, as well as its glorious record of regeneration and salvation; who admire the works of Shakespeare without realizing that the boldness and daring and unrefined imagination of parts of those works would bring an author in this conventional age under the taboo; who revel in the rhythm of Swinburne and the raptures of Strauss, condemn as a demoralizing force in the community the daily press.

A common criticism by members of the bar, sometimes uttered as an apology, is that newspaper men must write what they are paid to write. They make this statement with greatunction, and with apparently no thought of its bad taste. Yet the same honorable jurist will accept a large retainer to take case long line hopeless. He says to himself the courts might alter their precedents, and that his client's case may have a different question from those already decided.

The last person in the world to criticize a newspaper man for writing what he is paid to write is the man who advocates that view of the law which is the most profitable and whose largest fees come from advice as to how to evade the law. I don't like to hear lawyers reflect on newspaper writers, or make impenetrable excuses for them.

He Finds Some Good. Senator Works finds some good in the newspapers, however, for he says: "The newspaper is a great and powerful influence in a free country like ours, where the press is free and untrammelled. That influence may work for good or evil. The publisher of a newspaper takes upon himself responsibilities of the highest order. He may make his publication an influence and support for the very best in public and private life. It finds its way into the homes of people and may be an inspiration and uplift that can do more than almost any other force to purify thought, elevate manhood and womanhood, direct the steps of the young to a higher standard of purity and righteousness, elevate citizenship, inspire young and old to a better understanding of the obligations of citizenship in a free republic like ours, and a higher and more unselfish patriotism. Such should be the mission of every publication."

Mr. Works would have the front page of a newspaper read like this: "Sensational Murder in Brown's Hotel.—John Blank, the wealthy retired diamond merchant, was killed as he slept. Dashing widow is being sought by the police. (For further details, call up our obliging city editor.)"

Or a railroad wreck might be reported thus: "On a high embankment just beyond Bad Man's Crossing the palatial flyer of the Sundown railroad left the track, killing eight and wounding a score of persons. The injured are—(For information as to the extent of the injuries, call up the hospital.)"

A robbery might be presented in this shape and set by the censor: "Between sundown of Saturday and 7 o'clock on Monday, thieves entered the jewelry establishment of Brooks & Brooks and rifled their safe, making a haul worth $40,000. (Details of the crime cannot be given here for fear of its demoralizing effect.)"

In one respect, Senator Works is quite right. The newspaper man who writes the story of crime would probably become inoculated with the poisonous virus before the man who reads it is affected. If the publication of news of this character is really harmful, it is consoling that the senator "shudders" when he thinks about it.

INTERESTING SEQUEL TO THE OLD WAR BIBLE

(From The Elmira, N. Y., Star-Gazette.) Fred C. Casady is the versatile correspondent of The Star-Gazette over North Cheamus way. He is versatile, because when his copy reaches the paper, no one can tell on the start-off where the story is going to land. Mr. Casady's writings are enjoyable because of their quaintness and deep humor. If he can lay hold of some ancient relic, he is in his glory. For these his imagination has full swing. He is as full of reminiscence as a dictionary is full of words, and his long-time residence in official Washington furnishes him abundant material for elaboration of wonderful philosophies. When he gets all of it out of his system he then begins to talk about things personal to North Cheamus. If you haven't read the North Cheamus column which appears in The Star-Gazette once a week, just because you have a notion you are not interested in things over the hill, don't "pass it up" again. If you want quaintness, Fred Casady will interest you. However, this is merely introductory.

Mr. Casady has just been the recipient of the novel watch fob. It is a minnie bullet, as large as an acorn, handsomely mounted, and inscribed. Herewith is the history of the affair: A. B. Houston, of Decatur, Ga., is secretary and treasurer of the Decatur Electric Light, Power and Water company. He is a son of the late Major Washington J. Houston, confederate veteran who traced the route for the return of the famous Atlanta Institute Bible to Miss Amanda Mayson, sister of the Rev. James E. Mayson, founder of the seminary, which was burned during Sherman's march to the sea. Miss Mayson was one of the donors of the Bible, of the class of 1860, who gave it to the seminary. The Bible was sent in 1864 to Dr. Tracy Beadle, of Elmira, to hold for Paul Collison, who picked it up near the ruins of the seminary, among some other things evidently cast out of a window hurriedly. COL. HUFF WILL APPEAL
JUDGE SPEER'S DECISION

No End in Sight for Litigation Which Has Been Pending Fourteen Years.

Macon, Ga., May 1.—(Special.)—Judge Speer, in the United States district court, today rendered his decision in the Huff litigation, which has been pending for fourteen years, but the end is not yet in sight, as notice of appeal by Col. W. A. Huff as well as by some of the creditors has already been given.

The decree of the court provides for the payment of all of the creditors with interest, awards Alexander Proudfoot $3,000 for his services as former attorney for the defendant, orders the intervening creditors to pay the extra compensation of the attorneys for the original complainants, and gives Edison Huff and Mrs. Mattie Huff Jennings, two of Colonel Huff's children, each a one-seventh interest in the sale of certain property. The decree awarded a sum of $237,422, not including the costs. The total fund in the hands of the court amounts to $94,000.

Colonel Huff's chief complaint is the awarding of the $3,000 to A. Proudfoot, while the creditors are objecting to having to pay $237,422 to the attorneys who filed the original bill. It was first decreed by Judge Speer that this fee should come out of the bankrupt's estate, but the court of appeals reversed this, and now Judge Speer has decreed that the creditors themselves shall pay the money.

There is now remaining of the Huff estate some land in South Macon, known as the Armory property. It is said that if the proceedings were settled up now Colonel Huff would have a surplus for his estate, but if the litigation is extended the court costs and interest will eat up the balance.

Rays of New Arc Light
Shine Out So Brilliantly
That Firemen Are Called

The brightness of a new Arc light, combined with the natural nervousness of the fair sex, brought two fire engine companies speeding to Hill and Hunter streets, and created a mild panic at the police station about 8 o'clock last night.

A short time ago, some small boys playing with the lamp on the corner, Wednesday it was replaced with a new one.

The new lamp shown with unusual brilliancy, and when one of the women pedestrians nearby looked out of the window and saw it for the first time, she was frightened by the glare.

Running to the telephone, she called excitedly for the fire department and informed the operator that "there was an awful fire somewhere near 313 East Hunter street."

Few minutes later the entire vicinity swarmed with policemen, firemen and fire fighting apparatus. Someone finally explained the cause of the alarm, but it was impossible to find the name of the well-meaning but excitable person who turned it in.

"THE TRIUMPH OF DAVID"
AT THE FIRST BAPTIST

One of the most beautiful of Dudley Buck's sacred cantatas, "The Triumph of David," will be sung under the direction of J. P. O'Donnelly at the First Baptist church on Sunday evening, May 4, at 8 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to the public. The contents of the cantata are as follows:

- "The Camp at Mount Gilboa"—Female chorus.
  - "War Song of Israelites"—Male chorus.
  - "In the Night Shall My Song Be of Him"—Soprano solo.
  - "At the Dawn"—Chorus.
  - "How Long Will Thou Forget Me, Lord?"—Tenor solo.
  - "Saul's Presentiment"—Female chorus and baritone solo.
  - "The Witch of Endor"—Alto solo.
  - "Saul and the Witch"—Baritone and alto.
  - "The Death of Saul"—Chorus.
  - "After the Battle"—Tenor solo and female chorus.
  - "The Coronation at Hebron"—Chorus.
- The soloists will be: Mrs. Peyton H. Todd, soprano; Mrs. James R. Whitman, alto; Mr. Solon Trueman Miller, tenor; Mr. H. R. Bates, baritone. A large chorus will assist.

Said to Be Hawthorne,
Likes Federal Prison

If the writing of Register No. 4425, said to be Julian Hawthorne, in the May issue of "Good Words," the publication of the prisoners at the Atlanta federal penitentiary, may be taken as fair evidence, Mr. Hawthorne is finding his sojourn at the prison interesting and profitable, not to say pleasant.

Mr. Hawthorne is by profession a writer and the virile productions of his pen show him to be a man of no mean observation. That he finds ample material upon which to write at the federal prison is evidenced by the large number of excellent articles he has contributed to the current issue of "Good Words."

As to what Mr. Hawthorne thinks of his sojourn at the federal prison, the following paragraph from "Good Words" speaks for itself:

"It is worth while to have stood on the hard pan and bottom of things; for not only is it a wholesome experience which many miss, but we shall have only ourselves to blame if every subsequent step we take is not an upward one. William Stead, the famous English journalist, who fittingly closed a worthy life by heroically bidding farewell to it on the deck of the Titanic, said that a man who has not been in jail could not know what life was. Some of us might think it a knowledge that we might willingly forego; but Stead's saying was true (he was in jail himself for a year or two) and since we have been accorded the privilege, we may as well make the best of it."

BLACK ELUDING POSSE.

Hounds Trail Slayer Into the Coosawhatchie Swamp.

Allendale, S. C., May 1.—After outwitting and eluding bands of armed men and bloodhounds all day, firing on one party which attempted to stop him in a public road about 2 o'clock morning and escaping, being once driven beyond the state border into Georgia and later being forced to cross back into South Carolina, Richard Henry Austin, the negro who killed two men and wounded four in Hampton county last night, was pushed back by his pursuers into Coosawhatchie swamp, not a great distance from Burton, late this afternoon and early tonight the dogs have taken the trail and the negro is believed to have been located at 8 o'clock tonight. At that time was the general opinion of the 200-odd men in the party that he would soon be captured.

Whenever and however Austin is taken, in the event he should be captured, there is no question now what the disposition will be. Nothing could prevent a lynching, and from the temperament of the crowd it is not to be unexpected that fire will play its part.

One small posse of eight men trailed the negro toward the Savannah river swamp and about 2 o'clock this afternoon 5 miles from the Savannah river they left their automobile on account of a puncture and were walking along the roadway, when their attention was attracted by some one running through the undergrowth in the woods. They stopped to one side of the road and as Austin came out ordered him to stop. Instead he paused but a moment, opened fire on the posse and turned back into the woods. The fire was returned, and while blood on the ground indicated that Austin had been hit, he was not seriously wounded.

DOES HUMAN SLAVERY EXIST IN PHILIPPINES?

Washington, May 1.—Whether human slavery exists in the Philippines is a question asked today by the senate of Secretary Garrison.

Senator Borah read a letter from Secretary Dan C. Worcester, of the Philippine government, saying slavery did exist in Manila, but that the Philippine assembly had declined to pass remedial legislation.

CARNEGIE IS ATTACKED BY THE LABOR UNIONS

Alleged He Is Financing British Peace Mission to the United States.

London, May 1.—An extremely hostile attitude toward the British delegation now on the voyage to the United States to arrange for the Anglo-American peace centenary, has been taken by a section of British workmen. At their head is Ben Tillett, secretary of the Dock Workers' Union. An appeal, sent by cable on their behalf today, to Samuel Gompers, is as follows:

"British workers appeal to the American trades unions not to mask the Carnegie peace delegates' mission to America. They hope America will not support the suggestion that she should assist England in making war against Germany."

"BEN TILLET."

The subject was brought up by Ben Tillett at a labor meeting in Hyde park this afternoon. He uttered strong invectives against Lord Wearmouth and other members of the peace mission to the United States, as well as against Andrew Carnegie. These met with frantic approbation. He said:

"There never was a more mischievous or corrupt mission sent from this country. It is financed by Carnegie gold, which comes from the sanguinary hands of a man who crucified labor at Homestead. The whole population of the British Isles is anti-German, but I stand up for my German comrades and I demand that the comrades of our movement shall resist the selfish conspiracy of these so-called patriots—the Krupp of Germany and the battleship makers of this country—to foment war and all the horrors which arise from the blood-lust of capitalists."

Wilson Shows Clemency.

Washington, May 1.—D. F. Van Horn, father of a family of dependent children, who received what is now declared to have been an excessive sentence for removing distilled spirits without paying the federal tax, was ordered released today by President Wilson. The prisoner, convicted at Statesville, N. C., was sentenced to two years and to pay a fine of $500. He has served a year and paid the fine. The trial judge said he imposed two years under the belief that Van Horn would not be able to pay a fine.

Life Insurance Company

OF ATLANTA, GEORGIA

Is not the Old Cosmopolitan which failed, but the new company, with new charter, new officers, new ideals and new cash, which bought the assets and insurance of the old company at public sale, and added to these assets enough additional capital to make the new company an absolutely sound financial institution.

Upon verification and approval by the Insurance Department of the State of Georgia, of its detailed statement of assets and liabilities, The Cosmopolitan Life Insurance Company, of Atlanta, has been granted license of date May 1, 1913, and has already actively entered the field.

Following is a brief summary of the statement of the condition of The Cosmopolitan Life Insurance Company, upon which the Insurance Commissioner of Georgia issued the Company its license:

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Gross Assets	$499,129
Gross Liabilities (Exclusive of Capital and Surplus)	130,554
Capital and Surplus	$260,036
Undivided Profits	108,539
Net Assets	$368,575

NOTE—The above statement does not include stock notes, amounting to $137,478.62, and accrued interest, which were acquired in the purchase of the assets of the old Cosmopolitan Life Insurance Company, since the exact value of same has not been determined. The company will unquestionably realize a large amount from these notes, and the amount thus obtained will increase the undivided profits. Neither does the above include the value of approximately Two Million Dollars of insurance acquired from the old company, which is free from agency charges of any kind.

Attention is called to the fact that this company begins business with $368,575.70 of actual available assets, of which $260,036 is capital and surplus, subscribed at two for one, or $100 surplus to each $100 capital stock; and $108,539.70 is undivided profits acquired from the purchase of the assets of the old company. With other assets not included in the foregoing, but explained above, THIS COMPANY ACTUALLY BEGINS BUSINESS WITH ITS STOCK WORTH MORE THAN THREE FOR ONE ON ITS BOOKS. The capital stock of this company was sold without one penny of charge against it, and every dollar received from its sale has gone directly into its treasury.

The officers of The Cosmopolitan Life Insurance Co., through whom it will command public confidence, are:

JAMES O. WYNN, President.	W. L. POMEROY, Secretary.
M. M. RILEY, Treasurer.	MALCOLM N. FLEMING, Asst. Sec.-Treas.
W. S. ELKIN, M. D., Medical Director.	LITTLE &amp; POWELL, General Counsel.

Executive Committee—JAS. O. WYNN, J. K. ORR, W. L. PEEL, A. G. POWELL and PAUL B. TRAMMELL.

Finance Committee—W. L. PEEL, JOHN W. GRANT, W. J. BLALOCK, F. S. ELLIS and M. M. RILEY.

Nashville Tenn.—I was passing through the critical stage of life when Mrs. Kate E. Weaver of 1715 Cockhill Street, this city, and for three years and nine months, to the day, I was in a serious condition.

My brother came from Dallas Texas to see me thinking I was going to die. But he gave me the money to buy six bottles of Cardui, the woman's tonic and I began to improve with the second bottle.

Since getting well I have been to see my brother in Dallas. He talked to several of my lady friends and now they are taking Cardui—my daughter for one, and it is helping her. She is 27 years old, and I am nearly 51.

I certainly do not know how to praise Cardui high enough. You may publish this letter if you wish, for Cardui certainly saved my life and I cannot say too much for it.

I shall always recommend your wonderful medicine. Cardui is good for young and old. It costs but little to try, and may mean so much to you.

AMERICAN RECOGNITION FOR CHINESE REPUBLIC

It Will Be Formally Extended Today—Chinese Assembly Is Organized.

Peking, May 1.—The United States will recognize the republic of China tomorrow. The Chinese government will testify to its appreciation by an elaborate reception and luncheon to the legation staff at the winter palace.

Washington, May 1.—Before Secretary Bryan left Washington for California he announced that Charge Williams, at Peking, had been instructed to extend formal recognition to the new republic of China as soon as the constituent assembly had been properly organized in all its branches and provision made for the election of administrative officers.

At that time it was expected that these preliminaries would occupy only a few days, but party divisions sprang up in the lower branch of the legislature, which resulted in deferring until yesterday the completion of the work of organization. Now, however, with the election of Tang Hui Lung as speaker of the house, organization is perfected in both branches, the senate already having organized. The American charge, therefore, now will be able to carry out his instructions from Secretary Bryan, and America will be the first of the great powers to extend recognition to the infant republic.

It is expected that after this recognition a new minister to China, accredited to the republic, will be designated to succeed Mr. Calhoun, who is now in his way home. Mr. Chang, the resident minister of China, probably soon will receive credentials from Yuan Shi Kai, the provisional president of China, in place of the credentials issued to him by the late Manchou government.

In Old Time May Festival School Children Make Merry

There was a May day fest at the Forrest avenue school yesterday and, as it was the first time in many years that a real old-time May day festival has been held in Atlanta, the occasion was not only of immense pleasure to the little ones, but of great interest to the grown-ups who were present.

Many years ago the first of May was celebrated throughout the country, and the spirit of the season was manifest in Atlanta, but of recent years the custom has been discontinued.

The children of the Forrest avenue school decided to have a May day festival, and it was agreed that the little tots of the first grade and second grade were the right people to carry out the program. There were so many very beautiful toys that the selection of a May queen became too difficult, and so they all became "little queens."

Every child held in her arms a doll, a very lovely doll, and the singing of the "local songs" was the most pleasing number on the program.

On the day before the first of May the children made baskets which they filled with gorgeous flowers of every description and which lent a "halo of glory" to the May day scene.

As the Constitution has a "regular correspondent" at the Forrest avenue school who writes letters each week to the city Wednesday, en route to Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Emma Wood will leave soon for a visit to Knoxville.

Miss Janie Laird is with Mr. and Mrs. Cady Laird for the summer.

Mr. Dan Carey leaves on the 8th for

Waldo, Texas, where his marriage to Miss Helen Hare takes place a few days later. He will be accompanied by his sister, Miss Agnes Carey, and his brother, Mr. Paul Carey, who will be best man.

Mr. Edward Barnett will spend the week-end in Clinton, S. C., the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Venable Martin. He will be accompanied home Monday by his mother, Mrs. E. H. Barnett, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Martin for several weeks.

Miss Annie Aiken is visiting friends in South Carolina.

Miss Louise McGovern has returned from a visit of several weeks to St. Louis.

Master Edward Van Winkle will spend the week-end with Master Charles Phinizy, Jr., in Athens.

Mrs. William E. Foster has recovered from a recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. George Forrester will go to New York the middle of this month.

Miss Marie MacIntyre, who has been ill at Joseph's infirmary, is now convalescent and was able to return home yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Howell have taken a house on Boulevard, near Font de Leon, until the completion of their new home in Druid Hills.

Mrs. Ernest Dallas has returned from the country.

Miss Marlon Hodgson will come over from Athens to be the guest of Miss Lawson Hines for the Phi Delta Theta annual dance this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. King and their daughter, Mrs. W. L. Lyon, of Baltimore, will go to "Kingswood," their country home, at Clayton, today for a week's stay.

Miss Lillian Pratt, of Tampa, Fla., who was an attractive visitor for the opera, will return home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Howell, Jr., who spent the winter at the Georgia Terrace, have moved out to their country home on the waterworks road for the summer.

Mrs. John T. Ennis, accompanied by Misses Mildred Thomas, Mary Vernoy and Ruby Lee Estes, left yesterday for Oxford. They will attend a reception given by S. A. E. fraternity, of Emory college.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter F. Clarke will go to Baltimore on the 19th and Mrs. Clarke will remain to attend the graduation of Miss Frances Clarke, at Goucher college.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Woodside had as their guests for dinner last night: Mr. and Mrs. Hugh N. McLean, who are at the Piedmont, and Mr. and Mrs. John J. Woodside, Jr.

Miss Hildreth Burton Smith will give a musicale early today for Mrs. Hugh Loke's guest, Miss Winn, of Richmond, the other guests to be: Miss McClellan, Miss Nancy Prince and Miss Martina Burke, of Macon.

Miss Carolyn Klug has invited eight young women for bridge this afternoon, the guests of honor to be Miss Winn, of Richmond, who is visiting Mrs. Hugh Loke, and Miss Robyn Young, of Washington, D. C.

Polk Memorial Unveiled.
Nashville, Tenn., May 1.—A memorial tablet marking the site of the home of President James Knox Polk was unveiled with appropriate ceremonies here today. The tablet was the gift of Cumberland chapter, D. A. R., to the city of Nashville, and was accepted on behalf of the city by Mayor Hovess. An original poem by Mrs. Elizabeth Frye Page was read. The former site of the Polk home, in its day one of the show places of Nashville, is now occupied by the largest apartment house in the city named in honor of the ex-president.

POWERS HESITATING ABOUT MONTENEGRO

No Immediate Steps Will Be Taken to Coerce Little Kingdom.

London, May 1.—The powers will not take steps to coerce Montenegro for the present. The ambassadors at their meeting this afternoon came to the conclusion that in view of the conciliatory attitude shown by Montenegro, it was unnecessary to proceed with immediate measures of coercion.

The moderate tone of Montenegro's reply to the powers has cleared much of the electricity out of the diplomatic atmosphere.

The impression derived from the Montenegro note is that King Nicholas is waiting for the "compensation" which is to be offered him to quit Scutari.

The little kingdom tells its big neighbors that it has the greatest deference for them, and declares the capture of Scutari to be in no way a defiance of their announced decision to give the former Turkish fortress to Albania.

At the same time Montenegro suggests that there is room for discussion, and reserves the right of bringing up the question of Scutari in the course of the peace negotiations.

Business Wrecker Montenegro. Cettinje, Montenegro, May 1.—The Russian minister to Montenegro presented a curt note to the government today, urging immediate compliance by Montenegro with the demands of the European powers for the evacuation of Scutari and intimating that a policy of defiance was likely to lead to the ruin of Montenegro.

New 20c to 60c Laces, 12c

We showed them in the window yesterday with a card announcing that sale would take place today. Hundreds of women wanted them at once—besieged us to take orders, to reserve certain pieces, to send them out of town.

BUT, NO!—The sale is scheduled for 9 a. m. this morning, and not an inch will be sold before. We have

12,000 Yards in all to Sell at 12c

These laces come from the importer who supplies us regularly. We are his largest account in the South. Off to Europe on Fall business, he favored us with his reserve stock. Sold it to us for a song. Though these are usual 20c to 60c laces, we make a profit by selling them at 12c.

Sane, sensible merchandising this—the kind that has brought Rich's the lion's share of the lace business in Atlanta.

The laces consist of Calais Vals, Diamond Mesh, Platte Vals, Ruby and French Vals. Beautiful patterns in edges and insertions to match. Edges 2 to 6 inches, insertions 2 to 5 inches. Not a yard worth less than 20c; some worth to 60c; most of them worth 30c to 50c. Choice of the lot. 12c

Now shown in window. Sale at 9 A. M. Laces, Main Floor, Right Aisle.

An Overwhelming Success Has Followed This Presentation of the

Annual May Silk Clearance

Yesterday's record-breaking crowd in response to our silk sale was not a surprise.

It was looked for.

Because we hold this SILK SALE every May, and Atlanta women know what to expect—the choicest silks of the season at

Savings of a Third to a Half & More

They got such silks in this sale. Not choice of a few odd pieces and tag ends, but choice of hundreds of crisp, fashionable patterns, fresh from the looms. Interest today centers in the imported French.

$3 & $3.50 Silk Voiles & Chiffons at $1.29 & $1.39

More than 100 pieces—the importer's entire reserve stock. Dreams of loveliness. Airy chiffon cloths and French voiles, exquisite dreams of artists made manifest. Some have deep borders of charmeuse; some of meteor crepe. Some are overprinted with striking Futurist designs in color combinations that only the French would dare; others are in spaced floral designs and Dolly Madison patterns; some—but one can't describe more than 100 different fabric-poems—please come and see them.

SEWANEЕ TIGERS HERE FOR SERIES

Play Tech Yellow Jackets at Grant Field Today and Saturday—Will Be Interesting Games.

The Sewanee Tigers will be the opponents of the Tech Yellow Jackets on Grant field this afternoon and on Saturday.

A meeting athletically between these two schools always attracts considerable interest, especially in baseball, and as the Crackers are now on a road trip, local baseball fans are sure to attend these games in a body.

Tech will present an entirely new line-up. With the exception of the box not a single man will start today's game that played the same position in the opening series this year with Clemson.

Besides the switches in the line-up, several new men will hold down the positions of the old varsity stars. Four of the second string have been given a berth on the varsity this week, and as a result five would be "varsity men" were named.

Coach Heisman cut the men from the varsity squad after their poor showing, made in the games against Alabama last week.

Too much praise cannot be given Captain Montague for his playing, said Coach Heisman. Pitts and Withington also deserved to be given much credit for their playing, but the coach said that he could not say much for the rest of the bunch.

DOBARD MAY JOIN THE BILLIKENS

New Orleans, May 1.—(Special).—Refusing to join the Beaumont (Texas) league club, to which he was released under an optional agreement, Leo Dobard, the local shortstop whom the Crackers secured from Clarke Griffith, of the Washington club, returned to New Orleans Tuesday.

Dobard was out in a Montgomery uniform during the practice and it is probable he will become a member of "Jaw" Dobbs' Billikens, if a trade can be arranged with the Crackers. Dobbs is eager to get Dobard, and sooner than lose his claim on the player, it is believed Billy Smith will turn him over to Montgomery.

COLLEGE GAMES

G. M. C. 3, Dahlonga 1.

Milledgeville, Ga., May 1.—G. M. C. defeated Dahlonga in a mighty pretty game 3 to 1. Kid Brannen's North Georgia boys couldn't connect with Harrell, who struck out nine and has a no-hit game to his credit. Dahlonga has a good team and they hope to get revenge tomorrow. G. M. C. is fighting up as the season advances, and will be hard to down by prep.

EMPIRE STATE LEAGUE

Cordale 8, Americus 4.

Cordale, Ga., May 1.—(Special).—Cordale defeated the Americus team in the opening game of the Empire State league this afternoon by the score of 8 to 4. The game was witnessed by 1170 fans. The affair opened with a jump and was full of snap and ginger all through with the exception of several errors.

The wildest demonstration from the grandstand and bleachers marked the opening ceremony, when Mayor Harder tossed the first ball to Frank Bartholomew, president of the Cordale club.

Hall pitched a magnificent game over the ninth inning, when he got a little wild. Wood was batted off over the field. It is likely that Americus would not have scored but for Cordale's errors in the eighth inning.

R. H. E. Americus . . . . .000 000 031—4 5 3

Kling With Reds.

Chicago, May 1.—Manager Joe Tinker of the Cincinnati team, today signed John Kling, the catcher, who will report for duty at Cincinnati next Sunday.

In exchange for Kling's release, Tinker gives C. McDonald, an infielder, and a cash consideration to Boston. Amounts were not mentioned.

Schmidt Sticks.

Mobile, Ala., May 1.—Catcher Schmidt, formerly of Detroit, who was recently traded to Indianapolis for Catcher Clarke, will probably stay with the Mobile team, as Clarke has failed to report. Manager Finn is authority for the statement that the deal is off.

COBB REINSTATED AND GIVEN FINE

Commission Censures Him for Past Act, Commends Detroit Club and Issues a Warning.

Chicago, May 1.—Tyrus Cobb today was formally reinstated in organized baseball and fined $50 by the National Baseball commission. A decision by the commission, given out in answer to the Detroit players' appeal for reinstatement, condemned Cobb severely for his actions while "holding out." The Detroit club was commended for its recent stand and censured for its former passive policy regarding Cobb.

Notice was served on other clubs that in case of their failure to discipline players whose actions are "deleterious to the game," the commission itself will act.

The commission reserved news of any other action it may have taken, and if the proposed congressional investigation into the alleged baseball trust were discussed at all, as reported, it was ignored so far as a formal report is concerned.

The Report.
"The report on the Cobb case follows: 'Player Tyrus Cobb, who avers that he was not aware that his status was affected by his failure to report at the start of its 1913 pennant race to the Detroit team, of which he has been a member for several seasons, on April 25 notified the commission that he had entered the service of that club with the request that he be declared to be in good standing.'

"It appears that the failure to report to the Detroit club was due to inability to agree on terms with that club. Subsequently to the beginning of the American league season, however, after a brief conference with the president of his club, these differences were amicably adjusted. If the only question involved were the compensation of the player, the commission would have been inclined to pass the matter. The commission, however, cannot permit the conduct of this player in the past to go unnoticed.

"Recognized as one of the greatest players of the game, with a salary as high as any in the profession, his actions on many occasions were such as not only to break down the rules of discipline, established by the club, but harmful to the game's interests. Instead of negotiating with his club on a business basis during the early spring, he issued ultimatums through the press to arouse public sentiment in his favor.

Cobb Censured.
"Without going into details the commission is informed that in the past the player has been guilty of frequent violations of essential regulations of his club. His public conduct in many instances is too well known to patrons of the game to require comment thereon by the commission, except to serve notice on him and all other players that a repetition thereof will not be permitted to go unpunished in the future, for a realization of the game's welfare is of more importance than the interests of an individual player, however great his ability.

"The Detroit club is to be commended for its recent stand and censured for its former passive policy in dealing with the player in matters of this kind, and notice is served on all clubs that in the event of failure on their part in the future, properly to discipline the player whose actions are detrimental to the game, the commission will of its own initiative take action.

"The player's reinstatement will be made permanent during good behavior, on payment of a fine of $50 to the secretary of the commission.

Medals for Gettysburg Vets.
Washington, May 1.—Senator O'Gorman today introduced a bill to authorize the secretary of war to give a medal to each surviving union and confederate soldier of the battle of Gettysburg. The bill would appropriate $30,000 for the purpose.

TENNESSEE NINE PLAYS GEORGIANS

Athens, Ga., May 1.—(Special).—The University of Tennessee baseball team will be the opponents of the University of Georgia here today and Saturday in a two-game series.

If the Georgians win this series they have only the Georgia Tech team to defeat to be the undisputed southern college baseball champions.

One victory in this series will be sufficient, as the Red and Black team defeated the Tennessee team in the one game played at Knoxville.

EMPIRE STATE LEAGUE

Brunswick 5, Waycross 1.
Brunswick, Ga., May 1.—(Special).—Approximately 3,000 people saw Brunswick take the opening game of the Empire State league from Waycross this afternoon by a score of 5 to 1. The game was featured by the excellent pitching of both Cates and Vandercip, the former getting a shade the better of it. All of Brunswick's runs came in one inning, with singles, a double and a couple of errors.

DEMOCRATIC SENATORS PROTEST ABOUT TARIFF

Washington, May 1.—Six democratic western senators today carried their protest against the tariff bill to President Wilson. The senators were Newlands, Chamberlain, Lane, Thompson, Shafter and Walsh. The sugar and wool schedules were principally under consideration.

As the senators left the white house they declined to discuss the conference. It is believed that the president has agreed to give his views on the tariff to the senators, and will not commit himself until he has had an opportunity to confer with other leaders.

Later the president issued the following statement: "It was not a conference to arrive at any conclusion, but merely for the purpose of effecting a frank interchange of views as to the possible effects of several schedules of the tariff upon the industries of the states represented by the senators present."

CIVIL SERVICE USED AS A SPOILS SYSTEM

Washington, May 1.—Better have a spoils system than an abused civil service system, was the declaration of Senator Overman, of North Carolina, today on the floor of the senate, when he asked Senator Pomerene, chairman of the civil service commission, when his resolution for investigating the service would be reported upon. He read a report from President Taft's efficiency commission that the interpretation of the law by the civil service commission had been such as practically to defeat the law's object.

Senator Pomerene declared it was starting the number of republicans who had been appointed under the commission.

"That's strange when there are two militant democrats and one mild republican on the commission," said Senator Gallinger.

Senator Pomerene promised to have his resolution ready for report next week.

E. H. ROBERTS DIES AT RIPE OLD AGE

Was One of Atlanta's Highly Esteemed Citizens and Well Known Throughout South.

Edward Hubbard Roberts, 82 years old, died at his residence, 7 Baltimore place, at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. He is survived by his wife and four children, Misses Emma and Kate C. Roberts, Frederick C. Roberts, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Mrs. Carter H. Page, Jr., of one brother, Richard H. Roberts, of New York City.

Mr. Roberts was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Roberts, of Middletown, Conn. At the age of 17 he went to Astabula, Ohio, where he entered business. While there he married Miss Charlotte D. Carlisle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Carlisle. In 1861 Mr. and Mrs. Roberts moved to New York, where they remained until 1870, when Mr. Roberts became a partner in the lumber firm of Simpson & Co., at Bagdad, Fla. In 1886 he came to Atlanta, going into business with the late Edwin F. May.

Six years ago Mr. and Mrs. Roberts celebrated their golden wedding, on which occasion all of their children and grand children were present. Their wedding anniversary was on April 32, but owing to Mr. Roberts' illness the occasion was not announced.

Mr. Roberts has for years been one of Atlanta's most highly esteemed citizens, and his death will be widely mourned by his many friends throughout the south. The funeral will be this afternoon at 8 o'clock from the residence, Dr. Richard Orme Flinn officiating. Interment will be private in Westview. Friends are requested not to send flowers.

ATLANTA-MADE VIOLINS FOR OPERA MUSICIANS

Members of the Metropolitan orchestra played a single tribute to Mays Badgett, an Atlanta violin maker, and a great of the country, who has purchased instruments for professional use from him.

A violinist for Julius Herner, first cellist, and instruments for F. Brinkman, cellist, and Fritz Schaefer, violinist, have aroused considerable comment of members of the orchestra who admire the workmanship of these Atlanta-made violins.

Mr. Badgett has lived in Atlanta for thirteen years. He is not yet 40 years old, but has distinguished himself among the leading violin makers of the country.

He is an honorary member of the American Federation of labor.

WILSON'S DAUGHTER IN SCORCHING TAXICAB

New York, May 1.—William J. Greenwood, a taxicab chauffeur, was fined $5 today for driving Miss Margaret Wilson, the president's daughter, and her escort up Broadway at a speed of twenty-four miles an hour.

The policeman who appeared against Greenwood said that when he stopped the taxicab yesterday evening Greenwood told him that his passengers were Fisher, manager of the Social Center, and that they were hurrying to a hotel to pick up a professor who had to catch a train for Princeton. The policeman let the car proceed after summoning the chauffeur to court today.

Mr. Fisher was in court today and paid Greenwood's fine.

BATTLE JUST BEGUN, SAYS GOV. SULZER

Albany, N. Y., May 1.—"The battle for direct primaries has just begun. The fight will go on until the cause of the people triumphs."

This was Governor Sulzer's comment today on the defeat yesterday of his state wide direct primary bill by the senate. He said he would determine when to call an extraordinary session of the legislature to reconsider the bill after he had conferred with "friends of the reform."

"The bill was not beaten on its merits, but the governor," he said, "was defeated solely by the party lash and the bipartisan caucus combination, dictated by a genius outside the capitol. When the campaign begins through the state these facts will be brought home to the voters."

PARENTAL COURT ASKED FOR THE UNITED STATES

Washington, May 1.—"The parental court of the United States is proposed in a bill introduced today by Representative Hobson, providing that judges of the federal district courts shall exercise the jurisdiction of such a court, except in the District of Columbia, where the president would appoint a parental judge.

"The court would have jurisdiction over all children 16 years old or less in all matters relating to violation of federal statutes; to supply special parental care, protection and education for all children; to keep children from any court of record; to cause them to any institution for punishment, and to fix absolute responsibility for all persons who assume any parental authority over children.

HURRYING THE WORK ON THE PANAMA CANAL

Washington, May 1.—Many evidences of a determination to hurry completion of the Panama canal are seen in today's reports from the isthmus.

The nine mammoth steam shovels digging out Culebra cut have been put on twelve-hour shifts, and working at such a rate would have a channel ready for ships through the most troublesome part of the canal by the time the locks are ready.

Last official estimates of the earliest day on which ships could pass through the canal have been some time in October, but the rapid progress of the work may make it possible for ships to go through earlier.

BOY SCOUTS FIGHT FIRE IN EASTMAN SCHOOL

Eastman, May 1.—(Special).—Fire was discovered in the roof of the High school building here yesterday afternoon about 1:30 o'clock. The fire bell was rung, and, owing to the fire drill, order was maintained. The building was vacated in about one minute. After all the students were out the local boy scouts formed a fire brigade and proved themselves worthy of Carnegie medals. Some brought buckets of water, while others fought back the flames. The fire was soon extinguished, although behind a locked door. One scout broke down the door while another fed water.

GEORGE SEAY KILLED WHILE WORKING FARM

Head Hacked by Ax, Duluth Man Dies While Being Rushed to Hospital.

Norcross, Ga., May 1.—(Special).—His head hacked with an ax, George I. Seay, a farmer, was found in a dying condition this morning on the farm of Jack Knox, near Duluth, Ga. He died before he could be rushed to a hospital.

A negro employed on the farm upon whose clothes spots of blood were found has been arrested by the sheriff. The deceased, while an employee on Mr. Knox's place, had recently bought

LIQUID IN GOLF BALL NEARLY KILLS A BOY

Wilmington Del., May 1.—Roderic Warren, a 12-year-old caddie, who heard players at the Wilmington Country club discussing "high balls" yesterday, gathered the idea that the drink was in some way connected with the golf ball. He cut open one of the balls and found it filled with a liquid which he drank. A stomach pump saved his life. The doctor found the liquid in the ball was highly impregnated with arsenic.

Won Its Favor Without a Flavor

When you eat a breakfast cereal you want to do your own flavoring or seasoning. That's the reason you will choose for your morning meal. It is a natural, elemental food made of the whole wheat steam-cooked, shredded and baked a crisp, golden brown. It is not flavored or treated or compounded with anything and hence keeps indefinitely in the market—the standard cereal food eaten all over the world.

For breakfast heat the Biscuit in the oven a few moments to restore crispness; then pour hot milk over it, adding a little cream; salt or sweeten to suit the taste. It is deliciously nourishing and wholesome for any meal with stewed prunes, baked apples, sliced bananas, preserved peaches, pineapple or other fruits. At your grocer's.

Made only by The Shredded Wheat Company at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Opening of Our Enlarged Balcony Tea Room At the Main Store, Friday May 2d Luncheon 12 to 3 P. M. Souvenirs—Carnations and Cream Mints WE are pleased to announce today the opening of our enlarged Balcony Tea Room at the Main Store. The extended balconies at the sides, with the tete-a-tete tables and their full view of the interesting panorama below, will prove most inviting to guests. The Tea Room now circles the building, like a beautiful horseshoe, with the opening at the street end, and gives us a seating capacity more than doubled. It will be a beautiful sight today in honor of the occasion, with decorations of red carnations, and each guest will receive one of the beautiful flowers upon departing, also a little souvenir package of red cream mints. Shakespeare was in error. There is much in a name Kodak means more to the public than camera. Kodak is a trade name owned by one concern. Advertising made this name so valuable that the right to use it could not be bought for several fortunes. The local merchant who advertises daily is making his name a valuable asset. Brown, Jones or Smith, whatever it may be, comes in time to stand for the best in food or clothes, as the owner sells. To your honesty of purpose, The Constitution adds its prestige gained through 45 years' square dealing with its readers. It's a prestige you can get in few papers in this section. Emory Alumni Continue Fight For Intercollegiate Sports

The Emory College Alumni held a meeting at the University club last night and enthusiasm reached its high water mark when the subject of intercollegiate athletics was broached.

The most significant feature of the meeting was a report of the canvass among the Emory college alumni. Nearly every alumnus who is a school teacher in Georgia favor competitive athletics and many Emory graduates are principals and prep school teachers.

The president was unsparing in his attack on the eleven assemblymen from Essex county who were opposing jury reform.
