

PRESBYTERIANS BEGIN CONCLAVE BY CONFERENCES

"Poor Boys of South One of Nation's Greatest Assets," Leading Thought of Educational Conference Tuesday.

THOUSANDS ARRIVING ON SPECIAL TRAINS

Conferences on Evangelism, Education and Missions in Many Churches Today. Assemblies Tomorrow.

- Wednesday's Conferences. Conference on Education—First Baptist church, lasting through Wednesday evening, participated in by the commissioners to the United States (southern) assembly. Conference on Evangelism—North Avenue Presbyterian church, beginning Wednesday morning, being a joint conference of all commissioners. College Presidents' Conference—Harris Street church, Wednesday morning, afternoon and evening. Conference on Education—Baptist Tabernacle, Wednesday, held by the delegates to the United States of America assembly. Conference on Theological Seminaries, U. S. A.—Central Congregational church, Wednesday at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. Conference on Laymen's Missionary Movement—First Presbyterian church, Wednesday night. Joint Conference on Foreign Missions—First Presbyterian church, Wednesday night. Conference on Missions by U. S. A. Commissioners—Harris street church Wednesday morning and afternoon.

When an earnest gathering of the Presbyterian educational leaders in the south met yesterday for the opening of the conference on education, their meeting launched the great convocation of the Presbyterians of America, which is to draw the eyes of all the world toward Atlanta for the next ten days. This was the first of a series of conferences which are to continue through Wednesday night, and in which evangelism, education and missions will be discussed in all their forms, and in which many important men will take leading parts. These conferences will lead up to the convening of the United Presbyterian assembly Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Central Presbyterian church, and the convening Thursday morning of the Northern and Southern assemblies in the Baptist Tabernacle and the North Avenue Presbyterian church, respectively. The great joint assembly will be held on Thursday night at the Auditorium where for the first time in the history of the world the Presbyterians of four great bodies will gather together.

"Poor Boys a Great Asset." At the educational conference Tuesday afternoon which was held in the First Baptist church, the central thought was that the poor boys who enter the universities are one of the south's greatest assets. This statement was made and explained in detail by Rev. Edgar Tufts, president of Lees-McRae college, Banner Elk, N. C., and by Dr. T. P. Junkin, president of Daniel-Baker college, Brownsville, Texas.

"How to assist these poor but ambitious boys to gain their education is one of the greatest problems which our Presbyterian universities are facing," said Dr. Tufts. "But we are solving it in many ways which can all be improved upon. There should be more of the smaller primary school, located in the inner districts, for these lay the foundation of education among the poorer children and pave the way for them to work their way afterward through college."

Splendid talks on education were made by Rev. Joseph P. Hall, Plumtree, N. C., and by Dr. H. H. Sweets, of Louisville, Ky., the latter being secretary of the educational committee of the Presbyterian church. S. E., who planned the educational conference.

Dr. Gaines Heads Conference. Dr. F. H. Gaines, president of Agnes Scott college, of Decatur, Ga., was elected chairman of the conference. Dr. E. C. Ford, president of Chicago college, Greenville, S. C., was elected vice-chairman and Dr. T. P. Junkin, who made one of the leading addresses on college problems, was chosen secretary. Dr. Sweets was elected chairman of a committee which will draft resolutions to be presented to the assembly.

The first session of the conference was followed in the evening by a discussion of the problem, "How to Maintain a Thriftful Character." Atmosphere of joyousness. Dr. Williams led by Dr. W. J. Martin of Davidson College, N. C., and in which many others joined in, including Dr. William Dinwiddie, of Clarksville, Tenn., Rev. T. W. Raymond, of Holly Springs, N. C., and Rev. Charles B. Boving, of Fulton, Mo.

Wednesday's session of this conference will contain in the morning an address by Dr. C. G. Wardell, of Red Springs, N. C., on "The Place of the Church School in the Educational Work in America," in the afternoon, an address by Dr. Walter L. Lingle, of Richmond, Va., president of Union Theological seminary and former pastor of the First church in Atlanta, whose subject will be "What Can the Synods?" and addresses in the evening by President J. Knox Montgomery, of Muskingum college, New Concord, Ohio, and Dr. T. S. Clyce, of

POLICE BOARD TIED ON HOW TO SELECT MEMBERS OF FORCE

Commissioners in Long Discussion Over Appointment of Sergt. Foster's Successor, but Reach No Decision.

NOT A FIGHT ON CHIEF SAYS MAYOR WOODWARD

The Police Commission Asks Council for $500 to Install Bertillon System—46 Applicants for Force Elected.

When the question came before the board of police commissioners last night at the monthly meeting as to whether Chief James L. Beavers or the board should have the right to choose a successor to the late Sergt. K. S. Foster who recently died, there came a long wrangle and after the board went into executive session, the final vote stood a tie, with six members voting in favor of the chief and six others voting to have the board control the selection of the new sergeant.

Mayor James C. Woodward, who voted for the board to select the officer, stated emphatically at the close of the meeting that he did not consider that affair in the nature of an attack upon Beavers, such as many of his friends have claimed, and that he would rather come up in the board.

No Objection to Foster. There was apparently no objection to the man named as a successor to Sergeant Foster. The name of Roundabout W. Whitley was introduced in a lengthy statement by Commissioner George E. Johnson, who declared that Whitley had stood the best examination of any man in his position and that he was also eligible for a captain's place.

Police Chief Beavers wants civil service strictly enforced. "In picking a successor for Sergeant Foster, I think that we should use the civil service," he said. "In that, the man making the highest percentage in his examination is appointed, and, as long as the will service is in effect, I am in favor of its being enforced."

$500 for Bertillon System. Of particular interest was the recommendation made by the board to the mayor and council for the appropriation of $500 for the installation of the Bertillon system in the police department. Chief Beavers brought the matter up, urging that the board take immediate action in the matter, and were appointed to comprise a committee to bring it before the mayor.

FOLSOM IS CONVICTED OF KILLING WALDRON

Quitman, Ga., May 13.—Bryant Folsom was found guilty late this afternoon of voluntary manslaughter by the jury which has been trying the case. Folsom shot and killed David Waldron during the Christmas holidays, accusing him of having sent an insulting post card to his sister.

Poem in Handwriting of Mary Phagan May Give Solicitor Clue to Murderer

Several days ago a representative of the Constitution secured from J. W. Coleman, grandfather of Mary Phagan, the following poem, which Mr. Coleman said his daughter had written in order to secure this poem and an affidavit concerning it. Solicitor General Dorsey has summoned the reporter before him today. He is of the opinion that it may aid him in his search for the murderer. It is the most complete specimen of Mary Phagan's handwriting the solicitor has been able to obtain. The poem follows:

MY PA. By Mary Phagan. My pa ain't no millyunare, but, Gee! He's offul smart! He ain't no carpenter, but he can fix a feller's cart; He ain't no doctor, but you can bet he allus knows Just what to do to fix a boy what's got a bloody nose! My pa ain't president becoz, he says, he never run, But he could do as well as any president has done. A president may beat my pa at pilin' up the vote, But he can't beat him, I will bet, a-whittin' out a boat! My pa ain't rich, but that's becoz he never tried to be; He ain't no 'lectrician, but one day he fixed the telephone for me! My pa ain't never wrote a book, but I know he could, Becoz the stories that he tells to me are allus powerful good! My pa knows everything, I guess, an' you bet I don't care 'Coz he ain't president or rich as any millyunare! Whenever things go wrong, my pa can make 'em right, you see;

JOHNSON GUILTY ON ALL 7 COUNTS

Negro Prize Fighter Convicted of Violating Mann Act. Johnson in a Sweat While on the Stand.

Chicago, May 13.—Jack Johnson, champion heavyweight fighter, tonight was found guilty of violating the federal white slave law in transporting Belle Schreiber from Pittsburgh to Chicago in 1910. He was convicted on all seven counts in the indictment. The jury returned its verdict after an hour's consideration.

Four Ballots Taken. Four ballots were taken by the jury tonight, the first being four for acquittal and eight for conviction. Two counts of the indictment were dismissed yesterday at the request of Judge Carpenter, who declared that no good purpose could be served by airing unnecessary details of the relations of Johnson and the white woman.

Johnson's Testimony. Johnson testified he had spent between $9,000 and $10,000 on Belle Schreiber but denied positively he had sent her a telegram telling her to come to Chicago and wait for him. Whether his agents sent her such a telegram without his knowledge he could not say. He said she was taken to Atlanta tomorrow.

AROUND HARRIS BATTLE RAGES IN THE SENATE

The Republicans Have Begun Their First Big Fight on the Nominations of President Wilson.

FINAL CONFIRMATION SEEMS TO BE ASSURED

But Republicans Have Begun Filibuster to Keep Harris Out of Census Directorship Until the First of July.

Washington, May 13.—Senate republicans began their first big fight on President Wilson's nominations tonight when the appointment of W. J. Harris, successor to Dana Durand, was taken up in executive session. For nearly five hours the senate played a cross purposes on the Harris nomination without ever entering into a discussion of the merits of the case. The republicans forced roll call after roll call on questions of procedure and in support of tactics which the democrats termed dilatory. Motions to put the nomination over until tomorrow, until Friday and until next week were put and defeated and finally, when the membership of both sides had dwindled away to almost nothing, adjournment was taken until tomorrow at noon, with the Harris nomination still just where it was when the doors were closed shortly before 4 o'clock.

Republican Fight Until July 1. The republicans have served notice that they expect to keep up the fight against the confirmation of Harris until July 1, at least, when Mr. Durand has announced his intention to quit. Under the senate rules there is no question of their ability to filibuster in their hearts' content, and if they are willing to go into long executive sessions day after day they can prevent confirmation as long as their talking powers last. During the debate tonight an unsuccessful attempt was made to invoke the famous "reed rule," by which members present in the chamber but not voting were counted in an attempt to disclose a quorum. This innovation brought forth more speeches, and before the session ended most of the democrats and a large part of the republicans had spoken, although none touched upon the nomination itself.

Report Against Harris. A minority report against Harris was filed by Senator Cummins and Senator Burton and other republicans were interested in the case. Senator Burton declared after the debate had proceeded for several hours that he was willing to sever the party of congress from the present day to the time of Babylon before he would see Harris confirmed. Mr. Burton was strongly of the opinion that Mr. Durand should have been allowed to serve out his term.

Boy Rebukes Father and Then Shoots Him. During the Excitement Younger Boy Is Drowned—Young Woman Involved. Selma, Ala., May 13.—Jack Bell, aged 17, is in jail charged with killing his father. It is claimed that Bell and his two sons, the younger aged 8 years, went to Boguchitto creek to fish and while there the elder boy upbraided his father for paying attention to a young woman of the neighborhood where they were fishing. Anger was aroused and the father it is stated attempted to get his gun, when the elder boy fired quickly, killing him. During the excitement the younger boy fell into the creek and was drowned.

C., May 13.—Prefacing the twenty-third annual convention of the Odd Fellows of South Carolina, which opens here tomorrow for a two-day session, the grand encampment of the state met tonight. Business sessions will occupy the convention tomorrow. The convention will close at noon Thursday.

C. O. D. BEER ORDERS CUT OUT BY BEAVERS ON MAYSON'S RULING. Chief Beavers yesterday issued orders to every near beer saloon in Atlanta prohibiting them from sending beer out of the establishment. C. O. D. it takes effect immediately. This action was a result of a ruling from the city attorney who decides that under former conditions, many saloons had been peddling beer on the streets, in restaurants and in private homes. The order prohibits the saloonist from sending beer to customers who have ordered unless the price has been paid. It also prevents minors from having beer by ordering it sent

GLUE IS SOUGHT IN HANDWRITING OF MARY PHAGAN

Reporter of The Constitution Is Summoned by Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey for Conference.

OFFICIALS INVESTIGATE THEORY OF MYSTERY

Much Interest Is Created by the Report That a New Arrest May Be Made in the Near Future.

The handwriting of Mary Phagan is likely to play a prominent part in the investigation of her murder. Rumors came Tuesday from the solicitor general's office that new clues had been discovered in the form of notes or letters, and that much energy was being concentrated in investigation along that line. Handwriting experts have been summoned before Mr. Dorsey this morning. A reporter for The Constitution has several specimens of the murdered girl's handwriting. He also has been ordered to appear at the solicitor's office this morning at 10 o'clock. It is reported that mysterious notes have been found by a number of the solicitor's staff, and that Mr. Dorsey's object is to identify, by the specimens in the reporter's possession, the Phagan girl's script. It also has been advanced that the strange notes caused the new theory on which the solicitor is working.

Dorsey Interviews Mrs. Barrett. Mrs. Mary Barrett, a woman who is said to have been in the pencil factory the Saturday afternoon that Mary Phagan disappeared, was summoned before Mr. Dorsey Tuesday afternoon. She came with her daughter, a pretty little girl, who was present during her mother's examination. Mrs. Barrett was in a disturbed state upon emerging from the interview. As she stood at the threshold of the ante-room, she exclaimed, dramatically, "If anyone has told or tells any lies on me in connection with this murder, they'll certainly suffer for it." The daughter was heard to tell Mr. Dorsey, "I'll talk with her tonight, and then maybe she'll do what you ask."

To avoid reporters, the woman and girl were rushed away in a cab by Detective Rosser, of police headquarters. Relative to the theory advanced by Solicitor Dorsey, and the rumored new suspect who may be arrested, Chief Lanford said to a Constitution reporter Tuesday afternoon that he was unaware of a new theory or probable arrest. He and the solicitor general were closeted for two hours Tuesday morning in the former's offices at headquarters. They only weighed the evidence now at hand and the prospects for gaining new clues, the chief declared. He said it was likely that he and Mr. Dorsey would hold another consultation in regard to the assistance the detective department is to give the solicitor in presenting the case before the grand jury. "Police headquarters has as yet been unable to unearth evidence which would turn us from the theory to which we have adhered throughout the Phagan case. If another suspect has entered the mystery the city detective department is unaware of his existence. I don't believe there is such a character."

anyone who can acquaint us with facts of the crime."
Speculation was rife Tuesday over the Commission report to the effect that another arrest was likely. The source of information from which the report was derived was responsible and a good deal of dependence for that reason, was placed in the rumor.

Buying clothes is something like buying coal; you might not think so; but consider it a minute. You pay for your coal for personal use at home, say, $7.50 to $8 a ton. What do you pay for? You expect something more than 2000 pounds of coal; if that's all you buy, you can get it for $2; same kind of a ton.

But you pay three or four times the price for the thing the scales don't show. And if anybody tried to persuade you to pay $10 or $12 a ton for coal, "mimed-to-order," you'd laugh at him.

It's a good deal the same with clothes. We advise you to buy ours at $25 or more. You can buy clothes for very much less; you can pay a good deal more to have them "made-to-order." But you'll get real value for your money at $25, $30, $35, $40; you're foolish when these clothes are ready.

We make suits to sell at $18 and $20; ready clothes are best for you.

The police theory, and that generally accepted by the public, is that the victim was rendered unconscious by being struck upon the back of the skull when her head hit the plating machine on the second floor, and that her unconscious form was lowered to the basement, where, upon regaining consciousness, her screams at 4:30 o'clock were heard by the woman pedestrian who passed the plating building. Alfred that noise created would attract attention, her assailant completed the deed by strangulation.

Mr. Dorsey will not comment upon the subject. He has said, though, that he does not believe the girl met death outside the building. It is rumored that he believes the crime was committed in the basement, and that she was conscious when carried there. He will not verify even this report. Also, it is said that the new clues supposed to have been unearthed Tuesday morning corroborate, to a large extent, the solicitor's new theory.

Officers Are Summoned. Corroborating, in a certain degree, the rumor that his new theory pertains to how and in what portion of the building the crime was committed, was the solicitor's action Tuesday in summoning to his office a number of the police officers who answered the negro night watchman's telephone call on the morning the body was discovered. His idea in this move, it is said, is to acquaint himself with the exact position of the corpse and the condition of the basement in which it was found.

Considerable interest is centered on the mysterious detective in his employ, whom Mr. Dorsey announces as one of America's best. At present, he is out of the city, in New York. It is rumored that he is investigating police records of that city and Brooklyn. He will not return, according to the solicitor, in several days.

Chiefly detective ability is lacking in this mystery, said Chief Lanford last night. "First come the Pinkertons, the solicitor's staff, his 'America's greatest sleuth,' then Detective Burns and the squad at headquarters and inferior agencies. It is one of the most mysterious mysteries of my knowledge."

Sherman, Texas, moderator of the southern assembly. Many problems of general interest will be discussed in all the conferences. The joint conference on evangelism at the North avenue Presbyterian church is expected to bring forth a number of fine addresses. An interesting discussion which may lead to resolutions being sent to the assemblies. A large number of the visitors, as well as delegates, are in the city to attend the conference. A great interest is manifested in the discussions.

One of the most important meetings scheduled for today and one that is officially ordered by the assembly of the United States Assn. of colleges and churches is the conference of college presidents with the officers of the college board. Besides many other educational institutions, the northern church maintains more than sixty colleges, and the college board of New York is the agency which helps to provide for their current expenses and endowment, for which purpose a total of $1,281,000 was expended last year.

About forty of the sixty college presidents are in the city participating in this conference, which begins at 9 a. m., all the sessions to be held at the Harris street church, which will be the headquarters for the college board throughout the assembly. A great program is prepared to occupy the whole day, the evening session being in the nature of a joint or tri-Presbyterian conference, the three denominations being represented. One of the delightful features of the day will be a fraternal luncheon at Durand's. The presidents of the northern church take luncheon together, and the college board has invited the Southern Presbytery college presidents to be its guests at the same time. This brings together about one hundred of the leading educators of the country.

YOUNG ATLANTAN IS CHARGED WITH BIGAMY Bigamy charges, brought by the mother of Miss Ella Kate Mann, aged 18, of East Point, with whom she stopped last December, caused the arrest Tuesday morning of J. L. Wimball, of 777 Ashby street. The charge is denied by Wimball, who admits that he has a wife in Birmingham, but declares that he has never married Miss Mann. He refused to divulge Miss Mann's whereabouts, but said that he would bring her back to Atlanta as soon as he is freed.

He declared that he loved her, and that as soon as he could get a divorce he would marry her. Wimball declared that he married Ola May Jones, of Atlanta, but that they separated in 1909 and have not lived together since. He said that he believed that she had been married since, although he did not think that she had gotten a divorce.

FIGHTING TO DELAY TARIFF REVISION Penrose and Other G. O. P. Senators Want to Force Public Hearings—Simmons Leads Fight Against Them.

Washington, May 13.—Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, and Senator Penrose, leading the republican fight to refer the Underwood bill with its amendments for public hearings, delivered practical broadsides against each other in the senate today in debate on the Penrose amendment which will be resumed tomorrow.

Senator Penrose likened the secret caucus on the tariff bill to the "methods of the Spanish inquisition" and brought laughter from both sides when he described the caucus and declared no one was present to witness the "murder of American industry."

Senator Simmons declared that if the democratic purpose to eliminate hearings could be called reprehensible, it was the first time the democratic party had copied the methods of the republicans and the argument of length of time for public hearings were not necessary, averring that they were not even demanded.

Simmons and Free Lumber. During the debate Senator Penrose referred to Senator Simmons' fight on the lumber schedule four years ago when the Payne-Aldrich bill was under consideration. Senator Simmons answered that the Underwood bill provided for everything he advocated four years ago if further delay were placed on the free list. "That being so," he said, "I will vote with pleasure for free lumber."

Senator Bristow offered an amendment to the sugar schedule providing for a gradual reduction of the duty over five-year periods, at the end of which time refined sugar would be taxed at $1.27 1/2 per hundred pounds and "ninety-six Cuban sugar at $0.37 1/2."

When the Kansas senator had concluded Senator La Follette proposed an amendment to the tariff bill providing for public hearings. Senator Bacon then moved that the senate go into executive session. This was objected to, but prevailed, 48 to 34. Senators La Follette and Works voting with the majority. The vote for further consideration of the tariff over until tomorrow.

Senator La Follette's amendment, which was accepted by Senator Penrose, provides that manufacturers who wish to appear at the tariff hearings in the finance committee be required to answer under oath sixteen questions relating to the commodity they manufacture, the raw materials used; the amount of production and consumption of the commodity in the country; the number of concerns engaged in its manufacture and their identity; the market price in this and competing countries; the cost of production in this and competing countries; the cost of labor cost here and abroad; transportation cost to principal markets here and abroad; what part of the existing tariff duty represents the cost of production in the country; and what part of the tariff duty represents profit of the American manufacturer.

Senator Lippitt characterized the finance subcommittee practice of hearing manufacturers as "star chamber sessions." Replying to this, Senator Simmons said: "The democratic party has copied the exact methods of the republican party four years ago. He asked the republicans why, if they were sincere in their demand for public hearings, they did not demand them immediately after the tariff bill was passed. He had voted three weeks ago against holding them."

Senator Penrose said he did give notice then that he would make such a demand as soon as the motion would be in order. "At that time," said Senator Penrose, "the tariff bill was being considered in a secret caucus over in the house, a most extraordinary method for treating the tariff. It was a secret measure, with no one present in the galleries to witness the murder of American industry. I would not refer to it as a 'star chamber' proceeding, but I should refer to it as the 'methods of the Spanish inquisition.'"

THREE GRIFFINITES TRY TO COMMIT SUICIDE W. A. Goodrich Succeeds While Alexander Foss and Dave Foster Fail in Attempts.

Griffin, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—With one suicide, two attempts at suicide and a mysterious death, this section has just turned a lurid page in its history. W. A. Goodrich killed himself with a pistol this morning. Alexander Foss shot himself this afternoon, and Dave Foster tried to shuffle off his mortal coil by taking arsenic, but prompt medical attention saved him.

W. A. Goodrich, one of the most prominent young business men of Griffin, was killed last evening by a state insurance circles, committed suicide by shooting himself in the mouth. Mr. Goodrich was alone in his room at the time he committed the deed. His death was reported by the landlady, who heard the report of the weapon. Rushing to his room, she found her husband lying across the bed partially dressed and with a gaping wound in the head.

He is survived by his wife, three small children, a brother and father. He was one of the most popular young men in the city, and his death has cast a shadow of sorrow over the entire community. The funeral will be held at the residence, 324 North Hill street at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Standing before a nitro in his bedroom, Alexander Foss, a tailor, put a bullet in his forehead and pushed the trigger. Members of the family rushed in to find that Foss had received merely a scratch across the right temple, his aim having been poor. It is believed that the act was followed by a misunderstanding he had with his wife while he was slightly the worse for liquor.

Had to Tell Truth or Lose His Case, Youth Tells Judge "What will happen to you, my little man, if you don't tell the truth in this court," said Judge H. M. Reid, in the city court yesterday to John Marshall, an 8-year-old youngster, who was the petitioner through his father in a $10,000 damage suit.

San Yuen Is Dead. San Yuen, a Chinaman, 76 years of age, died in Savannah yesterday. He leaves a wife and one son, of San Francisco. The body will be brought to Atlanta, his old home, and will be carried to Pope's chapel. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

PLANS OF WARSHIPS HAVE DISAPPEARED Detectives Called to Find the "Leak" in the Navy Department.

Washington, May 13.—Special agents of the department of justice officers of a nationally known detective agency and the local police have been called in by the navy department to investigate a leak through which during the last four months several relatively unimportant plans of ships and also minor documents have disappeared. Navy officials are inclined to minimize the importance of the losses.

The first losses were discovered shortly after the first of the year. Some minor structural plans of the dreadnaughts and the new building and other ships were among them. Documents not especially secret disappeared.

Navy officials say they are not much concerned over the importance of what already has been lost as they are to find the leak and prevent further losses. Each battleship has several sets of plans which are sometimes widely distributed among the bureau and contractors. The general plan is never very much of a secret.

The navy department late today issued this statement: "On the night of March 4 (inauguration day), when there were a large number of people in the building, and navy buildings, assembled to witness the inaugural fireworks, there were taken, by persons as yet unknown, from the drafting room of the bureau of steam engineering unimportant plans for the construction of the new battleship Pennsylvania. These plans showed the general arrangement of the decks and hatches, but would be of not particular value to anyone wishing to obtain naval information not generally made public. A short time after similar plans were missed from the same drafting room. The matter is still under investigation."

The fact that other plans for electrical wiring were missed after the fourth of March tended to relieve the visitors from suspicion and as this was the last occasion upon which the plans were open to others than employees the investigation turned in their direction.

The plans were very simple and such as could be prepared to order by any competent electrician. They did not relate to the fire control or turret mechanisms, and therefore had no particular naval value.

The officials, however, were alarmed at the occurrence because it disclosed the possibility of the theft of really important secret plans. Consequently extensive precautions have been taken to guard against the entry into the drafting rooms of any one who does not belong there and a system of checking and accounting will be rigidly enforced.

Start Them Off Right With a Good Laxative and Then Watch Their Diet Mothers are often unconsciously very careless about the diet of their children, forcing him to eat the same foods. The fact is that children do not eat the same different persons. Hence, avoid what seems to constipate the child or to give it indigestion, and see it to take more of what is quickly digested.

If the child shows a tendency to constipation give a mild laxative to help the bowels. By this is not meant a physic or purgative for these should never be given to children, nor anything like salts, pills, etc. What the child requires is simply a small dose of the gentlest of medicines such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which in the opinion of thousands of watchful mothers is the ideal remedy for any child showing a tendency to constipation. So many things can happen to a constipated child that care is necessary. Golden rules, besides the usual laxative, and many other annoyances that children should not have can usually be traced to constipation.

NEW BUILDINGS FOR WHITEHALL Many Improvements Planned as Result of Decision to Regrade This Important Street.

The improvement of Whitehall street by the erection of a handsome new store building has already commenced, although the new grade was only adopted by the street committee of council less than a week ago.

Charles H. Black is preparing to erect a $50,000 building on the corner of Whitehall street and Trinity avenue. S. D. Crawford, of Lovejoy, Ga., will begin, in a few days, the erection of a fine store on Whitehall, just south of Trinity avenue. Charles E. Currier is getting plans for another fine store on Whitehall near Trinity avenue.

The city council will meet next Monday afternoon and a vote will be taken on the Whitehall street grade, as recommended by the street committee. That council will adopt the new grade seems a certainty.

If the work is not done this year, it is stated, there is no telling when the improvement can be taken up in the future. It is an improvement in which citizens throughout the city are deeply interested, as the doing away with the hills and hollow will make of Whitehall the finest thoroughfare in the city, and one that forms a direct connecting link with Peachtree, the road to East Point, College Park and Hapeville. It will also connect up the driveway around the city from West End to Grant park, and then to Piedmont park.

ATLANTA FOR 1914 DECLARES ADAIR

On Eve of Decision Potentate Says Shriners Will Choose the Georgia City in Pref- erence to Memphis.

By Fred Houser.

Dallas, Texas, May 13.—(Special.)—Yaarab Temple, of Atlanta, Ga., and Alchymia Temple, of Memphis, Tenn., hot contestants for the 1914 conclave, were placed next to each other in the line of march of the opening parade of Imperial Shrine week. This parade was the escort of the Imperial officers and representatives to the Scottish Rite cathedral, where the opening session of the Imperial council was held today.

At every halting place the good natured rivalry of the two Shrines was demonstrated by chaff and well wishes bandied by the members of opposing patrols.

"Alchymia's all right," shouted the Atlantans, while the Tennessee representatives cheered for Georgia and declared they would give their opponents anything in the world except their fuzzi black Siberian camel.

Atlanta was first in line in the third division, and the members of the patrol gained friends for the 1914 convention by their beautiful red and white attire with long white veils and their marvelous intricate drills and maneuvers. Yaarab trumpet corps has done much to with friends for Atlanta and keep the Georgia city to the fore.

Forrest Adair, potentate, and the representatives of Yaarab have been busy in several caucus meetings with other representatives in the interest of Atlanta's contest for the 1914 meeting. Mr. Adair is confidently predicting the selection of his home town for the 1914 conclave.

The committee on time and place was nominated today, as follows: Georgia A. Shackford, Alchymia Temple, Boston;

Arthur L. Smith, Al Amin Temple, Tit the Rock, Ark.; Albert Taylor, Mibra Temple, Springfield, Mass.; W. Wayne Weber, Rajah Temple, Reading, Pa.; and James Glanville, Ramesses Temple, Toronto, Canada.

Tonight, for the second time in one day, the brilliant, bedecked caravans of the Ancient Arabic order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, wound their way through the streets of Dallas, when representatives of more than a hundred temples and forty Arab patrols with their bands passed in grand review before Imperial Potentate W. J. Cunningham, of Baltimore.

To the patrols who paraded this morning as an escort to the Imperial potentate and officers of the order, tonight were added thousands of members not in uniform. Again spectators lined the streets and cheered the modern "followers of the prophet," giving again their oft-repeated welcome.

DR. DARGAN TO HEAD SOUTHERN BAPTISTS

And Dr. Burrows Will Be Re-Elected Secretary—Many Delegates in St. Louis.

St. Louis, May 13.—At the opening session of the Southern Baptist convention tomorrow, according to the plans of leading members, Dr. Edwin Charles Dargan, of Macon, Ga., will be re-elected president for the third annual term. Dr. Lansing Burrows, of Americus, Ga., the venerable secretary, who has served for the last twenty years, will be re-elected, as will Dr. O. P. Gregory, of Staunton, Va., who also has been assistant secretary for a number of years.

The next convention city in all probability will be Nashville. The convention has no set program this year on account of a complaint by the power progressive element that a certain coterie of older men have appeared on the program from year to year without giving the younger element an opportunity to be heard.

The amount of money raised for foreign, home and state missions last year by the convention was $1,470,000. One of the slogans of the present convention will be $5,000,000 a year for missionary work.

Only $15,000 was expended last year for missionary work among the negroes of the south. A movement is being pushed by Dr. V. I. Masters, of Atlanta, Ga., editorial secretary of the home mission board, to increase this expenditure largely. Educational work will be pushed among the southern negroes to the extent of educating Baptist negro preachers.

The Woman's Missionary union will begin its sessions tomorrow with the consideration of home missionary reports and with reports from state workers. Miss Fannie E. S. Hock, of Raleigh, N. C., president, will preside. The secretary, Miss Kathleen Malbury, of Baltimore. Of the $1,470,000 raised for missionary purposes by the convention last year one-third was contributed by the women through their missionary union.

More than one thousand registered. The southern convention territory includes Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and the District of Columbia, with a total church membership of 2,448,938 divided among 23,382 churches.

The opening session will be at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

It is important to know whether the legislative representative is holding to the democratic idea or to the aristocratic idea. It is a settled principle of this country that a platform is binding upon every man that runs on that platform. Some men violate platforms because they say they cannot violate their conscience. No man should violate his conscience, but that does not mean that he should violate his party platform. It means that his conscience should begin to work before he is elected and not afterward. A man who violates a party platform and betrays his party and the people is a criminal worse than the man who embezzles money.

"Now let me tell you something else: the day of the boss is gone. The people will write their own platforms hereafter and send their own representatives to the legislative halls. And I venture to say we have seen the last of the great national conventions. I predict that before another presidential election rolls around the presidential candidates will be elected not by the bosses of party leaders, but by the people."

COMMISSIONER NEILL QUILTS GOVERNMENT

Washington, May 13.—Dr. Charles P. Neill, United States commissioner of labor since 1905, and recently made commissioner of labor statistics in the new department of labor, resigned today to take a position outside the government service. He was prominently identified with the arbitration of many noted wage disputes under the Erdman act.

Dr. Neill has taken a position with the American Smelting and Refining company, to organize and conduct its labor department. In a statement today, Dr. Neill said the offer came to him from President Daniel Guggenheim, through William Loeb, Jr., managing director of the Guggenheim corporations.

Dr. Neill recently was appointed by President Wilson commissioner of labor statistics. His former position of commissioner of labor was abolished when the new department of labor was created. Although his nomination first failed of confirmation because of a fight led against him by Senator Overman, because of exposures regarding the cotton mill industry in North Carolina, published in one of his reports, President Wilson gave him a recess appointment and later re-nominated him, and upon the latter nomination he was confirmed. His principal work under the Erdman act was done in co-operation with Martin J. Knapp, presiding judge of the commerce court.

TRUST PICTURED AS BENEFACTOR

New York, May 13.—The United States Steel corporation, as an industrial benefactor, was the subject of today's testimony of James A. Farrell, its president, in the government suit to dissolve the corporation under the Sherman anti-trust law. It was Mr. Farrell's second day on the stand for the defense.

He testified that the corporation manufactured cotton ties for the cotton growers of the south because its competitors found the business unattractive and had practically abandoned it. The corporation, he said, always gave preference to government work and in a recent instance had neglected other business to rush an order of steel pillars to New Orleans in order to save the levees from the flood. It used its enormous stocks of pig tin to prevent speculators from cornering the commodity and sold it to its competitors at cost when attempts to corner it caused a scarcity.

Since its organization, he testified, the corporation had raised the wages of its employees 36.1-2 per cent adding $40,000,000 a year to its pay rolls. The average wage of employees in 1910 was $716.88, and last year its was $856.70.

Clean Bill of Health.

Mr. Farrell gave a clean bill of health to the American Steel and Wire company, one of the subsidiaries of the corporation which the government alleges is a monopoly in itself. He quoted many figures to show that of the hundreds of different kinds of wire products which the company manufactures, its percentage of production was less than half of the country's total output and in one instance, he named a so-called independent concern as the manufacturer of as much as 75 per cent.

Answering the charge that owing to "the community of interest" between railroads and the steel corporation, the corporation was favored over other manufacturers in buying steel, Mr. Farrell said that the corporation of the railroads got their supplies from the steel mills nearest their shops regardless of who owned the mill.

The steel corporation, he repeated, had made every effort to push its foreign trade, and while the corporation had been able to obtain higher prices for its export products, prices to domestic business of the corporation was now being threatened by new steel plants in Australia which could mine and assemble raw materials and manufacture at a lower cost than the corporation.

NATIONAL CONVENTIONS HAVE SEEN THEIR DAY

Harrisburg, Pa., May 13.—Secretary of State William J. Bryan addressed the Pennsylvania legislature this evening on the distinction between democracy and aristocracy. He predicted that before another general election the presidential primary will be so general that there will be no need to hold national conventions and the presidential nominees will be named not by party leaders or bosses, but by the people.

Secretary Bryan came here to speak at the Jefferson anniversary dinner of the Central Democratic club of Harrisburg and was invited to address the members of the legislature. He told the lawmakers he desired to talk of fundamental desires that are appropriate at this time.

The Aristocratic Party.

"Jefferson a century ago spoke of two parties," he said, "one was the democratic party and the other the aristocratic party. The democratic party is that party which tries to bring the government near the people and the aristocratic party is that

GIRL PASSES KNIFE TO CONVICTED LOVER

Chicago, May 13.—When Harry Evans has been convicted of burglary in the municipal court today, Nettie Fairfield, a cabaret singer, his sweetheart, passed him her handkerchief. Evans extracted an open knife from the handkerchief and started to carve his way to freedom. Detective Buschulte was severely cut in the neck, and Deputy Bohaber was stabbed in the breast before Evans was overpowered. The girl was arrested.

Only the presence in the courtroom of an unusually large number of bailiffs and detectives prevented a double murder and the release of Evans and Albert Jensen, who had been tried with Evans for burglary, according to Municipal Judge Cooper.

A number of friends of the two men were in the courtroom, and it is believed that they had planned to go to the prisoners' aid, but were frightened by the number of men who met the attack of Evans and Jensen.

Miss Fairfield had introduced herself as Evans' sister and managed to give him the knife in her handkerchief when she approached him by permission of the court ostensibly to kiss the prisoner good-bye.

Evans, after being taken to jail, declared he had tried to kill Detective Buschulte because, he said, the policeman had beaten him in the police station while seeking to extract a confession of guilt.

HE TOOK FATAL DOSE AND CALLED DOCTOR

Birmingham, Ala., May 12.—After taking a big dose of carbolic acid, Cornelius Clark, a young man who registered at the Florence hotel ten days ago, telephoned that a physician be called to attend him this morning. Dr. B. A. Fox, who answered the call, did everything possible for the man, but in vain. Pending the return of the coroner from a suburban town, the body was left in the room. Three letters were found, one addressed to the deceased man's mother at Tupelo, Miss.; one to his wife in Chicago, and one "To whom it may concern, except that it must be kept from the newspaper men."

27,000 RAIL SHOPMEN GRANTED AN INCREASE

Kansas City, May 12.—Twenty-seven thousand railroad shopmen will receive increase in wages as a result of agreements made with the representatives of the Federation of Shop Crafts and the Southern railway and allied railroad companies and the Wabash system at the headquarters of the federation in Kansas City, Kan., tonight.

The allied companies of the Southern railway are the Mobile and Ohio, Queen and Crescent, New Orleans and Northeastern, Virginia and Southwestern and Georgia and Florida Southern roads.

Boilermakers, blacksmiths and painters of the Southern railway and allied lines hereafter will receive 41 cents an hour, instead of 39 and 40. Their helpers were granted a raise of 1 1/2 cents an hour. The carmen received an increase of 2 cents an hour. All the shopmen are to work nine hours a day. The contract may be terminated by either party giving thirty days' notice, and is binding on all labor organizations in the federation.

An increase of 2 cents an hour was granted to the 6,000 shopmen employed by the Wabash railroad.

It was announced that the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad has granted a raise of 3 cents an hour to its 1,600 boilermakers, but has not yet signed a contract with the federation.

The federation is trying to obtain uniform rules in all the railway shops of the United States.

CALIFORNIA AND THE JAPS.

In face of the overwhelming disapproval of the remainder of the nation California feels the need of justifying her course in the present Japanese controversy. That fact is indicated by a letter, published elsewhere on this page, from Charles K. McClatchy, editor of The Sacramento (Cal.) Bee.

There is no disposition in this part of the country to forget that California is a part of the nation and the Californians our own people. Indeed, the south is peculiarly fitted to sympathize with those struggling with any kind of race problem since we have, since the civil war, contended with a race problem of more intricacies than will ever bother California and on a scale beside which the Jap question is negligible.

That to one side. We cannot see that Mr. McClatchy has made out a case sufficient to change our conviction that California is unduly excited and is falling far short in her duty to her sister states.

But these considerations beg the question. The main thing is that California, whatever the local conditions, is tampering with an issue which the nation only is authorized to deal. If each one of the forty-eight states were at liberty to legislate upon subjects which might embroil the other forty-seven what would become of this country?

We sympathize with our fellow-Americans in California. We see the need of their troubles being satisfactorily settled. But we do insist that the nation and not the state must be the arbiter if it is the nation that is to pay the freight for any possible involvement.

sense, less than of reciprocal comity. Meanwhile it's just as well for our friends in California to stop seeing red, and get in an ice-pack, so to speak. They are not being asked to do anything unreasonable by President Wilson.

LIONS AND LAMBS.

The report from Chicago outlining the plan for the reconstitution of the republican party reminds one of the old saw about the lion and lamb lying down together.

The stand-patters and the republican "progressives," so-called, are about as compatible as oil and water! Can Smoot and Hadley lie in the same political bed without both sending the counterpane sky-high?

An encouraging feature is that both wings of the party seem to feel the need of purging themselves of the southern "canned delegate" phase of the national conventions. Both have made tentative resolutions to admit delegates on a basis of actual votes cast in presidential elections, and not on the basis of population.

For the sake of decency and Americanism in politics this paradox should be eliminated. Whether the stand-patters and "progressives" amalgamate, as now seems probable, or whether the one takes the other into camp, both must expel this contradictory feature if they expect to survive.

A STRAIGHT TIP.

Atlanta is the place for the manufacturers of the world to locate. That straight tip comes from Henry T. Stetson, member of the board of aldermen of Orange, N. J.

This city is by every facility fitted to become the manufacturing center of the south, and also for export trade with the opening of the Panama canal. Its strategic location is ideal, and location is one of the primary essentials in developing a manufacturing community.

Considerations of this description have led the chamber of commerce to launch a bureau of industry. It is to be the specific province of this bureau to bring large and small factories to Atlanta. Their propaganda will have behind it the solid influence of the chamber and should also carry the personal influence of every Atlantan.

THE CRIMINAL'S FAMILY.

When society exacts the law's penalty from the convicted criminal, how often is thought given to the needy and stigmatized family of that criminal? The question is made pertinent by the action of the state of Iowa in suspending sentence against the aviator, Lindsay, convicted of a serious crime, until he can make some provision for those dependent upon him.

It is argued that our present system is unjust in that it punishes not only the offender, but many other innocent people. If the law could simply take its toll of the violator and stop there, all would be well. But the wife, and frequently the mother and the father, the children or other relatives of the outlaw are often left destitute, to face the virtual ostracism of society while one person answers for a crime.

The suggestion has been advanced that to meet this condition the state, or the nation, pay the convict during his term certain wages for his trade or other occupation, subtract enough to maintain him and turn the remainder over to his family. Thus society would defray the cost of administering justice and the innocent victims of his wrongdoing would not suffer actual want.

In some manner this problem should be worked out. Civilization must punish the criminal and his crime in self-protection. But it has no warrant to visit the penalty almost equally upon his family. The ignominy inevitable from having produced an outlaw is punishment enough. Hunger, cold and poverty should not be added to the burden. Agreements between states and between the state and the nation looking to some way of adjusting this question must eventually right a very real wrong in our existing system of penology.

New News of Yesterday

By E. J. Edwards. (Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.) In the year 1864 an antiquary whose home was at Hartford, Conn., found entertainment in searching among some of the archives at Washington, especially in the pension bureau.

He discovered that there were upon the pension roll and were credited with services in the Revolutionary war. Investigation showed that two or three of these men lived in the vicinity of Utica, N. Y. One of them was the Rev. Daniel Waldo, who served for a time as chaplain under General Washington.

He lived to 102 years of age and a photograph of him was taken in 1864. He was barely of age in the last year of the revolutionary war, and had only been a few months ordained as a clergyman when appointed as chaplain.

Some years ago I called the attention of the late Dr. E. Prentiss Bailey, of Utica, to the fact, as I had learned it, that two of the four surviving veterans of the Revolutionary war lived in the vicinity of Utica in 1864 and were then more than a hundred years of age.

"Yes," said Dr. Bailey, "I believe that statement to be true." Dr. Bailey was at the time of his death, a few months ago, the dean of newspaper editors and publishers of New York state. He was in continuous service of this kind for sixty years, all of his work having been associated with a single newspaper, of which for many years he was proprietor. In his capacity as editor he heard many things that related to the last years of the survivors of the revolution who lived near Utica.

"It was not my good fortune," said Dr. Bailey, "never to have met the Rev. Daniel Waldo, or the other survivors of the Revolutionary war, who lived near Utica; but I have a very vivid recollection of a clergyman who had been a soldier in the Continental army and who afterward was ordained as a minister in the Baptist denomination.

"His name was Daniel Harvey. He lived a few miles out of Utica. I think I am safe in saying that although a number of revolutionary soldiers who were young men at the time of the war afterward became clergymen, yet the Rev. Daniel Harvey was the last one to preach or to remain in active service.

"I think it was about the year 1847, when I was 16 years of age, that the announcement was made that the Rev. Daniel Harvey, a survivor of the Revolutionary war, would conduct the morning services at the Baptist church at Utica. It was also announced that Mr. Harvey would preach.

"Of course, there was great curiosity to see and hear a clergyman who in his youth had carried a flintlock musket and who had participated in the siege of Yorktown. "He must have been about 83 or 84 years of age at the time to which I allude. He was a man of medium height, rather thick-set, with a large beard covered with gray hair and very bright eyes. A casual glance at him as he stood in the pulpit would have justified the impression that he was about 60 years of age.

"He conducted the services with perfect ease, and I remember well that he joined in singing the hymns. He took as his text the passage in the scriptures which narrates the entry of Christ into Jerusalem riding upon an ass, accompanied by a throng that cried 'Hosanna!'"

"I remember perfectly well the manner in which he turned from the Bible to the congregation and said, 'All ye people cried "Hosanna!" Then he stood silent for a few very impressive moments. Every eye in the congregation was fixed upon him. We knew that something dramatic was to follow. At last he said, "The people cried "Hosanna!" but I don't suppose they hollered, and with that thought in mind he pictured to us the earnest dignity with which Jesus throng accompanied the Saviour in that public entrance of His into Jerusalem. We could almost hear the people say with expressions of awe, profound sympathy, and yet in quiet tones, "Hosanna!"

The World's Mysteries

THE BLUE LAWS OF CONNECTICUT.

There has been an unusual amount of controversy regarding which were and which were not the blue laws of Connecticut. One of the most rigid of the New England colonies was that of Connecticut, and the early government of New Haven formed certain laws about breaches of manners and morals which, to our present thinking, would appear to be unusually severe, if not in some respects anomalous, but many laws that are credited to that colony were never placed on its statute books, but instead seem to have been conceived in the mind of one Rev. Samuel Peters.

The New Haven code of laws were passed in 1655—the properly termed blue laws, but what are claimed to have been the Peters forgeries, appeared about the same time and were explained by their author as follows: "The lawgivers soon discovered that the precepts in the Old and New Testaments were insufficient to support them in their arduous and bloody undertakings. They, therefore, gave themselves up to their own inventions in making others, wherein, in some instances, they betrayed such an extreme degree of wanton cruelty and oppression that even the rigid fanatics of Boston and the mad zealots of Hartford were put to blush, chiding them the blue laws."

Dr. Peters further notes in his history: "These laws consist of a vast multitude and were very properly termed blue laws, i. e., bloody laws; for they were all sanctified with excommunication, confiscation, fines, banishment, whippings, etc. And did not similar laws still (1732) prevail over New England as the common law of the country I would have left them in silence."

Where did Dr. Peters get his authority for the statement that such laws existed? There is no evidence obtainable in any record.

But a great many people believe Peters' blue laws were reprinted a number of times from 1781 to 1881. In spite of the fact that these blue laws of Peters have been shown repeatedly that they are little more than the invention of a clerical historian, they are frequently referred to as authentic by well-known writers and were printed in reliable magazines.

When Peters' blue laws were first published containing his Blue Laws he was asked for his authority, and his reply was "The laws made by this independent dominion, and dominated blue laws by the neighboring colonies, were never suffered to be printed."

A few of the most odd of these laws as concocted by Peters—at least it is so believed—are as follows: 1. No one shall cross a river but with an authorized ferryman. 2. No one shall run on the Sabbath day, or walk in the garden or elsewhere, except reverently, to and from a meeting.

3. No woman shall kiss her child on the Sabbath or fasting day. 4. Whoever wears clothes trimmed with gold, silver, or bone lace, above two shillings by the yard, shall be presented before the grand jurors and the selectmen shall tax the offender at $1,500 estate. 5. No one shall read Common-Prayer, keep Christmas or Saints' days, make mince pies, dance, play cards, or play on any instrument of music, except the drum, trumpet and fife, or fife.

6. Married persons must live together or be imprisoned. 7. Every male shall have his hair cut round according to a cap. There were 45 in all of these laws, and "Of such sort," remarks Peters, "were the laws made by the people of New Haven."

In a portion of his "History" it is to be found the following story: "In 1750 an Episcopal clergyman, born and educated in England, who had been in holy orders above twenty years, once broke their Sabbath day, but he was a discommoded look of hair on the top of his wig, and at another time by making a humming noise, which they called a whistling; and at still another time, by walking too fast from church, by running into church when it rained, by walking in his garden and picking a bunch of grapes, for which several crimes he was complained of by the grand jury, had warrants issued against him, was seized, brought to trial, and paid a considerable sum of money."

The laws of Connecticut were no doubt most severe, but Peters no doubt manufactured other either viciously or out of ridicule. The investigator can find nothing in the statutes of that state which could be misconstrued into meaning anything like what is represented by Peters in his "History."

A Story of the Moment

By WALT MASON The Famous Froze Post

Too Many Agents

"You're the third agent that's been here pestering me this morning," cried Mrs. Curfew. "And I'll ask you to disperse at once, for I wouldn't buy anything, no matter what you're selling."

"I venture to say, ma'am," answered the agent, "that you'll be sorry if you let me go without hearing what I have to say about Prof. Higginbottom's prepared dyes, which I am introducing in this territory. As a wife and mother you must know what a nuisance the ordinary dyes are. If you want to dye a black dress white, it takes you a week to get the materials ready, and the directions are so complicated that your reason totters on its throne before the job is done, and in the end you find that your dress is a brindle color. The ordinary dyes are like the government free seeds. You never know what you're going to get when you use them. Now, Prof. Higginbottom's dyes are so simple that any child can use them."

"In that case I wouldn't have them if you gave them to me free, and threw in a steel engraving of the vice-president," interrupted Mrs. Curfew. "When you first began talking I thought I might buy a package of your dyes, as I have a pink shirtwaist I'd like to color a delicate orange, but when you say that any child can use your dyes, the stuff is off, as my husband says. I bought some dyes of an agent last fall, and he had a rigmorole similar to yours. It happened that my little granddaughter was spending a few days with me at the time. She's a dear little girl, but you have to watch her all the time or she'll do more damage than a funnel-shaped cloud, and Mr. Curfew says that any house she infests should carry tornado insurance."

"I had occasion to go over to Mrs. Turpentine's, to see why she hadn't returned the patent cold-handed double-pointed smoothing iron she had borrowed of me three weeks previously. Mrs. Turpentine would be a very good neighbor if she'd only return borrowed things within a reasonable time, but that she won't do, and at this writing she has my coffee mill, which she borrowed two weeks ago, saying she'd bring it back in ten minutes, said ten minutes evidently being made of India rubber."

"When I left the house the little girl was sleeping, and I thought she wouldn't wake until I got back, but to my behold, no sooner had I left the door than that infant prodigy was spreading desolation around her. She got a package of those dyes and made a dishpan full of coloring fluid and then she dyed our white cat a bright green. The cat was astonished and indignant and fled from the house by way of an open window. Mr. Curfew was sitting on the porch by that window, and the cat jumped on his shoulder and then to his knees, and then to his stomach for a time, he became troubled with indigestion, and the first thing he did after seeing that green cat was to take his bitters bottle from the cupboard and throw it into the alley, and then he called up the secretary of the Sons of Temperance and asked him to hurry to our house and bring a blank pledge for him to sign."

"Meanwhile the little girl was busy. Our next door neighbor, Mr. Pumpernickel, had a coop full of peroxide blonde hens that he called Buff Cochins. The little girl didn't like their complexion, so she took them, one at a time, to our kitchen, and dyed them some, and then put them back in their coop. And when Mr. Pumpernickel came home and looked at those hens he burst into tears. My husband went over to tell him about the green cat that was sent as a judgment for dining too much bitters, and they got to comparing notes, and then they began quarreling. Mr. Pumpernickel wanting damages for his ruined hens, so Mr. Curfew knocked him down with a large green rooster and they fought around the back yard until they were both so tired that experience I don't think any dyer has children can use."

CALIFORNIA'S SIDE IN CURRENT CONTROVERSY

Declaring that "easterners cannot understand unless they live in California," Charles K. McClatchy, editor of The Sacramento (Cal.) Bee, writes The Constitution defending California's course in the present controversy over alien ownership of lands.

Mr. McClatchy claims that Japan has no right to be affronted, since California is only treating Japs regarding land ownership as Americans are treated in Japan, and in Washington and Arizona. He reproduces a letter from the representative of Australia in this country, showing that that country excludes all save a limited class of Japs, and admits them for twelve months only.

A Great Menace. Continuing Mr. McClatchy says: "You do not hear the Japanese government protesting to Great Britain and suggesting war because of the act of these Australians. They do not even protest against the statutes of Washington and Arizona; but they take the whole thing out on the devoted head of Californians—who are what might be called 'the goat' in this matter."

"These Orientals are a great menace—a menace in every way—a menace to morality—a menace to the homes—a menace to our civilization. All you would need to do to prove this to yourself would be to visit Florin, in Sacramento county, from which place the whites have virtually been driven, and which is now practically a Japanese town."

"Another thought: The Burnett immigration bill, as introduced in this present session of congress by Representative Roddenbery, bars from admission to this country all aliens ineligible to citizenship. "In this respect it is virtually identical with that provision of the proposed anti-alien law of California to which the Wilson administration objects as of a nature to give offense to Japan."

"The Burnett immigration bill passed the last congress by a large majority, but was vetoed by Taft because it contained the educational or reading test, no objection being made to the naturalization test. "The bill was re-passed in the senate, and only failed passage in the house by the narrow margin of eight votes. During all that time there was no objection to the naturalization test."

"The bill is quite certain of passage. "Senator Lodge, chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, told The Bee's Washington correspondent that the clause in question before it was put in the bill was submitted to Baron Chinda, the Japanese ambassador here, and was approved by him. "But, yet, Chinda is now protesting against California's adoption of a phrase or requirement which he has approved in the congressional bill."

Excluded Classes. "The Roddenbery bill—H. R. 1953—enumerates classes of aliens who shall be excluded from the United States—such as idiots, insane persons, paupers, etc., and also persons who cannot become eligible, under existing law, to become citizens of the United States by naturalization, unless otherwise provided for by existing agreements as to passports, or by treaties, conventions or agreements that may hereafter be entered into."

"Compared with this positive closing of the doors against all citizens of Japan, relatively few exceptions, the proposed land restriction in California sinks into insignificance, from an international point of view. "The situation, in fact, has an element of the ludicrous. "It is as if Japan should say to California, through her ambassador at Washington: "We don't object to having the door of immigration slammed in our faces by congress because we can't be naturalized. But we can't stand California's refusal for the same reason, to let us buy any of her land."

"CHARLES K. MCCLATCHY, Editor The Bee."

"BLIND TIGER" DEFINED BY THE SUPREME COURT

It's Any Place Where Liquor Is Illegally Sold, Whether Openly or Secretly.

A blind tiger doesn't mean a hidden, secretive place where liquor is sold, but any place where liquor is sold illegally, whether it be secret or open, according to a decision handed down by the state supreme court yesterday in the case of Thompson et al. v. Simmons & Co., from Savannah.

Acting under the law which gives any person the right to ask for an injunction against another who is running a blind tiger, the same to be defined as a nuisance, W. E. Thompson and others sought to enjoin H. H. Simmons & Co., from running an alleged blind tiger in Savannah. In the June term, 1912, of the Chatham county superior court, Judge Walter G. Charlton heard the case and among other things charged the jury that a "blind tiger is a place where spirituous or malt liquors are sold on the sly or secretly."

The supreme court held that a blind tiger did not have to be a hidden or secret place for the selling of liquor and that any place where liquor was sold illegally was a blind tiger within the meaning of the law.

The decision of the lower court was reversed, Simmons having won on Judge Charlton's charge to the jury, and Thompson et al. appealed. The case will now go back to be tried over again with a blind tiger more clearly defined by the higher court.

Registration Bureau Workers Kept Busy All Day on Tuesday

The spirit of Atlanta was well demonstrated yesterday when a number of Atlanta's prominent business and professional men gave up their duties and entered as clerks in the registration bureau of the Presbyterian assembly committee under Rev. J. M. Moore on the fifth floor of the Empire building. J. K. Orr and other prominent laymen of the city worked from early morning until late at night meeting the various delegations of commissioners and assisting them to their respective quarters.

While scores came in on the various trains, these are but the advance guard of the great congregation following by Thursday when the three assemblies will officially open, fully 1,500 delegates and committeemen will be in the city and about 3,000 visitors. Within the next few days every train entering Atlanta will be filled with the Presbyterians, many of whom have come from across the seas to be present at the greatest meeting of Presbyterians in the history of the world.

Names of Assemblies.

During the convention, for the purpose of convenience, the Presbyterian church, U. S. A., will officially be known as the northern assembly; assembly of the Presbyterian church, U. S. A., as the southern assembly, and the United Presbyterian church will be known by that title, as it is short enough for convenient use.

Each assembly will hold its separate meetings two days, and then gather together at night for one general meeting.

Friday afternoon they will come together in the Baptist Tabernacle for communion.

The northern assembly opens its meetings at the Tabernacle on Luckie street, Thursday morning, 10:30 o'clock, with a sermon by the retiring moderator, Dr. Mark A. Matthews, pastor of First Presbyterian church, Seattle, Wash., which is said to be the largest Presbyterian church in the world, having a membership of something like 5,000. Thursday afternoon the northern assembly will perfect its assembly by electing a moderator, Secretary and other officers, and then gathering together at night for one general meeting.

COLLEGE JOURNALISTS WERE HEROES AT EMORY YESTERDAY

Oxford, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—Interest between classes today at Emory college centered around the students who are taking the course in journalism and who returned there early this morning from their one-day's lesson on The Constitution. Copies of The Constitution are at a premium and reminiscences of the descent on Atlanta were being recalled to numberless groups on the campus.

The enthusiasm of the boys grew even more pronounced with distance from the event and it is easily seen that the experience has made an abiding impression on them.

The start home from Atlanta was made on the 12:10 o'clock train Tuesday morning. The boys were tolerably exhausted from the unusual demands of the day, but were too highly keyed up for sleep. On the way down to Covington conversation was fast and lively, taking a new tack every time some youngster came forward with a unique incident of his filing at the newspaper game. The trip to Covington was quickly made under these circumstances and in the early morning hours the young men tumbled into bed to dream

INJUNCTION CAN CLOSE SALOONS IN SAVANNAH

Supreme Court Decides Any Place Where Liquor Is Sold Illegally Is Blind Tiger.

Savannah, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—Any place where liquor is sold illegally is technically a "blind tiger" and can be closed by injunction as a public nuisance.

This is the gist of a decision rendered by the Georgia supreme court today in the Savannah cast side saloon case. Under this ruling a "blind tiger" is not necessarily a place where liquor is sold on the sly.

This aspect of this comes as a serious jolt to those who have believed with Judge Charlton, of the superior court, that a "blind tiger" is a place where sales are made on the sly and not in the open, as is the case in Savannah.

The defense of the defendants in the half dozen east side cases, was that their sales are not secretly made, that there is nothing done on the sly by them, and consequently they could not be classified as "blind tigers." Under this ruling anyone who is in a position to prove these sales could obtain an injunction against any saloon in the state and the court would have to close the place permanently as a public nuisance.

The complainants in the east side cases are extremely jubilant over the outcome of the litigation. They assert, through their counsel, that the cases will be pressed for trial at an early date. Only one case actually went to trial. The defense offered no evidence and the case was decided on an agreed state of facts, which involved sales of liquor. There are six cases in all.

Another interesting feature of the situation is the fact that the defendants have paid their 1918 beer-beverage license.

STONE WILL ASK PROBE OF STATE FARM SCHOOLS

He Believes District Agricultural Institutions Are Costing State Too Much Money.

Augusta, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—According to a statement made today by Hon. C. H. Stone, representative from Taliaferro county in the next legislature, he will introduce a resolution providing for the appointment of a joint committee of the house and senate to investigate the state agricultural schools of the state, find out how the state's money is being spent by these institutions and what this sort of education is costing the state for each student.

Mr. Stone is convinced that some of the district agricultural schools are costing the state too much money.

"I am told," said he, "that the state furnishes $10,000 per year to run this school in the tenth district, and that they have on an average of twenty pupils, each pupil costing the state $200 per year for furnishing a place and teachers to educate him. And in addition each pupil has to pay $10 per month for his board and tuition, all of his own clothes. If this is correct this education is costing too much money. It can be furnished on a different basis for less money.

"I am somewhat inclined to the opinion that in all the district agricultural schools of the state there should be introduced elementary agricultural studies, especially in the schools in the country where farming is carried on. In this way the education would be brought to the home of the farmer instead of having to send his children to a district school, where each child apparently in this district costs the state $200 per year. I would also like to know how this money is being spent by these schools, how high salaries they pay and what the recipients of these salaries do to earn them.

"I think it is a proper matter for the state to look after, especially since the state is putting up the money for them to spend."

The temperature rose as high as 76 degrees by 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and it is expected that by the same hour today the top of the mercury column will be flush with the figure 80 on the glass tube of the official thermometer.

LANE'S SLAYER LYNCHED

Hogansville, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—The negro Sam Owensby, who killed Brooks Lane, 2 miles south of Franklin yesterday, was taken from the county jail last night about 10:30 o'clock, hanged to a large tree at the east end of the Chatsahoochee bridge and killed with bullets. Everything is quiet.

Sheriff Lea Taylor had planned to take the negro either to Newnan or Atlanta for safe keeping, but when his plan became known he was told that the negro would be killed if an effort were made to remove him from the jail.

By 9 o'clock the crowd that had gathered in town during the afternoon had dispersed and the streets were deserted. Sheriff Taylor and two deputies remained on guard at the jail. An hour later the mob quietly slipped back to town, overpowered the sheriff and deputies and got the prisoner.

FOR YEARS A SUFFERER— NOW PERFECTLY HEALTHY

Mr. J. S. Callcutt, of 55 Wynnan street, Atlanta, Ga., has suffered for years with the worst form of stomach trouble, bloating, belching and constipation. While in search of relief Mr. Callcutt has taken many different treatments, all to no avail. For weeks at times he was unable to work. Mr. Callcutt says he has not been able to undergo the slightest exertion for at least six weeks. At that time he called at Coursey & Munn's drug store and was advised to purchase one bottle of Quaker Extract. Now, after seven days, Mr. Callcutt reports that he feels better than he has in years, and last week he returned to work. He is loud and justly so, in his praises, and declares Quaker is the best medicine in the world. It should be known by all that the Quaker remedies are not cure-alls. If you suffer with lung or throat troubles, fever, private or contagious diseases, the attention of your family physician or specialist is necessary. Such cases will not be cured by Quaker Remedies. For catarrh in any form, kidney, liver, stomach or bladder trouble, indigestion, constipation, try Quaker Extract at once—today. You will be most agreeably surprised at the astonishingly quick results. A great number of legal people have already been cured, and every day more and more cures are reported.

Now, these are a few more good reports of the good Quaker Remedies are doing. Why will you wait and suffer when you see your neighbors being cured all around you? If you suffer with any of the above diseases, call today at Coursey & Munn's drug store, 29 Marietta street, and obtain Quaker Extract, $1.00, or 3 for $2.50. Or of Balm, 25c, or 5 for $1.00. # County Board to Have Charge of Harriett Hawkes Home

Through the taking over by the county commissioners of the projected Harriett Hawkes home and the 50-acre tract and $10,000 in subscriptions, it is expected that within a year a home for incorrigible women and girls will be provided for.

For some time directors of the home have been in conference with the county commissioners in regard to the county's taking over the work which they started and at a meeting of the aims and juvenile committee Tuesday morning it was decided to make a favorable report to the main body upon the subject.

LANE'S SLAYER LYNCHED

Hogansville, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—The negro Sam Owensby, who killed Brooks Lane, 2 miles south of Franklin yesterday, was taken from the county jail last night about 10:30 o'clock, hanged to a large tree at the east end of the Chatsahoochee bridge and killed with bullets. Everything is quiet.

Sheriff Lea Taylor had planned to take the negro either to Newnan or Atlanta for safe keeping, but when his plan became known he was told that the negro would be killed if an effort were made to remove him from the jail.

By 9 o'clock the crowd that had gathered in town during the afternoon had dispersed and the streets were deserted. Sheriff Taylor and two deputies remained on guard at the jail. An hour later the mob quietly slipped back to town, overpowered the sheriff and deputies and got the prisoner.

Brilliant Assemblage Marks Annual Election of Driving Club

Officers Elected.
Officers of the Piedmont Driving club were elected at the annual meeting last night. They are as follows:
President—J. H. Nunnally
Vice President—Brooks Morgan
New Members Board of Governors—John S. Cohen and Preston Arkwright
The complete membership of the board of governors for the coming year: Jack Spalding, George C. Walters, Jesse Draper, John S. Cohen and Preston Arkwright.
J. H. Nunnally and Brooks Morgan, president and vice president, were re-elected.

Not even the enlargement of the terrace at the Piedmont Driving club, the addition of the private dining rooms and all the space there is for the entertainment of guests kept that popular place from being crowded yesterday when following the annual election there was the annual reception of the members of the club and their families.
Following the annual meeting which took place at 6 o'clock there was a brilliant assemblage of ladies on the terrace awaiting the gentlemen who had attended the meeting and then there was the separating into the groups making up the various parties. The tables were on the terrace each beautifully decorated with flowers and at 7:10 an elegant supper was served. An orchestra furnished popular music and the scene was one beautiful and picturesque.
The ladies wore the most attractive of toilets reflecting the first glimpses of marked summer styles and the picture hat was in evidence. Feathers, flowers and ribbons held their own and there were all the accessories things in wraps and bows and the little things that make up the prettiest of summer toilets.
After the reception and supper the hall room was thrown open and dancing was enjoyed by several hundred people. The porches and terrace were never deserted and the club never presented a more brilliant scene.
It was estimated that five hundred guests were entertained and the service was excellent.

An Interesting Comparison.
It was interesting to the older members to note the growth of the club from the little stand house and the well and the big trees which marked the scene of the first club house to the space covered by the club yesterday.
Brilliant entertaining distinguished the club from the beginning and during the last twenty-five years the Driving club has been one of the factors in the city's upbuilding in a new falling in with the people from every where who are interested in it. Whether the crowd has been large or small the club has kept open house and done its best a recent incident of this being the dinner dance recently given to the grand opera stars when 500 guests were entertained at an elaborate dinner followed by a dance.
The club has grown phenomenally in the last few years and under the splendid management of Mr. James H. Nunnally has presented the ideal plan for the country club with a splendid business side. Mr. Nunnally has repeatedly said the effort to resist but his friends will not accept it and his protests against re-election are ignored when year after year the election holds and the club members assemble in annual convention. Mr. Brooks Morgan is the efficient vice president of the club who renders valiant assistance to the official board.

Visiting Belles Present.
The visiting belles in the city added to the social interest of the occasion.
Miss Carr of St. Louis who is visiting Mrs. Bates Block, wore a Luella gown of blue embroidered chiffon and lace with a black hat and Miss Scott's becoming costume was of accordion plaited ruffles and lace in white with an old rose sash and her white hat was trimmed with old rose plumes.

Today's Beauty Recipes

By Mme. D. Mills

The electric needle for the removal of superfluous hair is both painful and expensive. A quick safe and sure way to remove wild hairs is to apply a little powder and rub with the moist water. Just cover the hairs with this paste for a minute or two wipe off wash the skin and the hairs will be gone.
Spring colds are often more stubborn than colds brought on by winter exposure. Mother's Balm will break up an ordinary cold in head or chest overnight. It soothes the throat and relieves catarrh, croup, sore throat.
To keep the skin fair, fresh and smooth apply in the morning a lotion made by dissolving an original package of mayatone in a half pint of witch hazel. It will not rub off or show like powder and prevents the growth of hair. Mayatone quickly corrects dark, sallow and blotchy complexions.
To keep the hair from becoming thin, apply to your husband and he will thank you for it. Many men who shave themselves do not shampoo frequently enough. Dandruff, itching and baldness are caused by a parasite, and Mother's Shampoo removes these parasites. It restores dry, brittle and faded hair to a glossy condition, and keeps the scalp healthy.

GA. BANKERS CONVENE IN MACON THURSDAY

Fight Will Be Made to Secure Association's Indorsement of New Banking Bill.

Macon, Ga., May 13.—(Special).—The twenty-second annual convention of the Georgia Bankers' association convenes in Macon Thursday evening, the chief interest this year centering about the proposed new banking bill which it desires to have the association indorse. Three of the five groups have indorsed the bill, but two failed to do so and the fight will have to be waged in the state convention which opens at 10 o'clock tomorrow.

The indorsement of the bill, one of the chief provisions of which is a state superintendent of banks, is reported also that somewhat of a fight may be made against the resolution of W. A. Park, general counsel for the association, when the annual election is held on Saturday. President Benjamin W. Hunt, of Easton, recently scored Mr. Park severely for a statement he is alleged to have made before the meeting of group 5, in Macon a few weeks ago, in which it is said Mr. Park told the bankers they could control legislation by withholding loans from young legislators who had them for funds before going to the legislature.

Mr. Hunt came out in a letter denouncing Mr. Park for the alleged statement and declaring that such a view was not representative of the bankers in the state of Georgia, but that he was only joking when he made the statement and did not attach any importance to it. Despite this fact, it is said that Mr. Park may have to fight if he holds his position.

William A. Burns, the detective; Burgess Smith, inventor of the currency washing machine, and P. A. Flak, a finger-print expert, will be present and address the bankers. Burgess Smith is the son of City Clerk Bridges Smith, of Macon, and is employed in the treasury department at Washington.

The annual group dinners will be held on Thursday night, preceding the normal opening of the convention on Friday morning. This banquet will be held on the ninth floor of the new Dempsey hotel, which will be headquarters for the convention, and all local visiting bankers are invited to attend. The old Georgia Bankers represent the various groups at these dinners.

Of course the big social event of the convention will be the annual banquet on Friday night. The banquet hall at the Dempsey. Arrangements have been made to seat 300 people at this dinner and the bankers' wives and sweethearts will also be among the guests. The banquet will cost between $3 and $5 a plate.

Under a rule adopted by the bankers' association each member will pay for his own plate. This was done to relieve the city, entertaining the bankers from the banks of Georgia, of the elaborate spread in addition to other entertainment provided.

The members of the American Bankers' association with E. A. Pendleton vice president for Georgia presiding, will meet after the group dinners to elect a representative on the executive council of the A. B. A., a vice president for Georgia and a delegate to the nominating committee.

Horseman Dies Suddenly.

Macon, Ga., May 13.—(Special).—J. A. W. Field, one of the best known live stock dealers in Georgia, died suddenly this morning at his home on Vineville avenue, death being due to a form of paralysis.

Mr. Warfield had not been in good health for some time, but was about his office yesterday and seemed to be no worse off than at any other time. He was 48 years of age, and is survived by two daughters and one son, Mrs. J. D. Stamps, Miss Elsie Warfield and James Warfield.

Mr. Warfield was a member of the firm of Warfield & Co., his partner being J. B. Kimball. His hobby was the raising of race horses, and he has worked some speedy ones on the local track. The body was taken to his former home at Elizabethtown, Ky., for funeral and interment.

Child Drinks Poison.

Macon, Ga., May 13.—(Special).—When little 2-year-old Ethel Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thad Brown, Plant and South College streets, saw a bottle of something which looked as though it might be good to drink, sitting on the dining table in the dining room of his home, the child picked it up and placing it to his lips took a swallow.

His mother, who had placed the bottle there a few minutes before and had gone out, heard the child scream and rushed back to the house. She found the child lying on the floor with his face badly burned and suffering intense agony.

The bottle had contained carbolic acid, and the child had swallowed a portion of it. Doctors were summoned and after working with the child for two or three hours, announced that the outcome was still in doubt. It is not believed there is much hope of recovery.

A ROUSING WELCOME GIVEN DR. MATTHEWS AT BOYHOOD HOME

Calhoun, Ga., May 13.—(Special).—Dr. Mark Allison Matthews, pastor of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church (northern), visited Calhoun, his native town, today. He was given a warm welcome by his friends, who met him in large numbers at the depot.

A public reception was tendered him this afternoon by the Woman's club in the park by the club house. The local band was present and rendered good music, and refreshments were served.

Tonight at 8 o'clock a great homecoming service was held at the Methodist church and the seating capacity of the building was taxed to its utmost, many being unable to gain admittance. The meeting was presided over by Dr. W. H. Darnall, the local Presbyterian pastor, and the address of welcome was given by Miss Lullie Pitts, former schoolmate of Dr. Matthews.

A poem of welcome, composed specially for the occasion, was read by Mrs. B. M. Harlan. Dr. Matthews gave a very interesting address and expressed his delight at being back in the home of his boyhood.

At the close of the meeting, Dr. Darnall, on behalf of the Calhoun friends, presented Dr. Matthews with a beautiful ebony gavel, handsomely bound in silver and engraved with which to open the great assembly in Atlanta.

Dr. Matthews was born and reared in Calhoun and began his ministry at the First Presbyterian church here. He went from here to the First church, Dalton and from thence to Jackson, Tenn., from which latter place he was called to his present pastorate, the First Presbyterian church of Seattle, Wash. This is the largest Presbyterian church in the world. Dr. Matthews leaves Calhoun for Atlanta Wednesday morning to meet with the executive committee of the assembly.

SPEED RECORD FOR PROPOSALS SMASHED BY ATLANTA COUPLE

"I love you. Will you marry me?" "Yes, if you'll wait until I eat breakfast."

New York and Chicago may have Atlanta beaten in population and a few other trivial things, but that conversation certainly breaks the world's record for proposals and acceptances.

It was held in Atlanta yesterday morning between Dr. John R. Smith, who is in charge of the Coffee county sanitarium at Douglas, and Miss Emma Wolford, of 26 Alaska street—and over the telephone, at that.

As soon as Dr. Smith arrived in town he called up Miss Wolford. Just exactly an hour and 15 minutes afterwards, she was Mrs. John R. Smith. As soon as the ceremony was over, the bride called up her mother and held another conversation that broke records for brevity.

"Mother, I've just married 'John,'" was all she said.

"And the mother, not to be outdone, simply replied, 'All right, if you'll come home, I'll bless you. I just can't do it over the phone.'"

Wrong Parson Nabbed.

Savannah, Ga., May 13.—(Special).—Savannah's colored population was thrown into a fever of excitement today by the arrest of Rev. Daniel Wright, pastor of the First Bryan Baptist church. A bench warrant was issued by Judge W. H. White, pastor of a little church on the Ogeechee canal, and the officer made a mistake and arrested the wrong man. No sooner had the word been passed around that Pastor Wright was being held than he seemed every colored man and woman in the city became aroused in behalf of the minister, and either called at the ordinary's office in person or telephoned. The minister was detained only a few minutes before he was released.

The trouble grew out of an altercation that was made in a marriage license.

LOST BEAUTY OF WOMEN

Can Be Remedied, in Many Instances, According to Statement of Mrs. Lucile McElroy.

Laurel, Miss.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Lucile McElroy says: "I was sick for three years, with backache, headache, pains in my stomach and back, low down. At times, I could not do a thing, I was so weak."

After I was married, I thought I would try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and after using two or three bottles, I couldn't tell one day from another—felt good all the time.

I not only still use Cardui, but advise every lady I think needs it, to give it a trial, and several whom I have persuaded say they have obtained great relief.

Another good thing I have noticed about Cardui is that it fills out hollows under the eyes which are sunken as if from a bad spell of sickness. It flushes up a woman's eyes, and makes them look bright and plump. Many a woman would be pretty if it were not for her sunken-in eyes.

I believe that Cardui, the woman's tonic, is the only treatment for women."

Do you suffer from womanly troubles? If so, give Cardui, the woman's tonic, a trial.

Judging from the experience of a million other women who have been benefited by this remedy, it should surely do you good.

G. M. A. IS TROUNCED BY PEACOCK-FLEET

Peacock-Fleet administered a severe drubbing to the Georgia Military Academy aggregation yesterday afternoon by the count of 12 to 7. The game was an eight-inning affair and was rather a hatless exhibition.

The fourteenth street lads outplayed the losers in every way. Both teams did good work with the big stick. G. M. A. registering nine safe hits, while the winners came close with eight bingles to their credit.

Both teams, however, seemed rather off in the field. Numerous errors were registered on both sides, and they were usually grouped in the most dangerous periods.

Sams pitched a fine game for his team, causing eight men to whiff the breezen and give only two bases on balls. Sanders did fine work with the big stick. He registered one two-bagger and two singles out of four trips to the platter.

Johns, the catcher, lengthily right-fielder, drove out the only three-runger of the game, while Schenk and Fox also pelted the ball to advantage.

Detroit, May 13.—Boston today knocked Mullin from the box in 10th and three innings and defeated Detroit 7 to 5. The locals scored their only run off O'Brien in the fifth, when Moriarty doubled and came home on Vitt's single. Boston won the game in the first inning through a single by Hooper, an error, Yerkes' double and Gardner's sacrifice fly. Lake, who replaced Mullin, gave way to Zemloch in the eighth and the recruit kept the champions from crossing the plate. In the second Cobb made two successful attempts to steal home. On the first occasion Cobb apparently beat the pitch, but the ball hit Stange's bat and rolled foul; on the second attempt he missed the plate and was retired before he could return to touch it.

ATLANTANS TO GIVE OSCAR WILDE'S PLAY IN AUGUSTA THEATER

Immediately after the performance in Atlanta of Oscar Wilde's play, "The Importance of Being Earnest," by the Atlanta Players' club, it is probable that the entire cast and scenery will be taken to Augusta for a performance at that place.

While the arrangements have not yet been definitely made, it is understood that the play is to be given for the benefit of some well known charity in Augusta, the players giving their services to the cause, beyond the expenses of the trip. The Atlanta performers will be given the following part of next week or the following week, will also be for local charity. In past years quite considerable sums have been raised by the performances.

Rehearsals are taking place nightly at the Grand opera house, where the play is being staged, under the supervision of Warren A. Rogers, dramatic director of the club. The leading parts in the play are taken by Mrs. John Marshall Blanton, Miss Hildreth Burton Smith and Lamar Hill.

GUARANTEE TRUST CASE NEARING CONCLUSION

In the receivership suit against the Guarantee Trust and Banking company, brought by certain stock and bondholders and which has been occupying the time of the superior court for a week, the conclusion of the plaintiff's pleas and depositions is expected after about an hour and half session today.

The defense will then take the stand and endeavor to rebut the reasons advanced by the plaintiffs and to show cause why the company should not be thrown into the hands of a receiver.

By the end of this week it is expected that the case will be concluded. The case has attracted unusual attention, because of the allegations made against President Samuel B. Smith and other officers of mismanagement and fraud in the organization of the present company, which, it is claimed, was formed in order that certain men might unload the stock of a previous concern, which is said to have proven a failure.

That was enough to win, but they knocked Fromme out of the box in the fifth when two singles and Fisher's long triple scored two more runs. Fromme finished the game, and allowed but one hit.

CENTRAL ROAD HEAD TALKS ON THE TARIFF

Savannah, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—That agitation of the tariff question by the democratic government has resulted in a cessation of mining and manufacturing and that stocks have been allowed to run down in consequence is the opinion of President C. H. Markham, of the Central railway, who is here today.

All lines of manufactured goods affected by the tariff, said Mr. Markham, have been allowed to run down to the lowest possible point because of the apprehensions entertained regarding the tariff, since no one wants to stock up on articles which may be affected by lower tariff rates. People generally, says the Central president, want to see an early settlement of the question and to know exactly what commodities will be most affected and exactly what the proposed changes will be. They also want to know what the policy of the new administration is to be.

The effect of the contraction in stocks of mining and manufactured commodities has affected railroading to a certain extent.

ACTION ON HAWTHORNE KEPT FROM THE PUBLIC

Washington, May 13.—The eligibility for parole during the next few months of Julian Hawthorne and Dr. William J. Morton, convicted in New York of misuse of the mails, and many other prisoners serving terms in the Atlanta penitentiary, has been determined by the federal parole board, but the results are withheld from the public.

Hawthorne and Morton will have served the necessary one-third of their sentences on July 25, and provided the parole board and Attorney General McReynolds approve, they will be released at that time. Robert V. Law, president of the parole board, returned to Washington today from a meeting at Atlanta, prepared to make recommendations to the attorney general. These will be made in each case shortly before the date on which a prisoner is eligible for release.

A few days Mr. Law will go to the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth for a parole meeting there, after which he will attend a similar meeting at the McNeil Island, Washington, penitentiary.

C. S. COPPEDGE GETS 8 MONTHS ON GANG FOR MANY SWINDLES

Savannah, Ga., May 13.—(Special.)—A career of irresponsibility was for a time checked when C. S. Coppedge, a young man of Sylvania, pleaded guilty in the city court today to seven charges of cheating and swindling and was given a combined sentence of eight months on the chain gang.

Coppedge, who is well educated, has capitalized the popularity of his grandfather, who was clerk in the city court of Sylvania, and his uncle, the Hon. J. W. Overstreet. For more than a year the lad has operated in Savannah, Atlanta, Waynesboro and other places, where his indulgent relatives are well known, and on the strength of this acquaintance has obtained small sums of money from persons mostly in professional life.

Although he has obtained sums of money from more than 100 persons, his operations running over a period of more than a year, this is the first time he has been arraigned in court.

Hon. J. W. Overstreet, of Sylvania, appeared for the prisoner. He told Judge Freeman frankly the story of the boy's life for the purpose of aiding the court in determining what punishment should be given. The boy's father died when he was only a few months old. His mother married a few months later and Coppedge was reared by his grandfather of Sylvania. Mr. Overstreet said he had splendid training, but was indulged too much.

WOULD FACILITATE COURT PROCEDURE

Bar Association Will Ask for the Appointment of an "Information Deputy."

For the purpose of facilitating the civil court trials in Fulton county, the bar association will ask the public generally to be allowed to appoint a committee from the Atlanta Bar association to confer with the board of county commissioners this morning with a view to securing the appointment of a clerk to be designated "information deputy," who shall have an "information room," with telephone, to keep in touch with all court calendars, lawyers and other parties at interest.

It is believed such a system will be a great help to every one who has any dealings with the civil courts. Arnold Broyles, superior court clerk, will appear with the committee and request that he be allowed to appoint such an "information deputy" with a special office.

How Trouble is Caused.

One of the troubles with the courts in Atlanta is that three, and sometimes four, courts are going at the same time. There will be four or five cases set for each day and none of the judges or lawyers are able to excuse parties and witnesses; so that, as often a case set for Monday may not be reached until Friday, the parties and witnesses lose a great deal of time attending court because they have not been excused from attendance.

The Atlanta Bar association, a short while ago, named a special committee on rules and practice, composed of Burton Smith, chairman; Judge T. P. Westmoreland, R. C. Alston, Ben J. Conyers, Hudson Moore, E. M. Underwood, Jack J. Hastings, Arminius Wright, Arthur Heyman and Archibald H. Davis.

At the last meeting of the association a resolution was passed directing this committee to confer with the clerk and county commissioners, and ask that a deputy clerk be given a room and one or more telephones in the courthouse for the special purpose of keeping himself informed as to the status of the calendars in the various courts trying civil business, and to furnish this information, upon request, to members of the bar and parties and litigants. This clerk to be designated as "information deputy," and the room as "information room."

they are interested is being heard, and when he will be able to give information to all parties having business with the courts, and that will be of great benefit to the community.

ASKS POLICE TO ARREST MAN WHO ELOPED WITH WIFE

"He who fights and gets beat up doesn't get much revenge. Therefore, if the gink that elopes with your wife is bigger'n you, call a cop."

No, that isn't exactly a quotation from Shakespeare; it's the modernized philosophy of Edward M. Brown, of 20 Hayden street, who went to the Terminus station Tuesday morning, his heart full of wrath against J. G. Reeves, a real estate dealer, who, Brown alleges, eloped with his bride of four months Monday.

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR COTTON CROP

Records of 1896 and 1906, Two Dry Years, Leave No Reason for Farmers to Be Apprehensive in 1913.

A comparison of the cotton crops in Georgia for 1896 and 1906, when there was a very small rainfall, with the crop last year, when there was plenty of early spring rain, does not leave any reason for the farmers to feel apprehensive about this year's crop. The figures make such a showing that there is every reason to believe there will be a very excellent average crop this year if there is anything like reasonable conditions from now on.

THE NEW CITY BY THE SEA

That Section of the Great Southeast included in Alabama, Tennessee, Georgia and Florida is increasing in wealth more rapidly than any other part of the United States. Wealth brings leisure and the right to enjoy the things that wealth can buy. It makes possible the ownership of summer homes in nature's charming spots, where the owner of wealth or of moderate means may pass weeks or even months of each year in genuine rest and recreation.

Hundreds of such retreats are being built each season by southern men and women, and it is not a matter of large expenditure, either.

NOW, do you realize that Atlantic Beach, on the east coast of Florida, is more convenient, more easily and quickly reached from Atlanta and all centers west and north of it in Alabama and Tennessee, and from middle and south Georgia towns, than any other resort city on the Atlantic Coast?

Do you know that at Atlantic Beach, surrounding the splendid resort, the Atlantic Beach Hotel, formerly The Continental, a new city is growing up like magic, fully equipped with every modern convenience and necessity?

Do you realize that this new city by the sea is the most important purely civic development ever undertaken in the South and one of the most important in the entire country?

Do you realize that you may build your summer home here and surround your family and yourself with every comfort that you have in your winter home?

This new city—and it is substantial and permanent, not a mere seaside summer resort—is located by the finest ocean beach on the Atlantic Coast. It offers you a home ready soon for your occupancy, or a site for a home that you may create for yourself, overhanging the ocean itself, or back among the great oaks, palms and magnolias—there are no more beautiful surroundings anywhere. You may occupy your home here for three or six months of the year and rent it for the other six.

You are studying over the question: How and where shall I spend my vacations? Now ask yourself the other question, and ask it seriously: Why not come to Atlantic Beach? Why not have here a permanent home where you may come at any and all seasons for rest and recreation? Do you know a really good reason why you should not come here, rather than go to any other place? Nowhere else can you get closer to nature, and in a briefer time get again into touch with the busy outside world.

You can get much help to answer these queries if you will visit Atlantic Beach and for yourself see these wonderful developments, find out how exactly they will fit in with your wishes and ideals. You will get a great deal of assistance if you will write for information. The matter is so important that you will make a mistake if you don't investigate it carefully.
