

BEATEN IN FIGHT, WALTON APPEALS TO STATE COURTS

Warrants Charging Assault and Battery Sworn Out Against Burton Smith, John Cox and Reuben Arnold.

ARNOLD AND COX HELPED SMITH, SAYS PLAINTIFF

In Signed Statement Walton Declares Fight Started Over Remarks Made by Smith to Two Women Witnesses.

Warrants charging assault and battery were sworn out yesterday afternoon in Justice C. H. Girardeau's court against Attorney Burton Smith, brother to Senator Hoke Smith; Reuben R. Arnold, a prominent Atlanta lawyer, and John C. Cox, as a result of a free-for-all fight which is said to have been precipitated by Attorney Smith's alleged remarks to two women witnesses in the Crawford will case.

The trouble started when Attorney Smith leaned over to make a remark to one of the women witnesses who was waiting her turn to make deposition in the case before James N. Anderson, on the fourth floor of the Throver building, where two serious fights have occurred within the past few months.

Two Men Interfered.

The warrants charge that Attorney Arnold and John C. Cox both interfered in the fight and Byrd claims that Attorney Arnold kicked him after Smith.

Before the fight continued any further deputy sheriffs, policemen and citizens rushed into the melee and separated the struggling mass. Among those who stopped the fight were John H. Owens, chief deputy; Attorney Anderson, who was taking depositions; Deputy Newton Garner, clerk; Dan G. Goodlin, of the solicitor's office.

According to witnesses, the trouble started when Attorney Smith addressed himself to several women in the corridors of the court room. It is said by C. W. Walton and W. H. Byrd, in a signed statement, that Attorney Smith made an insulting remark to Mrs. Viola Whitmore, of Coweta county, and to Mrs. Cora B. Cash.

Walton ordered him to desist from talking to the women. "What do you care? You don't own her," Attorney Smith is said to have replied.

"They are my women-folk, and I've got a right to say who shall talk to them," Walton declares that he replied.

Smith Strikes Walton.

At this point, witnesses say he raised his hand as though to strike, and he did so the attorney lunged directly at him and landed his right fist squarely on Walton's left cheek bone, inflicting a deep bruise and knocking the man down.

Then the fight became general. Byrd rushed in and Attorney Arnold and Cox joined the fight.

Attorney Smith landed a telling blow on Byrd and he went down. It was at this juncture that Attorney Arnold claims that he interfered. He says that Byrd was hanging on to Attorney Smith while Walton was making an effort to strike him and that he merely kicked Byrd away.

Walton claims that Cox attacked him after Attorney Smith had knocked him down.

Attorney Smith denied in toto the charges that he insulted any woman or women, and claims that Walton merely objected to his talking to the women who were involved in the case. He claims that Walton insulted him, and that this caused him to knock the man down.

Attorney Arnold also adds his word to that of the lawyer. He denies that Attorney Smith made any improper remark to any of the women, and states that he merely entered the general fight when Byrd was trying to hold Smith while Walton was trying again to strike him.

Warrants Sworn Out.

After the difficulty was over, Walton and Byrd swore out the warrants for assault and battery and issued the following statement of their side of the affair:

Just before the court adjourned in the Throver building, Judge Roan's court room, Mrs. Viola Whitmore, Mrs. Cora B. Cash and Mrs. M. T. Byrd,

TOBIE IS STUDYING MARY PHAGAN'S LIFE

Burns Operative Finds New Theory in Detailed Study of Life of Girl Who Was Murdered.

Investigation into the life of Mary Phagan from the time she was a child until the day upon which she was murdered has been the work for the past several days of C. W. Tobie, the investigator who is preceding William J. Burns in the attempt to find the perpetrator of the crime.

The detective will not reveal his specific reasons for accumulating a record of the girl's life, but steadily he has been familiarizing himself with every detail which it has been possible to learn. When his next month's Atlanta he will have practically every detail in the life of the murdered girl at his finger tips. Tobie states that this is an important part of his criminal investigation.

Ironing Sunday Frock.

Up until the time she caught the trolley car for town, shortly after 11 o'clock the day upon which she was murdered, she had been ironing a summer frock which she intended wearing to Sunday school the following Sunday. It still lies carefully spread across the chair upon which she had folded it, a cherished memento of her bright young life.

A pathetic feature of Tobie's investigation of the victim's past was his interview with a girl employee of the Nunnally factory, a local manufacturing concern. A number of these girls were intimate chums of the Phagan girl, and it was from them that the first floral offering came to the undertaking establishment as her body lay in the silent chapel.

"She was the best girl that any of us knew," the factory girl told the detective. "She was a fine little girl, as good as they make them."

Grand Jury Meets Friday.

Solicitor General Dorsey announced Tuesday that the Phagan case was ready for the grand jury, and would be presented next Friday morning. It will require three or four days, it is predicted, for the returning of either a true or no bill, although it is possible the jury will finish with the case in a single day.

In making this announcement, the solicitor said he anticipated no development which would change or alter his present plans. The larger part of the day was spent in procuring signatures for the constitution of the grand jury, which was obtained by Mr. Dorsey. He also examined a number of witnesses.

The mysterious telephone girl, of whom mention was first made publicly by The Constitution Tuesday, was telephoned the office of Solicitor Dorsey early that morning and informed him that it was she who with the detectives were hunting. She offered to tell all she knew.

Letter on Phagan Case.

Evidence that Mary Phagan was seen outside the pencil factory afternoon on Memorial day was submitted to the grand jury Tuesday in the following letter from Mrs. A. A. Smith, a well-known woman living at 198 West Peachtree street:

"On Monday, May 5th, between 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon, on Whitehall street in front of High's I heard three women in conversation. One was a rather stout woman, apparently 25 years old, and the others were older. I did not note the appearance of the older woman as close as I did the young one, for the reason that the latter did the most talking.

"These ladies were talking about the Phagan case. The younger one said she did not like the looks of Mr. Frank's picture, but that she believed justice ought to be given everybody. She said she knew Mary Phagan well, and that she saw her on Whitehall street, near Trinity avenue, about 4 o'clock on Tuesday, after the parade had ended. One of the other women said if she knew that, that she ought to tell the authorities.

"I was deeply impressed with the sincerity of this young woman, and have deeply regretted that, in the interest of justice, I did not ask her name at the time I overheard her conversation.

"So strongly have I felt upon this subject, that I have dared to write this card, begging that the women referred to, in some way, communicate with the editor of this paper. I suggest the editor, because I believe that he will fairly treat the informant and see that the information is fairly used.

"I have no possible interest in the Phagan case except to see justice done.

"Very truly yours,

"MRS. A. A. SMITH."

UNION SEMINARY GOES OVER A YEAR

Sudden End to Warm Discussion of Charges of Heresy in Institution Comes as a Surprise to Many.

By Charles W. Welch.

"The Lord put one over on the mover of the motion for the previous question at the climax of the oratorical pyrotechnics and fusillade of heretical charges and countercharges this afternoon."

This is a statement made by one of the leaders of the Presbyterian church last night in discussing the late war on the battlefield of Georgia, which came to a close with the adoption of a motion which passed the whole Union Theological seminary matter over to the assembly of 1914.

This statement was made in discussing the attitude of the man who made early filled for the previous question which was explained by a minister who sat next to him and who claimed that instead of meaning the motion which had been made by Dr. Matthews he meant the question which had been the subject of debate during the three hours preceding.

Flag of Truce Borne Forth.

The year of the cannonading had ceased, the rattle of musketry was stilled and indescribable suspense hung over the anxiously waiting throng of commissioners and visitors which had early filled the assembly hall, when the flag of truce was borne forth into the midst of the erstwhile scene of the contending forces. The emblem of cessation of hostilities was held aloft by the speaker's former moderator, Mrs. A. Matthews, D.D.

All during the period of the recess which immediately followed the chaotic proceedings of the initial hours of the Union Theological Seminary discussion, the dissenters of the various sections of certain of the assembly leaders felt sure that some such move would be taken as soon as possible after the reassembling of the assembly hosts, and were therefore not surprised when Dr. Matthews made his motion to refer the entire matter to the committee for which his motion called and to be reported after a most thorough investigation to the general assembly meeting a year hence.

Calls for Question.

It was at this time that an elder arose and called for the original question "thinking," as he said afterward, "that he was calling for a continuation of the full and exhaustive discussion of the seminary matter" into which the assembly had already thrust itself. The singing of the doxology

CHURCH COUNCIL IS ATTACKED AS POLITICAL BODY

Powerful Union Organization, Representing Thirty Church Beliefs, Charged With Influencing National Politics.

SOUTHERN ASSEMBLY MAY WITHDRAW TODAY

Spirited Fight on Assembly Floor Over Withdrawal From Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

Charging that the organization is trying to influence national politics, and that it is adopting a social service regime contrary to the belief of the Presbyterian church, severe attacks were made before the Southern Presbyterian assembly yesterday afternoon against the federal council of the Churches of Christ in America.

This powerful union organization, in which are represented thirty church beliefs and denominations, was the target of strong addresses by Dr. T. M. Lowry, of Memphis, Tenn., who presented the minority report, asking the assembly to withdraw, and by Rev. R. M. Hall, of Galveston, Texas, who admitted that there were many things about the federal council which the Southern Presbyterian church does not approve, yet argued that the assembly remain in the organization.

Assembly Evenly Divided.

With the lines thus drawn between the two leaders who made the varying reports, the assembly is apparently just about evenly divided. The question will be the first thing in order when the assembly convenes Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock, and a lively debate is expected, in which a dozen or more of the commissioners will probably take part before the proposition goes finally to a vote as to whether or not the assembly shall withdraw.

"While I think we ought to remain in the council for the sake of the spirit of Christian unity," said Dr. Whaling in presenting his report, "still I do not approve of the social service program they are adopting. There is a great opportunity in this organization, however, for the expression of unity and fellowship, and I do not believe in building a high wall around us and not taking part in the work of the rest of the churches of America."

Asked Chinese Recognition.

Bitterness of the criticisms, however, was that of Dr. Hall, who is not a commissioner to the assembly, but who was invited to speak because he had been a delegate to the last convention of the federal council in Chicago, at which Dr. Shailer Mathews was elected, causing so much adverse criticism.

Brief Statement Adopted.

The adoption, after long discussion, of the brief statement of belief, submitted last week, was the only event of importance at the afternoon session besides the attack on the federal council.

By a vote of 119 to 64, the Southern

FIGHT AGAINST HARRIS ENDED BY ARBITRATION

Georgian Will Be Confirmed Director of the Census June 25.

Washington, May 20.—Senators who were looking forward to a discussion of census taking from the days of Babylon to the present, were disappointed tonight when the promised fight over the confirmation of W. J. Harris, of Georgia, as director of the census, succeeding E. Dana Durand, was submitted to arbitration and an agreement was made to vote upon it June 25.

Senator Burton had announced his intention to post his colleagues on census taking as a fine art and had piled the space under his desk with ancient and modern records. Other republicans who opposed confirmation of Harris were primed with figures and facts and they looked forward to an indefinitely prolonged, merry war. The republicans had insisted that Harris be not confirmed before July 1 and offers of a compromise on June 1 had been frowned upon. The agreement for a vote June 25 was voted only after it became apparent that those opposed to confirmation at this time were prepared to take advantage of the senate rules and keep talking as long as the senate remained in session.

No charges have ever been filed against Mr. Harris and since a voting arrangement had been made he probably will be approved, for the democrats have plenty of votes to confirm the nomination.

In the two-hour executive session tonight the senate confirmed the nominations of several score postmasters and other officials, including George W. Guthrie, as ambassador to Japan; John T. Mitchell, as collector of the port of New York; G. M. Saltzgeber, as commissioner of pensions, and Albert Lee Thurman as solicitor of the department of commerce.

Nominations of Wm. H. Berry, as collector of customs at Philadelphia, and that of Franklin P. Colcock, as collector at Beaufort, S. C., to which republican objection has been raised, were passed over.

Boyd Is Nominated.

Washington, May 20.—(Special)—President Wilson today forwarded to the senate the nomination of William A. Boyd, of Georgia, to be first lieutenant in the United States medical reserve corps.

RELIGIOUS GARB IN GOVERNMENT SCHOOLS BARRED

United Presbyterians Call Upon President Woodrow Wilson to Change Ruling of President Taft.

CATHOLICS FAVORED, SAY PRESBYTERIANS

Resolution Drawn to Attack Practice of Priests Wearing Their Cossacks in Indian Schools on Reservations.

At the last minute of a long session Tuesday afternoon held by the United Presbyterians, Professor John A. Wilson, professor of church history in Pittsburgh Theological seminary, introduced a resolution which was unanimously passed, calling upon the president to forbid teachers in government schools to wear religious garb of any kind whatever.

The resolution in full was as follows: "Resolved, That the general assembly of the United Presbyterian church petition the president of the United States to direct that no badge or uniform distinctive of any denomination be permitted in any school supported by the funds of the general government."

Amid the greatest applause of the afternoon, the resolution was passed unanimously. This resolution was drawn especially to attack the practice of Catholic priests wearing their garb in government, especially Indian schools. This order allowing such was given by President Taft, it is said, and caused much hard feeling among the ranks of the Protestant denominations at the time, as they accused the Catholics of attempting to gain control of the government schools.

Trustees Named Separately.

Another one of the important resolutions passed was that in the future the trustees of the general assembly will be elected separately from all other boards.

The report of the Freedmen's committee showed that increasing work had been done in the past year. An increase of 12 missionaries over last year was reported, and due increase in all other departments.

The committee on church extension showed a healthy balance on the right side of the ledger, a balance of $6,172.61 being on hand. Dr. M. M. Patterson spoke on behalf of the board, saying: "A house of worship is a covenant to God from His children. You hire the bees to get the honey; we should build our temples of worship beautiful in order that there may be no discordant notes. Plainness is not piety; neither is ugliness holiness."

In reading the report of the board of education, Rev. R. C. Kyle, of Monmouth, Ill., gave some interesting figures in regard to why men entered the United Presbyterian ministry. From a consensus of all the ministers of the church, the following reasons were given: Out of 800 ministers, 354 felt that they had been called by God; 83 were influenced by their mothers to enter the field; 230 felt that from boyhood they had been reared for the calling; 69 were urged by their respective pastors to take the step.

HOPE FOR WALKER IN A NEW KIDNEY, DECLARES DOCTOR OF JOHNS HOPKINS

Attending Physicians, However, Declare the Proposed Operation Would Be Impossible and That Their Patient Will Die Without Any Doubt.

SENSATIONAL REPORTS OF FINAL RECEPTION DENIED BY FAMILY

Vomiting of Portion of Bichloride of Mercury Tablet Believed to Be Reason Why Walker Has Been Able to Fight Death So Long.

Baltimore, May 20.—To transplant the healthy kidney from a man who has just died to the body of B. Sanders Walker, banker of Macon, Ga., probably is the only remedy that would save his life, if the mercury tablet he swallowed has destroyed one of his kidneys, was the statement today of a prominent physician who is a member of the Johns Hopkins hospital staff. He pointed out that Dr. Alexis Carrell, of the Rockefeller Institute of Research, has successfully transplanted kidneys from one dog to another and in a few hours the dogs were walking about and eating as if their organs had not been injured.

According to Dr. Carrell, the same could be done to the human system, and he is the authority for the statement that blood vessels and other organs can be successfully transplanted and will continue to grow in the human body.

Another local physician predicted Walker's recovery, although he might be paralyzed for life. This doctor said he had several cases like the Macon one and in only one did the patient die.

Other high medical authorities here, in discussing the case, expressed their belief that Mr. Walker could not possibly recover.

WALKER FIGHTS GAMELY AS DEATH APPROACHES

By Francis Clarke, Staff Correspondent.
Macon, Ga., May 20.—(Special)—Lying in a room in the Sydney Lanier cottage, which he now owns, B. Sanders Walker, the prominent young Macon real estate man, who last week swallowed a bichloride of mercury tablet which he had mistaken for a headache remedy, is still making a brave fight to withstand the advancing tide of death.

The stricken man's ability to stave off death thus far is ascribed to the fact that he entered a portion of the tablet soon after taking it, and that what remained was shortly afterward removed by the stomach pump before very much had dissolved.

Although he has for four days been aware that his physicians have stood steadfast to their decision that it was merely a matter of time before the end came, he has not for a moment loosened his determined hold upon life.

The attending physicians, when they read the Associated Press dispatch from Baltimore to the effect that transplanting of kidneys might save the life of

FELLOWSHIP PLEAS MADE TO 500 DINERS

Inspiring Speeches Urging Cooperation at Presbyterian Brotherhood Conference

Vigorous pleas for fellowship inspiration and cooperation were made to nearly 500 diners at the brotherhood conference and supper given at the Kimball house to the assembled Presbyterians last night.

The program was so inspiring and practical that it will go down in the history of the presbytery as one of the most advanced movements to unite workers in all branches of church work. The great value of Bible classes for men was outlined by Dr. Stanley B. Roberts of Minneapolis. Dr. William S. Johnson of Houston sent out a message to ministers and laymen.

The speakers were selected at random from among those seated around the table and the addresses of no longer than ten minutes. Some of the speakers included their remarks to the work of the brotherhood and others made appeal on some of the most vital questions concerning the church.

Fellowship and inspiration—these were the sentiments which inspired each speaker. Great emphasis was placed on the religious phases of the work but the social side of the organization which is to promote fellowship was not overlooked. Dr. A. L. Phillips, secretary of the board of education of the Sunday school, spoke of the Presbyterian Brotherhood. He related a number of amusing incidents.

CAPITAL CITY LEASES THE BROOKHAVEN CLUB

Formal Contract Closed Yesterday Includes Right to Purchase at $100,000

The formal contract was closed yesterday by which the Capital City club, 50 acres and including the Brookhaven club on Peachtree road and of which it is to take possession on June 1, using it as a country club.

The announcement to this effect was made last night by Robert F. Maddox, chairman of the committee from the Capital City club which has had the matter in charge.

The magnificent country place with its golf and tennis courts and the lake, will form an ideal place for a country club. It will be known as the Capital City Country Club and will be for the exclusive use of the members of the Capital City club.

The grounds will be leased for a year with privilege of renewal for two years at the end of that time and the additional right to purchase at the end of three years for $100,000 to be paid in first mortgage bonds at a 6 per cent rate. The Capital City club has recently increased its membership from 700 to 800 and now has upon its lists a number of who upon its lists a number of their chance to become members and enjoy both the privileges at the city buildings and those that will be opened up at the new grounds.

The lease for the place was carried out through the following committee from the Capital City club which consisted of: W. B. Johnson, chairman; Robert F. Maddox, chairman; Edward H. Inman, John F. Murphy, Jack J. Spalding, Dr. W. S. Johnson, Preston S. Arkwright, Madison Bell and W. G. Humphrey.

COTTON PICKED FREE FOR GEORGIA FARMERS

Inventors Anxious to Test New Machine Which Worked Well in Small Field

If any farmers in Georgia would like to make trial this fall of a mechanical cotton picker in their fields rather than the time worn Georgia dandy, they may have an opportunity to do so by communicating with the commissioner of agriculture.

Commissioner J. J. Conner was in receipt yesterday of a communication from a farmer in Dallas county, Alabama in which he said:

I have been requested by the Walter L. Lispenard Cotton Harvester corporation of New York city to find some planter who is willing to allow it to make a thorough test of its cotton picker in his fields. This picker is the result of several years costly and patient experiment carried on without any bluster or noise. I have seen the machine work at Selma, Ala. in small fields, and it does fine work. It gets approximately 9 per cent of the open cotton and does not damage stalk leaves, bolls or blooms. It is desired by the concern to get on a plantation where there is a large lot of cotton planted so that the machine can find work daily. The tests would be subject to the orders of the planter and what cotton was picked would cost him nothing.

A place is wanted close to a city and on a railroad if possible. Are there any large cotton plantations close to Atlanta? If there are it would be an ideal place. I think as to his standing the writer refers the commissioner to three banks of Atlanta. While Commissioner Conner knows nothing of the merits of the machine in question he realizes that a successful cotton picking machine would be of vast advantage to Georgia and the whole south and thinks it worth while that the farmers who have an opportunity to try the new invention out.

ACCEPT INVITATION TO HEAR LAST LECTURE

Shriners Will Be Present When Dr. Elliott, of New York, Closes Ethical Course.

It was announced yesterday that over 300 members of the Mystic Shrine of Atlanta had accepted invitations to attend the last lecture of the ethical series which have been provided during the past six months by the Atlanta Ethical Lecture committee.

Dr. John Loveley Elliott, head of the Hudson Guild of New York city and one of the most noted social workers in the United States has been selected by the prominent Atlantans in charge of the lectures to close the 1912-13 season.

In bringing Dr. Elliott to Atlanta the committee has aroused great enthusiasm among local organizations particularly those molded along uplift lines. The Parent Teachers association of the city has through its officers signified its intention of attending the lectures in great numbers.

Types Will Attend. One of the most interesting groups of Atlantans who have promised to hear Dr. Elliott on Thursday evening in Carnegie hall are the members of the Atlanta Typographical union whose officers have written a letter to M. H. Wilenski, chairman of the lecture committee declaring it a pleasure for the body to greet Dr. Elliott as his work for social and labor organization has merited the support of all persons in all strata of society.

Dr. Elliott comes here directly from New York. He will not deliver any other lectures in the south this season and his last lecture in the city on the side of the city are expected to be in attendance as his knowledge of child culture is recognized by leading educators the country over. Over 1,000 invitations have been sent out for this final lecture in the ethical course. The lecture is free it having been made open to the public through the benefaction of over half a hundred of Atlanta's most prominent men and women who think along uplift lines.

FARMERS REJOICING OVER RECENT RAINS

Practically Every Station in the Cotton Region Reports an Inch of Rainfall

Conditions throughout the state have greatly changed from a weather viewpoint during the past three days. Practically every station in the cotton region has reported at least an inch of rain in that time, and farmers are generally rejoicing at the break to the long dry spell.

Locally over 1.25 inches of rain have fallen since the first of May and most of it has come within the past two days. A good rain fell Monday night and another rain followed Tuesday afternoon that soaked well into the earth. About half an inch has fallen in and around Atlanta during the past twenty-four hours and the forecast for today is local showers one of which may strike here.

Velocists has been one of the driest stations in the state since March and practically no rain fell there during April and the first week in May. Recently two inches of rainfall have been reported. Washington and California also reported heavy rains within the past three days and the rest of the farming regions are greatly encouraged.

The temperature which has reached a maximum of 88 degrees each day since Sunday went to 82 degrees on Tuesday and about the same temperature is predicted for today.

FOUND MAN IN HOME, NOW SUES FOR DIVORCE

Robert S. Franks filed petition for divorce in the superior court yesterday against Mrs. Ella A. Franks declaring as the principal reason for a tion that on November 29, 1911, he went to his home at 89 West Cain street and found his wife and a man named John Collier both intoxicated in his dining room. He says that the man refused to leave and as Collier was a cripple, he called the police.

Franks adds in his petition that he then refused to live with his wife and that she went to Mobile and they have been separated since. He declares that she married her in July, 1902, when she was Mrs. Amanda L. H. Goode of Birmingham. The wedding he says took place in Anniston, Ala. Franks adds other charges of intoxication against his wife and states that on a previous occasion she threatened his life while under the influence of liquor.

Tyrus Cobb Hitting 519; Has Made Six Consecutive Hits in Two Ball Games

Poor sick ailing Tyrus Raymond Cobb Jennings had better get a new outfielder for the Braves. In sixteen games the great Georgian is only hitting 519.

In the last two days Cobb has secured three hits in three times up, and has secured five hits in six consecutive hits in six times up.

In the sixteen games he has played Cobb has been at bat 54 times has tallied 13 runs and has made 28 hits in the last four games Cobb has made 9 hits in 12 times up.

NEW FUNERAL PARLORS WILL BE OPENED TODAY

One of the most handsomely equipped funeral parlors in Atlanta will be opened today at 99 Marietta street by A. O. and Roy Donehoo in a building directly across from the First Presbyterian church which has been entirely remodeled and prepared for this purpose.

A large and well-equipped chapel where funeral services may be held and display rooms, offices and reception rooms make the conveniences and comfort of patrons. The firm will also maintain an ambulance service and will supply flowers and carriages.

E. A. Donehoo is president of the new company, Roy Donehoo, vice president, and A. O. Donehoo, secretary and treasurer.

YOUNG MEN NEEDED IN MINISTERIAL WORK

The report of the Woman's board of the United Presbyterian assembly submitted Tuesday morning showed that a greater number of unmarried women had entered the missionary field than the preceding year. The report which also showed that there was no deficit was adopted in full without discussion.

Although the reports showed that missionaries are on the increase yet the number of young men entering the ministerial field this year has decreased. It was shown that while thirty-two ministers had passed away during the course of the year only eighteen had entered the field.

It was urged that more steps be taken to induce young men to consider entering the ministerial field.

SEPARATED BY STRAWS.

Only theological straws separate the four great Presbyterian bodies now in session in Atlanta; they are already a unity so far as agreement on fundamentals is concerned. That must be the conclusion reached by the casual observer after studying the successive sessions of these assemblies, whether held apart or in the great daily union meeting. Those who hope for and believe in organic union of all the different branches of Presbyterianism should find encouragement in this plainly-disclosed fact.

Already there are concrete evidences of approaching union. Overtures between the Southern Presbyterian church and the United Presbyterian have reached that stage where prophecy of early amalgamation is justified. Other branches of the denomination, those represented here and those unrepresented, have as yet reached no definite basis of organic agreement. It was not, in the nature of things, to be expected that the minor divergencies of decades would be melted in a few days.

But the events in Atlanta for the past eight days have demonstrated so clearly the comparatively trivial nature of these divergencies that the simultaneous holding of assemblies has already justified its wisdom. Commissioners will return to their respective presbyteries impressed by the slenderness of the barriers that separate the different branches. As the days pass the rank and file will recognize that details only, and not essentials, stand in the way of complete church union.

The bringing of the Presbyterians into one fold would have looked a harder task had the decisive tests of the past few days revealed antagonisms on fundamentals. Divergence would then have seemed more hopeless than ever. But with the four branches a unit on issues that really make Presbyterianism, it should be a matter of a short time only to bring them together on issues that are merely mechanical subsidiaries to the great cardinal principles of the faith, and in working harmony one organization. That is why the meeting in Atlanta is historic.

THE CHURCH AND THE NEGRO.

Are the churches finally to awaken from their sleep and join hands in meeting that paramount and menacing problem, the question of the negro? There is hope in that direction in the fact that the executive committee of the council of the reformed churches in America, now in session in Atlanta, and including all Presbyterian branches, has recommended that its members co-operate in work among the negroes. Should the recommendation prevail, the Presbyterian church will establish a historic precedent and the first step will be taken toward removing an omission that now indicts most of the church organizations in America.

During the past few days in Atlanta and the rest of the country we have heard much of foreign missions. Report after report has told of enthusiasm over achievements in China, Japan, Oceania, Africa, India, South America. Amid tremendous religious fervor and spectacular exhibitions huge funds have been raised to Christianize, to educate and uplift heathen along the Yangste-Kiang, the Ganges, the Amazon, in the Congo.

Now, the test of missionary work is need. The churches believe they are needed in these far-off places, and they cheerfully expand fortunes and risk life to discharge their duty.

We say advisedly that here in America, among the hundreds of negroes in the south, there is need more vast, appeal more immediate, than in any other part of the world. The heathen abroad are not comparable to the half-heathen in our midst. There are statistics to show, admitted by representative negroes themselves, that the masses of the race are in some respects in worse condition than before the civil war. We eliminate the humanitarian motive. Considered solely from the standpoint of the welfare of the white man, the appeal is overwhelming. Immortality is wholesale among the masses of the negroes. Immortality leads to disease. Disease respects no racial boundaries. It crosses the border line of the black man and infects the white man with murderous democracy. The negro suffers from other than social diseases. He is quick prey to tuberculosis, typhoid—virtually all the diseases that are transmissible. In each of these aspects, and from every angle bearing on unspeakable sanitary living conditions, he is a threat to the white man, no less than to the perpetuation of his own race. His efficiency is being eaten out at the core. He is cursed with an indolence that, unchecked, will make him worthless to himself and a simple parasite on American civilization.

Each and every one of these first causes reach back to lack of religion. What are the churches doing to combat them? Virtually nothing. The appeal of distance is romantic, the tale of far-off wrongs alluring, the story of remote abuses challenging. The churches answer all three—and ignore the greater need within shadow of their spires. The result is tragic, menacing. Let us hope that the action by the council of reformed churches is forerunner of similar action by all the churches.

Foreign missions are excellent. But for every dollar sent the heathen abroad at least another should be spent upon the half-heathen at home.

A CASE FOR THE NATION.

The Japanese controversy has progressed beyond the jurisdiction of California and becomes now solely a question between Japan and the United States. That California should never have been allowed to project itself into the issue is indicated in the recent unofficial publication of interchanges between the department of state and the foreign office at Tokio. The substance of these is that Japan is not concerned over the mere handful of Japanese in this country. There is room enough for her surplus subjects in the Orient. What has aggrieved the Japanese is the palpable discrimination as contrasted with our treatment of other nations.

Views of this nature are wholly borne out by the testimony of unbiased Americans. The Constitution cited recently, for example, the opinions of J. K. Ohl, formerly of this paper, and later far eastern correspondent for The New York Herald. Mr. Ohl declares that having just emerged into the council of the great nations, and having conquered one of the most important of them, Japan resents the constant baiting and intimations of inequality meted out by some of our Pacific states.

These conditions furnish all the material reason why the nation and not one state or several states should pass upon situations of this delicacy. The issue is, in the last analysis, a national one, and should not be muddled by state interference. When the present agitation is disposed of, the statesmanship and diplomacy of this country should be equal to the task of arranging a program that will compel all states having a grievance involving international relations to adjudicate it through the federal government.

HENRY M. FLAGLER.

One of the nation's master-dreamers and master-builders has passed in the death of Henry M. Flagler. He illustrated almost perfectly that type of superman in finance and development that has made America distinct in world history.

Had he done nothing else than aided in the creation and evolution of the Standard Oil company he would have loomed formidable in his day. But it is likely that the work of the later years of his life, the exploitation of Florida, and particularly the construction of the "railroad that goes to sea" between Key West and the mainland, will be laid down as the greatest achievement to his credit.

Flagler owned three great assets: Far-flung mental vision, tenacious courage and the ability to convince others of the plausibility of his dreams. He saw in Florida what no other man had seen—its marvelous adaptability to winter resort uses and its agricultural richness, both three-quarters buried when first he visited the peninsula. By reason of his exertions and his capital, Florida has been transformed into the "Riviera of America." The overseas railroad, projected in the face of overwhelming skepticism, has brought the United States many hours nearer Cuba and made the "Hermit City" part of the mainland.

A dreamer who wrought with tools of substance, and that vastly, he leaves an abiding impression on his own age.

It is said "Japan is willing to reason with us," but her opinion is—there is no reason in us.

Even the old, reliable raincrow misses it nearly as often as the weather man himself.

A Song of Sleep. "Sleep," sings the river, murmuring low and sweet: "Sleep in the daisies that blossom at your feet! Rest from the toiling—life is never long; Sleep be your blessing—sleep be your song. Since the waking is to weep, Sleep—O sleep!" "Sleep," sings the south wind over vale and steep: "On a bed of blossoms sweet be your sleep! Where the daisies whiten, or where the roses throng, Sleep soothe your sorrow—sleep be your song. Still the waking is to weep, Sleep—O sleep!"

No Grape Juice for Him. "Don't come here expecting an invitation to lunch at the white house," wrote the Billville visitor in Washington, "or you'll be disappointed. I didn't get one, although I voted for Bryan every time he ran for president. A Quick Recovery. "He had the sleeping-out-doors habit pretty bad," says The Adams Enterprise, "but his friends now think that he has fully recovered from it. Gossip Caught in Corridors Of the National Capitol

Washington, May 20.—(Special).—President Wilson took office as an advocate of the "open door." Even before his inauguration he promised that all public business would be transacted in full view of the people.

John Corrigan, Jr., secretary to the president, is both accessible and approachable, members of the president's cabinet have been extremely reticent.

On cabinet days, now more from habit than for any other reason, newspaper men wait for the cabinet members to appear following a two or three hour session, and no cabinet member escapes queries from two or more representatives of the press. But these gentlemen now never have anything to say.

In the Olden Days. This is most surprising. William J. Bryan, the secretary of state, has always been a good news source. And Josephus Daniels, himself a newspaper man, usually never failed in the past to come across with a story. Secretary Lane, when he was on the interstate commerce commission, was considered the reporters' best friend, and Postmaster General Burleson, when a representative in congress, was a most dependable source of information.

But grave responsibilities have apparently brought with them an abundance of caution. Indeed, there has been such a dearth of news obtainable from cabinet members after their twice-a-week sessions that one facetious newspaper man has designated the carpeted hall along which the cabinet members proceed after leaving the cabinet room in the executive offices, and where they are approached by the representatives of the press, as "pussy-foot" alley, and the name clings to it.

At the beginning, this was expected. Old Washington newspaper men declared that this was always true of a new cabinet until they got "broke in" and became more familiar with their new surroundings. They expected this disposition to wear away with time, but so far the Wilson cabinet has maintained and continues its original reply to all queries, "We have nothing to say," with remarkable fortitude.

Different Here. At the departments, it is somewhat different. There they are more disposed to talk, especially upon departmental affairs, and appointments, but the fifty hours or more that the Wilson cabinet has been in session at different intervals since the fourth of March, so far as any one knows on the outside, may have been spent in discussing Mexico, California anti-alien laws, or Secretary of State Bryan's new silk hat.

Everybody, however, hopes for a change in this state of affairs. As the newspaper men and the cabinet members become better acquainted in their new and different relations, it is believed that some step will be taken to have one of the members of the cabinet act as spokesman for the lot, and give out just what news they believe ought to be made public. This has been suggested several times, but so far without result. But the newspaper men are not bashful about making a suggestion more than once, and they propose to keep hammering away until they get results.

Democracy's Plans. A continuous campaign for three years is planned by the democratic leaders. They are already preparing for the congressional campaign of next year and the presidential campaign of 1916. The opening of headquarters of the democratic national campaign committee here means the fight is already on. Conferences have been held for the last two days between members of the finance committee of the national committee, President Wilson, and other party leaders.

The plans of the democratic managers to retain the party in power were outlined by Homer S. Cummings, acting chairman of the democratic national committee. Mr. Cummings is a member of the committee from Connecticut and as vice chairman is in charge of the committee's work in the absence of Chairman McCombs in Europe.

"Democracy has been misrepresented in the past," said Mr. Cummings, "and it is desired to avoid misrepresentations in the future. For this reason there will be a bureau in operation here continuously, in charge of Thomas Pence, of North Carolina, to get the facts as we see them before the public. The campaign of publicity will keep in constant touch with several thousand newspapers throughout the country. This work costs money and for that reason the finance committee of the national committee was called on to confer.

"The national and the congressional committees will co-operate to the fullest practicable extent. They have always co-operated in some extent in the past. Duplication of work will be avoided and both committees will be represented in a joint campaign committee which will have charge of the work of the congressional campaign next year. It was the president's idea, which the conference heartily approved, that there should be a number of active senatorial members of the congressional committee. The latter will work to secure the election of senators as well as representatives, which is eminently fitting, in view of the recent ratification of the constitutional amendment providing for the election of senators by direct vote of the people.

"A vigorous campaign will be carried on from now until next year's elections in states where senators are to be elected. The committee will be busy in Connecticut, where Senator Brandegee's successor is to be elected, in Illinois where Senator Sherman's term expires, and elsewhere.

"Everything looks favorable for the progressive democratic party. On all sides, I have heard words of praise and expressions of good will for President Wilson. The people believe in him, and nowhere is there criticism of his course. The country admires his honesty, courage, conviction and tact. The Underwood bill is approved generally except among those in whom is fixed the idea that the government should practice favoritism with certain business men at the expense of the whole people."

The World's Mysteries

DID POE WRITE "THE RAVEN"?

The many admirers of Edgar Allan Poe's beautiful poem, "The Raven," can well imagine the sensation the poem created when it was printed about the middle of the last century. Previous to its writing Poe had contributed to literature several noticeable poems, but here was an exceptional one, and coming from so strange a character, it caused no end of controversy. For a long time there was considerable discussion as to the intentions of the poet in the beautiful lines he had penned, and many of the noted critics dissected the verses and even tried to find more than the general meaning expressed in the title.

In the midst of this controversy a charge was made against Poe that the poem was not original with him, but instead that it was to be found in the Persian. It was contended that Poe had an intimate knowledge of the Oriental language, and had merely translated it, and had preserved the meter with astonishing accuracy and felicity. Several Persian scholars were appealed to for a corroboration or otherwise of this attempt to deprive Poe of the poem upon which his fame mainly rested. A famous tragedienne at this time jumped into the controversy, and there was printed a letter over her signature as follows: "Honor compels me to do justice to a man who had little but his genius to recommend him; and it is certain that the first suspicion thrown will go into many a quarter where the answer will not follow.

"In my mind Poe is entitled to the full credit as having written the poem, and I have in my possession an attempt that he made previous to the writing of 'The Raven' to produce in verse the same peculiar meter which he called 'The Fire Fiend.' Mr. Poe was so unsatisfied with this effort that he threw it aside in disgust. Some months later he sent it to a friend labeled facetiously: 'To be read by firelight at midnight, after thirty drops of laudanum.' I was intimately acquainted with the mother-in-law of Poe, and have frequently conversed with her respecting 'The Raven,' and she assures me that he had the idea in his mind for some time, and was a long time in its writing and used frequently to repeat verses of it to her, and asked her opinion of them.

"Mrs. Clem, knowing the great study I had given to 'The Raven' and the reputation I had gained by the recital of the verses throughout America, took much interest in giving me all the information in her power, and the life and writings of Edgar Allan Poe have been the topic of our conversation for hours.

"M. McCREADY." The accusation that Poe translated the poem from the Persian, made by several writers, called forth a vigorous demand of the defenders of the American poet, to see this Persian poem. A critic writing in a well-known magazine at the height of the accusation said: "The persons who wish to convince us that this poem is a translation from the Persian would do well to produce the Persian original. Until they accede to this request we shall believe, notwithstanding all their assertions, that they are stating their own fancies, or else downright untruths. When they produce the verses of the original manuscript let the manuscript be examined by competent persons, so that we may be sure that it is older than the first publication of 'The Raven.' Here we may fairly leave the matter for the present." To go further into the subject, some years ago Dr. Martin, of the Imperial University, Peking, translated the works of a Chinese poet, Kai Yü, who was banished from China about 20 B. C. One of these poems bore a striking resemblance to "The Raven," the ideas and language being almost identical, though the poet was not certain whether the bird was an owl or a crow. The first verse of this poem was as follows:

"On his bed of straw reclining, Half despairing, half reclining— When athwart the window sill, In flew a bird of omen ill, And seemed inclined to stay."

There is no evidence to show that Poe knew anything of the ancient Chinese poet, but then his detractors affirmed that the Persian poet may have copied or adapted the Chinese poem, changing it to suit his own fancy.

Following the Chinese story came one from Colonel Joyce, who in his new "Life of Edgar Allan Poe" announced that the American poet had copied "The Raven" from the Italian. The gallant colonel quoted many lines to show that save changing "The Parrot" into "The Raven" there was nothing original in Poe's poem. He avers that "The Parrot" was published in Italy in 1819.

Poor Poe! He has been abused, slandered and vilified, and worst of all was accused of stealing other men's ideas. Is it possible that the thoughts of the Chinese and later the Persian poet have been floating around through the centuries and materialized at last in the brains of the Italian and the American in the past century?

Philanthropy

By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Slawsh"

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.) Philanthropy is a very high class method of putting it back.

When a man gives a dime away, that's charity. When he gives ten dollars that is generosity. But when he gives a million away, that is philanthropy.

Philanthropy has filled the country with orphan asylums, old people's homes, hospitals and missions. And in getting together the money with which to build these things, some of the philanthropists have made enough orphans to fill the asylums, enough poor old people to crowd the homes and enough cripples to congest the hospitals.

It is not necessary to manufacture these orphans and cripples in order to make a great fortune, but it is the easiest way. And this country is a great labor saver.

Some men can make a million by inventing useful machinery, discovering gold mines or selling goods more skillfully than other men. But most men have to do it by paying small wages and getting together with other men to make prices look like a monoplane contest for the altitude record.

Many a man has saved a cistern full of dollars by not installing safety appliances on his machinery and afterwards has become a philanthropist by building a human repair shop to take care of the men who got mixed up in said machinery.

Many a man has employed men and women for a trifle less than a living wage and has sent his name thundering down the ages by building homes to take care of them when they can work no longer.

For this reason many thoughtless people are inclined to look on philanthropy with great scorn. They are the kind of people who, if robbed by a hold-up man, would not be gracious enough to thank him for giving back change.

However, there is nothing wrong with philanthropy, and the men who give some of it back are better than those who endow a duke or do rescue work for frayed Barons. If we watched our money more carefully, there would be fewer philanthropists. And there would also be much less need for philanthropy.

It Was Heavenly! (From Northeast Georgian.) Two old yellow wasps, taking the editor's bald head to be an other old nest, flew down upon it Tuesday just afternoon, and what they did for that old cranium was a plenty. You may talk about folks seeing stars, and other heavenly things, but the half has never been told.

DESTINY AND THE LEGISLATURE.

By Phillip Weitzner, Secretary Prison Association of Georgia

The family drifted into a north Georgia factory town. Their father was a "bucket-toter," the wages of the mother and the two older girls going to the support of the family. All were entirely illiterate. Booze had the father in its clutch. Pay day was the big day with him. He drank up the hard-earned money of his wife and children. Soon the woman got tired of it. First, she kept her pay envelope. This was a continual source for family fights. So she quit him and took up with somebody else.

The father and children moved to Atlanta. He remained the worthless old creature he had always been. Chronically out of employment, always in debt, occasionally tending bar, moving to beat the landlord—this was his history. The home was a cheerless affair. The youngest slept in the same bed with her father. The two older girls slept under a heap of rags, & quilts on the floor, while a boy quartered himself on a set of old springs in a corner.

Of the three girls, the youngest was by far the likeliest. The other two had scarcely been in the city a year before they had become characters of the street, dodging from one night stand to another. And it was not long before their bodies were ravaged by disease. In the midst of it all lives little Ada, so far uncaught. But how long?

The law says Ada is a wayward child, inasmuch as she is the habitual associate of vicious and immoral people.

The law says that Ada ought to be removed from this atmosphere of vice and given an equal chance to grow into self-respecting womanhood.

The law created the Georgia State reformatory to take care of the training of juveniles, both girls and boys, but the state said it did not have money enough to care for anybody but the boys.

Will the next general assembly remember Ada and the hundred or more cases just like hers? On our lawmakers will rest the responsibility. There is only one course for Ada to pursue, and that leads to destruction. Ada never had a chance.

The March of Man.

I. 'Tis the law universal Where worth is the test, That you shall not stand idle In the roadway of rest; Progress, and endeavor, And work is God's plan— Forward, forever, Is the march of Man!

II. Onward! is the watchword: The stars, as they roll, Cry down from their heights To the on-faring soul: "O Spirit immortal, Be strong in the strife, Even Death is the portal From Life unto Life!" —JOSEPH W. HUMPHRIES, Atlanta, Ga.

(From Royston Record.) Our clever, efficient and enterprising postmaster, G. G. Ridgway and R. G. Dickenson, after several days strenuous labor, have finished applying the putty knife and paint brush to both the exterior and interior of the Royston postoffice and experts say the work was done in excellent order.

DELAY IS REFUSED IN CONTEMPT CASE

Taking of Evidence in Trial of Colonel W. A. Huff, of Macon, Begins Wednesday Morning.

By Francis W. Clarke
Macon, Ga., May 20.—(Special)—Actual taking of evidence in the case of Colonel W. A. Huff, one of Macon's most venerable and respected citizens charged with contempt of court, will begin tomorrow morning. Judge W. I. Grubb of Birmingham presiding in the place of Judge Emory Speer who will probably take the stand tomorrow as one of the witnesses.

Notwithstanding a determined effort on the part of Attorney General Thomas S. Felder counsel for Colonel Huff of Atlanta to have the hearing put off for a considerable time, Judge Grubb refused to do so and gave him only the balance of the day, in which to secure new witnesses which he claims he will need.

Interest in the trial is at white heat in Macon the defendant being one of the city's most beloved residents. When the case was called this morning the court room had been packed for some time and interest in spectators were banking in the windows and standing in the doorway while hundreds were forced to leave the building without being able to get near the court room.

When the case was called this morning Mr. Felder offered a motion to dismiss the proceedings, contending that if there had been any act of contempt of court committed by his client it was criminal contempt while the rule nisi issued by Judge Speer ordering the arrest of Colonel Huff on the charge of contempt was made a part of the civil action of W. L. Bidwell v. W. A. Huff which is the style of the Huff bankruptcy case long pending in the United States district court. He declared that contempt could not be held in contempt because no order of the court in the case of Bidwell v. Huff had been violated.

Presents New Motion

District Attorney Oliver D. Street of the northern district of Alabama who is conducting the prosecution on behalf of the government at that point presented a motion asking the defendant to show cause why he should not be held in criminal contempt. He declared that Judge Speer should not be held in contempt for the manner in which he had proceeded for he had not departed in contempt of his duty. In court proceedings that the case had proceeded no further than the issuance of the order and the attachment to the defendant to show cause.

Judge Grubb held that now that the government had presented a motion to show cause to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of the order of Judge Speer under which Colonel Huff was arrested last July had no further bearing on the case. He however granted the motion of the government that he desired.

Mr. Felder declared he had not anticipated the motion of the government to fight the case on the ground that it was purely one of criminal contempt instead of civil contempt. He asked for further time in which to prepare an answer and get his witnesses together adding that he had expected the case to be dismissed on demurrer and had made no further preparation.

Judge Grubb told the attorney general that he did not think a lawyer had a right to anticipate the ruling of the court and make no preparation for the preparation though he was willing to grant one day or possibly longer if it could be shown that there was any chance for a miscarriage of justice.

Delay of One Day

Mr. Felder asked for a couple of weeks delay stating that he had an engagement for next Monday in a long pending case. The court declared however that he could not come back to Macon before July and he wanted to proceed. He finally granted a delay until tomorrow when if the defendant can show that there is a chance for justice to miscarry then he may consider a further continuance.

When the case was called this morning in the United States court room was crowded so great is the interest centering in the outcome. Inside the bar railing two thirds of the members of the Macon bar association were seated while every seat outside the railing and the hallway outside the court room was filled.

Col. W. A. Huff was one of the first to arrive and took a deep interest in what was going on. He appears to have no fear of the outcome.

The contempt case is the outcome of letters sent to Judge Emory Speer, United States district judge last July in which Colonel Huff criticized the

How Diamonds Will Advance in Price

A diamond now costing $200 will cost $220 as soon as the new tariff bill becomes effective.

The advance made on diamonds by the syndicate on the general run of diamonds averages 14 1/2 per cent year. This increase will run the cost of a $200 stone up to $230.

This increase is not a guess but solid facts.

The tariff bill will no doubt become effective in July or August. Both increases will be felt here in the next few months.

We offer our present stock at the old prices. It will pay you in dollars and cents to anticipate your requirements.

Selections sent on approval Liberal terms allowed.

MIDDLE GEORGIA SHIPS FIRST CAR OF PEACHES

Growers Do Not Expect That Crop of State Will Be Over 1,500 Carloads.

Augusta, Ga., May 20.—(Special)—The first carload shipment of Georgia peaches was shipped east from Macon this afternoon going to New York. The peaches came from Houston county, around Fort Valley and Marshallville. The majority of them were small and by no means in the same class with those which were being shipped at this time last year though the price was somewhat better.

Yesterday a good sized crate shipment went to New York from the Bateman orchards at Byron and there will be daily shipments from there from now on.

Growers declare they do not expect the Georgia peach crop this year to total more than 1,500 cars where last year there were 2,500 cars. Last year, though the price was low and the crop so large it was impossible to handle it properly with the result that many cars were lost en route through deterioration and in many cases the freight amounted to more than the value of the fruit.

Good prices are expected to prevail throughout the present season and that grower who has prospects of a good crop considers himself exceedingly fortunate. As it is many of the growers will make more money this year on a small crop than they did last year on a large one.

YOUNG COLLEGE RENTED BY THE VASHTI HOME

Thomasville, Ga., May 20.—(Special)—The trustees of Young's college have formally leased the college property to those in charge of the Vashti home and it will be used in connection with the present home which has done so much great work in the support and education of young girls.

The name of Young's college will be retained and it will be used as an educational institution thus complying with the requirements under which the original college was founded. The money for this college was left by the late Colonel Remur Young and under the will this money could never be used for buying or equipping property except for school purposes under which the property comprises educational buildings, dormitories etc. and is eminently fitted for the use of the Vashti home and will enable that institution to accommodate a much larger number of inmates than heretofore.

NURSES' ASSOCIATION CONVENES AT AUGUSTA

Augusta, Ga., May 20.—The seventh annual convention of the Georgia Association of Graduate Nurses began this session here this morning. The welcome address on behalf of the Augusta nurses was delivered by Dr. W. H. D. Smith, dean of the medical department of the University of Georgia. At 1 1/2 P. M. the sessions will continue for two days.

This afternoon Miss G. B. Knapp executive secretary American Association for Prevention of Infant Mortality spoke and Miss Ellen P. Crandall executive secretary of the national organization for public health nursing also made a talk. Delegates from all over Georgia are arriving here today.

BUTTS COUNTY QUILT HAS 20,152 PATCHES

Jackson, Ga., May 20.—(Special)—Late in April The Constitution reported from Senola that there was a quilt in Coweta county containing 5,000 patches of which the county has since been casting about endeavoring to find one with a larger number. The search is completed and that Mrs. F. M. Allen of this city is the owner of a beautiful quilt of many colors containing not only patches but nearly four times as many will interest quiltmakers. The one in her possession has 20,152 pieces each about half an inch square and was made in the year 1886.

RAIN BRINGS RELIEF TO FARMERS OF CRISP

Tifton, Ga., May 20.—(Special)—The showers which began Saturday and have continued through yesterday and today although partial have been a boon to the farmers of this section. Some report cotton coming up which was planted over six weeks ago. The rain also came in time to prevent some of the late oat crops from being a total loss. Oat crops which were sowed last fall had already matured.

DEATH OF WIDOW MOORE HALTS INSURANCE SUIT

Husband Tried to Collect Insurance on Brother He Was Convicted of Murdering.

Augusta, Ga., May 20.—A telegram from Washington, Ga., Tuesday evening announcing the death of Mrs. Louise Moore widow of Tom Moore, and administrator of Tom Moore's estate, brought to an abrupt close Mrs. Moore's suit against a life insurance company for the recovery of $3,000 which Tom Moore had on the life of his brother John whom he was convicted of murdering in 1907.

The case which was being tried for the fifth time will now be brought in by the insurance company.

The death of Mrs. Moore brings up the total death list to three since a little more than seven years ago when Tom Moore a merchant of the quiet little town of Keysville took a policy of $3,000 on the life of his brother John. One afternoon in January 1907 John Tom and a negro went eight miles below Keysville to get some cows. That night Tom and the negro returned, but John did not.

A search was instituted which resulted in the finding of John's body by the side of a little traveled neighborhood road. He had been shot several times through the head and his body was cold. Tom Moore was arrested and convicted of the murder and was sent to the penitentiary for life. He and old Bill Moore escaped from the state farm and Tom was killed by a posse.

However while serving his sentence Tom Moore petitioned for his pardon and came down from Milledgeville as the plaintiff in the action which was on his brother's life and which was pending in the court of the county. A mistrial resulted when Tom Moore was killed the action was brought in the name of his wife who was appointed administrator of the estate. Now a new administrator has been appointed and Tim Moore's children are his heirs.

MRS. FELTON FEARS UNDERWOOD REVISION

She Thinks South Will Be Hard Hit—Defends the Southern Cotton Mills

Washington, D. C., May 20.—(Special)—Mrs. W. H. Felton of Cartersville who came here to protest against the Lowmeyer tariff bill from the Gainesville postoffice is extremely pessimistic in her views on the Underwood tariff bill. She regards it as dangerous to the south.

Felton her husband who represented the seventh district for many years was a member of the ways and means committee while in congress. Mrs. Felton then got her first insight into the mysteries of tariff tinkering and has been keenly interested ever since.

Georgia and the Carolinas will be very hard hit by the rates in the Underwood bill said Mrs. Felton. I have asked for a chance to appear before the finance committee and will give them my views if I am permitted of course it is only an opinion but I believe there are good grounds for my belief that sharp reductions in the cotton schedule will be disastrous to our section of the country.

She also believes that President Wilson is making a mistake in insisting upon free sugar.

In speaking of the outcry in the north about twenty years ago against the third class of the railroads, Mrs. Felton said she had made a personal inspection of mill communities at that time and reached the conclusion that the factory operatives were better off than they would have been on the farm. In other words she believes that it takes a higher grade of intelligence and more in industry to make a success on the farm than in the factory. She wants to tell the finance committee the results of her study of the cotton mill industry then and since.

Although nearly eighty years of age Mrs. Felton is still active and keenly interested in current affairs. She was at the white house this afternoon when the Old Guard was received.

ROADS OF THOMAS ARE MUCH IMPROVED

Thomasville, Ga., May 20.—(Special)—The weather this spring has been fine for road work in this section and the gangs have been putting the highways of the county in good condition. The work on the road to Coolidge towards Moutrie has been completed and the new iron and concrete bridges installed over the watercourses. The commissioners will now take up work on the road between Thomasville and Monticello Fla. an important feature of which will be the bridging of Olive creek which during winter gets very much out of its banks and is a great drawback to those using that highway. Chairman Pringle is very much interested in having all of the roads in Thomas county in the good road condition and work on them will be pushed during the coming months.

TYBEE SUMMER GIRLS WILL BE PROTECTED FROM THE MASHERS

Savannah, Ga., May 20.—Summer girls who foregather at Tybee island Georgia's Atlantic City this season need have no fear of the unwelcome advances of the seashore resort mashers of the professional variety. Tybee town council has just adopted drastic ordinances placing the ban on any and all forms of mashing and the members of the board of aldermen of the little municipality say they are going to see to the enforcement of the provisions of the statutes.

These ordinances provide for a fine of $100 or thirty days in jail or both for anyone convicted of disorderly conduct the principal definition of which according to the measures is having been put up all over the island placards have been put up all over the island.

NEW YORK CITY BONDS ARE IN GREAT DEMAND

New York, May 20.—Four hundred and ninety two bids were received to day for the $45,000,000 issue of bonds bearing interest at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent per annum. Many of the bids were for allotments of less than $25,000 the total reaching over $66,000,000. Four and a half per cent is the highest interest rate offered by the city in more than a quarter of a century. The chief offerer was a corporation or a fraction over. More bids were received from individual investors than any city bond sale since 1908.

HEIRLOOM RECOVERED BY MISS LULA BOYKIN

Washington, D. C., May 20.—(Special)—The recovery of a prized bracelet which was a heirloom and a college fraternity ring which she lost in Washington last December greatly delighted Miss Lula Boykin of Carrollton today when she learned that the police desired to keep the jewels as evidence believing they had been stolen and they were only turned over to Representative Adamson a day or two ago.

The Cassin Is Launched.

Bath, Maine, May 20.—The United States torpedo boat destroyer Cassin a 1,000 ton ship took her maiden dip today. Miss Helen Cassin Carus of Washington granddaught of the late Admiral Cassin, broke the bottle of champagne. The Cassin is a sister ship of the Cumming, which will go overboard early in July. Her contract price was $761,500 and a maximum speed of the knots an hour will be required at the official trials next month. The destroyer will burn oil exclusively.

PYTHIANS TO CONVENE TODAY IN WAYCROSS

Crowds of Delegates From All Over State Have Reached South Georgia City.

Waycross, Ga., May 20.—(Special)—Tomorrow the annual convention of the Knights of Pythias of Georgia will convene in Waycross, to continue through Thursday. Elaborate preparations have been made for the reception of the hundreds of visitors who will be here for the big gathering and special attention has been paid to the entertainment features.

Tonight over half of the delegates are in the city, arriving on the afternoon trains from all parts of the state. Special trains from Savannah and Atlanta will arrive during the night with several hundred delegates. And by morning all of those who will participate in the convention will be in Waycross.

New Hotel Opens

On account of the convention the partially completed Phoenix hotel was opened today. All hotels have reservations that take all available rooms and many private homes have been thrown open to the Knights.

It is reported that there will be two interesting contests in the election of officers. Grand Keeper of Records and Seal of the Grand Order of the Knights of the city Mayor Harry D. Reed will deliver a welcome address the response to be delivered by Hon. James W. Austin grand chancellor of Atlanta. An address of welcome on behalf of the local Pythians will be delivered by J. Lee Crawley, past chancellor and the response to this will be by Hon. Miller S. Bell of Milledgeville grand vice chancellor. After the opening exercises the delegates will be escorted to the convention where the sessions of the convention will be held. At 11 o'clock the official photographer M. J. Dolan will take a photo of the delegates after which the first session will open and last until 1 o'clock. The Pythian Sisters who hold their sixty annual convention here at the same time as the Knights hold their convention will be guests at this bar because also and a great time is anticipated.

UNUSUAL PUNISHMENT FOR 23 MIDSHIPMEN

Annapolis, Md., May 20.—Punishment of a rather unusual nature was today meted out to twenty three members of the third class of the naval academy. The youths had joined in a petition to the secretary of commerce asking him to intercede in a case of a classmate who had been found deficient in his conduct grades.

As their action was in violation of naval regulations the offender's status of enjoying the usual shore liberty during the summer cruise are to undergo special instruction in the regulations. When they return to the academy after the cruise they are to be denied the usual summer vacation and will have to pass an examination in the subjects they have been studying on during the cruise.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels in referring the matter to Superintendent Gibbons for action severely censured the young men.

CRISP COUNTY COTTON INJURED BY DROUTH

Cordele, Ga., May 20.—(Special)—Farming conditions in Crisp county just at this time are not so promising. A drouth that has continued in the greater portion of the county since planting time has prevented much of the cotton from coming up and the stand is not very good in any part of the county. It is estimated that the cotton crop for this year has already been damaged between 10 and 15 per cent by the drouth. Corn and other crops have also been stunted by the dry spell.

Taken Back to Gang

Thomasville, Ga., May 20.—(Special)—Officers from Berrien county came to Thomasville yesterday and carried back C. R. Hodges a convict who escaped from the Berrien county gang. He had more than a year ago Hodges attained notoriety here about two years ago by forging a note for $600 on the Citizens bank of this city a crime for which he was convicted and sent up for seven years. He was sent from here to the Berrien county gang but only served there a short time before making his escape.

The Entre-Nous club will entertain with an informal dance at Segard's Wednesday evening, May 21, 1912.

Country Fair and Dance.

A unique occasion Friday inviting a general patronage will be the "Country Fair" to be held on Mrs. Don A. Pardee's and Mrs. George Traylors lawns on Ponce de Leon avenue, the ladies of St. Elizabeth Guild, St. Luke's church, to be in charge.

There will be a series of picturesque booths, at which all kinds of things will be on sale, including refreshments. At night there will be a "Home-stead" with a quartet of singers, a "Fiddler" and country dances. An admission of 10 cents will be charged.

Exhibition of Paintings.

An exhibition of paintings by pupils of Miss Virginia Woolley is being shown at the Carnegie library this week. The work consists of sketches in oil from the model still life, and outdoor scenes about Atlanta.

Meeting Postponed.

Owing to unavoidable circumstances, Mrs. F. M. Hardin, president of Ladies Aid to Railroad Y. M. C. A., has cancelled the meeting for May. Next meeting will be third Wednesday in June.

Daily Music at the Club.

Music has been secured for the Piedmont Driving Club for every afternoon, and the innovation will make still more attractive this popular "summer resort".

The orchestra will be in attendance daily from 3:30 to 7:30 o'clock, and the ball room will be open for those who care to dance.

The terrace and its surroundings have never been prettier, and the charm of music will be one more incident completing enjoyment of the late afternoons at the club.

To Assembly Visitors.

But for Fifteen Long Years Mrs. Dickson Could Not Stand on Her Feet for Any Length of Time.

Dallas, Tex.—"I cannot recommend Cardul, the woman's tonic, too highly," writes Mrs. R. J. Dickson, of 2907 Bryan Street, this city. "It is the greatest boon to those suffering from womanly trouble in existence."

For 15 years I was a sufferer from such severe pains, caused from womanly trouble. I could not walk, or even stand on my feet, long at a time. I also had backaches and headaches. I commenced taking Cardul, the woman's tonic, and now I can walk anywhere I want to, do my own work, and feel better than I have for ten years.

I am so thankful that I took your medicine, as I feel like a new woman entirely.

My advice to all women is to try Cardul, the woman's tonic, when they feel the need a tonic, as it will certainly do for them what it has done for me."

Cardul goes to the weak spots and helps to make them strong. It is for the weak, tired, nervous, irritable women, who feel as though everything were wrong, and who need something to quiet their restless nerves, and strengthen their worn-out systems.

Thousands of women now enjoy good health as a result of taking Cardul. Why not you? Try it. At all druggists.

Today's Beauty Recipes

By Mme. D'Almeida.

"A woman feels like crying when she finds her comb full of hair. Falling hair, and faded, dull and brittle hair means that the scalp is harboring a parasite that destroys hair. Mother's Shampoo removes these parasites and puts the scalp in clean, wholesome and healthy condition, so that the hair will grow luxuriantly.

"Delatone is so popular as a superfluous hair remover because its use does not discolor or roughen the skin. To remove hair on the face or forearms cover the surface for a minute or two with a little paste made by dissolving Delatone in water. When the paste is removed the hairs will be gone.

"Headaches, pains in back or joints, rheumatism, sore muscles and other aches yield to Mother's Salve, which penetrates the pores and relieves almost instantly.

"Every woman is responsible for her complexion, and a good complexion is a woman's greatest charm. To correct facial blemishes, remove muddy spots and make the skin fresh, fair and lovely, gently massage the face, neck and throat each morning with a lotion made by dissolving an original package of mayatone in a half pint of witch hazel."

WASHINGTON WAITING TO HEAR FROM TOKIO

Probable That California Law Will Be Tested in United States Court.

Washington, May 20.—Interest in negotiations between the United States and Japan over the California land ownership bill is being kept at a high pitch in Washington.

In official circles it is regarded as significant of the desire of the administration to convince the Japanese government of its purpose to do everything possible to maintain the best of relations with America.

It is believed here that the visit to California of the Japanese statesmen, Hara and Hattori, representing both sides of the great political divide, will be of benefit, as they will be able to enlighten their people at home as to conditions in California.

It is understood that the state department is looking to the Japanese government or some Japanese citizen, to test the new law by recourse to the United States courts.

In his protest of May 9 to the state department, the Japanese ambassador is understood to have made it perfectly clear that Japan, finding it impossible to deal directly with the state of California, was relying entirely upon the federal government to insure what he believes to be fair treatment for its subjects.

The purpose of the measure would be to prevent individual states from passing laws which might cause friction with foreign countries.

Since the death of the old Japanese emperor the authority of the government has steadily diminished in resisting the growing influence of public opinion, and the spirit of the democracy is augmenting throughout the empire.

It is generally believed here that Washington will find a solution of the problem, but the more conservative elements in Japan are now echoing the public agitation for equal treatment of the Japanese.

Efforts of the Japanese government are concentrated at present on pacifying public opinion, but the task is regarded in many quarters as a more difficult one than at the time of the California school controversy, or even a year ago.

A prominent official said today: "The Japanese people feel that their national honor is involved. The present question will be solved peacefully, but what is needed to assure the permanence of our traditional friendship is a change of heart in the Americans toward the Japanese."

Washington, May 20.—A cordial message of congratulation and good wishes from President Wilson and the American government was carried to President Menocal by the special mission representing the United States at the inauguration of the Cuban executive today.

In felicitating the new executive upon the orderly and peaceful transfer of power from one party to another, the address of the mission laid stress upon the intention of the United States to support "firm and just government against all elements of disorder," and reiterated President Wilson's declaration of policy toward all American nations.

The United States has nothing to seek in Cuba except the lasting interest of the people, the security of popular government and the development of such personal and commercial relations between Cuba and the United States as will redound to the profit and advantage of both and interfere with the rights and liberties of neither.

WEST MITCHELL TO BE REGRADED

Property Owners and Improvement Committee of County Commission Confer on the Work.

Following a conference between Captain R. M. Clayton, chief of construction, members of the improvement committee of the county commission, and property owners on West Mitchell street, held Monday afternoon, an announcement was made that work on regrading the street would start within the next ten days.

The entire street will be regraded, according to plans submitted by the city and agreed to by the county. It is understood that a force of laborers will be put to the task immediately.

S. M. Inman and George S. May, two of the foremost in having the city favorably placed before the city and county authorities, went with Captain Clayton and the commissioners on the tour of inspection.

MENOCAL INAUGURATED PRESIDENT OF CUBA

He Promises to Devote Energies to Developing Resources of Island.

Havana, May 20.—Amid scenes of intense patriotic enthusiasm, General Mario G. Menocal was inaugurated as Cuban today as third president of the Cuban republic. The ceremony took place in the historic palace of the Spanish Captains-General in Havana and was attended by a brilliant assemblage, including a special American mission. Special fetes were held tonight when the city was brilliantly illuminated.

After his inauguration President Menocal received the American special mission composed of the third assistant secretary of state, Dudley Field Malone, Brigadier General Enoch H. Crowder, judge advocate-general of the army, and Edward Bell, of the Latin-American division of the state department, acting as secretary, and the members of the American legation.

The American minister, Arthur M. Beaupre, officiating as chief of the mission congratulated President Menocal in behalf of President Wilson. Secretary Malone read a message of felicitation from the president of the United States, at which President Menocal responded in terms of the highest appreciation for the good wishes extended to himself and the Cuban people.

President Menocal, on taking office, contents himself with the declaration that he will devote all his energies to giving the country a clean business administration which will foster the industries of the island and develop its splendid resources, which will welcome capital and immigration and maintain friendly relations with all nations, and especially with the United States, to which Cuba is so closely linked by bonds of mutual affection and interest.

EXEMPTION OF LABOR BITTERLY DENOUNCED

Manufacturers Urge Wilson to Veto the Sundry Civil Bill Unions Attacked.

Detroit, May 20.—Practically all of today's sessions of the convention of the National Manufacturers' association was taken up with discussion of labor organizations and the labor situation. The discussion culminated this afternoon in sending to President Wilson resolutions protesting against the sundry civil appropriation bill and urging the chief executive to veto it because of the provision against using funds for prosecution of labor organizations under the Sherman act.

The resolutions were in part as follows: "The moral effect of the provision preventing the use of public funds specifically appropriated to enforce the Sherman act, for the prosecution of labor and agricultural combinations violating that statute, is to condone the acts which the law has condemned and to make the participants in such strikes, boycotts and all forms of labor disturbances believe that they are justified in acts of lawlessness when done in furtherance of a trade dispute.

"It implicitly pledges the administration to similar changes in the substantive law which would approve and validate the most vicious forms of the secondary boycott in interstate commerce, laboring compulsory discharge of non-union men as a means of compelling the acceptance of the demand by the boycotting combination.

"Making it unlawful and right for one class of citizens to do that which is done by another class, insults the law-abiding members of the excepted class, offends the moral sense of our people and under the decisions of our courts, would be likely to inaugurate the act and thus further the sinister designs of those who would destroy the statute itself.

A large part of the secretary's report was devoted to the so-called "embargo placed on free labor" by promoters of the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco.

Delegates did not conceal the fact that they view the policy of the exposition managers to employ none but promoters of the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco.

In his address President Kirby bitterly attacked organized labor and closed shops. He also attacked members of congress for alleged subservience to the labor trust.

CAPITOL GOSSIP

Captain "Tip" Johnson. There was no more enthusiastic man among the state officials at the capitol yesterday than was Captain "Tip" Harrison. He was just brimming over with good feeling to all the world, even the yankees. It was all because of the good things he had heard at the informal love feast of the Blue and Gray Monday evening when veterans of both armies now in attendance on the Presbyterian assemblies were invited to meet with the Atlanta Camp No. 159, U. C. V., at their regular monthly meeting.

Captain "Tip" said: "I have never heard a finer tribute paid to the Christian character of our southern generals than was paid them by the Rev. Mr. Jones, chaplain of the G. A. R. camp at Baltimore. He extolled in eloquent terms the splendid piety and moral manhood of Lee and Jackson and Gordon and Leonidas Polk. In this respect, the north had no leaders to compare with those of the south."

Another thing that pleased Captain "Tip" immensely was the enthusiastic way in which the northern visitors received the proposal made by Judge George Hillyer that the United States take care of the ex-slave and relieve the white people of the south of the burden of them.

"We have to take care of the old darkeys because we will not let them starve, and the young generation of negroes, neither can nor will," said Captain Harrison, and I think it is nothing but fair that those who gave them their freedom, thus depriving them of the protection of those who would have cared for their old age, should have to take care of them now."

May Not Indorse Paper. Unless it is specifically empowered to do so in its charter, no corporation may make an accommodation indorsement of commercial paper. Such is the decision of the court of appeals in the case of the Savannah Ice company v. Canal Louisiana Bank and Trust company, et al., which was handed down by the court yesterday. The Savannah Ice company, which had been the defendant in the case of Savannah below had indorsed paper for the Crescent Ice company, of New Orleans, for $8,000. The court held that no corporation, whether public or private, organized under the laws of the state of Georgia, can, in the absence of express authority in its charter, lend its credit for the mere accommodation of third persons.

CORKER TAKES STAND AGAINST TARIFF BILL

Well-Known Dublin Man Indorses Judge Hart in Fight on Cotton Schedule.

By John Corrigan, Jr.
Washington, D. C., May 20.—(Special.)—Senator A. C. Bacon has received from F. G. Corker, president of the First National Bank of Dublin, a strong protest against the cotton schedule of the house tariff bill. Mr. Corker, who is one of the most prominent business men in Georgia, endorses the position of Judge John C. Hart, in opposition to the passage of the tariff bill in its present shape, saying:

"I feel quite sure from your long legislative experience, your distinguished service, and your study of these questions that you are equipped to form correct conclusions and I certainly have great faith in your patriotism. It seems to me the part of wisdom and the dictates of prudence to revise the tariff gradually so that the country can gradually become accustomed to changed economic conditions without a violent readjustment. If Judge Hart is anywhere near right in regard to the cotton schedules, then it seems to me that each southern representative and senator should see to it that these reductions that are too radical at this time are corrected. From my information, Judge Hart is especially well fitted to form correct conclusions in this matter. He is a very intelligent business man and certainly one of our most patriotic citizens. The same argument applies to the whole country in other features of the tariff bill, of course, because we are one people and what injures one section now injures another section also.

"It is true that the regular republicans and the Roosevelt wing of the republican party united would have constituted a large majority over the democratic party in the last election. It is also true that both these wings stand for the policy of protection under which this country, since it included, has enjoyed the most marvelous prosperity in the history of the world and nothing is more certain than that if business depression follows the message of this democratic tariff bill, no democrat of this generation will live to see the democratic party returned to power. If a moderate readjustment is a good thing for the country now, and most of us think that it is, permitting of course no nation to have the benefit of these reductions without reciprocal concessions, then in a few years the cotton will be ready for another moderate reduction without shock or disaster. It seems that these conclusions are obvious and that this policy is both wise and patriotic.

JUDGE GEORGE OPPOSES CHANGES IN GRAND JURY

Cordale, Ga., May 20.—(Special.)—In his charge to the Crisp county grand jury upon the convening of the May term of the superior court this morning, Judge W. F. George stated that it had been agitated from certain quarters of the state, and some of the newspapers had taken up the question, that the plan be put in operation for grand juries to take evidence from both sides before returning an indictment in a case. Declaring that there could be no basic reason for such a plan, and that he was surprised at the source from which it sprung, Judge George vigorously attacked the idea. He asserted that the grand jury was not a trial jury, and that he did not approve of making it such. It was the duty of a grand jury to determine if there was sufficient grounds for indictment, and not the guilt of a person, and it should ever be thus, declared Judge George.

CHRISTIAN MINISTERS HERE IN ANNUAL MEET

Georgia Convention Comes in Heralded Because of Presbyterians Occupying City.

Ministers of the Christian churches of all parts of Georgia are in Atlanta for their annual convention, which is being held at the First Christian church, corner Pryor and Trinity. All day Tuesday the preachers were in session there, while the opening of the convention took place Monday night with an address by the state president, Rev. H. T. Gresham.

So bustling was the city of Atlanta with its hosts of Presbyterians who are here for the assembly, that the coming of the Christian ministers was completely unnoticed until their convention was running full fledged. Tuesday afternoon a series of splendid and profitable addresses was heard by the convention. Rev. John Roberts, of Dublin; Rev. L. M. Omer, of West Point; Rev. E. A. Osborne, of Griffin; Rev. T. G. Linkous, of East Point; Rev. A. R. Moore, of Savannah, and Dr. L. O. Bricker, of Atlanta, were among those who made addresses. President H. T. Gresham occupied the chair.

To attend the joint Presbyterian gathering at the Auditorium-Armory, the ministers adjourned their session late Tuesday afternoon, and no night session will be held on Wednesday for the same reason. The program for Wednesday will be as follows:

9:30—Devotional, Dr. J. Hopwood.
10:30—"The Country Church and its Place in the Life of the People," E. G. Oranwood, leader.
"Crouching in the Country Churches," E. L. Shelnett.
"The Pastorage"—L. A. Cunningham.
"As a Social Center"—J. W. McCleary.
"How to Rally the Support of the People"—L. A. Winn.
"Missionary Offerings of the Church"—C. E. Smootz.
"Bible Schools in the Country Churches"—E. O. Fox.
"Visiting in Country Churches"—D. A. Brindle.
"How Far Should a Preacher Sacrifice"—Julius Smith.
12:00—Sermon, "The Ideal Minister," A. R. Moore, Savannah.
3:30 p. m.—"The Lord's Day Morning Service, a Continuous Service," J. Randall Farris, leader.
General discussion—F. L. Adams, Julius Smith, J. T. Bradberry, J. F. Lambert, W. A. Chastin, A. B. Reeves, George A. Moore, W. B. McDonald, V. I. Bowers, T. F. Farbroough, W. E. Dougherty, L. A. Dickey, R. F. Hinely.
3:30—"Georgia Problems," "Evangelistic"—E. L. Shelnett.
"Relations of Districts to State Work," J. F. Holmes.
"State Missionary Offerings"—L. M. Omer.
"Personal Canvas Instead of Appeal"—W. B. McDonald.

Mrs. Olive Maria Healey Dies at Ivy Street Home

Mrs. Olive Maria Healey, widow of the late Thomas G. Healey, of Atlanta, and mother of William H. Healey, died yesterday evening at 7:30 o'clock at her residence on the corner of Ivy street and Auburn avenue.

She was 85 years of age, having lived in Atlanta since her girlhood days, when she came here from Connecticut, her native state, to make her home with her brother, the late William Markham, who was one of Atlanta's distinguished citizens.

Mrs. Healey represented the best New England stock, her forebears men who contributed to the upbuilding of the colonies, and later rendering valiant service in the revolution.

Though born in New England, she became loyal to the sentiments and traditions of the home of her adoption, and her name appears with those of the other good women of Georgia who bravely took up the struggle after the war to help build the churches, the hospitals, the schools, and who were the splendid homemakers who have given Atlanta her name for hospitality.

Mrs. Healey was a woman of strong intellect, and broad culture. Her knowledge of history especially distinguished her, and until within a few days of her death she was a constant reader of history and the classics. Several years ago she accompanied her son, William Healey, to the anniversary exercises of his class at Princeton, and attended all the ceremonies and entertainments of that occasion, describing them to her friends afterwards with the greatest interest and pleasure. She was a member of the Pioneer Women's society and of the "Butterflies," the latter organization composed of a group of Atlanta ladies all of them over seventy-five years of age. Until the last few months Mrs. Healey had attended the meetings of these organizations, and contributed to their informal programs reminiscences rich in historic interest, and charming with wit and humor which were among the social graces of this refined and lovely lady of the old school.

Mrs. Healey had been in feeble health for some months, but had been seriously ill for only two weeks, heart trouble being the direct cause of her death. Beside her son, William Healey, and his wife and her grandsons, Masters William and Oliver Healey, Mrs. Healey is survived by her niece, Mrs. Robery J. Lowry, and a nephew, Marcellus Markham.

The funeral will take place this afternoon at 8 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church.

AT THE THEATERS

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

There are so many regular features on the bill at the Forsyth this week that in selecting a star act it is nearly up to the audience to do the choosing. If you measure by laughter and then again by applause, and add in the attention that is given the several acts, it would be fair to say that every act is registering a hit. As a matter of fact, starting right after the overture, the fun commences, and never lets up until Adam, who is hanging on to one of the deep curtains, has some fun himself riding up and down in the curtain as it is lowered and lifted for the trainer of the wonderful monk to take his bows.

Frank Vance Hurt.

Frank C. Vance, of 107 Postell street, who was severely injured in a wreck in the Southern railway yards in Chattanooga a month ago, reached home yesterday, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. C. H. Vance. Frank Vance had just started his railroad work, and was hurt at the end of his first trip, shortly after his train reached Chattanooga. His left foot was so badly crushed that amputation was necessary.

"The Deep Purple."

(At the Atlanta.)

This afternoon a 25-cent matinee will be given at the Atlanta by Miss Billy Long and her associates. The bill will be "The Deep Purple," which has made a fine impression upon the Atlanta crowds. The attendance at the first three performances has been heavy. No performances will be given tonight, but other performances will be given regularly Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with a Saturday matinee. After the matinee today seats will be sold for next week, when St. Elmo, voted best by the audiences, will be given by Miss Long and her associates.

Don't forget our auction sale of bungalows and lots in Oakland City, Saturday. Bungalows to be sold on easy terms and without interest. See us, W. E. Treadwell & Co., 24 S. Broad st.

OFFICIALS ARE CHOSEN FOR LABOR DEPARTMENT

Washington, May 20.—It was announced today that Louis F. Post, of Chicago, had been selected as assistant secretary of the department of labor; Anthony Caminetti, of San Francisco, for commissioner general of immigration, and John D. Denmore, of Polson, Mont., for solicitor of the department of labor.

Louis Freeland Post is an editor, author, lawyer and lecturer, who has attained prominence by his discussions of economic questions, particularly single tax. He was born in New Jersey 84 years ago, and for 30 years has been an advocate of the single tax and other economic reforms promoted by Henry George.

Anthony A. Caminetti, who will succeed Daniel J. Keefe, of Detroit, Mich., as commissioner general of immigration is of Italian descent and has lived in Jackson, Cal. He is a democratic member of the California senate. He is a student of sociological problems, and has devoted much time to a special study of immigration. John B. Denmore, selected for solicitor of the new department, already has won distinction in the practice of law, although he is comparatively young. He is a democrat of the progressive type.

Chicago Beach Hotel

Atlantic Beach

The New City By the Sea

In the Hammock, March 4 (Actual Photograph)

Atlantic Beach is the finest district on the entire Southern coast line. It will be better a year from now. Better still in 2 or 3 years. Soon it will have no rival in Florida or elsewhere in the South. It has an incomparable combination of initial advantages in its electric lights, abundant cistern water, railway transportation, splendid paved road to Jacksonville and the finest beach in the world.

Bungalow Now Building in Same Hammock

The Present—A Fact

Twenty houses building, some nearly complete. Eight already sold, occupied next month. Fifty-two houses will be built, then fifty more. Every one with flowing water, electric lights, sewered, screened, finished to the last detail. Streets paved, sidewalks laid. These things actually being done—not merely promised. They will be homes to be proud of anywhere, but wonderfully attractive along this beautiful beach or back among the palms or oak forests. Sales have already reached $90,000 in only 30 days. It's none too soon to select your place.

Atlantic Beach Hotel

One of the really great resort hotels and the coming social center of the Southeastern States. This magnificent hotel property is close to Atlantic Beach and will forever add to its attractiveness and its value both as a home and a resort city. Right on the edge of the ocean—think of it. The bracing salt breezes, the cooling winds, the health giving air of the wide reaches of the sea. Go to the Beach and see why it is growing—why it must grow. Prices so reasonable that they are within reach of those who can pay modest house rent. There's money waiting for you at Atlantic Beach.

The Future, a Prophecy

Atlantic Beach property is a wonderful investment. It must increase greatly and rapidly. It is controlled by successful men of brains, energy and ample capital. They have spared no expense in employing the greatest professional experts to carry out their plans. These are in charge of architects, builders, sanitary engineers, and landscape artists who have made records of splendid successes. With its inimitable natural advantages, the great skill employed in its structure and the determination and financial strength behind it, Atlantic Beach cannot fall short of its builders' purpose—A model city.

NO COLLEGE in the Southern intercollegiate athletic association has a clean-out claim to the baseball championship, and no team's claim is better than any other. There are three teams whose claims are better than any others, but between them there is little to choose. Georgia only lost to Tech, defeating every other team, Alabama only lost to Georgia, defeating every one else and Clemson only lost to Tech, defeating every one else. This would make Tech look pretty good apparently, but defeats by Mercer, Auburn and Alabama eliminate her. Auburn is eliminated by Clemson and Georgia. Mercer by defeats by Auburn and Alabama, Sewanee and Vanderbilt by many defeats. If Alabama defeats Vanderbilt this week, however, she will have on a percentage basis a better claim than any other team, but the defeat by Georgia prohibits any real claim to the title.

Practically Ready.
THE MOTORCROME of Jack Prince is practically ready for a race. Very little work has to be done to have everything in tip-top shape for a meet. The track itself and the seating arrangement has been completed. Only some minor details have to be shaped up to have the big track ready for the buzz of the high-powered machines.

Time Is Set.
ALL GAMES at Ponce de Leon for the rest of the season will begin promptly at 3:45 o'clock. Manager Smith having reached this decision after going over the matter thoroughly Tuesday. Some wanted the games to start at 3 o'clock, others at 4. He split the difference so as to try to satisfy both sides.

Will Stand Pat.
BILL SMITH will stand pat with the present personnel of the Crackers for the entire season. His outfield and infield could not be improved upon, his catchers are working steadily and consistently and the pitchers are beginning to strike their real stride once more. The present home stay, ought to be a profitable one from a percentage standpoint, not to mention financially.

Great Ever.
AN OLD-TIME fan who witnessed his first ball game of the season Monday afternoon went into rapture over the playing of Willie Smith. "I've seen them all," he said, "and this fellow handles a ground ball better than any I have ever seen. He has the best pair of hands on a hard hit ball of any third sacker I ever saw. I am of the opinion of all the Atlanta fans. How he ever got out of the big leagues is a mystery."

Doff Your Hat.
CAP WHITEY is having the best season of his entire career. He looks better around that keystone and is pulling more sensational plays every day than any second sacker the Crackers have had in a long while. As for his hitting ability, it is useless to comment on that. He's the best pinch hitter in the entire league—nuff sed.

Exaggerated.
JACK COOMBS, the Philadelphia Athletics' Iron Man, is not out of the pasture for the season. Dr. Malcolm MacFarlane, his physician, announces that Coombs is suffering from a complication of diseases, but that his fine physique will pull him through.

Cracker Bats Vie With Rain In Routing Turtles Tuesday; Chappelle Hurls Great Game

By Dick Jemison.
In a bob-tailed session, the Crackers made it two straight from the Memphis Turtles Tuesday afternoon by capturing the Ladies' day engagement 11 to 6.
Rain interrupted the fracas in the third inning, stopped it again at the end of the fifth, and ended it for all time at the close of the first half of the sixth.
It rained something else besides water. It rained Cracker bingles. Eleven drives being recorded during the five tries at the bat, and there would have been more had the Crackers half tried.
Chappelle in Form.
"Chappelle" Chappelle was in excellent form. For five innings he held the visitors to no runs and not a single bingle were they able to get away from the waiting paws of some member of his support.
The two lone Turtle bingles came in the sixth chapter. Chappelle has sat at the bench and gotten cold. But as soon as he warmed up to his work he retired the Turtles just as quickly as in the earlier innings, retiring the next three men after the first two had singled.
Chappelle looks like he is going to be a valuable acquisition to the Crackers' hurling corps. His rounding into fine form makes the staff look better than ever, and the wrinkles are fast being rubbed out of Bill Smith's brow now.

Cap Whitey had three bingles in four attempts, two of them for two cushions, and Bisland kicked in with a single and triple, both of which drove his counters.
How They Scored.
Lusk opened the fray by drawing a free hit from Bailey. Chappelle hit him to second with a neat sacrifice. Whitey smashed one to left for two cushions, counting Long and, by some great springing, came all the way home when Schwelzer let the pellet get away from him through the fingers.
Lusk worked Kroh for another free ticket, and Bisland pasted the horsehide to deep left for three cushions, scoring Wallop. He was out trying to score on a passed ball.
Alpermann opened the third with a smash through Ward for a base. This unloosed the heavens, and it poured for about ten minutes. After the rain ceased, Bill Smith personally superintended the renovation of the grounds, and did as much work as the grounds-keeper and the four diggers combined.

Play Resumes.
When play was resumed, Welchone laid down a beautiful bunt and, as slow as it was, legged it to first ahead of the throw. Wallop sacrificed them both up a base, and Bisland combed a beauty to center, scoring both.
The real pickling of Kroh happened in the fifth, and when the Crackers went to bat with him they had picked him clean.
Alpermann opened the inning with a two-ply smash to right. Welchone duplicated his great bunt, legging it to first ahead of the throw. Chappelle followed with one, sending Arler home and Dunn to third. Lusk kept up the good work, scoring Dunn, and Bailey beat out a bunt, filling the bases again. Chappelle closed the final run of the pastime on Alpermann'suffed out.
Elliott Dent, the Crackers' new right-hander, will make his debut this afternoon, as special attraction for the Ad Men. Harrel will probably oppose him.

Lookouts 2, Billikens 0.
Chattanooga, Tenn., May 20.—E. Brown allowed only one hit today, but that was a two-base hit by Elston, and followed three bases on balls in the first inning, and Chattanooga defeated Montgomery 2 to 0. Jantzen left over the game, but which was a high fly, or it would have been only a sacrifice fly. More kept the hits well scattered, and was never in danger until the ninth, when Waver's single and Sloan's double put men on second and third, but Chappelle's sacrifice hits, Bailey, Dunn, Smith. Time, 1:25. Umpires, Pfenninger and Hart.

Volts 8, Pels 8.
Nashville, Tenn., May 20.—James' double in the ninth scored 2 runs for New Orleans and tied the score, 8 to 8, today. The game was called at the end of the inning on account of darkness. Paige, who started for Nashville, was knocked out of the box in the fifth, being replaced by Fleeharty, who was effective until the ninth. Trans, for New Orleans, was hit freely and was given poor support. Young hit safely four times out of five times at bat, and Lindsay's long double in the fifth with the bases full also featured.

Brunswick 4, Valdosta 1.
Brunswick, Ga., May 20.—(Special.)—Excellent pitching by Gates in the Ditches featured today's game, which Brunswick took from Valdosta by a score of 4 to 1. The locals scored three runs in the first inning, and from there on it was a hard-fought, well-played game, featured by the fast work of the local infield, which has been greatly strengthened. In the fourth inning after the visitors had scored one run, the head thrower went with none out, but Gates pulled out without permitting another score.
Score by innings: R. H. E. Valdosta . . . 000 100 000—1 6 2 Brunswick . . . 300 000 000—9 2

Waycross 6, Cordale 4.
Waycross, Ga., May 20.—(Special.)—Waycross won the second straight game from Cordale today by outpitching hitting, score 6 to 4. Brothers got two home runs, one of them tying the score and the other with one on base, helping Waycross pile up a lead Cordale could not overcome. Out of five times at bat, Brothers got two home runs, a two-bagger and a single. Fans made up two handsome purses for him. Fenton got three hits and Anderson three, the latter also starting two fast doubles. Brazier led the hitting for Cordale, getting three out of four, and Reagan played brilliant ball at second.
Score by innings: R. H. E. Cordale . . . 100 300 000—4 9 4 Waycross . . . 300 010 14x—14 1

American 15, Thomasville 2.
American, Ga., May 20.—(Special.)—American's rejuvenated team made a merry-go-round of the diamond this afternoon, defeating Thomasville's contingent by a score of 15 to 2. Thomasville's heretofore invincible pitcher, Andy Roth, was batted out of the box early in the game and was supplanted by Elliott, who shared a similar fate. Werner, for American, pitched excellent ball, and Thomasville's batsmen went down before his delivery. Obaney, for American, four times at bat, secured four hits and scored two runs. Wolf starred in the outfield, making three hits and three runs, besides several put outs.
Batteries: Werner and Manchester; Roth, Elliott and Dudley.
Score by innings: R. H. E. American . . . 601 300 50x—15 19 1 Thomasville . . . 000 000 011—2 8 3

Boys' High v. Peacock.
A game that has a direct bearing on the prep school championship of the Triangle today was played at Peacock school, when the Boys' High school and Peacock school tie up in a game of ball. A victory for the former packs the pennant away on ice.

GOLF CHAMPION AND TROPHY HE WILL CONTEST FOR TODAY

The metropolitan golf championship begins at New York today, with a record entry list. Jerome Travers is the present title holder. He is also the present national amateur golf champion. The rules the favorite in the event.

Formwalt and Edgewood Will Settle Public School Championship Today

The public school baseball championship of Atlanta will be settled this afternoon on the Marist college grounds at 3:30 o'clock.
Formwalt school, the pennant winners on the south side, and Edgewood school, the pennant winners on the north side, will be the contestants.
This will be the third game of the series, Formwalt winning the first game of the series and Edgewood the second.
Interest in the game this afternoon is at fever heat, and the rosters of both schools will be on hand to root for their teams.

SOUTH ATLANTIC

Foxes 3, Peaches 2.
Macon, Ga., May 20.—Prysock featured in today's game with a wonderful one-hand pick-up, a glorious trip and a catch of a sizzling liner. He also hit a home run and stole two bases. Baumgardner got three singles and walked once. Krebs was fined $5 and put out of the game for disputing with the umpire on Prysock's home run.
Macon had the score tied twice, but lost to Columbus by 3 to 2. Martin and McCormick were the main fighters in the pitchers' battle. The latter walking men at the wrong time.
Score by innings: R. H. E. Macon . . . 180 010 000—2 7 4 Columbus . . . 000 010 000—2 6 2

Indians 7, Babes 1.
Albany, Ga., May 20.—The local team played erratic ball behind Brimmer, but today, and the locals lost to Savannah by the score of 7 to 1. Albany's only tally being scored on a home run by Bremmerhoff. Robertson pitched pretty ball. The local club was badly crippled, having a pitcher and catcher working in the outfield.
Score by innings: R. H. E. Albany . . . 000 010 000—1 5 6 Savannah . . . 023 000 002—7 8 0

Gulls 1, Scouts 0.
Charleston, S. C., May 20.—In the greatest game of the season here, Charleston won the second game of the series from Jacksonville in the tenth inning, 1 to 0. The game was fast and full of thrilling plays. The visitors played errorless ball while the home players got three errors. Eldridge got into a deep hole in the tenth inning when he yielded three singles, two of the "Cincinnati" variety, with no outs. Perfect fielding behind him, however, prevented a score. The only run was made when Exton singled after one out, and advanced to second on a sacrifice, and to third on a balk. Klipp singled, scoring him. Keating was knocked unconscious by a pitched ball in the eighth, and he had to retire. He will play tomorrow.
Score by innings: R. H. E. Charleston . . . 000 000 001—1 7 3 Jacksonville . . . 000 000 000—0 7 0

AUSTRALIAN TENNIS PLAYERS ARRIVE
Boston, May 20.—The Australian tennis players, Captain Stanley M. Doubt, Horace Bice, Aubrey B. Jones and Manager E. W. Hicks, arrived here today for the Longwood Cricket club.
Later in the week the American tennis team, Maurice E. McLoughlin, of San Francisco; Norris Williams, of Philadelphia, and H. H. Mackert and E. D. Little, of New York, will appear at Longwood. While the players will not meet on opposite sides of the net, they will give exhibition matches during their stay. Each side will, therefore, have a chance of seeing the other in action ten days before the first of the international matches in the preliminary round for the Davis cup.

AMERICAN

Tigers 8, Athletics 7.
Detroit, Mich., May 20.—Ty Cobb, in today's game, with Philadelphia, hit twice for extra bases, stretched a single into a double when the ball was slowly fielded, stole home, walked twice and in the tenth inning came in with the winning run when Brown gave High a base on balls with the bases full. The score was 8 to 7.
Score by innings: R. H. E. Philadelphia . . . 101 201 011 0—7 13 1 Detroit . . . 012 000 040—8 10 2

Naps 10, Senators 9.
Cleveland, Ohio, May 20.—Cleveland won today's game in the ninth inning, scoring 3 runs and beating Washington, 10 to 9. Each team hit freely. Cleveland struck five pitchers and Washington two.
Score by innings: R. H. E. Cleveland . . . 200 122 003—10 11 4 Washington . . . 042 002 010—9 12 1

Yanks 6, Browns 3.
St. Louis, May 20.—Although McConnell allowed St. Louis eight hits today, he kept them scattered and New York won, 6 to 3.
Score by innings: R. H. E. New York . . . 023 000 010—6 9 1 St. Louis . . . 100 001 001—3 8 1

Big Crowd Expected Today; Wilmer Moore Will Pitch First Ball at Ad Men's Game

Marist College Band Will Lead Parade and Furnish Music During the Session—Elliott Dent, the New Cracker Twirler, Will Make His Debut on This Occasion.

One of the greatest, if not the greatest crowd of the local baseball season, will attend the final game between the Crackers and the Turtles this afternoon at Ponce de Leon park, and Elliott Dent, the Cracker's new hurler, will make his debut.
The game is being played for the benefit of the Atlanta Ad Men to help defray their expenses to the national convention, which will be held in Baltimore next month.
President Wilmer L. Moore, of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, has agreed to throw the first ball, and the Marist college band will furnish the music.
The local boosters have taken charge of the game this afternoon and have been working like beavers for a week to get out a big crowd. The advance sale of seats denotes a large attendance.
The local club has donated the park and the game to the Ad Men this afternoon, and all the proceeds after the necessary expenses and the guarantee of the visiting club has been deducted will go to the Ad Men.
These boosters did a lot of good work in securing the opening day at Ponce de Leon for Atlanta, and the local club is co-operating with them in the game today as an appreciation of their efforts on that occasion.
At Baltimore the local club will boost Atlanta to all the visiting Ad Men. When these fellows start boosting they never know when to quit, and it is up to local fandom to give them a good send off and show that they appreciate all they are doing to boost the city by attending this attention's game in large numbers.
The Ad Men will attend the game in a body in the big auto trucks, as they used to attend the opening game of the season with the Barons, and with nice weather, it is estimated that the crowd that will attend the pastime will come close to the one that was on hand when the game was first played.
Mayor Woodward has agreed to close the city hall at 2 o'clock and permit all the city employees to attend the game.
The Ad Men have been working on the business men of the city, and they have secured the promise of quite a number of them to permit their men to attend the game.
It's a worthy cause and it is to be hoped that the crowd that attends will be a record-breaker for week days.
A big parade through the business center of the city will precede the game.

Cubs 7, Doves 3.
Boston, May 20.—Chicago scored seven runs on Perdue in the second inning today—enough to win easily from Boston, 7 to 3. Overall held Boston in the seventh when Connolly drove out his second home run in two days.
Score by innings: R. H. E. Chicago . . . 070 000 009—7 7 0 Boston . . . 010 000 200—3 8 2

Cards 5, Giants 6.
New York, May 20.—Harmon held New York to two singles today, and St. Louis shot out the locals, 6 to 0. Mathewson, for New York, was hit harder than at any time this season. The St. Louis batsmen bunted on him throughout, and seven of the hits were of the infield variety. After Wittes' sacrifice, Mathewson, St. Louis continued scoring.
Score by innings: R. H. E. St. Louis . . . 000 022 022—3 15 0 New York . . . 000 000 000—0 2 2

Phillies 5, Reds 1.
Philadelphia, May 20.—Philadelphia drove Fromme off the rubber in three innings today and had no difficulty in defeating Cincinnati, the score being 5 to 1. Packard, who took Fromme's place, was very effective.
Score by innings: R. H. E. Cincinnati . . . 000 001 000—1 5 2 Philadelphia . . . 022 000 01x—5 9 1

Braves 4, Dodgers 1.
Brooklyn, N. Y., May 20.—Pittsburg with too much Wagner beat Brooklyn today, 4 to 1. The big shortstop, an Atlanta ninth catcher, and in the fifth inning, bases full and two out, drove out a single that Stengel's fumble made good for three bases. Three runs came home. Wagner was out trying to steal home.
Score by innings: R. H. E. Pittsburg . . . 000 001 000—4 6 1 Brooklyn . . . 100 000 000—1 7 3

Pythians Go to Waycross.
Members of the local uniform rank of the Knights of Pythias, Colonial No. 13, left Atlanta last night for Waycross, Ga., where the grand lodge meets, to take part in the public workout in the Knights of Pythias armory at 9 o'clock, and marched to the depot.

American Golf Pros IN FINAL PRACTICE
West Newton, Mass., May 20.—Three aspirants for the British open golf championship—Mike Brady, of Wollaston; Tom McNamara, of Boston, and Alec Campbell, of the Brookline Country club—had their last public workout in the ninth Massachusetts open championship, which began today. The three "pros" will leave for England later in the week, and hope to be at Hoylake early in June in order to obtain sufficient practice for the British championship, which begins June 13.

ST. ANDREW'S GOLF COURSE IN DANGER

Suffragettes Threaten to Destroy the Great Golf Course Just Before Championship Contest.

St. Andrews, Scotland, May 20.—This little town is almost in a state of siege because of threats uttered by the militant suffragettes that they will destroy the putting greens and thus render play impossible in the world's amateur golf championship, which is to be completed for here next week.

Intense excitement prevails among the townspeople, who depend largely for their prosperity upon the golf links. While members of the Royal and Ancient Golf club are extremely anxious. They and the citizens have organized a vigilance committee, whose members, together with 5,000 volunteers, will guard the greens night and day.

The general anxiety becomes keener every day, as it is thought that the militant suffragettes may refrain from delivering their attack until the last moment, when it will be impossible to repair the damage.

The River Tay routes, by which the links are reached from Dundee, a hotbed of suffragism, are closely guarded, and to make assurance doubly sure, a powerful searchlight has been mounted on the bridge, the light from which sweeps the links, the road and the river.

V. M. I. Cadets at Rockbridge.

The V. M. I. cadets on their annual march arrived an hour ahead of time Sunday morning at Rockbridge Alum Springs—"Samp Crutchfield." The boys are all in fine shape, and it was quite a sight to see over 300 of them bathing in the large concrete swimming pool at one time.

After spending a thoroughly enjoyable day and night at this famous summer resort, they departed Monday morning at 7:30 for Longdale, where they will make their next camp.

TECH HIGH WINS FROM MARIST 2-1

By Hal Reynolds. In one of the best played games of the season Tech High defeated Marist yesterday afternoon at Marist by the score of 2 to 1.

The game went for 1½ innings with the score tied 1 to 1, but in the 12th McGrath weakened and Tech High sent over the winning tally on J. Parks' single, a stolen base and a fielder's choice.

Both teams had a grand chance to cop the game. Marist had men on second and third and none down in the ninth, and Tech High had second and one out, but each time Weston and McGrath tightened, allowing no runs. Weston pitched star ball for Tech High, allowing only 6 hits in 12 innings, and making thirteen men fan the breezes. J. Parks led the hitters with two bingles.

McGrath pitched good ball for Marist, although he weakened slightly towards the last part of the game. He gave up but seven hits, which were widely scattered except in the last round, and fanned seven men. Cheves pitched three bases.

Marist was handicapped by the absence of her star pitcher, Callahan, and outfielder Roberts.

$2,000 WILL BE ASKED FOR OPEN AIR SCHOOL

For the third time on Wednesday, a committee representing the Atlanta Anti-Tuberculosis association will go before the finance committee of council to urge upon it the importance of making a small appropriation to establish the first open-air school in Atlanta.

Last December the children of the public schools in Atlanta raised $1,000 toward this fund, by selling the red cross Christmas seals. This $1,000 is in the bank set apart to be used for no other purpose except the establishment of an open-air school.

The committee is asking the city council to add $2,000 to this fund, making a total of $3,000, with which to establish the first real open-air school in Atlanta.

It is proposed to establish this school somewhere in the neighborhood of Grant Park, or at some other convenient place, and to use it for the segregation and instruction of children who may be predisposed to tubercular troubles.

Dr. Ridley Returns.

Dr. Caleb A. Ridley, pastor of Central Baptist church, having returned from the Southern Baptist convention at St. Louis, will speak to his prayer meeting on Wednesday evening. An unusually large number is expected to be present, as at this time Dr. Ridley expects to lay before the officers and members of the church and Sunday school his plans for a great contest which is soon to begin between the men and women and the boys and girls of the church and community.

"GUNBOAT" SMITH WINS DECISION OVER WILLARD

Willard Had Weight, Height and Reach, But Smith's Punch Was Better.

San Francisco, May 20.—Fifty pounds advantage in weight, 6 inches in height and a reach like the arm of a devil, could not win tonight for Jess Willard, from "Gunboat" Smith, who earned a referee's decision in the last round of a 20-round bout. The heavier punch of the more experienced and accomplished fighter counted for more in the result than the bulk and strength of his opponent.

Smith was a 10 to 7 favorite in the ringside betting. Willard, 6 feet 6 inches in height and weighing 230 pounds, once again counted for more in the result than the bulk and strength of his opponent.

The first round was uneventful, but toward the end of the second Smith landed a fierce right hand left to the jaw, and Willard's head as he went to his corner. The sailor took a long lead in the third, landing several hard swings to the jaw, and Willard appeared distressed. The round closed with the Kansan on the defensive.

Willard began playing for the gunner's stomach in the fourth round, rushing Smith to the ropes and varied his assault with a smash to the nose and a jab to the forehead. The round was continued his spurt, at one time almost putting Smith through the ropes. Smith fought back savagely, but his blows were ill-timed.

The sixth round was tame, the Kansan not forcing his advantage. There was much clinching in the seventh, and Referee Selig was kept busy separating the pair. Both slowed up perceptibly, and not until the tenth round was the fight renewed.

Willard began playing for the gunner's stomach in the fourth round, rushing Smith to the ropes and varied his assault with a smash to the nose and a jab to the forehead. The round was continued his spurt, at one time almost putting Smith through the ropes. Smith fought back savagely, but his blows were ill-timed.

Honors were even in the seventeenth and eighteenth, but were featured by heavy slugging. In the nineteenth Smith again opened Willard's ear, out-fighting the giant at close range.

The gunner forced the fighting throughout the twenty rounds. Selig designated him as the winner at the end of the bout, the crowd cheered in approval.

JOE MANDOT BEATEN BY "BUD" ANDERSON

New Orleans Boy Knocked Out "On His Feet" in the Twelfth Round.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 20.—Joe Mandot of New Orleans, was knocked out in the twelfth round of his scheduled twenty-round fight here tonight with "Bud" Anderson, of Vancouver, Wash. Mandot was not knocked down in the final round, but his left eye was "on his feet." He was clearly insensible. Referee Egan, seeing the condition of the southerner, stopped the fight with Mandot staggering blindly about the ring and held up Anderson's hand in token of victory.

Each was inside the limit of 133 pounds. Mandot was a 10-to-8 favorite, with light betting. Mandot was unable to land a blow in the first round. In the second, Anderson punished him severely with circling rights to the body. Mandot stayed away from the hard-hitting northerner in the third, but managed to put several light blows to Anderson's face.

Mandot scored with a hard right to jaw as the bell rang. In the fourth and fifth rounds Anderson played Mandot's own game, long range fighting, and more than held his own.

Mandot took the aggressive in the sixth and tried repeatedly to put Anderson away, but every intended knockout blow was cleverly evaded while Anderson found further opportunity to batter the southerner's ribs with rights.

In the tenth round Anderson rocked Mandot's head with a right and left and when the southerner went into a clinch, Anderson placed his right to the stomach with telling effect.

Anderson forced the fighting at the beginning of the twelfth and staggered Mandot with rights and lefts to the face and body. When a terrific right to the jaw made Mandot wilt, apparently helpless but still on his feet, Referee Egan stopped the fight to save him from a knockout.

WOULD-BE LYNCHERS KEPT BACK BY PISTOLS

Hawatha, Kas., May 20.—A mob of 200 persons from Falls City, Neb., tonight made a threatening demonstration at the jail here, where William Bellew, a negro, charged with attacking Mrs. Anna Keller, of Falls City, is a prisoner. He was brought here for safe keeping.

After the crowd had promised that they never would enter the jail, they were brought out on the jail steps that Mrs. Keller might see him. When she identified him as her assailant the crowd closed in, but the sheriff and his assistants held the mob at bay with revolvers until Bellew could be taken back to his cell.

FIGHT PLANNED ON EVERY ITEM

G. O. P. Senators to Make Passage of Underwood Bill Difficult—Threats of Wage-Cutting Cause Sharp Talk.

Washington, May 20.—That republican senators plan to insist upon amendments to nearly every item in the Underwood tariff bill when it comes before the senate for general discussion, became evident today, when Senator Penrose, former chairman of the finance committee, declared that every member of the minority would have amendments to propose.

Senator Penrose told the senate he knew of no concerted effort to be made purposely to delay the passage of the bill, but said he was assured that the minority would offer many amendments to the schedules offered by the democrats. Senator Smoot also announced that the introduction of amendments would begin as soon as the bill came from committee, and that many roll calls would be demanded. If this plan is pursued systematically the journey of the bill through the senate is certain to be prolonged.

Senator Simmons has called for tomorrow's first meeting of the full membership of the finance committee to consider questions relating to the tariff. One matter to be determined will be the list of questions of the tariff to be sent to manufacturers throughout the country. Senators Simmons, Stone and Williams will submit a list for the committee's approval.

Threats to Cut Wages. During debate today on the matter of public the briefs filed by manufacturers with the finance subcommittee, Senator Townsend, of Michigan, engaged in a colloquy with Senator Simmons, relative to the alleged threats of manufacturers to reduce wages if the tariff committee's action of the administration through the bureau of corporations to investigate concerns which might reduce wages, following tariff reductions.

"The senator aware," asked Senator Townsend, "of any condition existing which will make possible this proposed concern on the part of the government, as indicated by the secretary of commerce?"

"Remarks of the secretary relating to investigations of manufacturers," replied Senator Simmons, "have grown out of threats constantly made by the protected interests, that they would reduce wages unless they are permitted to retain the excessive tariff rates."

"The senator gives any specific cases where such threats have been made?" Senator Townsend continued. "I can refer the senator to the hearings of the ways and means committee, where statements were received made by manufacturers that if duties were reduced, they would be forced to and would cut wages. I would refer him to the briefs filed with the finance committee, which are full of such statements."

"Does the senator construe as a threat a statement of a manufacturer that certain changes would force him to cut expenses," asked the Michigan senator.

"That reply by Simmons. The senator may construe it as he sees fit," Senator Simmons concluded. "Call it a threat or a statement, but the secretary of commerce had reference to these constant warnings by representatives of the protected industries, that they would not suffer in their own pockets from tariff reductions, but would shoulder the loss upon their employees."

The Penrose motion, with amendments, was about to pass when Senator Lippitt proposed another, which would require immediate publication of all briefs filed with the finance committee.

LANDSLIDE HITS TRAIN; SIX PERSONS ARE KILLED

The Train Was Swept Down Mountain Side by an Avalanche.

Hinton, W. Va., May 20.—Six persons are believed to have been killed and a Chesapeake and Ohio train was swept down a steep mountain side by a landslide.

The train, composed of an engine, three freight cars and a caboose, the latter carrying passengers, had been stopped between Sewell and Landsburg, so that debris deposited by a landslide early in the day might be cleared away. While this work was in progress another slide occurred, and the train was thrown from the tracks down 300 feet of the mountain side.

Among the dead are James Walker, of Hinton, a traveling salesman, and Mrs. Amick, of Landsburg. A young girl is known to have been killed. Three other passengers, all men, known to have been aboard the caboose, have not been seen since the accident, and are believed to be dead under the wreckage.

The train left Sewell at 6 o'clock and encountered a number of small landslides along the right-of-way. Several times it was necessary to clear away debris before proceeding. The slide that engulfed the train and sent it rolling down the mountainside in a tumbling mass of rock, earth, steel and timber, came without warning. While the crew was working to clear the track there was a terrific roar, and before any one could save themselves the crash came.

Twenty other lines, complained today to Senator Williams, chairman of the subcommittee considering the income tax, that a subsection of the provision would result in taxing holding corporations twice, both on the income of a subsidiary and on that of a holding company, all also maintained interest on all bonded indebtedness should be exempt.

Advertising drives the wheels of trade

"Advertising may be all right for some stores, but I don't think it will do mine any good. I'm too far down town—can't get the crowds here."

Is this really true? Remember that old saying—"If a man make a better mousetrap than his neighbor the world will make a beaten path to his door though he live in the woods—if he tells the world."

Location has something to do with a store's success. But—

If a man have an attractive store, right goods and right prices and his service is up to the mark AND IF HE ADVERTISE THESE FACTS people will come and buy, even though he be a block or two out of the way.

After all, it is the personality of the man back of the store that makes or mars it. Witness the truth of this in the remark so often heard, "Yes, I know it's a bit out of the way, but they are so nice, they treat me so well and really their goods are all one could desire."

Wouldn't you better give advertising a chance at that down-the-street store of yours? The Constitution's readers don't mind the extra block or two—

HENRY M. FLAGLER GOES INTO BEYOND

Oil, Railway and Hotel Magnate Dies in Florida—Unconscious for Days—He Built Oversea Railroad.

West Palm Beach, Fla., May 20.—Henry M. Flagler, the southern railroad magnate and hotel man, who has been ill here for the last several weeks, died at 10:20 this morning. He had been deaf, blind and out of his mind for three weeks. Death came quietly and without pain. He was 83 years old. Some months ago the magnate sustained a fall from steps in his home, and because of his advanced age his recovery had not been anticipated.

H. M. FLAGLER
© BY UNDERWOOD & UNDERWOOD

Mrs. Flagler and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Flagler were with him at the time of his death. The funeral services at the Florida East Coast railway.

The body of Mr. Flagler will lie in state at the cottage where he died until Wednesday afternoon, and after that services will be conducted by Special Train to St. Augustine, where final funeral ceremonies will take place on Friday.

Rev. George Morrison, his pastor, will conduct the funeral services at St. Augustine, where the body will be buried in the larger mausoleum in the yard of the Flagler memorial church, which he gave to the Presbyterians of that city.

In this city all business houses were closed during the afternoon, and flags were flying at half-mast in respect to his memory. The funeral Friday will be attended by hundreds of prominent men from various sections of the United States, and from all along the east coast of this state, which was developed by Mr. Flagler.

Sketch of Flagler.
Henry M. Flagler was born at Canandaigua, N. Y., in 1830. Little is known of his early life, except that he was clerk in a country grocery in Orleans county, Michigan, while yet in his teens. Later he removed to Saginaw, Mich., where he engaged in the manufacture of salt.

Becoming interested in the possibilities of the petroleum industry he removed to Cleveland, Ohio, where he organized the company of Rockefeller, Andrews & Flagler, engaging in the refining of oil. The Standard Oil company was the outgrowth of this venture, and Mr. Flagler has constantly remained actively connected with the management of the great corporation since its inception.

In 1855 Mr. Flagler paid his first visit to Florida, and became impressed with the business possibilities presented there by the railroad field, in connection with the development of winter resorts.

Entering actively into the work of turning Florida into one vast winter resort, Mr. Flagler built the Florida East Coast railway and erected the Fonce de Leon and Alcazar hotels at a cost of $3,000,000.

His greatest achievement, however, was the extension of his railroad from Miami to Key West, for many years his plan was ridiculed as impracticable, and was called "Flagler's folly." The opening of this "over-sea" line is listed as one of the engineering triumphs of the age.

Mr. Flagler was vice president and director of the Standard Oil company, president of the Florida East Coast railway and Jacksonville Terminal company, director of the Western Union Telegraph company, Norton Trust company and other corporations.

F. M. STEWART HURT IN RUNAWAY ACCIDENT
F. M. Stewart, of 281 West Peachtree street, had a narrow escape from death in a runaway accident on the Marietta street road yesterday afternoon. Fortunately he suffered only slight contusions, and is expected to be out again in a few days. His wounds were dressed by Dr. F. M. Charles, L. K. Ryer, and 32, corner of the lively stable business, and so well known.

The Northern Baptists.
Detroit, Mich., May 20.—The Northern Baptist convention, representing 2,500,000 members of that denomination in this country, will convene here tomorrow to remain in session about eight days. More than 2,000 delegates will attend the convention. It is said.

IT'S POOR ECONOMY

"LUMBER JACK" HIGGINS WILL ADDRESS REVIVAL

Noon Meetings at Grand Big Success—Evangelist Biederwolf Speaking Daily.

"Lumber Jack" Higgins, the remarkable "sky pilot" speaker, who is in Atlanta as a delegate to the Northern Presbyterian assembly, will make an address Wednesday at the noon evangelistic meeting at the Grand Opera house.

Dr. W. E. Biederwolf, who has had splendid success in the two meetings already held this week, will also speak, continuing the series on the closing of the Presbyterian assemblies on Friday. The meetings, starting at 12:15 o'clock sharp, and continuing till 1 o'clock, have attracted much interest, among the men especially, and a large attendance has been at the Grand church day. Besides scores of the visiting Presbyterians, there have been hundreds of Atlanta people drawn to the revival services to hear Dr. Biederwolf, who is famous over the country as an evangelist.

The National Male Quartet also sings each day at the services. At the close of the assemblies, the quartet plans to leave for the States and make a tour, together with Dr. Biederwolf, and in the city of Colon, in the canal zone, an arduous five days' evangelistic series will be held, which will probably attract wide attention in Panama.

BEATEN IN FIGHT, WALTON APPEALS

witnesses, and some of them parties in that case, were sitting on a bench in the corridor. The Smith attorney, on the other side of the case, came out and began to talk to Mrs. Cora B. Cash, one of the plaintiffs in the case. This had been the second time during the morning that he had come and spoken to her. He knew that those people were witnesses for the plaintiffs, and were plaintiffs in the case.

His remarks were objectionable and Mrs. M. T. Byrd, the sister of C. W. Walton, came up and objected to such talk, the being a first cousin of Mrs. Cash and Mr. Walton, the brother of Mrs. Cora B. Cash, said to these women: "Come around here and hit on the other side." Mr. Walton had gone there with Mr. Walton in the morning, and Mr. Burton Smith then said: "What have you got to do with it?" (addressing Mr. Walton). Walton replied: "These are my women people." Then Walton was struck by Burton Smith drew up his fist and hit Walton on the left cheek, knocking him down to the floor. Walton recovered and caught Burton Smith by the collar and throat. A man by the name of C. C. Cox, who was getting up for the defendant in that suit, got hold of Walton, while Burton Smith hit Walton in the face.

"At this time Mr. W. H. Byrd came out of the jury room and ran up between Burton Smith and Walton to try to part them, and Burton Smith turned on Byrd and hit him two or three severe blows, one over each eye and knocking him almost down. At this time two or three men ran and got hold of Burton Smith, and as Byrd was getting up, Reuben B. Arnold came running out of the court room and kicked Byrd three or four blows while Byrd was getting up, and then people interested and stopped the difficulty. Walton is a very small man, weighs 132 pounds. Mr. Byrd weighs about 180 or 185 pounds. Burton Smith weighs about 240 pounds.

"We also want to say, representing the heirs of J. B. Crawford, and of Nancy E. Crawford, deceased, that we will not be imposed upon, because we are trying to assert our rights against the iniquitous attempts of the part of certain people to try to gobble up these two estates and give it to Mrs. M. B. Crawford, who is no more entitled to it than the man in the moon. We have already given out warrants against Burton Smith, Reuben B. Arnold and J. C. Cox, and we shall proceed against them as provided by law, for contempt of court and for interfering with the witness and with the attending court, and the case will be prosecuted to the extreme limit of the law.

"This is a true statement of what is proven by a large number of witnesses. We may not be lawyers of renown and great influential citizens, but we have our rights in this city and we have our friends.

C. W. WALTON,
"W. H. BYRD."

DR. DUBOSE TO ADDRESS YOUNG WESLEY NURSES

Dr. H. M. DuBose, pastor of First Methodist church of this city, will deliver the address to the graduating class of Wesley Memorial Hospital Training school in connection to be held at Wesley Memorial church, Friday evening, May 23, at 8 o'clock. The complete program for this occasion will be announced later.

The graduates of the class of 1913 are: Miss Cora Elliott, Ga.; Miss Annie Taber, Atlanta; Miss Fannie Mary Catron, Barbourville, Ky.; and Miss Annie Mae Luckie, Valdosta. The public is invited.

CHARLES A. GUYTON DIES IN MARIETTA

Charles A. Guyton, retired capitalist, and one of Marietta's most influential citizens, died yesterday afternoon at his home on Power Springs street, Marietta. He is survived by his wife. He had been ill for several months, and death was not unexpected. He was 58 years old, and had been a resident of Marietta for numerous years. He was a prominent citizen and had occupied many civic positions. He was related to Lloyd Parke, of Atlanta, and Dr. H. L. Reynolds, also of this city. The funeral will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence, Rev. Duval officiating, and the interment will be in the Marietta cemetery.

He Makes the Music a Go At the Presbyterian Meetings

Dr. Charles Atkinson, of Seattle, Wash. The great director of music, whose work has helped to make our union mass meetings a success.

"Sing it!" That's his favorite expression when leading the vast crowds which are filling the Auditorium each evening of the Presbyterian assemblies. He's Dr. Ralph Atkinson, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of Seattle, Wash., and a man who has no equal as a director of music for great congregations in the country, but none.

Dr. Atkinson for years traveled with Moody, and Torrey, and later with Chapman, on their great evangelistic tours of the world. And from those days he brings to Atlanta a wealth of experience which is making a success of the musical program of the evening meetings.

There is a personal magnetism about him that the crowd can't withstand. Consequently, a couple of minutes after he has mounted his platform, he has the audience of six thousand people in the best of humor, and singing as though at an old-fashioned Georgia camp-meeting.

best established of things, and the success which he has made of it, and his "pick-up" choir at the Auditorium shows that they did not err.

Personally, he is one of the most delightful men to meet in the entire convention. If you go to the Auditorium tonight, as you will, watch him, and "sing it!"

UNION SEMINARY GOES OVER A YEAR

which followed and the prayer of Moderator Stone were both characterized by the zeal and earnestness of worship. But those who were near enough to listen in vain for the voice of praise which never came from that timid and shrinking elder fresh from the ranks of the people who had hoped during the recent months that the Union seminary matter would be settled forever and a day by the general assembly of 1913.

In opening the discussion of the seminary matter President Brown made it clear and distinct that the general assembly had no business in discussing the doctrinal and legal question relating to the institution of which he is the head. "For," said he, "we are here at your invitation to consider the matter of closer relationship, and what do we find but that we are in the situation of the guests you would invite to your homes to share your hospitality whom you met with a club."

Denunciatory Speeches.
The most denunciatory of the speeches against Union Theological seminary were made by the Rev. Dr. McKibben, president of Lane Theological seminary at Cincinnati, Ohio; the Rev. F. C. Monfort, D.D., and the Rev. Dr. Jamiver, of Philadelphia.

Speaking in favor of the seminary were the Rev. Wilson Merle-Smith, D.D., pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, New York city, who claimed that he had been a member of the board of directors of that institution for many years and that he considered himself one of the extremes in his conservatism on the board. The speaker said that he had not in all these years heard an expression of faith and doctrine in his association with the seminary which he would claim to be any but the most orthodox.

Charges Found Baseless.
The matter which came next in point of importance to that of the Union theological seminary discussion was the report of the executive commission which dealt with certain charges which had been made that the board of home missions had exceeded its authority in appointing its four field secretaries to have supervision of the mission work being done throughout the church, and that the board had been at present 1,637 employees, 75 pastor-evangelists, 8 synodical secretaries and evangelists, field secretaries and that the $130,000 wage not considered in the administrative budget since the duties of these representatives of the board are serving as bearers of the church's message to the people.

The Labor temple on the lower east side of New York city, which has been supported by the board, and for which the board has been criticized, cost the church for its maintenance during the year which ended March 31 of this year, $17,457.65; and the committee reported that the assembly instruct the board to transfer this institution to the care and direction of the Presbytery of New York.

Hot Battle Today.
Another hot fight is expected on the floor of the Northern Presbyterian general assembly today, when the standing committee on home missions will report on the report of the executive commission. It is predicted by those who are in a position to know that the system of graded lessons used in many churches, and which has been continued and made a part of the church, will be recommended to be used another year. This committee will also likely report: 1, the largest contributions made to this cause during the year ever made in its history; 2, recommending the appointment of a council of religious education in all churches, in order to an improvement of the teachings, methods and matter; 3, that the combined graded lesson system be continued and made to conform to evangelical standards; 4, that an advisory committee be appointed by the board for purposes of conference and correspondence; 5, that the board create a department of education, which will have the task of bringing the work done by the board up to the most approved methods of modern education.

Another matter which will likely come before the assembly today is a communication which Stated Clerk Roberts has addressed to the executive commission, and which that body in turn will present to the assembly regarding the continuance of the office of assistant stated clerk, now occupied by the Rev. James M. Hubbert; D. D., about whom it has been said: "He has a voice, clear, ringing strong with an education that is perfect, and he can be heard in every farthest point of the great meeting hall."

The board of home missions will report today that it now has 1,437 employees under their direction; seventy-five of these are pastor-evangelists; eight are synodical secretaries and evangelists, and four field secretaries. The salary of these eighty-three people amounts to $130,000.

College Board's Report.
The college board's annual report was presented to the assembly by the standing committee by its chairman, the Rev. Griffin W. Bull, D. D., formerly pastor of the West End church of this city. The recommendations of the board, including the appointment of Associate Secretary James E. Clarke, and the resignation of the assembly. The last item of yesterday's session was the hearing of the annual report of the assembly's temperance, which calls for approval by the assembly. To President Woodrow Wilson urging him and his administration to refuse to grant liquor licenses which contemplate the selling of whisky in dry territory, the joining with other churches in the call for a national conference on the liquor problems which will aim at the discontinuance of liquor manufacture. The committee also urged that the church should urge the federal government to take the same stand toward whisky which China has taken toward opium.

GEORGIA GIRL PLEASAS WHITE HOUSE GUESTS
Washington, May 20.—(Special.)—Miss Louise A. Williams, a gifted young Georgia girl, delighted the guests at a white house entertainment last night in honor of the girl students from Goucher college, by her southern songs and folk love stories.

The president and his family having spent much of their lives in the south, were greatly pleased with the sympathetic treatment of the assembly. The young interpreter of southern poetry and folk lore readily moved her audience to laughter and to tears.

Although born in Augusta, the daughter of the late A. B. Williams, a member of General Cobb's cavalry legion, Miss Williams has lived recently in Druid Hills, Atlanta. Her work has received much favorable comment in the northern press.

HOME FOR BLIND GIRL SOUGHT BY CHARITIES
J. C. Logan, secretary of the Associated Charities, has appealed to the Constitution to assist him in his search for a home for a 3-year-old girl, totally blind, who has been deserted by her father, and whose mother is in the Alma house. Until she is 7 years old she will not be allowed to enter the Georgia State asylum for the blind.

The child is unusually bright, and Mr. Logan says could be developed wonderfully, if she had the proper education. Three hundred dollars a year is the sum necessary to send her to an institution where she would receive the proper treatment.

The Associated Charities are responsible for the upbringing of the girl's case. She was born blind, and is absolutely incurable, but would be able to make her own way in the world if she were given the proper training.

Large Acreage Tract at Decatur
Just south of the incorporate limits of Decatur, between Candler street and the Orphans' Home road, we have a tract of over 200 acres. A large portion of this land is beautifully wooded, and, without further subdivision, there is something like 20,000 feet of street and road frontage. Sewer and water at the property. This is one of the finest large tracts around Atlanta and is ready for subdivision. Will sell part or all.
