THAT YOUNG BRIDE WAS FIRST VICTIM OF ANGRY WOMAN STATE WILL CLAIM

Prosecution Will Attempt to boller explosion on the United States Prove That Mrs. Godbee Did Not Turn Pistol on Her Former Husband Until She Had Riddled Other Woman.

TESTIMONY OF MOST SENSATIONAL NATURE MAY BE INTRODUCED

Trial of Mrs. Edna Godbee len-Mother of the Dead Woman, Near Physical Collapse, Calls for Retribution.

By Britt Craig.

Millen. Ga., September 10 .- (Special.) That Mrs. Godbee poured the contents of her revolver first into the body of the girl bride of her divorced husband, and that she also pumped lead into her victim while she lay writhing on the floor of the Millen postoffice, the prosecution will endeavor to show, according to Colonel W. H. Davis, who, with A. S. Anderson, is assisting Solicitor Moore in the prosecution. A number of medical experts will be put on the stand to substantiate the theory

In talking with The Constitution representative tonight. Colonel Davis said:

"We will try to show that Mrs. God bee fired first into the body of Judge Godbee's wife, and that she poured three shots into the girl before she ever turned her gun upon her former husband. Also, that while Mrs. Godbee lay upon the floor with the two bullet holes in her back, the divorced wife shot her again and then trained her revolver upon the man."

"The case, as we will try to show it, is this:

Was Seeking the Woman.

"Mr. Godbee and his wife were in the postoffice when his former wife stepped into the doorway. We believe she was seeking Godbee's bride, and turned the revolver upon her. She shot her twice, the first bullet entering the shoulder and the second just beneath the shoulderblade near the spinal column. The girl fell to the floor and, as she lay writhing in pain, the woman fired another shot, which penetrated the body in the vicinity of the hip.

"As she fell. Judge Godbee threw his arm around her shoulder, seeking to protect her, receiving a bullet wound in the upper arm that shattered the bone. As he withdrew the broken arm, his wife fell.

"When Mrs. Godbee fired the third shot into the girl she turned the pistol upon the man, emptying the chambers into his body.

"These facts we will be able to establish by eye-witnesses and medical experts. The assistant postmistress. who saw the shooting, will testify that the girl was shot first. "I do not think the trial will last clonger than three days.

Trump Card of State.

a trump card in the case of Mrs. Edna | The police tonight are conducting Godbee tomorrow, it is said, by arraigning her first on the individual charge of murdering Mrs. Florence Godbee.

By this, it is reported, the state in tends to prevent the possible injection by the defense of the stormy and unsavory matrimonial career of Judge Walter S. Godbee, for whose murder th woman is also to be triedl, and the insult he is alleged to have cast when they met in the postoffice at the time of the shooting.

A Heart-Broken Mother.

A heart-broken mother has come from her home in the distant north to help prosecute the slayer of her daughter in Georgia's most dramatic homicide. She is Mrs. M. B. Boyer, mother of Mrs Florence Godbee, who was slain with her husband, Judge Walter S. Godbee, by Mrs. Edna Perkins Godbee, divorced wife of her victim.

Mrs. Godbee will be put on trial tomorrow at 9 o'clock. Mrs. Boyer will be an active aid to the solicitor general. The case was postponed today on account of the discovery by Solicitor Moore that relatives of persons concerned in the trial were on the proposed jury.

Mrs. Boyer has been in Millen since the first days of the tragedy. She is in company with her son, M. B. Boyer, who is also assisting the prosecution. It was she who superintended the burial of her daughter's body beside the body of the slain husband.

Near Physical Collapse.

She has bordered on a collapse throughout her stay in Millen. She has often succumbed to fainting spells which were traced to grief and it is the opinion of physicians that she cannot endure the trial of her daughter's slayer. She is determined, however, to remain throughout the pro-

Two Killed, Three Wounded on U. S. S. Craven When Boiler Bursts - Wounded Now in Savannah Hospital.

Savannah, Ga., September 10 .- A torpedo boat Craven, off Tybee, at 1 o'clock this afternoon resulted in the death of Chief Water Tender McCaffray and Water Tender Milton and serious injuries to Chief Machinist's Mate Swinn, Water Tender Laughton and

The Craven was steaming in under a good head of steam when the accident happened. Ensign W. D. Lamont was on the bridge when he saw steam shoot up through the hatches and heard the cries of the men in the fireroom, who were being scalded by the boiling water. The hatches were at once closed and the pumps were set to work pumping the water and steam out of the compartment.

When the hatches were opened Water Tender D. B. Smith went down at the risk of his life and brought out Starts This Morning at Mil- the body of McCaffray. He was badly scalded and lived but a short time Milton was dead when brought out. Soon after the explosion the engines of the Craven ceased working and she drifted helplessly until the pilot boat Estill and the tug Cynthia No. 2, ooth of Savannah, went to her assistance. McCaffray died before the Craven reached Tybee.

It is believed by the officers of the Craven that low water in the boilers. caused by a defective water guage, caused the explosion. An examination showed that the boilers were not seriously damaged, the damage being confined to the twenty-five tubes.

Every man in the boiler room at the time of the explosion was either killed or injured. Ambulances met the Craven when she arrived at Tybee and the injured were taken at once to post hosital at Fort Screven. It is believed that two will recover, but the third is expected to die.

The Craven will be brought up the river to Savannah tomorrow. The revenue cutter Yamacraw will accompany her here.

Life Persists After Death, Declares Sir Oliver Lodge, Noted Scientist of England

President of Association for Advancement of Science Asserts Death Doesn't End All - Ultimate Continuity Essential to Science.

Birmingham, England, September 10. Published forecasts of the address of Sir Oliver Lodge, president of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, intimating that he would make statements of a startling character concerning immortality and the proof of life after death, although publicly denied by Sir Oliver himself, caused his address at the meeting of the association tonight to be anticified in return that if Senor Zamacona pated with lively interest and heard

"Another is to take refuge in rather vague forms of statement and shrink from closer examination of the puzzling and the obscure.

"Another is to deny the existence declaration from washington that the of anything which makes no appeal to organs of sense and no ready response to laboratory experiment.

"Against these tendencies the author contends. He urges a belief in ultimate continuity as essential to science; he regards scientific concentration as an inadequate basis for philosophic generalization; he believes that obscure phenomena may be expressed simply if properly faced; and he points out that the non-appearance of anything perfectly uniform and omnipresent is only what should be expected and is no argument against its real substantial existence."

William Clark Meets Death When He Goes to Home of Fulton Crosby, Near Moul-

Moultrie, Ga., September 10 .- (Special.)-William Clark, a prominent farmer and landowner living in this county, in Autreyville, was shot to death Monday night by his nephew, Fulton Crosby.

Trouble has been narrowly averted for some time between the two, it is said, owing to a dispute concerning a land line which separated the plantations of the two parties. This ill feeling culminated in the killing of Clark, who had gone to the home of Crosby accompanied by his two sons to further discuss the matter. Crosby, thinking they had come for the purpose of trouble, opened fire with a double-barreled shotgun as soon as the three entered

At the first shot Clark fell to the ground dead, with the top of his head blown off. His two sons opened fire on Crosby with revolvers, but it is thought none of the shots took effect, Crosby escaping through the backyard and down through his fields into the swamps of the Pilco creek.

Crosby is a young man, 23 years of age, while the deceased was about 60 years old, and leaves besides a widow a large family of children, two brothers and several sisters. The belief is current that young

ITCHED FOR 20 YEARS, RESINOL CURED IN 10 DAYS

Baltimore, Md., July 10, 1913 .-"About twenty years ago both my legs began to itch from ankle to knee. Little pimples came out that looked very much like heat. The itching and burning was something terrible. I would start to scratch and could not stop. I would even scratch through the skin and that of course would leave a sore which I was compelled to bandage.

"I tried several prescriptions and treatments, but received not a particle of benefit-no more than if the treatments were cold water. I then began to have very little faith in anything been deported, Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw and of course could do nothing but scratch away. DISQUALIFIED OR IMMUNE! The paramount issue of kissing has gone up to the board of police commissioners sitting as a supreme court on osculation. Now, here rises a grave question. The members of all courts are subject to disqualification for bias rising out of cauce. This said, who are best fitted for passing upc- the innocency or iniquity of kissing, in public or private-

Married or single men?

There's a reason for the question, for it is hinted that the attorney for the defense in the case of Patrolman Norman-accused of kissing-doubts if it is wise to try a case of this kind before bachelor members of the board.

The chairman of the board-think of it. the chairman!-Carlos Mason, is a bach-

One of the most influential members of the board, Robert C. Clarke, is a bachelor, also. Are Messrs. Mason and Clarke disqualified in this imminent case by the fact that all their lives they have played the game of solitaire? Or have they proved themselves immune to all feminine blandishments, and thereby earned a better right or at least an equal right to sit with the benedict members of the osculatory judiciary?

There are strong arguments on both

The man who is married ought to know how to distinguish between the fifty-seven varieties of kissing. He ought to be able to detect "spots" and "futures" at a glance, to tell whether a kiss is a promissory note and to decide forever and eternally whether kissing, public or private, is a help or a harm to public or private morals. So much for the benedict.

Now, Chairman Mason and "Bob" Clarke, his able adjutant, are not in this class. They are bachelors. More yet, consensus grows that they are hopeless bachelors. Their advocates claim that, for this very reason, they are supremely qualified to pass on this issue that rends the community. Why Because if they had been in the least susceptible they would long ago have succumbed and become married. The claim is that they have either kissed and kissed on promiscuously, and thus acquired long and valuable experience; or that they would kiss a window-pane, a billiard ball or a biscuit with no more exhilaration than a womantherefore, their very aloofness makes them cold-bloodedly judicial. This theory takes the position that it is the married and not the single men who should be disqualified.

We deplore the fact that Messrs, Mason and Clarke are still bachelors, considering that both are men of rare charm and attraction. But we urge, against their disqualification, the very fact that they have all these years remained unmarried. Their very chilliness of temperament may equip them, we think, for service on this fevered question. And their stern refusal to be taken into camp by feminine charms, either slit skirt, peek-a-boo, or straight front, may give right check to the impetuous zeal of the married men.

So at least try them out thoroughly, cross-examining them as to experience, before disqualifying them.

EDMONDS ON PROSPERITY.

Richard H. Edmonds, editor of The Manufacturers' Record, of Baltimore, is the first authority on industrial matters in the southern states. He is not an enthusiast, but is exrefully methodical in his calculations. He | the ringing roads.

squarely corroborates the views of The Constitution touching the prosperity due the central south, and inevitably Atlanta, by reason of peculiar conditions in the cotton beit.

This year's cotton crop should bring to the south $1,000,000,000 and a very large proportion of this will come to the central south. The enormous increase in cotton consumption which is going on throughout the world is increasing the world's demand for cotton in excess of the world's production. Even if Texas and the southwest had given the magnificent yield that was anticipated earlier in the season, the total crop would not have exceeded the world's requirements, but with a heavy decline from the high estimates early in the season as to the yield of southwest, the central south should get the benefit not only of its splendid yield which is practically assured, but also the high prices which are likely to prevail by reason of a decline in the yield in the southwest.

Atlanta is the commercial center of the central south which Mr. Edmonds, confirming The Constitution's forecast, sees as superabundantly prosperous this year. With the shortage in the west and increased demand insuring good prices to the normal central south, no power on earth can keep overwhelming good times from the central south and the city which is its center.

The main requirement is-preparation. It will be the fault of the business men of Atlanta and of Georgia, and the farmers also of Georgia, if they are not equipped to garner the harvest from one of the most overflowing years in the state's history.

"ALL---OR NONE," AGAIN.

The Constitution publishes today a communication from Professor Rembert G Smith, holding the chair of mental and moral science at Emory college, in which he defends the prohibitive tax upon hedging

The professor holds that it is immoral to deal in futures or hedge on any commodity, cotton, wheat or corn. It is possible he is right. The Constitution does not discuss the abstract morality of the question. What we are concerned about is the flagrant discrimination that would single out cotton hedging on the ground that it is immoral, and yet leave hedging in corn and wheat and stocks alone.

If it is immoral to hedge in cotton, it is equally immoral to hedge in wheat and corn. If all are right, all should stand, since the identical principle underlies the practice. If all are wrong, all should go. That's all there is to it.

It is distinctly outside the province of congress to experiment with southern cotton, to thrust this great southern staple into the laboratory of doubtful economics, while leaving alone the great staple crops of the west. Doubtless the traders in and producers of these western crops do not welcome the abolition of hedging.

When congress is ready to stop hedging entirely-in everything-and can enact legislation that will not only put a stop to it here, but at the same time prevent the placing of all such contracts abroad—then it will be time enough to take up the matter seriously.

In the meantime, however, "morality" does not demand that cotton be made the agricultural "goat."

NEARING THE FINISH.

With the passage of the Underwood bill by the senate and its return to the house. tariff revision enters upon its last stage.

It will not take long for the house to send the bill to conference, and there differences will be harmoniously adjusted.

At the latest, the bill should be passed not later than October 1. The two cardinal features, wool and sugar, have already been settled as between the two houses. The other schedules are rather in the nature of detail, needing only a little concession here and there to effect agreement. If the test schedules of wool and sugar could safely negotiate both house and senate there is little reason to fear a deadlock over minor particulars.

For this forward status of tariff revision broad credit is due President Wilson and his administration. He has handled a delicate situation with wonderful adroitness and power. It is a safe assertion that he has met as have few other American presidents a party and a national crisis with rare success and impressive faculties of leadership. He has confounded all dismal prophecies to the effect that the party and his command of it would go to pieces on the rock of the tariff.

The tariff out of the way, currency reform will next be considered. That accomplished, the president will wisely rest the party's forces so far as the special session is concerned. The spirit of compromise and of statesmanship that characterized the handling of the tariff is guarantee that the hardly less delicate currency issue will be mer with similar absence of friction and equal success.

Few congresses and few administrations in the history of America can show a record of having handled, and such dexterity and breadth, two such great issues.

"The farmer feedeth all," but he should strike from the list those who only get back to the soil in time for the harvest dinner-horn.

John Bassett Moore announces that he is "still on the job." Not very "still," however. With "the other one" on the lecture platform, John has to hustle.

INFLUENCE OF BOOKS.

"Please let me call your attention to this wonderful set of books I am introducing to the public." said the lop-sided man: "every volume is a treasure house of learning and wisdom, and-"

"I wouldn't have your books under any circumstances," interrupted Mrs. Curfew, "and the best thing you can do is to go your several ways and not waste my time and your own. I often think that the courts should abolish books altogether, for they cause more trouble in American homes than anything I know of. If there were no books Mr. Curfew would be an ideal husband and father, and life in this humble abode would be one grand sweet song, but he's always buying magnificent works in 57 volumes from agents, and then he has to take my savings from the clock to pay the monthly installments, and I sometimes fear that I never will have enough to buy a new pair of shoes.

"But that isn't the worst of it, bad as it is. If Mr. Curfew could sit down and enjoy a book and then forget it, I wouldn't care how many magnificent volumes he bought, even if I have to wear these old shoes until I drop dead in them; but everything he reads makes such an impression on him that he's always wanting to be like a character in some book, and the trouble he keeps getting into is bringing my gray hairs in sorrow to the grave.

"Two or three weeks ago he was reading a book about the times of chivalry, when knights were suits made of old railway iron and junk, and went up and down the pike succoring damsels in distress. Mr. Curfew was greatly excited over this, and said that no man could have a nobler ambition than that. He just wished he had a chance to succor a few damsels. While I was explaining to him that he'd better be chopping up some kindling for the kitchen stove, and let the distressed damsels tell their troubles to the police, who should come to our door but young Jane Jimaway, who had been Mrs. Turpentine's hired girl for several weeks.

"She was crying bitterly, and explained that the Turpentines had treated her shamefully, turning her out of the house and refusing to let her go to her room for her goods and chattels. Mr. Curfew rose out of his chair, and said: 'This is a heaven-sent opportunity. Now I can emulate Bayard and Raoul de Rawhide. I am going over to see Sam Turpentine, and dispense the high justice, the middle and the low. I only wish I had helm and hauberk and a panoplied steed, but maybe I can wear this coal skuttle on my head, and borrow Gingerton's old gray

"I tried to induce him to stay at home and let the Turpentines attend to their own business, but he sternly refused. The most I could do was to persuade him not to wear the coal skuttle on his head, or to borrow Gingerton's horse. So he went over to Mr. Turpentine, and I heard them talking in loud tones, and then there was the sound of conflict, just as I knew there would be. I went over to the fence to see what was going on, and found Mr. Curfew with his head wedged under the well curb, and his legs in the air, beckoning for the police.

"I had an awful time pulling him out and getting him home and to bed, and I had to borrow all the flaxseed in the neighborhood to make enough poultices for him, and when I went down stairs after attending to him, the Jimaway girl was gone. I looked over toward the Turpentines' place, and there she was, taking the washing off the line, as happy and contented as a woodpecker.

"Of course the news spread all over the neighborhood, and whenever Mr. Curfew appears on the streets all the girls giggle, and his friends come up and tell him of distressed women he ought to go and succor, and so he comes home gnashing his teeth and threatening to have the law on somebody. The next book he reads may be about missionary work in the center of China, and I'll have to chain him to the floor to keep him from taking the next ship to that country, so the less you say about books in my presence, the happier we'll all be."

Modern Inventions THE PRESS AGENT. By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Good Old Siwash" A press agent is a philanthropist engaged in manufacturing news to order and giving it away free of charge. News is ordinarily supposed to happen, but the press agent doesn't sit around waiting for things to happen. Besides he can make better news than can happen any day. It sometimes takes a year for a real good news story in an ordinary city to grow. But a press agent can sit down at a typewriter with plenty of paper and in half an hour he can produce a mob in which 18 people were fatally injured while trying to eatch a glimpse of the new street costume of a comic opera star. When two nations desire to produce a war they fool around for months with the preliminaries. But a press agent can plunge three countries into sanguinary conflict over the birthplace of a great tenor in forty-five minutes by the clock. It is nothing at all for him. If necessary he could get two more nations mad in another ten minutes.

The press agent does all this from kindness of heart. After he has produced his news he does not hoard it away in a bomb proof safe. Instead he goes to the nearest newspaper office and offers it to the city editor free of all charge with a cigar and two tickets to the performance thrown in.

"Offers it to the city editor with a eigar and two tickets to the performance thrown in."

Maybe the city editor has been trying to fill a newspaper with two obituaries and a dog fight. But does he rise and fall upon the neck of the press agent weeping vast tears of gratitude? Alas, no. He smokes the cigar and when the press agent has departed he laughs coarsely and cleans his pipe with his story.

The press agent spends his life jogging the elbow of the public and calling its at- | did him no good.

The World's Mysteries

WHO WROTE THIS EPIGRAM?

in any of Dr. Paxton's sermons was the fol-For years a controversy has been going on as to who was the author of the following clever epigram: "If a man can write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mousetrap than his neighbor, though he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door." For many years it was credited to Emerson. Everybody seemed to take for granted that he had written it or said it, but as all of Emerson's essays and speeches have been printed, researchers were unable to find it among his writings, nor was there produced any authority to show that he had actually written it, more than that it was along the clever style of the famous essayist.

Then some one suddenly discovered that New York preacher had used it in his sermon, and Dr. Paxton was credited with being the source of this popular epigram. When this new source was brought out the Emersonites who had believed that to their idol belonged the credit for a quarter of a century again got busy searching his works to find it. Then Fra Elbertus, of East Aurora fame, entered the arena and stated as there had leen so much controversy as to the author, he was willing to father it.

Mrs. Sarah S. B. Yule in a book entitled "Borrowings," which was compiled in 1889. credits the remark to Emerson, but she does not state where it is to be found and she was probably only following out a general impression. In recent years another claimant has appeared in the field, and frequently has been printed in the newspaper the caption "That Emerson Quotation Located at Last." This time it was given as by Dr. John R. Paxton, who was pastor of the West Presbyterian church, New York city, from 1882 to

The credit of this discovery has been given to Calvin Dill Wilson, of Glendale, Ohio. While Mr. Wilson could not say just where it was to be four , but was of the impression that it had been published in the "Treasury Magazine" in 1889, and that it occurred in a sermon entitled "The Unhidden Christ." Copies of this magazine are still in exist- | his idea in both verse and essay form, so ence, and upon its examination the nearest | that after all Emerson may be responsible for

"You may begin business in any obscure place, but if there is ability, power, and a mastery of affairs in you, then all the steamboats in the river will whistle for you, and the railroads say. Come over and manage us.' You cannot be hid. On the other hand, if you have not ing the world wants, if you have no power to paint a picture or manage business, you are hidden already. I u may live in your front windows, and drive on Fifta av e but you are hid."

While this quotation expresses a similar thought it is not nearly as cleve - the original. Recently have appeared the Journals of walph Waldo Emerson never before published, and in them appears on page 525 of volume 8, covering Emerson's Journal written in 1855, the following memorandum jotted down by the Sage of Concord:

"If a man has grown corn, or wood, or boards, or pigs, to sell, or can make better chairs or knives, crucibles or church organs, than anybody else, you will find a broad, hard-beaten road to his house, though it be in the woods. And if a man knows the law. people will find it out, though he live in pine shanty, and resort to him."

This is nearer the actual quotations, but The Journal does not use the word "mousetrap," but it so closely parallels the quotation which Mrs. Yule credit to him in her book of "Borrowings," and waich, to the best of her memory and belief she copied into her handbook from an address delivered by Emerson, that it would seem to establish Emerson's authorship beyond reasonable doubt. To paraphase the famous quotation;

"If a man can phrase a telling thought. though he write it in his private journal, or speak it in a lyceum lecture, the world will catch it up and blazon his name on post-

Emerson's so-called Journals were really notebooks or commonplace books in which he jotted down, not events, but the rough material of his lectures and essays, thoughts that are familiar to the world through his rough and fragmentary form in which they first came to him, and he frequently recast approach that could be found to the original | this famous saying.

TOO MANY ARRESTS FOR TRIVIAL OFFENSES

Editor Constitution: While we are on the subject of arrests for trivial offenses, suppose we pause for a moment and see wherein the real trouble lies.

Is it not that the average policeman is laboring under a delusion that the more arrests the better the policeman? If so, a greater mistake was never made.

A municipality is simply a big corporation in which all the citizens are stockholders, all contributing to defray its expenses, all helping to pay the salaries of its servants, among whom are the police; all supposed to share equally in the rights and privileges granted by the constitution. The police are the servants of the people. It was never intended they should be their masters or the oppressors.

Now, assume for the sake of argument that a man and a woman are seen kissing on the steps of the capitol or in one of the public parks. Go a step further, and say they are kissing with that ardor which the sight of the gibbous moon calls forth. What would be the duty of a policeman? Should he take this innocent pair to the station

Or should he simply admonish them that house, lock them up, humiliate them?

the capitol steps is no place for the display of amatory emotions and tell them to desist? Which, think you, would be the better servant of the people-for such the policeman is, no matter how he views it—the man who protects his employer from humiliation and indignity or the one who subjects him to it?

I am not decrying arrests where arrests are needed, but I do know that there are too many arrests being made in Atlanta; too many innocent citizens being humillated. The sooner the police department comes to understand that they are the servants of the people, paid by the people, and that they owe their very existence to the people, the sooner we will be free of the detestable system of spying which has caused Atlanta to be ridiculed throughout the country.

Like the other correspondent who wrote you on this subject a few days ago. I do not sign my name because I am afraid to. I send you my card, however. I am afraid to sign this simply because I kissed my mother-in-law at the front door the other day, and while it was in the presence of my wife it may nevertheless land me in jail if it got out, and who knows that I was not under official espionage?

A WISE OWL.

EMORY COLLEGE PROFESSOR UPHOLDS TAX ON HEDGING

It is not surprising that the proposal to tax cotton futures is met with bitter opposition A system which has existed for years, however injurious or even immoral, will be sure to have defenders and some of them no doubt thoroughly honest in their conviction. The matter, however, should be decided on its merits. The fact that Mr. Witham or any other good man favors delay cannot be accepted as conclusive.

Dealing in cotton futures is injurious, and chiefly to the farmers. They realize this and are demanding this legislation. The cotton farmers believe that the price of cotton since the war has been on an average too low, and that the immense dealings in futures have had much to do with

Nor are they unduly alarmed by the fact that, as Mr. Witham says in his letter to Senator Smith, the price of cotton broke nearly $3 per bale because of the action of the democratic caucus on the Clark amendment. They know very well that those who are desirous to perpetuate the existing system have great financial power which they are using to defeat or to defer the proposed legislation.

Furthermore, dealings in futures in wheat, corn, cotton, etc., as carried on, are not only injurious but immoral. Most of those who deal in them are parasites, and not producers. who are engaged in gambling on the prices of our great crops. Miss Tarbell has not been refuted as to her proposition that it is not right for a man to sell what he does not possess.

The masses of the people of this country believe that dealing in futures is for the most part mere gambling upon the prices of commodities and they want it stopped

The tax has been proposed first on cotton no doubt because that great crop has been and is the chief victim, but your editarial in the issue of September 9 is sound in its contention that the wheat and corn and stocks of the country should be all reliev from the incubus of fictitious transactions. And the people prefer the relief on Monday rather than on Tuesday-whatever may be the wishes of great bankers et id omne REMBERT G. SMITH. Professor of Mental and Moral Science

MEN AND RELIGION BULLETIN No. 77 PARKS, POLICEMEN, PURITY

Atlanta is not sex-mad. Your daughters are safe in the city parks. Proper Police protection will be given girls and children.

Of certain men, Peter said:

"These, as natural brute beasts, made to be tall in the ides to be tall in the idea to be t they understand not-

"Spots they are and blemishes-

"Having eyes full of adultery, and that can not cease from sin-

"Which have forsaken the right way-

"While they promise liberty, they themselves are the servants of corruption."

Such men are still here.

But-God be praised!

The growth of knowledge among all classes is making it harder for this type of men to

A short while, and they will have disappeared; for men are thinking; and, where men think, the man who favors moral corruption has to go.

Watching makes life impossible for him.

Hence, he always favors a corrupt police force.

An honest policeman, LIKE CHIEF BEAVERS, backed by an incorruptible police court judge, LIKE RECORDER BROYLES, means the undoing of such a man.

Therefore a fight to control the police force and limit the power of honest officials is inevitable in every city.

Cities of America and the world are today looking to Atlanta.

For here our police force is controlled by its Chief. And he has put an end to protected vice.

Men under him are safeguarding the public.

For over a year they have kept vice on the run.

Further, they are protecting girls from beasts that prey.

They will continue this.

You understand. To publish the girl's name in the newspapers to the world was cruelty, but to arrest her when found late at night in a compromising position with a man in the Capitol entrance was merciful. What might have happened?

For Atlanta is too small and YET TOO BIG to shelter men of that type.

Had it been your sister-if it were your daughter, you would have thanked God for the arrest and have acknowledged your eternal obligation to the officer who made it.

People think.

THEY SEE THE TRAGEDIES which lie beyond these supposed kisses.

In "UNMARRIED MOTHERS," an article recently published in Harper's Weekly, Edith Livingston Smith says:

"A girl stays innocent until she is awakened.

"Our factories and shops are run by them.

"It is the kiss, the touch, the sense stirred that make her, in the glory of her womanhood or in her shame, acknowledge her sex.

"Our cities are full of mere children who have felt the glow of freedom and the necessity of toil.

"It is but natural that they should obey the call of the times; but they leave their toys and their spelling books to go into wage-earning competition, where life crowds and entices, enchants, dominates AND SOMETIMES KILLS. "Whose fault is this?" Nicholas Vachel Lindsay sings:

> "She was taught desire in the street. Not at the angels' feet. By the good no word was said Of the worth of a bridal bed. The secret was learned from the vile. Not from her mother's smile. Home spoke not. And the girl Was caught in the public whirl.

"In Liberty's name we cry For these women about to die.

"What shall be said of a State Where traps for the while bride wait? Of sellers of drink who play The game for extra pay? Of statesmen in league with all Who hope for the girl-child's fall? Of banks where hell's money is paid And Pharisees all afraid Of panders that help them sin? When will our wrath begin?"

Thank God, IT HAS BEGUN in Georgia! Our Legislature, just adjourned, in no uncertain terms gave notice to the world that our representatives have regard for the welfare of the girl.

But there are those who would stand idly by while girls were being destroyed in the very shadow of the capitol's dome. Again we thank God, for these are in the minority! And they do not, can not control Atlanta's police force, The city is awake.

Another effort to undermine Chief Beavers-

Another attempt to fly-blow a policy of decency and public purity has failed. Again today Jesus is saying: "Blessed are your eyes, for they see; and your ears, for they hear." Policemen will continue doing their duty in Atlanta.

And YOU will uphold them in it. THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE MEN AND

HOME PAPER OF ATLANTA

What Are You Going to Wear This Season?

Miss Isma Dooly will tell you in next Sunday's Constitution what is stylish for autumn. Miss Dooly has just spent weeks studying the output of the world's leaders in fashions. She is the south's foremost authority on proper gowning. Her article for next Sunday is full of news from all the style centers. It is the first authentic word as to what will be stylish in Atlanta this season. Don't miss it.

The Best Fashion Pages.

The best fashion supplement published in America will supplement Miss Dooly's article. The only section in Georgia devoted exclusively to women's fashion. It is printed handsomely in colors.

Women's Club News.

The Constitution contains an official page of news from all the Federated Clubs of Georgia. It prints the official news of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the Mothers' Congress and the Equal Suffrage Association. All will be in next Sunday. Order the paper now.

Whole Page for Children.

The children went to school Monday. Sunday The Constitution gives a page to their activities. Every parent and every pupil will want to read this page. It will be a part of every Sunday Constitution while school is in session. Children, see that your parents order next Sunday's Constitution early so you will not lose the children's Inside Story of Pennant Race. By Dick Jemison.

You know we won the pennant. Possibly you think you know how we won it, but you don't. Mr. Jemison does know that inside story, and he's probably the only one in Atlanta who does, outside of Billy Smith, and the directors, and they aren't telling. Mr. Jemison will tell the story in next Sunday's Constitution.

The Undertaker's Gaiety.

It isn't a very cheerful subject. Ned Mc-Intosh got to wondering how one ever got the idea in his head that he would become an undertaker. He couldn't figure it out, so he went to see several. While he was finding out how they became undertakers, he also picked up some mighty interesting stories relating to incidents in their professional careers. It's all in Sunday's Constitution, and it isn't at all weird or ghastly. There will be illustrations by Gregg.

The Happiest Man in Georgia.

A wonderful study in human nature by J. Walter LeCraw. Mr. LeCraw thinks he has discovered the happiest man in the state, and he cites facts, and produces photographs to prove his assertions. His "happiest man" is aged-but that would be anticipating? Read Mr. LeCraw's story next Sunday.

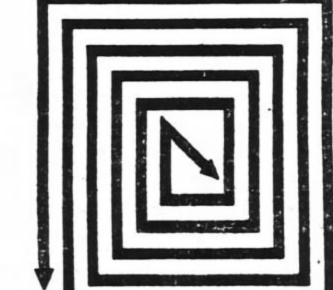

The Poison Belt. By Conan Doyle.

Did you read the first installment last Sunplay? If you didn't, it isn't too late to pick it up next Sunday. The second installment will begin with a liberal synopsis of what has gone before. It is going to be a literary sensation.

CRACKERS PLAY IN KNOXVILLE TODAY

Edited By DICK JEMISON

WHIFFS

Players Pleased.

EVERY member of the Atlanta team expressed the wish yesterday that Whiffs tell the fans how pleased they were with the generous support of the loca. rooters all during the season and the manner in which they showed their appreciation of the team's efforts to win. Every man expressed himself as desirous of returning next year. Even those that go to would rather play here in 1914.

Lose But Three.

THE CRACKERS will lose but three men and not more than four of the team that won the pennant. The others will be back here next spring. Joe Agler, Wallop Smith and Joe Conzelman will probably stick in the big tent. Holland, Love and Thompson will be back. If drafts are filed for either Bisland, Chapman or Dent we will lose a fourth man.

Outfield Intact.

IT LOOKS like we will open the season with the pennant-winning outfield intact. Long. Welchonce and Nixon can carry our money. Chapman and Dunn, unless the former is drafted, can carry the receiving honors all year. Dent, Thompson and Price will ing staff. Alperman, Holland, Manush and Bisland a nucleus for a good infield, though the last named will probably go by draft, and he should. as he is much better than a lot of shortstops in that hig show right now and Leonard Dobard, three of the younger players who were "farmed" out this season, will be back for tryouts next spring, and with the men that Manager Smith will get from the big league meeting, there should be very little worry over the prospects next season. We cannot win the pennant every year, but this nucleus ! will give them all a stiff battle.

BASEBALL people are taking the story that Bill Smith is going to run! for council with a grain of salt, and reports fine progress. well they should, for Billy has no story printed elsewhere on this page.

Managerial Changes.

ALTHOUGH five of the Southern league teams will change managers next season, there will not be a new face in the bunch. Finn will go from Mobile to Memphis, Itobbs from Montgomery to Chattanooga, Elberfeld from Chattanooga to New Orleans. Captain Bill Elwert will head Montgomery is the report and Bobby Gilks, former Shreveport manager. will handle the reins of the Gulls, so it will be a familiar bunch of faces at the helms of Southern League clubs next spring.

Right to Work

ACCORDING to Pittsburg papers. Fred Clarke, manager of the Pittsburg Pirates, is so well pleased with Joe Conzelman, the Cracker twirler, whom he recalled, that he is going to put him right to work and pitch him in turn the rest of the season. Our hunch is that Joe delivers.

Congratulations.

MOBILE FASW have answered the question. They have decided that the purse raised for the Mobile players if they won the pennant shall go regardless of the outcome. We congratulate the Mobile fans for their sportsmanship. The purse here would have gone the same way regardless.

Knocking Homers.

BROWN KEENE, the Atlanta boy who is playing second base for Springfield, in the Central league, is up to his old tricks again of winning ball games with home run drives over the fence. Brown has registered fourteen of them this season. Keene might be a youngster worth looking over for that initial cushion position next spring.

As a centerfielder. Bill Smith is a grand little speechmaker. He stood in the center of the diamond in the seventh inning and thanked each and every one of the 1.500 fans present for their splendid treatment of the team and expressed the hope that they would all be out next season. D. A. R. CHAPTER TORN BY PROHIBITION FIGHT

Rome. Ga., September 10 .- (Special.) Prohibition has bobbed up as an issue in local Daughters of the American Revolution circles, and lively debate is anticipated at the meeting of the Cavier chapter, to be held Friday, upon the army canteen question. The issue has been precipitated by a letter received by Mrs. W. B. Chidsey, regent of Xavier chapter, from officials of the Anti-Saloon league, in which the chapter is asked to condemn the indosement of the canteen, passed at the last general convention of the order.

GIRL ARRESTED AT ROME TAKEN HOME BY FATHER

Rome, Ga., September 10.—(Special.) When his pretty 17-year-old daughter, Cora, refused to return with him to Jacksonville, Ala., and asserted that she could not be happy there. James Jenkins promised her to move to Georgia, and will, in order to please the girl, take up his residence at Lindale this week. Miss Jenkins, who is an unusually attactive girl, ran away from home Monday and came to Rome in company with an older woman, Mrs. Mary Smith. The father telegraphed local officers to take them into custody.

The girl consented to return to Jacksonville upon the solemn assurance of her father that the family would move back to Georgia next week.

ADAMS WILL NOT MAKE CONGRESSIONAL RACE

Gainesville, Ga., September 10 .--(Special.)-Colonel J. O. Adams issues a statement in reply to the report published in The Atlanta Georgian to the effect that Senator Hoke Smith would stump the district for him for congress as against Congressman Bell. This publication brought on consider. able talk in the district. The Constitution's correspondent referring to it yesterday.

Colonel Adams says that the reports is "hatched up by a few sore-heads who wish to make it appear that Senator Smith is trying to interfere in local politics in this district," and continuing, he says:

"I have no idea of running for congress, have never spoken or conferred with Senator Smith, directly or indirectly, about making the race, and those hatching up the story evidently did it, knowing the facts. I know the Atlanta papers are in no way responsible for the story."

NEW ROAD MACHINERY FOR LAURENS COUNTY

Dublin, Ga., September 10 .- (Special.)-Laurens county has just recently put in some of the latest and most improved road working machinery now built, and the results are that she is now building more good roads daily with less force than ever. The machinery includes a large gasoline traction engine, a scarifier for tearing packed roads for rebuilding, dirt pulverizers, road scrapes and shapers, road rollers and drags. With the outfit the work of twenty hands and thirty mules is done each day with only seven hands, and the county convict gang is used. The labor cost is

The Truth About Engravings

THE MOST EXPENSIVE THING IN THE WORLD IS A CHEAP HALFTONE.

It is expensive because the purchaser does not get what he wants or expects

It is expensive to the printer because it compels him to waste time in an effort to get results that are impossible.

When finally printed, if it ever is, it is expensive to the party who uses it because it does not bring the results expected.

It is expensive to the engraver who sells it because a customer does not come back the second time for cheap work.

Chas. P. Byrd, one of the oldest and best-known printers in the South, has the following to say in a recent issue of Byrd's-Eye-View, the house organ of the Byrd Printing Company:

> "To those who have not learned by experience it often seems advisable to buy engravings as inexpensively as possible and put it up to the printer to get results.

> "The plates may be very shallow and improperly etched. They may give good results on an engraver's proof-press, but not on a rapidly-running cylinder.

"There is a certain price below which engravings cannot go and remain satisfactory, no matter what the engraver's proofs seem to indicate."

Mr. Byrd knows what he is talking about. He never made an engraving in his life, but he has bought thousands of them, and he knows exactly the kind of plates that will give good results when it comes to printing.

He knows what kind of results to expect from a cheap halftone and what kind of results can be secured from a first-class plate.

He KNOWS when he pays the Southern Engraving Company more for a halftone than he would some others that he is getting a better plate than he would if he bought it at a cheaper price.

He knows that he is getting a plate that he can print in a manner creditable to himself and satisfactorily for his customer.

THE SOUTHERN ENGRAVING COMPANY IS NOT A CHEAP HOUSE.

We have the largest photo-engraving plant in the South. We pay our men higher wages than anyother house n the South because they are BET-TER WORKMEN

We get higher prices for our work than any other house in the South because we turn out BETTER WORK. When it comes to quality we have no competitors in this section and no superiors in America.

We turn out more work than any two houses in the South because with our superior workmen and our day and night forces we can turn it out quicker and better than any of the little fellows.

We have demonstrated to the users of engravings that our plates are SUPPERIOR to those turned out by the cheap houses and they are willing to pay higher prices when they know that they are getting the BEST that money can buy.

NO OTHER ENGRAVING OR PRINTING ESTABLISH-MENT IN THE SOUTH CAN HANDLE YOUR CATALOG JOB IN ITS ENTIRITY.

With our staff of photographers, artists, designers and engravers we are prepared to get out catalogs, from furnishing you with ideas to the printed job complete.

If you are looking for cheap, makeshift work, please do not waste our time.

If you want the BEST let us show you what we are doing for others.

The Safe Choice

SELECTING A DEPOSITORY for your funds, absolute safety is your first consideration. A wealthy bank with an inexperienced Management and Directorate may be all right, or a moderately rich bank with a strong Management and Directorate may be able to afford you every courtesy you desire. But decidedly the safe choice is to deposit in a bank with an experienced Management and an able Directorate, and where its reputation for meeting every need of the most particular deserving depositors extends over a period of many years. The ATLANTA NATIONAL BANK has met all these requirements.
