C. F. von HERRMAN,
STATIONER & PRINTER.

should be preferred against Officer for pay.

"I do not think it right," he declared, "to believe the word of one man and let Officer go uninvestigated. It is making one or the other out a perjurer."

Police Ordered To Use Care.

A move was made in executive session by Mayor Woodward to have read the report submitted at the last meeting of the plain clothes squad which arrested O. Meyer and Miss Dora Westman on the capital steps. His contention was that the report and evidence produced in recorder court conflicted.

After much protest, the report was read. Following which came the resolution, seven to four, to instruct the chief regarding cautionary orders to be issued to the plain clothes squad regarding future arrests of such nature. It was during this discussion that Mayor Woodward was caustically alluded to the police station, and was given such heated reply by Chief Beavers.

Chief Beavers and Attorney Walter D. Andrews, counsel for Charles Williams, engaged in a warm dispute while the commission was investigating the arrest of Williams on the capital steps a few days ago.

The chief, as prosecutor, asked Williams, who was testifying:

"What would you do or say if you caught one of your sisters in that position in which you saw the girl are said to have been found at that time of the night?"

"It is according," answered the youth, "to how long the girl and boy had been going together. Otherwise, I refuse to answer."

If His Sister Had Been Arrested.

The attorney interrupted, asking the chief:

"Now, chief, I would like to ask you a question. What would you do if a sister of yours had been found sitting on the capital steps, doing nothing improper—just sitting there and had been arrested and locked up all night by two burly policemen?"

"I would say," answered the chief, "that if a sister of mine had been caught in such a position, I don't know exactly what I would do."

When the chief had resumed his seat and Chairman Mason had successfully rallied for order Attorney Andrews said:

"Gentlemen, this town is under domination."

Referred to Vice Squads.

"Beavers," in his excitement, thought I referred to him. I wasn't. I said this best in the park square and some of the slouching vice squads."

The move to order Chief Beavers to strictly control the plain clothes squad regarding future arrests was voiced first by Commissioner Johnson and second by Commissioner Pate.

The vote stood 7 to 4. A number of brief speeches were made in opposition to the move. The department was being subjected to undue criticism and censure, and that such a move would invite more unjust attacks. Others supported him.

Exonerated.

The final vote stood: Mayor, yes; Pate, yes; Vernon, no; Smith, no; Garner, no; Johnson, yes; Clarke, yes; McKee, no; Colwell, yes; Woodward, yes; King, yes.

The vote for Captain Norman's exoneration, the same number was: Vernon, yes; Pate, yes; Johnson, no; Smith, no; Garner, no; Clarke, yes; McKee, no; Colwell, yes; Woodward, yes; King, yes.

The trial of Captain Norman began with the testimony of the plain clothes men who had seen him on August 3, at his bedside in a lane in Grant park, with his Christian and her baby girl.

Mills Testifies Against Norman.

A. A. Mills, a traveling man, was the first witness called to the stand. He was who he was sent by Policeman Lewis Whitley to see if he could see Captain Norman and his wife.

He stated that the accused policeman and his wife were sitting on the grass, Norman on his hands and knees, and his wife sitting on the grass, her back to him.

"On the 8th of August," he testified, "I saw Captain Norman and his wife sitting on the grass, Norman on his hands and knees, and his wife sitting on the grass, her back to him."

Dr. Lincoln McConnell Regrets Publicity Given Young Woman

Rev. Lincoln McConnell, new pastor of the Baptist Tabernacle, when seen by a Constitution reporter last night, gave out the following statement regarding the unsavory publicity regarding the young woman recently arrested in the "kissing" case at the capital, which grew out of his sermon last Sunday night.

"When I saw the headlines in the Constitution Tuesday morning over the statement of the young woman's mother, I instantly wrote her a letter expressing my regret at having unwittingly been the instrument of giving publicity to an incident which was embarrassing to her and her daughter."

"I do not regret that I have said what I have said, but I had no idea that I was speaking of a young woman or a young man at all when I spoke of the charge was dismissed. I would not have been the subject for anything in the world."

"I had been informed on the strength of the statement of the men who made the arrest of their chief that the circumstances were exceedingly serious, which testimony, I learned after my sermon, was not that given before the recorder, and upon which the case was dismissed."

"One of the young men arrested, I understood, had forfeited his collateral rather than face the charges, and this I supposed to be the case in question. I have also since learned that this young man sacrificed his collateral rather than embarrass the young lady by bringing her into court."

"My sermon was not in any way based upon the kissing episode, but I merely happened to use that as an illustration in my sermon on the 8th of August. I spoke of it as I was under the impression that I could have no more reliable information upon the subject than that of the report of the arresting officers to their chief. While I am sure that I am not a young man, I will say that I would not believe a statement of any officer who was not willing to make that statement under oath before the trial judge."

"You certainly are, Mr. Thomas," said the church sexton.

The Atlanta Constitution as the Standard Southern Newspaper

THERE are various types of newspapers each with its distinct appeal and of varying degrees of popularity in different sections of the country. All of them are represented in the South.

One is the sensational newspaper. It is not as fashionable as it used to be. Many shrewd newspaper men, trained in sensing the public taste, think it is waning very fast. Faking is its foundation. Its program is to hit the reader every day between the eyes. If bona fide news serves its turn, that news is played up in blazing, hysterical headlines. The reading matter screams and smells of fire. It is merciless when it treats scandal. Sometimes it is reckless of the community welfare so long as it shocks the pennies from people's pockets. If material for these spasms is not forthcoming, it has often been known to resort to invention. Its editorial views are biased, bushwhacking and uncandid.

Another type is the feature newspaper. It is much milder than the first, but their programs have something in common. It is always in search of the picturesque, the unique, the bizarre. Often it prints accurate news. Oftener the news is "muffed" or obscured or muddled in the effort to distort a feature out of it. It abounds in graphic pictures. Its editorial, like its news policy, is casual, flippant and happy-go-lucky.

A third type is the ultra-conservative newspaper. Some mighty fine sheets are in this class. Most of them lean too far backward. They are afraid of progress in the news and public issues until progress has grown whiskers. An innovation generally gives them the palsy. For a thing to be new is to make it rest under suspicion. They never like to get from under the shadow of the established order. A great big world-thrilling event generally leaves them with a steady pulse-beat.

There are other types. These three are archtypes.

The Atlanta Constitution, as "The Standard Southern Newspaper," is distinctive enough as to have almost if not quite created a fourth pronounced type.

It is the plumb-line by which Atlanta, the state, south and nation gauge other newspapers of the same class.

¶ Since its establishment it has been operated upon a clean-cut, definite program, with definite journalistic purposes behind it. That program has not been and is not the result of accident. It was not stumbled upon in the dark. It is the result of a keen and patient study of the paper's field, microscopic examination of the best and the worst in its contemporaries, and intimate sympathy with the ideas of its constituency.

¶ The Constitution is an entity.

¶ It represents the best of other types of newspapers, with an added individuality of its own.

¶ First of all, it prints the news of other countries, its own country, its own state and its own city. The public wants in its newspaper, primarily, a report of all the news occurrences that are informative and interesting and fit to print. The Constitution gives right of way to news. The greater portion of its editorial organization is concentrated upon the task of gathering the news and presenting it properly. No newspaper of its class anywhere prints a more comprehensive news review of the world occurrences.

¶ It gives the TRUTH in the news prime consideration. It regards itself as in a compact with its readers to deliver certain goods. It does not knowingly deliver damaged or tainted goods.

¶ It believes allegations should be verified before they go to its readers. It does not countenance smutty or suggestive news. It stresses cleanliness.

¶ This does not entail prudishness. It means THE TRUTH stripped of sly embellishment.

¶ But it does not believe there is any necessity to present the news dully. "An honest tale spreads best being plainly told," but that does not mean TOLD PLAINLY.

¶ Everyone likes a bright but accurate talker, and everyone likes a bright but accurate newspaper. The paper that described the Titanic disaster like reciting a lesson would not get very far. ¶ The Constitution employs able and highly-trained men to put GINGER into The Truth.

¶ It believes in an attractive dress for itself. Good clothes on man, woman or newspaper represent good taste.

¶ Typographically, The Constitution is a model. It strives for all the grace compatible with the correct estimate of every article's worth.

¶ It employs experts who know what's what and who's who in the news, and what credit to give men and events. It is not wedded to any arbitrary typographical formulas, when important things happen.

¶ When occasion justifies, to use street parlance, it "throws it into the high gear" in the matter of type display. But it strives always to preserve consistency between the real importance of news and its typographical presentation.

¶ It believes in features that are entertaining—in entertainment itself.

¶ It retains humorists and facile artists to relieve the paper of the heaviness which the printing of unflavored news only would entail.

¶ It prints fiction, essays and various other classes of matter that are as entertaining as they are informative, so that the paper will provide interesting reading for every taste and mood.

¶ In its editorial columns it honestly strives for what it believes to be for the good of the largest number.

¶ It does not fawn.

¶ It does not misrepresent.

¶ It does not mind making enemies.

¶ It avoids provincialism.

¶ It tries to be national in its viewpoint.

ALTOGETHER ITS PROGRAM IS TO APPEAL TO THE JUDGMENT, THE CONFIDENCE, THE BELIEF IN THE WHOLESOME THINGS OF LIFE, THE SANE DESIRE FOR SANE PROGRESS AND FOR ALL WORTH WHILE THINGS OF EXISTENCE, OF THE BEST TYPE OF SOUTHERN PEOPLE.

The program has been undeviating.

HONEST CONTRACT FOR COTTON TRADE

Effort to Secure Such Contract and Modify the Clarke Tax on Deals in Futures—Wilson's Aid Sought.

By John Corrigan, Jr.,
Washington, September 17.—(Special)—Strong efforts are being made to have President Wilson help in securing an amendment of the Clarke futures tax which will require the New York cotton exchange to adopt an honest contract based on government standard grades of cotton.

The house conferees are in favor of modifying the Clarke amendment. The house has once on record in favor of abolishing speculative trading entirely by denying the use of the mails or wires for carrying on such trading. Pressure now is being exerted to reform the exchange contract rather than abolish the exchange.

Advocates of the new plan believe this can be done through the use of the government's taxing power. It will require government standard grades to be tendered on contracts by attaching severe penalties to the tender of "dog-eared" or waste cotton.

As Conditions are Now.
As conditions are now the New York exchange arbitrarily fixes the premiums and discounts on the grades above and below middling cotton twice a year. No matter how much these grades may fluctuate in the spot market, the arbitrary value given them on the exchange is not changed.

It would be just as reasonable to try to fix in advance the difference between the value of New York Central and Georgia Central railroad stock throughout the year. It could be done with just as much justice or reason.

Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia, who fought for the Smith-Lever compromise agreement in the senate chamber, and today he doubted if the Clarke amendment would prohibit gambling. The tax would simply be passed on to the cotton farmer through deducting that much from the price offered to him for his staple, he said. It did not prevent some speculative sale where $1 or $2 a bale in put up as margin, but would not prevent the great volume of gambling.

"What we ought to do," said Senator Smith, "is to require the cotton exchange to be a real cotton market, where a man could buy a cotton contract, where a man could sell a cotton contract, where a man could buy a cotton contract, where a man could sell a cotton contract. The cotton which permits a trade to tender waste cotton at a grossly unfair valuation artificially raises its value."

What helps to reduce the price of cotton in the farmers' hands?

Substitute for Clarke Amendment.

A substitute for the Clarke amendment submitted to the conferees by Representative Leavelle, of North Carolina, would provide that the tax of 50 cents per bale, shall not be assessed where the cotton contracts call for the regular government grades, and such grades actually are delivered; or where the difference in price is paid if another grade is delivered. This and other changes will be considered. In the belief that the cotton futures amendment finally will be retained as a regulatory provision as well as a revenue raising feature.

Representative Leavelle said today that the substitute for the Clarke cotton futures amendment had the approval of many southern senators, with whom he had talked.

The proposal is in the nature of a compromise, and was drawn by Mr. Leavelle after conference with experts of the department of agriculture, and Postmaster General Burleson. It is intended to regulate cotton exchange contracts rather than abolish the exchange.

Under the substitute, if actual delivery of cotton sold on exchange were not made, a settlement would be required on the basis of actual commercial differences as established in the spot cotton market, for six days previously, between the grade tendered and the basic grade named on the contract, which is usually middling cotton. A punitive tax of 5 cents per bale would be imposed for non-delivery.

What Exchange Men Say.

Representatives of the cotton exchanges have presented objections to such a compromise, and have asked that a small tax be levied—approximately one cent—on the value of the cotton as a revenue raising device during the Spanish war—and government commission be created to study the taxation of cotton futures as an economic measure.

The cotton men who object to the compromise declare that the taxing of cotton, for which the government has created standard types, will cover only certain grades of white cotton, and will exclude not only certain lower grades of white cotton, but also so-called tinged and stained cotton, which normally constitutes about 25 per cent of the crop, and which they claim is years of storm is a much greater proportion.

The effect of the compromise, they would be to life a tax described by them as "destructive" and "punitive" from only a portion of the crop.

Marshall Pleads Guilty.

Birmingham, Ala., September 17.—D. J. Marshall today plead guilty in United States court here to the charge of using the mails to defraud. He was given 18 months in the federal penitentiary.

Marshall, president of the American Concrete and Road Co., of Birmingham, and an ally of the late John D. Rockefeller, was indicted for having sold several thousand dollars worth of worthless bonds in the company.

ENGLAND THREATENED BY GREATEST STRIKE

Lockouts of Workmen Seem Likely to Cause General
Labor Trouble.

London, September 17.—England is threatened with the most serious strike in history, according to union leaders here today.

The trouble began in last week, many workmen in Dublin last week, due to a strike of transport workers because of the employment of non-union laborers. The sympathetic strike of Liverpool dock workers and railroad employees there and at Birmingham already has crippled the three great trunk railways serving the midland counties of England and the Manchester Ship Canal company also is contending with a strike of dock laborers.

At Liverpool seven of the great freight depots were laid this morning and others are likely soon to be closed. All attempts have failed to settle the Dublin trouble. The difficulty of getting provisions into the Irish capital has become so great that it is believed the markets there will be closed.

London has been only indirectly affected by the railroad strikes. The metropolis is more interested in the threatened strike of motor omnibus drivers because the employers refuse to allow employees to wear union badges. The men met today and agreed a resolution favoring a strike which would tie up all the motor omnibuses and tube lines in London.

Heavy Dockets Keep
Fulton Judges Busy

On account of having one of the heaviest dockets of the year in the criminal division of the city court Judge Andrew C. Calhoun has decided to hold court another week. After that the criminal division of superior court is due to meet, as these courts do not have separate rooms and cannot sit at the same time.

Solicitor Hugh M. Dorsey is said to be looking for a judge from another circuit who can preside temporarily in Fulton until the tangle caused by changes can be straightened out. His docket is even more crowded than was the city court docket.

Athens Schools Open.

Athens, Ga., September 17.—The Athens public schools opened Wednesday morning with a large increase in every grade of the ten school buildings. Former of the buildings have been enlarged and the new ones erected. The present courthouse of Athens county will be used as a school as soon as the new building is done.

WRECKER SUSPECTS PUT UNDER ARREST

Engineer Ragsdale, of Central,
Notices Absence of Lamp and Stops Train in Time.

Sheriff L. D. Hudson of Spaulding county and two railroad detectives tonight have three men in jail while men under suspicion for the attempt to wreck the Dixie Flyer late Tuesday night as it sped through the yards of Hampton, Ga. It is expected that arrests will be made within the next 18 hours.

This is the second time that an attempt to wreck the Dixie Flyer has been made at this place, the previous attempt occurred here through investigations of the wrecked train a few days ago. The train has also been stoned several times near Hampton. Although detectives have made thorough investigations of these previous outrages there have been unable to place the blame on anyone.

The attempt was frustrated by T. R. Ragsdale, engineer, who happened to note the absence of the switch lamp at the broken switch. The train was driving at high speed when Ragsdale saw the customary lamp was missing.

He brought his train to a halt within twenty-five yards, the pilot wheels of his engine coming upon the displaced switch. Investigation revealed the switch lamp burning in a nearby cornfield, where it evidently had been thrown.

Officials of the Central road, the tracks of which receive the flyer on routes through the city, have ordered immediate investigation. Bloodhounds are on the trail of the supposed wreckers, and a squad of detectives are at work on the case.

Company F to Stay
Says Col. Pomeroy

Colonel E. E. Pomeroy, of the Fifth regiment, the central, who happened to report that Company F, of the regiment, the Pulon Blues, is to be disbanded. The company is the elite of Atlanta society and the recruits by that name could not find time to drill because they were so pre-occupied with theaters, dinner parties and dancing.

Colonel Pomeroy admits that a number of the members of the Pulon Blues will not re-enlist when their service period expires in December. Captain Harrison Jones and Lieutenant George W. McCarthy have already resigned. Colonel Pomeroy declares that recruits will be easily found to take the place of those who fall out and to bring the company up to the normal number.

public members. This order was based on a custom which has been observed in the past.

In addition to this the Confederate camp was held by the Blue Guard. Its members were former Confederate soldiers, but because they were members of the Grand Army of the Republic to hold its meetings and to act as escorts.

2,000 Blue Veterans Parade.
Fully 2,000 union survivors of the civil war marched through the streets of Chattanooga today in the Grand Army of the Republic's forty-seventh annual parade. In the face of a steady rain the veterans trudged between human walls of cheering spectators which lined the entire route.

Singing familiar songs and waving battleflags, "Old Glory" and department banners, the veterans presented a picturesque sight which will long be remembered in Dixie.

Half a dozen confederate veterans clad in gray uniforms, were taken prisoners by union veterans during the progress of the parade and amid shouts of laughter forced to participate in it. Laughing and chatting with their captors, the confederate veterans brought forth repeated cheering from the spectators.

Negro Veterans in Parade.
Many unique features marked the demonstration. Umbrellas were more numerous by far than arms. In many instances red white and blue pennants were substituted for guns and the Louisiana-Mississippi motto composed of negroes, carried stalks of sugarcane, topped with cotton bolls.

Good-natured remarks were exchanged continuously between the marchers and the spectators. A blue veteran was asked, "What do you think of the south?"

Turning to his comrades, he waved both arms and called for "Three cheers for the south!" He then turned to cheer his false teeth became dislodged, fell to the street and slid on the wet asphalt. Undaunted, the veteran recovered the teeth and proceeded on his way cheering.

"My Old Kentucky Home."
During the greater part of the march the "My Old Kentucky Home" was sung. The refrain was picked up by the spectators, who joined in with great zeal.

A picturesque feature was the presence in the parade of only one woman, clad in white and gold and carrying two immense United States flags she headed the Chicago delegation.

Interpersed throughout the entire parade were several brass bands and scores of rifle and drum corps. "The Bonnie Blue Flag," "Yankee Doodle," "Dixie" and other well-known selections rendered brought forth much cheering. No partiality was evidenced for any one tune. "Yankee Doodle" arousing as much of a demonstration as the others.

Other events of interest in connection with the annual encampment were a reproduction of the battle of Missionary Ridge this afternoon and a Grand Army camp fire at the city auditorium tonight.

DON'T LEAVE THE FAT CLAM BED

Would you let a BIG DOLLAR roll away?

A merchant who has been a merchant for many years was rolling Big Dollars down a RAT HOLE yesterday. He claims to be successful.

But he isn't. He is overlooking the piles and piles of money that you prosperous people would spend WITH HIM if he only could convince you that he had the goods of quality and bargain prices that he thinks he has.

He may have the best in the world at the lowest prices; but YOU don't KNOW it. Therefore he must confine his sales to a small proportion of customers.

This merchant is like the boy digging for clams who left a bed of FAT, TENDER CLAMS for another part of the Bay and found NO CLAMS at all. He walked right over thousands of the richest clams in the ocean as he hurried to an unfruitful spot. After a while he returned to his starting place, but the tide had covered the flats. His basket was empty, and he went home DEFEATED. The boys who REMAINED at the PLENTIFUL bed FILLED MANY BASKETS and MADE MANY SALES.

This merchant and thousands of you are PASSING BY the fat, rich, tender clams—the fruitful, thriving opportunities that bristle in the air all about you.

Why don't you GRASP them? Buy a WANT AD. TELL the people what you want. Somebody in Atlanta HAS the thing you need. Is it a home, a room, a job, a sewing machine or an automobile? Someone has it. Don't be the boy with the empty basket. TELEPHONE a WANT AD to The Constitution TODAY. Answers tomorrow.

Friday and Saturday and Sunday are Big days this week. Don't pass them by; each is full of big chances for success.

ROTARY CLUB AND GAMING STEADILY

George Muse Writes Letter to The Constitution Commending Editorial Asking Aid for Associated Charities.

The Rotary club on Wednesday continued its campaign to raise $2,000 to help the Associated Charities out of debt and met with heavy co-operation and approval on all sides.

The total reported to Ivan E. Allen Wednesday night was $342, with several committees, which are known to have made successful solicitations, unheard from. This brings the known total to $764.50, and the other subscriptions would undoubtedly run this figure to $1,000.

Two weeks is the limited time in which the Rotary club members pledged themselves to raise the $2,000. The record of $1,000, a week ago, and a half leaves them an admirable margin in which to raise the remainder. Prospects are that the fund will be raised before all of one week has expired.

Members Working Hard.
Mr. Allen said Wednesday:
"The club members are working hard to raise the $2,000 and that they will get it there is not and has not been the slightest doubt. All we ask is a few days' time and plenty of good will. We find much encouragement, and believe that the money will easily be raised in the time limit."

George Muse of the Georgia Music Clothing chain, has written The Constitution a letter, in which he says:
"I wish to inform most heartily your strong editorial on the Associated Charities and to commend the earnest efforts of the Rotary club to help raise the necessary money to continue its work."
"If the good people of Atlanta thoroughly understood the work of the Associated Charities, I do not think they would hesitate a minute to put up the cash."

Without reflecting upon the methods of anyone or any organization, too much money given which only tends to make confirmed beggars. No greater calamity can befall an individual than for him to reach a condition where he is willing to beg for his living. The Associated Charities tries to remedy this, and endeavors to put the unfortunate on their feet so that begging will not be necessary."

The Associated Charities has done the city of Atlanta inestimable service in the taking of registered professional beggars and frauds from our streets; and it is doing hundreds of poor families a lasting service in teaching them the better way to live."

New Subscriptions.
The following subscriptions, making a total of $764.50, were added to the Rotary club subscription for the Associated Charities on Wednesday:
F. J. Paxton's committee reports $100.
Name not given.
Hubert W. Anderson's committee reports: C. A. Smith, $10; Fred Stewart, $5; E. H. Massena, $50.
W. S. Lounsbury's committee reports: George Paxton, $10; J. G. New, $5; C. C. Calloway, $5; Clarence Harvey, $10; R. O. Cochran, $10; Edgar Dunlap, $10.
E. A. Adams' committee reports: Thomas J. Wesley, $10; Geo. H. Sciple, $10; E. S. Adams, $250; Charles Larrabee, $10; C. B. Matt, $5; Charles W. Block, $10; E. C. Thayer, $10; Duncan McDougal, $10.
Howard Delbert's committee reports: E. R. Hask, $10; J. C. Hask, $10; F. W. Cole, $5; R. H. O'Brien, $5; Cole Davis, $5.
Total, $764.50.
Grand total, $764.50.

C. D. M'KINNEY PRAISED FOR CHAMBER SUCCESS

There was no man who left the meeting of the state chamber of commerce at Macon Tuesday night with more satisfied smile on his face than did C. D. M'Kinney, who is now acting as secretary of Atlanta and who has acted as temporary secretary of the state chamber since their meeting in July, at which time temporary officers were elected.

Since he took charge as temporary secretary, Mr. M'Kinney has been a tireless and intelligent worker day and night, and to him is due in a very large measure the success of the Macon meeting, and in recognition of these facts the convention adopted strong resolutions of thanks to Mr. M'Kinney for his work, which has been an unblemished record of service with no ulterior motive than love for his state, as he is announced on the floor of the convention, there is no office he is seeking or will accept from the state chamber of commerce.

Will Print Farmers' Union Organ Here
Charles S. Barrett, head of the National Farmers' union, has been in the city for several days arranging for the publication of the weekly organ of the organization, which will be begun in Atlanta early in November.

The name of the new paper will be the National Farmer. According to President Barrett, it will start with a circulation many times greater than most agricultural journals are attaining at present.

At the head of the new publication will be Mr. Barrett himself, assisted by the national secretary, A. C. Davis, in charge of the editorial end will be Grace Kirkland, of Los Angeles. Cal. Mr. Kirkland has been for many years with the Scripps-McFae publications and has much experience as a newspaper woman.

The membership of the union is now nearly 500,000, and it is growing daily. We are particularly strong in Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Oklahoma and the Dakotas. I believe that our paper will start with a circulation of at least 5,000. While we do not expect to get all of the members to subscribe, we will have a large portion of them.

We will spare neither pains or money in making the paper all that it should be and we expect to turn out one of the finest agricultural journals in the United States."

Efforts were made by friends of the chief to get him to run and it is known that he would have been a strong contender for the office. He is known to be a bitter enemy of those who would do anything for him to get him out of the office. M'NAUGHTON REPRESENTS EFFORT TO INFLUENCE SLATON AGAINST HIM
Savannah, Ga., September 17.—(Special.)—Dr. W. J. McNaughton, who is confined in the Chatham county jail under sentence of death for the murder of Fred Flinders, today expressed a determination to influence Governor Slaton to commute his sentence.

"The people who went on that petition to have influence in Savannah, but they have not now," he said when he was shown a newspaper clipping referring to the petition that had been addressed to Governor Slaton. He placed significantly at the names of the petitioners: Dr. J. P. Price, C. B. B. S. S. Moore, W. F. Thompson and R. H. Coleman.

THIEVES ARE PREYING ON THE MILLIONAIRES

New York, September 17.—Residents of "Millionaire Row," on Seventy-ninth and Eighty-first streets, just east of Central Park, estimated today that burglaries during the summer had cost them $200,000. The latest robbery occurred yesterday at the home of Mrs. Carl W. Wallach. Mrs. Wallach's son said thieves had taken silverware, jewelry, books and household goods worth $100,000.

Several families learned of their losses for the first time today when they reported their houses after being broken into at an early date next week as he can get the parties wishing to appear on both sides to agree upon a date.

The governor is anxious to have a final determination of the case as soon as possible. He has made up his mind that there shall be no more respite granted, no more delays. Low scores were the order in the open golf tournament qualifying round. To qualify the players had to turn in better average scores than have been made in the tourney before.

WHEELS

While the other papers were running the batting averages of Cobb and Jackson during the season, The Constitution has been running the batting averages of the Big Three. We had the hunch in the early part of the season that this speaker would have in this season, and he has made good our hunch.

A New Shortstop

The Cracker and the Gulls, the perennial winners and the runners-up in the annual race just finished, are facing another battle. They are both bidding for the services of shortstop, that of the Norfolk club, of the Virginia league, said to be the best shortstop in the league.

His Old Trick

JIMMY JOHNSTON, former Baron, who established the record for stolen bases in the Southern league last season, is up to his old tricks again as the Pacific Coast league. Jimmy runs his string up to establish a record over the Pacific Coast league.

Nothing To It

REPORTS that Charley Doolin would not be manager of the Philadelphia Nationals next season have been picked for good and all. Active President Baker, of the Phillies, has sent out a strong statement, saying that he says that the club officials are satisfied with Doolin's record, and as long as he (Doolin) is willing to keep the reins the club owners are willing to retain him.

Pleased With Him

THE OWNERS of the Norfolk News team in the Virginia league are pleased with Harry Matthews as a manager, and if the former Cracker wants the managerial reins again next season they are going to be tendered to him. When Harry took charge of the team it had lost nineteen straight games without a victory. But despite this handicap, he put the team in the cellar and brought it to fifth place, five work hard.

When Injured

WHEN ONE considers the position that the Washington Americans occupy in the American league, it cannot help but give the team credit for gameness. No team in the league has been so badly injured as the Griffins. For six weeks Third Base was out and First Base was out. The team was out of the line-up, and the Senators kept getting. Great credit due to the team. It looks like they are going to finish second again this season.

Team of Southerners

HEARING that the Southern league players that the St. Louis Americans secured this season by purchase and trade will make good, the Browns will look like a Southern league team next year. They have Bland, Ward and Pratt in the infield. Johnston, Kresger, Walker and Williams in the outfield. When you think of the Southern Shorties in the outfield, a star, Austin, third, another star, Agnew, behind the bat, a third star, and the best pitcher star in the American league, according to Connie Mack, the Browns have a fine chance to develop a team with the aid of the Southern league players that will give them a team that does not look as blue as Bland, Ward and Pratt, and that will give them a team that does not look as blue as Bland, Ward and Pratt.

Was Expected

THE ANNOUNCEMENT that Sewanee will not protest Jere Patten was expected. We thought that the report was a little out of line with the usual sportsmanlike policy of the Tigers, who have always been regarded as the truest sports in the South. It did not set well that Sewanee should protest him, and it was not surprising that they were not after themselves. And the announcement that no protest will be made is more in keeping with the Tigers way of doing things.

Hill to Him

ANOTHER solid star has entered the firmament in the person of Francis Quinn, the 150-pounder, who is a catcher, who in the first day of the qualifying round in the open championship playing against the best professional and amateur golfers of the world, was only a stroke behind Harry Vardon, the wonderful British crack.

LONG ROLL OF CRIME CRIMED TO PRIEST

Schmidt Not Only Murderer,
but Counterfeiter and Thief.
Stole $400 From Easter Collection.

New York, September 17.—That Hans Schmidt, the teletype-typer, whose double life was exposed Sunday when he was arrested and confessed the murder of Anna Ammiller, also killing the girl and dismembering her body in a Brooklyn sewer, had planned to conceal himself, was developed from police discoveries today.

In re-examining Schmidt's room, detectives found evidence that Schmidt had stolen $400 from the Easter collection at St. Joseph's church and that he had robbed a visiting priest who spent the night at St. Joseph's rectory.

Linking Schmidt and Murel.
Evidence also was found linking Schmidt and for a period of time had been supposed the friend of Schmidt and his alleged counterfeiting partner, the unnamed dentist, Dr. Ernest Murel.

The latter papers found in his office by official searchers, indicated, had left London from some office committed while practicing medicine there and had practiced in Chicago under the name of Dr. Arnold Heide, leaving that city and developing a reputation of field some time after July, 1903. Although Murel has claimed he met Schmidt only six months before the killing, it has been learned from the papers that he had been in Chicago as long as two years ago and that the dentist had known the work of Schmidt's counterfeiting experiments.

District Attorney Whitman returned to the city today from a brief vacation and took the train for New York. He is expected to return to the city tomorrow. He is expected to return to the city tomorrow. He is expected to return to the city tomorrow.

Baby Clothes Found.
The detective who was searching the neighborhood in which Anna Ammiller was murdered found today that three days after the crime, a man wearing a suit and tie, and carrying a bag, had been seen in the neighborhood. The man was seen in the neighborhood. The man was seen in the neighborhood.

Schmidt may have intended to return all the bloody tell-tale evidence from the Bradburn street to his new quarters, but the discovery of Anna Ammiller's body in the neighborhood where soon it was found the girl was killed, spoke against the police believe.

Heider Has Several Names.
Several interesting discoveries resulted from the search of Dr. Murel's office today. That he had been in Chicago under another name was indicated by a certificate issued by the American College of Physicians. The certificate was issued by the American College of Physicians. The certificate was issued by the American College of Physicians.

Some of the letters bearing postmarks were signed "Vera," the writing describing himself as "Your loving friend." The used ink was of the same color as he had come to fear from the detective.

Met Schmidt as Patient.
Murel finally admitted under questioning that he had known Schmidt at least a year. Their acquaintance was of the kind that Schmidt called him as a patient, he said, and a friendship developed.

Schmidt frequently came to the dentist's office to consult on dental matters. He came to the dentist's office to consult on dental matters. He came to the dentist's office to consult on dental matters.
