"Committee is Forced to Clear Men Accused of Graft to Protect Council."

CANDLER IS NOT SATISFIED

Chairman of Probers Says He Intends to Reconsider Thoroughly All Evidence.

Commenting on the announced intention of the Councilman's staff to probe committees to vindicate the three accused Aldermen, Mayor Woodard today declared:

"Nothing but generation by the Council's committee could be expected when members of Council know of these conditions for months and never took any official notice of them. The committee is forced to clear the accused to protect Council."

Chairman John Candler, alone of the members of the probe committee, was understood to repudiate the charges of corruption of Aldermen John E. McCalland at the conclusion of the investigation last night. He said he intended to consider thoroughly all the evidence again. The committee will meet Saturday to frame its formal report to Council.

STATE ENTERS PHOENIX CASE; POLICE WILL CONFER WITH DORSEY

Watchman and Frank Go on Witness Stand This Afternoon—Dorsey, Dissatisfied, May Call Special Session of Grand Jury To-morrow

The State made its first move in the May Phinigan case when Solicitor General Dorsey called into conference the Detectives Lanford and Chief of Police Beavers.

Mr. Dorsey wanted to know just what the police had in the case, and it was for this reason the Detectives Lanford and Beavers.

When the Coroner's inquest was resumed last night it seemed more than probable that the plan outlined earlier in the Phinigan case by the State would be carried out thereafter, take up the inquiry and perhaps call a special session of the grand jury, to investigate all of the facts in the case which followed out.

THE SUPREMACY OF THE LAW!

It should not be necessary to say that THE LAW of the sovereign State of Georgia IS SUPREME, that all branches of the judiciary have their proper functions, and that those presiding over various branches of our courts are honest and capable and will cheerfully safeguard all public interests, and at the same time perform their duties in a legal, time-honored way.

These trite remarks are published that the public may understand that trials by newspapers, by experts, so-called, and by other persons who have no judicial functions are valueless and no cognizance should be taken of them by anybody anywhere.

No Trials by Newspapers—The Courts Will Attend to All Judicial Matters in an Orderly and Legal Way, as Usual.

In its slow way, perhaps, the law may seem tedious to those who are unduly hurried by what may or may not be regarded as of importance, but in the end we all have FAITH IN OUR COURTS, IN OUR JUDGES, IN THE LAW AND THE SANITY OF OUR PEOPLE.

Therefore, let everybody, rich and poor, high and low, of whatever race or creed, look to THE LAW for judgment in a dignified way, and not to newspapers or sensation mongers for legal advice that has no basis whatever in any law book. It is time to recall Browning's beautiful words: "God's in His heaven, all's well with the world."

lead to an extensive investigation that has never been made.

"People have been let go and come at will in various places and about have been looked up and queried until the investigation was completed.

"The matter must be sifted to the bottom, and if it isn't done soon the State will assume charge and Grand Jury will be put to work on it."

Features of Testimony.

The principal features of the testimony that has been brought out so far are as follows:

J. G. SPIER, of Cartersville, Ga., testified—

That he saw a girl and a man standing in front of the pencil factory at 4:10 Saturday afternoon. The girl was the one whose body he had viewed Monday morning at Bloomfield's undertaking establishment.

W. M. BERRY, assistant cashier of the Fourth National Bank, testified—

That the handwriting of the notes found by Mary Phagan and that of text written by her indicated that they were written by the same person in the ten minutes on Saturday night.

Frank and Frank appeared nervous and apprehensive when he saw him at the factory at about 6 o'clock.

NEWT LEE, the night watchman, testified—

That Frank showed signs of nervousness by rubbing his hands, something he had never seen him do before. That Frank called him on the phone about 7 o'clock the evening to see if everything was "all right," something he never had done before.

HARRY DENHAM, one of the two men in the office Saturday afternoon, testified—

That Frank did not seem nervous when he saw him at 3 o'clock, that Frank had a habit of rubbing his hands.

GEORGE W. EPPA, JR., 216 Fox Street, boy friend of Mary Phagan, testified—

That Mary Phagan had told him since that Sunday night that she had been at the factory door when she left and had walked at her and tried to frighten her.

Mary Phagan testified that she left him to get her money at the factory, with an engagement ring worth $2,000 in the room, but never appeared.

R. SKIFFER, 224 1/2 Peters street, testified—

That Frank was NOT one of the three men he saw with the girl resembling Mary Phagan on the night Saturday, that a girl he saw Saturday night was almost certain was the same one whose dead body he saw that morning Monday morning.

EDGAR L. SENTELL, an employee of Kamper's grocery firm, testified—

That he saw, without a possibility of a mistake, none other than Mary Phagan walking on Forsyth Street, near Hunter, between 11:30 and 12:30 Saturday night, with a man. "The man was Mullinax, he was almost positive. That he said, 'Hello, Mary,' and that she responded, 'Hello, Ed.'"

W. M. LAMBERT, policeman, testified—

That he had inspected the basement and had found this sign of a body being dragged from the elevator to the place where the body of Mary was found. The sign was a mark at the bottom of the elevator shaft.

W. H. BROWN, of the police department, testified—

That it would have been almost impossible to see the body from the point the negro told him he saw it.

SERGEANT L. S. DORIS, of the police department, testified—

That, without anyone else making any comment, he said that the words "might which" meant "might which" in the text that was found by the side of the dead girl.

CALL OF PETER ANDERSON testified—

That he attempted to get Frank at his residence by phone right after the body was found, but he could not get through.

Grant Says Frank Was Nervous.

Grant's testimony was that the first observation of what he told the jury was that he saw Frank on his way to the factory when he was called to the factory for the

PONIES OFFERED IN CONTEST BEST TO BE HAD AN ANYWHERE

Thoroughly trained, gentle, healthy and young—

That is the guarantee that goes with every one of the twelve Sheldahl ponies. The Georgian and Sunday American will award as prizes to boys and girls successful in the contest just now opening—$500 worth of ponies.

In other words, these ponies are the best to be had, and the harness suit for each pony is worth $100.00 in keeping with the splendid little animals. There is no use in doing things by halves. The Georgian and Sunday American believe, and when the decision was reached to give prizes to the boys and girls, they decided that the prize should be of a character to make the winners happy for years to come.

But the ponies are on their way, and soon may be seen by the children of Atlanta. They are such fine little fellows that one might almost say they can "speak for themselves."

Everyone in Atlanta and the State of Georgia now seems to be interested in the pony contest. More than 100 letters and by callers are an indication. Those in charge of the contest are kept busy answering questions and ruling that contestants get started.

Rules Are Simple.

This is an easy matter, for the rules are very simple, and the boys who get the most votes and the votes are awarded according to the number of votes received for each pony. The Georgian and Sunday American, to show their appreciation of the interest shown in the contest, will clip out from each issue of The Georgian and Sunday American, and send them in advance by present subscription. The boys and girls who win the contest will be notified by mail.

Neighbor Ruled Out.

J. R. Welch, a next-door neighbor of Alderman Spradling, wanted to testify. He admitted, however, that he was personally friendly to the Alderman and that his evidence was based on hearsay. His testimony was ruled out.

Many witnesses were called in the investigation of the case of Alderman L. N. Rasdale, most of them being competitors in the stock business with the Alderman. The most important stock developed were the statements of J. R. Sawdon that he sold Rasdale the stock of the city despite the objections of Alderman Rasdale and the statements of several of the stockmen that Alderman Rasdale got exceptionally good prices for the old mules and horses he sold for the city.

THE SUPREMACY OF THE LAW!

No Trials by Newspapers--The Courts Will Attend to All Judicial Matters in an Orderly and Legal Way, as Usual.

It should not be necessary to say that THE LAW of the sovereign State of Georgia IS SUPREME, that all branches of the judiciary have their proper functions...

In its slow way, perhaps, the law may seem tedious to those who are unduly hurried by what may or may not be regarded as of importance, but in the end we all have FAITH IN OUR COURTS, IN OUR JUDGES, IN THE LAW AND THE SANITY OF OUR PEOPLE.

Therefore, let everybody, rich and poor, high and low, of whatever race or creed, look to THE LAW for judgment in a dignified way, and not to newspapers or sensation mongers for legal advice that has no basis whatever in any law book.

14 SENATORS AT WHITE HOUSE IN TARIFF PROTEST

Wilson's Policy on Free Wool and Sugar Depends on Outcome of Conference.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The important opposition to the Underwood tariff bill manifested itself at the White House today in a conference between the President and 14 Western Senators—Chamberlain and Lane, Orson, Ashurst and Smith, Arizona; Newlands and Pittman, Nevada; Bruce and Reed, Missouri; Myers and Walsh, Montana; Thomas and Shafroth, Colorado; Hitchcock, Nebraska; Thompson, Kansas.

Upon the result of this conference will be based the President's decision whether he will veto the bill, or make a compromise for free sugar and wool and take his chances of passing the bill. The majority opposed to the schedules in the Senate, or retreat from this position and make certain the passage of the bill.

It is known that Underwood is confident that the bill will pass. He has a strong feeling that the Senate will pass the bill, and that the House will pass it also.

Underwood expects the matter to be taken up in the House not later than a week from today. The Democratic leader also believes that the bill will pass.

"Committee is Forced to Clear Man Accused of Graft to Protect Council."

CANDLER IS NOT SATISFIED

Chairman of Probers Says He Intends to Reconsider Thoroughly All Evidence.

Commenting on the announced intention of the Councilman's graft probe committee to vindicate the three accused Aldermen, Mayor Woodward today declared:

"Nothing but exoneration by the Council's committee could be expected when members of Council knew of these conditions for months and never took any official notice of them. The committee is forced to clear the accused to protect Council."

Chairman John S. Candler, alone of the members of the probe committee, was understood to repudiate the charges of corruption of Alderman John E. McClelland at the conclusion of the investigation last night. He said he intended to consider thoroughly all the evidence again. The committee will meet Saturday to frame its formal report to Council.

What Accused Claimed.
Candler, the defense of the three Aldermen was--
Alderman J. W. Maddox admitted having had contracts with the city, but produced a letter from City Attorney James L. Mayer stating that the contracts were not illegal.
Alderman F. J. Strating admitted borrowing money from Lear Deane but stated it was before the three Aldermen was--

Alderman J. R. Lawson & Co., the selling of stock to the city by the latter was contrary to his instructions. In other cases it was presented that he had sold word-out stock for the city at the request of Council and the departments, without receiving any fee for his services.

STATE ENTERS PHAGAN CASE; FRANK AND LEE ARE TAKEN TO TOWER

Watchman and Frank Go on Witness Stand This Afternoon--Dorsey, Dissatisfied, May Call Special Session of Grand Jury To-morrow.

Coroner Donohue late today issued a commitment against Leo M. Frank, superintendent at the National Penitentiary, and Newt Lee, night watchman, charging them with being implicated in connection with the death of Mary Phagan and remanding them to the custody of the sheriff. They were later taken to the Tower.

Arthur Mullinax, held since Sunday, was released. Frank's commitment read as follows: To Jailor: You are hereby required to take into custody the person of Leo M. Frank, suspected of the crime of murdering Mary Phagan, and to retain the said Leo M. Frank in your custody pending the further investigation of the death of the said Mary Phagan, to be held by the Coroner of said county.

Coroner Donohue adjourned the inquest into the death of Mary Phagan this afternoon until 2 o'clock Monday, without the taking of any testimony. The coroner said the adjournment was taken for the purpose of obtaining more clearly defined evidence. The delay is believed to be the result of a request from the police department and is interpreted to mean that the detectives are on the trail of new and important evidence not previously brought to light.

The State made its first move in the Mary Phagan case today when Solicitor General Dorsey called to conference Chief of Detectives Lanford and Chief of Police Heavens. Mr. Dorsey wanted to know just what the police have done in the case, and it was for this reason he questioned Lanford and Heavens.

A new arrest was made in the Phagan case this afternoon. Detectives arrested James Conolly, a negro employed at the National Penitentiary factory.

Conolly is a sweeper in the factory. The arrest was made on private information given over the telephone to the police that Conolly had been seen wearing some clothing in the factory. It is about 20 years old. Conolly, at the police station, admitted that he was washing his shirt because he was summoned to the inquest this afternoon. The detectives had no intention of attaching little importance to his arrest.

Newt Lee, the night watchman at the National Penitentiary factory, will again go on the witness stand to supplement his testimony. Leo M. Frank, superintendent of the factory, also will be a witness this afternoon.

Police Spurred to Action.
"Now, Lee," said Black and Scott, as they locked him up, "don't you talk about this case to anybody but us hereafter, do you hear?"
Orders were given to allow no one but the two detectives to see or talk with the watchman and visitors. Lawyers and persons of all description were barred from the corridors leading to the tower.

The announcement that the state detective and chief of police, might intervene and take charge of the investigation unless the mystery was cleared at once spurred the police to further action today.

"Weed Out" Falses.
Detectives Strasser and Campbell continued throughout the day break-down of the case. The police officers who have searched that saw Mary Phagan on the street Saturday afternoon she had drawn her pay at the penitentiary house for the establishment.

"Chief Lanford says positively that Lanford unless the mystery was cleared at once spurred the police to further action today.
The duration of convicting the perpetrator of the homicide, which case may be will fall directly upon me," said Dorsey.
The authorities are anxious to get the case as soon as possible. It is not the many others that will let them alone.

"No effort has been made to establish if the shirt said to have been found in the ash barrel back of Lee's house has not been exchanged with the one in the test, but the police are not satisfied with the evidence in the case."

THE SUPREMACY OF THE LAW!

It should not be necessary to say that THE LAW of the sovereign State of Georgia IS SUPREME, that all branches of the judiciary have their proper functions, and that those presiding over various branches of our courts are honest and capable and will cheerfully safeguard all public interests, and at the same time perform their duties in a legal, time-honored way.

These trite remarks are published that the public may understand that trials by newspapers, by experts, so-called, and by other persons who have no judicial functions are valueless and no cognizance should be taken of them by anybody anywhere.

No Trials by Newspapers--The Courts Will Attend to All Judicial Matters in an Orderly and Legal Way, as Usual.

In its slow way, perhaps, the law may seem tedious to those who are unduly hurried by what may or may not be regarded as of importance, but in the end we all have FAITH IN OUR COURTS, IN OUR JUDGES, IN THE LAW AND THE SANITY OF OUR PEOPLE.

Therefore, let everybody, rich and poor, high and low, of whatever race or creed, look to THE LAW for judgment in a dignified way, and not to newspapers or sensation mongers for legal advice that has no basis whatever in any law book. It is time to recall Browning's beautiful words: "God's in His heaven, all's well with the world."
