

WHO ARE THE BRIBERS AND GRAFTERS? FELDER MUST PROVE CHARGES

The charges of bribery and graft made by Thomas B. Felder are so important they can not be ignored. Statements by Chief Beavers and Chief of Detectives Lanford make it clear that some persons of influence are trying to use their "pull" to bring about a condition of affairs in the city that the majority of people are opposed to.

Investigation quick and relentless must be begun at once! The Grand Jury is now in session, and the investigation should be started at once.

The public is entitled to know all the facts, know the names of those giving or receiving bribes, and if Felder has seen a "graft list," as he says he has, he should be made to tell about it.

The public is not willing to believe anything against Beavers. He is regarded as honest and efficient. Felder must be made to prove his charges!

BEAVERS AND LANFORD TO PROSECUTE FELDER

Mayor Woodward Accused by Beavers in a New Statement

'HUB' TALLEY FATALLY WOUNDS ACCUSER

"Hub" Talley, a notorious police character, shot and fatally wounded George Blackstock, known as "Crip," just before noon Monday, and made his escape before police officers arrived.

The shooting took place on the sidewalk in front of 254 Peters Street, near the place where "Hub" Talley and his brother, Boyce Talley, lived.

Talley fired one shot, which fatally wounded Blackstock, and then fled. He was seen by several witnesses.

Blackstock is a stenographer, living at 45 Trumley Street. He was hurried to Grady Hospital, where his condition was pronounced precarious.

"Hub" Talley has one of the longest police records ever made in Atlanta. He has been arrested for various offenses.

He has figured in numerous shooting escapades. Last year the Atlanta detective department compiled his record and found there had been 42 cases against him in two years.

A week or two later a visit of lunacy was taken out against him and he was sent to the insane asylum at Milledgeville, from which he was later released on parole.

When report was made to police headquarters that Talley had escaped, telegrams were sent out, giving his description and the crime for which he is wanted.

Members of "The Ten" Club will be guests of Judge Marcus W. Beck at his home, 15 Columbia Avenue, Friday, June 4.

Tillman Asks Inquiry Of Armory Contract

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Senator Tillman, chairman of the Committee on Naval Affairs, today said the fact that Secretary Meyer had let a contract for 8,000 tons of armor for the battleship Pennsylvania the very day before the Republican administration went out of power was sufficient to justify an investigation.

"Doesn't that fact suggest," said the Senator, "that there were some political deals to pay?"

LAY BRIBERY EFFORT TO FRANK'S FRIENDS

Chief of Detectives Lanford was given two papers Monday accusing friends of Leo M. Frank of attempting to bribe a man and a woman to swear that they saw Mary Phagan at 1019 Saturday night, April 28, at a soda fountain at Marietta and Forsyth Streets.

These papers were given Lanford by A. S. Colyar, whose entrance into the Phagan case has been marked by one sensation after another.

Colyar told Lanford that the papers were copies of sworn affidavits and that he had the originals which he would produce at the proper time.

Has Denis Charge. Emphatic denial that he had in any manner resorted to bribery in behalf of Frank was made by Herbert Haas, well-known Atlanta attorney and friend of the wealthy factory superintendent. Mr. Haas further declared that any intimation that he had sought to bribe anyone was absolutely false.

Two Affidavits Alleged. Colyar said that one of the affidavits was signed by the woman it was sought to bribe and the other by the man, a traveling salesman. Five hundred dollars each is said by the alleged copiers of the affidavits to have been offered to the man and the woman for their testimony.

Colyar alleges that the woman was brought here from Birmingham with the intention of inducing her to swear to the statement that she saw Mary Phagan late Saturday night. He said that she knew where she was at the present time, although the friends of Frank thought that she had left the city.

Another report of attempted bribery was submitted to Chief Lanford by Will Henson, of 12 Leonard Street. Henson told Lanford that he had been informed by Mrs. Edmondson, mother of little Monteen Stover, of 175 South Forsyth Street, that a man had come to her house and asked how much she (Mrs. Edmondson) would take to keep Monteen out of town until after the trial had concluded.

Stover Frank Wants in Office. Monteen Stover is the girl who is reported to have been unable to find Frank in his office, although she swore he was there all the time from the moment that Mary Phagan left to have entered at about 11:28.

After hearing the report, made to Chief Lanford, that an offer of money had been made to her by her daughter, Monteen Stover, out of Atlanta Hill after the trial of Frank, it was announced that a denial in a "drop" was returned. Her statement of report that Mrs. Monteen Stover had reported that Frank had called her several times at her home, and that she had been approached by several persons to whom she had stated that she had seen Frank at the soda fountain, but that she was unable to find the city's dining friends.

HAWKINSVILLE, GA., May 25.—Jerry Perdue shot and killed David Walker, a colored man, at Hawkinsville, across the river from Hawkinsville. Some months ago Perdue killed the father of young Walker. He was acquitted on a self-defense plea. Since then there had been bitter feeling between Walker's sons and Perdue. This feeling, inflamed by liquor, resulted in the second killing.

Perdue was shot in the leg, and a bystander, W. H. Davis, was seriously wounded.

EVIDENCE AGAINST FRANK CONCLUSIVE, SAY POLICE

Chief of Detectives Newport Lanford Monday announced that the mystery of the Mary Phagan tragedy is solved, as nearly as is possible without the absolute direct testimony of eyewitnesses, and expressed himself as perfectly satisfied with the evidence now in hand.

Accompanying the statement comes the authoritative announcement that the great strangling crime will be placed on Leo M. Frank, now under indictment on the charge of murder, and that New Lee, the supposed negro night watchman of the National Paint Factory, will not be indicted. Lee will be held in jail until the trial as a material witness and will be placed on the stand to give evidence against the factory superintendent.

Lee has completely been eliminated from the case as a suspect, and is now counted as one of the strongest witnesses against Frank.

There is not the slightest doubt of the innocence of New Lee," said Chief Lanford. "I'm certain he has told all he knows of the death of Mary Phagan."

Can Hold Lee Indefinitely. No further action nor proceedings of any kind will be necessary to hold the night watchman for the trial. He was ordered by the coroner jury to be held in custody until the Grand Jury, and until the latter body either returns an indictment or "no bill" he can not be freed from jail.

It is the plan of the State, it is understood, to defer action on his case by the Grand Jury until after the trial of Frank. He will then be released.

The great advantage gained by the State in holding Lee as a material witness is that he can be cross-examined when he goes on the stand. This means the State can bring out every possible circumstance against Frank that has been related by the negro.

Were he indicted as an accomplice or on any other charge, and appeared in court as a defendant, Lee would merely make such statement as he chose and could not be cross-examined by either the State or the defense.

WILL TAKE CHARGE OF GRAFT TO GRAND JURY FOR VINDICATION

Chief of Police Beavers and Chief of Detectives Lanford both stated emphatically Monday that they intended to go to the full limit of the law in making Thomas B. Felder prove his charges of graft in the police department.

They do not intend to let Felder's statements go with a simple newspaper denial made by them. They intend to have a thorough investigation, and they intend further to make Felder come forward with his evidence or take the consequences; and the consequences, they intend, shall be the fullest penalty that the law can inflict upon him.

The chief was advised by the City Attorney that this was the proper course to pursue. He declined to specifically name all of those who will be involved, remarking that he will lay all of his evidence before the grand jurors and ask indictments.

They do not intend to let Felder's statements go with a simple newspaper denial made by them. They intend to have a thorough investigation, and they intend further to make Felder come forward with his evidence or take the consequences; and the consequences, they intend, shall be the fullest penalty that the law can inflict upon him.

SAY THEY WILL BARE "SECRETS." Both Beavers and Lanford have determined to go at the matter systematically, thoroughly and in a legal way; and they intend that the investigations before the Grand Jury and in the courts will lay bare all the "secrets" that Felder is alleged to have of bribery and graft by the police department; and also make public the reasons Mayor Woodward has in the attempt to restore the restricted vice district in Atlanta.

It is regarded as certain that Felder is eliminated entirely from the Phagan case. It had been believed that he really was in the employ of the Frank defense up to the time that he began to bombard the public with statements against Frank and went on record in saying he believed in the guilt of Frank.

In making this statement, saying he believed in the guilt of Frank, he takes the same position as that of Lanford and Beavers, who also are convinced of Frank's guilt.

They do not intend to let Felder's statements go with a simple newspaper denial made by them. They intend to have a thorough investigation, and they intend further to make Felder come forward with his evidence or take the consequences; and the consequences, they intend, shall be the fullest penalty that the law can inflict upon him.

Both Beavers and Lanford state positively that the evidence collected by the police department in the Phagan case points to Frank's guilt, and that all the evidence collected by the Burns Agency and the Pinkerton Agency simply confirm that belief.

They add that no new evidence, not already secured by the city detectives, was produced by either Burns or the Pinkerton men.

Mayor Eager to Bring Back Tenderloin, Declares Chief

Chief of Police James L. Beavers sweeping denial of the charges laid against a statement Monday forenoon by his accusers to prove that he had been guilty of any act of moral laxity as chief of police or as a citizen.

He characterized the attack by Mayor Woodward as "a vile and malicious attempt to bring back the tenderloin, as far as it goes." It seems that Mr. Felder also is accused of bringing back the tenderloin.

NEGRO SWEEPER OWNS WRITING MACHINES BY DEAD GIRL'S BODY

It has been announced that Leo M. Frank has been indicted by the Grand Jury for the murder of Mary Phagan.

The authorities are of the opinion that they have a very strong case against Frank and Lee, and sufficient evidence to convict Frank of the murder.

Rumors about the Grand Jury were definite to the effect that evidence produced against Frank convinced the entire jury that the case against Frank was very strong.

Of course the proceedings of the Grand Jury are secret save no member of the Grand Jury nor any member of Solicitor Doree's staff would give the reporters information as to what had taken place in the Grand Jury room, or what evidence had been disclosed against Frank or Lee.

That the authorities have very important evidence that has not yet been disclosed to the public is certain. The Georgian has maintained this from the beginning of the investigation.

The jury adjourned until Friday without indicting Lee.

Several most peculiar features mark the affidavit of James Connally and Solicitor Doree in their accepting his supposed admissions without a thorough investigation.

The fact that the negro sweeper places the date as the Friday before the murder that Frank asked him for approval of his handwriting forms the first mystifying phase of the confession.

No theory that has placed the responsibility of the crime upon Frank has held that he planned it deliberately a day before it was committed.

The unanimous theory of those who have believed Frank guilty is that he did it on the necessity of the moment to prevent the girl revealing the attack which he supposed to have preceded the killing.

The belief that the killing was planned as far ahead as Friday has entered no one's mind in respect to the circumstances of the mystery.

The negro also says in his affidavit that Frank muttered: "Who should I hang?" a very significant question if it could be considered as likely to be made by a guilty person, but a question which appears entirely outside the realm of probabilities in view of the careful watch Frank kept on his tongue ever since the city was shocked by the news of the murder the morning of April 27.

The entire affidavit is exceedingly peculiar.

A. S. COLYAR, who figures in the dictograph sensation. Records show he has been confined in two insane asylums and numerous prisons. His operations are alleged to extend from New York to Mexico. He is a member of a prominent Tennessee family.

His exploits with the dictograph have created a big sensation in the Phagan case.

Jacob Schiff Sees Prosperity Ahead

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. LONDON, May 25.—Jacob Schiff predicts that Americans can look forward to a good future, after Congress has disposed of the tariff bill. He said: "I have made a very careful study of European money, and I think money is on a more solid basis than ever." With this sentiment of Schiff's affairs, I find markets "prosperous." We have a good fund market, and the money market is very active.

SENSATIONAL EFFORT TO OBTAIN REAL INSIDE GRAFT EVIDENCE

Sensational dictograph conversations, in which Mayor James G. Woodward, Charles C. Jones, former Tenderloin proprietor and present owner of the Rex saloon; E. O. Miles, a private detective; A. S. Colyar, accused of Colonel T. B. Felder, and Chief Lanford's clerk, February, all figure, are made public by The Atlanta Georgian today.

The conversations, all reported by a dictograph installed in the Williams House, in the same room and by the same man who figured in the "trapping" of Felder, tend to throw new and startling light on the alleged plot to get Chief of Police James L. Beavers, who wiped out the Tenderloin, and Chief of Detectives Lanford.

As reported by George M. Gentry, who took down the conversation as it trickled over the thin spun wires through the door between Colyar's room, No. 31, and room No. 32, it is apparently made clear that the Mayor was not only after evidence of graft in the police department, but more directly after evidence on which Chief Beavers could be impeached and discharged. The Mayor has never hesitated to make plain that he was not in sympathy with the chief's attitude.

The conversation in which the Mayor figured seems to show that he promised protection to the man who would get the evidence if he should get in trouble doing it, and that he gave assurances the work would be well paid for.

The Mayor was present at the conference with February, Colyar and Miles. The entire dictograph conversation in which he figured is given elsewhere.

Far more sensational is the conversation in which Jones, Miles and Colyar took part. Jones viciously attacked the police department, charging graft and crookedness; accused Marion Jackson, Men and Religion Forward Movement leader, of being the beneficiary of vice, and said he had been double-crossed in the wiping out of the Tenderloin.

Colonel Felder's name is mentioned time and again in the conversation of the three, and more than one reference is made to the alleged offer of $1,000 for evidence.

Jones Attacks Beavers and Charges Police Crookedness

The following conversation occurred in room No. 31, at Williams House No. 2, 24-26 N. Forsyth Street, Atlanta, Ga., Wednesday evening between 8 and 9 o'clock, between C. C. Jones, E. O. Miles and A. S. Colyar: Colyar: It has been very warm today, hasn't it?

Miles: Yes, it has. I asked Mr. Felder if you mentioned Mr. Jones' name to him or he said no.

Colyar: He told me Monday night that Mr. Jones was a friend of his and he thought it an outrage the way they had done him.

Miles: You know I asked you this afternoon why you wanted to see Mr. Jones.

Colyar: In what way?

Miles: Tom told me they did you pretty dirty down here at the station house.

Jones: Yes. They closed up the houses I had. I had a lot of property.

Colyar: He told me they framed up on you.

Jones: There is no doubt but what it was a frame-up.

Colyar: Tom told me he would like to see the gang out of business.

Jones: The record now is twice very indistinct just then. They never grafted me. Wouldn't be any use for me to give them any money.

Miles: You told me you wanted to see Jones. It is not a question of lack of confidence, as what I told you was true as far as I know, but if he knows anything at all about it, I don't know just what it is.

Jones: I don't know anything. I just told them to go ahead and build them houses and move them across the street. Even some of them went and paid for them. Three or four days before they closed the houses, the Chief of the City of Atlanta...

Dictograph Conversations in Which Mayor Took Part

Here is the entire dictograph conversation in which Mayor James G. Woodward took part as it was reported to the police. A copy is in the police files today.

A. S. Colyar, the man who engineered the entire sensation, of course takes a leading part. The conversation is first principally between him and Chief Lanford's clerk, February and E. O. Miles, a private investigator, and a friend of Charles C. Jones, who comes later into the conversation.

Jones owned a number of houses in the restricted district closed up by Chief Beavers, which were conservatively estimated to have given him an income of $40,000 a year. He is the owner of the Rex saloon, and is by no means poverty stricken, despite the huge debt Chief Beavers' reform made in his roll.

Mayor James G. Woodward, who has never hesitated to let it be known that he was not in sympathy with the Chief's vice crusade, comes into the conversation later and is reported in full.

The conversation took place on Wednesday afternoon in Colyar's room—the same room where Felder was trapped, and was taken down by George M. Gentry, a nephew of the president of the Southern Bell Telephone Company. Here is a copy of the record:

The following statements were overheard by me, by using a dictograph located in room 32 of the Williams House No. 2, 24-26 North Forsyth Street, Atlanta, Ga.; said dictograph being connected with room No. 31 of the said hotel, and I am Mr. E. O. Miles, whom I am personally acquainted with; Mr. G. C. February, whom I have known for several years, and Mr. A. S. Colyar, with whom I have only been acquainted for a short time, enter room No. 31 of said hotel at about 4 o'clock on the afternoon of May 21, 1913.

On account of Mr. February having locked the door to room No. 31, I was delayed in getting in, after having witnessed the "three parties above mentioned enter room No. 31 of said hotel. In the emergency, I used the key to my front door, which, with a little difficulty, opened the door. After closing the door and going to the instrument, I was unable to hear what was being said very distinctly on account of the windows of the said room being open. This necessitated another delay to close them, and after returning to my instrument I was able to hear the following. Several dashes indicate that the voice just at that point became indistinct.

Colyar:—Can tell me some things. I am executive secretary (noise made sound indistinct).

Miles:—Now, just wait a minute. I know (here noise made hearing indistinct). I know (here noise made hearing indistinct).

Colyar:—(Question incoherent).

Miles:—I am satisfied you ought, but you know when they go into it they are going to get it all out.

Colyar:—(Conversation to low to catch).

Miles:—The Mayor will give us absolute assurance that he will protect us.

he may be busy. I will bring him if he can possibly get here. (In a few minutes Miles returned.) Miles—He was up to the City Hall. He will be over in a few minutes, he said. Colyar—Where is your residence, Mr. Miles? Miles—In Decatur. I used to live in Smyrna. (Conversation here became inaudible for a short time on account of scraping of feet upon the floor, chairs, etc., which drowned the sounds through the instrument.) Miles—If you will excuse me, I will take off my coat. It is very warm. Colyar and February—Certainly. Colyar—Step downstairs and get the pitcher and bring it up here full of hot water. (Mr. February was evidently the one addressed, as some one went out and the conversation continued between Mr. Miles and Mr. Colyar.) Miles—We will have that fixed. If we have got the goods on those detectives their sphere of work will be over. It will take three or four days. Colyar—Well, what do you think of this Phagan murder? Miles—I think it is the most damnable. The telephoned Craig, The Constitution man to come and go with them. Colyar—Do you believe Frank murdered that girl? Miles—I never have believed it looks a great deal more like he did than it did before from the affidavits. Also there is going to be pretty strong evidence that the girl was not raped. (Conversation became very inaudible for a few minutes.) Miles—I think the whole thing was handled badly. In my mind I am satisfied. They had an extra on the street at 6:20. They should never have allowed all the persons they did on the premises. Just after the murder there were only a few cents and tracks, and the man who did the murder could have easily been tracked, as no one else had been but the negro, and his tracks could have been very easily eliminated. Colyar—Yes, that is right. It looks to me like they would have known better. Colyar—They should have looked for foot prints and finger prints. Instead of that they had over 500 finger prints. (Conversation interrupted by knock at door.) Miles, Colyar and February almost simultaneously—Well, how are you Mr. Mayor. (After the general conversation of all had subsided I was able to distinguish Mr. Miles' voice.) Miles—I really don't know it well enough. This is the first conference I have had. Colyar—Well, Tom Felder told me that the Mayor wanted some evidence on these fellows down here at the city hall, Decatur Street, and the station house, and here's a man that works down there. He got disgusted doing three men's work. He can get the evidence for you, but he wants no one to know it. There are some terrible framers down there. Miles—He is afraid they will throw him in jail, after they find it out. Woodward—How can they throw him in jail? Colyar—They can get a charge against anybody and throw him in jail. You don't know them like some other people do. Woodward—What is the nature of the evidence he can get? Colyar—Well, if he is to get the evidence that Mr. Felder wants, it would be the work which he understood in what you want. Woodward—All I want to (voice too low and indistinct). Colyar—They would throw him out of his job and put him in jail. Woodward—I don't see how they could do it. Miles—I don't—unless there are no sane people in the city any more. Colyar—Well, you know they said they were going to close up the red light (voice too low). Woodward—Well, they have got nothing to fear. Colyar—I went up to your office to see you, and I found it was hard to get in your office than when I was a newspaper reporter. Woodward—Well, my secretary came in and I told him to tell them I would see you just as soon as I possibly could. Colyar—But he said you couldn't see me until to-morrow. Woodward—The reason I said that was because he said you said you were in a hurry, and I said I told him to come back to-morrow. If you could wait a few minutes you would have had no trouble. You said you were in a hurry and had some business to attend to, but I could not tell the other people to get out of the office. Colyar—There is nothing in the office. Woodward—Well, the secretary or somebody was. Oh, I had to sign up a list of checks that had to go in before the bank closed. Colyar—I have also heard you were a state old politician. Woodward—It is just my natural way. Colyar—Well, this is the man that can give the evidence down at headquarters that you want. Woodward—There is nothing to be afraid of. Colyar—You don't know what police persecution is. They can prove that black ink and water will run up stream, and they can get a jury that will. Miles—I take this view of it. It can only be with the police force to—until they won't be in position to go to anyone else, trouble. Colyar—They will tell me what you don't want. Miles—No, sir, I don't. Woodward—Doubt. Colyar—How many times will it take to remove him? Woodward—A majority. Colyar—How many are on the board? Woodward—On which? Colyar—You have a vote in case of a tie? Woodward—I have a vote anyhow. Miles—He is a member ex-officio. Woodward—I vote all the time. Miles—February wants to know if we can promise him protection. I think we can safely do it in a matter of weeks like that. Woodward—Yes. Miles—He has the graft list and knows who on the list, who is to be protected and who is not to be protected. It looks to me like we have the same thing down there that they had in New York, only on a smaller scale, because Atlanta is a smaller town. Colyar—But you said that you authorized Felder that if he got the proof for you you would see that he got paid for it? Woodward—I told Felder that on matters of this kind (voice here inaudible) and he has a good deal to say, and I told him that I am and if he got the evidence that would convict those people I would be paid, and it will be the same in no matter what kind of case. Colyar—He said he would give him a thousand dollars for the evidence. Miles—Felder said to me that February said that was the price. Miles—Felder said that he would give it to us, but he would have to see the papers. He said he would give me one thousand dollars. Miles—He didn't say that anybody had authorized him to do it. He just said he would. Woodward—I don't know whether he had reference (voice too low). As to whether he could raise the money or not, but if he did, he knows that I have not authorized him to do anything of that kind. Miles—What would be the nature of those documents? Colyar—It is an affidavit from two people—both signed—acknowledging threats, etc., graft and general corruption. Like you said a while ago. Miles—There is no trouble to show the graft. February—Really inaudible. Miles—(Voice too low) at first a place like the Walton Inn has never been closed. February—I don't know just about that one. Miles—Now, my information is that the woman who runs it is a star-bellied of an officer in the Police Department. A woman leaves me there exists in a half dozen backs around there at 1 o'clock at night, singing, thrats, etc., and goes in and out. Woodward—There will be no trouble about getting the money. Miles—Yes, but... They might get the Council in their favor at some later date. * * * Of course, somebody would have to advance it now. Woodward—Yes, I know it. Miles—Isn't there another stenographer that works down here? February—One hundred dollars. I am clerk of the detective office. He works at night. He goes on about 4. Miles—If you want anything after you go off, they get him to do it? February—(Really indistinct). Miles—You keep all the records of that department? February—Yes, for Lanford. (February interfered with sound.) Colyar—Only two men can get the evidence, February and Chief Lanford. * * * They have got him doing three men's work. They make him do the work of the judge down there. * * * Woodward—Well, Mr. Woodward, suppose we leveled Woodward—I would like to have some kind of an idea or statement of what * * * as to handle what * * * Miles—Yes, that is something specific. Woodward—I don't know what to do. February—Well, I will have to go through these papers and see what I can get. Woodward—Get anything that looks like graft. I don't care who it hits, and especially Beavers. February—On which? Woodward—We are going to get up the money to pay for it. They'll want to know what you have got and what you can prove. Then I can give him an answer. Are you a stenographer? Woodward—What do they pay you? February—One hundred dollars. I am clerk of the detective office, and I spend a great deal of my time in working for Judge Broyles, which makes me man working in two different departments. February—Yes, sir. Miles—(Excessive noise rendered conversation inaudible.) Colyar—You married? Miles—Yes, just forget it. You know you have never broken your word yet. Miles—I heard they charged me with some meanness. Miles—I think that is a great compliment. Woodward—I heard they said something of that kind down there. Colyar—That would tickle me to death if some woman would say that to me. Woodward—The woman, I understand and swear to it. Colyar—Well, I understand that the stand said she did not know you. (Noise interfered with sound over dictograph.) Woodward—I have a lot of fellows to come up to me and say: "Is this Mayor Woodward?" I have seen your picture. * * * Oh, I don't know that it is true about me. February—A graft with you, it is been that after we got into this room the money is $50,000, it is all over the country, and it will be turned over to be examined to see that they are the papers, and then

(Continued from Page One) Well, as I haven't slept much lately, I think I will go. Well, I will see you to-morrow. Miles—Well, I am much obliged to you for coming in. Jones—I will try and get these between 10 and 11. Will that suit you? I am glad to see you. Good night. Colyar—Have you seen Felder since you saw me? Miles—Yes. Colyar—What did he say about going out of town? Miles—He will go. Colyar—Well, we will get the papers. Miles—I told him that was reasonable. Colyar—Then I will get the papers at 2:30 to-morrow. What time will you get in in the morning? Miles—I will get in at 4:30 to-morrow, and I have an appointment. Colyar—I think it is best to go over there. Miles—I have no doubt. I can't possibly use our side. Colyar—Call me up at 2401, Atlanta place, at the hotel at 1 o'clock. I will have anything to do with the transfer of them in Fulton County. As long as he... Miles—Yes, it makes a great deal more. He can call— a Morse. I think he owes him most of it. Colyar—What is his fee? Miles—A hundred thousand dollars. Colyar—How much did he get? Miles—One hundred thousand dollars. Colyar—How long have you known Felder? Miles—I have known him 25 years, personally. Colyar—(Question inaudible). Miles—Did you hear him commit himself? Colyar—Answer inaudible. Now, listen here, the boy breeds problems. Will you give me all your papers to take with me? Will you promise not to use it in any way as to jeopardize his position in any way? Miles—* * * And I believe he would, because I have seen him tried. I have been tried, and I am satisfied, and I have never known him to go back on his word. I can't convince my mind that the young man won't talk. He is liable to lose his nerve. He seems nervous and afraid. Colyar—No, he won't talk. He is just timid. Miles—In dealing with a rattle-snake I never think about (dictograph not clear). Colyar—No. Miles—I presume every man has his own code of honor, and mine is not that of a rattle-snake, as I don't know anything against him. But that figure I had in mind the general corruption in that department down here. Colyar—He gets down there and gets the papers and brings them out there and they are the papers that you and Felder want and they would know that nobody could get them but Lanford, and him and Lanford would say that didn't get them and they would know February got them and would fire him right away. Now, here is the Mayor going to put him back. Miles—If they are the documents of the nature he understands that are there will be another chief in his office. They would put him back for the very reason it would insure a strict administration of the next chief. Colyar—Will you call me in the morning at 10 o'clock? Miles—I will call you at 10 o'clock. Colyar—Will you make Tom spend his money now. Miles—Yes. You don't want to give the Mayor any list of these things. Colyar—I thought you wanted the papers. Miles—I don't want them. Colyar—Tom does. He can't let you get the papers whether they are yours or not. Miles—We agree with the Mayor that we get this list. Colyar—Tom said that the papers... February—There is nothing to do with it. If you are going to tell them to him we will drop it out of it. You say you will see the Mayor. Miles—No, I will see him to-morrow. Miles—Good-night. Colyar—The money to be turned over. Now, this list you speak of. If February doesn't want it to go out in his own handwriting, I will take it and copy it in my own handwriting. And if he gets into trouble we will protect him. Still, in a thing like this it's not mind getting in trouble for the right. If he gets in jail it will promise that he will get out. Woodward—You are going to get away here that will get you out pretty quick. And I have the pardon power still. Miles—And when they see you have got them they are going to be mighty mad. Colyar—You see the hour and I will meet you at any time and place. February—Well, we would better call you up. Colyar—I am so busy that I can't let it in my office very much, and you may not catch me. Colyar—Can you meet me at 4 o'clock to-night, here? Colyar—Yes, I can meet you here. (At this juncture, someone knocked on the door and told Mr. Colyar that he was wanted at the telephone. Mr. Colyar replied by saying he couldn't come as he was busy.) February—Well, we will call you up. Colyar—He is coming here at 6 o'clock to-night. * * * My number up here is 2401. Miles—Yes, I will call for you. Now, that is all to-night? Colyar—Yes. Miles—I think he is here at 8 o'clock. That is all right? Woodward—I am satisfied that if we can establish * * * Do you understand this much, that we have got something (voice too low and indistinct to hear). Miles—Yes, it has got to be positive. Colyar—Want a match? Miles—I got one. Well, good luck. Woodward—(Voice too low to hear). Colyar—They will frame us on anybody that you report. Colyar—What protection have we established? Woodward—Well, I don't think there will be any trouble at all. * * * We could get together and establish * * * There is something wrong. It is simply a * * * Now, Mr. February, you get a list of the papers you can furnish me against the men and give them to me or Miles, and then we will know how to take you. As it is, we don't know whether you can get anything or not. Colyar—What do you think of the Phagan case? Colyar—Tom Felder jells too much. Woodward—I think so, too. I don't know what he said on the outside, but he talked some of me, not a great deal. I didn't see him five times. Woodward—Only had a few very bad words. * * * Well, I will see you again. Colyar and February—Well, good-bye, Mayor. State of Georgia—County of Fulton. Personally appeared before me, the undersigned notary public for the State and county aforesaid, George M. Gentry, a stenographer, who makes oath and says that the foregoing conversation between A. S. Colyar, James G. Woodward, Mayor of the city of Atlanta, E. O. Miles and G. C. FRAME-UP ALLEGED BLEASE IRONIC COMMENTS ON BURNS' MEN, SAYS TOBE

Denouncing A. S. Colyar as an "arch-enemy of the law," the Burns detective who is here making an investigation of the Phagan case, declared today that the charges of bribery and double dealing brought against Felder were a frame-up concocted by the Phagan Police Agency and the Atlanta Police Department, with these ends in view. To discredit Colonel Felder, he charges as employed Burns men. To be charged also that Colyar was hired as a "straw man" for the frame-up. He declares that Colyar tried to influence the Phagan Police Agency at the Williams House No. 2, between Colyar, Felder, G. C. February and Colyar. He declares that Colyar told him he would be paid for the frame-up on last Sunday, after he had the evidence against Felder for the frame-up. He declares also that Colyar said he would get even with the police because they had arrested him some time ago. To discredit Colonel Felder, he charges as employed Burns men. BEAVERS WILL SEEK GRAFT VINDICATION BEFORE GRAND JURY

Chief of Police Beavers and Chief of Detectives Lanford both stated emphatically Monday that they intended to go to the full limit of the law in making Thomas B. Felder prove his charges of graft in the police department.

Both Beavers and Lanford will take the matter before the Grand Jury, and they will take other action in the courts against Felder forthwith.

Chief Beavers shortly before noon held a conference with City Attorney Mayson, after which he announced that he would take the whole matter of alleged attempted bribery and "conspiracy against him" before the Grand Jury next Friday.

The chief was advised by the City Attorney that this was the proper course to pursue. He declined to specifically name all of those who will be involved, remarking that he will lay all of his evidence before the grand jurors and ask indictments.

They do not intend to let Felder's statements go with a simple newspaper denial made by them. They intend to have a thorough investigation, and they intend further to make Felder conform with his evidence or take the consequences; and the consequences, they intend, shall be the fullest penalty that the law can inflict upon him.

SAV THEY WILL BARE "SECRETS."

Both Beavers and Lanford have determined to go at the matter systematically, thoroughly and in a legal way; and they intend that the investigations before the Grand Jury and in the courts will lay bare all the "secrets" that Felder is alleged to have of bribery and graft in the police department; and also make public the reasons Mayor Woodward has in the attempt to restore the restricted vice district in Atlanta.

It is regarded as certain that Felder is eliminated entirely from the Phagan case. It had been believed that he really was in the employ of the Frank defense up to the time that he began to bombard the public with statements against Frank and went on record in saying he believed in the guilt of Frank.

In making this statement, saying he believed in the guilt of Frank, he takes the same position as that of Lanford and Beavers, who are also convinced of Frank's guilt.

CAN'T APPEAR FOR FRANK.

Felder, therefore, can not appear as an attorney for Frank nor is he wanted by the prosecution as an attorney to aid in prosecuting the case. It would seem, therefore, that he has no standing in the Phagan matter at all.

Both Beavers and Lanford state positively that the evidence collected by the police department in the Phagan case points to Frank's guilt, and that all the evidence collected by the Burns Agency and the Pinkerton Agency simply confirm that belief.

They add that no new evidence, not already secured by the city detectives, was produced by either Burns or the Pinkerton men.

Mayor Woodward today issued a statement denying Chief Beavers' assertion that he was eager for the restoration of the restricted district, and declaring that if Beavers and Chief Lanford framed the diagraph plot they were unfit to hold office and should be ousted.

LAW BOIBERY

Following a raid of three delegations Monday afternoon Chief of Detectives Lanford announced that he had secured the negro, James Conley, was seeking in his statement that he wrote the "murder notes" found near the dead body of Mary Phagan.

Chief of Detectives Lanford was given two papers Monday afternoon by A. S. Colver, whose entrance into the Phagan case has been marked by one conviction after another. Colver told Lanford that the papers were copies of a word affidavit and that he had the original, which he would produce at the proper time. The copies are not signed.

Emphatic denial that he had in any manner resorted to bribery in behalf of Frank was made by Herbert Hays, well-known Atlanta attorney and friend of the local factory superintendent. Mr. Hays further declared that any intimation that he had sought to bribe anyone was absolutely false.

Two affidavits filed. Colver said that one of the affidavits was signed by the woman it was sought to bribe and the other by the man, a traveling salesman. Five hundred dollars each is said by the alleged cost of the affidavits to have been offered to the man and the woman for their testimony.

Colver alleged that the woman was brought here from Birmingham with the intention of inducing her to swear that she knew who had killed Phagan late Saturday night. He said that he knew where she was at the latest time, although she had been thought that she had left the city.

A report of attempted bribery was submitted to Chief Lanford by Will Henson, of 12 Leonard Street, Monday afternoon. Henson had been informed by Mrs. Edmondson, mother of little Monteen Stover, of 509 South Broadway, that a man had come to her house and asked how much she (Mrs. Edmondson) would take to keep Monteen out of town until after the trial had concluded.

Swore Frank wasn't in office. Monteen Stover is the girl who is reported to have gone to the factory at 12:05 o'clock Saturday afternoon and to have been unable to find Frank in his office, although he swore he was there all the time from the moment that Mary Phagan left his office until Lemmie Guinn is said to have entered at about 12:30.

After hearing the report, made to Chief Lanford, that an offer had been made to her to keep her daughter, Monteen Stover, out of Atlanta until after the trial of Frank, Mrs. Edmondson dictated a denial to a Georgian reporter. Her statement follows:

Mrs. Fomby Not at Home. "I have been, nothing like that at all. There has been no offer of money, or anything else, for my daughter to keep out of Atlanta. There has been nothing but just her little testimony you saw in the papers, and no improper offers have been made to either me or her."

The detectives also are working on reports that Mrs. Mima Fomby, of 509 Piedmont Avenue, the woman who reported that Frank had called her up several times by phone Saturday night, had been approached by several persons who have attempted to bribe her to alter the evidence contained in her affidavit.

Mrs. Fomby has not been seen at her residence for two days. She is said to be out of the city traveling.

Colyar Gives Detective Chief Alleged Copies of Affidavits in Which He Says Two Persons Swear That False Testimony Was Sought by Defense

Chief of Detectives Lanford was given two papers Monday accusing friends of Leo M. Frank of attempting to bribe a man and a woman to swear that they saw Mary Phagan at 10:30 Saturday night, April 26, at a soda fountain at Mericats and Forsyth Street.

These papers were given Lanford by A. S. Colyar, whose entrance into the Phagan case has been marked by one sensation after another. Colyar told Lanford that the papers were copies of sworn affidavits and that he had the originals which he would produce at the proper time. Colyar emphatically denied that he had in any manner resorted to bribery in behalf of Frank to make by Herbert Haas, well-known Atlanta attorney and friend of the general factory superintendent.

Mr. Haas further declared that any intimation that he had sought to bribe anyone was absolutely false. Colyar said that the affidavits were signed by the woman it was sought to bribe and the other by the man, a traveling salesman. The affidavits were signed by the man and the woman for the purpose of inducing her to swear to the statements that she had made on Saturday night. He said that he knew where she was at the present time, although the friends of Frank thought that she had left the city.

Another report of attempted bribery was submitted to Chief Lanford by Will Henson, of 11 Leonard Street, Henson told Lanford that he had been informed by Mr. Edmondson, member of the Little Mountain Street, 111 South Forsyth Street, that a man had come to her house and asked her to make the affidavit. Edmondson would have been Henson's contact man until after the trial, had continued.

Score Frank Not in Office. Monitor Street in the city who is reported to have gone to the factory at 11:30 Saturday afternoon and to have been unable to find Frank in the office, although he swore he was there at the time from the moment that Mary Phagan left his office until her arrest. He said he had been sent about 11:15 A. M. After leaving the report, made to Chief Lanford, that an offer had been made to her to keep her daughter, Monitor Street, out of Atlanta, after the trial of Frank, Mr. Edmondson directed a denial to a Georgia reporter. Her statement is:

Mr. Frank Not at Home. Monitor Street, who is being held in custody, has been reported to have been in the city since about 11:15 A. M. She said she had been sent about 11:15 A. M. After leaving the report, made to Chief Lanford, that an offer had been made to her to keep her daughter, Monitor Street, out of Atlanta, after the trial of Frank, Mr. Edmondson directed a denial to a Georgia reporter. BEAVERS WILL SEEK GRAFT VINDICATION BEFORE GRAND JURY

Heads of Departments Say Accuser Must Prove Charges or Take Consequences; Declare They'll Bare "Secrets" and Reveal Mayor's Stand.

Chief of Police Beavers and Chief of Detectives Lanford both stated emphatically Monday that they intended to go to the full limit of the law in making Thomas B. Felder prove his charges of graft in the police department.

Both Beavers and Lanford will take the matter before the Grand Jury, and they will take other action in the courts against Felder forthwith.

Chief Beavers shortly before noon held a conference with City Attorney Mayson, after which he announced that he would take the whole matter of alleged attempted bribery and "conspiracy against him" before the Grand Jury next Friday.

The chief was advised by the City Attorney that this was the proper course to pursue. He declined to specifically name all of those who will be involved, remarking that he will lay all of his evidence before the grand jurors and ask indictments.

They do not intend to let Felder's statements go with a simple newspaper denial made by them. They intend to have a thorough investigation, and they intend further to make Felder come forward with his evidence or take the consequences; and the consequences, they intend, shall be the fullest penalty that the law can inflict upon him.

Both Beavers and Lanford have determined to go to the matter systematically, thoroughly and in a legal way; and they intend that the investigations before the Grand Jury and in the courts will lay bare all the "secrets" that Felder is alleged to have of bribery and graft in the police department, and also make public the reasons Mayor Woodward has in the attempt to restore the restricted vice district in Atlanta.

It is regarded as certain that Felder is eliminated entirely from the Phagan case. It had been believed that he really was in the employ of the Frank defense up to the time that he began to bombard the public with statements against Frank and went on record in saying he believed in the guilt of Frank.

In making this statement, saying he believed in the guilt of Frank, he takes the same position as that of Lanford and Beavers, who also are convinced of Frank's guilt.

Felder, therefore, can not appear as an attorney for Frank, nor he is wanted by the prosecution as an attorney to aid in prosecuting the case. It would seem, therefore, that he has no standing in the Phagan matter at all.
