Dr. Lincoln McConnell, in Hot Reply to Woodward, Upholds Anti-Kissing War.

Dr. Lincoln McConnell, in a letter burning with sarcastic criticism and indignation, made bold reply Tuesday to the attack made upon him by Mayor Woodward.

Dispatches received in Atlanta Tuesday told of the death of Dr. H. P. Broyles, a State Senator of Mississippi and cousin of Recorder Nash. Broyles, of Atlanta, in a duel between the Senator and E. F. Kendrick, a wealthy timberman of Selmer, Tenn., on the top of a lake dam at the Greenwood Springs summer resort near Aberdeen, Miss., Tuesday morning.

Broyles was well known in Atlanta, having been in this city two days ago, accompanied by two police officers of his State, to take back A. D. Oliver, a swimmer, who had been released from jail after serving a three-year sentence. Dr. Broyles was one of the victims of several crooked operations in Mississippi and had brought reputation papers to take the prisoner back to his State for trial.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—In the belief that he has committed other murders than that of Anna Amuller, the girl whose torso was found in the Hudson River, the police to-day planned to put Hans Schmidt, the priest who confessed to slaying the girl, through an examination intended to force him to reveal every act of his sordid past.

That Schmidt was a counterfeiter, as well as a murderer, came to light today through the arrest shortly after midnight of Ernest Arthur Murel, a bogus dentist, and Herbert Zech, his girl assistant.

It also was developed by the Catholic clergy that Schmidt was an impostor, having forged the credentials as a priest which he used in this country.

Murel, under merciless grilling by the police, not only admitted that he knew both Schmidt and the murdered girl, but also confessed that Schmidt had been a partner of his in a counterfeiting scheme.

After the arrest the police raided Murel's flat and also another flat which he had been found was rented jointly last June by Murel and Schmidt. In the latter flat was found a complete outfit, including chemicals, tools, a printing press, several half-dressed bodies, and other articles.

Dr. McConnell denied that he had investigated against "spooning." However, he declared, "I merely was taking a stand for law and order which the Mayor had attacked."

DUEL WITH AX AND GUN; BOTH DIE DECLARE GIRL'S SLAYER AN IMPOSTER

GIRL WHO WAS SLAIN BY NEW YORK PRISONER ANNA AUMULLER.

POICE SAY SCHMIDT SARGH SLAYER

Story of Alleged Accomplice Reveals Priest Who Killed Anna Aumuller as Counterfeiter.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—In the belief that he has committed other murders than that of Anna Aumuller, the girl whose torso was found in the Hudson River, the police to-day pronounced the man who was arrested through an examination intended to force him to reveal every act of his sordid past.

That Schmidt was a counterfeiter, as well as a murderer, came to light to-day through the arrest shortly after midnight of Ernest Arthur Muret, a house painter, and Bertha Zoch, his girl assistant.

It also was developed by the Catholic clergy that Schmidt was an imposter, having forged the credentials as a priest which he used in his counterfeiting scheme.

Muret, under merciless grilling by the police, not only admitted that he knew both Schmidt and the murdered girl, but also confessed that Schmidt had been a partner of his in a counterfeiting scheme.

After the arrest the police raided Muret's flat and also another flat which it had been found was rented jointly last June by Muret and Schmidt. In the latter flat was found a complete counterfeiting outfit, including chemical tools, a printing press, several half-destroyed bogus bills and a hand-rolled cigarette.

In the flat in which Muret lived were found a number of surgical tools, such as are used to perform illegal operations.

Girl Held as Witness.
Whether Muret was charged with direct connection with the murder and the dismemberment of the Aumuller girl's body is a matter which the police would not discuss to-day. They claim they are holding the Zoch girl as a material witness, while Muret's confession that he attempted counterfeiting is sufficient to hold him.

The discovery of the counterfeiting establishment will of course bring the United States Government into the priest's case.

Muret told the police to-day that shortly before the death of Anna Aumuller the girl had visited Central Park and was harassed by policemen.

Mobs Throng Streets—Americans Warned to Hide—Lind Told to Board Warship.

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. MEXICO CITY, Sept. 16.—Exciting news and rumors of more exciting things to come attended the celebration of Mexican Independence Day in the capital to-day.

All night long, following the official inauguration of the independence ceremonies at 11 o'clock last night, thousands of noisy Mexicans surged through the streets. The principal cafes remained open all night.

Thousands gathered before the National Palace and cheered President Huerta. There were scattered anti-American demonstrations and cries of "Drive out the Gringos" were heard at intervals.

The forces of the day here as well as in the other larger cities throughout the republic, was the military government. War Minister Huerta, at the instance of Huerta, had charged every military Governor to get as many men as possible under arms for patriotic demonstrations.

President Huerta staked such on this day's events throughout the republic. He hoped and expected that the patriotic exercises would inspire a feeling of loyalty to the Government, consequently to the President, throughout the republic.

For this reason the President himself to remain in public throughout most of the day, allowing himself to the residents of the capital and the thousands of visitors who came here from neighboring districts.

Americans Given Warning.
The principal space on the balcony of the National Palace was reserved for him when the parade was to be reviewed.

The popping of firearms kept up through the night and at dawn the explosions of gunpowder grew louder and more frequent.

The American residents had been warned to hide in case that their presence might not inspire Mexicans whose brains had been slightly clouded along patriotic lines by illusory use of force.

M'CONNELL DEFIES THE MAYOR

PHYSICIAN HELD FOR AIDING IN GIRL'S MURDER

POLICE SAY MEXICO 4TH SCHMIDT IMPERILS CITIZENS OF U. S.

Story of Alleged Accomplice Reveals Priest Who Killed Anna Aumuller as Counterfeiter.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—In the last few days the city has been rocked by the story that the girl whose body was found in the Hudson River, the police today announced to be Anna Aumuller, the girl who was arrested in Mexico, the priest who confessed to slaying her through an estimation intended to have him to reveal where she lay buried.

That Schmidt was a counterfeiter as well as a murderer came to light shortly after the arrest of James Arthur Murry, a large dentist, and Bert Haas, his partner.

Murry, under various aliases, was the police, but not admitted that Schmidt, both Schmidt and the murderer, had been a partner of his in a counterfeiting enterprise.

After the arrest the police raided Murry's flat and saw a cabinet that which it had been found was placed shortly last June by Murry and Schmidt. In the cabinet was found a complete counterfeiting outfit, including a complete set of printing press, several hand-made "spare bills" and a loaded revolver.

In the flat in which Murry lived were found a number of electrical tools, such as are used to perform electrical operations.

Whether Murry will be charged with direct connection with the murder and the counterfeiting of the Aumuller girl's body is a matter which the police would not discuss today. They claim they are holding the dentist as a material witness, while Murry's confession that he attempted counterfeiting is sufficient to hold him.

The discovery of the counterfeiting establishment will of course bring the United States government into the case.

Murry told the police today that shortly before the death of Anna Aumuller the girl had visited him in New York and was killed by poison.

When he asked Schmidt September 3, three days after the murder, how the girl was killed, the priest replied: "She was killed by poison."

Police Say Well. Schmidt said he had never seen the girl. The majority of the police did not seem to believe him. He also made a number of statements which were contradictory.

He also refused to answer questions during interviews on the ground that the girl was not his daughter. He also refused to answer questions on the ground that the girl was not his daughter.

PLAINS HOT REPLY TO 'COWARD' CHARGE

"That's Only Woodward's Opinion! I Hope He Doesn't Insist on Verifying It," Says Pastor.

Dr. Arthur McConnel, who registered his protest at the Baptist Tabernacle by driving down upon his head the what was Mayor James G. Woodward, returned to get early Tuesday morning's edition of the paper in which he (Dr. McConnel) was branded as a "cowardly coward."

The minister said, however, that he would have a formal reply prepared later in the day, which was expected to be an estimate of that of the Mayor.

"That is only Jim Woodward's personal opinion," said Dr. McConnel, "and I am not prepared to enter into the characterisation of 'coward' which has been laid upon me by the city's chief executive. He is a man of high character. He is a man of high character. He is a man of high character."

He said that he did not appear to know anything about the circumstances of the shooting in the Capitol grounds. As a matter of fact, however, he made a personal visit to the Mayor's office yesterday morning and delivered a letter which had been made by the Mayor to the Mayor.

Courts Crowded; Big Cases Piled Up

MAJOR SCORES OF CASES IN CLERK'S OFFICE

Overcrowding of Grounds Reseized

Atlanta's new crematory is practically out of operation and Monday the cars were turned to the old dumping grounds with their loads of garbage. This was the report made to Mayor Woodward by Councilman Ashby Monday, following a visit by him to the crematory, and criticism of the plant's collapse was widespread.

In his talk with the Mayor, Mr. Ashby severely criticized the arrangements by which the garbage is transported from the pit to the furnaces, and offered the suggestion that traveling cranes be substituted for the present system.

The system of handling the garbage in use now keeps one spot in the pit clean, but fails to properly remove the garbage along the sides of the pit," he said.

Double Strain on Motors.
"A great many cabs have been broken on the buckets used, while the heavy strains have caused the motors to run rapidly. The system in use is similar to the trap-spring system, having a bucket on each end. The bucket is swung out, and at times are at a great angle, making a double strain on the motor."

"They are three months behind on their promises, and the plant is practically a complete failure. They are not even working the one time promised for completion and they are not even working the one time promised for completion."

"Someone asked me the other day why we were refusing so much of the cost of the crematory. Well, I think when a thing costs a city $250,000 that we are entitled to raise a row if the thing is not what it should be."

Forfeit a Mere Bagatelle.
"If we can save the city $50,000 by the cost of this plant I think we will be doing well. And until this plant is in perfect working order we are going to continue to raise a row."

"The contract called for the turning over of the plant to the city August 15 and a forfeit of $25 a day for each day's delay. A month has passed away and a forfeit of $25 a day charges against the manufacturer the total sum of it but a drop in the bucket compared to what we expect to save the city on this plant."

Mayor Woodward some time ago appointed Frank Lederle as the engineer to represent the city in a trial run of the plant. The plant has not yet been turned over to Lederle for the 20-day test.

Three Feet of Water in Mobile Streets.

MOBILE, Sept. 15.—A total of 11.00 inches of rain has fallen in Mobile within the past two days, doing many thousands of dollars damage. The streets of the business district were flooded three feet. In many places water backed up into several stories.

Asheville Donors Rush; Coal Dealers Furred.

ASHEVILLE, Sept. 15.—Overcrowding of the streets by the coal dealers' straw hats and summer suits, because of the sudden drop in the temperature followed by a 24-hour winter rain. Every other person met on the streets wore an overcoat. The coal dealers' hats have been taken off to add extra equipment, as there was the demand for fuel. No crop will be damaged by the sudden drop.

Republican Declines To Resign Fat Job; He Will Be Removed

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 15.—United States Marshal John P. Horr continues to hold down his Federal job, in which he was appointed under a Republican administration, despite a telegram received from Attorney General McMillan at his home last week demanding his resignation. Horr is now in Ohio.

He is slow to give up his job of marshal and no charges can be preferred against him, he is determined to remain where he is until his term expires early next year. This was the attitude he has recently taken when the Democrats were getting hungry for the job.

Officials at War; Crime Waves

Conflict Between Mayor and Bond Trustees of Jacksonville for Control of Police Grows.

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 15.—Owing to the continual wrangling between Mayor Swearingin and the Board of Bond Trustees over the control of the police, and the present tie-up between the Mayor and Chief of Police Roach, the police force has become demoralized and thieves are taking advantage of the situation to commit depredations.

For some weeks past many reports of robberies have been received at the police station, but in almost every instance the thieves have escaped unscathed.

Strong measures are now being brought to bear upon members of the Board of Bond Trustees who are the enemies of the Mayor to induce them to rescind ordinance 1,194, under which the Mayor is making his battle for the control of the police department. This would leave him free to do as he pleases.

War on Police Chief.
While no member of the City Council or the Board of Bond Trustees will admit anything for publication, advertisements of the bond trustees declare that Swearingin weakened himself yesterday when he conferred his war on Chief of Police Frederick C. Roach to Captain Harry Hall.

In his efforts to ignore Roach, who continues at his post, despite his detention by the Mayor, the Mayor has been issuing his orders to Hall, and it has been generally considered that Roach would accept the Mayor would appoint him chief. Hall is now out of the running as far as Swearingin is concerned, however, because he is charged with declining to be dictated by Swearingin relative to the treatment by the police officials of Policemen Clyde Davidson and R. W. Willis, whom Swearingin has reinstated. This quarrel has left the Mayor in the position where there is no reasonable officer on the force upon whom he can rely to carry out his orders.

Hall who is a thirty-second degree Mason and popular with all classes of people in Jacksonville, regardless of political affiliations, had until a few days ago, managed to keep out of any open rupture with Mayor Swearingin, but now, it is said, his name is written in capital letters on the Mayor's blacklist.

To Define Powers.
Persons who have no particular interest in the police controversy are indifferent as to whether the Mayor or the trustees control, so long as public safety is concerned; they are demanding that something be done at once to define the powers of the Mayor and prevent further conflicts of authority.

Swearingin still appears to have a preponderance of popular support in his fight, as there is a growing sentiment against the continuation in power of the board. The constant wrangling at the police station, however, between the chief and the Mayor has become warlike and the feeling is general that the quarrel is injuring the city.

In view of the fact that the question of authority to control the police force was not settled when the Mayor recently brought an injunction suit in the Circuit Court to have the trustees restrained from interfering with his prerogatives, no relief is looked for from the Supreme Court on the decision of Judge Gibbs, of the lower court, that there is no jurisdiction in the matter.

COUNTRY CLUB FOR GADSDEN.
GADSDEN, Sept. 15.—Forty members of Commerce and several other fraternal organizations are looking to the purchase of a large tract of land here, which has been purchased by a meeting of interested parties in the city. The property is known as Country Club for Gadsden.

FEARS HER DAUGHTER WAS LURED FROM CITY

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Hans Schmidt, aged 32, who officiated as a priest at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, this city, is in jail here today, the self-accused slayer of beautiful Anna Amuller, aged 22, whose torso was found in the Hudson River and whose murder was one of the most shocking in the criminal history of New York City.

While Schmidt sits calmly in his cell, awaiting trial in a matter of which he is ready to pay the penalty for his crime, the distinguished members of the Catholic clergy here, pleading Schmitt's rather distinguished efforts to lift the hidden pages of Schmitt's early history in an effort to prove that he was not the man in Europe as an impostor and that he never was ordained as a priest.

Through an clever bit of detective work at the police department here has over experienced, suspicion finally directed itself upon Schmidt. The officers could hardly credit their conclusions and were placed in a delicate position as to how to approach the priest. Finally, however, they went to the rectory after midnight Sunday, summoned the priest from his room to prove that he was not the man in Europe as an impostor and that he never was ordained as a priest.

ADAMPTING GROUNDS RESEIZED

Atlanta's new crematory is practically out of operation and Monday the cars were turned to the old dumping grounds with their loads of garbage. This was the report made to Mayor Woodward by Councilman Ashby Monday, following a visit by him to the crematory, and criticism of the plant's collapse was widespread.

American Miner Is Cruelly Slain by Bandits in Mexico

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.—News of the murder of Morris P. Root, American superintendent of the El Tigre mines at Tepic, Mexico, was brought here by the steamer Fern, which had about 100 refugees aboard.

The mining engineer was intercepted by bandits on his way to join employees of the company preparing to defend the mine property. He was cut to pieces.

Root was 30 years old and had been in Mexico sixteen years.

Max Lambert, another American engineer who arrived on the Fern, was left for dead by bandits who attacked his mine in the mountains of Tepic. Lambert's wife and child escaped by crawling through a rear window and he remained to guard the bandits, whose approach was noticed when they were a mile away. When they departed Mrs. Lambert returned and got aid.

NO JUDGE TO TRIP TO SOCKET

Frank Case and New Bench Appointments Cause Congestion in Court—100 Await Trial.

Soleitor General Dorsey is on a still hunt for a judge to conduct the largest trial of cases which have piled up since the June term of court. The Frank trial caused all other court business to be suspended, and the recent bench appointments still further have delayed the disposal of several scores of cases.

More than one hundred prisoners are in the county jail awaiting trial. Some of them have been there much longer than is usual to hold them for trial. The soleitor wishes to have them placed on trial at the earliest possible moment and does not wish to be left with some trial in October for Judge Ben H. Hill to take the new Atlanta circuit judgeship if he can avoid this delay.

An effort is being made to have one of the Superior Court judges preside. It is probable that a judge from an outside circuit will be brought in.

Conley Will Be Tried.
Jim Conley, self-confessed accessory after the fact in the murder of Mary Phagan, will be one of those placed on trial. Nothing of the sensational interest that obtained at the Frank trial will be shown when the negro is brought into court. It will be little more than a formality. Conley will plead guilty and will be sentenced to a new trial of Frank October 4, but all the subsequent litigation in behalf of the convicted man will be heard by another judge.

The recent bench appointments also mean a great deal in the case of the celebrated Crawford case. Mrs. Mary Belle Crawford has been accused of poisoning her husband, Joshua Crawford. Soleitor Dorsey found himself disqualified to act as the prosecutor of Mrs. Crawford. Frank A. Hooper and several others were named later to act in this capacity, but the same disqualification existed in each case. Charles S. Field finally was selected to draw up the indictments and conduct the prosecution.

Defense Urges Haste.
It was proposed to go ahead with the case until it became known that the case of the Stone Mountain Circuit, of which now is prosecutor. This will make it necessary to select still another attorney to conduct the case against Mrs. Crawford and may result in a delay of several weeks more.

Burton Smith, one of her attorneys, said Monday that it was the desire of Mrs. Crawford's counsel to bring the accusations to an issue as soon as possible. He declared that if the members of the Grand Jury regarded the evidence against her sufficient to warrant an indictment, her lawyers were anxious that she be placed on trial as soon as possible. He would have the opportunity to defend her.

GADSDEN, Sept. 15.—When the city school opened Monday evening building was crowded. Superintendent Orange announced that the attendance for the year before and that within one hour after the city would be facing the problem of accommodating new faces for school buildings.

St. John's Catholic Church has built a parsonage school here that will accommodate 25 pupils.

Misdeameor Docket Being Cleared Rapidly

Between 200 and 300 misdeameor cases, including the case of Jack Brown, negro, who was sentenced for a year for stabbing a negro woman, were disposed of in Judge Calhoun's division of the City Court Monday morning. More than 200 cases, the heaviest docket in years, probably were completed Saturday afternoon. Judge Calhoun's division was called Monday following adjournment of the criminal branch of the Superior Court, presided over by Judge Ross, who is in court in the Stone Mountain Circuit.

Woman Tries Suicide; Saved by Little Girl

SAVANNAH, Sept. 15.—Mrs. R. C. Johnson, No. 120 President street, is in a critical condition at the Savannah Hospital as a result of taking carbolic acid in an attempt at suicide.

WYNNE WELLS TAKES OT REPLY TO MAYOR'S NOTE

Continued from Page 1. I thought I really said. Did I give it out nor write a word of it. Another evidence of this, to me, is in what I am reported to have said about "yellow journalism." I never said a word about yellow journalism. All that I said that could have been construed was a reference to the sort of vulgar prints of dancing women that had found a place in the papers of to-day, and in that connection I said "there is a marked change, and, in my opinion, not for the better. In what some papers publish of this sort, and in twenty years ago had a paper in Atlanta printed some of the pictures of nude or semi-nude women, their papers would have been delared from the home of the best people."

might have told me that a sacrifice had to be made and that I must be alone in the room. I had the same in my mind when I was in the room.

I tried to burn Mattie. After the girl had been killed, I wanted to destroy all evidence of my crime. I took the mattress on which I had slain her and carried it to a vacant lot. There I burned it.

I am guilty and that is all I can say. I must not look back. I want to be free and I want to be with my mother. I want to be with my mother and I want to be with my mother.

ELECTED PRESIDENT OF STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

By JAMES E. NEVIN.

MACON, Sept. 16.—Charles J. Haden, of Atlanta, was elected president of the new State Chamber of Commerce to-day in an enthusiastic meeting of leading representatives of the progressive business world of Georgia.

The meeting was generally acclaimed as marking a new era in the State's progress.

More than 200 delegates were here, beside various organizations of Boy Scouts, the Y. M. C. A., and other booming and boosting organizations.

The visitors were the guests of the State Chamber of Commerce, where, in the beautiful new Hotel Danmore, everything from a fine meeting hall to all things imaginable by way of good eatables and drinks had been provided.

The purpose of the State Chamber of Commerce is to bring the various counties and municipalities, large and small, into closer relationship, particularly in the matter of bringing about mutual efforts toward progress in Georgia, between the urban and the rural populations.

North Meets the South.
The Atlanta and Georgia delegations, representing Fulton and DeKalb counties, were the last to arrive.

Mr. Haden acted as temporary chairman of today's meeting, and the day gave unanimous satisfaction.

The enthusiasm of the visitors was unmistakable. From the beginning it was apparent that the organization to-day look upon the organization of the State Chamber of Commerce as a highly important and promising work.

The Atlanta delegation, headed by Secretary Gray of the Chamber of Commerce, and others, immediately assumed a leading part in the organization, inasmuch as it was in Atlanta that the idea of the State Chamber organization was conceived.

The State Chamber of Commerce membership will be over 1,000 from the beginning and will increase to more than 2,000 within the next twelve months.

The State Chamber of Commerce will be working in line with other bodies in writing bills, Georgia, and work within the State, and outside the State, so far as boosting and praising the State and its progress.

The first session of today's meeting was held at 11 o'clock.

ATLANTAN PRESIDENT OF STATE CHAMBER

CHARLES J. HADEN.

It was given over almost entirely to speech-making by gentlemen from various parts throughout the State, while the executive committee was working out the problems of a constitution and by-laws, and nominating for officers of the permanent organization.

Friends but acute rivalry now developed on the floor in the matter of a president of the State Chamber of Commerce and the location of its permanent headquarters.

It has been particularly noticeable, however, that none of this rivalry was tinged in any manner by bitterness or rancor.

Every topic of interest conceivable in the business world of Georgia was discussed. All the way from banking and school to physical education and culture.

Other Officers Named.
Mr. Haden acted as temporary chairman of today's meeting, and the day gave unanimous satisfaction.

GOLEY TO GOIT FELON CHARGE BITTERLY

Attorney Will Permit Him to Plead Guilty Only to Misdemeanor. Judge Sought.

Jim Conley's trial on a felony charge as accessory after the fact in the murder of Mary Phagan will be strongly combated by his attorney, W. M. Smith, according to announcements made Tuesday.

It is the contention that Conley, on the State's own theory of the crime, is guilty of nothing more than a misdemeanor, and that he can not be tried for a crime of which he is not accused.

Two indictments were drawn against the negro at the last session of the Grand Jury. One charged him with a misdemeanor, and the other with a felony. A nice point of law has arisen on the felony indictment.

It is the contention that Conley, on the State's own theory of the crime, is guilty of nothing more than a misdemeanor, and that he can not be tried for a crime of which he is not accused.

Conley's attorney, on the other hand, will insist that the law be interpreted with the strictest literalness. Legal citations will be made to show that "conceal" in the statute means nothing else than hiding or harboring the person of the guilty man.

Conley will be allowed to plead guilty to the misdemeanor charge and nothing more. The carrying of the gun, which is the basis of the State's case, will be held to be a mere technical violation.

LOST ESSIE NIX IS SEEN IN COUNTRY

Disquieting information as to the whereabouts of Essie Nix, the pretty 16-year-old daughter of Mrs. G. M. Nix, of No. 626 Chestnut street, who has been lost since last Saturday, was received by Chief of Police James J. Beavers Tuesday morning.

Robert Cain and J. H. Harris, of Brookwood, visited the Chief and said they were the missing girl Monday afternoon walking aimlessly along the highway near a creek, about two miles north of Roswell.

The two men were in an automobile when they came upon the girl, who was walking with her head lowered. The men said that they had known the girl for some time; they had no hostility in accosting her. According to the men, she said she was on her way to the home of a relative not far distant.

It is feared by the police that the girl may have lost her mind. Immediately following the receipt of this information the Chief notified the girl's mother. Every effort will be made to locate the child. Men in automobiles have started in search of her.

BANK MEET FOR CITY DEPENDS ON HOTELS

National Association Secretary Is Here to See if Atlanta Can Furnish Adequate Quarters.

Fred E. Parnsworth, secretary of the American Bankers' Association for the past six years, is in Atlanta to determine whether the city's hotels can give adequate accommodations to the National Bankers' Convention in the autumn of 1914.

There is no doubt that Atlanta can do everything else handsomely in the way of entertainment," says Mr. Parnsworth. "We know all about Southern hospitality and we know the Atlanta bankers. But Atlanta is growing so rapidly that its hotels are busy all the while. The question is, can all other business be turned away to take care of the 3,000 or more bankers?"

Bankers Want the Best. "You know bankers want the best of everything. They won't take rooms without baths and their positively will not 'double up.'"

Mr. Parnsworth is just from Washington, where he has been working hard to assist the bankers in getting what they regard as vital amendments to the Owen-Glass currency bill. "I do not believe the Administration currency reform plan will pass in its present form," he says. "It will raise the House practically. It stands, but in my belief, it will be amended considerably in the Senate. The temper of the Senate is shown by the fact that when we were kept four and a half days by the eager questioning of the committee, which covered not only the currency bill but all manner of subjects directly and indirectly connected with finance."

Bill To Be Debated. "The currency bill probably will be the leading topic of discussion at the Boston convention which opens October 6. The currency committee of the association will make a report, and general debate will follow. Southern members of this committee are Joseph McCard of Atlanta, and Sol Voshell of New Orleans.

The bankers' objection to the plan as outlined are fourfold: Governmental control, governmental issue of bank notes, the disposition of reserves and disposition of the 2 per cent government bonds."

Mr. Parnsworth sees good times ahead. "Autumn has not developed the expected stringency of money," he says. "The crisis are moving without undue strain, and prospects are bright for conditions to follow. The South in particular seems to be in good luck."

Dinner is Planned. A K. K. dinner of the Georgia National Bank, Haynes McPhadden, secretary of the Atlanta Convention Bureau, and Fred Houser, secretary of the Atlanta Convention Bureau, will be given Monday morning at 11 o'clock. Mr. Parnsworth is taken to the Piedmont Hotel, Monday night where he will be a dinner in his honor, the Anakey Hotel. He remains until Tuesday afternoon.

The convention bureau has secured pledges of 1,732 rooms which will be set aside for the use of the Bankers' Convention in the Atlanta hotels. It is believed this pledge will be satisfactory. "I think the association will take kindly to the idea of coming to Atlanta, as it did in 1888," says Mr. Parnsworth. "The only question is one of accommodations."

EXPRESS THEFT ARREST DUE BY NIGHTFALL

Detectives Work on Theory That Guilty Man Will Squander $72,000 Booty.

Detective Harry Scott, Atlanta agent of the Pinkerton, said Monday that the hunt for the $72,000 Express Company of $72,000 in transit from New York to Savannah and South Georgia banks had narrowed to two or three express employees, who were being kept under special surveillance. He anticipated an arrest during the day.

The centering of suspicion on particular employees has not caused the detectives to relax their vigilance. On the contrary, the closest sort of a watch is being kept on every employee of both companies who by the most remote possibility might have been connected with the theft.

The instant one of these men emerges from the "white light" and begins spending money freely he will be arrested by the Special Agent in Charge of the Southern Express, who returned to Savannah Monday on a trip.

SLAYER OF GIRL BRAINED AS IMPOSTOR BY CLERGY; ALSO A COUNTERFEITER

but a short time later was arrested charged with forging papers as to the examination he had done to qualify himself for the priesthood. The former authorities found Schmidt guilty, but freed him on the ground that he was feeble-minded.

Schmidt then came to America, and by use of forged counterfeit letters secured an assistant pastorate in Trenton, N. J. A short time after some of his acts were brought to the attention of Bishop McFadden, who dismissed Schmidt from the Trenton Diocese.

Later Schmidt came to New York. He presented diocesan letters, which, it is now asserted, were forgeries, but which seemed genuine because they were written on the letter heads of the different bishops and stamped with the bishops' seals. It is believed that Schmidt in some way secured possession of these letter heads, stamped them with the seals and later wrote out the letters of reference himself.

Quarrel With Pastor.

When these letters were presented to the ecclesiastical authorities in New York they were every evidence of being genuine, were accepted as such and Schmidt was first given a position as assistant pastor at St. Boniface Church, where he met Anna Amuller. His open acts while there, although merely technical, one of which was the failure to attend mass, displeased Father Hean, the pastor, and he and Schmidt had a disagreement, which resulted in Schmidt assuming the duties of assistant pastor at St. Joseph's Church.

It was from some of the papers found among Schmidt's effects in the room at the rectory of St. Joseph's Church that the police were able to bring about the arrest of Marie and the girl and establish the fact that Schmidt was a counterfeiter. These papers showed that a man named Miller had rented a flat in 1815 street. The police went there, broke into the flat, found the counterfeiting outfit and a paper giving the address of Marie.

Following the arrest of the girl, Superintendent of the flat, the police went to Marie's place. There the girl identified Marie as "Miller."

New Slaying Mystery Baffles New York Police.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The police of this city and Yonkers noted today to attempt to solve another murder mystery which just now seems as baffling as the Amundsen case was a week ago.

6 Savannah Women Win Bond Election

SAVANNAH, Sept. 16.—After having announced the defeat of the $20,000 anti-drum bond election, a recount this morning showed it had been carried by a narrow margin.

The election was won by six pretty young suffragists, who in the afternoon phoned to over 1,000 delinquent voters and sent them to the polls in a heavy downpour of rain.

CORPORATION AIDING SMITH, SAYS DASHER

MACON, Sept. 16.—A. L. Dasher, Sr., an independent candidate for Mayor, has charged Bridges Smith, the administration candidate, in a paid advertisement today, with accepting large contributions to his campaign fund, amounting to thousands of dollars, from the Macon Railway and Light Company.

He asserts that the money was given partially by Leon S. Dure, vice president of the company, and partially secured by A. Emmett Barnes, a campaign worker, who went to New York and obtained the bids of the local public utility companies.

He further charges that the saloonkeepers were lured upon for a sum aggregating $2,000, and threatened with raids unless they gave the money. He also claims that there has been a wholesale illegal registration. The charges are denied by Mr. Smith.

'Polygamy in Utah Thing of the Past'

RESINOL HEALS ITCHING ECZEMA

Completely Cured When Three Years of Other Treatment Did No Good.

June 14, 1915.—Four years ago I developed a bad case of eczema on my face which was not only painful to look at, but extremely annoying because of the itching and itching. It was in very large areas, looked almost like boils.

As soon as the disease healed a little in one place—always leaving the skin dry—it appeared in another, getting worse as it advanced. After three years' treatment, getting worse as it advanced, I saw no better, until I found Resinol. I used both Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment, and after two months not a trace of the eczema remained. (Signed) Miss Beulah, Atlanta, Ga.

Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment are also readily effective in even the stubbornest cases of other blackheads, pimples, acne and seborrhea. Prescribed by doctors for eighteen years, and sold by every druggist in a price of 50c per tin. For free trial, write to Dept. 16-B, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

PET DOG CAUSES DEATH OF OWNER

Hydrophobia Sets in After Bite, Ending Life of Jacksonville Conductor.

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 15.—Harry W. Fall, a wealthy resident of Somersworth, N. H., and a former teacher in a New England college, who had been in Jacksonville for his health, died here of hydrophobia.

Fall was playing with a small dog at his boarding house near the barn of the Jacksonville Traction Company, three weeks ago, when the animal snapped at him and made the teeth into his thumb.

At the car barns it was learned that Fall, who was a single man aged about 40, had come to Jacksonville about seven months ago and secured a place as a conductor on the Orange line, which runs into the country.

His relatives in Somersworth have been notified and the body will be prepared for burial and will be shipped to New Hampshire.

A Season of Beautiful Hats

Charming, smart hats, like other successes, seldom "just happen," they are "premeditated."

We could have gone on selling millinery as most stores do to-day and would have met with the success that our limited efforts would have justified.

It was done when we opened the shop of Estelle Mershon at 20 E. 46th St., New York, which sends its emissaries into Paris with the seasons, who, seeing and studying and gathering up the notablest creations that the world's notablest milliners evolve, return to America's fashion center armed with the ideas and native ability to produce hats of distinctive beauty and charm.

And these are the hats that Atlanta women see here, and here only, hats that we hold it not to be odious to compare with those you find not only in Atlanta, but in America.

And these first days of the season are fine days for choosing. The style points are well defined and the variety is huge and obliging—a becoming hat at every turn.

Dress Forms That Make Dress-Making Easier

We have gone into the Dress Form business in a fashion worthy of its importance to women who make dresses—as a profession or for themselves.

The Acme is a substantial steel mounted form that is adjusted mechanically, the Pattern Form is a pneumatic form that is adjusted by means of a lining that is made to fit your figure.

Simply and truly they do their work. With these are skirt makers at $3.50 to $7.50.

A left clip to the jaw that traveled no more than four inches brought his heavier opponent down with a crash and he was rising under the curtain.

FODDER FOR FANS

The fight for battling honors in the American League has now developed into a three-cornered one. While Cobb and Jackson, who have been battling for seasonally all season, have been the three of a stump for the last month, The Starbuck, the Red Sox slugger, has been running along like a life bolt and is now only a few points in the rear. The Phillies and Reds have been tied ending on account of losses.

VETERANS DONATE FOR PHAGAN SHAFT

Marietta Camp Joins Trainers in Plan to Erect and Unveil Monument Memorial Day.

The members of the United Confederate Veterans, Camp No. 742, of Marietta, Ga., have joined with the Atlanta Lodge, No. 276, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, in the movement to raise funds for the erection of a monument to Mary Phagan, who was murdered in the National Powder Factory on April 26.

At the last meeting of the same the veterans voted unanimously to donate $5 to the fund and a sum of 25 cents was assessed against each member. Forty dollars was raised in less than an hour. George S. Owen, a member of the famous Eighteenth Georgia Regiment, was national treasurer of the fund, and authorized to accept donations.

Expressing the willingness of the veterans to co-operate with the railroad men in the movement, J. C. Morris, commander of the Marietta Camp, has issued an appeal to all lodges, organizations, churches, Confederate Veterans' camps and private persons to join in the movement to erect a suitable memorial to the little girl who gave her life for her country.

It is requested that all donations be sent to Camp No. 742, P. O. Box, Marietta, Ga.

Mr. Morris is preparing to call a meeting of the railroad men, veterans and all others raising funds for this purpose at his home in Marietta on December 18, when a committee will be named to select a design for a monument and make arrangements for its erection and unveiling on Confederate Memorial Day, 1914, the first anniversary of her death.

CHAMBERLIN-JOHNSON-DuBOSE COMPANY

ATLANTA NEW YORK PARIS

By the Judgment of Paris These Are the Silks for Fall

Here, in Atlanta, at Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Company's are the silks that such dress-wizards as

- Paquin
- Callot
- Agnes
- Zimmerman
- Mayer
- Rondeau
- Bichoff
- Doucet
- Worth
- Lucile
- Premet
- Jenny

have stamped with the mark of distinction. They have used these silks this season—made them into the models that set the fashion for Fall. This is the "Sterling" mark of silks. The words in this pen can not tell their beauty. It remains for your eyes and your "color sense" to appreciate them—and so now with the wealth and novelties of the silk world to show you, we invite you now to the Silk Section and its surprises and beauties.

Season after season our Silk Section harbors the silks of fashion—Atlantans know this, but Atlantans do not know what it offers this season and can not until they have visited it.

Modern and Semi-Oriental fabrics in designs and colors—the recent art movement with its "queer" figures and bold splashing of colors and the picturesque Oriental patterns and blendings of color vie with each other for your favor—one time they are reflected in high-piled fabrics and again they are lissome and limp as a gossamer—and still again they are combined.

- Here—
- Voile Velour Brocade—a voile of the substance of a humming bird's wing weighted with a heavy velour brocade—in colors.
 - Ratine Voiles—Great "rough" patterns scattered over a silk voile.
 - Crepe Broche—the beauty of the supplest silk crepe with a raised velvet floral.
 - Crepe Faille, in a more weighty fabric it would be termed corded. A fabric to fit in with the draped styles of the season.
 - Velour de Laine—a novelty of the corded fabrics and at the same time of the pile fabrics.
 - Moire Renaissance—a poplin moire that has been brocade—new.
 - Charmeuse Matelasse—the winding matelasse patterns on a ground of shimmering charmeuse.
 - Moire Charmeuse—As the name implies, a rippled effect on this soft fabric.
- And so might go on telling of the fabrics, the Oriental and Dresden vestings (important themselves in the fashions), the pebble back and the serge back charmeuse, the uncut velvets, the costume velvets, the crepe meters, the crepe chimes, the embroidered chiffons and the wonderful robes with their gold and burnished and silver ornaments—we might tell much of these fabrics that lift our Silk Section to its commanding eminence. But we would rather see them, their exquisite texture and their colors—among which are these novelties—
- Morning Light
 - Copper
 - Dahlia
 - Corbeau
 - Prune
 - Peacock Blue
 - Tete de Negre

SAY PARTEE SHOT IN SELF-DEFENSE

Witnesses Tell Grand Jury Jackson Killing Was Justified—No Bill Asked for New Lee.

That W. D. Partee, a locomotive engineer, who on July 23 shot and killed Samuel Jackson, another engineer, in the yards of the Georgia Railroad, acted in self-defense was the testimony given before the Fulton County Grand Jury when it met Tuesday morning.

J. W. Hix of Etowah, Tenn., an expert in the shooting, testified that Jackson cursed Partee and then attacked him before the latter drew his weapon and fired the fatal bullet. Other witnesses were J. P. Jordan and B. H. Morris.

Partee had been out on bond. His attorney seeks to have a "no bill" returned by the Grand Jury. The Frank Hix witness and one-time expert in the investigation of the slaying of Mary Phagan, appeared before the Grand Jury at the morning hearing to ask that a "no bill" be returned if the testimony favors that he might be cleared entirely.

CLEMSON LOST ONLY FOUR MEN FROM '12 TEAM

CLEMSON COLLEGE, S. C., Sept. 16.—Why should the Tigers worry? They lost only four men from the regular varsity football team—Captain Britt, Cole, Kanegter and Turville. These were good men, but their places can be filled with a little extra care. There were a number of fine scrubs last season that are back, eager for a chance to make varsity. Fifty odd students were in uniform yesterday. The freshmen report to-day, and it is said that there is much likely material in the bunch.

SPORTING COMMENT

By Ed W. Smith. THE white system of rearing the "white hope" crop is wrong. They start the big burles on their fighting careers too late in life to make them effective. As a result, the white hope is too old when he starts in to learn the rudiments of the boxing game. This is the opinion of George Lawson, one of the foremost of the present day methods of training. Lawson is an active agent at present and never expects to again, all of his time and attention being taken up by members of the Chicago Athletic Association, who the "white hope" class with the glove now and then. But George is a keen fighter just the same and his ideas are sound and true.

RITCHIE CLAIMS VANCOUVER GAME WAS NOT FAIR

Ry W. W. Naughton. SINCERELY, Sept. 16.—Wille Ritchie's incoherent flight from Vancouver is the talk of sportswomen and everyone is wondering what really impelled Ritchie to cut and run. Wille says it was because the promoters did not play fair so far as a division of the money accruing from the advertising privileges is concerned, but Harry Pollok, manager of Freddy Welsh, pool-poos the idea.

Lynch Plasters on Three Big Fines

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16.—President Lynch announced he had fined both Manager Tinker of the Cincinnati club, and Shortstop Manville, of the Boston team, $100 for fighting on the field during the first game of the double-header here last Saturday. Tinker also was suspended three days for using abusive language to Umpire O'Day.

President Granger said that the cars for the drivers were better in the Elgin race, in the disposition of the manufacturers of the best class of racing cars is not to be for the privilege of entering their cars in the Elgin race. The manufacturers have been soured out on the proposition. It is almost a matter of course that the cars will not be done. As already stated, the Savannah club will care to run a hipposome down here.

12 DRAFTS FOR BISLAND, GREAT CRACKER SHORT

Hivingson Bisland, the Cracker's sensational shortstop, was drafted by the St. Louis Americans Monday afternoon at the draft meeting of the major league clubs in Cincinnati.

Twelve big league club owners put in drafts for the "boat infielder in the Southern League" but the Browns outbid the others when the drawing was made.

The following telegram was received by the sporting editor of the Georgian this afternoon:

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 15, 1915. W. S. Farnsworth, Sporting Editor, Georgian, Atlanta, Ga.:

My love, I have twelve drafts in for him, St. Louis Americans get him. BILLY SMITH.

Welchance Comes Back. Manager Smith is attending the session in Cincinnati. He had expected that Bisland would be drafted, as he knew that the Yankees, Browns, Nats, Sox, Cubs and Cardinals had soured here in Atlanta during the last six weeks of the Southern League season looking over the young shortstop.

The loss of Bisland by draft means that Harry Welchance will be with the Cracker's next season. Only one man can be drafted from a club.

Controlman will make good with Pittsburgh this year's team will be back on the job with the exception of Bisland and Aggie. Aggie was bought by Jersey City, but the New York Americans are to get him in the spring.

Deat, Long, Connelton, Holland, Thompson and Love have been covered up. There is a chance that Controlman will make good with Pittsburgh and that Deat may land a permanent berth with Washington.

Still both are young, and Clark Smith likely will send both back to Pittsburgh in the spring.

Bisland was obtained by the Cracker from the Pirates late last spring when he was an understudy of the great Harry Wagner for two seasons, and of course, had no chance to display his worth as long as the big Dutchman was in the game.

He hit right around the 300 mark all season for the Cracker and carried more ground than any infielder in the Southern League.

Red Gleams of Hope at Georgia But Gloom Supplies Black Enough

ATHENS, Sept. 16.—The Georgia football squad, augmented by several new recruits, started its second week of training yesterday by spending the afternoon in the gymnasium, the sun leaping from the clouds. There are no hand-to-hand, with the opening of college only the day and 25 candidates, and the arrival of almost every train boasts a Red and Black grilling match.

Of Course It Had To Be Bizzy—"Big League" Was Written All Over Him PREDICTED DRAFT OF R. BISLAND WILL DESERVED

By O. B. Keeler.
Sitting in Winston Bisland after all of course.
Every time we blarney that but there was the sign "Big League" all over him.

WORKING at it that way what would you think of a ball club management that would actually go to hold a great player in a minor league when he had the chance to play on any one of a dozen big league clubs?
Exactly. Our idea, to a fact. If he had to make any criticism of the Atlanta management in the handling of the Bisland matter, it would be for the reason that only one of the greatest minor league shortstops to go up in recent years, "Corliss" went from Kansas City, Mo., to Boston, and "Billie" Walker from Birmingham to New York.

Charley White Stops Sheridan Can Beat Ritchie, Says Expert

By E. J. Geiger.
CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—If that Charley White person of this city ever gets a chance to trade wallops with Willie Ritchie, and negotiations are now under way, look out, Ritchie. Charley again demonstrated his wonderful ring work when he knocked out Mickey Sheridan in the second round of what was to have been a ten-round go. A left clip to the jaw that traveled no more than four inches brought his heavier opponent down with a crash and it was ring down the curtain.

FODDER FOR FANS

The fight for batting honors in the American League has now developed into a three-cornered one. While Cobb and Jackson, who have been leading for leadership all season, have been in the three of a slump for the past month, Tyra Speaker the lead Sox slugger, has been leading along like a rifle bullet and is now only a few points in the rear.

North Carolina Teams Start Weeding Out

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 16.—With the first games of football only three weeks off the coaches of the four North Carolina institutions whose students participate in the game have begun to weed out the candidates for the first teams.
The season will open at Chapel Hill October 4 with Wake Forest College against the University of North Carolina and in Raleigh on the same day with the men from the United States training ship Franklin lined up against the team from the Agricultural and Mechanical College here.

Jake Stahl Manager Of Semi-Pro Club

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—Jake Stahl, manager of the World's Champions in 1912, will become a semi-pro manager for the second time in his career when he becomes boss of the "Jake Stahl Club," starting next Sunday.
The announcement was issued at last night's meeting of the Inter-city Baseball Association by the present manager, who will turn over the team at next Sunday's game at Peru, Ind. Stahl will play first base for the club from now on, and expects to make it one of the big clubs on the local circuit next year.

Not Much to Story Of Patten Protest; Tech Gets Another

So far as could be learned at Tech headquarters this morning there appears to be nothing to the story emanating from Swansea to the effect that Gene Patten, of Chattanooga, the celebrated prep school halfback, will be declared ineligible to play with Georgia Tech by reason of his having received pay for coaching a high school team at Jasper, Tenn., last year.
Coach Heisman was reticent, having, as he said, not sufficient information to warrant him in referring officially to the charges said to have been made by "Jack" Gilliam and Manager Gass of the Swansea team. Another good prospect arrived yesterday from Chattanooga. Renter, captain and tackle of the University of Chattanooga, a man standing well over six feet and weighing close to 250, is a baseball and basket ball star as well as crack football player.

JONES CHARGE AS POSTMASTER

Intimates Force May Be Reorganized Within Few Months—Negro Carriers May Go.

Declaring that he does not contemplate any immediate changes in the personnel of his force, Postmaster Jones, successor to Hugh L. McKee as postmaster of Atlanta, took office Tuesday morning. Mr. Jones intimated, however, that there might be some change in the working force later, perhaps within a few months. It is generally understood that the new officials' first move toward changing the makeup of his force will be the ousting of the negro letter carriers, as it is known he is opposed to negro holding positions of so much responsibility.

Mr. Jones became formally postmaster with the signing of his orders for the postage stamps and other supplies in the Federal Building, which had been changed to his name. Mr. Jones was ready to take office early Monday afternoon, having furnished his bond and subscribed to the oath earlier in the day. The delay was occasioned by the fact that the "postoffice day" ends at midnight.

Mr. McKee, who retires after three years and six months of service, started Tuesday morning that he expects to remain in private life for at least three years. He has moved his office to the Moore Building, where he plans to engage in the real estate business.

Theatergoers Enjoy Initiation of Oyster Season

Old King Cole was a merry old soul, yet the legend says he became blue. But the opening of the oyster season at the Piedmont Hotel Monday night was of the kind that would have caused the old fellow to boast himself.

While the formal after-theatrical opening did not take place until 10 o'clock, the excitement began at 8 o'clock, when the dinner room was opened for dinner. An orchestra of five women furnished a mixture of the latest rag and melodious classic. At 10 o'clock a shell boat on a cart arrived, and the after-theatrical season was on. The 150 tables in the main dining room filled rapidly.

Assistant Manager Frank Taylor is in charge of the opening and received congratulations on his work.

NABBED AT 4TH TIME FROM CHARGE

Kirkwood Man Is Accused of Swindling Lumber Firm in Several Transactions.

R. F. Mitchell, of Kirkwood, was arrested Tuesday on a warrant sworn out by Robert Anderson, a lumberman of Warrenton, charging fraud in lumber deals. Mitchell was taken to Warrenton by Sheriff W. C. Driskoll of Warren County.

This is the fourth time Mitchell has been taken into custody, it is said. On August 27 Mitchell was arrested and taken to Roberts, Ga. Later he was taken to Somerville, and finally he was arrested, but released upon the failure of the Sheriff of Chatham County to produce him.

According to the charges filed by Anderson, Mitchell has represented himself as W. H. Hughes, a lumber company. Under that name, it is alleged, he has secured large consignments of lumber from Anderson.

When arrested by Detective J. W. Hollingsworth at his home in Kirkwood, Mitchell inquired, pleasantly, where he was being taken.

COTTON GOSSIP

The Kansas bureau places the total supply of cotton for the year ending Aug. 31 at 10,242,212 bales, as compared with 10,100,000 for the year ending Aug. 31, 1921.

The New York Cotton Exchange will open at 12 o'clock, noon, on Monday.

COTTON

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—In the face of large receipts and poor cables, the cotton market opened steadily today, with prices generally lower to 2 hours than yesterday's close. There was a considerable buying at the opening, but it was not enough to hold prices up. It was the fact that cotton was being sold in large quantities and were rather slow selling, that caused a decline in current prices.

Damage reports were quite numerous from the southeast, following the recent storm. There was no agal for cotton, but a few buyers were seen. The market developed a reactionary tendency, but many of the lower-grade cottons were sold. Much of the recent buying has been for speculation and will be thrown back on the market in some changing tendency and a very weak short interest sale. The market acted as though it needed constant support by buyers for the day.

Spot people were the one who sold rather freely and sold in points under the previous close. It was not until 10:30 that the market began to move.

Estimated cotton receipts: 1922 (to date) 1,361,000; 1921 (to date) 1,361,000.

French Philosopher To Teach at Harvard

SPECIAL Cable To The Atlanta Georgian. PARIS, Sept. 16.—M. Emile Boutroux, the noted philosopher, will leave shortly for the United States to teach the new graduate school at Princeton University and later give a course of lectures at Columbia and Harvard.

"I feel very happy at the prospect of returning to the New World," said M. Boutroux. "I am to inaugurate the new graduate school at Princeton, which may be said to be the equivalent of our higher normal schools. The subject of my lectures will be 'Science and Culture.'"

STOCKS

By CHARLES W. STORM. NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—There was a renewal of buying at the opening of the market today and American Copper and Canadian Pacific made most of a point on first sales. There was usually heavy trading in all the active issues and a brief demand was shown for leading United States Steel common and Union Pacific.

St. Paul was firm and made a fractional gain at the opening of the market. The market was generally better.

Enthusiasm Is Running High In Pedalmobile Contest

"Ge, ain't it a peach! Couldn't I speed some if I had one of them! How many are you going to give away, Mister?" These are some of the remarks to be heard around "The Georgian Flyer" where the big red "Georgian Flyer" is on exhibition—the one just like The Hearst's Sunday American and Atlanta Georgian will give to each boy and girl who secures forty new subscriptions to the paper before October 1.

There are many earnest workers and the subscriptions are coming fast. It would only be a wild guess now to say who will win the first fifteen cars and receive the Charter Membership Certificates to the Atlanta Pedalmobile Racing Club. These Certificates will entitle the holder to compete in any or all races and events to be held in the near future.

Pedalmobile Clubs are to be found in many of the large cities, having been promoted by some of the largest and best newspapers in the country. This sort of sport may be new in Atlanta, but in many particulars the Pedalmobile races are to the children what the Auto races are to the grown-ups. In fact, they are handled a good deal on the same order and are interesting to the parents as well as the children.

These little machines are not to be confined to pleasure alone, but can be put to good use in many different ways. In some cities carrier boys who have won Pedalmobiles may be seen distributing their papers in them. All these cars are well-made and serviceable and will surely gladden the heart of any boy or girl who is fortunate enough to win one.

These cars are now on exhibition in the window of O. C. Polk Dry Goods Store, 29 South Gordon Street; South Pryor Ice Cream Parlor, 353 South Pryor Street, and Imperial Tire and Tube Company, 349 Peachtree Street. While attending the Odd-ends Sale at Polk's Dry Goods Company, be sure to notice the "Georgian Flyer" in the window.

OUTSIDE WORKERS. A number of boys and girls outside of the city of Atlanta have sent in their application blanks and are now working earnestly to obtain one of the handsome little cars. The Pedalmobile man will be glad to send subscription blanks to more honest hustlers who would like to own a Pedalmobile.

Just fill out the application blank below and full particulars will be mailed you at once.

Ladies and Gentlemen--Meet Mr. New Tariff

You Will See and Hear a Good Deal of Your New Friend as Time Passes, and the Better You Know Him the More You Will Like Him--Perhaps.

We have a new tariff law. Just passed by the Senate. President Wilson says the people have won a fight that has lasted 'a long generation'.

A little later the people AND President Wilson will know more about the results of the new tariff. It may be found that there was something after all in the old theory that it is good 'to keep the money in the family' and let work FOR AMERICANS be done BY AMERICANS, rather than invite competition from abroad.

Many possibilities--some of them unpleasant--reside in this tariff bill passed so gallantly by Mr. Wilson of Princeton and by Democrats of large confidence and small experience.

Foss of Massachusetts, elected as a Democrat, has gone back to the Republican party. That is NOTHING.

He has moved his great factory from the United States to Canada. THAT IS SOMETHING.

The work that American citizens did here in the United States will get to be done by Canadians in Canada. They will get the work and the wages--and we in the United States will pay the bills.

Under this new tariff manufacturers MAY be forced to sell their goods cheaper. And they MAY do so without actually losing money. Let us hope so.

If they lose they will stop manufacturing, or, like Foss, send their factories to a country where labor is cheaper, where money can be borrowed more cheaply, where rents are lower--and they'll bring the goods to sell here.

Hundreds of millions of American money that USED to stay here will go out of the country under the new tariff. We may feel the need of that later.

They will come from abroad and sell some things more cheaply. That will be very nice--cheap shopping is a delight--IF YOU HAVE THE MONEY WITH WHICH TO SHOP.

But for all work done abroad some one must lose his job here. And losing your job is NOT delightful.

And we may see in office a little later some individual capable of checking the stealing trusts without driving work and money out of this country. Let's hope so.

Hitting workmen on the head with a club is surely not the ONLY possible method of discouraging the trusts.

They say a low tariff, or free trade, will discourage trusts. Possibly that is so.

If you take the tariff off steel, wool, etc., you may discourage the steel and wool trusts, and so on.

Those discouraged trusts as a first step shut down their plants and discharge men.

Might it not have been possible to discourage trust sending WITHOUT sending American work abroad--and thereby American dollars with it to pay foreigners for the work?

We are going to see new developments in industry and new political changes when this gay tariff gets to work.

Stars Whose Distances We Know

Facts About Our Astral Neighbors as Discovered by Continued Study of Our Astronomers.

By EDGAR LUCIEN LARKIN

Q. WILL you kindly give a list of all the stars whose distances have been determined (about 65) together with their distances and times for the transmission of light therefrom?

neighbor our sun has 175,000 times more distance than the sun, or in round numbers, 36 trillion miles, now used as a yardstick to measure stars vastly more distant.

Go into space deep to the nearest star, take along the great telescope from our here, turn around and look back toward the sun and earth. Of course, the earth would be invisible. Then the distance from the earth to the star, 25,383,000 miles, would be just around the three-quarters of an inch on the Mercator Work.

Help of Photography. This forty or fifty stellar distances were measured under extreme difficulty. Then came photography. The entire celestial vault was photographed on 25,875 plates on the same scale. Millions upon millions of minute dots, all images of stars, came were developed on the negatives. These excessively minute dots can be measured over and over in high power microscopes.

Dr. Charles F. Aked

Writes on 'THE MISSION PLAY'

And the Enthusiasm It Arouses. Father Junipero Serra in 1913.

By DR. CHARLES F. AKED

Written for The Atlanta Georgian.

It is greatly to the credit of the proprietors of the Columbia Theater, San Francisco, that they ventured to offer to the thespians the "Mission Play"...

The dating which produced the piece, the crowded house, the profuse enjoyment of it in all parts, are significant. These things are immensely encouraging. They justify our belief in the essential rightness of our common human nature.

The very good to the Indians wrong--the children, not squares before them. One remembers with more than a thrill of satisfaction that the best plays draw the biggest crowds.

The "Passing of the Third Floor Back," and Maude Adams in "Chatterbox," and a dozen other good and great performances during the last year or two, and the vast crowds which they commanded demonstrate that there is no need of theater managers to wallow in unpleasantry. They can make money while they are making men and women happier and better.

It is the same all over America. In the big cities and in smaller places, experience has shown that the exploitation of female immorality is not essential to a dramatic success. One feels a deeper joy in the play which has the best things to say.

At the Columbia theater became a church; the audience is the congregation; the performance is a sacred thing. And the best of all is that the people are delighted by it.

The "Mission Play" tells the story of the planting of the missions to the Indians of California 156 years ago. The heroic figure of Father Junipero Serra lives again. He has been some time on California soil when the play opens, but with simple art we are made to understand that he was in his Old-World home. Professor In a famous university, with the instincts of a scholar, a doctor of divinity, a powerful and eloquent preacher, the missionary spirit...

THE "Mission Play" is steeped in poetry. It is not only its phrases, "sweet voices," "sun-kissed hills," "roses save and the wind used simply, naturally, sincerely, without artificializing or bombast. It is the spirit which pervades it all. Ladies and Gentlemen--Meet Mr. New Tariff.

You Will See and Hear a Good Deal of Your New Friend as Time Passes. He is a Good Fellow and You Will Like Him--Perhaps.

We have a new tariff law. Just passed by the Senate. President Wilson says the people have won a fight that has lasted "a long generation."

Maybe they have. The frogs won a long, prayerful fight when they persuaded Jupiter to send them a stork for king, in place of the peaceful wolf.

A little later the people AND President Wilson will know more about the results of the new tariff. It may be found that there was something after all in the old theory that it is good "to keep the money in the family" and let work FOR Americans be done BY Americans, rather than invite competition from abroad.

Many possibilities--some of them unpleasant--reside in this tariff bill passed so gallantly by Mr. Wilson of Princeton and by Democrats of large confidence and small experience.

The one certain result of a lower tariff is this: MORE AMERICAN MONEY WILL GO ABROAD AND MORE WORK FOR AMERICANS WILL BE DONE ABROAD.

Not even the ingenious mind of Professor Wilson can get away from that fact.

Poss of Massachusetts, elected as a Democrat, has gone back to the Republican party. That is NOTHING.

He has moved his great factory from the United States to Canada. THAT IS SOMETHING.

The work that American citizens did here in the United States for Foss will be done by Canadians in Canada. They will get the work and the wages--and we in the United States will pay the bills.

Think that over! Under this new tariff manufacturers MAY be forced to sell us goods cheaper. And they MAY do this without actually losing money. Let us hope so.

If they lose they will stop manufacturing, or, like Foss, send their factories to a country where labor is cheaper, where money can be borrowed more cheaply, where rents are lower--and they'll bring the goods to sell here.

Hundreds of millions of American money that USED to stay here will go out of the country under the new tariff. We may feel the need of that later.

Merchants will be able to sell some things more cheaply. They will come from abroad and be the product of labor that costs less or of cheaper foreign conditions. That will be very nice--cheap shopping is a delight--IF YOU HAVE THE MONEY WITH WHICH TO SHOP.

But for all work done abroad some one must lose his job here. And losing your job is NOT delightful.

And we may see in office a little later some individual capable of checking the stealing trusts without driving work and money out of this country. Let's hope so.

Hitting workmen on the head with a club is surely not the ONLY possible method of discouraging the trusts.

They say a low tariff, or free trade, will discourage trusts. Possibly that is so.

If you take the tariff off steel, wool, etc., you may discourage the steel and wool trusts, and so on.

But when you do that, what happens?

Those discouraged trusts as a first step shut down their plants and discharge men.

Might it not have been possible to discourage trust thievery WITHOUT sending American work abroad--and sending American dollars with it to pay foreigners for the work?

We are going to see new developments in industry and new political changes when this gay tariff gets to work.

A TRAFFIC SUGGESTION.

Editor Atlanta Georgian: To relieve the ever-increasing congestion of auto travel in the business center of the city, and to check the constantly increasing danger incident thereto, I have some suggestions to offer that I believe worthy of consideration by the city authorities, to wit:

Require all autos going south on Peachtree, when they reach the intersection of Peachtree, Peachtree and Pryor streets in front of the Grand Opera House, to proceed down Peachtree or down Peachtree to the junction of Peachtree and Pryor streets and turn south on Pryor or on Peachtree beyond Broad.

Require all northbound autos from the central or western sections of the city to use Peachtree or Pryor streets and turn south on Pryor or on Peachtree beyond Broad.

Prohibit the parking of autos on that side of Peachtree, Pryor or Peachtree streets which they are permitted to park on on Peachtree beyond Broad.

Require all autos crossing any of these streets except at named intersections to be accompanied by a traffic officer.

Require all autos crossing any of these streets except at named intersections to be accompanied by a traffic officer.

Require all autos crossing any of these streets except at named intersections to be accompanied by a traffic officer.

Require all autos crossing any of these streets except at named intersections to be accompanied by a traffic officer.

Require all autos crossing any of these streets except at named intersections to be accompanied by a traffic officer.

Require all autos crossing any of these streets except at named intersections to be accompanied by a traffic officer.

short track between the Grand Opera House and the railroad Hotel and autos will only find it necessary to be on the alert for pedestrians at popular street crossings.

I firmly believe, if an ordinance be adopted embodying these suggestions, autos will find their movements expedited, and pedestrians will find the dangers which they now encounter hourly, greatly diminished.

Yours truly, R. L. MARTIN, Editor Atlanta Georgian.

KEEP MISSIONARIES AT HOME.

In answer to your editorial on "Keep Missionaries at Home," I gathered from what you wrote that you desired a few suggestions on the subject.

I am sure that the States still sending missionaries to China and other foreign countries and to a little missionary work at home.

If the United States would devote its money to the support of its own people, it would do much better as a whole.

It is not going to do this she wants to appear as a philanthropic country, and she is doing it, but at the sacrifice of her own people.

Stars Whose Distances We Know

Facts About Our Astral Neighbors as Discovered by Continued Study of Our Astronomers.

By EDGAR LUCIEN LARKIN

Q. WILL you kindly give a list of all the stars whose distances have been determined (about 45, together with their distances and times for the transmission of light therefrom)?

A. The list is no longer 45 or 50 stars whose distances are thought to be known with any degree of accuracy. Modern celestial photography has brought the list down to 17, whose parallaxes are greater than one-thirtieth of an arc-second.

The word parallax must first be explained. A circle contains 1,296,000 seconds, 21,600 minutes or 360 degrees. Go out to a flat plain from an observation post, such as trees and houses, and draw an accurate circle whose circumference is its length 1,296,000 inches, thus on 1.2 miles. Make marks one inch apart, then each division will be one second of arc. Then stand in the center of this circle and the divisions could not be seen without a powerful telescope.

To insure space to the nearest star, take along the great telescope from up here turn around and look back toward the sun and earth. Of course, the earth would be invisible. Then the distance from the earth to the sun, 92,832,000 miles, would be just equal to three-quarters of an inch on the circle.

Heranlen Work. The distances from the earth to stars as seen from any star expressed in seconds of arc is called the parallax of the given star. From the parallax of the given star, by the cosine, distant 21.4 miles try to measure with a surveyor's instrument 3-4, 1-2, 1-4, 1-8, 1-16, 1-32 of a division on the distant circle, with accuracy; then the fact would be less than the heranlen work of astronomers since the invention of the telescope in A. D. 1610.

No two surveyors could agree in their measures of these minute angles; but to measure the distance from the earth to even the nearest stars, and nearest star clusters, and nebulae, and require this delicate measurement of light therefrom.

Finally after 2.4 centuries of increased accuracy in instruments, and of arduous labor, they found that a star, Alpha Centauri, had a parallax, a displacement in space due to the annual motion of the earth, of 3.4 second, or 3.4 inch on our circle on the plain. Then by simple rules of trigonometry it was at once found that this nearest neighbor our sun has is 276,200 times more distant than the sun, or, in round numbers, 26 trillion miles, now used as a yardstick to measure stars vastly more distant.

Help of Photography. Thus forty or fifty stellar distances were measured under extreme difficulty. Then came photography. The entire celestial vault was photographed on 25,878 plates on the same scale. Millions upon millions of minute dots, all images of stars--some were developed on the negatives. These excessively minute dots can be measured over and over in high power microscopes.

From many measures it was found that no high degree of accuracy had been secured by former methods of parallaxes of stars of less than 1.6 second, or 1.6 inch on the circle on the plain.

How a table of stars whose parallaxes have been obtained by the photographic method of more than 1.6 second. All others are less, some far less and are beset with errors, and are considered tentative only. But they nearly all reveal that these stars are farther away than at first determined.

Writes on THE MISSION PLAY

And the Enthusiasm It Arouses. Father Junipero Serra in 1913.

By DR. CHARLES F. AKED

Written for The Atlanta Georgian.

IT is greatly to the credit of the proprietors of the Columbia Theater, San Francisco, that they ventured to offer to the theater-going public the "Mission Play." This pageant-play is sweet and pure and charming--and deeply religious. It is greatly to the credit of the theater-going public of San Francisco that on the opening night a crowded house received the play with unanimous approval and fine enthusiasm.

The daring which produced the piece, the crowded house, the profound enjoyment of it in all its parts, are significant. These things are immensely encouraging. They justify our belief in the essential richness of our common human nature. They stimulate every movement directed toward the elevation of taste and the improvement of character. They lend fire and wings to our conviction that the great majority of men and women at the present time would rather have the good than the bad, rather do the right than the wrong--the choice put squarely before them. One remembers with more than a thrill of satisfaction that the best plays are the smaller, more crowded, more intimate.

"The Passing of the Third Floor Back," and "Mardi Adams in Chinatown," and a dozen other good and great performances during the last year or two, and the vast crowds which have commanded them, demonstrate that there is no need for theater managers to wallow in unpleasantness. They can make the wrong while they are making men and women happier and better.

It is the same all over America. In the cities and smaller places experience has shown that the exploitation of female immorality is not essential to a dramatic effect. The fewer the people living in a city, the more the people who see that the best things pay best.

At the Columbia the theater becomes a church, the audience is the congregation, the performance is a sacred thing. And the best of all is that the people are delighted by it.

The "Mission Play" tells the story of the planting of the missions to the Indians of California 160 years ago. The heroic figure of Father Junipero Serra lives again. He has been some time on California soil, when the play opens, but with simple art we are made to understand that he was in his Old-World home, Professor in a famous university, with the instincts of a scholar, a doctor of divinity, a powerful and eloquent preacher.

The record of his consecration unfolds in picture and in pageant. Mr. Osborne's conception of the great part is better. The highest praise must be accorded to his work. It could not be better done.

From San Diego in the south to San Francisco in the north, over 600 miles of mountain and desert traveled only by red men, Junipero and his colleagues made their way. Along El Camino Real they planted their missions. First of the idealists of the Golden State, we retrace to its birth the path of the cross which they planted. It is the path of the cross which they planted. It is the path of the cross which they planted. It is the path of the cross which they planted.

It might be thought that a question would arise in the minds of devout Christian people, and more especially, perhaps, in the minds of members of the Catholic Church as to the propriety of bringing upon the stage the rites of the cross, the rite of baptism and the passionate prayers of heroes.

I can only say that it was all so beautiful, and so real, and it was done in such exquisite taste, that I do not believe there was a man in the place who found irreverence in it.

A disputable point is reached in the third act, which, by the way, is the least impressive part of the play. Here we have the mission in their truth. And this part of the play, here we have the mission in their truth. And this part of the play, here we have the mission in their truth.

At least a protest against the Mexican policy which laid them waste. There is another side of the mission. The author is quite within his right in presenting his view of this chapter of California history. But is it the right view? There certainly is another.

The colonization of California, the historian tells us, was very slow.

To quote from Eldridge's important work, published last year, in 1790 the entire population, not counting aborigines, was but 368. It is a fair question: Why was it that in a country so blessed as California with a fertile soil, an agreeable climate, and all the conditions that go to make life easy and comfortable, the efforts to colonize it should meet with such difficulty? The author of the "Mission Play" might not admit the answer, but it is not the true one. The missions had become possessed of enormous wealth, it is true, but it was not the interest of the mission to promote colonization.

The wrong done to the Indians by the secularization of the missions, instead upon its place with dramatic incisiveness. The dramatist does not secure the Indians in a condition of penance from the day of each results were bound in due course to follow. The missions had not fitted them, had not tried to fit them, for any other than a dependent position.

And so a broad view of the opinion of another historian, declared to be unjustified. They can make the wrong while they are making men and women happier and better.

To secure lands for the farming purposes it was, in former years, necessary to get the writer eye of the government. The writer eye of the government. The writer eye of the government. The writer eye of the government.

On the Summer Trail

By LILIAN LAUFERTY

BLUE her eyes as Summer sea, that gleams and smiles for me; And life and love and all that's fair, caught in eyes and golden hair.

Love like ours will never pass, little dimpled Juniper lass; Eyes, dear love, I am your faith, worshiper and slave in all--Hark, I heard a siren call!

Summer days too rare to last--sweeter, fairer she who passed, And my heart beats gallop to her when she bids me halt.

Then my wayward heart strikes out on the new found trail, Gray her eyes as twilight sea, sweet her looks as Araby!

When her heart beats gallop to my own, love like this I've never known, Warm and red glowing moon, burning spirit of the South.

Eyes, dear love, I am your faith, worshiper and slave in all--See who passes linelessly!

Summer hours too rare to last--sweeter, fairer she who passed, And my heart beats gallop to her when she bids me halt.

Then my wayward heart strikes out on the new found trail, Gray her eyes as twilight sea, sweet her looks as Araby!

Friendly Advice to Mayor Woodward and Rev. Lincoln McConnell

Stop the Sensational Controversy Over a Very Unfortunate Young Woman.

The Georgian politely requests Mayor Woodward and Rev. Lincoln McConnell to end the sensational controversy they are now engaged in over a very unfortunate young woman—unfortunate because she has been the victim of undue and undesired publicity.

AS A MATTER OF FACT, THE POLICE CHARGE AGAINST HER WAS NOT SUSTAINED! JUDGE BROYLES DISCHARGED HER! SHE WAS NOT GUILTY, BUT SHE HAD BEEN TERRIBLY HUMILIATED!

The Georgian offers the above suggestion in all friendliness, because we believe it is not part of the duties of a newspaper to set itself up as a court to try cases and pronounce sentence on men and women.

The Georgian has the utmost respect for the new pastor of the Tabernacle. We wish him the largest measure of success. This newspaper will help him in every way possible to bring about his largest field to work in.

One of the most important duties of the pulpit is to throw its protection around those who need it. The never-to-be-changed law of the Divine Teacher is to help the helpless, start them on a new and higher path, with the admonition, "Go, and sin no more."

Mayor Woodward is, always has been, and probably always will be the stormy petrel in Atlanta's public affairs. He occupies the highest office in the gift of the people of this city.

It is the duty of the courts to rectify these mistakes promptly and decisively, instead of permitting them to lapse, so that letter-writers and would-be orators may dispose of them in their own peculiar and sensational way.

The duties of policemen are clearly defined. Few policemen know what these duties are. The liberties guaranteed to citizens under the Constitution are also clearly defined.

It is the duty of the judges of our courts, when these cases are brought to their attention, to define the law clearly, show the errors of the police and explain the rights of citizens.

We appeal to Mayor Woodward and Rev. Lincoln McConnell to put an end to their unfortunate controversy.

Nothing is to be gained by pursuing it further. Atlanta has suffered too long from senseless quarrels and squabbles about trivialities, which lead other cities to believe Atlanta to be a veritable paradise when as a matter of fact, Atlanta is going forward by leaps and bounds, in good, progressive civic work.

Ladies and Gentlemen---Meet Mr. New Tariff

You Will See and Hear a Good Deal of Your New Friend as Time Passes, and Better You Know Him the More You Will Like Him---Perhaps.

We have a new tariff law. Just passed by the Senate. President Wilson says the people have won a fight that has lasted "a long generation."

Maybe they have. The frogs won a long, prayerful fight when they persuaded Jupiter to send them a stork for king, in place of the peaceful loon.

A little later the people AND President Wilson will know more about the results of the new tariff. It may be found that there was something after all in the old theory that it is good "to keep the money in the family" and let work FOR Americans be done BY Americans, rather than invite competition from abroad.

Many possibilities—some of them unpleasant—reside in this tariff bill passed so gallantly by Mr. Wilson of Princeton and by Democrats of large confidence and small experience.

The one certain result of a lower tariff is this: MORE AMERICAN MONEY WILL GO ABROAD AND MORE WORK FOR AMERICANS WILL BE DONE ABROAD.

Not even the ingenious mind of Professor Wilson can get away from that fact.

Foss of Massachusetts, elected as a Democrat, has gone back to the Republican party. That is NOTHING.

He has moved his great factory from the United States to Canada. THAT IS SOMETHING.

The work that American citizens did here in the United States for Foss will be done by Canadians in Canada. They will get the work and the wages—and we in the United States will pay the bills.

Think that over! Under this new tariff manufacturers MAY be forced to sell us goods cheaper. And they MAY do this without actually losing money. Let us hope so.

If they lose they will stop manufacturing, or, like Foss, send their factories to a country where labor is cheaper, where money can be borrowed more cheaply, where rents are lower—and they'll bring the goods to sell here.

Hundreds of millions of American money that USED to stay here will go to other countries. Con't read in Last Column.
