Smoke Creeping From Basement Boiler Spreads Alarm—Band Keeps Cool.

The strains of "Dixie" played by Jake Matheson's band which threatened to be a serious picnic in the Forsyth Thursday afternoon, when a big machine coughed of gassy-dressed women took alarm at smoke creeping in from the cellar of the building.

There was no occasion for fear, as the smoke was simply from soot in a small boiler in the basement. The smoke crept into the theater through the ventilating system and there were murmurs of alarm.

Here and there a nervous woman arose and started out, and a general exodus was threatened as the murmur of dismay increased, holding up the action of the dramatic playlet in progress at the moment.

Mr. Matheson kept his presence of mind admirably and struck up "Dixie" as Manager Hugh Cardon ascended the stage with reassuring words.

Miss Hermione Shone, seated in the flowing robe in which she erroneously chokes the bell in the prison tower, and Miss Louise Wynn, joined in the appeal to the audience and quiet was soon restored.

Theater attaches stifled the smoke in the furnace. It was said that in testing the furnace arrangements a mistake had been made and the heat allowed entrance into the wrong chamber. The mistake was corrected with ease and the performance in the Forsyth proceeded.

Personal Encounter in Tennessee House Follows Demand for Arrest of Fair.

NASHVILLE, Sept. 25.—After a stormy two-hour session the lower House of the Tennessee General Assembly adjourned at 1:30, deferring action on Representative Bejek's motion to have arrested men in the Capitol brought before the House will be acted upon.

In making this motion Mr. Bejek charged that Governor Hooper had appointed these gunmen as deputy fire marshals and game wardens so that they would be immune from arrest for carrying weapons.

Representative Bejek's motion was to have John Yeaman and John Garret and others arrested before the bar of the House and imprisoned because of their alleged leadership in the rioting Wednesday afternoon when gun men were turned on regular Democratic members.

During his remarks Representative Bejek narrowly missed a personal encounter with Representative Parke Smith, Knox County. Smith made a rush on Bejek, who is small of stature and it took the combined efforts of the sergeant-at-arms and a number of fusion members to restrain Smith.

When the House convened shortly before noon Speaker Stanton ordered the floor and galleries cleared and appointed a committee to search all cloakrooms for arms.

The Speaker stationed guards at all doors entrance. The floor was in an uproar, while in the corridor the angry crowd threatened to rush the floor.

Police on Guard

Every policeman on the Nashville force was sent to Capitol Hill before 11 o'clock to guard against rioters in the House. Mayor Hoover appeared personally in charge of the policemen. He said if rioting broke out that the police could not handle it would call on the Governor for troops to prevent bloodshed.

A killing was narrowly averted yesterday when Speaker Stanton narrowly addressed the House because he feared someone would shoot from the gallery into the crowd of Legislators discussing measures for the enforcement of prohibition laws. His own men must his own life.

Gun Trained on Speaker

Several men trained their revolvers on the speaker's stand. He was escorted from the chamber and after the adjournment Representative A. L. Todd addressed the members of the House and the men in the gallery, urging that peace be maintained.

Speaker Stanton today issued a statement in which he explained his action in adjourning the House while rioting broke out. He said: "I know I had been told that members of the House were on the floor armed. The House was in the wildest turmoil and disorder. In the midst of this confusion, I received a report that a man in a threatening manner, while near them, with a gun drawn, were about to assault a member named Carter."

"These two men were near Phillips, where they could pick me or anyone else off. Feeling that my life was in danger, I adjourned the House, as any proceeding other would have done."

PLAY REVEALED FOR SUZZER INDICTMENT

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Members of the Court of Appeals today came to an open break on a vitally important question, bearing not only the fate of the determination of the government's counsel practices, but also a sensational report, in which it is alleged that the Democratic leaders, of which Patrick E. McCarry, are preparing to push a criminal indictment in this county against Governor Sulzer. The indictment is alleged to have been personally conducted by the attorney in chief of the state.

The Grand Jury will assemble October 6, and it became known today that plans already had been made for the beginning of today's session of the court to report the damage done by the prosecution yesterday by the testimony of Joseph H. Schiff and Henry Morgenthau.

The managers were disappointed at the ease with which Isidor Kresel let the banker slip away with his Sulzer testimony.

Sulzer was free to use the $2500 given him by Joseph H. Schiff as his own, but in any way he will be held liable for the damage done by the prosecution yesterday by the testimony of Joseph H. Schiff and Henry Morgenthau.

A jury call was sent for the return of Joseph H. Schiff. The plan is to bring his testimony before the Grand Jury under the fire of John H. Stanchfield.

NASHVILLE, Sept. 25.—After a stormy two-hour session the Tennessee General Assembly adjourned at 1:30, following the arrest of two members.

It was in making this motion Mr. DeLoach charged that 42 member Hooper had appointed these gunmen as deputy fire marshals and game wardens so that they would be immune from arrest for carrying weapons.

Representative DeLoach's motion was to have John Yeaman and John Carrett arrested and tried before the bar of the House and imprisoned for life.

During his remarks Representative DeLoach declared that the two members had appointed these gunmen as deputy fire marshals and game wardens so that they would be immune from arrest for carrying weapons.

When the House convened shortly before noon Speaker Stanton ordered the floor and galleries cleared and appointed a committee to search for the Speaker's chamber. The locks were found broken in an upstairs room, while in the corridor the angry crowd threatened to rush the doors.

Police on Guard.

Every policeman on the Nashville force was sent to Capitol Hill before 11 o'clock to guard against violence.

In the House Mayor Hooper appeared personally in charge of the policemen. He said if rioting broke out that the police could not handle it would call on the Governor for troops to prevent bloodshed.

A killing was narrowly averted because Speaker Stanton abruptly adjourned the House because he feared someone would shoot from the gallery into the crowd of legislators discussing measures for the enforcement of prohibition laws.

Gun Trained on Speaker.

Several men trained their revolvers on the speaker's stand. He was escorted from the chamber and after the adjournment Representative A. DeLoach addressed the members of the House and the men in the gallery.

Speaker Stanton to-day issued an statement in which he explained his action following the House which was fired at during the session.

"I knew I had been told that members of the House were on the floor armed. The House was in the wildest turmoil and disorder. In the gallery to my right there were pistol-wielding guards while near them, with guns drawn, were John Yeaman and a man named Garret."

"These two men were per pillars, aware they could give me or anyone else off. Feeling that men's lives were in danger, I adjourned the House, as every gentleman should have done."

DEATH BLOW TO 'RINGS' MAYOR'S COMMENT ON RESULTS OF ELECTION

With the so-called citizens committee charter killed in the special election, the surprising development was announced Thursday that the initiative, referendum and recall have become a part of Atlanta's system of government by a comfortable majority.

In spite of published announcements to the contrary, this radical reform according to City Attorney James Mayson, is incorporated in the charter along with the provision curtailing the power of the recorder despite the defeat of the main provisions of the substitute charter.

In the opinion of many observers it is the most radical step forward in popular government Atlanta has taken in many years. It gives the people the power to initiate any laws they wish, to have any bad law referred to them, and to recall officials who have proved unworthy.

Charles T. Hopkins, one of the leaders in the movement for genuine charter reform, was inclined to think that the defeat of the main amendments defeated the initiative and referendum and the recorder's court provisions irrespective of the vote upon them. There seemed to be a well defined split in opinions upon the meaning of the election.

The action of the voters yesterday in adopting these measures that have become so popular in many of the Western States marks the entrance of this reform into Georgia government.

Mayor Woodward declared that the defeat of the substitute charter was a death blow to "ring" rule in Atlanta politics. He took his regular stand on the street at five o'clock in front of a clear story early Thursday and to his many questioners who came up to congratulate him he announced he would issue a formal statement later in the day interpreting the significance of the election.

Means End of 'Ring,' He Says. "It means the end of that little crowd of Councilmen who refused to allow the people to vote on genuine charter reform last spring," he said. "No one can interpret that election as anything but a demand for real charter reforms. The change is bound to come and with it that little 'ring' that has been trying to dominate every phase of politics here will disappear from the face of Atlanta.

The people have thoroughly repudiated them. The passage of the initiative, referendum and recall was the hour of fate for the majority party in Council who were supporting the new charter. The reform had been long expected by a large number of the people.

New Acts Effective January 1. The reduction of the Recorder's power was accomplished by a majority of 290 votes. Under the old charter he had the right to impose stockade sentences of 60 days and fines of $500. The new provisions limit his maximum fine to $200 and stockade sentences to 30 days.

These two acts go into effect January 1. It was expected that there would be a light vote Wednesday, but the fact that only 2,700 ballots were cast was a surprise to leaders of both factions. The election managers allowed only 2,831 votes to count in 15 wards being improperly marked.

After the noon hour charter adoption admitted privately that the document would be defeated. But they would not admit the adverse vote on it to the latter fight made up by Woodward.

"We educated the people so well against a new charter during the last two commission government agitators that they are afraid of any new charter," said Alderman James R. Nutting. "They would have voted against commission government were they not so misled as they did against the new charter."

No Credit Given Attacks. "Mayor Woodward's charges that a 'ring' has had little to do with the voting, I don't believe the intelligent people of Atlanta take that charge seriously."

"There is very real significance in the election of Wednesday, it is that the people of Atlanta are satisfied with the present form of government. They don't want any sort of a new charter. The very vital vote proved that."

Though political generally are greatly disappointed by the result of the election, they are not discouraged.

difference if I turn him loose and let this habeas corpus for I do not care to be arrested in half a minute," said Judge Day.

Bailiff Serves Warrant.
"Chief of Detectives Landford walked over to Denton and said, 'Come on, we will go on over to the justice court,' then turned and walked to the end of the courtroom. Mrs. Bertha Elliot was seated. After talking with her a moment they left the courtroom and went to Justice O'Grady's court, where the warrant against Denton, charging him with kidnaping Elsie Elliot, was served on him. Denton remained by the side of his lawyer until after the order granting him his release was read. City Attorney Maxson and Chief Deavers, started from the courtroom and Thomas approached them.

"Chief, we are ready to go where you want us to," said Thomas. "I have nothing to do with it," replied the chief.

"Well, you know where you can find us when you want to," said Thomas and Denton walked up Pryor street to the Equitable Building. Just before reaching there a bailiff from Justice O'Grady's court overtook them and served the warrant upon Denton.

Denton Denies Guilt.
Denton continued to deny his guilt after the warrant had been served upon him. "I don't know a thing about this case, and they haven't got a thing against me," he declared. "I would just hurry up and bring it to a trial."

Denton was arrested Tuesday after he returned from Birmingham, where he was charged. He had taken his belongings to Birmingham and had been talking with the girls on the train and dining with them in Birmingham, but denies that he knew they were going to make the trip, or that he saw them later than a few minutes after their arrival in Birmingham. Denton has offices in the Chamber Building. He is 37 years old and recently was sued for divorce by his wife.

HENRY W. GRADY.

Forty Atlanta Live Wires Invade Alabama Metropolis, Returning a Visit.

With the avowed intention of spreading the "Atlanta spirit" from the iron mines to the steel furnaces, and with their suit cases filled with souvenirs of Gate City greatness, 40 members of the Atlanta Rotary club left at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning on their annual invasion of Birmingham.

They will be the guests of the Birmingham Rotaries until midnight to-night, when they will embark on the homeward trip. The Atlantaers were met at the Birmingham depot by a delegation of welcoming Atlantans, and also by eight members of the Atlanta club headed by W. S. Lombberry, who went to Birmingham Tuesday. Those already there declare they went yesterday as they might feel the pulse of Birmingham and prepare the Atlantans for the coming of a live bunch; the 40 left, proclaiming that Mr. Lombberry and his crowd went Tuesday because reduced rates were sold on that day. It was intimated by some of the 40 explorers that a surprise was in store for the eight members of the advance guard as well as the Birminghamers. The Atlanta club members were headed by President Robert Anderson, with Secretary Howard Gooden and Vice President Henry Grady, and Ben Lee Crew well up in the forefront. WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Because Ty Cobb, the Georgia ball player, was allowed to invade the Treasury vaults on his visit here, with the Detroit team recently, and to write his name along the edge of a sheet of notes of the Lavinia (C) Bank, of which he is a director, Acting Comptroller of the Currency Kane has issued an order forbidding the entrance of any outsiders to vaults containing National bank notes. W. R. TAYLOR IS ARRESTED AS SWINDLER

William R. Taylor, vice president of the General American Life and Annuity Company, of which Pope Brown, Georgia statesman and annuity candidate for Governor, was the head, was taken into custody Wednesday on a warrant sworn out by E. J. Vickers, of Ocala, Fla., a stockholder in the company, charging fraud. Taylor, at police headquarters, declared that the charge was without foundation. He will be taken to Ocala Wednesday night, where he said, he would make bond and return to Atlanta.

According to Taylor Vickers subscribed to $2,500 worth of stock in the company when it was organized in 1910. The company proposed to do an insurance business in the South, and while it maintained offices at McLeansville, Ala., also had an office at 300 Fourth Street, Atlanta, of which Taylor was in charge. About a month ago the company failed, Taylor stated, because of lack of business in the South, and while it maintained offices at McLeansville, Ala., also had an office at 300 Fourth Street, Atlanta, of which Taylor was in charge.

About a month ago the company failed, Taylor stated, because of lack of business in the South, and while it maintained offices at McLeansville, Ala., also had an office at 300 Fourth Street, Atlanta, of which Taylor was in charge.

Vickers' warrant charging theft and swindling named Taylor because Taylor had made the "war" of this warrant because it was the organizer. "I will produce the books of the American Life and Annuity," said Vickers, "but he has not cleared out of my money, and that the company was simply a poor investment."

"Of course, Pope Brown was the president of the organization, but I am made the 'war' of this warrant because I was the organizer. In charge, however, is without foundation. Taylor is 31 years old and lives at No. 22 Greenwood avenue.

PROBE OF DEATH OF CATCHINGS LED BY SISTER

Family of Former Atlantan Found Dead in Florida Surf, Unable to Solve Mystery

Members of the family of Frederick N. Catchings, the electrical engineer whose mutilated body was found floating in the surf off Mayport, Fla., Sunday afternoon, were unable to throw any light on the mystery when questioned at their home, 357 Capitol Avenue, Thursday.

The theory of robbery was scouted and the opinion was advanced that possibly the mutilation of Catchings' body was due to the beating of the waves.

Joel Mann Martin, Southern manager of the Banner Electrical Works, who lives at 21 North Moreland avenue, and Robert S. Terrell, a merchandise broker with offices at 200 Rhoads building, Thursday carried only a few dollars and his check book, therefore robbery could not have prompted murder.

Sister is Mystified. "I can not believe that Fred was murdered and then thrown into the surf," said Miss Nellie Catchings, sister. "I can not understand what motive anyone would have in murdering such a man."

"We really know very few details concerning the death of my brother," she said. "I have not been able to get into touch with Atlantic Beach, where it is believed the body was picked up, and where Fred was spending his vacation."

Boat May Have Capsize. "The marks of a struggle on his body I attribute to the possibility that his boat capsized and that he was in the water for hours in the effort to right it. There was a storm Thursday and the high waves might have knocked his boat against the rocks."

BEST ASSET OF ANY NATION IS ITS CITIZENS

New Democratic Laws Force Big Business to Consider Welfare of Employees.

By B. C. FORBES.

American employers, what kind of MEN, what kind of VOTERS, are you turning out?

That question is not often discussed by financial or business leaders, by chambers of commerce or boards of trade, by railroad or industrial or mercantile conventions.

Yes it is not as important even as tariff legislation, currency reform or any of the other serious problems now engaging business men's minds.

America is proud of her manufactures, proud of her agricultural achievements, proud of her great railroad systems. All these are vital to the country's well-being.

But a nation's greatest asset is her citizens. On her citizens depend everything else. They are at once the foundation and superstructure, the Alpha and Omega of her existence, her very raison d'etre.

Said one of our foremost bankers to me the other day: "Don't forget that there is to be a change in the method of electing our Senators."

They are to be chosen by the people. They are already acting with this in mind.

It means that the Senate will become less conservative, that it will be less of a bulwark than heretofore against radicalism.

We must not overlook this fact in analyzing the financial and business future.

Had you thought of that? Does it not mean that the people—the ordinary, everyday voters—are moving nearer the throttle of the engine of government, that they are brushing aside privileges, classes, that they are routing the "old guard" who have rendered long and arduous services on behalf of their masters?

Don't you desire to see, therefore, why it is of greater moment than at any previous time in America's history to consider the question just proposed? What kind of voters are our corporations and other employers turning out?

Let us here leave out of account entirely the moral aspects of the subject and discuss it strictly as a business proposition.

The factory worker, the clerk, the mechanic, the day laborer, the railroad man, the miner, the wagon driver, the stevedore, the printer, the mucker, the molder—all are voters. And we have just noted that the voters are leading into the saddle, that they are asserting their rights to govern the country without the obstruction of old school politicians placed and kept in power by capitalistic interests.

Government by the people for the people is to become a reality, not merely a theory. Well, then, what kind of a government are our capitalists, our corporations, our manufacturers, our mine owners, our railroaders wanting?

Are some of them picking a road to be applied by hand-to their own stripped backs? Or are most employers grasping

Veteran Who Sent Signals for Sherman 50 Years Ago Again Flashes Historic Messages.

After flashing from the battlefields about Atlanta, Kennesaw Mountain and Chattahoochee, the old war messages that Sherman's army flashed on its march through the valley 50 years ago, Lieutenant George C. Rood, resident of the United States Signal Corps Association, passed through Atlanta Thursday morning on route to his home in Manassas, Va.

The flashing of the old war signals was one of the interesting features of the Grand Army Reunion at Chattahoochee, especially interesting was the flashing of the signal from the identical spot, on the summit of Kennesaw Mountain from which General Sherman sent his famous message of "Hold the fort for I am coming," over the heads of Hood's army in the valley to General Corse at Atlanta.

Lieutenant Rood flashed this message to divisions of the invading Northerners during the fighting around Kennesaw. In the meantime he was assisted by Pierre Huribart, who

In Three Years B.&O. Spends $100,000,000

CUMBERLAND, Sept. 25.—David Willard, president, in an address to 100 officials of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, told of having spent $100,000,000 in improvements in the last three years.

The need for an advance of freight rates is imperative, he explained, in view of the fact that the increase in the cost of the materials used in the construction of the road is $100,000,000 a year additional which the road is obliged to expand before any part of the profits can be applied to interest charges.

That splendid Senate was sworn in somewhere along about the last of October, 1888, and many members of it will survive, notwithstanding the fact that a number of them have grown to be old men. The Atlanta reunion will be in celebration of the 50th anniversary of the Senate's first session of 1888-89.

The reunion was proposed by former Senator T. R. Massengale, of Norwood, who has a son in the present General Assembly.

Mr. Henry Cabot Lodge, of Atlanta, who was Secretary of the Senate at the time this Senate met, was the success of the proposed reunion very much at heart, and will leave nothing undone to make the meeting a pleasant and profitable one for his old associates.

In the days of this Senate, a very high-class lot of men came to the General Assemblies, particularly the members of the Judiciary and Solicitor General were named by the Legislature then, and a fight for a United States Senatorship was confined almost exclusively within the capitol walls.

It is estimated that at least 20, and perhaps 25, members of the Senate of 1888-89 will be present in Atlanta in November when this reunion is called to order.

The question of Wheeler County's legal existence having been raised recently in Judge Park's court, in Hancock County, the Judge substantially decided the vexed question in favor of that new political district of the State.

The issues involved an attack upon the county on grounds. The contention of the adverse petitioner were that the election at which the members of the county were adopted by the people was not such a general election as is provided for in the constitution, and that the constitution provides that there shall not be more than 14 counties in the State.

The principal arguments were made by Col. Warren Critch, in the attack on the county, and Solicitor General William Wootten for the respondent to the writ.

At the conclusion of the hearing Judge Park immediately rendered his decision upholding the legality of Wheeler.

Representative John A. Corn, of Union, the quietest man in the General Assembly, and therefore one of the most liked, is an Atlanta visitor to-day.

"Nothing doing in politics up in an old Union," said Mr. Corn, as he came away from a social call upon Governor Stanton. "We folks up in the mountains are busy with our crops and we are not hearing much about anything. We never take politics too much to heart, anyway, until just a few days before election, when we have a quick spasm of it and get through."

SIDELIGHTS on GEORGIA POLITICS

By JAMES B. NEVIN

There will be held in Atlanta on November 26 a reunion of the Georgia Senate of 1888-89.

The reunion was proposed by former Senator T. R. Massengale, of Norwood, who has a son in the present General Assembly.

Will Cook, Secretary of State since the year 11, or thereabout, will have Atlanta to-night for a three-days' vacation. This is the first vacation Mr. Cook has permitted himself since he was sworn in, away back yonder, sometime or another.

If he had his last bit of time, that anybody ever will run against Mr. Cook, nobody would be so foolish as to

ITCHING BURNING ERUPTION ON HANDS

And Feet in Water Blisters. Would Fester and Itch. Perfect Cure by Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

Thomsonville, Ark.—"I suffered with eruptions on my hands and feet two or three years. About seven years ago I became troubled with an itching burning eruption which came on my hands and feet in little water blisters and in about a day or two when I would let the water out or wash it out, using my hands then the places would fester and itch to beat the band. I could not do any work that was rough on my hands at all. It caused me great suffering and inconvenience."

"I tried everything that I knew of or was told and never was really relieved until I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I would wash the parts in water with the Cuticura Soap and then when I dried them I would apply the Cuticura Ointment on the surface in the day time, and at night I would get a soft piece of cloth and apply the Cuticura Ointment on my hands and feet. It was like magic. A perfect cure was effected. No one will ever know how good it was to get my hands and feet cured." (Signed) Geo. C. Cook, Nov. 22, 1912.

Although the Cuticura Soap and Ointment are most successful in the treatment of eruptions of the skin, scaly, hair and scalp, the use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment in the bath, hair and nursery, because they promote and maintain skin and hair health, sold everywhere. WHICH TYPE WILL SIR THOMAS LIPTON CHOOSE FOR HIS BRIDE?

Christie McDonald.

The famous actress is a striking example of the Scottish type of beauty, of which Sir Thomas says:

"MY YOUNGER days were, to a great extent, spent in Scotland and the girls there who in the long a-enc- sed me with smiles and brave words recall pleasant memories."

Miss Lillian Close.

Miss Close is a noted English beauty. Here is what Sir Thomas says of her type:

"English girls, the daughters of our beloved King, have cheered me during the past few years and surely they have claims upon my loyalty."

Lady Beatrice Cole Carow.

She is of the Irish type that appeals to Sir Thomas. He says:

"MY DEAR mother was an Irish girl and I must have a warm spot in my heart for any woman that comes from the same country."

Miss Mary Helen Moody.

Miss Moody is a splendid type of the beautiful American girl. Here is the opinion of Sir Thomas:

"BUT after all, the American girl, with her bright smile, generous independence and warm sympathy, has gained a position in my esteem that is second to none. American women are among my dearest friends."

CLEAN SWEEP IN U.S. ATTORNEY'S OFFICE HERE

Angier and Henley Asked by McReynolds to Tender Their Resignations.

By HUGH MILLER. WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—A clean sweep in the office of the United States District Attorney in Atlanta has been ordered by Attorney General James McReynolds. He has forwarded letters to Assistant District Attorneys E. A. Angier and John W. Henley, asking for their resignations, to take effect October 1. It was announced yesterday that District Attorney P. L. Tate had been asked to resign. It is generally understood that Hester Alexander of Atlanta, will be named to succeed Mr. Tate. Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia, went to the Department of Justice today and asked the Attorney General to appoint Mr. Alexander, and it is believed he will be chosen at once, to take effect October 1. The following letter has been sent to Colonel Tate and his two assistants: "Dear Sir—I am desirous of making changes in the office of the District Attorney for the Northern District of Georgia, and I request that your resignation be forwarded, to take effect October 1. "Very respectfully, "JAMES McREYNOLDS, "Attorney General."

Admires English, Irish and Scotch Beauties, but Likes American Girls Second to None.

Which type of beauty will Sir Thomas Lipton choose for his bride? Will the dashing American girl, with her charm and grace, make the strongest appeal to his heart? Or will a quiet, dignified English girl be at his side when he marches to the altar? Maybe it is a gray-eyed Scottish maiden of the hills who is destined to be the future Lady Lipton.

Or perhaps a laughing Irish lass, with sparkling blue eyes and golden hair, will be the blushing bride. Sir Thomas Lipton is coming to America next year in his fourth attempt to lift the America Cup. Friends of the famous sportsman say that he may at the same time try to win an American girl as his bride. Sir Thomas admits he is considering the matter. Mr. Dwyer, one of the closest friends of the sportsman, was quoted recently as saying that when the cup challenger returns to his own country next year he will take with him the coveted cup and a Yankee bride. Lipton was asked about it in London. He answered: "Don't you think a bachelor of my experience has learned discretion by now? You can say this, however: "Such a lucky event as the winning of an American wife and the America Cup in one trip is almost more than mortal man can expect, but I am hoping that Dewar's forecast may come true."

But Lipton's friends are laughing at the idea that he has reached years of discretion. So far, they admit, he has kept little Fox Cup at bay, but they declare that his days as a bachelor are numbered. "He doesn't return with an American bride he will surely fall a victim of the charms of one of the three types of beauty in the British Isles—the English, the Irish or the Scotch"—friends think say.

LEO FRANK AGAIN MADE HEAD OF B'NAI BRITH

Condemned Man Retains Presidency of 'Charitable Order,' Manages Factory From Cell.

Leo M. Frank, under sentence of death for the killing of Mary Phagan, has been unanimously re-elected president of the Jewish Order of B'nai Brith. Other prominent Atlantans selected to fill the more important offices are Arthur Heyman, of the law firm of Dwyer, Hester, Howell & Heyman, vice president; Milton Klein, monitor; Dr. H. Whitaker, treasurer; and R. Kaufman, secretary. Sam F. Croheim, secretary, will retain his office until the January elections. Although Frank was in the prison tower under sentence of death at the time of the elections in the order, this did not deter his associates from again placing the fortunes of the organization, which is charitable in purpose, in the hands of the young pencil factory superintendent.

Still Runs Factory. The re-election of Frank allowed the announcement that the condemned man had been continued in the service of the pencil factory as superintendent, which position he occupied before the murder of Mary Phagan was committed. For several weeks he has directed the affairs of the pencil factory from his cell in the jail. Those who are in close touch with him say he has every detail of the business at his fingers' tips, and that he handles the affairs as if he were back at his desk in the little office.

GIGANTIC FISCAL CHANGE, PLAN OF SO. RY.

Finley Hopes to Cover All of the System's Obligations in One $300,000,000 Mortgage.

President W. W. Finley is planning a reorganization of the finances of the Southern Railway that will call for the authorization of a single large mortgage to cover all present mortgages and to take care of new financial needs. The need of a large amount of money for the development of a systematic plan of double tracking that is one of the features of the advanced policy of the present progressive management of the road under President Finley is one of the important factors in the planning for a comprehensive financing system. The present bonded indebtedness of the Southern is approximately $250,000,000, which with the inclusion of certain leasehold obligations reaches a total of nearly $300,000,000. A larger amount of double tracking already has been done and as a consequence the business of the road is steadily expanding. As against less than one-half of 1 per cent interest on the common stock in 1909 last year the earnings were 2.4 per cent. It is also concluded that an interest rate on a single mortgage loan would not be a fixed rate, but would vary with the market rate, but will provide a minimum rate which may be controlled through stock ownership. The Southern continues in the general system as a unit if the mortgage plan is adopted, a new step in following the progressive policy of the Burlington, Great Northern, New York Central and the St. Paul.

"I have the fullest admiration for my mother's character. She is altogether a wonderful woman. She is one of those sweet characters who could not plant a dry stick in the earth but it would blossom; who can make the prettiest things; is eminently efficient in all her household duties; the most perfect and dainty of housewives; the most trusting and believing of creatures.

"But she did not understand me. To-day I am probably the greatest enigma that the world offers her. I am outside and beyond the range of her understanding. She is one of those women who are always willing to believe the best, and quite ready to fear the worst.

"I can not take a convenient and lazy course and put all the blame of the friction, which at various periods undoubtedly existed, upon my ancestry. My mother and I were temperamentally different. I made matters more impossible because I was young, headstrong and willful—filled with the sublime assurance of youth, and opposed by one whose nature was so sweet and so simple that I could without any effort circumvent her most convincing argument."

STRONG BELIEVER IN GOLDEN RULE

My Dear Madam—I'm really very sorry, but I find it quite impossible to run down as I had hoped for the week-end. I will try next Saturday, but don't count too much upon it. It is very hot in town. Yours affectionately, WALTER.

As soon as she entered the small flat her pale face showed to the woman an anxious waiting there that her errand had been as disastrous as she had feared it might be. "Yes, Herb's mother gave evidence of no surprise when she heard the news that her son's wife probably married to her. "The only way I feared," she declared. "Yes, it's what I feared," she declared. "Yes, it's what I feared," she declared. "Yes, it's what I feared," she declared.

This Lady Says: "Do Unto Others, As You Would Have Them Do Unto You."

Church Point, La.—Miss Delma Richard, of this town, authorities the following statement: "I felt so miserable and suffered greatly with pains in my back. But I suffer no more pain now, and it is nothing but 'Carap' that has cured me."

She thought solemnly as she turned to see a number of the three white butterflies all had watched dance away in the sunlight that afternoon. "But her back was out!" The first white butterfly had flown away.

He said that he had been out on the many shameful things her own son had done, her voice quavered with grief and hope.

Time, care and thought should be devoted to the mere mechanism of writing. Check, ledger, handwriting, grammar, etc., should be left to correct to use, and good plain white copy paper. It is inexcusable to write in pencil, or to use yellow paper, or yellow, pink or other fanciful or variegated paper, or envelopes of eccentric shape. Anything straggling or herring in stationery is a violation of good form.

"I think I ought to tell you, dear," said a friend, "that there has been a case where a woman in a dress was seen driving in a taxi. She was driving in a taxi. She was driving in a taxi. She was driving in a taxi."

She shouldered, but the other woman looked sharply at her. "What do you mean?" she asked. "I mean that I suspect it is true, he won't do that," she said.

BOOK COMMISSION MAY DEFER ACTION

Present State Contracts Likely To Be Extended Pending Conclusion of Investigation.

The State Board of Education, sitting in its Supplemental Committee's office in the State Capitol Thursday to consider the matter of a further contract for books to be used in the public schools.

After passing upon a list of routine business, the board named Professors Glenn and Woodruff to sit with the Legislative Investigating Committee Friday.

It was thought likely that the State Board will do nothing more than extend its present contract with a clause making them void upon the State's motion, pending the Legislative investigation now on.

Many book publishing agents have been in Atlanta several days anticipating a possible immediate change in the state of things, but a change does not now seem likely.

The State Board, however, may place the final determination in this matter in the hands of a subcommittee, which may or may not extend the present contracts.

Veteran Who Sent Signals for Sherman 50 Years Ago Again Flashes Historic Messages.

After flashing from the battlefields about Atlanta, Kennesaw Mountain and Chattanooga, the old war messages that Sherman's army flashed on its march through the valley 50 years ago, Lieutenant George C. Round, president of the United States Signal Corps Association, passed through Atlanta Thursday morning en route to his home in Manassas, Va.

The flashing of the old war signals was one of the interesting features of the Grand Army Reunion at Chattanooga, especially interesting was the flashing of the signal from the identical spot, on the summit of Kennesaw Mountain, from which General Sherman sent his famous message of "Hold the fort for I am coming," over the heads of Hood's army in the valley.

Roundness during the fighting around Kennesaw, in the signaling he was assisted by Pierre Huriburt, of No. 42 Grand Place, Atlanta, who served as flagman, and Major J. A. Conover, of Marietta, who served as transmitter. The station was re-established on the identical spot on which Sherman's flagman sent and received signals during the battle in the valley, and the flag used was the one with which the original messages were sent.

Prior to the flashing of the signals, Lieutenant Round read extracts from a Bible which he carried throughout the war. The signaling from Kennesaw was witnessed by a delegation of Marietta citizens, headed by Secretary J. L. Stinger of the Board of Trade.

Seeking a Husband

By CONSTANCE CLARKE.

I don't know whether I ought to admit to really seeking a husband. But that's what it all amounts to after all. Mother says that every girl's fate is written in the stars. I wonder if it is really true.

Any way, it seems rather a risk to seek a husband. I don't know how to go about it. I am not going to let my chances go, so I am going to try to find a husband. I don't know how to go about it. I am not going to let my chances go, so I am going to try to find a husband.

Advice to the Superstitious

Copyright, 1913, International News Service.

"Always look at the moon over your right shoulder."
BILLY, whispering into Betty's ear under the September moon (and that's the last moon they'll see out of doors): "There are a few things that you really ought to watch—little superstitions, you know. Such as—see now—there's a new, thin moon, silvery as your hair when you were a little fellow. Always look at it over your right shoulder. Turn your head—a little more. I don't need to

"Always make a wish at a shooting star."
"Look at it! I've seen it already. Tip your chin up—and you'll have good luck! CAN YOU SEE THE MOON?"
"Always make a wish at a shooting star! You've got to be quick there, little chap! A shooting star falls like a bright hope. You never have time to make a wish. Just watch its flight—like a match flipped from the hand of a man with a cigarette. Watch it hard with your blue eyes, and wish if you can. IS THAT what you wished for?"

BY NELL BRINKLEY

"See a pin and pick it up, all the day you'll have good luck."
"See a pin and pick it up, all the day you'll have good luck." Even if it's on the steps of a trolley and we hold up the whole system, stop to pick up a pin, small indeed! Drop on your knees—so your head and the grope for the pin. It's a pretty small pin, isn't it? Look at me all the time—that's the right way to play it. Your eyes are close, little fellow, and there's a wally blue. Your lips are close, and there's red as a pomegranate blossom—oh, LEAVE the pin, there! Oh, I see—both of those things are as good ideas as I'm around!"

Digestion an Aid to Real Beauty

By LILIAN LAUFERTY.

Little more than a decade ago the interviewer decides what a girl of the particular type is to be interviewed ought to say and ways to say it. Talking to stars was in the fashion, taking part in a devastatingly and sharply thought-out conversation in which one of the most serious, and perhaps the most important, subjects was a consideration of beauty. Beauty is a matter of the most serious, and perhaps the most important, subjects was a consideration of beauty. A THRILLING STORY OF A MODERN CRISTO

You Can Begin This Great Story To-day by Reading This First

PHILIP ANSON is a boy of fifteen, in the line of education and good breeding, but an orphan and miserably poor.

The story opens with the death of his mother, killed virtually by sorrow over the death of her husband two years before, and subsequent want and suffering.

dominated the electric waves fluttering in the overcast air—darted east the tiny spark in the rear of the house, and crested through the fogged-out glass of a ten-inch arc.

Philip, elevated on the stairs, distinctly saw the motion which accompanied the spark. He saw the heavy stone rest under as if the force were being and, from the house, by the thunderbolt, or meteor, came a radiance that sent a spreading shaft of light upward and the beam, without a searchlight. The warmth, too, of the object was almost overpowering.

TO-DAY'S INSTALLMENT

Although wet to the skin, he was warm now on account of his long and rapid walk. When he unlocked the door another flash of lightning revealed the dismal interior. He closed and locked the door behind him. On the mantelpiece were a fading candle and some matches. He groped for them and soon had a light. On other occasions his next task was to light a fire. He always found the matches to be together some sticks and bits of paper and arranged them in the grate. But the task was irksome to him. It was almost to work any degree of comfort for the old man. Moreover, the storm was sweeping over the East End with such marvellous speed that the lightning now played through the roof and from dazzling fireflies, and the wretched candle burned with low and feeble light. The cold of the house had begun to settle about him. He was a wretched, poor creature, but he did not care to seek out his best friend. He was not going to let the cold get him.

He even looked into a desultory window pane was stilling. He took an axe out, first examining from an iron pocket the bundle of letters found under Mrs. Anson's pillow, and carefully shuffled the work garment into the largest corner. By this means he secured somewhat in shutting out the night as well as the light that still glared from the back yard.

The lightning had ceased totally, and the improved light pinched the room into impenetrable darkness. He felt his way to the stairs and found the candle which he neglected. The rain beating on the roof and on the outer pavement combined with the wet stones in the back yard to make a terrifying racket, but it was not likely that a youth who attributed his scraps from a death-borne death, and inflicted, by the altered interpretation of Providence in a half world into any sentimental fears on that account. Indeed, although quite weak from hunger, he felt an unaccountable elation of spirits, a new-born desire to live and justify his mother's death.

The torrent of rain caused a dense volume of smoke to generate in the back yard, and this helped to minimize the strange light shooting up from the sky. There was a loud banging and cracking as the rain poured over the motor and electrically dented its head. Philip ran and opened the door, and the rain poured in, and the wind howled.

What the Meteor Contained
Philip was looking now from another point of view. He was not at all surprised that the meteor contained...

SIDELIGHTS on GEORGIA POLITICS

By JAMES B. NEVIN

There will be held in Atlanta on November 26 a reunion of the Georgia Senate of 1883-85.

The special senate was sworn in somewhere along about the last of October, 1883, and many members of it will survive notwithstanding the fact that a number of them have passed on to the other side.

The reason was proposed by former Senator T. E. Muscogee, of Newton, who has a son in the present General Assembly.

Mr. Henry Gentry, of Atlanta, who was Secretary of the Senate at the time this senate met, has the honors of the proposed reunion very much at heart, and will be holding nothing to make the meeting a pleasant and profitable one for his old associates.

In the days of this Senate a very high-class lot of men came to the General Assembly, particularly because the Judges and Solicitors General were named by the Legislature, then and a fight for a United States Senatorship was confined almost exclusively within the capital.

It is estimated that at least 20, or more, of the members of the Senate of 1883-85 will be present in Atlanta in November when this reunion is held to order.

The question of whether County seats would have been named previously in Jones, Park or in Hancock County, the Judge undoubtedly decided the second question in favor of the constitution, and that the constitution provides that there shall be no election of a senator in this State.

The issue involved an attack upon the county on two grounds. The contention of the adverse petitioners was that the election at which the amendment creating the county was voted, the people was not given a general election as is provided for in the constitution and that the constitution provides that there shall be no election of a senator in this State.

The two principal arguments were made by old Warren Gray, in the attack on the new county, and Solicitor General William Woodson for the respondents.

At the conclusion of the hearing Judge Hart immediately rendered his decision upholding the legality of Wheeler.

Representative John A. Corn, of Union, the quietest man in the General Assembly, and therefore one of the most liked, is an Atlanta visitor today.

Nothing doing in politics up in grand old Union," said Mr. Corn, as he came away from a social call upon Governor Sloan.

COUNTY LIBRARY PLAN ABANDONED

New Municipal Courts Require All Courthouse Space Intended To Be Utilized.

Creation of the Municipal Court of Atlanta by the recent Legislature has forced the County Commissioners to abandon the idea of establishing a handsome library in the new Fulton County courthouse.

The only way we can see to accommodate the Municipal Court is by the abandonment of what might be called our pet idea of establishing a handsome library on the entire second floor of the new courthouse.

When we were first advised that under the act creating the Municipal Court it would be necessary for us to furnish courtrooms and offices in the building, we expected at the time that one or two courtrooms would be sufficient, but are advised that it will be necessary for us to furnish each judge with a separate courtroom, as it is highly probable each division may be in session at the same time.

The architects have gone over the plans carefully in an effort to rearrange them so that the Municipal Court could be accommodated without interfering with our other plans. This has been found to be impossible, however, and we will have to let the library go.

There will be fifteen courtrooms in the courthouse in addition to the County Commissioners' room and the grand jury room, each of which will be of unusual size. Most of the courtrooms will extend through two stories.

The recent Legislature made it necessary for the County Commissioners to provide for seven new court-rooms in the Superior Court building, the Juvenile Court and five divisions of the Municipal Court.

Miss Jessie Wilson's Double Is Miss Brown

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Miss Jessie Wilson, daughter of the president, has a double in Miss Grace Brown, a pretty Washington girl.

Farmers Plan Road Improvements in Anticipation of Transcontinental Highway Building.

Texas good roads boosters are rallying to the standard of the all-Southern transcontinental highway raised by Hearst's Sunday American, according to late dispatches from E. L. Ferguson, official pathfinder.

"Anticipating the establishment of the highway along the line traveled to-day," says Mr. Ferguson in a dispatch from Abilene, Texas, "the farmers of this section are beginning to plan for the big improvements of the roads that are all the more significant at this season of the year when the farmers are working overtime in an attempt to handle the cotton crop."

"More than this," adds the pathfinder, "automobiles all along the way have perfected plans to go out with the farmers and work the roads on November 5 and 6, following a special call of Governor Colquhoun."

The Ferguson party, was royally entertained by the Abilene Chamber of Commerce and the Young Men's Booster Club. Receptions were tendered the tourists also at Fortnall, Baird, Cisco and Clyde, Texas.

Anything that prevents sound sleep at the proper time (at night) will sooner or later prevent "smooth running" during the day.

That "drowsy feeling" in the forenoon (when everyone should feel bright and fit) is often caused by want of sound, refreshing sleep the night before.

Very often the habitual use of coffee is back of sleepless nights.

CAUGHT ROBBING U. S. MAIL AT FIVE POINTS

Negro Driver's Home, When Searched, Proves To Be Parcel Post Treasure House.

The mystery of the disappearance of thousands of dollars' worth of parcels from the Atlanta postoffice was cleared Thursday when Deputy Inspectors E. W. Admon and N. A. McKew raided the home of Hewitt Wortham, a negro parcel post wagon driver, at No. 128 1/2nd street, and recovered the stolen packages.

Wortham had been arrested a few hours previously in the act of ransacking a mail bag while driving his wagon at Five Points. He will be given a hearing before Commissioner Colquitt Carter Thursday afternoon.

Wortham's arrest culminated a secret investigation by postoffice inspectors under Inspector Harry. When the first report of the thefts was made the operative began the tedious process of shadowing and guarding every possible outlet through which the parcels could have gone.

Finally the negro wagon driver came under the inspector's scrutiny. He was shadowed at all times.

On Thursday the negro was seen to reach back in his wagon and pull a well-filled mail sack toward him, as he drove across Five Points. Before the crowd of pedestrians Wortham was seen to untie the sack and take several large packages out and place them under his seat.

Inspectors immediately placed him under arrest. The packages which he had taken contained a handsome fur coat and other articles equally as costly. They had on the driver's house followed and practically all of the missing articles were recovered.

BARLOW CASE IS POSTPONED BY JUDGE BELL

Woman's Attorney Is Granted Ten Days to Prepare Defense in Habeas Corpus Hearing.

The sudden withdrawal of the suit of Mrs. Edith E. Barlow against her former husband, J. E. Barlow, reputed millionaire, in the Superior Court at Atlantic City, has thrown the case back into the Fulton County Superior Court on the habeas corpus proceedings brought by Barlow in August to obtain the possession of the child.

Stratton's efforts were made by Barlow to have a hearing on the habeas corpus Thursday morning before Judge Bell, but upon the instant demand of Attorney Moore for Mrs. Barlow that he be granted at least ten days in which to prepare a defense, Judge Bell said he would give a hearing either Saturday or Monday week.

Barlow's suit at Atlantic City, which sought to annul Barlow's marriage to Mrs. Barlow, after obtaining a divorce from her and asked for a decree granting $2,000 alimony, was set for Saturday.

Barlow arrived in Atlanta from Havana Wednesday to consult with his lawyers in preparation for fighting the case at Atlantic City Saturday. His expected appointment at the suit was withdrawn of the suit by Mrs. Barlow.

"We had hoped to clear the entire case at Atlantic City Saturday, and are quite disappointed," said Burton Smith, addressing the court. "The habeas corpus proceeding for the possession of the child, Madeline, was postponed in order that the whole case might be handled in one court."

Mr. Smith, with Mr. Barlow, went before Judge Bell Thursday morning and asked that the habeas corpus be reinstated on the docket and be given an immediate hearing.

"Mr. Barlow has made his arrangements to be here for a few days and it works a hardship to keep him chasing between here and Savannah," said Judge Bell.

"Under demand of Mr. Moore that he be given ten days in which to prepare his reply, I will set the hearing for Saturday week or Monday week," said Judge Bell.

He instructed the attorneys to confer and see if they could not determine upon a date, but so far they have been unable to do so. Mr. Smith will make another effort to have the hearing before the end of the week.

Mrs. Barlow did not appear in court.

"Vogue" is recognized the ranking magazine of women's fashion. Its dicta are accepted as authoritative. When at the beginning of a season it issues a Millinery Number, fashionable America rests assured the styles it shows are the accepted. So it is no small compliment that the Millinery Style Editors should describe and have one of their artists draw a whole page of hats shown at one shop. This was the recognition they paid the hats of Estelle Mershon, 20 E. 46th St., New York. We reproduce this picture with a sense of pleasure. It is something money could not buy, nor influence effect. It is such hats as "Vogue" thinks so well of that Atlanta women, through our connection with Estelle Mershon, have the privilege of choosing from. And the big crystal cases of the Millinery Section are filled with them now, hats as smart and charming come from Paris.

ATLANTA NEW YORK PARIS

That Time of the Year Has Come--

- When women become deeply interested in the new fashions.
- When social activities loom large over the horizon of the month.
- When the home must be fixed up and made ready for the winter.
- When the Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Company Store crowds into the thoughts of the shopping public, with its prestige built up through long years of fine service and fair dealing.

It is logical that women should turn to us at such a season; it is expected that our stocks should be great and rich and that they should reflect the true styles of this season.

They Are, With a Vengeance!

- We hear it from customers, we hear it from our own salespeople.
- There is an enthusiasm throughout the store organization that tells more forcibly than any printed advertisement ever could the beauty and wealth of the new stocks.
- Those who have grown accustomed to daily arrivals of new goods are not given to over-bubbling enthusiasm—they are critical. But to hear their expressions, to watch their very evident pride in the new things, tells a story that means much to the shopping public in its fall shopping.
- That confidence and feeling that things are right is a result—not an accident—of well-laid plans properly executed by Department managers when they were gathering the fall stocks.
- The millinery is surpassingly beautiful.
- The suits and dresses and coats are surpassingly beautiful.
- The waists are surpassingly beautiful.
- The silks and dress goods are surpassingly beautiful.
- The trimmings are surpassingly beautiful.
- And the furniture and house furnishings are in well chosen varieties that are new in their magnitude and richness.
- And the linens and blankets and wash fabrics and hosiery and "little wares"—there are no disappointments at Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Company's.

Is 'Umpire Baiting' Worth While? Evers Says Yes; Zimmerman, No

By Daventport. CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 25.—What shall I profit a man though he gains the umpire and have the umpire playing to his flying coat-tails?

In other words, "umpire baiting," where a man loses his head, so far as the umpire "umpire," of such stuff as that, no player does with a mean intention. It's simply a matter of losing one's equilibrium for the moment.

Both Evers and Zimmerman are being paid for playing ball, but on many and diverse occasions they have been compelled to play the game from the clubhouse door as so many as they are varied.

Following is a summary of play in the first round, Wednesday:

Miller Beats Palzer In New York Fight

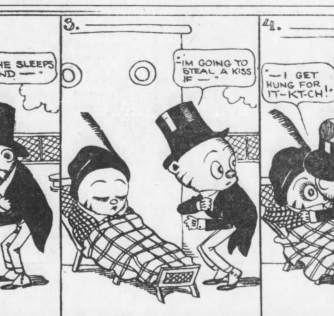

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—To Charles Miller, the fighting conductor of San Francisco, goes the honors of his ten round clash here with Al Palzer and today's prize money being made to send Charles against Carl Morris. Both men were now in their delivery, each round being ten rounds and without losing a single round.

Miller earned the verdict by his will to exchange at all times. Several rounds of the ten were in his favor. Each man weighed in at 220 pounds. A half dozen rights on the jaw shook up Palzer, but he held his own in the exchange.

National Commission Passes Rule Against Ball Player Writers

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 25.—Due to frequent complaints received by the National Baseball Commission and the Baseball Writers' association concerning articles alleged to have been written by ball players, the National Commission yesterday handed down a ruling in which it orders that no player, eligible to compete in the world's series, be permitted to write any article for any newspaper, nor shall any player allow the use of his name over an article purporting to be written by him. The violation of the order will result in the infliction of such penalty as the commission may determine. The Baseball Writers' association of America had recently advised the commission of the violation of the order.

'Bat' Nelson Refuses to Quit Ring Wolgast Bout a "Grudge Affair"

By Jack Conway. BATTLEMAN, N.Y., Sept. 25.—Bat Nelson, the former amateur heavyweight champion, should not be discouraged because he was beaten by Carl Morris in New York the other night. Bat is a young man, yet and he handled properly may develop into a good professional boxer.

Nelson should never have been pitted against Morris. The match was too one-sided. Morris is not a world's champion, but he has gained a wealth of experience during the past two years and a half. The Oklahoma giant is a big, powerful fellow and can give and take a great deal of punishment. A hundred dollars or so, however, probably looked like a small amount to Bat and so he consented to a fight with Morris. The careers of hundreds of promising boxers are ruined each year by their entering into a battle with experienced men before they have mastered the rudiments of the athlete's game.

Athletics Are Even Money Bet in N. Y.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Despite the general belief that the Giants have quite an edge on the Athletics in the fight for the world's championship, even money is all one can get here to-day. A number of wagers were made at this price. One bet of $200 on the Athletics was reported in addition to numerous wagers that were placed on the Athletics in New York.

ILLINI IN HARD WORK. CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Sept. 25.—The University of Illinois football team for the season will play the University of Michigan on October 11. Zuppelle announced that there would be no football in the team's daily workbooks. Johnny Siskman, quarterback, stated tonight that he had been ordered by his parents to quit either football or law and that he would desert the gridiron.

BAIT $200,000. Nelson is well financially and is not obliged to fight in order to earn a livelihood. He is worth in the neighborhood of $200,000 when he has been safely invested in real estate. "Bat" Nelson explains his refusal to fight with Morris as follows:

"Nelson has said many harsh things about Wolgast since the latter was placed in the light of the fight. He has been very bitter and spiteful and has regarded him as a job as a real 'bummer.' Admittedly, probably recall these things if he ever meets Wolgast."

Two Gentlemen--"Touring"

Each One Probably Sees and Enjoys as Much as the Other--That is to Say, Not at All.

Here is another little picture for readers to think about. At first glance, you will pity the man with the staff walking on foot, and say, "Poor fellow, how happy he would be if he were flying along in a motor."

But the reality may be very different. It doesn't matter how rapidly you move, how soft the cushions or resilient the tires upon which you ride. And it doesn't matter how slowly you walk, or how tired you may be.

The important question is, HOW MUCH DO YOU SEE AND HOW MUCH DO YOU THINK as you go along?

A man like Emerson or Ruskin, walking slowly along a country road, lives and enjoys about ten million times as much as any rich and prosperous motorist flying along FOR THE SAKE OF FLYING, without a thought in his mind except blissful self-approval.

Some of us are made happy by constant pity and worry about others. Very often if we knew the whole truth we would know that the man we pity is the man we should envy, and vice versa.

If a man in his automobile is a thoughtful, earnest man, taking for himself and his family the legitimate reward of good work, and if the man on foot is, although poorer, earnest, and thoughtful, and ambitious, and determined in spite of adverse conditions--then both are happy.

If the man in the automobile is merely rich, self-indulgent, contented and heartless, if the man on foot is drunken, idle, worthless--both are equally unhappy.

P. S.--This is a postscript for fathers and mothers. If you have a boy or girl who wants to think, or whose mind you want to develop and test, take a little picture like this from a newspaper. Ask them what they think about it, what it suggests to them. Then give them your own thought, or, if you happen to approve it, the thought expressed in the paper.

Children in their teens must be taught to think just as in their babyhood they must be taught to walk.

Clark and Bryan and the Chautauquas

The manager of a Southern and Western lecture bureau is the authority for an interesting lecture story.

It seems that Champ Clark had some lecture dates--a goodly number of them at good prices. They were made for him by bureau managers last winter for the present summer, and if Champ Clark could have filled them, he would have been $15,000 richer than he is to-day.

But the extra session was called by President Wilson, and its length was evident from the beginning.

Without taking the public into his confidence or asking any public sympathy for his sacrifice, the Speaker of the House promptly canceled every date on his list. He did not even hold in reserve a $250 Chautauqua engagement for a Saturday night or a national holiday during the summer.

He quietly gave up the entire list, turned his back on contract engagements that were double his salary and devoted himself with absolute consecration to the public duties he was elected and paid to perform.

The Speaker of the House is not nearly so rich a man as the Secretary of State, and his "financial expenses" and "fixed charges" are doubtless quite as large.

But he is eminently rich in a high conception of the duties and responsibilities of the Government service and of his important office. And he is possessed of a stern integrity that would never permit him to use time paid for by the Government in the furtherance of his own personal income.

The Speaker is a high type of the American publicist. His character and dignity grow with each succeeding year, and he was never more admired and respected than he is to-day.

The action of Champ Clark in this matter was nothing more than was to be expected of any high-minded American statesman.

But it shines in sharp contrast to the summer record of another American public man who at the Baltimore convention assailed his faithful friend upon the false charge of having "sold out to the money power."

There are many people in this independent-thinking country who will scan the summer record for the "love of money" between these two men, and wonder which of them was most likely to have "sold out to the money power"--the Missouri statesman who laid $15,000 without a white upon the altar of his public duty, or the Nebraska "diplomat," who against the protest and outcry of his fellow citizens has persisted in selling his time, which the Government pays for, to fill his private purse at the rate of $250 a night!

Meanwhile there is something almost Oriental in the fine and forecasting diplomacy with which President Wilson sits still and permits his Secretary of State to commend himself to the condemnation of the country.

In this cartoon Mr. McCay has graphically pictured the contemptuous power of bossism, which has successfully blocked real political progress in this country. A prodigious power is that of bossism, built of crooked privilege, graft and greed, and though the people have now and then succeeded in sweeping it aside, it always manages to return to obstruct the path toward decency. But giants have been destroyed before, and this particular giant, swollen and powerful and contemptuous as it is, will one day give way to the intelligent, honest force of many men, all desiring the betterment of the world. The cartoon is of especial value just now, for it teaches the lesson that unless the people unite, and unite intelligently, they will have a very small chance of ridding their path of the burly bully that obstructs it.

Elbert Hubbard Writes on Men and Horses

By ELBERT HUBBARD. "Your horses are entitled to food, water, bedding and shelter just exactly as a trooper is."

"MEN AND HORSES: In the army of the fatherland horses have always played an important part. We owe a great debt to our horses for service, both in times of peace and war."

"And it is to be hoped that all good soldiers will see to it that the rights of our dumb brothers are respected."

"Your horses are entitled to food, water, bedding and shelter just exactly as a trooper is."

"But beyond this it must be remembered that a horse should not be incited or distressed, either by cruel treatment or venereal language."

"To curse a horse is just as bad as to curse a man."

"Perhaps it is worse, since a man may strike back, but the horse is practically within our power."

"The courage of the horse comes from the courage of the rider. Alone he is timid and nervous. See to it that he is not needlessly alarmed."

"Although a horse can not express himself, he has a high intelligence."

"Words of encouragement and affection are grateful to him; rough usage and hateful language distress and friction him."

"It is, therefore, ordered that all swearing at horses be considered an offense."

"The language toward a horse shall be looked upon henceforth by officers exactly as if the unfit language were applied to a human being."

"Reproof and punishment must follow accordingly. OFFICIAL. Done at Potsdam, this 24 day of August, 1913."

"My friend across the sea who sends me this circular writes me that it is generally believed that the document was written by the Emperor's own hand."

"King William is a horseman, a farmer, and a stock raiser. Occasionally he visits farmers clubs and juries in the discussions on terms of absolute equality with his neighbors."

"In any event, the circular has his endorsement and approval. In fact it is a trivial thing, simply a printed doggerel on cheap paper that is being widely watered

Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Writes on Self-Esteem

People Resent Attitude of "I Am Holier Than Thou." We Should Be Patient and Condone Shortcomings of Others, as None of Us Is Perfect.

Written for The Atlanta Georgian By Ella Wheeler Wilcox (Copyright, 1913.)

A YOUNG MAN who prides himself upon his good traits, and who tries to live up to the ideals implanted in his mind by a good mother, is made very unhappy by the malice of his enemies. He says: "The reason I write is, I suffer--not from weapons, but from remorse of my adversaries, who seek only to draw me down to degradation with lies which I can not understand. My nature is more like a woman's; by that I mean, more refined than a man's nature usually is."

No line of our enemies can harm us if we pass on in the path of truth and pay no attention, further than a calm denial of misstatements.

We are judged by our lives and actions in the long run, not by the gossip of our detractors. The only human being I recollect who attained maturity without being lied about and having enemies was a blind idiot.

This young man quoted above quite possibly is too self-centered. Regards Himself as the Superior of His Companions.

He is continually thinking how good and good he is, and how much better he is than his associates.

This state of mind naturally attracts criticism. When any one assumes an "I-am-holier-than-thou" attitude toward his fellow men, he is certain to be a target for lies.

People resent that attitude more than any other. Real goodness, real worth, real morality, is always accompanied by a sort of gentle humility; a manner which invites confidence; a deportment which carries with it sympathy and understanding.

Unless you feel near to your fellow men; unless you are conscious of their kinship, no matter how erudite they may be; unless your thought is one of pity rather than condemnation, for their fallure to live as good a life as you are living, then you are not really so good, after all--not really so much better than they, with all their sins.

For you have the sin of self-conceit, of self-satisfaction, of uncharitableness, of lack of human sympathy. And you forget that you have not their inheritance and environment.

The human being who puts on airs for any reason is a pitiable creature. The very best of mortals is still full of faults.

The very brightest is dull or weak or incomplete, in some respects. There is nothing which we can do with any reason pride ourselves upon having done or been to the extent of holding our heads above our fellows. Whatever our achievements, we need to feel humility in the presence of THE GREAT ALL-MIGHTY CREATOR OF THE UNIVERSE.

We need to wait softly and speak kindly, and be patient and helpful; and we need to talk much of the good qualities of others and little of our own.

This young man, quite possibly, brought all his troubles on himself by trying to impress upon his associates how very much more moral and refined and delicate he is than they.

He needs to develop some robust qualities. He needs to turn his thoughts out toward his fellows, and not in upon his own good self so continually.

We Should Do Good to Those We Know Dislike Us.

Let him do good to those who spitefully use him, and speak pitilessly of those who he about him, even if he keeps away from their society.

And let him forget all his troubles, which are mostly imaginary. No lasting or serious harm can come to any one who fills his mind with good thoughts, his mouth with good words, and his life with good actions.

Letters From the Readers of The Georgian

PLEASED WITH EDITORIAL. Editor The Georgian: Here's my hand, and let me shake on your editorial in Monday's issue, expounding the new money law that Congress is about to set in operation. You have made it all very clear to the layman and you have shown up in great shape, the opposition of the money power to this law, and their motives for their opposition. If you will keep hammering at it I think you will get this matter through the heads of some of our Representatives, and you will get the people so educated on such matters that they will see to it that they do not vote any more for men who oppose the best interests of the masses. Your blow in behalf of the farmers is great. A. W. LAMAR.

THE TRUTH ABOUT THAW. Editor The Georgian: With reference to your editorials regarding Harry K. Thaw, I take the opportunity of heartily commending them, as they certainly state the facts. In my estimation, the citizens of the United States ought to protest against Thaw's treatment very strongly. At E. HAINK.

Admittable, forthcoming. They need each other in sequence.

OUR VOLUNTEER ARMY. Editor The Georgian: There is no reason why every young man should not have a limited army training. There is nothing better for any young man. Besides the training there are many social affairs going on that will help pass away the time. Many people make the mistake of thinking that by belonging to a company you are obliged to devote too much of your time to it. FAY D.

LOVED HER PORTRAIT; HE'D DIVORCE ORIGINAL

FRITZ VON FRANTZIUS Chicago Broker Who Wed Famous Dancer, Is Deserted After Two Weeks.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—Can you picture yourself a sadler lot in life than that of the man who fell in love with a portrait, wedded the original after the most ardent striving on his part, and now only a few months after the wedding is suing the original for divorce?

That is just what Fritz Frantzius, millionaire broker of Chicago, is doing today. The charming original he sought and wedded is Sabaret, the dancer, well known in America and abroad. She didn't wait for the suit to be brought, but left two weeks after the ceremony and took a liner for Europe. She left behind her as a consolation to her despondent spouse fifteen trunks of finery.

Miss Louise Collier, whose marriage to Mr. Henry T. Stanton, of Cincinnati, will take place next week, is being given a series of parties on Thursday.

Mr. Miller entertained at her home in West Third street. For the making of top score there was a fancy silk workshop, an ivory jewel box was given for consolation, and the honor guest was presented with a dainty bracelet.

Miss Miller wore black Acolian dress for the morning. Miss Collier wore a morning costume of blue and green tulle, and a blue hat adorned with a gaura feather.

The guests were Miss Collier, Miss Helen Galt, Miss May, Miss Laura Cole, Miss Amelia Stuart, Miss Frances Connally, Miss Margaret, Northern, Miss Frances Blakeley and Miss Janet Stirling.

Mr. Heman was given an imported model of sail boat with a deep hull, the hull was finished with a deep coat of mahogany varnish, and the rigging was of the finest.

There was an informal dance Wednesday evening at the East Lake Country Club. Many had dinner before the dance.

Among those present were Misses Lela Nash and her sister Mary, Miss O'Donnell, of New Orleans, Elizabeth Murrell, of Chicago, and Misses Margaret Simpson, of Fort Gaines, Margaret Simpson, of Fort Gaines, Edith Dunson, Elizabeth Dunson, of New Orleans, and Misses Annie, Edith, and Charles James, of New Orleans.

Mr. Smith entertained. Mrs. W. H. C. Smith gave an informal bridge party Thursday afternoon at her home.

The club managers announce that on every Saturday from 12 to 2 o'clock lunch will be served for those club members who wish to spend the afternoon on the golf links.

The first meeting of the Hunt Club on Saturday afternoon is attracting much attention, and doubtless will prove most interesting.

The Ten Club will be entertained this month by Mr. William W. Orr. Members will leave on a 3 o'clock train for East Lake.

Several parties will be given next week for the purpose of raising money for the building of a new school for the colored people of the city.

Mr. Frederic J. Paxon will give a dinner party, Saturday, for Mrs. Jesse Harco Patterson, of Miami, who is here on a short visit to friends.

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Hal Jones will give a bridge party at her home.

MACKAY IGNORES SUIT FOR BALM FROM WIFE

Millionaire's Wife Said to Have Disguised Herself to Be Near Doctor Friend.

Special Cable to The Atlanta Georgian. PARIS, Sept. 25.—Charles W. Mackay, American multimillionaire telegraph and cable magnate, whose wife has been sued for $1,000,000 damages for the alienation of the affections of Dr. Joseph A. Blake, a famous New York surgeon, arrived here today from London. He was accompanied by his three young children, Katherine, Ellen and John.

Mr. Mackay appeared free from worry, and devoted his whole time to the care of his daughters and son. He refused to be questioned about the sensational suit in the United States newspapers from New York giving details of the case and was avowed by the multitude of rich New York society people who are on this side of the Atlantic. Mr. and Mrs. Mackay, two leaders in the four hundred, are well known to all of them.

One observer intimated that Mrs. Mackay has established a legal residence in Maine for the purpose of securing a divorce. She has been residing in Portland for three months. Mrs. Blake's two sons, now in college, will be her chief witnesses if the alienation suit ever comes to trial, it was said.

A society journal stated that rumors in exclusive circles had linked the names of Dr. Blake and Mrs. Mackay for longer than a year. It was once intimated that Mrs. Mackay garbed herself as a nurse at the Proctor's Hospital in New York, where Dr. Blake was once chief surgeon, so that she might watch him perform an operation. Dr. Blake resigned from the hospital staff shortly afterward.

There are no dull days at the Bonita; Gosh shows the reason. While others complain of poor business the Bonita continues to register full houses at each performance.

When Miss Sabaret, otherwise "Crisna Rose, landed in New York the banker and broker was quite positive that the ceremony was impending. The lady wasn't so sure.

Mr. Fred Choate, of Kidderminster, England, has landed in New York and will come direct to Atlanta to visit his brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Choate, in Inman Park, for several weeks.

Miss Charlotte Heman, of Cincinnati, arrives Sunday to attend the wedding of Miss Louise Collier and Mr. Henry T. Stanton on Wednesday.

Meeting Obligations

Most men have life insurance provisions to pay at stated times. Many, right after making one payment, begin to prepare for the next. Every week or every month a little money is deposited in the bank and when the premium again becomes due, the money is there to meet it—and along with it a little interest.

Some persons have loans on which interest is due or payments must be made every six months, and in order to be sure of meeting these payments they deposit a little money every three months, and as the payments become due, the money is on deposit to meet them.

Red-and-Black Takes No Chances Cool Weather Delays Scrimmages

A THENS, Sept. 24.—Several hundred fans who went down to Sanford Field yesterday afternoon expecting to see a scrimmage were disappointed, for there was hardly so much as a headless rattle. Coach Cunningham has announced that there would very probably be no scrimmages this week. The cool weather has caused the coach to be very cautious, and he is afraid that the men will get overtrained if rushed during this cool spell and then probably have to go through a week of two or three scrimmages.

Which Also Clears Things Up for a Certain Mr. T. Kid Elberfeld SCORE ONE FOR HUNCH—DOBBS GOES TO TOLEDO

By O. B. Keeler. So our little random rumor came home to roost, and Johnny Dobbs is to manage the Toledo Mudhens next season. Friend Rumor, therefore, is battling 200,000 having been up three times before getting a hit. We had Mr. Dobbs going to Chattanooga, and then to New Orleans, and then to St. Louis. And now we have Mr. Dobbs going to Toledo—which will settle unless Mr. C. W. Somers is an awful mind-changer, which isn't our information of Mr. S.

Hard Work Disperses Gloom at Tech Tech-Soldier Game Is 'On Again'

GLOOM spread over the Tech football camp yesterday when it was learned that Gene Patten, the former Hayler halfback, and who is practically assured of a regular berth on the Tech eleven, is suffering from the breaking of a small artery in his knee. The injured member has been put in a plaster cast. Patten has been complaining about his knee for some time, but thought he was simply suffering from a "charley horse." The halfback, however, visited a physician last night and was told that he had ruptured a small artery and would have to be out of the game for at least ten days.

ENGLISH GOIT SUPREMACY IN THE HISTORY OF PAST

By Chick Evans. A MIRACLE has happened and an amateur is now the open champion of these United States and a portion of the British Isles.

It is difficult to adequately speak of the wonderful golfing feat of the British Isles. When Francis Ouimet went out to play the other day he was naturally not expected to win against those seasoned veterans.

It is a great victory. We are in keen competition with the British and it would have given great pleasure to these few professional golfers to see the day of the professional in golf passing.

There is no doubt that the amateur will have also one amateur who has achieved the highest honor in the United States.
