EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE WILL WATCH BOLTERS

Participants in Recent Primary Urged to Support the Nominees

The Fulton county Democratic executive committee, in a card signed by chairman Eugene D. Thomas and Secretary J. O. Cochran, urges every participant in the recent state primary to support the party's nominees at the regular election on November 3.

The executive committee also asks to give the names of men who bolt the primary, so that they may be barred from participation in future Democratic primaries.

The statement of the executive committee follows:

The Fulton county Democratic executive committee urges every Democrat in this county to go to the polls on November 3 and cast their vote for the nominees. This is a duty especially incumbent upon every man who participated in the recent primaries. The party in this county has been the butt and snarl of white supremacy in this state since the Civil war.

We urge all loyal Democrats to see to it that the regular Democratic ticket contains the name of all the nominees of the party. We request all who can do so to furnish this committee with the names of those citizens who bolt the primary with the idea in view of enforcing the rule of the state executive committee, which says that no person who bolts the primary shall again be allowed to vote in a Democratic primary in this state. While there are many in this county so dishonest as to participate in a primary and then bolt its nominees because the primary did not go to suit them, yet there are none who would not hesitate to do so. No man has the right to enter into a primary and then refuse to abide the result of that primary because it did not go to suit him. The proper place for the white people in this state is to settle their political differences in the Democratic primaries, and the people should remember that it is just as much their duty to abide the result of the primary as it would be to keep a personal obligation, and just as dishonorable to shirk the primary as it would be to repudiate a just obligation.

Therefore, we request that the Democrats of this county be on their guard as to the names of the Democratic nominees.

Citizens Make Vigorous Fight for New County

When the fact of a new county plan was defeated at the polls, the citizens of Milledgeville, Ga., and vicinity are making a vigorous campaign for the adoption of a constitutional amendment to create Oglethorpe county.

Before the distribution of literature, the citizens of the section embraced by the proposed new county have appointed traveling representatives, who are going over the state creating interest in the proposed county and urging the voters to cast their ballots for the amendment. The new county will be taken from Wilkes, Emanuel and Tatnall counties, and the representatives of all of these counties will vote for the bill when it passes the legislature next summer. The proposed county is to be a memorial to the late Governor Allen D. Candler.

A NEW CREAMERY ESTABLISHED IN ATLANTA

There is something new in Atlanta, in the way of an up-to-date creamery, in the fact that it has been made known to the public that it will prove one of the things that Atlanta has been looking for and needing for many a long year. The name of the new institution is the Atlanta Creamery Products company, and its first milk delivery will be made at 97 Garnett street. A second plant will be opened in another part of the city tomorrow morning, and all the milk produced in different parts of the city.

The depot at 97 Garnett street is the most approved manner of doing things, that the demands of a modern dairy require that has been met. The milk is kept constantly clean, and the depot looks very attractive. It is kept spotlessly clean, and a general invitation has been extended to every physician in the city to come and inspect the plant and see for himself that there is at least one absolutely clean, sanitary creamery in the city.

The new company is making a specialty of pasteurized milk, and guaranteeing to Mr. Arnold, stated that every drop of the milk comes up to the recognized standard for pasteurized milk.

JUDGE E. FOSTER DIES AT HOME IN LAFAYETTE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) LAFAYETTE, Ga., Oct. 24.—Judge E. Foster, formerly of this city, died here this morning. Paralysis is thought to have been the cause. He was seventy-eight years old. He had served in the state senate and held other high positions.

Turn Verdin Dance

The invitation dance given by the Atlanta Turn Verein at the home, 24 1/2 North Peach street, Friday evening was a very enjoyable affair. More than 100 couples participated in the dance. Refreshments were furnished by the Verein.

FEEL BILIOUS? CALOMEL SICKENS! CLEAN LIVER AND BOWELS MY WAY

Don't lose a day's work! If Constipated, Sluggish, Head-achy, take a spoonful of "Dodson's Liver Tonic."

Listen to me! Take no more sickening, salivating calomel when bilious or constipated. Don't lose a day's work! Take a spoonful of "Dodson's Liver Tonic." Calomel is a deadly poison. It causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel when it comes into contact with the liver causes it to break up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and "knocks" in the liver. If you are sluggish and bilious, constipated or you have indigestion, take a spoonful of "Dodson's Liver Tonic." It is a harmless, safe, and sure way to keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless, doesn't gripe and has its pleasant taste. (Adv.)

BALLINGTON BOOTH WILL SPEND ACTIVE SUNDAY IN ATLANTA

GENERAL BALLINGTON BOOTH.

Arrives Here Early in Morning and Will Address Prisoners at Federal Prison During the Forenoon

Much interest centers in the visit to Atlanta of General Ballington Booth, president of the Volunteers of America. General Booth will arrive early Sunday morning and will immediately appear upon a most active day. He was scheduled to arrive Saturday evening, but because of a mistake in train schedules, missed his train. The banquet which was to have been given him at the Anley hotel Saturday night was called off. General Booth will be met at the Terminal station by W. S. Witham, Atlanta capitalist, at whose home on Peachtree road, he will be entertained. Staff Captain J. Charles Barker, head of the local branch of the Volunteers, and a committee from several local organizations.

Sunday morning General Booth will give a talk at the Federal prison and Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock he will be addressed by the speaker at a general mass meeting at the Tabernacle Baptist church. At this meeting W. S. Witham will be master of ceremonies and Governor John M. Slaton will preside. Special meals have been arranged.

CHATTOOGA CO. FAIR PROVES BIG SUCCESS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) SUMMERVILLE, Ga., Oct. 24.—The Chattooga County fair, held at Summerville October 23 and 24, was a great success. The exhibits were the best ever seen in this section. The exercises on the 23rd were opened by a speech from Judge John W. Maddox, followed by Governor John M. Slaton. This was the old home of Judge Maddox, and the great crowd listened attentively to his address. He declared that the farmers needed no legislation to control their products. Governor Slaton followed along the same lines and went somewhat into detail as to the suggestion of an extra session of the legislature.

LAST APPEAL IN FRANK CASE COMES UP MONDAY

Defense Motion to Set Aside
Verdict Will Be Heard

The last appeal in the case of Leo M. Frank, the motion to set aside the verdict of guilty on the ground that it is illegal because Frank was not present in the court room when it was rendered, will be argued on a demurrer before the supreme court of Georgia Monday.

Their briefs have been prepared and the attorneys for both the state and the defense say that they are ready to proceed with the case.

When the motion was brought in the superior court Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey filed a general demurrer, which was sustained on June 6 by Judge Hill. The defense immediately appealed. The demurrer practically controls the motion, so the case hinges on the decision of the supreme court on the demurrer.

The motion to set aside is in a way more important than the extraordinary motion for a new trial, which Frank recently lost, for should he win on the technical motion, lawyers say he could not again be tried, and would be freed.

In event Frank loses on the motion to set aside, his attorneys will at once attempt to carry the case into the United States court on the point, it is said.

Attorney General Grice will assist Solicitor General Dorsey in the prosecution of the case before the supreme court, and he and the solicitor have both prepared lengthy briefs.

The state stresses its contention that even if the motion is well founded in law it should have been brought at the time the original motion for a new trial was made, instead of after the supreme court had passed upon the demurrer, and the extraordinary motion on the ground of new evidence was pending.

The motion to set aside was brought by attorneys Tye & Peoples and Haas & Haas.

NEGROES INTERESTED IN SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Plans for making the meetings of Sunday school workers among the colored churches an annual event are being pushed by leading members of the conference, just closed. During the past week, meetings have been held nightly at the Wheat street Baptist church and attendance of more than 400 was registered at each service.

Work of studying the latest methods of Sunday school workers was exhaustively gone into and excellent results have been accomplished already, according to William J. Frost, secretary of the Colored Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Blosser Will Preach
Dr. J. W. Blosser will preach at Union Tabernacle ("The People's church") on Monday, today at 11 a. m. on "The Making of a Great Church, With or Without Money." At 8 p. m. he will address the young people on "The Power of a Smile."

BREATHE FREELY! OPEN NOSTRILS AND STUFFED HEAD AT ONCE--END CATARRH

My Cleansing, Healing Balm
Instantly Clears Nose, Head and Throat--Stops Nasty
Catarrhal Discharges, Dull
Headache Goes.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."
Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it--Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stuffed-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dizziness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dripping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith--just once--in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear. (Adv.)

The Advantages of Magneto Ignition

—it keeps the motor cool.

—it develops more power due to a hotter spark, which increases its heat as the motor speed increases.

The heat of an Overland spark, by actual test, is ten times greater than the spark of the ordinary battery ignition.

The 'high tension Overland magneto requires no dry cells.

The absence of a high tension magneto on a car is an indication that the car is not all it should be. Something very important is lacking, consequently there might be many other important things left off, of which you are not aware.

The Overland has every practical and essential improvement.

When you purchase an Overland you get the most stylish, most comfortable, most convenient, most complete and most carefully constructed car for the price in the world.

—it is entirely independent of the starting and lighting system.

High tension magneto ignition is conceded by the great majority of experts and engineers to be the most efficient. Also it is the most expensive.

All high-priced cars are equipped with a magneto.

Most popular priced cars have no magneto. Only the cheaper and less effective battery ignition is furnished.

Those manufacturers who use the battery ignition do so to cut down their manufacturing costs. They do not furnish a magneto because it is too costly.

A high tension magneto is furnished with the Overland because——it means a faster getaway.

—it means a livelier motor.

—it means more power at all speeds.

DRINK MORE WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat and take Salts for Backache or Bladder trouble.

Uric acid is most exciting the kidneys, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll have a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

But less meat, drink lots of water; also use some any pharmacist. Four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble. (Adv.)

This Week at the Local Theaters

IRENE AND BOBBIE SMITH-FORSYTH

CURZON SISTERS - FORSYTH

Clever Vaudeville Acts at Forsyth-Annette Kellerman Pictures Return to Grand-Atlanta Dark All Week

"TELEPHONE TANGLE"

REAR FORTNIGHT BELL

A "Telephone Tangle" Joseph Harris' successful headline; William Gould and Belle Ashlyn, the cleverest of all specialists; Irene and Bobby Smith-Forsyth, the wonderful theatrical profession; the Curzon Sisters, the flying butterflies; Lowell and Esther Drew, the charming couple; and the Forsyth family, the most entertaining make up the bill that will be the program of entertainment this week at the Grand Forsyth.

Charlotte Bannell wrote "A Telephone Tangle" is "Just something that happens every day." Dorothy Bannell has been playing company of eight and the scene is most realistic. The story deals with the pranks of a girl at the switchboard. Tired with the routine of life at the board she decided to have some fun, and when she crosses the wire there in all sorts of fun. Any one who imagines the trouble such a prank would bring about, and Charlotte Bannell has thought out some schemes that are as realistic as the scene itself. The act is one of the best features of vaudeville and a highlight worthy of the Forsyth.

Billy Gould, comedian, author, humorist, composer, and all that qualifies a man to be a vaudeville star, will appear with Belle Ashlyn in a specialty that promises to be one of the best treats of the season. Billy Gould is known to be one of the cleverest entertainers ever to face a podium. He is a present day Broadway favorite just on a vacation from his regular beat. With Miss Ashlyn he has accepted a short tour of some of the principal cities in the Keith circuit and will make his first stop at Atlanta.

With latter song and comedy he is going to win his way to the first row on Atlanta's vaudeville.

Howard the Swedish vocal-artist will introduce the vaudeville act with his "The Entertaining Vaudeville Act."

He has returned to America from his tour of Europe, and his act has been three more pleasant on this side of the water. The Keith office quite gave him a prize and he is to be one of the Forsyth features.

The Curzon Sisters, southern girls who are internationally known because they are the creators of the aerial stunt known as "Flying Butterflies" will be another of the stars for the week. They will perform one of the most sensational acts ever seen on the local stage. Irene and Bobby Smith-Forsyth, pretty girls, with worth while songs, Lowell and Esther Drew, the charming couple, and the Forsyth family, the most entertaining make up the bill that will be the program of entertainment this week at the Grand Forsyth.

Kellerman returns to the Grand.

The Grand has broken all attendance records and setting a new precedent for the city. Annette Kellerman, the famous swimmer, returned to the Grand this week. She drew over 10,000 people in June of this year during the nine days uninterrupted run.

The Kellerman picture has had the most phenomenal success. Fully 5,000,000 people have seen it since it was first presented on Broadway less than six months ago.

In the picture the "perfect woman" in the spectacular production, the Universal Motion Picture company has been chosen to believe it has created the last word in moving pictures.

The beauty of the story, written by Lewis T. Peacock, already noted for his aquatic dramas, is vividly enhanced by the Bermuda Island scenery in which the picture was taken.

To view The perfect woman, submarine divers, semi-tropic verdure and the last attitude of the crystal-clear Caribbean furnish an entrancing background for the swimming story.

It will be presented at the Grand for nine performances from 12 until 10:30 o'clock.

JEWELL KELLEY COMPANY AT BIJOU THEATRE.

No many requests have come to the management of the Bijou theater for an old fashioned, well uplited comedy, that the Jewell Kelley company has decided to present the coming week the funniest of all farce comedies, entitled "The Whodunnit Family." This is a farce in three acts, and it is said to be one of the most startling, amusing and immensely funny comedies that has been given the stage in the last decade.

It will give every member of the company an opportunity to appear in congenial roles, and the many complications, tangles, and absurd situations that occur during the three acts, will keep Bijou audiences convulsed with laughter. The play also admits of an introduction of many interesting specialties in singing and dancing, and will be interesting news to patrons of the Bijou that Vernon Wallace is a quite a singer and will be heard in several popular ballads. Matinees will be given daily at 2:30 and the evening performance at 8:30. Monday night ladies will be admitted free as usual.

ATLANTA TO BE DARK ALL THE WEEK.

The Atlanta will be dark this week, but next week another big show will come.

Here is what the Richmond Times-Dispatch said of it.

"The Main Tree" has become a classic of fun-making, and like all classic works of the name, it will never grow old. This year from now, the scene at the junction of the stage and because Henth is one of the few large audiences of the season in a gala of wholesome laughter for about half an hour. Whether any of that particular scene has been changed in the last ten years or not, I don't remember and don't care. It will always remain new. Because McIntyre is one of the most beautiful negro impersonators on the stage, and because Henth is one of the most untouchable comedians that work in blackface, they form a literally indelible team.

But, while "The Main Tree" itself is a bit of a farce, John Curt has dug it up and set it out in a peach orchard. He has, so far as Richmond knows, "the world's greatest dancing chorus," and he has, so far as Richmond knows, "the world's greatest dancing chorus." There are twenty girls, each of twelve men, enough to fill the stage, and every one of them is a dancer, while that master of musical comedy, Ned Weyburn, has taught the thirty-two to dance as one.

When "Peg O' My Heart" comes to the Atlanta for the week of November 9, it will be played by the same identical cast that appeared here last season. This delicious comedy played 404 consecutive performances at the Cort theater, New York, with Laurette Taylor, that Manager Murray closed the call from other cities for this triumph, was forced to organize several special engagements that it is to appear here, he inaugurated a new system of management. "No company of mine will be hastily thrown together," he declared. "Beginning with

"BLOSSOMS FROM MINTYRE & HEATH'S 'HAM TREE'"

This play my travelling organization will first have to satisfy New York audiences. So he caused the members of the cast who are associated with Miss Blanche Hall in Mr. Maers' play, to give several performances at the Cort theater during its unusual run. "Theater patrons in other cities are entitled to performances identical with those of the Metropolitan," continued Mr. Morison, "and this I am proud to say I have accomplished in sending 'Peg' on tour again with a cast that has New York players."

TEXAS NIGHT RIDERS "BOOST" COTTON PRICE

Warn Merchants They Must Not Pay Less Than Ten Cents

(By Associated Press.)

DAINGERFIELD, Tex., Oct. 24.—Night riders last night posted notices on the doors of merchants here who have been known to buy cotton for less than 10 cents per pound. The notices gave warning that the stores would be burned if any more cotton is purchased under 10 cents.

Most of the business men said they considered the threats of no importance on the doors of merchants here who have been known to buy cotton for less than 10 cents per pound. The notices gave warning that the stores would be burned if any more cotton is purchased under 10 cents.

Mr. Johnson to address DEAF MUTE BIBLE CLASS

Mr. Johnson J. Johnson, of Talladega, Ala., visiting relatives in the city, has consented to address the deaf-mute Bible class at St. Mark Sunday school this morning at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Johnson is of a family long interested in the education of the deaf in the Alabama school. He is gifted as a speaker in the expressive sign language of the deaf. It is a rare opportunity for the deaf of the city and their friends to enjoy the address of Johnson this morning. All are invited and urged to be present.

Ball Tuesday Night

A grand ball will be given Tuesday night at 8:30 o'clock at 111-12 Whitehall by the Frobenius-Greifbund club. The price of admission will be 50 cents. Ladies will be admitted free.

MOTHER FEARS SON IS VICTIM OF STAGE FEVER

Missing Lad Very Slender and About Five Feet Six Inches Tall

Mr. J. M. Carter, of 15 Bonnie Blue avenue, is very anxious to locate his sixteen-year-old son, William Yancey Carter, who has disappeared. The boy is described as being very slender, about five feet six inches tall and has one upper tooth missing. He was employed at the T. S. Lewis Cracker company.

No reason for his disappearance can be ascribed by his mother. The mother thinks the lad may have become stage-struck and joined some theatrical troupe.

ATLANTA MEN PATENT SHOW CASE INVENTION

Big. Well and G. Greer Waters, of Atlanta, have received papers for full patent rights to a new invention of a show case. This show case is a combination affair for the display of and storage of merchandise, such as men's or women's furnishings, books, jewelry, etc. It is a revolving case and saves floor space to the merchant.

Monday evening Mrs. R. L. Willis entertained a surprise party in honor of the birthday of her sister, Miss Julia. Progressive games were played and sandwiches and tea were served.

OXFORD

OXFORD.—The Klukare Klub was charmingly entertained by Mrs. C. E. Giles on Tuesday afternoon at a Halloween reception. The dining room was appropriately decorated for the occasion with witches and pumpkins and black and yellow were the prevailing colors. Miss Mary Starr, as the witch, told the fortunes of each guest from a bubbling cauldron. Several guests were present besides the members of the club.
The ladies of Oxford gave a reception to the Young Men's Christian association and visiting delegates attending the convention, now in session, on Thursday afternoon at the college library. About 300 young men were present during the afternoon.
Miss Rosalie Langford and Miss Mattie May Strick, of Conyers, were guests of Miss Mary Kelly this week.
Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Peabody and little son, Jack, motored to Atlanta Thursday.
Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Starr and little daughter have returned to Atlanta, after spending a few days with Mrs. O. F. Starr.

It Simply Can't Be Done

YOU can no more get clean, pure milk from an insanitary, ill-kept creamery than you can get pure drinking water from a stagnant pool. It simply can't be done!

The Argo Creamery Products Company

is a new organization, and the method of treating milk and butter in the ARGO'S creamery is also new to this section of the country. One of Atlanta's greatest needs has been, for quite a long time, just such a dairy as that which has been opened by the ARGO CREAMERY. This new creamery is clean, well kept, sanitary in every respect, and the methods of handling the different kinds of milk and cream are the very latest known to modern dairying.

Argo Means Quality, Purity, Sanitation

We invite your inspection of the most up-to-date sanitary dairy equipment in the South. We guarantee our product to be absolutely perfect—clean, pure, sanitary. And every pint of

Argo Creamery's Milk Is Pasteurized Milk

The ARGO CREAMERY has been established in Atlanta for the sole purpose of furnishing the people of Atlanta absolutely pure milk, milk that is as pure as it is possible to make it—and that is exactly what we are now doing. We have already established our milk depot—absolutely sanitary in every respect—at 97 Garnett street, and tomorrow morning we open another in a different section of the city. We have arranged for sixteen locations for milk depots, and every one of the sixteen will be in operation before very long.

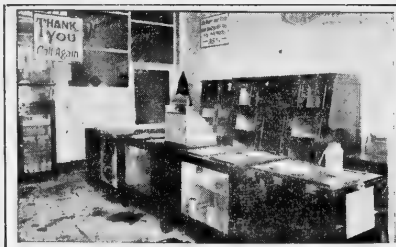

We are now in position, however, to supply you our celebrated PASTEURIZED MILK in quart bottles, and to make delivery a very few minutes after we get your order over the telephone. We deliver anywhere in Atlanta, by our and we guarantee that when our milk is delivered to you, at your home, it will be delivered at a temperature of not more than 45 degrees Fahrenheit. Isn't that worth something to you? Isn't it worth something to know that the milk you get is delivered to you at absolutely the same temperature as when it left the creamery? Ask your doctor if it isn't.

We know that our creamery is absolutely clean and sanitary—every inch of it. We know this because we made it so. But we want you to know it, too. We invite you to come to our creamery at any time that you can do so—we invite you to come in and inspect every inch of our place, our methods and our product. We want YOU to KNOW ABSOLUTELY that we have a clean, sanitary dairy, and that the milk and butter you get from us is absolutely clean and sanitary. We present below some

AN ORGANIZATION OF SPECIALISTS IN DAIRYING

We pride ourselves on the fact that we know what we are doing—that we know how to do what we have started out to do, and that we are fully competent to give the people of Atlanta the purest milk that is possible to give—PASTEURIZED milk. The head of the ARGO CREAMERY, Mr. A. M. Arnold, is an experienced dairymen from Minnesota, and the head of the ARGO'S butter making department is Mr. H. P. Norwood, for the past three years in charge of the butter making department at the Georgia Experiment Station, Griffin, Ga. We are doing what we know how to do, and we want you to know just how we are doing it, hence our invitation to you to come and inspect our creamery.

The Ansley Hotel uses the products of the ARGO CREAMERY, and Mr. J. C. Evans, Steward of the Ansley, has given us permission to state in this advertisement that he has never used milk, cream and butter that came up to the ARGO standard. Mr. Evans knows good milk and butter, and his opinion of ARGO CREAMERY products should have weight with you.

Bothered by Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Head or Chest Colds

Try the New External Treatment—Relieves by Inhalation and Absorption. No Stomach Dosage.

For years we have been doing our best to cure cold troubles despite the fact that vapor treatments are quicker and do not disturb the stomach. The trouble is that the old methods of administering these vapors such as vapor lamps, etc., were very cumbersome and contained Menthol, Thymol, Eucalyptol, Camphor, and Pine Oil, which are in a special process, so that they are a violent irritant to the mucous membrane of the throat. These vapors open the air passages, loosen the phlegm, and heal the inflamed mucous membrane.

The Catarrh and Head Colds melt a little in a spoon and inhale the vapor.

FURNITURE PRICES THAT TALK Second Week of Big Sale

I surprised my friends last week with the really worth while furniture values. The prices and quality of the goods did it. The same points of merit did the talking. A lot of people came in just to say that they were glad that I was back in the furniture business, but even these made purchases before leaving—just couldn't resist the talk of quality and prices.

The second week of this sale begins tomorrow. My new stock is arriving and the goods now on the floor must be moved. There'll be still greater surprises this week. You are welcome to come and look, but the chances are you'll buy.

This week will offer unusual opportunities for purchases of bedroom furnishings, such as Brass and Steel Beds, Hingham Beds, Steel Beds, Felt and Cotton Mattresses. Special values and prices on all of these.

Remember, my store is out of the HIGH RENT DISTRICT, and for that reason I can sell cheaper.

Darken Your Gray Hair

Use Ordinary Liquid Q-Ban, and No One Can Tell. Don't Cost Much!

If your hair is gray, streaked with gray, faded or falling and you want beautiful, dark hair, free from dandruff, soft, silky and glossy, simply apply ordinary Liquid Q-Ban to hair and scalp, like a shampoo, rubbing it in gently with the finger tips. Q-Ban doesn't cost much to try and is no bother to use, as nothing else is required.

Q-Ban acts on the hair roots and makes and keeps your hair soft, fluffy, trim, giving the hair that dark fascinating lustre and abundance which makes the hair so attractive. It doesn't stiffen or dry or make hair brittle, and is a delightful hair dressing. Also stops dandruff, itching scalp, hair or itching scalp.

With Brickley Out Harvard May Alter Play

Loss of Star Halfback Means That Coach Haughton Will Employ Open Style of Play Much More Freely Than Had Been Anticipated

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Harvard's type of football is quite likely to be somewhat modified in preparation for Princeton and Yale, if not for Michigan. It is expected that the team will be changed to a more open style of play, far less than it has been in the past. Florida University Fails to Score Touchdown Against Tiers—4,000 Fans See the Game

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 24.—Florida university, although it used every play in its possession, was unable to score on Sewanee here today and was forced to take defeat by the count of 14-0. Sewanee, but a short time after the ball was kicked into her territory, carried the ball for consistent gains with but little interruption until the first touchdown was scored on the Sewanee tackle over tackle play. He skipped through the line for a run of 45 yards, Pultuck Roulback, for Sewanee, kicked the goal.

Harvard Ties With Penn. State In Baseball War

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 24.—Harvard narrowly escaped defeat today by the Penn. State Blue team, which played all around the Crimson. The score was a tie, 13 to 13. The game was a very close one, with the Harvard varsity substitutes about the field, scoring a touchdown and a goal from the field in the first twelve minutes of play. # Minors' Meeting Important Step In Baseball War

Gathering Will Take Place in Omaha, Nov. 10-12—Unless Organized Forces Patch Up Truce With Federals, Several Small Leagues May Join Outlaws

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The annual meeting of the National Association of Minor leagues will take place in Omaha on November 10, 11 and 12. This will be one of the most important gatherings in baseball this winter. From all over the United States and Canada managers will gather to talk of their league during the last year and to legislate for the coming season.

The penalty of a violation of this act shall be a fine of not less than $1,000 or not more than $5,000, or imprisonment for not more than three years, or both, at the discretion of the court. This means that in the future any corporation engaged in interstate commerce must keep its books and records clear of any records which would reflect the activities of its officers. Otherwise its officers will face a term of imprisonment.

The new federal trade commission will be the source of many a great legal and commercial battle. And this same time it will give the American business man, for the first time in the history of the country, a place to which all questions concerning trade methods and practices may be carried for final decision.

ATLANTA CHILDREN WHOSE PICTURES WILL BE SHOWN AT THE PANAMA EXPOSITION

PHOTOGRAPHS of twenty-five Atlanta children will be hung in the Temple of Childhood at the San Francisco exposition, where, for the first time in history, pictures of the most beautiful children in the world will be gathered.

This temple will commemorate the beauty of childhood, and will draw its chief attraction from the gallery of beautiful pictures, in which photographs of twenty-five Atlanta children will have prominent place.

Lewis D. Phillips, of Wesley Hirschburg & Lewis D. Phillips, commissioned to make photographs in Atlanta for the Temple of Childhood, has completed the pictures printed here.

He has endeavored to render his work perfect photography, with the result that accompanying photographs are among Atlanta's most beautiful pictures of children.

Each of the eight represents the lightest type of childhood, and all also up a gallery of innocent beauty that is without rival.

The Temple of Childhood at the San Francisco exposition will assemble not only pictures of beautiful children in America, but from all the world. It will be devoted to child life. These children's welfare, hygiene and decoration will be illustrated in greater detail than ever before attempted. A contest also will be held to determine the most beautiful child in the world. In this contest the twenty-five children representing Atlanta will be considered.

Each of the children representing Atlanta will be presented with a certificate from the Temple of Childhood, which will read:

"Whereas, the opening of the Panama canal will be celebrated at San Francisco, 1915, and such celebration, in close accord with international sentiment, will express the gratification of the countries of the world upon America's gift to civilization, and at the same time will be a potent factor in bringing the nations into closer relationship, and

"Whereas, the untold benefits to be derived from the operation of the Panama canal will accrue in the future to the children of today, and

"Whereas, the child life of the world will be fittingly represented at this exposition in and by the Temple of Childhood, it is the desire and hope of the United States and the countries of the world that official recognition and honor should be accorded to the children of the period by the exhibition of portraits characteristic of the child life of the world; therefore

"Be it known that (name of child to be inserted) is hereby accorded representation in the Temple of Childhood as a selected example of the child life of the state of Georgia."

Six-Year-Old Actors Of Atlanta Public Schools—Histrionic Art Replaces A. B. C's.

By Angus Perkinson

When making actors of school children, the visitor last week to the second grade, Ivy Street school, could have seen "The Cave People." One little boy was Old Saber Tooth, the Tiger. Other little boys were the hunters. All the little girls were the women of the tribe, and prepared the skin after the fearful tiger was slain.

But, remember, this was not play. This was study, by a new method, were learning history.

Over a table were raincoats which hung down, till they formed a cave, and in its dark recesses tossed and growled Old Saber Tooth. For a tiger only seven years old, just beginning to feel at ease in the multiplication tables, he growled wonderfully.

He belatedly cautioned the hunters. They were almost afraid of the monster who hid in the cave, and the little girls moved nearer the teacher. But the teacher remembered that the children held aloft really were the hunters, and that a tiger can't abide emboldened, they rushed forward. Old Saber Tooth scampered out, in a moment to his slain, and the little girls were crossing his skin, while the boys sought other games.

A Miracle Wrought. Such study seems too interesting to be serious. What would a teacher of the old blue-backed speller think? The answer! Letting children act their history lessons!

Yet this method has made over the usual school system. The permission to render school history, instead of eternally boring has worked a miracle.

Atlanta schools are no more now what they were last October than they are now. They have become something new, interesting, stimulating.

Lessons have taken on such meaning that none seems to have noticed the change in study. But it is the Atlanta's greatest effort in education.

First, children dramatize what they study. Wherever possible, they actually do the thing they read in books.

Secondly, they study the things around them—the home, Atlanta, signs of this section.

Thirdly, their books have replaced the old interest. The little ones read Webster's Goose rhymes, and the older ones read tales that satiate them for adventure.

Low effort is made to render study in the Atlanta schools interesting, definite and useful. All that is made concrete, nothing is abstract, and whatever is theoretical and without practical application has been abandoned.

How They Learn. In the first grade they no longer learn to read. They begin with their Mother Goose primer; they learn sentences by rote above all, they set what they hear.

It is really true that the power of learning from curly-cues on the pages comes to them unconsciously. They are so immersed in the story of Little Bo Peep and the adventures of Little Miss Muffet that the words in the books just come makes it vivid. But if you can give your own representation of the character or the events, that fixes them in the mind.

But beyond the gaining of actual knowledge and impressions, Atlanta school children are developing originality and expression. They are getting rid of that repression that fixes itself on nine out of ten people.

Of course, all this while, reading and spelling and number work go on as much as ever. But the effort is made to have them all grow out of familiar things. For instance, the number work is associated with the homes the children are studying. You see, that makes it definite.

Now, in the second grade we come to the history of the cave men, and find caves being made under tables, and little boys changing into tigers and hunters, and little girls becoming cave women.

History of Atlanta. At the same school where Old Saber Tooth was slain, children have carried their studies even into the recess period. They have made a cave in the yard, and even when class is interrupted, they go on being cave folk.

That proves the worth of Atlanta's new system. It holds such intense interest for children that study becomes play. But you, in your school days, linger over studies?

In the third grade they read historic journeys, which have, in a wholesome way, the adventure craved by children of that age. And, after Christmas they are to study the history and the geography of Atlanta.

Heretofore, children have studied anything but the city in which they live. Now they are to learn the complete history of Atlanta from 1880 to this day.

They are to learn how the city is governed, what paving we use, and how the city is governed.

what is the best paying—in every detail, they are to be trained, as far as possible, for intelligent citizens. They are to study the crops of the surrounding country—cotton and corn and fruit trees.

And with the older children the practical side of education is to go further. The theory before has been that pupils were to attend colleges, but this has not proved true of one in a hundred. Then, why should they have preparation for future study never undertaken? By making study more and more industrial this question has been answered.

But what has been accomplished is only part of what is to be done. Atlanta schools have been made over. But even greater changes are in mind.

Atlanta schools have been made over. But even greater changes are in mind. What has been done was directed largely by Miss Laura M. Smith, primary supervisor, who has prepared a manual by which the work of the first three grades has been revised.

Chiffon blouses makes a very picturesque costume. Up to date, under all the wide skirts there is always a narrow one, but one can safely promise that this will be dispensed with before the winter is over.

As is the case with wide short skirts, high French heels will be the only kind worn. The athletic girl can no longer wear "slinkers."

HARRISON FISHER'S IDEAL FOR 1915

HARRISON FISHER, in 1915, will draw the southern type of beauty. He will not, of course, confine himself to one ideal of face or feature. That would rob his work of variety, which is one of its greatest charms.

But in most of his illustrations the delicate features which are purely southern, will predominate. Yet his 1915 girl will be vivacious. His model will combine the grace and pliancy that are characteristic of beauty in Atlanta.

The charm which is found here will be the chief attraction in Mr. Fisher's illustrations next year. In fact, many of his delicate magazine drawings, which are exquisite expressions of beauty, will be close likenesses of some Atlanta debutantes. These drawings might almost be taken for portraits.

Actual photographs will play a part in getting this resemblance. Mr. Fisher has assembled a collection which represents the most perfect in southern beauty, and, while he will depend chiefly on living models, these photographs will aid him. And among them will be photographs from Atlanta.

Mr. Fisher has spent much time this year in the west, and rumor was that Miss Margaret Abercrombie, of San Francisco, would be the type predominating in his drawings for 1915. But his heart is set on beauty of another sort.

His Ideal. One day on a trip to Florida he went fishing, and there met the type of loveliness that is to make attractive the magazines next year. As he tells it, he had reached a little house among the pines, and by the gates at the roadside stood a girl who seemed to embody the best in southern beauty.

"While she wore a 10-cent hat," said Mr. Fisher, "and a cotton dress that couldn't have cost more than a dollar, she was enchanting. I think she was the most beautiful woman I ever saw."

"I looked up her mother, and told her if she would bring her daughter to New York to pose for me, I would pay her $40 a week. But the mother refused. She said such a sum of money would be a shame to them, but posing for pictures was not an occupation for her daughter."

"I think the dignity of the mother was as beautiful as the nose and eyes of the daughter."

Mr. Fisher, who lives in New York, last week gave to The Journal an interview through Nikola Greeley-Smith, magazine and newspaper writer, in which he expresses intensely interesting opinions of the styles of beauty in 1915.

This interview follows: "I found him," writes Miss Smith, "in his wonderful studio overlooking Bryant park in the midst of a bewildering bazaar of pretty girl pictures, all his own creation. While we discussed the points of his 1915 beauty I asked him to let me have some sketches of her for the readers of The Journal and he was kind enough to do so."

1915 a Piquant Beauty. "I should say," began the famous illustrator, with the modest diffidence his great success has not diminished, "that the Fisher girl of 1915 is charming and pleasant rather than classically beautiful. She is not the dull doll type. She has wavy, carelessly arranged hair, afternoon blonde than dark, though I shall do some brunettes and some girls with red hair, also, if I can find a model to suit me—she must have copper and not carrot hair."

"The 1915 girl must have a broad low brow and arched eyebrows with the right eyebrow a little heavier than the left. You know a slight difference in the eyebrows gives much more character to beauty—a little saucer nose that lifts a little, and beautiful cut nostrils—that girl in Florida had marvelous nostrils. Her brows must be slightly puckered in a puzzled frown, while her full red mouth is smiling. She is wondering what life is all about anyway, but is smiling at it just the same. Her face is broad at the base, but has a pointed chin like that girl over there."

"I looked in the direction Mr. Fisher indicated and saw a water color of a very young girl with ash blonde hair and long dreamy gray eyes."

"Starting from the two swallows in full flight that constituted her eyebrows, a line drawn through them and following the outline of cheeks and chin made a perfect heart."

"That 1915 girl has a face the shape of a heart," I remarked to her creator.

"Yes," Mr. Fisher answered, "her face is a perfect heart and it is very attractive. That little girl worked in a box factory for nothing at all week till she became a model a few months ago. She is only seventeen years of age now!"

Fashion Is Returning to Hoop Skirts

We are slowly but surely going back to the old-fashioned hoop skirts. The new "cape" skirts are circular in form and at least four yards around the bottom. Some of these are formed by codets which run up to the hip and others have the fullness only at the sides from a wide yoke.

Of necessity these skirts are very short. Some of them being eight and ten inches from the ground. Fur will be very much worn this winter. And a black velvet skirt trimmed with Martin or monkey fur, if you can afford it, will put you in the foremost brigade of fashion.

CONCERNING HEALTH and BEAUTY

By MRS. HENRY SYMES

IF YOU WOULD BE SPICK AND SPAN

Invincible Pins For Hairwigs

AN AUTHORITY on beauty and I agree with her, that beauty depends not so much upon perfect features as upon first, health, and second, dress. To be beautiful a woman must have health, so that her skin will be clear, her carriage erect and buoyant, her hair endowed with life, and her personality, vivacious and radiant when occasion demands. One Englishman says that we Americans express too much upon our countenances, that we expend our nervous energy in a continual radiation, instead of conserving it for "occasions"; that the expressive face of the Englishman denotes greater reserve strength. There is, no doubt, truth in this, but I should dislike heartily to have my countrymen forget expression, in case many three Englishmen, when the "occasion" really presents itself.

Second to health comes dress. In fact, it has long been demonstrated that dress is one of the most important factors in the feminine world. When a woman is well dressed, she inspires both herself and others with confidence in her. Hence well dressed means not only good materials and good lines, but the adjustment of a gown, a hat, or a wrap, even so small a thing as the adjustment of the gloves.

A milliner whom I know well said to me, "I can't tell the hat alone that can make a woman look smart. Mrs. Symes, it is the way she wears it. Then this clever woman tried on several of her own most exclusive models the wrong way, and I had to confess that she looked 'dowdy.' After that she then tried them on, giving them a little here and a twist and turn there, and she appeared as once again—the hat that elicits and desirable thing known as "chic." Then she went on to tell me that even though adjusted at just the correct angle, a clever hat can be marred by the adjustment of the veil.

Most women know how a veil should be worn, but few will take the trouble to follow up their knowledge. When it is necessary to knot a veil at the back of the hat, the knot should be made as neatly as possible, and the ends tucked completely and neatly out of sight. Frequently, she will see a woman with a narrow ribbon along the bottom of my veil. Home-made veils are often made with a narrow ribbon, and it is a mistake to fix the veil at the ends, and then fasten it at the back of the head. For winter days, when my fur piece snugly lies up about my throat, I have frequently resorted to this device of a draw ribbon about the bottom of the veil, which keeps me spick and span inside. Then there should always be another pin, besides the one at the neck, at the back just at the edge of the hat brim. This keeps the veil well blown about the face. While dressing the hair they use quantities of the milliner's impression upon me, too, that was always well to have different veils for different head hats; not wearing the veil intended for a large-brim on a coupe as being compelled to dispose of long, unsightly ends, besides crushing part of the veil so that it looks untidy next time the stockings should be unwrinkled

It is worn on the hat for which it was originally intended. The next time you are in a crowd of people where there are many women, note their stockings. Pretty pumps they may have and good quality stockings, but notice how the stockings wrinkle over the instep and frequently sag at the heels. This is because the hose supporters are not adjusted properly. So many things in dress are vitally connected with that word "adjustment." Then, again, some of the stockings will look as though they have a little twist to them that puts the instep of the stocking decidedly on the bias. This is because the stocking has not been straightened before the supporters are snapped. Wrinkles and bagging, too, are because the stockings are made to fit the figure, they should be drawn down and kept in place, and when they are made to be worn full, they should be bloused and held in place, too. It is possible to do this if you pin the bottom of the blouse before putting on your skirt, and if you place a ribbon or an elastic belt at your normal waist line before donning the skirt. The better way is to put in the extreme edge of the blouse a piece of elastic, allowing no materials to come out more at one point than at another.

I have heard so many girls and women complain of the ends of hair that will blow about their faces. While dressing the hair they use quantities of invincible pins, but as soon as they go out and meet a fresh little breeze, out come the wisps. The way to do is to have a small windstorm before going to bed, fanning the hair after it is entirely dressed. All the rebellious little ends will then make their appearance and can be pinned and pinned into place with the invincible pins before venturing outdoors. Then a wig, and the rebellious ends that could come out on account of being irretrievably misplaced, must pin with you, too, to adjust

ADVICE ON SOCIAL CUSTOMS

most cordially invites for friends to bring to his house for Christmas and New Year's parties.

If a personal visit is desired, a self-addressed stamped envelope will be enclosed.

AFTERNOON TEA
So many of my readers have written for suggestions for winter entertaining that I am going to speak to all them today and answer all their queries with the significant words, afternoon tea.

The afternoon tea is becoming more important as the seasons roll on. It is a delightful form of entertainment which enables the hostess to clear all social obligations and at the same time entertain her friends and social acquaintances. It can be a small affair or a very large one. The hostess can make her own little buffet luncheon or can put the matter in charge of a caterer. A hostess can give a series of afternoon teas, one for each month or through the winter. Again, a hostess can give a large formal affair, and the matter is up to her.

So you see that there is a wide scope for the afternoon tea. It is one of the reasons for its popularity. It is also an excellent way of introducing a debutante to society. They are also excellent for introducing visiting friends all the ones who belong to your circle of society. As you see, they are good ways to cancel all obligations and entertain in the best of style.

The invitations should be sent out for a formal afternoon tea a week or ten days ahead of the date mentioned in the cards. There are several forms. Sometimes the name of the husband appears on the invitation in conjunction with that of his wife. It is the custom to have those of the daughters who will receive with the hostess appear. Any reliable stationer will be able to furnish you with the different styles of invitations from which you can choose the one that appeals.

Send out the cards by mail. One envelope will be required. If a married couple are invited, the cards are addressed to the husband as well as the wife.

It is best to arrange your afternoon list so that there will be a congenial crowd of friends who will be able to take refreshment. It is not necessary to have those of the daughters who will receive with the hostess appear. Any reliable stationer will be able to furnish you with the different styles of invitations from which you can choose the one that appeals.

ANSWERS TO BEAUTY QUERIES

REPLIES to letters to the writer of this department will be printed in regular order, but no replies in print may be expected in less than three or four weeks.

Correspondents desire immediate replies to queries may get them by enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope. Personal inquiries will receive prompt attention if accompanied by a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Nits in the Hair
Dear Mrs. Adams: I have a terrible case of nits in my hair. Please tell me what to do to get rid of them.

Nit is a small, white, oval-shaped insect that lives in the hair. It is a common pest of the hair, and it is very difficult to get rid of. The best way to get rid of it is to use a nit comb. A nit comb is a comb with very fine teeth that will catch the nits. You should use the nit comb every day, and you should wash your hair with a strong disinfectant. You should also use a hair oil that will kill the nits.

Talcum Powder
Dear Mrs. Adams: I have a terrible case of nits in my hair. Please tell me what to do to get rid of them.

Talcum powder is a fine, white powder that is used to keep the skin cool and dry. It is a common cosmetic, and it is very easy to use. You should use talcum powder every day, and you should use a hair oil that will kill the nits.

A Dry Shampoo
Dear Mrs. Adams: I have a terrible case of nits in my hair. Please tell me what to do to get rid of them.

A dry shampoo is a powder that is used to clean the hair without the use of water. It is a common cosmetic, and it is very easy to use. You should use a dry shampoo every day, and you should use a hair oil that will kill the nits.

To get rid of the superfluous oil, I advise you to use the lotion for which I am giving the recipe.

Homemade Grape Wine.

"I would like a recipe for a good home-made apple wine—W. C. C."

Pick ripe grapes from the stems and wash in plenty of water. Strain the juice in a cider press when you have a large quantity, but if only a few are used you can mash them with a potato masher or in a vegetable chopper. Strain the juice through a bag, pressing it to get out all the liquid, and to each quart of this allow half a quart of water. Strain the juice into a clean bottle or ferment, placing the top of the bung-hole with a plug in it. A small quantity of yeast, or three sugars, or until it is cleaner and still, when it may be sweetened with all of the sugar desired. The wine must be bottled and sealed and stand on the sides in a cool place.

Wants Quill Pencils.

I am writing to G. F. B. as there is a quill pen in my pocket. I have a pen in the "Pitts" disaster. It may be interesting for some one to see it.

I regret that the pencils asked for have already been given away. Has some one a pencil that I can use? I would be deeply indebted I am sure there will be a reader who would like the book on "H. W. W." I will gladly give it to you if you will agree to it.

Supply of Extra Copies.

"I noticed the request of A. B. for the words of the poem 'Heard Is Only a Heart' and I am sorry I have not been touched. I have suffered a recent heavy sorrow in the going away of a dear one and I am not in a mood to be touched. It will comfort a bereaved heart."

H. W. W.

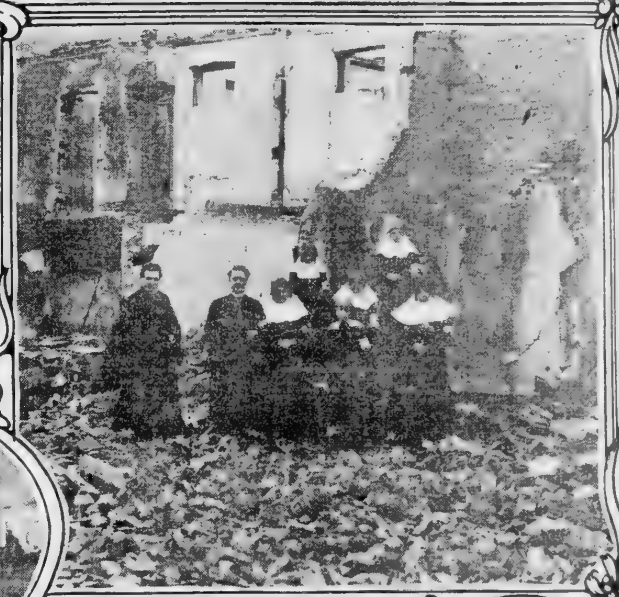

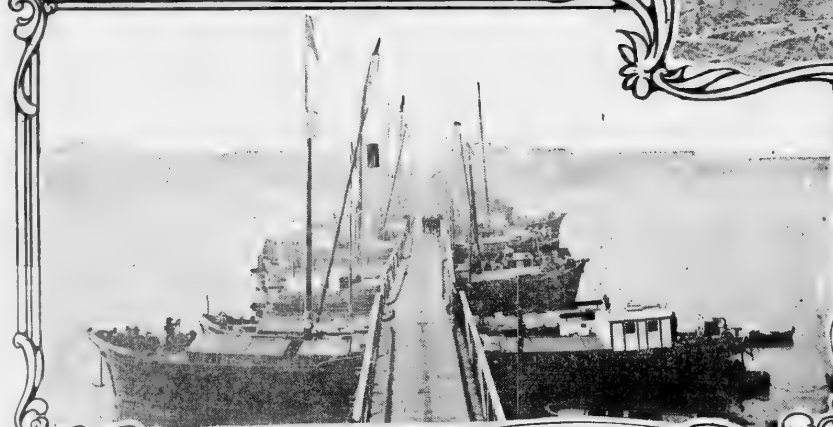

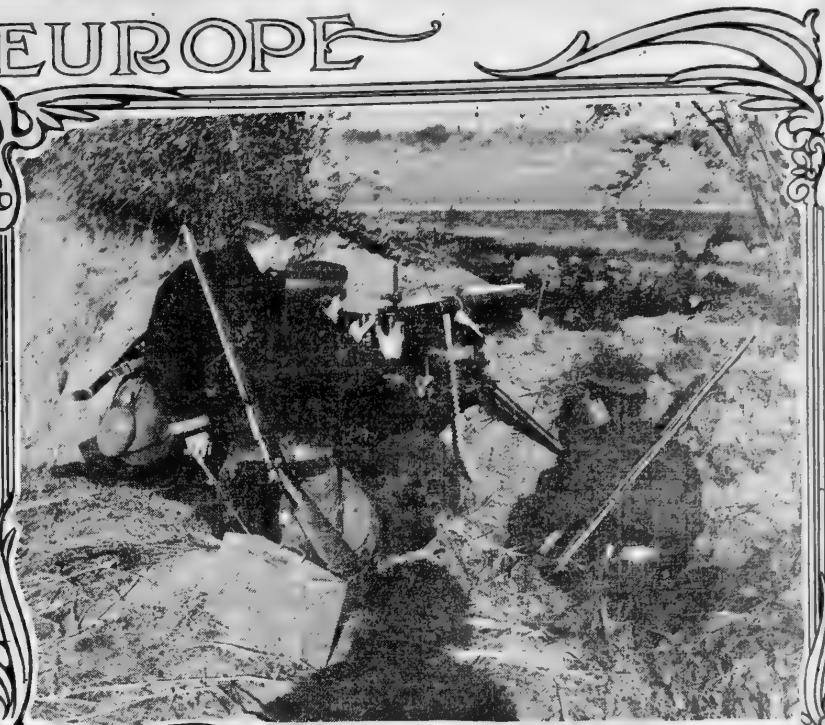

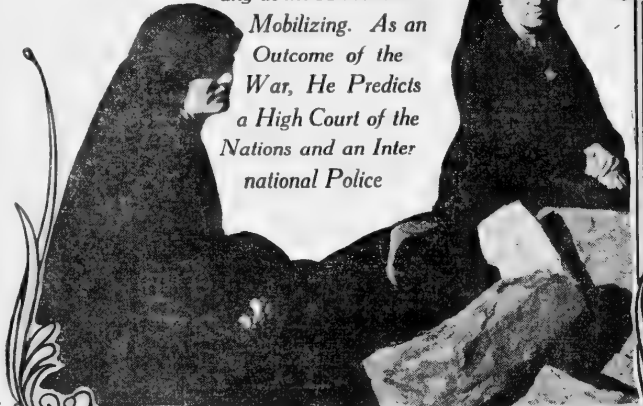

Thank you very much. I print this for the purpose of stating that two or three extra copies of this poem are in my possession and I will send them to anyone who wishes them enough to write for the purpose, inclosing a stamp. There are also a few copies of the poem which was asked for a while ago and that begins "The cold, chilly winds of December." There may also be determined by writing to them, inclosing stamps for postage.

WHAT I SAW IN EUROPE

Impressions of an Atlanta Man Who Escaped from Germany as the Kaiser Was Mobilizing. As an Outcome of the War, He Predicts a High Court of the Nations and an International Police

In the following interview, Dr. J. H. Hall of Atlanta, predicts that a high court of the nations and an international police force will result from the European war. Dr. Hall is director for the South Atlantic Division of the American Peace Society.

He saw Europe at peace, Europe awakening, and in London had first-hand pictures of the battlefield. News from men at the front who wrote that one could walk for miles over the bodies of the slain.

Early in August last summer I sailed from New York City as a delegate to the International Peace conference in Constance, Germany. At that time there was no hint of strife in the air, the journey was pleasant, myself and other delegates landed on the continent again with the pleasures of our journey and the high mission of peace.

I passed through Belgium and France on my way to Constance. Alsace-Lorraine, so soon to be once more the shuttlecock of grapple nations, spread before us in all the beauty of close-cropped farm land, stretches of waving grain, neat houses, peasant folk.

The Forts of France.
The only, a new impression in all that fair landscape, the one grim manifesto, was at the border—the forts. As we crossed into Alsace, we remarked on it. They all faced toward the north, the eyes of France over toward the north—and Germany.

But at that time we had no thought of war. Belgium was a panorama of checkerboard fields and bustling cities, where the cathedrals towered nobly high among busy blocks of houses and streets shot with rumbling buses and automobiles and cars.

It was that way in France. I hardly noticed the forts either going or returning, so I cannot say how they looked. But the city of France, one of these thriving little European centers of trade and art, with the mold of quaint landmarks and museums and old churches. It was hidden beneath a flowery coating of bustle and bustle and amusement and queer foreign jabber.

The Kaiser Comes to War.
Then came Germany. We went to Constance on a river with rainbows of war clouds over our heads. The next day, with the clash of arms, the foot of the war in our windows, the rain the soldiers' bayonets, on the tree and fence corner. This, in the midst of a peace conference.

The Kaiser was going to war, and when the Kaiser goes to war, though it is a terrible thing, yet it is as a result of the work. It is enough to chill the blood, the steady, steady manner in which those German forces mobilized.

For three days there, from dawn to dawn, a never-ending tide of Germans swelled into Constance and out again, south. They came in on every train, disembarked without a hitch, tramped through the broad, asphalted streets, embarked on another train, and were gone.

I do not think there was a half hour of the day when Germans were not pouring into Constance and pouring out again. They came in trains, on horseback, in automobiles and aeroplanes, in wagon and afoot, dunnage trappings, pointed helmets, graying feet, legion on legion, Germans, Germans, Germans. It seemed that gray sea would ebb some day; but on the day I left Constance it was flowing a steadily and as rhythmically as the first hour it flowed in from the north. For all I know it's flowing yet, on and on toward France.

We found it fairly easy to get away. At that time, regulations were not so strictly enforced as they were later; in fact, the Germans were as eager as we were to have us swept aside, especially careful in how they treated Americans and aided them on their return to their own country.

And so we hustled out of Germany. It was a quick night trip by speeding train. We left Constance on August 3. On the 4th I found myself in London.

In Constance there was no attempt to hide the marching men. They were off to grim war, and the people knew it. They were hurrying legions on France, and the people knew it.

Here in London, there were no marching troops. In the day-time one saw many soldiers around the streets, many tourists storming the steamship offices, many closed shops, but there was no visible going to war.

Only as I lay wide awake in my hotel bed at night I could hear outside in the dark streets that steady tramp, tramp. England's army moved by night. Germany's moved by day and by night. England's soldiers wheeled by in the black, bound no one knew whither. They were vanished by morning. Where one saw a camp at sunset was a litter of trash and stake-holes at day-break.

No man I saw looked as if he wanted to go to war. No throng I passed sped them with a glad word. War was a terrible thing to these people, every one. They knew that "civilized warfare" is an impossibility; that their brothers and their fathers and their husbands were going out to kill and in turn be killed.

There is no quarter on the firing line. And they knew it. Sober faces in Constance, sober faces in London and in Liege, stern-set with sheer doggedness. No cheers, no martial music, only the roll of drums and the tramp of feet and a crowd, silent when it was not so torn.

But when I returned to London on my final way home to the states things had changed. Misery had swept down in a night. Dispatches from the front told of suaken battleships of far-flung battle lines, of regiments annihilated at a blow, of sifting death from a clear sky, of war in all its horrid phases.

I saw some letters from an English rocky at the front. "For a mile we walked on dead bodies," he wrote.

Again: "The dead lay piled four and five feet high in the trenches. They made a barrier of bodies over which we aimed our guns."

One man told of the regiment they called the Black Watch. It had been annihilated in a charge in Belgium. Advancing in solid phalanxes against a German trench, it had been ripped to atoms. Not a man survived.

"The cannon tore a livid red road through them," said the letter. "Our men toppled like a field of grain before a scythe."

It was estimated that no less than 25,000 Germans fell at Liege, the bombardment of which was taking place while I was in London the last time. In the letters, it was told how some regiments lost all their officers, how fifty out of five hundred survived after three days' fighting.

I asked one Englishman how long he thought the war would last. He was an authority. He said: "Two years." In my opinion I think it will last but one.

Then what? It will be followed by a peace. The terrible results of the fiendish conflict will be reduced by general agreement. The military power will be in the hands, formed of all nations, shall preserve intact the good will and the power of all peoples, and lead us into a universal brotherhood.
