GREAT WAR PICTURES TO BE SEEN AT GRAND

Arthur Hyman Takes Over
Theater Lease and Opens
Monday With Good Feature

Announcement that Arthur B. Hyman, southern manager of the World Film corporation, had taken over from Jake Wells a two-year lease on the Grand theater is coupled with a further announcement that, beginning next Monday, Atlantians will have an opportunity of seeing for the first time a series of European war pictures which recently created such a stir in Chicago that police had to be called out to keep in line the throngs that were anxious to get into the theater to see the pictures.

The pictures were taken in Belgium by Edwin P. Weisig, staff photographer of the Chicago Tribune, who, accompanied by Joseph Medill Patterson, the noted war correspondent, was given by the Belgian government the exclusive right to make pictures on the Belgian battlefields. By arrangement with the Chicago Tribune and the Belgian government, half of the proceeds of the pictures is to go to the extension of Red Cross society work in stricken Belgium.

These motion pictures were the first to reach the United States of actual warfare in Europe. They portray in a realistic manner the great battles of Albert, Aeschel and Malines; the burning of the famous port of Antwerp; the flooding of Liege and the destruction of Tervuren. They show the Belgian soldiers in the trenches, in battle and in the line of march with the allies, and they portray in a manner far more realistic than word can speak the devastation wrought in Belgium by German gun-fire and the subsequent terrible sufferings of the Belgians.

GRADY TRUSTEES REGRET DEATH OF C. S. NORTHERN

Adopt Resolutions Praising Work as Member of the Board

At the meeting of the board of trustees of the Grady hospital Tuesday afternoon resolutions on the death of Mr. Charles S. Northern, for many years a member of the board, were adopted. The preamble to these resolutions is as follows:

"The board of trustees of the Grady hospital are once again called upon to record the death of one of its most valued members.
"Charles S. Northern, who so recently passed away, had the esteem, respect and confidence of every member of this board.
"He was full of good cheer and kindness. His work for the Grady hospital was one of fidelity and love. To us who were associated with him in his official position, as trustee, his purpose seemed prior to do all he could to place this institution in the front rank, and to make it a blessing in serving sick and suffering humanity.
"We are filled with a sense of our loss, and the loss to this institution of one who was ever ready to spend himself and his efforts to the upbuilding of the hospital, and all connected with it."

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Officers and directors of the Atlanta chamber of commerce were elected Tuesday afternoon. Those who had been chosen by the nominating board were unanimously elected. Fred Houser, W. L. Percy and J. T. Rose had charge of the election. The following were elected:

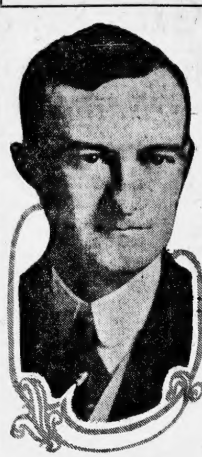

John W. Grant, which expires December 31, 1915.

ATLANTA THIEVES DO THANKSGIVING SHOPPING

Atlanta burglars are doing their Thanksgiving shopping early, and several Atlanta dinner tables are likely to be bare of turkey Thursday as witness their reported Wednesday morning at police headquarters.

Dr. M. C. Martin, a city physician, had a thirty-five-pound gobbler, the pride of the coop, slated to be chopped at sunrise Thursday, stolen during the night Tuesday from his home, 64 Hill street.

One turkey and several chickens were reported stolen from 317 West North avenue, and two gobbles and one hen from 168 North Jackson street.

BOY HOARDS HIS SAVINGS AND THEN RUNS AWAY

Mrs. Ella Kilgore, of 17 Peels avenue, has asked the police to aid her in locating her thirteen-year-old son, Millard Peyton, who has been missing since Monday.

She says he has been hoarding his savings ever since he was employed at the Columbia Phonograph company, with the intention, she thinks, of going to Oklahoma City, where one of his former playmates lives.

Help the Stomach Digest the Food

When the stomach fails to digest and distribute that which is eaten, the bowels become clogged with a mass of waste and refuse that ferments and generates poisons that are gradually forced into the blood, causing distress and often serious illness.

Most people naturally object to the drastic cathartic and purgative agents that shock the system. A mild, gentle laxative, positive in its effect and that will quickly relieve constipation is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, sold by druggists at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. It does not gripe or cramp, but acts easily and pleasantly and is therefore the most satisfactory remedy for children, women and elderly persons. For a free trial bottle write to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 451 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

War is abroad.

Winter at hand.

Want is here.

The blood of the man shot last week stains the locker club door. The convicted burglar points to the law-breaking locker club. His wife and children are part of our burden.

Lack of thrift has its victims; the employer paying less than a living wage has his; but the saloon and law-breaking locker club produce more—

Poverty stricken, jobless men.

"We are God's fellow-workers."

Should Atlanta give work to the workless?

Should our city issue bonds to do this?

Surely. But stop—

Should millions from a bond issue be entrusted to officials who promote drunkenness, crime, and pauperism, by licensing law-breaking saloons and locker clubs?

"Every man shall bear his own burdens."

A divided city can only fall.

Atlanta will endure. Let us get together!

If Mayor Woodward and his advisors actually believe an official oath to be meaningless, and laws binding upon public officials only when public officials choose, let us not think of issuing bonds.

TEN PER CENT of the registered voters can call an election to initiate legislation in Atlanta.

TWENTY-FIVE PER CENT of the registered voters can institute an election to recall any official, whether he be MAYOR, COUNCILMAN OR MEMBER OF A BOARD in the City of Atlanta.

SIX WEEKS' BATTLE VIVIDLY DESCRIBED BY ARMY JOURNAL

masses without counting its losses, mobilizing everything in a fierce endeavor to attain its object. But the effort was in vain.

"For close on to three weeks we had up against repeated frantic assaults. Every one of them was repulsed.

"Our front, with its circular formation, was not easy to hold. On the 30th of October the British, particularly the cavalry, had been obliged to withdraw for several hundred yards before a powerful onslaught. Our troops, attacking in conjunction and at the same time with our allies, were successful in re-establishing the impassable barrier which closed the approaches to Ypres. That which was done here by our army corps, working in close harmony with the English corps which it encircled, is worthy of a place in the most records of military history.

"On the 11th of November the enemy had succeeded, at a point north of Ypres, in crossing the canal over two bridges. By the 15th he had been driven back to the other bank. Also, on the 11th, the enemy succeeded in occupying a certain territory in the region to the south of Ypres. This territory was recaptured from him. On the 15th the attack of the enemy became less intense, and our position, already strong, became impregnable. This result was obtained by the Belgian army, together with the participation of the armies of Generals DeMauidh and DeCastelnau. These three armies constituted the group of armies under the command of General Foch. The attacks directed against them and by occupying between the Oise and the Yser, several positions of importance.

"The details assistance that we were able to lend, under these circumstances, to the British, tightened further the bonds uniting the allies in a brotherhood of arms. Finally the enemy's resistance inspired the Belgian army with confidence. This army, which had reorganized on its own territory, now is ready for the engagements of tomorrow.

"The losses of the Germans undoubtedly exceed 150,000 men. In certain trenches 120 metres long, there have been found more than 2,000 corpses. This in spite of the fact that the Germans, whenever possible, remove their dead from the field.

"The heavy losses are to be explained by particular circumstances. If the Germans for three weeks had been attacking in dense masses, the reason to be found in the recent form of our offensive movement, in checking their offensive movement we inflicted upon them the most humiliating defeat.

"The Belgian army having been driven from its own land, Emperor William was on the point of proclaiming the breaking of our line at Ypres as the annihilation of this courageous nation, and of glorying in the annihilation of at least one of his adversaries. This double satisfaction was refused him. If Dunkirk, Calais and Boulogne had been taken, Great Britain would have been hampered in communicating with her army on the continent. Finally, France, in maintaining impassable the front of her armies from the sea to land, adopted the best and the most efficacious guarantee against a return to the offensive movement of the enemy on the 11th of November.

"The foregoing is an outline of our success. To present it more definitely it might be well to present a comparison of the fronts occupied by our left and by the Germans' right in the beginning of September and then in the middle of November. The result is this: We have to our credit not a series of momentary successes, but a continuous progress, which has made vain the persistent and unimproved effort of the enemy. After our victory on the Marne had, in the middle of September, obliged the Germans to undertake a precipitate retreat, the enemy endeavored at once to win back its advantage, and always by trying to turn our left wing. At no point were the Germans successful.

"During this time, on the contrary, we succeeded in extending our left as far as Belgium, and even as far as the sea. We then maintained our line impregnable in its new position. The successes in Flanders in which the French troops supported the principal burden, are thus seen to be a continuation, and a development of its victory of the Marne. The glory of this success is due to our leaders and to our soldiers. It is exemplified also by the ability of our entire staff to read clearly the purposes and intention of the German commanders.

"Our troops have acquired certain qualities which they perhaps lacked at the beginning of the operations, particularly the ability for rapid defensive organization. The trenches they built today are as good as those constructed by the enemy.

"Along with the progress of our arms there should be observed the progress of the Russians which has been becoming more noticeable since the 3d of November. At the doors of Cracow and of Kalis, our allies are now making their weight felt. It is in this field we should draw our conclusions for here it is that one may perceive in the full light of day the failure of the German plan. This plan, the project of Von Der Goltz, of Berlin, was, as often has been recalled, to crush France in three weeks and then to turn to Russia. Today, the fourth month of the war is drawing to its close and still France has not been crushed. On the contrary, France, counting from the 5th of September, has enjoyed nothing but success and this in spite of the arraying in opposition to her of a mass of soldiers who in the aggregate represent more than fifty army corps. Those thirty army corps, we say it again and again, for it is the truth and this truth is found our honor—still are all confronting us.

ZAPATA AND VILLA ARE NEARING GATES OF MEXICAN CAPITAL

led force that late reports said remained in Mexico City, all other armed forces having left last week. With them went all the national, federal, district and city officials.

Carranza May Reach Vera Cruz Wednesday

VERA CRUZ, Nov. 23.—General Venustiano Carranza is expected to arrive here today or tomorrow at the latest. An official from Mexico City, whose duty it is to look after the official residence in the capital, has arrived here to make preparations for the coming of his chief. From this residence capital General Carranza will direct his campaign against General Villa.

General Carranza, who took over Vera Cruz when the American forces withdrew on Monday, has increased his garrison to perhaps 600 men who are occupying virtually the same line of outposts as did the Americans. The cable lines to Mexico City were restored yesterday afternoon. There has been no disorder of any consequence since the Americans evacuated. The order which General Aguilar issued directing the citizens to turn in all arms has brought back to police headquarters a huge stock of arms and guns of every description, almost all of which were given up under similar circumstances when the American forces occupied the city. W. W. Canada, the American consul general, yesterday conferred with General Aguilar and at that time the general assured Mr. Canada that he would cooperate in the maintenance of friendly relations between the Mexican people and the United States government by seeing to it that Americans were given full protection.

Saloon keepers have been given permission to reopen their places of business today, the only restriction being that drinks must not be sold to men who are already intoxicated. As a matter of fact, many saloons reopened last night under special permission but there was little drinking. The streets were filled with happy crowds, made up of men, women and boys, mostly from the laboring element, through which wandered numbers of General Aguilar's soldiers, many of whom were armed and burdened with ammunition.

THANKSGIVING

We in America have lots to be thankful for this year; thankful that we live under the rule of good old peaceful Uncle Sam, thankful that we have learned to grow and to manufacture here at home everything needful to our health, wealth and happiness, giving us industrial as well as political independence.

Speaking of home products, aren't they just as essential to the prosperity of a city or state as of a nation?

If you stand FOR Atlanta-made goods, why not stand IN them?

That means Red Seal Shoes.

You'll find YOUR OWN favorite last represented in our large assortment of Fall styles, besides a quality and value that will, we are sure, win your permanent approval.
