IN SUCH PAIN WOMAN CRIED Suffered Everything Until Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Florence, So. Dakota. "I used to be very sick every month with bearing down pains and headache, and had to be in bed for a good deal of the time and very little appetite. The pains were so bad that I used to sit right down on the floor and cry, because it hurt me, and I could not do any work at those times. An old woman advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I got a bottle. I felt better the next month so I took three more bottles of it and got well so I could work all the time. I hope every woman who suffers like I did will try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. E. W. LASSON, Route No. 1, Florence, South Dakota.

MOVIES WILL ENTERTAIN THE CORN CLUB BOYS

Homes for About 75 More Boys Needed, Says Committee

An interesting development in the entertainment of the corn show boys next week is the extension of the course of several moving picture theaters free of charge.

Arthur S. Hyman, manager of the Grand Opera House, Eding Broadway; R. H. DeLozier, manager of the Montgomery at 87 Peachtree street, and G. Holmbeck, manager of the Strand on Peachtree street, have offered their shows to the boys during their stay in Atlanta. The boys will be provided with various of identification by the chamber of commerce, so that all that they will have to do to attend the theaters is to show their buttons.

Walter G. Cooper, secretary of the chamber, desires to make public expression of the thanks of the chamber and the managers of the theaters for the extension of the valued courtesies.

Up to Friday morning, homes for 124 boys had been offered by the citizens of the city and suburbs. Accommodations for about seventy-five more are needed. It is urged that citizens send word or telephone to the chamber of commerce stating how many boys can be taken.

The following is a list of those taking boys, since the list was published: Mrs. Gibson, at Hotel Winthrop, 2305 Ames Johnston, 232 North Jackson street; Charles F. Stead, 301 1/2 11th avenue; E. F. Fincher, Jr., 411 1/2 East Peachtree avenue; J. DeLozier Harrison, 49 East Merritt avenue; J. Fred Saunders, 5 Scott street, Kirkwood; J. MAN WHO TOOK CARBOLIC IS RECOVERING AT GRADY

Letter From Wife in Birmingham Indicated Man Was Despondent

Claud K. Edison, of 214 Lee street, in Atlanta, is recovering from the effects of a dose of carbolic acid, which he drank while standing on Poplar street, near the postoffice, about 11 o'clock Thursday night.

Edison's face and mouth were badly burned, but presently found him and called the Grady hospital in time to save his life.

A letter from his wife in Birmingham, found in his pockets, furnished a probable cause for his despondency. In the letter Mrs. Lillie Edison, of 1808 Avenue S. MORMON CHURCH HEAD TO TALK IN ATLANTA

Joseph F. Smith and Party Stop in Atlanta for Day

Traveling in a private car furnished him by the Denver Pacific railroad, which he is a director, Joseph F. Smith, president of the Mormon church, officially called the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, arrived in Atlanta Friday morning and will deliver a lecture Friday evening in Telfer hall.

With him are his wife and his daughter, Miss Emily Smith, and the following officials of the church: Charles W. Penrose, second counselor in the presidency of the church, and Mrs. Penrose; George Albert Smith, one of the twelve apostles of the church; Joseph F. Smith, Jr., one of the church's leaders; Bishop Charles W. Nibley, presiding bishop of the church, and Mrs. Nibley.

The church has a branch in Atlanta which is now preparing to erect a new house of worship. The plans of this house were submitted to President Smith and his party Friday morning in a case by Charles A. Callie, of Chattahoochee, president of the southern states mission of the church.

President Smith and his party are visiting the leading churches in the southern states mission, which are located in Memphis, Chattanooga, Atlanta and Jacksonville.

All the members of the party in Salt Lake City, Utah, where the headquarters of the Mormon church are located.

President Smith is seventy-six years of age and is a splendid specimen of an old manhood, with a flowing white beard and eyes, an erect figure and a smile in his hand like a young athlete.

The practice of polygamy was abolished by the Mormon church twenty-two years ago," he said to a reporter of the Journal Friday morning.

The supreme court of the United States rendered a decision to the effect that polygamy was in violation of a law passed by the national congress. In accordance with that decision, Wilford Woodruff, who was then president of the church, issued a manifesto forbidding polygamy.

"One of the articles of faith of our church is as follows: 'We believe in being subject to the presidents, rulers and magistrates, a bishop, learning and exhorting the people.' We preach peace and good will and we encourage war. We want the people of the United States to be united, obedient and self-sustaining. We want to see this country raise and manufacture everything it needs. We have been engaged in diversified farming, which is the best way of making a living."

President Smith was shown an Associated Press dispatch to the Journal which said that the "Mormon" church, which is the "Mormon" church, was the "Mormon" church, which is the "Mormon" church, which is the "Mormon" church.

"The main difference between his church and ours, however, does not hinge upon the question of polygamy, but upon the question of authority. We hold that our church is the real church, and that the church is composed of apostles who were appointed from the real church."

BELGIAN IMMIGRATION MOVEMENT PROTESTED

Atlanta Federation of Trades Sees "Greed and Selfishness" Back of Plan

Resolutions protesting against the movement to bring Belgian immigrants to Georgia were passed at the regular session of the Atlanta Federation of Trades. The resolutions follow:

"Whereas, there has been launched in Georgia what is known as the Belgian immigration movement, the purpose of which is to induce Belgian refugees to immigrate and settle in Georgia; and whereas, the promoters of this movement claim to be philanthropic, and their efforts is commercial, industrial and humanitarian; and

"Whereas, we know it increases the number of unemployed, which is greater in the history of the state and the number are constantly increasing, and whereas, the same inducements now proposed to foreigners were offered to Georgiaians the need of sending to foreign countries for help would be minimized if not entirely eliminated; and whereas, the great army of unemployed would be materially reduced, thereby making wages and working conditions better and happier for the city; and

"Whereas, past experience forces us to believe that underlying this heralded philanthropic movement is selfishness, greed and avarice and that the really helping the homeless Belgians should this movement be successful the influx of foreign immigrants would become a serious menace to the workers of Georgia, thousands of whom are now out of work; and whereas, the immigrants, reducing wages and forcing longer hours of labor, forced and the exodus to the city follows. Therefore, be it resolved by the Atlanta Federation of Trades, in regular session assembled, do most emphatically and vehemently protest against any movement launched for the purpose of bringing colonies of Belgians or any other nationality to Georgia, while there are workers in the state destitute of work and cannot secure it, and that we use all the influence at our command to prevent any move in this direction.

Trenchard visited the scene of his crime again Thursday, with the result above stated.

COUNTY POLICEMAN SHOT IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Wounded Negro Suspect Held Says He Can Prove an Alibi

County Policeman L. F. Peek is in a serious condition at Grady hospital as a result of a bullet wound inflicted by a negro Thursday night when the officer approached him to make inquiries about the celebration of Thanksgiving celebration which the negro was attending at the farm of W. E. Lamar, colored, near Battle Hill.

A negro, Lewis Jones, twenty-nine years of age Cunningham street, was brought to the Grady hospital Thursday night a few hours after the officer was shot to have a wound dressed. At a 1 o'clock Friday afternoon Officer Peek had rallied and there was said to be hope for his recovery.

The negro's bullet entered the officer's left side, penetrated the abdomen. Peek was conscious long enough for the negro to be brought to his bed side. After looking at the black, the officer said, "That's the man who shot me."

After a second look he added, "I'm not dead sure, but I think that's the man." Peek was conscious on his arrival in the automobile of M. C. Stephens, 10 Produce way, and rushed to the hospital. He was taken to the hospital and arrived at the institution, and made this statement of the shooting.

"One shot had been fired among the negroes, who had collected at the barbecue and that attracted the attention of Officer J. T. Carter and myself, so we went to the scene. Carter was seventy-five yards or more from me, when I dismounted from my horse and went up to a negro, whom I suspected of having fired the shot. "Who did that shooting?" I asked the negro.

"Then without the slightest provocation other than the simple question, the man jerked an ugly-looking revolver from his pocket and fired on me. "I was taken completely by surprise and he had fired a second time before my revolver was out. I am not sure which shot hit me, but we fired five shots at each other."

While Mr. Peek did not think he hit the negro, the other officers were of the opinion that possibly one of his shots was effective, for that reason they took the negro Jones into custody, when he appeared at the hospital, suffering with a gun shot wound.

The shooting is thirty-three years of age, and is a bridegroom of only five weeks. Mrs. Peek, who was Miss Fannie Brooks, of Palmetto, was at home with the officer's mother at the time of the shooting, when she learned of the shooting. Peek whose home is only half a mile from the scene of the shooting, had been with his family only a few minutes before he was called to investigate the trouble at the barbecue.

THEATERS

"While 'The Trail of the Lonesome Pine' which began a three days' stay at Atlanta in a Thanksgiving matinee, is not the equal of the production in which Charlotte Walker played here two years ago, a large audience greeted it opening night and stands it with enthusiastic approval.

The road company which presents it here is a good one. The members are not too dramatic at the curtain pitch nor too tragic when tragedy approaches. They are genuine. Eleanor Monteil in the role of June, and Edward Wallace as John Fernal play their parts with little to be desired.

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" gives opportunity for such scenic spectacles as few plays offer. In the cramped stage space allowed, the breadth and sweep of the Virginia wilderness have been pictured with artistic attention to detail and general effect.

The play will be here again Friday and Saturday nights, with Saturday matinee.

"The Pekin Mystery," one of the feature acts at the Forevich this week, introduces the famous Chinese magician, Chang Ping Chien, and a company of Chinese entertainers who present one of the most interesting novelty features that has been seen here in vaudeville.

Next week's bill will have for a feature "A Sensory Social," with a company of pretty girls who will present a pretty comedy playlet with specialities.

Primrose and Wilson all-prominent company of burnt cork celebrities, is scheduled to appear at the Atlanta Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Matinees will be given Wednesday and Thursday. Seats are on sale now.

The sale of seats for the opening of the Bijou with the new stock company commenced this week. It is quite evident that unusual interest is being manifested in this new company. Manager Daxton has spent weeks in selecting his players in order to give a finished and complete performance. The first play of the season will be "The Whirlpool," a western drama with not too much of the sensational but just enough to hold the interest, and one that will appeal especially to lovers of love or life drama. Between the acts four very clever vaudeville acts will be introduced, and the performance as a whole promises to be unusually interesting. The usual prices of 10, 20 and 30 cents will be charged, and matinees will be given daily. Monday night ladies will be admitted free when accompanied by an escort holding a paid 30-cent ticket.

WHITE BOY ADMITS STEALING 13 AUTOS

Judge Reid imposed a sentence of twelve months in each of three cases.

RESINOL CURED AWFUL ITCHING IN ONE NIGHT

New York.—"The skin on my hand got red and rough. It itched and I began to scratch it. It itched so that sometimes I could not sleep all night. I was suffering very much. I used Resinol and —, but they did not seem to help me. This went on for six or seven months. Then I tried Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. I used them one night. In the morning, to my surprise, my hand was all well and the trouble has never returned. This is the absolute truth."—(Signed) Miss Celia Kleinman, 61 Columbia St., April 26.

Nothing we can say of Resinol equals what others, such as Miss Kleinman, say of it. It does its work quickly, easily and at little cost. If you are suffering from itching, burning skin troubles, pimples, dandruff, ulcers, boils, stubborn sores, or piles, try Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. Sold by all druggists.—(Adv.)

RABBIT HUNT IS TURNED INTO CHASE FOR BURGLAR

Youth, Who Admits Robbing Roy Tuggle's Home, Is Captured by Citizens

A party of hunters who had been chasing the elusive rabbit all Thanksgiving day, returned tired and hungry to the residence of Roy Tuggle, one mile beyond Wallace station, about 5 o'clock, and soon turned their attention to the rabbit to a burglar.

They heard a crash as they drove into the front yard, but thought one of the dogs had knocked over a man. Later Mr. Tuggle discovered his home had been burglarized.

The chase then started, the hunters using the telephone as well as their horses, with the result that an hour later, J. B. Yokum, a youth who says he hails from Kentucky, was captured down the chimney of one factory, and one person was mortally wounded.

The British threw two shells which did not explode into the fields between Hoyt and Seaburg. They knocked down the chimney of one factory, and one person was mortally wounded.

Holdup Is Reported
William Henry Merritt reported to the police Friday that he was held up and robbed by two negroes Thursday night at the corner of Ivy and Gilmer streets. He says he was badly cut and gashed by the negroes, both of whom "got away."

SAYS ZEEBRUGGE ATTACK CAUSED LITTLE DAMAGE

Reports of Havoc Caused by British Bombardment Are Denied

(By Associated Press.)
BRITISH, Belgium, via Shloos, Holland, Nov. 27.—A personal visit to Zeebrugge, on the Belgian coast about fifteen miles east of Ostend, shows that the bombardment of November 23 did very little damage.

The British threw two shells which did not explode into the fields between Hoyt and Seaburg. They knocked down the chimney of one factory, and one person was mortally wounded.

New Details Given of Attack on Zeebrugge
LONDON, Nov. 27.—Some new details of the bombardment of Zeebrugge, which the Germans were preparing as a naval base, have reached the London newspapers.

The correspondent of the Express on the Belgian front, who has seen the report that the first shell thrown by the British warships on Zeebrugge among the German submarines in the inner harbor. After twenty salos had been expended, it was ordered that a dash for safety to the English channel and to run the gauntlet of the fleet.

Stops of the submarines returned to Zeebrugge; the correspondent laconically remarks, and he adds that the fate of the others is unknown.

Describing the bombardment the correspondent of the Daily Mail at Amsterdam says: "The German submarines, lying in the harbor basin hid themselves before during the bombardment to prevent destruction. When the warships retreated they rose again and went in pursuit but soon returned."

No "Decisive Engagements" in Poland, Says Berlin
BERLIN, Nov. 27.—(By Wireless to London).—An official announcement came out in Berlin today, saying: "English ships did not attack the coast of Heligoland yesterday. There have been no actual changes along the battle front in the western theater. On the northern front, however, we have taken a group of houses and made a number of prisoners."

"Our attack in the Argonne region has made further progress. French attacks in the neighborhood of Arremont and to the east of St. Mihiel were repulsed."

"In the eastern arena of the war there were no decisive engagements yesterday."

No Result in Poland; Victory in Galicia, Austrians Claim
BERLIN, Nov. 27.—An official report issued in Vienna says: "The fighting in Russian Poland has assumed the proportions of a continuous battle. In eastern Galicia our troops have repulsed the Russians. Progress has been made in the fighting in the Carpathians."

"Near the Kolubara river, in Servia, the enemy's line of trenches was in a very strong position near Lasarevatz, but we attacked on the 23rd and 24th, capturing 300 prisoners. From Valjevo our troops have advanced to Kostovic, about twenty-five yards."

"Along the heights of the Meuse and in the Ardennes, there is nothing to report."

Diplomatic Dispatches Tell of Victory for Austrians
(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Austrian successes over the Russian offensive in the Carpathians and in western Galicia were reported today in a foreign office dispatch to the Austro-Hungarian embassy, which says: "Renewed Russian attempts to break through the defenses in the Carpathians in the two districts of Uing and Semplin were repulsed with great losses. In western Galicia our troops repulsed the Russian forces which were advancing toward the lower Danube."

BONDHOLDERS OF TURKEY MUST CALL FOR INTEREST
Payment on 1908 Loan Will Be Made Only to Those Who Come for It
(By Associated Press.)
AMSTERDAM, Holland, Nov. 27.—(By London).—A dispatch from Constantinople says it has been officially announced that by the minister of finance that the interest on the loan of 1908 will be paid only to such bondholders as present themselves at the central office of the ministry of finance there.

The Constantinople announcement refers to a loan of 150,000,000 francs in $10,000,000 issued in 1908. Interest is payable semi-annually the next payment being due December 1. The action of the Turkish finance minister means interest payments probably will be suspended on the bulk of these loans which are held abroad, as their owners would find it impracticable in view of the war almost impossible to go to Constantinople to make collection.

Of this loan $10,000,000 was taken in London by Morgan & Co., the London bank of J. P. Morgan & Co. of New York, and by the Imperial Ottoman bank of London. The remainder was placed in France, although some of these bonds were marketed in Germany.

Child's Life Saved As Car Stops Within Six Inches of Body

A little two-year-old boy baby who toddled directly into the pathway of a car on the river line at noon Friday, came within six inches of death beneath the wheels and was saved only by the quick action of a neighbor, Mrs. Amanda Keshley, who ran out and flagged the motorman, who had not seen the child.

The child was the little son of Mrs. B. Tallenger, who lives just on the Atlanta side of the Riverdale station on the river line. With several other boys and girls, the little fellow was playing quietly in the front yard, while his mother was doing a washing in the house.

Unknown to the other children, the youngster wandered out toward the tracks. Clad in gray rompers, the same color as the gravel between the tracks, he was practically invisible when the big car swung around the curve and bore down at a good rate of speed.

Then Mrs. Keshley, sitting on her veranda across the street, saw the boy. She ran frantically toward the tracks, waving her arms and began to put on brakes. Then he saw the child. With a shriek and a shout, she came to a dead stop only three inches from the boy's danger and smiled.

Dr. J. More, of Riverside, was called in by the conductor to examine the child. He had not been so much as scratched.

Mrs. Tallenger, coming out of the house to see what the excitement was about, fell into hysterics when she was told, and for awhile needed a physician's care far more than her small son needed.

BURGLAR GETS JEWELRY AT KERSKOVITZ HOME
A diamond robbery which bore the earmarks of professionals was reported to the police Friday by Albert Herskovitz, an attorney in the Inuit building.

While Mrs. Herskovitz was away from their home, 422 Glenn street, late Thursday afternoon attending a Thanksgiving reception, burglars entered the rear of the house with a skeleton key. When Mrs. Herskovitz returned after only half an hour's absence, she found the door had been locked on the inside by the thieves.

She entered after great difficulty, to find the house ransacked. The burglars had taken $100 worth of unmarked jewelry belonging to a guest, Miss Mamie Lane, of Charlotte, N. C. They left untouched $100 worth of platinum jewelry which belonged to Mrs. Herskovitz. Among the missing articles was a valuable diamond ring, an heirloom.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME

By Thornton W. Burgess

It's not enough to simply know what to do or not to do. It's doing it, and doing it right. That good or evil brings you.

Sammy Jay always had known this but he never realized how very true it is until he heard Old Man Coyote's story of the night when he was so careless and got him into Old Man Coyote had admitted to Sammy that the reason he had not stayed in the great, wide, wonderful West where his home had once been, and why he now seemed to think was so much better, than the Green Mountains, was because he had been caught in a trap and taken away against his will. It was hard work for Sammy to believe that, for hadn't he heard Old Man Coyote find and dig up all the traps set by Farmer Brown? They would have caught anyone else of whom Sammy could think.

Old Man Coyote saw right away how hard it was for Sammy to believe that was true. It flattered him. Like most people, he enjoyed having his neighbors think him smart. But when he heard inside him urged him to tell Sammy the truth, even though afterward Sammy might not think him so smart.

"It was careless," said he. "I knew about traps. Yes, sir, I know almost as much about them as I do now, but I was careless. And that goes to show that it isn't always how much we know, but what we make of what we know that counts. My mother had taught me all about traps. She had taken me where they were set and showed me just how to find them and dig them out without getting caught. We used to do it just for fun, and then she said that was left there. I was young then and strong-headed. It is a bad thing to be strong-headed." Old Man Coyote shook his head mournfully.

"After a while I thought I knew it all," he continued, "and that I hadn't anything to learn. Having learned all about traps, excepting how they tell, and that I had no desire to know" that was true. It flattered him. Like most people, he enjoyed having his neighbors think him smart. But when he heard inside him urged him to tell Sammy the truth, even though afterward Sammy might not think him so smart.

It flattered him. Like most people, he enjoyed having his neighbors think him smart. But when he heard inside him urged him to tell Sammy the truth, even though afterward Sammy might not think him so smart.

"I was scared," said he. "I knew almost as much about them as I do now, but I was careless. And that goes to show that it isn't always how much we know, but what we make of what we know that counts. My mother had taught me all about traps. She had taken me where they were set and showed me just how to find them and dig them out without getting caught. We used to do it just for fun, and then she said that was left there. I was young then and strong-headed. It is a bad thing to be strong-headed." Old Man Coyote shook his head mournfully.

"By and by I saw that the only way I could get rid of them was to go into my house, and so I started for there so fast that that dog didn't have time to do any snapping at my heels. It took all his breaths to keep up. Now I was so busy trying to keep an eye on that dog that I forgot all about traps, and yet I knew that there were some set around my home. It was just carelessness, blubbery foolish carelessness, that led me straight into one of them. Snap! There I was caught by one from the leg of course. It hurt dreadfully, and frightened me more, and I danced around. Snap! Another trap had me by a hind leg! Carelessness, nothing but carelessness, that took me away from my old home to the great, wide, wonderful west."

JURY WAS ON TRIAL FOR ITS LIFE WHEN I WAS TRIED—FRANK

They knew what the demonstrations portended. Their verdict protested them from harm.

"You can't see any doubt that his honor anticipated a trial. He realized the feeling of the throng in and about the court house, and to protect an innocent man from harm requested my attorney, as it afterwards appeared, to waive my presence when the verdict was rendered. This is further borne out by his public expressions of his doubt of his skill when he overruled my motion for a new trial. Who can say that in a grander atmosphere his honor's expression would have not been stronger and his action on the motion different?"

AS TO SUPREME COURT.

That such conditions as obtained at no trial are recognized by the Georgia supreme court as vitiating a verdict and destroying the value of a trial so held can be seen by the following quotation from the 114 Georgia, pages 528-529:

"But can any man say with certainty that such things have no influence upon him? Can any of us know how far our minds are influenced by applause or derision in a crowd which surrounds us? Can any of us even in this court, that this or that piece of testimony, or this or that charge of counsel, has not influenced our verdict?"

Our minds are so constituted that it is impossible to say what impression scenes of this kind would make upon us, unless we had determined beforehand that the prisoner was guilty or innocent. The question here is not what effect these things did have upon the minds of the jury, but what effect they were calculated to produce. We cannot determine what effect they did have, but it is apparent what effect they were calculated to have."

Your figures may say that they were influenced by the unruly conditions surrounding my trial. They may say it honestly and truthfully. But surely, solemnly the atmosphere, pregnant with violent violence, must have guided them. It could not have been otherwise. They were but human.

AS TO THE SUBJECT MATTER OF THE TRIAL, I declare, without fear of contradiction, that it was not shown that the negro prisoner, Jim Conley, who has a long police record, and who has been arrested several times for disorderly conduct, had neither the motive to conceive the crime or the opportunity to commit it. Conley lied and lied again, under oath, innumerable times. He admitted lying and perjury at the trial on every case, and recited at the trial the stand. A recent publication, treating of my case, says: "THE WORLD HAS NEVER DISCOVERED A DIRECT MEANS OF DETERMINING WHETHER A LIAR UNDER OATH IS NOT A LIAR."

UNDER OATH: I take it, that as far as Conley is concerned, this is the act of the proposition.

ON DAY OF MURDER.

"On that tragic April 28, 1912, I was sitting in my office at the Atlanta office to my business and doing my work. I had a right to be there, and I was surrounded by my immediate office force. Conley, filled with drink, and with a flask of whiskey in his pocket, admitted that he was hiding in a dark place, away from the vision of the passerby, and in close proximity to the stairway leading from the second floor, I was working usually and was accessible to all who wished to see me. Conley was lurking in a dark place and sleeping off the effects of a drunk. My statements have stood the acid test of truth and the test of time. Conley, under oath, relates one lie with another innumerable times. Who would you expect to commit a crime under those circumstances? In whose brain does this, mine or Conley's, would you look for devils to be begotten? Who of the two would you rather encounter alone in a big building? That which is humanly possible happens only in a reasonable natural way."

"Do you believe that Conley could not have committed this crime?" Do you believe that he did not have even better opportunity than anyone else? If it is possible that the drink, filled, vicious Conley could have committed this crime, then it is most probable and plausible that he did do it? He certainly had the opportunity and judging him from his condition at the time, and his past police record, a motive could be very readily assigned for his act. And he has lied time without number—and under oath at that. A reasonable like Conley who has no respect for his oath of God, certainly has no respect for any living creature—not even himself.

I have no knowledge of this transaction. I have made my statement, and that still stands as the truth for I am innocent. I cannot believe that this community can be hoodwinked by a petty negro criminal. Before you can take the word of this colored negro prisoner and liar, be sure you show that he is himself innocent. How can you take his word; isn't it apparent that he is lying in this very day? His testimony on the stand, his vicious and shady character, his self-incriminating expressions, irrefragably frame him. "LEO M. FRANK."
